Our students – and our teachers – deserve it, and desperately need it.

BRIDGE MAGAZINE

For career success, higher degree means higher earnings

Mike Wilkinson
The charts don't lie: If you want to have a decent shot at a decent living in Michigan, you must be prepared to sit in a classroom – virtual or otherwise – the rest of your life.

Standing still means falling behind – or just plain falling.

"All of my kids realize they have to be lifelong learners," said Allen Park High School counselor Stephanie Wollard.

The truth of that statement is in the numbers: The average pay for the most common jobs available to a Michigan high school graduate over the next decade is just $23,367. That's below the poverty line for a family of four.

But get a little more education and the picture improves markedly: a post-high school training certificate, like those given to welders and hairdressers, bumps pay to $31,212; for a two-year associate's degree, average pay in Michigan nearly doubles to $59,391. And if you have what it takes for a four-year degree, pay can zoom past $80,000.

It's not just about money: the risk of unemployment falls by nearly half for the college graduate compared with a high school graduate.

"The single most important thing is to get more educated," said Lou Glazer, President of Michigan Future Inc., an Ann Arbor-based nonprofit working to improve the state's economy.

Glazer is talking about what needs to happen in the state overall – increasing its college-educated talent supply. But he said it applies to the individual as well: Learn a skill, then learn some more. And be prepared to keep on learning.

"Either we get younger and better-educated or we get poorer," Glazer said. "That's the debate the state should be having."

Michigan falling short

But trouble looms, according to jobs projection data analyzed for Bridge. For every computer-related job in 2023, there will be seven others at the mall and the local diner. The state will remain dominated, numbers-wise, by low-paying retail and restaurant work.

Like Michigan, low-wage jobs in Minnesota are growing, said Glazer, who recently compared the two states and found Michigan trailing badly in important economic areas.

"But they're getting the high-wage job growth too and that's what Michigan needs," he said.

That's not to say there aren't good Michigan-based jobs: There will be an estimated 1,500 annual openings in computer fields through 2023. Yet Michigan's 15 public universities are producing just over 800 degree-holding computer nerds a year, though two-year programs help fill that gap.

In other fields, it's worse: There are, for instance, thousands of would-be journalists produced by state universities a year fighting for an estimated 350 jobs annually.

But if you want to become a personal financial manager, you're in luck: It's expected the state will need 2,400 of those every year yet only 1,500 are graduating from Michigan's public universities each spring.

"There are a number of mismatches," said James Jacobs, president of Macomb Community College and a national authority on tackling the jobs-education gap.

Macomb is working with the federal government and other community colleges to better prepare students for the world that exists, not the world they want to live in. It has meant working closely with employers and teaching the "foundational" skills that employers crave: An ability to communicate and work together, the talent to solve problems – equally important for the engineer and the electrician.

For a state with one of the lowest levels of educational attainment (translation: 35 other states have a greater percentage of people with a college degree), Michigan faces an uphill battle to alter the narrative that has seen the state's per-capita income ranking plummet from 18th in 2000 to 35th in 2012 (it fell a staggering 17 places – from 20th to 37th – in the six years before the recession officially began in 2007).

Those economic hard times forever altered the composition of the state's economy and Glazer and others have said the manufacturing jobs aren't coming back. The state has to find more diverse, knowledge-based industries to replace the one that had served the state so well for so long.

To do so will affect not only the 18-year-old who once never considered advance learning. Even those who choose college will have to change.

It's not enough to spend four years reading Fitzgerald and Chaucer and think some company will want your cultured brain. Now you have to buttress your Mensa membership with a few real-world skills.

Pushback on liberal arts

"In the '90s, in Michigan, if you had a smile and a degree, you had a job," said Troy Farley, director of career counseling at Grand Valley State University. "We kind of got spoiled."

Most employers no longer have time to turn the well-rounded student into a skill-based employee. And so the history major may have to trade that Early Colonial America class for Accounting 101, Farley said. Or the prospective finance whiz will have to do a stint as a bank teller rather than tend bar at the campus watering hole.

"Now they expect you to have skills by the time you start," Farley said.

That's forced university and college career centers to begin having what Farley calls "tough conversations" earlier in a student's academic career: They have to begin focusing on what will make them employable longer, far earlier. They cannot wait until the January before they graduate.

"It's changed the landscape of employment overnight," Farley said.

High school diploma won't cut it

That attitude has even pervaded high schools. After watching their parents and friends suffer through the recession, almost all Allen Park High School students now acknowledge, perhaps some grudgingly, that graduation day won't mark the last time they step foot in a classroom, said Wollard.

Just 10 years ago, some students talked openly about taking their diploma and heading off to Ford or U.S. Steel to "work the line."

"I don't ever hear that anymore," Wollard said.

Perhaps that attitude change is rooted in what teachers and counselors have long been saying. But it could also be a reflection of the world they've endured: The district has seen its free-and-reduced lunch population quadruple from 2002 to 2012 as families that once relied on steady manufacturing jobs have had to find other work.

On a field trip to the Ford truck plant, Wollard said students noticed that even the line workers are quasi-nerds, using computers, not just hydraulic wrenches.

"The way jobs get cut, who gets the jobs that are left on the line?" Wollard asked. Then she answered her own question: "The guys who got more training."

BRIDGE MAGAZINE

Michigan's Christmas Carol: A scary look at our jobs outlook

Ron French
This is not a holiday story Gov. Rick Snyder wants to read to his children.

Continued shrinking of the state's famed middle-class factory jobs. Fast-growing occupations that pay so little, workers may qualify for food stamps. Job growth that ranks 49th in the nation.

It's less Christmas joy and more "A Christmas Carol."

Bridge Magazine economic projections paint a Scrooge-like portrait of the state economy over the coming decade. But that's just one possible future. In the Charles Dickens story, Scrooge is scared enough to change his ways.

Is Michigan prepared to change?

It won't be easy. For Snyder and other state leaders, it means facing some uncomfortable truths about Michigan's future, and taking steps that might not always be popular in the short run. More money for education, starting with toddlers' first steps and continuing until they walk across a stage with a college diploma. More money to repair and replace our crumbling roads and bridges over which new business and new residents must travel. More of a willingness to invest in the present, to stave off a Dickensian future.

"I'm afraid that's the direction Michigan is heading," warns University of Michigan economist Don Grimes, "toward a poor, old state."

It doesn't have to be, if leaders view these dire job projections as a wakeup call.

To conduct the analysis, Bridge used projections made by Economic Modeling Specialists Inc., in Idaho, based on federal Census and Bureau of Labor Statistics data. That analysis projects about 266,000 jobs added to the Michigan economy by 2023. That's a growth rate of about 6 percent over 10 years, compared to a projected growth for the rest of the country of 11.4 percent.

Michigan ranks 49th in projected job growth, beating out only Maine. (That's actually an improvement for Michigan, which ranked 50th in job growth over the past decade.)

Just being average in job growth would make a major difference. If Michigan added jobs at just the national average over the next 10 years, residents would have 245,000 more jobs to pick from than projected. If the state had a growth rate half way between neighboring Ohio and Indiana (7.6 percent and 12 percent, respectively) Michigan would have 148,000 additional jobs.

Michigan has a bigger hole to climb out of than most states. It lost a higher percentage of jobs in the past decade than any other state. Even with jobs now growing in the state, Michigan likely will still have fewer in 2023 (4,591,000) than it did in 2003 (4,614,000).

If growth is indeed that slow, it will do little to attack Michigan's unemployment rate of 9 percent, which is third-highest in the nation.

One more Scrooge-like number: There will be fewer new jobs created in Michigan in the next 10 years (266,000) than Michigan residents who are now unemployed (423,000).

Pay going in the wrong direction

And many of those new jobs are projected to come with smaller paychecks. Five of the seven projected fastest-growing occupations offer salaries that might qualify workers for food stamps. The average salary of occupations projected to shrink is $22.16 per hour; growing occupations pay an average of $19.56 an hour.

Newly created jobs aren't the only ones available – workers retire, die or leave the workforce. About 1,465,000 Michigan openings are projected in the coming decade. But with new workers entering the job market every year from high school and college, as well as residents re-entering the workforce, those openings alone won't be enough to boost the state's economy.

"Even with retirements, you're not going to have enough jobs," said Larry Good, chairman of the Corporation for a Skilled Workforce. "This is a very stagnant picture. The big challenge is, what do you do to change this picture?"

Changing the storyline

Charles Ballard is familiar with doctor visits that end with warnings: Exercise and eat better, or you're going to pay for it later.

The Michigan State University economics professor looks at job projections for Michigan and can hear a physician's voice in his ear. If you're Michigan, Ballard said, "You can hope your doctor is wrong, or you can climb on the treadmill and stop eating Fritos and dip."

What that treadmill looks like depends on who you ask.

To Ballard, it includes investment in roads and schools. And by investment, he means taxes.

"Tax cuts have overwhelmed all other policies for the past 20 years," Ballard said. "You certainly don't want to raise taxes and throw the money away. Nobody loves to pay taxes. But I'd be willing to pay more taxes for better roads.

"The expansion of early childhood (education), that's one success. Education and fixing roads and bridges are very important in positioning ourselves for economic growth. But we have continued to have massive disinvestment in higher education."

Making higher education more affordable is one of the keys to improving Michigan's fate, said Gilda Jacobs, president of the Michigan League for Public Policy, along with "raising the minimum wage (and) restoring the Michigan Earned Income Tax Credit."

U-M's Grimes argues that Michigan must do whatever it takes to increase the percentage of adults who have college degrees. Michigan gets a lot of kids to college, but it does poorly in getting them to complete college.

If Michigan is going to avoid becoming a poor state, it needs to increase college completion rates for its home-grown students, and find a way to attract college-educated adults to the state.

Snyder and the Legislature should explore tax policies to lure the educated here, Grimes said.

"It would put them (Michigan) on the map. That kind of policy would attract attention."

Michigan had the fifth-largest net loss of college students in 2012, with more than 8,000 more college-educated moving to other states than moving here. "Essentially, no one's moving in," Grimes said.

Business Leaders for Michigan has advocated for investment in higher education as a means to help the state stay competitive. More education generally means fatter paychecks and lower unemployment.

Bridge's job projections for Michigan back that up. The occupation with the most openings in the next decade for workers with a high school diploma or less is retail sales, with an average salary of $11.96 an hour; the most common job opening for Michiganders with a two-year associate's degree is registered nurse, with an average salary of $31.12.

"If Michigan is going to be competitive for business investment and job creation, we cannot ignore the fact that Michigan is looking at a severe talent shortage," BLM President Doug Rothwell said earlier this year.

"Michigan has a weak track record over the past decade or so which is negatively influencing long-term forecasts," Rothwell said last week. "But it doesn't have to be that way. Business Leaders for Michigan projects that we could grow as many as 500,000 new jobs over the next decade by growing our life science, natural resource, automotive, engineering, logistics and higher education assets," Rothwell told Bridge last week. "The key is to take actions now that change the growth trajectory for the future."

Goodbye assembly line, hello health care

An unchanged trajectory would mean that good-paying factory jobs, the bread and butter of Michigan's economy for generations, will continue to dwindle. Manufacturing as a whole is projected to lose 30,000 jobs in the state – the equivalent of a busload of workers leaving a plant every week for 10 years. Automobile and light-duty manufacturing is expected to take the biggest hit – losing 12,000 jobs, or about a third of the Michigan workforce.

Meanwhile, jobs in the health care industry are expected to explode. Workers servicing the elderly are projected to double, and home health care workers will increase by 38 percent, and registered nurses increase by 16,000, up 18 percent.

Unfortunately, workers in some of those growing jobs, such as home health aides, earn little more than fast food workers. "About 40 percent of direct-care workers are on some kind of public assistance," said Hollis Turnham, Midwest director for PHI-Michigan, an advocacy group that works with workers and consumers of home health care. "We need these occupations, but they're very low-wage and low-benefit."

A happy ending?

Not everyone believes Michigan's future is as dark as a Dickens novel. University of Michigan economist George Fulton says models constructed by the school's Research Seminar on Quantitative Analysis projects a comparatively robust jobs growth of 1.6 percent per year over the next three years (more than twice the annual growth rate projected by Bridge's analysis).

He points out that Michigan was fourth in the nation in job growth between 2010 and 2012. The 80,000 jobs projected to be gained in 2013 will be the third-highest in Michigan since 1996. Fulton agrees that there will be rapid growth in low-paying jobs, but he also sees pockets of hope in some high-education, high-pay jobs, such as engineering and accounting.

"I find that really encouraging," Fulton said. "Things may not go gangbusters the next few years, but I'd describe it as solid growth."

That growth won't happen with the turn of a storybook page. It will take hard decisions in the Capitol, says Ballard.

For the story to have a happy ending will likely require some drama in earlier chapters. Ballard is blunt: "We're going to raise your taxes to build better roads," the economist said. "We're going to raise your taxes to have better schools."

Is Michigan ready to change?

"We have to figure out how to accelerate job development, and grow the right kinds of jobs," said Good. "If we don't, Michigan either becomes a less populated state or a poorer state."

MICHIGAN RADIO

How are 'Common Core' standards playing out in Michigan classrooms today?

Back in 2010, the State Board of Education approved the Common Core State Standards for Michigan — a set of math and English goals for K-12 students.

School districts across the state have spent the past three years integrating the standards into their curricula. At the same time, we've heard a lot of political debate about Common Core, mostly about the involvement of the federal government in our classrooms.

But in October of this year, state lawmakers OK'd funding for Common Core, and now it is becoming a reality in Michigan classrooms.

We wanted to find out: What does this mean — day-in, day-out — for Michigan's students?

What does a school year under Common Core really look like?

Joining us is Naomi Norman, the executive director of Achievement Initiatives at Washtenaw Intermediate School District and Livingston Educational Service Agency.

Listen to the full interview : http://cpa.ds.npr.org/michigan/audio/2013/12/CommonCoreforAIR.mp3

ASSOCIATED PRESS

More Michigan kids qualify for food aid, report says

A report by a private foundation says the percentage of young Michigan children qualifying for federal food assistance has jumped in recent years.

The annual Kids Count in Michigan project says more than one in three qualified for nutritional help in 2012. That's up 53% from 2005.

Jane Zehnder-Merrell of the Michigan League for Public Policy says it shows that effects of the recession are continuing even though the economic downturn officially ended years ago.

The study documented a 34% rise in child poverty between 2005 and 2011, while the number of children in families investigated for possible abuse and neglect last year was highest in 22 years.

Among recommendations in the report are boosting the earned income tax credit, the minimum wage and the child care subsidy.

MIRS

Wimmer To Head Michigan CACFP Affairs

The Association for Child Development (ACD), a sponsor of the U.S Department of Agriculture's Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP), announced today that Billie Kops WIMMER will head up Michigan's CACFP affairs.

In this role, Wimmer will oversee ACD assistance to child care providers in serving nutritious food to children in their care and to provide nutrition education for child care personnel.

DETROIT NEWS

Grosse Pointe Farms parents say their kids denied 'equal education'

Jennifer Chambers and Candice Williams
Graduation rates are in the mid-90s at both high schools in the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

North High and South High are both highly rated schools with numerous Advanced Placement and foreign language offerings.

But a group of families in Grosse Pointe Farms, one of Michigan's most affluent communities, feels it is being shortchanged. The families want the district to move their children from North High to South High, claiming their kids have been denied "equal access" to "equal education."

In seeking a transfer to South, the parents have cited the landmark U.S. Supreme Court ruling in Brown v. Board of Education, which outlawed restricting black students to "separate but equal" public schools.

But a majority of the seven-member school board said at a Monday night meeting they didn't intend to change boundaries that have been in place for 45 years to accommodate a few families.

At North High, 26.7 percent of the students are African-American, compared with 12 percent at South.

In the Grosse Pointe school district, 76.78 percent of students are white and 17 percent are African-American. More than half of the households in Grosse Pointe Farms have an annual income of $100,000 or more, and 95 percent are white, according to U.S. Census data.

Kurt Strehlke, a father of three and resident of Grosse Pointe Farms, is part of "Unite the Farms," the group asking the school board to redraw the district's boundary lines to allow children residing in the area of Grosse Pointe Farms north of Moross between Chalfonte and Mack to be redistricted to South High.

Most Farms children who attend his son's middle school — Brownell — are forced to attend South. A few — maybe 10 students a year, including his son— must go to North, Strehlke said.

"Ninety percent of our neighbors' kids attend South," he said. "We want them to go to South because it's who you grew up with."

District Superintendent Thomas Harwood said the district is aware of the residents' request. "We believe there is no difference between the schools. They both provide quality education," he said.

Strehlke said he does not agree with the district, which says South is at capacity with 1,712 students. North has 1,327 students and is not at capacity.

"We think it's a funding issue," Strehlke said.

In a letter to the school board last month, Karen Strehlke asked for a hearing by Dec. 16 on the group's request. Attached was a petition signed by more than 250 Farms residents calling for the district border change.

The petition, titled "SEPARATE IS NOT EQUAL — UNITE THE FARMS," says the affected residents receive "a different treatment relative to the rest of the Farms" because their children can't enroll at South.

Harwood said the board denied the group's request for a public hearing, but the district has scheduled a meeting with parents and administrators.

Harwood said he doesn't think Brown v. Board is relevant to the parents' claims. "We don't think there are violations of constitutional rights," he said.

Several parents spoke during the board's public comment period Monday night and favored maintaining the district's boundaries. Shifting the lines would only teach children to be afraid of change, said Bharani Yerramaloi, whose 14-year-old daughter attends North High.

At least four school board members said Monday night they wouldn't change the district boundaries, while two said they would consider it.

“Nothing has changed within the community that suggests we need to change the boundaries,” said board member Lois Valente.

Board Vice President Daniel Roeske said the district has had the same “open district” policy for 45 years that allows students to transfer from one high school to another — if space is available. Last school year, transfers from North to South and from South to North occurred, Roeske said, but he didn’t know how many. The district does not participate in the state Schools of Choice program, which allows transfers between districts.

But board member Tom Jakubiec said he would consider redistricting for family convenience.

An email sent to parents on Wednesday by the North Parents Club stated “the UtF group has deepened a wound that so many Grosse Pointe citizens have spent countless years trying to mend — the idea that there is or should be a ‘more perfect’ educational options, for a privileged few.”

Strehlke said it is not a race issue. “Their whole peer group is South,” he said. “... It’s about going to school with whom you grew up with.”

From: Morford, Sandy (MDE)
Sent: Thursday, July 10, 2014 10:54 AM
To: Boone, Philip (MDE);Rader, Glenda (MDE);Brooks, John (MDE);Suggitt, Gloria (MDE);Kolb, Jeff (MDE);Ciloski, Brian (MDE);Hayner, John (MDE);Urchike, Chad (MDE);May, Christopher (MDE);Keller, Cindy (DTMB)
Subject: FW: News to Know Today, 7-10-14

From: Head, David (MDE)
Sent: Thursday, July 10, 2014 10:53:29 AM (UTC-05:00) Eastern Time (US & Canada)
To: Head, David (MDE)
Subject: News to Know Today, 7-10-14

MLIVE.COM
COLUMN

Michigan state superintendent puts laser focus on making charter school authorizers transparent
Tim Skubick
Mike Flanagan means business. Last February, the state school superintendent convened a private meeting of charter school authorizers. These are the outfits that research and then license charter schools around the state. Mr. Flanagan was picking up soundings that there was "trouble in River City."

As the meeting unfolded, he discovered he was right and it had nothing to do with young boys playing in the pool hall.

While noting that "most of the authorizers are measuring up," there are some that apparently are not. The concern around the table was, if this is not corrected, it could hurt everyone in the room.

He says the issue is transparency or the lack of same.

Five months later and this time prompted by an in-depth series in the Detroit Free Press that raised a number of charter challenges, Mr. Flanagan issued an edict: Authorizers, clean up your act or you will lose the right to create any more charter schools.

"The transparency issue is something we need to get better at and if we find that they don't measure up with appropriate transparency, than I'll make sure they can't offer more charters."

Mr.Flanagan expects to take the next three months to do his due diligence and then he advises, "within six months" he may lower the boom if it is warranted.

Will he give those authorizers a second chance before the boom goes boom?

"Probably not."

Asked why he did not move earlier before the newspaper spread, he reports he was busy with "other fish to fry" as the legislature was battling the school community on Smarter Balance testing. A battle the school superintendent lost.

So now he's fully engaged. He will not be judge and jury of what may be going wrong, but he wants to implement standards that the authorizers will enforce with their charter school clients. And if that doesn't weed out the bad apples, if there are any, he'll take it from there.

"This is on a fast track," he says.

For the players in the charter game, the anxiety meter has gone up another notch.

MICHIGAN RADIO

Michigan's superintendent predicts institutions will lose authority to create charter schools

Jake Neher
The statement comes a day after state Superintendent of Schools Mike Flanagan said he's ready to use his authority to revoke that ability from charter school authorizers. That's if they fail to meet new standards for transparency set by state education officials.
Flanagan says he met with authorizers in February about issues involving charters. He says he's not convinced all of them will be able to meet the new, tougher standards.
"If I had to guess, just because of the candor at the February meeting, there's probably some that we won't extend their ability," Flanagan said Tuesday. "But I don't want to pre-judge that too much. That's only hearing the anecdotal stuff."
"I probably shouldn't speculate, but I'm just saying – out of, whatever is it, 30-some authorizers – everything being equal, there may be some that haven't met those standards," he said. "And then, I wouldn't hesitate at all to say that's it, you can't charter any more schools."
But Flanagan says he's still leaving it up to authorizers to actively monitor their charter schools, instead of cracking down on the schools directly.
"I don't see myself judging whether or not those are appropriate – for instance, leases – but I think they need to be transparent so that the authorizers know about it and then they should judge it," he said.
Flanagan is also urging state lawmakers to pass tougher transparency requirements for charter school operators.
A spokesperson for state Senate Majority Leader Randy Richardville, R-Monroe, says he's having discussions with staff about ways to address some of the issues brought up in the Free Press series. Democrats in the Legislature have already introduced bills to ban for-profit charters, and plan to introduce legislation to increase transparency after lawmakers return from their summer break.

DETROIT NEWS
COLUMN

Michigan schools still largely mediocre
Ingrid Jacques
When students leave their high schools behind, they should be able to face their first college classes with confidence.

While the latest test results can't perfectly predict how well students will do after high school, the scores can shed light on overall school performance trends. And they aren't great.

The test scores from the Michigan Merit Exam, given to all high school juniors each spring, along with the ACT college entrance exam, do show some progress.

"There is some improvement over time," says Sarah Lenhoff, director of policy and research at Michigan's Education Trust-Midwest.

But the gains are slow and somewhat mixed, and the overall percentage of students prepared for college fell slightly to 17.8 percent this year.

That college readiness standard is fairly tough, with students having to meet benchmarks in four subjects: English, reading, math and science. And Michigan is one of only a few states that gives the ACT to all high school students.

But more students should be up to the challenge, especially when an increasing number of jobs require some higher education. At four Metro Detroit school districts — Ecorse, Highland Park, River Rouge and Westwood — not a single one of the students who took the MME and ACT exams did well enough to be considered ready for college.

Statewide, large achievement gaps exist among African-American, Latino and low-income students. The Education Trust-Midwest has shown a 27.6 percentage point gap in math proficiency between African-American students and white students; only 6 percent of African-American students are proficient in math.

Many students from all parts of the state continue to struggle in some subjects, especially science and math.

Less than 29 percent of students scored proficient in science and math on the Merit Exam; fewer hit that target on the ACT.

In a statement, Gov. Rick Snyder said it's his mission to make sure students "have the rigorous education they need to be successful." And Education Department officials credited the state's strong Michigan Merit Curriculum with some of the improved test results.

So it's ironic that Snyder recently signed legislation that ultimately allows more students to graduate without taking some of the tougher math and science courses — clearly the state's weakest performance areas.

It's obvious many schools around the state are struggling academically. Yet the same day the test scores were announced, State Superintendent Mike Flanagan chose to single out one type of public school, releasing another statement concerning his plans to crack down on charter school authorizers that aren't meeting quality expectations.

"We are getting serious about quality choices for Michigan students," Flanagan said.

That should be the goal, but all schools deserve the same level of scrutiny. Charter schools only educate about 10 percent of students in the state. Flanagan should follow the lead of the authorizers that have closed 88 charter schools, many for academic failure. Not one traditional public school has been shut down for poor academic performance.

With less than one in five high school grads ready for college, that should change.

ANN ARBOR INDEPENDENT

Revamped Michigan eLibrary Offers More for Adults and Kids to Access Information

IT'S AN UNAPOLOGETIC bookworm, a hit at trivia games, a great homework helper and its memory is lightning-fast.Even if you've never met, you soon may find yourself basking in its boundless knowledge and 24/7 stamina.
Meet the new and improved MeL – Michigan eLibrary – now available at http://mel.org, on a computer, tablet, or smartphone screen near you.
Part of the Library of Michigan, the state's official digital library got a comprehensive makeover to go with a faster "discovery" search engine. The goal was to make MeL more user-friendly.
"MeL has a fantastic new look and feel, along with increased availability of its discover search service on the homepages of MeL and Michigana, which houses the state digital history collections," said State Superintendent Mike Flanagan.
"The MeL homepage search box provides access to MeLCat, the shared statewide catalog and interloan service for more than 425 libraries statewide."

MeL's homepage search feature also accesses selected MeL subscription eResources or databases, Michigan Online Resources for Educators (M.O.R.E.) curricular content, and digital Michigan history projects. Using the search box on the Michigana homepage, http://mel.org/michigana, users can access digital history collections.
Additionally, both the Kids and Teens gateways were redesigned. At MeL Kids, http://mel.org/kids, new mascot, "Brookie," and pal, "ReadIt," introduce young MeL users to resources aimed at helping them become engaged readers. MeL Teens, http://mel.org/teens, meanwhile, includes resources aimed at helping teens with school assignments, preparing for college or career.
"MeL Teens prepares Michigan teens for when life happens," said State Librarian Randy Riley. "I think teens will agree the site is simply cool."
LM, http://michigan.gov/libraryofmichigan, and Midwest Collaborative for Library Services, http://mcls.org, partnered on the MeL redesign for more than a year. They worked with Innovative Interfaces Inc., EBSCO EDS and Strudell Studios. "This collaboration resulted in remarkable new functionality for MeL." Riley said. "We're now able to offer easy access to a wide array of eResources from the search box on the homepage. And, as always, the resources and information found in MeL are available at no cost to all Michigan residents."
MeL includes subscription eResources such as eBooks, full-text articles, test prep and vetted subject-specific websites. MeL may be accessed from home, school, office or all Michigan public libraries.

LIVINGSTON DAILY PRESS & ARGUS
EDITORIAL

Low college readiness causes concern
It is past time for Michigan's citizens and policymakers to acknowledge the crisis looming in the state's future: The state's public schools are failing to educate the next generation of Michiganders.

An abundance of poorly educated workers won't attract employers, potentially hindering job opportunities even for the better educated who choose to live here. It's time to make K-12 education a top priority.

As much as the machinery of government (the Legislature, the state Department of Education) continues to work on improvements, results are lagging. Test results released Monday continue an alarming trend. While many districts saw at least slight improvements in some numbers over last year, overall lackluster results point to a serious situation needing more attention and action.

Statewide on the Michigan Merit Exam, 40 percent of 11th-graders were not proficient in reading. Nearly 50 percent were not proficient in writing. Furthermore, a stunning 70 percent were not proficient in math or science — two subjects that anchor STEM (science, technology, engineering and math), the four disciplines that are critical in the knowledge economy and thus essential for future economic prosperity.

A decade ago, the Cherry Commission was charged with creating strategies to double the number of college graduates in Michigan. Yet statewide, 82 percent of some 100,000 11th-graders who took the ACT as part of the Michigan Merit Exam were not considered ready for college work. Indeed, a Detroit Free Press review of Monday's data release showed some 200 Michigan schools (including both traditional schools and charter schools) had no students considered college-ready by the standards of the ACT. Not one.

Michigan citizens, state Board of Education members, the Department of Education, the governor, the Legislature, business and civic leaders — all need to make K-12 student achievement a higher priority. Pulling Michigan out of the recession won't mean much if the state fails to educate a competent work force for the future.

FLINT JOURNAL
OP-ED

Flint schools committed to transparency, turnaround so students can compete for jobs
Interim Superintendent Larry Watkins, Flint Community Schools
Flint Community Schools is on a path to turning things around and building a new future for our children and our community.
The challenges our schools face are among the most daunting in Michigan. At the same time, our commitment to resolving our academic, financial and other challenges is equal to the task.
Our journey to rebuild Flint schools so our students can learn and teachers can teach starts with transparency and openness. We will hold ourselves accountable. We expect our community – and watchdogs like The Flint Journal – to keep us under a microscope because Flint schools' No. 1 mission is to serve the families of this community and make sure we can compete for 21st century jobs.
At my direction, we have put in place a new financial team, under the leadership of Chief Financial Officer Richard Carpenter. This team is made up of people with experience serving as CFOs themselves, with the background and knowledge to design and implement a successful finance department, internal control structure and budget.
I directed this team to look into FCS' finances again because I suspected things were being overlooked or misread. In mid-June, this new team began their work. In just two weeks of round-the-clock work, we found errors that indicated FCS' deficit was greater than we had earlier projected for the 2013-2014 school year.
At the same time, because of their expertise, this team also found a surplus of nearly $4 million in grants for the 2014-2015 school year.

We are reforming Flint schools now because business as usual is no longer acceptable.
We are confident our team can tackle our shortfall responsibly and complete a deficit elimination plan, as required by law, that can get our schools and our students on a path to success.
We are reforming Flint schools now because business as usual is no longer acceptable. Our financial deficit is growing. Our student population is shrinking. Achievement lags the rest of the state. And our community is demanding change.
If we don't reform FCS now, one of our region's greatest assets – our public schools – will be in freefall, unable to reverse the downward spiral that will affect Flint for generations.
That's why we must act now. And we need the community to help us and point out areas where we can and must do better. If we made mistakes, we intend to fix them. In many cases, we have.
I'm a proud product of Flint Community Schools. My four daughters are graduates of Flint schools. When I took the job of interim superintendent, I knew two things: That I would fight tirelessly to turn things around for the school district that I love, and that this job – our job – would not be easy.
For the first time in a long time, all of us – administrators, parents, teachers, students, businesses, community advocates and others – are coming together to build Flint schools for the future.
This time, we are turning words into action and we will turn Flint schools around so our children can learn and succeed.

FLINT JOURNAL

Flint School District considers outsourcing contract for substitutes, others at special meeting
Dominic Adams
The Flint School District could save nearly $319,000 per year if the school board approves a contract with a Burton-based company to outsource substitute teachers, paraprofessionals, clerical workers, safety advocates and athletic coaches during a special meeting on Wednesday, July 9.
Professional Educational Services Group will allow the Flint School District to cut two “sub-finder managers” for an annual savings of $130,000 and nearly $189,000 in savings from benefits and pensions for substitutes, according to an executive summary provided to The Flint Journal by board member David Davenport.
The Flint School District expects to save a total of $318,713 per year. Currently, the district spends over $800,000 in substitute wages and benefits, the summary said.
“This is part of our effort to right-size our school district to continue to work on our deficit elimination plan,” said Interim Superintendent Larry Watkins. “It helps us with our legacy costs. One of our goals with the outsourcing is we’re hopeful that we can bring back some of our employees.”
The meeting starts at 5:30 p.m. and is at the district’s administrative building, 923 E. Kearsley St.

Other agenda items include a session closed to the public to discuss a legal opinion regarding the debt with the Genesee Intermediate School District, a litigation update and superintendent's performance review.
Flint schools deficit has grown by $20.4 million in seven months, according to district officials. The Flint School District had a plan to erase a $10.4 million deficit by June 30, 2018, before revealing the increased deficit last month.

The district has until July 31 to submit an updated deficit elimination plan to the Michigan Department of Education.
The GISD filed a lawsuit on Tuesday, July 8, over $8.6 million in millage money meant for vocational education that the GISD claims Flint misspent.

"The GISD has done what they're supposed to – I'm not mad at them," said school board Trustee David Davenport. "The July 31 deadline is coming around the corner. What else are we going to cut? I think the state is going to send in a financial review team."
The MDE won't tell the district what to put in its deficit elimination plan, but just wants to make sure that the plan is doable.
"I think a lot of it is, 'Can the district develop a deficit elimination plan that is viable?' If they can't, then we look at the options in (Public Act) 436," Martin Ackley, a spokesman for the Michigan Department of Education, previously said. "We want to give school districts every chance to resolve their situation."

FLINT JOURNAL

Genesee Intermediate School District sues Flint schools over disputed $8.6 million in misspent tax money for skill center

Dominic Adams
The Genesee Intermediate School District is suing Flint schools over $8.6 million in countywide tax money that was meant for vocational education, but auditors said was improperly spent on general operations.
GISD Superintendent Lisa Hagel said she's tried in good faith for over a year to reach an agreement for repayment from the Flint School District for the funds meant for the Genesee Area Skill Center, but nothing has come to fruition.
Meanwhile, the Flint School District's deficit has grown to $20.4 million, not including the debt to the GISD.
Flint schools Interim Superintendent Larry Watkins disputes the $8.6 million figure, but did not specify the amount the Flint School District owes the GISD.
"I'm not surprised," Watkins said when told about the lawsuit by The Flint Journal. "We have been negotiating with the GISD and our board attorney was still in process and we had not come to an agreement."
He said he's still hopeful the two districts can come to an agreement.
"I disagree with the number and since you indicated a lawsuit has been filed, I guess the matter will be handled through the courts," he said. "I was hoping we could sit down as two educational entities to come to a resolution of the matter."
Flint schools didn't include the money owed to the GISD as part of its deficit in its last audit, and said the Michigan Department of Education has allowed both sides to negotiate repayment.
But Hagel said the GISD has grown skeptical that discussions between the two districts will be productive. She said negotiations or discussions about the funds have occurred every couple of weeks for more than a year.
"Flint's getting deeper in deficit and we're feeling like the county is never going to recover the money unless we step up," Hagel said. "When we realized that Flint is not really making effort or progress on paying down the deficit, it became evident that we had to do something because having faith that we can resolve this isn't going anywhere."
The lawsuit was filed in Genesee County Circuit Court on Tuesday, July 8, but was not available at the Genesee County Clerk's Office Wednesday morning, July 9.

Twenty superintendents from school districts throughout Genesee County have signed letters to the GISD in support of its efforts to recoup the millage money.
The skill center was the first countywide vocational school in the state when the GISD established it in the 1960s. At the time, ISDs weren't legally allowed to operate a vocational school, so the GISD sought out the county's biggest district -- the Flint School District -- for help.

Taxpayers in Genesee County pay a property tax of nearly 1 mill for operation of the countywide vocational school, which was under the umbrella of the Flint School District. Thousands of students over the years have learned skills such as auto repair, carpentry and architecture at the skill center.
Flint no longer operates the Genesee Area Skill Center and sold the facility to the GISD last year for $2.5 million. The GISD had terminated its contract with Flint to operate the skill center when the GISD learned of the misspending from auditors.

Hagel said the GISD claims that for about six years, Flint had been reducing the skill center's operating budget by about $1.5 million per year and Flint then used that countywide millage money as part of its general operations.
A special meeting was scheduled for 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, July 9, at the Flint School District's administrative office. A closed session was scheduled to discuss a legal opinion regarding the GISD debt.

Flint's interim superintendent said he did not know how the GISD's lawsuit could affect Flint's deficit elimination plan, a document required by the state from districts that have budget deficits. The Flint School District has until July 31 to revise and resubmit its deficit elimination plan to the state education department because its deficit has grown.
State education department officials could not be immediately reached for comment.
"If they go further in deficit, we're not going to take any more chances here," Hagel said. "They've changed (chief financial officers) four times and every time they change CFOs it's like a stall tactic. It just comes to a point where it's enough.
"Whatever happens to Flint, we don't want to lose that money – by putting a stake in the sand, that lets it be known we do expect repayment."
Flint School Board President Isaiah Oliver issued an emailed statement to The Flint Journal regarding the lawsuit.
"When the financial advisers determined that (Flint Community Schools) had made substantial excess cash contributions to the operations of the Genesee Area Skill Center over several years, which had not been properly accounted for in the past, FCS provided this information to the GISD," he said. "Unfortunately, the GISD was not willing to consider such excess cash contributions by FCS to the Genesee Area Skill Center, and efforts by the parties to resolve the dispute, without judicial involvement, were not successful."
Hagel said Flint schools didn't provide adequate records to support the Flint School District's claim that it paid skill center employees out of the general fund on different occasions.
"Our legal department has been asking for months – give us anything that would show that," Hagel said. "We can't even get to a number. It's just getting worse."
The GISD has said Flint also owes the GISD an additional $4 million for contracted services. A Flint schools spokesman said at the time that conversations about those funds were ongoing.

FLINT JOURNAL

Flint schools educating parents on Common Core, as poll says 47 percent of people haven't heard of new standards

Dominic Adams
Officials with the Flint School District are working to ensure that teachers, administrators and parents understand the Common Core State Standards that have been adopted in Michigan.

The district approved a new education plan last month, which also outlines how the district will align to the common core, which are standards that ensure students learn the necessary skills at each grade level to be prepared for college or a career after high school.

In June, a poll from MSN/Wall Street Journal found that 47 percent of the 1,000 people questioned had never heard of the common core standards.

"Parents received CCSS updates at monthly district and building level meetings," Shamarion Grace, acting executive director of curriculum and instruction for Flint schools, wrote in an email to The Flint Journal. "They received strategies to use with their children at home to prepare them for the content of the CCSS."

The district said it is implementing the new standards into the curriculum:

- Elementary/secondary English language arts and math curriculum are aligned to the Common Core State Standards.
- Administrators/teachers are receiving ongoing professional development on how to teach the CCSS aligned curriculum.
- Administrators/teachers took the CCSS practice tests to heighten their awareness of the content of the CCSS curriculum.
- Some buildings and students participated in the pilot tests aligned to the CCSS.

Here is a parent's guide to the standards from the National Parent Teachers' Association.

MLIVE.COM

Be Nice: West Michigan mental health group takes anti-bullying initiative national Monica Scott
The Mental Health Foundation of West Michigan is taking its "Be Nice" initiative national, recently unveiling a curriculum schools across the country can utilize for bullying prevention at the National Education Association's EXPO in Denver, CO.

Forty West Michigan school districts have taken part in the foundation's anti-bullying initiative, Be Nice, and "Live Laugh Love: Educating Youth about Mental Health Program," a comprehensive mental health curriculum taught in classrooms.

"We've been doing Be Nice for three years successfully here and it's time to take the program outside of West Michigan because it's all about saving and changing lives," said Christy Buck, executive director of the Mental Health Foundation of West Michigan about the launch July 1 and 2 with educators.

Buck said their booth got a lot of traffic from educators across the country interested in lesson plans and relevant topics to address what students are experiencing with bullying and depression. She said their staff dedicated the past year to taking the program national, including the $1,500 kits, promoted in Denver.

Sixth grade student Summer Catron, 11, works on making a poster in class as part of the school's 'Be Nice Day' at Timberland Charter Academy on February 13, 2012. The school day schedule was adjusted for students to focus on promoting anti-bullying activities. MLive File Photo

The kit includes, an age appropriate curriculum (elementary, middle and high school) with multiple lessons, 30 T-shirts for the student and/or staff leadership team (more can be purchased for $5), 30 wristbands, 30 lanyards, and online access to the beniceonline.com website that features additional curriculum information, webinars, blogs and videos.

"This curriculum is full out mental health based, going back to how we treat people and how that affects how people think, act and feel," Buck said. "We are talking about this because people are dying and how you treat someone can trigger depression. You can't just say stop bullying."

Buck said there are a lot of programs and initiatives for districts to choose from, but there's is unique and proven. She said she is optimistic they will begin introducing more of the country to Be Nice.

"Every day you can affect someone's life," she said.

BRIDGE MAGAZINE

Emergency manager or emperor? Why Michigan's law stirs contempt

Chastity Pratt Dawsey

Flint has gone through a state takeover of its finances twice now. The city's emergency manager knows he must handle power differently this time.

When the state's first emergency takeover of Flint ended in 2004, the elected officials who returned to power quickly replaced the department heads who had worked with the state to balance the city's budget.

Flint's finances would soon again suffer the stress of low revenues and higher spending. So in 2011, the state took over Flint's busted budget – again.

Darnell Earley is now the state-appointed emergency manager, working from the same office he used when he was the city administrator in Flint during the first state takeover.

Flint cannot afford to fail again. It could lead to bankruptcy, Earley warns. Knowing this, he has started to engage the city's elected officials in the city's transition plan before his term ends next April. It is not easy. Many still view him as the state's henchman, the enemy. On July 1, he transferred the day-to-day operations of the Planning and Development and Public Works departments to the elected mayor, while retaining final say. The city council, meanwhile, has started regular meetings that take on policy issues just as any city council would do.

Earley said easing the elected officials into power will help sustain the city's positive financial course once he's gone. The key, Earley said, is making sure that the people in charge after the emergency manager leaves aren't so sore about the process that they interfere with recovery.

"If we're going to fix this thing and going to remain solvent, they are going to have to deal with some things – learn to ride without training wheels," Earley said of Flint's elected leaders. "Everyone should be thinking, 'How do we avoid going down this road again?'…"You want them at the table, but you don't want them to flip over the table."

Earley may be onto something, according to a study by the Pew Charitable Trusts.

While Michigan's aggressive emergency manager law is mired in litigation and some acrimony, other states – notably, North Carolina and Rhode Island – have succeeded with more proactive and inclusive approaches in distressed cities. Experts say Michigan should pay more attention to monitoring fragile cities before they are in crisis and, if emergency intervention is needed, give local leaders a role in the path toward recovery.

"The reason why some (receiverships) succeed and others don't, I believe is if you don't have buy-in it'll never get through it," said James Spiotto, a municipal bankruptcy expert and co-author of "Municipalities in Distress?: How States and Investors Deal with Local Government Financial Emergencies."

"Nobody likes being told what to do from on high. It has to be on the city because they're the ones who will have to live with it."

"The reason why some (receiverships) succeed and others don't, I believe, is if you don't have buy-in it'll never get through it. Nobody likes being told what to do from on high." – James Spiotto, a municipal bankruptcy expert.

Two years ago, only a half dozen Michigan cities and school districts were being managed by the state. But the number is growing as more cities face hard times and the state puts its new law to work. Today, 17 are in some phase of receivership, with the governor appointing an emergency manager for Lincoln Park just last week.

Nationwide, at least 23 states have laws that allow them to intervene with municipalities and schools that fall into financial pits, according to Spiotto's research. They allow for everything from debt supervision to receivership and bankruptcy filing. None of those laws are considered to give as much unbridled power to a state-appointed financial overseer as the law Gov. Rick Snyder successfully pushed through. Michigan's law gives EM's near-total power to reshape union contracts, sideline elected officials and sell city assets.

A racial component

And with big power comes big controversy.

In Michigan, there is an unmistakable racial cast to the raw feelings engendered by the EM law, with civil rights groups contending African-American communities have been disproportionately targeted for intervention.

The Detroit Branch and Michigan State Conference NAACP chapters filed a federal lawsuit to repeal the Michigan emergency manager law, Public Act 436, calling it a violation of voting rights because elected officials are stripped of authority when the state appoints an emergency manager. U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Steven Rhodes denied the NAACP challenge last fall, saying it would disrupt the Detroit bankruptcy case if Detroit's EM were to be removed.

The NAACP filed an appeal with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. No hearing has been scheduled, said Chui Karega, an attorney for the NAACP.
The NAACP and many of the critics of Michigan's law note that state-appointed emergency managers now control the budgets in municipalities where a majority of the state's African Americans live, including Detroit.
Karega also noted that Michigan residents voted down the emergency manager law by ballot referendum in 2012, only for the legislature and governor to approve another emergency manager law weeks later.
"Michigan citizens should be making decisions about their future and not a single dictator – that's what an emergency manager is, a dictator," Karega said. "The voice of the people ought to be heard. The governor and legislature should listen to the people."
It's beyond dispute that Michigan communities under state control are poor and predominantly black. But Gov. Snyder and Republican legislative leaders have said the law was motivated by a desire help, not control, chronically financially struggling cities and the people who live there.
"There has to be a culture of (knowing) there isn't an endless pot of money. You can't fix it with people with the same mindset as the people who were there in the first place." – Veteran EM Lou Schimmel, on the limits of involving local officials.
Sen. Phil Pavlov, R-St. Clair Township, sponsor of the emergency manager law (Public Act 436), added that while protestors and litigants feel they are looking out for their best interests, the state has to step in to protect taxpayers across Michigan when a city or school district can't pay its bills.
"We really need to think about what's best financially," he said.
Sara Wurfel, spokeswoman for Gov. Rick Snyder, defended the state's actions, saying the extreme nature of financial emergencies dictates state intervention in a municipality, not the skin color of its residents.
"The communities or schools currently with an EM or going through part of the process are because of financial facts and crises, not because of the makeup of their populations," she said.
Nationwide, almost every recent financial emergency can be traced to a one-time blow or a structural problem that worsened over time such as the disaster in Detroit, said Stephen Fehr, a researcher for the Pew Charitable Trusts. State officials should provide technical assistance – in addition to warnings – when signs of stress surface, instead of waiting until distress sets in.
"Our big take away: good monitoring upfront," Fehr said.
Experts cite North Carolina as a model for financial monitoring to prevent crisis.
The North Carolina way – An ounce of prevention
After the Great Depression, so many local governments were in or near bankruptcy in North Carolina that the state created a powerful agency – the Local Government Commission. The commission monitors finances of cities and towns, requires a minimum 8% fund balance cushion in municipal budgets, and makes onsite visits to cities and districts.
The commission's close attention to local financial health has resulted in communities there getting bond ratings higher than most in the U.S.
"Other states have formal and informal tools to assist local governments, but none has the same reach as North Carolina's Commission which imposes budget controls and advises troubled communities," according the Pew study.
Rob Shepherd, manager of member relations and education for the North Carolina League of Municipalities, said some local government staff and elected officials view the commission negatively because of its oversight role. If problems occur, the commission can take over the spending for a city and act as finance officer until the financial issues have been corrected.
In 2012, for example, the commission rejected the town of Navassa's request to seek a loan to complete a sewer project. The state instead insisted that the town first address a budget gap.
Pew calls North Carolina's system "relatively trouble-free," noting that the state is one of only eight nationally with a top bond grade from all three credit rating agencies. It is a testament to how proactive monitoring can avoid problems down the road, said Fehr, the Pew researcher.
The commission provides "a tremendous benefit to North Carolina local governments and the citizens of North Carolina that is often underappreciated or goes unnoticed until there is a problem," added Shepherd, of that state's municipal league.

Wurfel, Snyder's spokeswoman, said the governor has taken steps toward better monitoring to prevent emergencies. In late 2012, an Office of Fiscal Responsibility was created within the treasury department to help local hits of government. Snyder also signed bills last year that created temporary work groups tasked with identifying early warning signs to stem crises.

"Treasury has beefed up their proactive work on this front – from staff who can and do work with local units on budgeting and accounting best practices in municipal finance," Wurfel said. "But we believe still more work is necessary on these fronts."

In Rhode Island, a 5-year plan

Central Falls, R.I., a tiny, poor, congested little town of 19,000 near Providence, had a debt of $21 million when it zoomed in and out of a state takeover and municipal bankruptcy. It was the quickest municipal bankruptcy in the nation, ending in 2012 after 13 months.

Hard feelings were part of the entire process.

"The town council, mayor, state senators and reps were basically opposed to some unelected person coming in from outside the city who assumes all powers of the elected officials and displaced them, and goes about firing their friends and closing the library and the senior center all because the city can't afford it," said Robert Flanders, a former state supreme court justice who was the state-appointed receiver in Central Falls.

The local elected officials lost their authority during the receivership and bankruptcy.

Like other cities operating under a state takeover, the state pushed to get Central Falls' employees and retirees to cut their pay. In bankruptcy, the city pushed to cut retirees' payments by over 50%. Bondholders faced no cuts because the state had passed a law protecting bondholders if a municipality filed bankruptcy.

But the discord did not logjam the Central Falls process because the state emphasized negotiation over confrontation.

After the bankruptcy ended, an oversight board was appointed to monitor the city's five-year budget.

Limiting the oversight board's powers to five years was welcomed by locally elected politicians who resent the oversight process, Flanders said. "The politics is the hardest part," Flanders said. "There are no guarantees. Ultimately if you live in a democracy, you have to depend on elected officials to do the right thing."

Local buy-in or bust

Spiotto, the municipal turnaround expert, said state takeovers will fail – municipalities will revert to oversepnding or a state will be stuck in an oversight role in perpetuity – unless local officials and experts have a hand in crafting a recovery.

Michigan lawmakers passed Public Act 436, the 2012 law that re-established emergency managers after voters struck down the prior emergency manager law. The new law allows for a transition advisory board, or TAB, to be appointed to monitor and approve local elected officials' decisions after the emergency manager leaves.

The TAB is similar to the oversight board in Rhode Island and control boards that have operated in cities such as in New York, Philadelphia, and Washington, DC. By Michigan law, a TAB serves until the governor determines the municipality is out of the woods and dismisses the board.

A TAB (or the financial review board that will soon monitor the City of Detroit), should truly act as an advisor, not an emperor, and allow city officials to do the work, said Spiotto, managing director at Chapman Strategic Advisors in Chicago.

If the city officials take part in crafting a recovery plan, they have skin in the game. If the state dictates too much, the pitch and fever of politics will sap progress, Spiotto said.

As has certainly been the case in Michigan, Pew's research shows state takeovers are "often viewed as a usurping of local democracy because unelected state officials make decisions usually left up to local mayors and councils."

Pew urges states to "design interventions to involve all stakeholders in discussions, to be transparent with financial information, and to return control to local officials quickly. This promotes better cooperation between all concerned parties as a local government recovers from a crisis."

Inclusion in Allen Park

Joyce Parker, who has served as emergency manager over Highland Park schools, the city Ecorse and the city of Allen Park, near Detroit, agrees.

Since Parker took over Allen Park in 2012, she has attended the city council meetings, provided written updates and held a retreat with the council about operations.

Her goal?

"When I transition out, they're ready to step in," she said.
Parker said she has recruited locals to serve voluntarily on an advisory panel and act as a liaison between the community and the emergency manager.
Cheryl Stan, finance director of Cass Community Social Services, a nonprofit organization, is on Parker's volunteer advisory committee. Stan said there's two camps in the city of 28,000. One faction believes the state takeover was the best thing that could've happened because the city couldn't get itself together. The other believes the process is part of The Evil Empire.
Even with a team of resident advisors, the state takeover period is not all kumbaya and olive branches. A regular band of critics and dissenters attend public meetings, Stan said.
A transition advisory board will ultimately oversee Allen Park's finances after Parker leaves, a process that Stan says she backs. "I think without a transition group there are a lot of people that would forget all of the lessons we learned this time around," she said
But locals must be a part of that team, she said. "If you don't have some local voice in that transition committee, then it's going to make it harder to get things done," Stan said. "You give the opponents the perfect soap box."
Cooperation, not chaos
In 1986, a circuit court named Lou Schimmel receiver for Ecorse. In 2000, he became emergency financial manager over Hamtramck's budget. Both cities required a second round of state oversight since he left.
Who is to blame for the cities' reversals is subject to debate. Was it local officials undoing the cost-cutting reforms Schimmel enacted? Or the other factors at play – a flagging Michigan economy, perhaps? A drop in tax revenues? Increased municipal health care and retirement costs that are bedeviling communities across Michigan? Or maybe it was the state's cutback in revenue sharing?
Whatever the cause, Schimmel was not left wanting for work. In 2011, he was appointed emergency manager in Pontiac. Schimmel said that while it's important to include local officials in turnaround plans, having too many divisive locals can cause in-fighting, dragging out the recovery. Schimmel should know. A native of Pontiac, he is now on the Pontiac transition advisory board.
"It's all about management," Schimmel said. "There has to be a culture of (knowing) there's isn't an endless pot of money."

EDUCATION WEEK

President Obama Asks Teachers for Help With Ed. Policy. What Did They Tell Him?

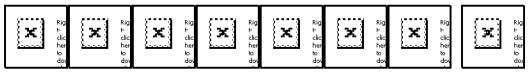
Alyson Klein
What if you got a chance to sit down with the president of the United States and the secretary of education over lunch and tell them where you think the nation is going wrong—and right—when it comes to K-12 policy?
Four teachers—all of whom have spent at least a decade teaching at high-need schools, many in the same communities that they grew up in—got the opportunity to do just that on Monday. So what did they tell President Barack Obama and U.S. Secretary of Education Arne Duncan? And what was it like to eat at the White House?

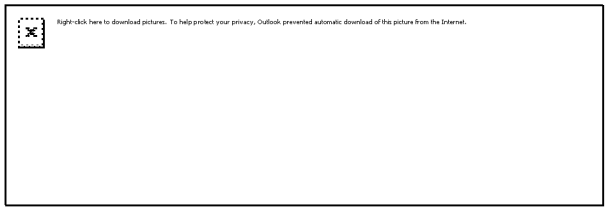
To find out, I spoke with two of the teachers—Justin Minkel, a second grade teacher in Springdale, Ark., and Dwight Davis, who teaches 5th grade in Washington, D.C. Minkel was the 2007 Arkansas Teacher of the Year, and he blogs for Education Week, over at Teaching for Triumph: Reflections of a 21st Century ELL Teacher. And Davis is a teaching policy fellow with Teach Plus.
First things first. What was for lunch?
Not school cafeteria fare. Grilled salmon with green peas, a watermelon and feta salad, cobbler with ginger ice cream and lemonade. Minkel thought he'd be too nervous to eat, but he managed. Both gave the food—and the "free flowing discussion" two thumbs up.
What did President Obama want to know?
Obama's first question had to do with the teachers and their backgrounds: Why had they continued to work with needy populations for their entire careers, and what can the federal government do to help support more teachers who want to work with disadvantaged kids, and stay in those jobs for the long haul?

And what did the teachers tell him?
Some of the toughest parts of being a teacher aren't what people expect. They include having to cope with bureaucracy, and not having as much as autonomy as other proven professionals, Minkel said. "It's not the kids that are keeping teachers from low-income schools," he added.

President Obama also asked for suggestions on how to improve the profession. What did the teachers recommend?
They want more time to collaborate with each other, and the opportunity to feel like they have more say over what goes on in their own classrooms. And Minkel wanted the president and secretary—who have presided over the biggest shift in the federal role in teacher evaluation in recent history—to know that there aren't really "good teachers and bad teachers" so much as "good teaching and bad teaching." Only a "small minority of teachers don't care about kids," he said.
Many teachers are concerned about the overuse of standardized testing. Did that come up?
Yes! In fact, the president himself asked the teachers if there is too much testing. Davis told him that he thinks some types of assessments can be really beneficial to both students and teachers, allowing kids to gauge their own progress and making it possible for teachers to pinpoint students' weaknesses. "I believe students want to be assessed," Davis said.
But some tests don't provide that kind of information. "All I get is averages," Davis said. "All I get is assessment for the sake of assessment."
What did else they talk about?
Their students, and even their own children. Obama talked about his daughters and their educations. Minkel told the president about how he started a program to build home libraries for students in his class. He saw a dramatic improvement in their reading abilities, particularly for one child whose parents aren't native English speakers, she read at home to her mother and her younger sister. And Davis told him about his practice of choosing culturally relevant texts his students can relate to. (He's a big fan of Thank You, Mr. Falker, about a struggling reader.)
A cynical reporter who writes a blog about education policy and politics in Washington would say the president and secretary choose to have lunch with teachers to send a message to folks who have questioned the direction of federal K-12 policy, or maybe even called for Duncan's resignation. Did Davis and Minkel ever feel like props?
This drew an emphatic no, from both teachers. "If we were props, [President Obama] would have just stuck to his talking points," Davis said. "He sat back and he literally listened." Minkel had a similar take. "I thought of it as genuine," he said. "His questions were so thoughtful. They were respectful."

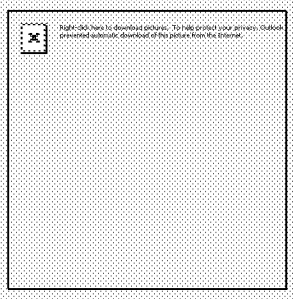
From: Bridge Magazine <ajones@thecenterformichigan.ccsend.com> on behalf of Bridge Magazine <info@thecenterformichigan.net>
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 2015 9:36 AM
To: Keller, Cindy (DTMB)
Subject: What is the state's role in Flint's water fiasco?





News & Analysis from The Center for Michigan

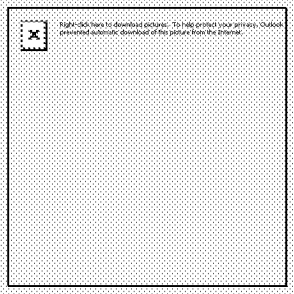
Cringe over troubled water - Flint's smelly dilemma



Flint calls on the state to clear up the city's low-quality drinking water. Who is responsible for the city's water problems?

READ FULL STORY

MSU Dean: Obama's free college plan is not best path to a degree



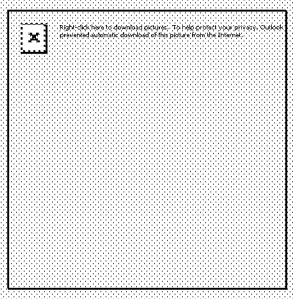
Where will the money come from? Why would Republicans embrace it? Wouldn't aid be better spent on only those students truly need help? Too many questions for now.

READ FULL STORY

Commentary: Michigan criminal code encroaching on civil liberties

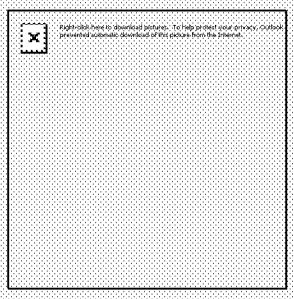
New, get-tough laws requiring DNA swabs or field sobriety tests from people who have not yet been convicted stretch the limits of government power.

READ FULL STORY



Coming Next Week: 2014 Academic State Champs

Bridge ranks every district, school and charter in the state by how much their students overachieve or underachieve academically, based on their socioeconomic status. The results may surprise you.

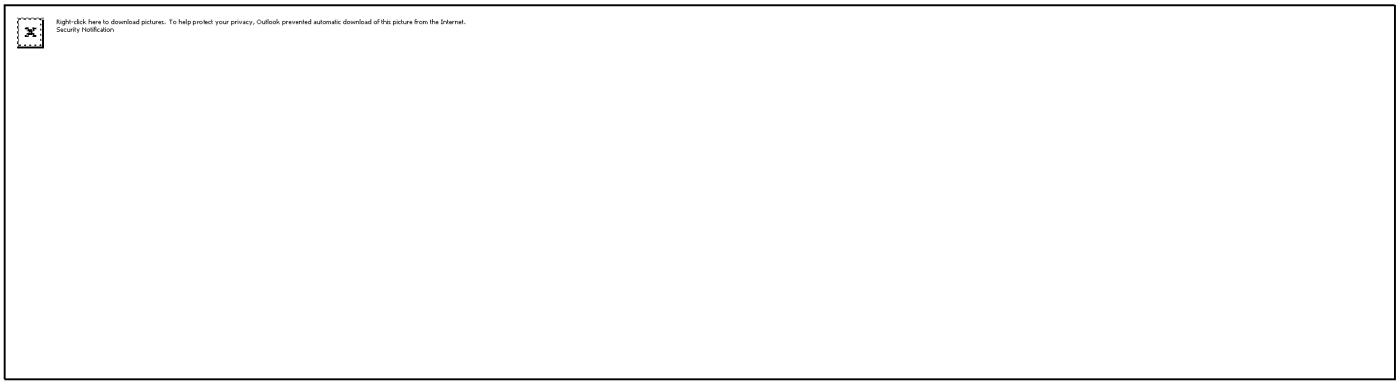


Forward this email

This email was sent to kellerc2@michigan.gov by info@thecenterformichigan.net ¦ Update Profile/Email Address ¦ Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ ¦ Privacy Policy.

The Center for Michigan ¦ 4100 N Dixboro Rd ¦ Ann Arbor ¦ MI ¦ 48105

From: DTMB Facilities <dtmb@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, October 28, 2015 8:17 AM
To: Keller, Cindy (DTMB)
Subject: Facility Notification: Constitution Hall



Protest Activity

Date/Time:

Wednesday, October 28, 2015 from 12:00pm to 4:00pm

Details:

Please be aware that there is a protest event planned for today, October 28, outside of the Constitution Hall from 12:00pm to 4:00pm. The event is being held in response to the water condition in Flint. Please plan your daily activities with this in mind as a large turnout for this event is anticipated. DTMB and MSP will be working together to monitor the situation.

Contact:

DTMB Customer Service Center, DTMB-Customerservice@michigan.gov or 517-373-6227

This email was sent to kellerc2@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of DTMB · Lewis Cass Building · 320 South Walnut Street · Lansing, MI 48933 · 517-373-1004

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 9:35 AM
To: Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Cc: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

Apparently, MSHDA is now in the mix for potentially up to $250.0. Can you please check that angle out with Beth? Thanks.

As is, LARA, in relation to plumbing inspections and regulation of hospitals, nursing homes, etc. Brian -- see me and I will bring you up to speed.

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 9:22 AM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Cc: Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

Thank you both for exploring.

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 9:02 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Cc: Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

The preliminary inquiries are not positive on the use of CDBG in line with Tyler's comments below. Genesee and most of the municipalities within the county receive CDBG resources directly and not through the state program. However, TED/MSF is exploring with the Detroit HUD office other potential alternatives.

From: Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 8:11 AM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

Lisa,

I've pulled the following from MEDC's CDBG Application Guide, which leads me to believe providing Flint CDBG Funds would not be permitted.

Eligible applicants for CDBG funds are small cities, townships, and villages of less than 50,000 in population, and non-urban counties. A specifically declared ineligible applicant is Genesee County (and local governments in the county jurisdiction except for Clio, Davison, flushing, and Lennon).CDBG Funds were provided for the UP Freeze emergency under the CDBG Urgent Need program. Urgent Need projects are typically permitted after declaration of a State of Emergency by the Governor.

Still waiting on a response from Beth, as I am by no means an expert on CDBG.

-Tyler

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 7:39 AM
To: Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

See me ASAP please.

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, October 06, 2015 6:43 PM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

Lisa,

Nancy caught me as I was attempting to leave the building this evening, and noted that John is looking to receive detail on the Flint water issue funding solution by 10 am tomorrow, Wednesday, 7 Oct 2015.

Mind you, my 3 pm phone call to DEQ's budget staff this afternoon has remained unanswered, and Chris Harkins has yet to hear from DCH. Our commitment is $6 million, and I was hoping our CDBG folks could revisit a strategy utilized last year towards a UP freeze, whereby, an obscure rule in the federal CDBG regulations allowed for funding support to assist a municipality in repair of frozen underground piping for their water system, to the tune of > $7 million if I recall correctly.

We are only seeking a million (or more) towards the Flint water reconnect effort, and asking for a Steve Arwood commitment by 10 am is certainly ridiculous. . . Nevertheless, I am indeed asking Madame for any assistance you can provide towards accomplishing such.

John, Harkins, and myself will be attending an 8 a.m. meeting of Dir. Wyant on this matter in Constitution Hall, and I will have my pad with me if we need to dialog. Thanks !

Jacques

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 12:53 PM
To: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Supplemental for Flint Water

Importance: High

FYI.

From: Pohl, Allan (LARA)
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 12:01 PM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Supplemental for Flint Water
Importance: High

FYI

Allan R. Pohl, Deputy Director, CFO
Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs
611 W. Ottawa, PO Box 30004
Lansing, MI 48909
(517) 335-1976

From: Paul Holland [mailto:pholland@house.mi.gov]
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 11:56 AM
To: Dennis, Ann (LARA) <DennisA@michigan.gov>
Cc: Pohl, Allan (LARA) <pohla1@michigan.gov>
Subject: Supplemental for Flint Water
Importance: High

Hi Ann & Al,

So here are my initial questions, as you might expect we are under pressure to pass the supplemental, so please ask program to respond ASAP:

1) The City of Flint has historically performed plumbing inspections; why is it currently unable to perform plumbing inspections of schools and health facilities?
    a. What are the schools and health facilities that the BCC anticipates inspecting?
    b. When was the last time that these schools and health facilities were inspected?
2) What does the inspection of schools and health facilities have to do with the Governor's "Flint Water Action Plan"
    a. Are these schools and health facilities going to be installing new plumbing fixtures/systems?
    b. Are the inspections to enforce the "lead free" requirement of MCL 125.1513b by inspecting existing plumbing fixtures/systems?
3) Is the City of Flint able to perform plumbing inspections of fixtures/systems in other (not school or health facility) buildings?
4) Will the schools and health facilities being inspected by the BCC pay the fees to the BCC for the inspections?
    a. Specifically, what fees will or will not be paid?
5) How long will the BCC be performing inspections of the plumbing fixtures/systems within schools and health facilities?

a. How many BCC FTEs will be expended on these inspections?

Thank you!

With Regards,
Paul B.A. Holland, M.P.P.
Senior Fiscal Analyst,
House Fiscal Agency
Michigan House of Representatives
(517) 373-5369
pholland@house.mi.gov

"What peculiar privilege has this little agitation of the brain which we call thought, that we must thus make it the model of the whole universe? Our partiality in our own favour does indeed present it on all occasions, but sound philosophy ought carefully to guard against so natural an illusion."
-David Hume

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 8:09 AM
To: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB)
Subject: RE: FY16 Enacted Appropriations

Not when the sheet is entitled enacted appropriations. HB 4102 has to go to the Senate yet for concurrence.

From: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 7:38 AM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: RE: FY16 Enacted Appropriations

LARA's is correct.

Note: it does not include the $200.0 for Flint or the $417.2 for the pending supplemental. But, should it?

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 7:31 AM
To: Buckberry, Gary (DTMB); Ferguson, Matthew (DTMB); Fink, Ryan (DTMB); Kennedy, Brian (DTMB); Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: FW: FY16 Enacted Appropriations

Please double-check your agencies.

From: Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 7:00 AM
To: Bankowski, Jeffrey S. (DTMB); Craft, Lisa (DTMB); Duncan, Nancy (DTMB); Gossman, Colleen (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Jameson, Robbie (DTMB); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Mikula, Lora (DTMB); Moody, Michael (DTMB); Roberts, John (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB); Starr, Scott (DTMB); Thelen, Anthony (DTMB); Weiss, Kurt (DTMB)
Subject: FY16 Enacted Appropriations

The attached FY2016 enacted total appropriations has been updated to include School Aid Appropriations contained in PA 139 of 2015 (SB 134).

Nancy – a hard copy is in your box.

From: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 3:24 PM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB);Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: RE: DRAFT #2 City of Flint Solution

My document is right when you open the OED folder.

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 3:22 PM
To: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB); Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: FW: DRAFT #2 City of Flint Solution
Importance: High

Note: Intent is to transmit formal supplemental request tomorrow. Let's be ready.

From: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 3:12 PM
To: Wyant, Dan (DEQ); Khouri, Nick (TREASURY); Saxton, Thomas (Treasury); Becker, Timothy (DHHS); Lyon, Nick (DHHS); Zimmer, Mike (LARA); Muchmore, Dennis (GOV)
Cc: Pohl, Allan (LARA); Hanley, Farah (DHHS); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Fosdick, David (DTMB); Kimmith, Dean (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB); Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB); Roberts, John (DTMB); Starr, Scott (DTMB); Peruchietti, Cindy (Treasury); Pallone, Maggie (DEQ)
Subject: DRAFT #2 City of Flint Solution
Importance: High

Latest version of the Flint water issue. This is still a draft. Let me know if I have not accurately reflected your comments. NOTE: I have made no adjustments for Tom Saxton's latest e-mail on potential re-connect costs.

Assuming concurrence by the Governor, we are planning to transmit a formal supplemental request tomorrow.

Nancy Duncan
Deputy State Budget Director
517-373-0870

From: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 7:38 AM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: RE: FY16 Enacted Appropriations

LARA's is correct.

Note: it does not include the $200.0 for Flint or the $417.2 for the pending supplemental. But, should it?

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 7:31 AM
To: Buckberry, Gary (DTMB); Ferguson, Matthew (DTMB); Fink, Ryan (DTMB); Kennedy, Brian (DTMB); Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: FW: FY16 Enacted Appropriations

Please double-check your agencies.

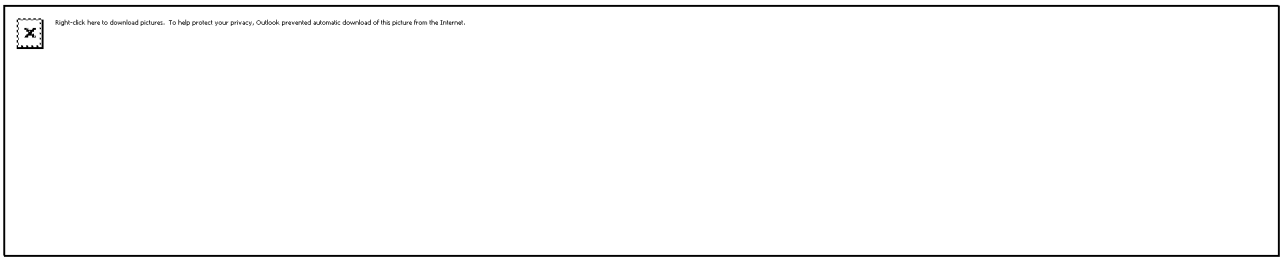
From: Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 7:00 AM
To: Bankowski, Jeffrey S. (DTMB); Craft, Lisa (DTMB); Duncan, Nancy (DTMB); Gossman, Colleen (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Jameson, Robbie (DTMB); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Mikula, Lora (DTMB); Moody, Michael (DTMB); Roberts, John (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB); Starr, Scott (DTMB); Thelen, Anthony (DTMB); Weiss, Kurt (DTMB)
Subject: FY16 Enacted Appropriations

The attached FY2016 enacted total appropriations has been updated to include School Aid Appropriations contained in PA 139 of 2015 (SB 134).

Nancy – a hard copy is in your box.

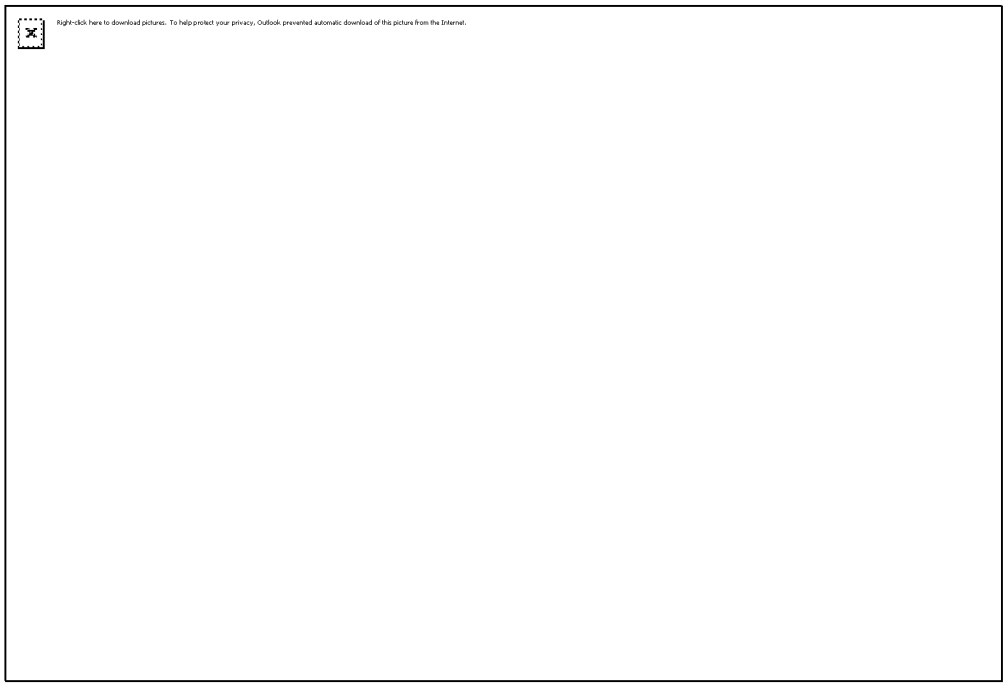
From: The Environment Report <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 2015 11:05 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Measuring Arsenic in Newborns / Flint River Backlash

Having trouble viewing this email? Click here



February 24, 2015

This Week on The Environment Report



A research team has found breastfed infants have lower exposure to arsenic than babies who exclusively drink formula, although exposure for both groups of infants was low overall. We'll talk to one of the Dartmouth researchers about why this is, and what parents can do to reduce their children's exposure to arsenic. You can find the story here.

And on Thursday's show.....Flint residents are upset about the quality of their tap water. They're complaining about the taste and smell and some are concerned the water's not safe. Many blame the Flint River, which the city started using as its water source last April. But is it fair to blame the river?

Listen to The Environment Report on Michigan Radio Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:50 am & 5:45 pm. Or, visit us online.

Environmental News from Around the Country

Antarctica: Mystery Continent Holds Key To Mankind's Future

Solar Panels Raise Value of Homes

Park Service Surveys The Environment's Accoustical Health

Fuel-Hauling Trains Could Derail at 10 a Year

Fresh Leak of Radioactive Water Detected at Fukushima Nuclear Plant

The Environment Report, Michigan Radio
535 W. William, Ann Arbor, MI 48103

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | Privacy Policy.

Michigan Radio | 535 West William Street | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Kaiser Health News <emails@kaiserhealthnews.org>
Sent: Friday, September 25, 2015 11:28 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: KHN Morning Briefing: September 25, 2015

Not rendering correctly? View this email as a web page here.

Not a subscriber? Sign up

Morning Briefing

Friday, September 25, 2015
Check Kaiser Health News online for the latest headlines

KAISER HEALTH NEWS ORIGINAL STORIES

1. Clinton Seeks To Build On Health Law, But Does She Have The Rx For Rising Health Costs?
2. Seniors Tell Medical Students What They Need From Doctors
3. D.C. Women To Get Access To Full Year's Worth Of Contraceptives
4. Political Cartoon: 'Common Ground?'

CAPITOL HILL WATCH

5. Boehner To Leave Congress At The End Of October
6. Senate GOP Fails To Pass Temporary Spending Bill That Defunded Planned Parenthood

HEALTH LAW ISSUES AND IMPLEMENTATION

7. Healthcare.gov Account Information Stored On Vulnerable Database, Audit Finds
8. Details Of Utah's Much-Anticipated Medicaid Expansion Plan To Be Rolled Out Tuesday

MARKETPLACE

9. APA Says Insurance Mergers Would Undermine Access To Mental Health Care
10. 'Doing The Right Thing': The Complicated Business Of Prescription Drug Pricing
11. Possible Government Shutdown Won't Delay Oct. 1 Launch Of Revised Medical Coding System

CAMPAIGN 2016

12. Fiorina's Position On Mandated Health Insurance Evolves Over Past Two Years

HEALTH IT

13. Premera Faces 38 Class-Action Lawsuits Over Cyberattack

PUBLIC HEALTH AND EDUCATION
14. FDA Needs More Info To Gauge Safety Of Essure Sterilization Device

STATE WATCH
15. State Highlights: Conn. Hospital CEO Salaries Draw Scrutiny; Calif. Counties Provide Non-Emergency Care To Undocumented Adults

HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH
16. Research Roundup: Economics Of Chronic Care; State-Run Marketplaces

EDITORIALS AND OPINIONS
17. Viewpoints: Pinning Blame For A Possible Shutdown; Medicare Should Help On Drug Prices

KAISER HEALTH NEWS ORIGINAL STORIES

1. Clinton Seeks To Build On Health Law, But Does She Have The Rx For Rising Health Costs?

The Democratic president candidate's proposals to save consumers money are questioned by experts and health industry officials. (Julie Rovner, 9/25)

2. Seniors Tell Medical Students What They Need From Doctors

Many students avoid geriatrics because of the low pay and high complications, but six people over 90 offer a different perspective to help attract young doctors. (Susan Jaffe, 9/25)

3. D.C. Women To Get Access To Full Year's Worth Of Contraceptives

The new law is only the second in the country that allows women to get a year's prescription at one time. (Michelle Andrews, 9/25)

4. Political Cartoon: 'Common Ground?'

Kaiser Health News provides a fresh take on health policy developments with "Political Cartoon: 'Common Ground?'" by Lisa Benson.

Here's today's health policy haiku:

THERE'S NO ESCAPING ICD-10

Shutdown? No matter.
Medicare moving ahead

With new codes for docs.

- Anonymous

If you have a health policy haiku to share, please Contact Us and let us know if you want us to include your name. Keep in mind that we give extra points if you link back to a KHN original story.

CAPITOL HILL WATCH

5. Boehner To Leave Congress At The End Of October

News outlets report Friday morning that House Speaker John Boehner, R-Ohio, plans to resign, amidst growing pressure from the conservative wing of the Republican Party. Politico notes that now, free from intra-caucus concerns, he will be free to push a clean stop-gap funding bill through the House to prevent a government shutdown.

USA Today: Speaker John Boehner To Resign From Congress
In a shocking announcement, John Boehner told his GOP colleagues he will step down as House speaker and resign his Ohio congressional seat on Oct. 30. ... His resignation comes the day after Pope Francis became the first pontiff to address a joint meeting of Congress — a crowning achievement of Boehner's career — and amid a congressional fight over federal funding of Planned Parenthood that threatens another government shutdown. (Shesgreen and Allen, 9/25)

NBC News: House Speaker John Boehner To Resign
Boehner has been under prolonged pressure from conservatives in his party, who have accused him of failing to fight the Obama administration on issues important to the GOP. Foes within his party had been pushing to oust him if he presented any legislation that would continue to fund the government and avoid a government shutdown without stripping federal funding for Planned Parenthood. (9/25)

The New York Times: John Boehner Will Resign From Congress
Most recently, Mr. Boehner, 65, was trying to craft a solution to keep the government open through the rest of the year, but was under pressure from a growing base of conservatives who told him that they would not vote for a bill that did not defund Planned Parenthood. Several of those members were on a path to remove Mr. Boehner as speaker, though their ability to do so was far from certain. (Steinhauer, 9/25)

Politico: Speaker John Boehner Retiring From Congress At The End Of October
Speaker John Boehner, who rose from bartender's son to the most powerful man in Congress, will retire at the end of October, ending a tumultuous five-year tenure atop the House of Representatives. ... Now that he doesn't have internal political considerations to weigh, Boehner is certain to push through a government-funding bill next week that funds Planned Parenthood, and keeps the government open. Boehner's decision, relayed in a closed Republican meeting Friday morning, will set off one of the most intense leadership scrambles in modern Congressional GOP politics. (Sherman

9/25)

6. Senate GOP Fails To Pass Temporary Spending Bill That Defunded Planned Parenthood

With just days left before a possible federal government shutdown, Democrats blocked passage of a bill that would have funded the government through Dec. 11 but included a provision to strip federal funding from the women's health organization. Meanwhile, Republican leaders in both the House and Senate are moving ahead in efforts to pass a clean, bipartisan budget measure.

Los Angeles Times: Senate Fails To Advance Bill That Would Cut Planned Parenthood Funding

With a federal shutdown days away, Senate Republicans tried -- and failed -- on Thursday to advance legislation that would eliminate money for Planned Parenthood but keep government offices and services open. Democrats blocked the bill with a filibuster, refusing to cut funds for the large family planning organization after secretly recorded videos disclosed officials discussing the practice of providing fetal tissue from abortions for research. The debate has become a national conversation on abortion. (Mascaro, 9/24)

USA Today: Democrats Block Planned Parenthood Defunding; McConnell Offers 'Clean Bill'

Senate Democrats blocked a bill Thursday to keep the government funded through Dec. 11 because of a Republican provision to strip Planned Parenthood of federal money for a year. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., moved immediately after the vote to try to avert an Oct. 1 government shutdown by filing a new bill that funds federal agencies but does not include the divisive Planned Parenthood provision. A vote on that bill could come as early as Monday. (Kelly, 9/24)

The Associated Press: McConnell Moves Ahead With Bipartisan Stopgap Spending Bill

In the House, GOP leaders called a meeting of their fractious rank and file for Friday morning to discuss whether to accept the Senate's move or reject it at the risk that continuing the fight over Planned Parenthood would lead to a government shutdown. The White House signaled President Barack Obama would sign the measure, called a continuing resolution, into law — if the House steps aside from the fight tea party Republicans want over "defunding" Planned Parenthood. (Taylor, 9/24)

Politico: Boehner Plots Shutdown Move As Critics Weigh Options

House Republican leaders will move next week to approve a "clean" government spending bill — and avert a shutdown — but only after they hold a vote on a measure to bar federal funding for Planned Parenthood, according to multiple sources familiar with the GOP's plan. The move, which comes as conservatives are weighing whether to try to remove John Boehner as House speaker, was discussed at a closed GOP leadership meeting Thursday. It involves a legislative tactic called an "enrollment correction," which essentially changes the text of a bill that has passed the House and the Senate. But it would ultimately be a meaningless exercise: The Senate would reject the measure, and President Barack Obama has said he will veto any spending bill that tries to defund Planned Parenthood. (Sherman, Palmer and Bresnahan, 9/24)

The Associated Press: House GOP May Opt Against Shutdown Over Planned Parenthood
House GOP leaders have summoned their divided conference for a make-or-break discussion on how to fight taxpayer funding of Planned Parenthood without having the battle lead to a government shutdown next week. ... Friday's meeting is likely to center on immediate action to use a special filibuster-proof budget bill to send legislation defunding Planned Parenthood to Obama's desk for the first time — rather than a futile bid to attach the anti-Planned Parenthood measure to a stopgap spending bill. The temporary measure is needed to avoid a shutdown at midnight on Wednesday. It would fund the government through Dec. 11. (Taylor, 9/25)

In other Capitol Hill action -

McClatchy: Senate Democrats Introduce Legislation To Repeal Obamacare 'Cadillac Tax'
The call to repeal one of the Affordable Care Act's most controversial provisions got louder on Thursday when a group of prominent Democratic senators introduced legislation to abolish the so-called "Cadillac Tax" on high-cost, employer-sponsored health plans. The action further solidified growing bipartisan opposition to the tax, which has already drawn the ire of employers, insurers, unions and benefits groups. They claim the tax would burden working families with higher costs and force employers to cut benefits. (Pugh, 9/24)

HEALTH LAW ISSUES AND IMPLEMENTATION

7. Healthcare.gov Account Information Stored On Vulnerable Database, Audit Finds

The flaws uncovered by auditors are now fixed but included critical issues of security policy, such as not encrypting user sessions. Millions of insurance customers' data is stored on the $110-million system known as MIDAS. In other health law news, a new study shows that Americans' top concern when shopping for health coverage is the monthly premium they will pay.

The Associated Press: Audit Finds Slipshod Cybersecurity At Healthcare.gov
The government stored sensitive personal information on millions of health insurance customers in a computer system with basic security flaws, according to an official audit that uncovered slipshod practices. The Obama administration said it acted quickly to fix all the problems identified by the Health and Human Services inspector general's office. But the episode raises questions about the government's ability to protect a vast new database at a time when cyberattacks are becoming bolder. (Alonso-Zaldivar, 9/24)

NBC News: Monthly Cost Is Top Concern For Health Insurance Shoppers: Survey
Americans, long used to seeking bargains, look mostly at price when they're shopping for health insurance, a new survey shows. More than half of those who looked but didn't buy anything on the new Obamacare exchanges said they couldn't find a plan they could afford, the survey found. And two-thirds who switched coverage said price was the main factor. (Fox, 9/25)

8. Details Of Utah's Much-Anticipated Medicaid Expansion Plan To Be Rolled Out Tuesday

The plan, which faces skepticism from many Republican state legislators and is the product of hours of negotiations, will be the topic of briefings given next week during closed-door meetings.

Salt Lake Tribune: Utah Republican Lawmakers To Huddle Behind Closed Doors On Medicaid Expansion
House and Senate Republicans will meet next week in closed-door caucuses for briefings on a proposal to use Medicaid funds to help provide health insurance to tens of thousands low-income Utahns. The plan they will hear is the product of hours of negotiations between leaders in the House and Senate and Gov. Gary Herbert, launched after Herbert's Healthy Utah plan failed to win support earlier this year in the Republican-dominated House. Depending on the reception the plan receives — particularly from skeptical House members — the governor could call a special session in mid-October to vote on the plan. (Gehrke, 9/24)

KSL: Details Of Medicaid Expansion Plan Plan Due Next Week
Details of the much-anticipated new plan for Medicaid expansion from Gov. Gary Herbert and legislative leaders will be rolled out Tuesday to lawmakers in closed-door meetings before being unveiled publicly. But the governor has yet to sign off on a final proposal, his spokesman, Jon Cox, said Wednesday. "There are still details that need to be negotiated by the group," Cox said. (Riley Roche, 9/24)

Politico Pro: Utah's Medicaid Expansion Hits Funding Roadblock
One red state's unprecedented effort to finance Medicaid expansion through a broad array of health care sectors — from hospitals and doctors to drug makers and pharmacies — is running into serious roadblocks. Utah Gov. Gary Herbert and legislative leaders in July announced a deal to expand Medicaid, agreeing on a framework that would require "providers and benefactors of Medicaid dollars to pay their fair share." But months later, Utah leaders are still facing objections from industry groups who argue they're being asked to pay too much. (Pradhan, 9/24)

Also, Oregon is converting its Medicaid eligibility system to the one used by Kentucky -

Portland Business Journal: Oregon Medicaid On Track To Convert To Kentucky System, Will Cost $58M
The Oregon Health Authority plans to debut its new Medicaid eligibility system, imported from Kentucky, on Dec. 15. The transition project came in under budget at $58 million, said Sarah Miller, project director for OHA's MAGI Medicaid System Transfer Project. The original estimate of $62 million. Miller said the new system will afford several advantages over the current one. (Hayes, 9/24)

Meanwhile, on the topic of health exchanges -

The Associated Press: Arkansas Governor Asks Panel To Put Exchange Plans On Hold
Gov. Asa Hutchinson said Thursday he wants Arkansas to halt work on setting up its own insurance exchange for consumers while lawmakers look at the future of the state's hybrid Medicaid expansion. The Republican governor said he's asked the Arkansas Health Insurance Marketplace board to wait for a legislative task force's recommendations on the "private option" expansion later this year. (DeMillo, 9/24)

MARKETPLACE

9. APA Says Insurance Mergers Would Undermine Access To Mental Health Care

Other prominent doctors groups, including the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Family Physicians, have expressed concern about the proposed mergers' impact on patients.

Reuters: U.S. Insurance Mega Mergers Could Hurt Care - Psychiatric Group
The American Psychiatric Association warned U.S. antitrust regulators this month that two proposed health insurance deals could worsen access to mental health care services, adding to public opposition from several prominent doctors groups. Anthem Inc would become the largest U.S. health insurer through a proposed $47 billion acquisition of Cigna Corp, announced in late July. Earlier that month, Aetna Inc said it would buy Humana Inc and become the largest provider of Medicare plans for older people. (Humer, 9/24)

In other industry news -

The Philadelphia Inquirer: Blue Cross Plans Helping Corporate Clients Cut Health Costs
The Blue Cross Blue Shield Association on Thursday unveiled an expanded database that will help individual Blues, like Philadelphia's Independence, drill down into the cost of care for their corporate customers who have operations nationwide. he Blue Cross Blue Shield Association, whose members cover 105 million Americans, has maintained a claims database for a decade, and Independence has contributed for years. But now all 36 Blue Cross companies are required to share claims data, which are converted into 1,600 common treatments and elective procedures - up from 300 previously. (Brubaker, 9/25)

10. 'Doing The Right Thing': The Complicated Business Of Prescription Drug Pricing

With pharmaceutical companies receiving a lot of attention over the skyrocketing costs of drugs, Novartis CEO Joseph Jimenez talks to The Washington Post. And after Turing's controversial price hike for an HIV drug made waves this week, NBC News reports on other similar cases in the industry.

The Washington Post: Novartis CEO Talks About Drug Costs, Paying Doctors And 'Doing The Right Thing'
As stories of jacked-up drug costs make news, and discussions of health-care reform pepper the campaign trail, Novartis CEO Joseph Jimenez sat down with The Washington Post to talk about how he views his responsibility as leader of one of the world's largest pharmaceutical companies. (Cunningham, 9/24)

NBC News: Turing Isn't The Only Drug Company Hiking Prices By Leaps And Bounds
Turing Pharmaceuticals CEO Martin Shkreli was lambasted this week by medical groups, a presidential candidate and his own industry for raising the price of a 62-year-old drug by more than 5,000 percent. He reversed course under pressure Tuesday night, but not before the national attention struck fear into the hearts of biotech investors over increased scrutiny of drug prices, sending stocks plummeting. Turing may have been an egregious example, but it's not the only one raising eyebrows for skyrocketing price tags. Bernstein analyst Ronny Gal pointed out many companies ratchet up drug prices when the market presents an opportunity. (Tirrell, 9/24)

U.S. News & World Report: Budget Breakers
Prescription drugs are costly and most Americans agree that they pay too much for them. Recent headlines illustrate that point clearly – from presidential candidates' promising to tackle the issue, to a CEO initially announcing a jump in the cost of a parasitic-fighting medicine. And with America's total spending on prescription medicine reaching its highest rate in 13 years, policy groups are listening and are coming up with their own plans for reining in costs. But while citizens are feeling the burden of drug costs, so is the government through publicly funded insurance plans. (Leonard, 9/24)

Meanwhile, antitrust enforcers suffer a rare court defeat when challenging a merger -

The Wall Street Journal: Federal Judge Declines To Block Steris From Acquiring Synergy Health
A federal judge on Thursday handed a rare court loss to U.S. antitrust enforcers, declining to block Steris Corp., a U.S. infection-prevention company, from acquiring U.K.-based Synergy Health PLC. U.S. District Judge Dan Polster in Cleveland rejected a request by the Federal Trade Commission to issue a preliminary injunction halting the merger, saying the FTC hadn't met its burden of showing the deal was likely to damp competition in the U.S. (Kendall, 9/24)

11. Possible Government Shutdown Won't Delay Oct. 1 Launch Of Revised Medical Coding System

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services have contingency plans in place for managing the transition to ICD-10. In other medical practice news, physician groups oppose draft language aimed at curbing "surprise" billing. And telemedicine usage is on the rise.

CQ Healthbeat: ICD-10 Transition To Proceed Even If Government Shuts Down

A nationwide changeover to a new set of medical billing codes will proceed on Oct. 1 even if Congress triggers a partial government shutdown that day by missing an appropriations deadline, according to a top federal official. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services already is establishing contingency plans for managing the transition to ICD-10 codes against the potential disruption of a shutdown, said Patrick H. Conway, principal deputy administrator of the agency, on a Thursday call with reporters. Managing the switch from the older ICD-9 codes is among the top priorities for the agency, and CMS has some flexibility in its staffing that can be used to keep the work on track in case of a shutdown, he said. (Young, 9/24)

Politico Pro: Docs Battle Proposal To Curb 'Surprise' Medical Bills
A contentious fight over “surprise” medical bills is complicating an effort to revise a longstanding model state law on health care provider networks. The American Medical Association and other physician groups are pushing the National Association of Insurance Commissioners to drop draft language addressing what happens when patients visit facilities that are in their insurance networks but receive treatment from out-of-network providers. (Demko, 9/24)

McClatchy: Telemedicine Holds Promise Of Cheaper, Wider Medical Care
Samantha Cunningham was halfway through a five-hour road trip to a music festival in Bradley, Calif., when she realized she'd left her asthma inhaler back home in Sacramento. Her options seemed limited: go back, pick it up and be late for the concert; pay a $100 minimum fee to get a new prescription at a walk-in clinic; "or go without the inhaler and hope that they had a rescue machine at the festival on the off chance I had an asthma attack, which, of course, wasn't a very inviting prospect," Cunningham said. (Pugh, 9/24)

CAMPAIGN 2016

12. Fiorina's Position On Mandated Health Insurance Evolves Over Past Two Years

CNN questions the Republican candidate's campaign on statements Carly Fiorina made in a 2013 interview, while NPR reports on her abortion stance. Meanwhile, KHN analyzes Hillary Clinton's proposals to save consumers money on health care.

CNN: Fiorina's Long-Held Support For Mandatory Health Insurance
Carly Fiorina, who has joined other leading Republican presidential candidates in denouncing Obamacare, once backed an individual mandate to buy health insurance that could put her at odds with others in the GOP. (Moody, 9/24)

NPR: Carly Fiorina Doubles Down On Opposition To Abortion In South Carolina
Republican presidential candidate Carly Fiorina campaigned at a Christian pregnancy care center in South Carolina Thursday. Opposition to abortion has become a prominent message in her campaign recently. (McCammon, 9/24)

Kaiser Health News: Clinton Seeks To Build On Health Law, But Does She Have The Rx For Rising Health Costs?

While the Republicans running for president are united in their desire to repeal the federal health law, Democrat Hillary Rodham Clinton is fashioning her own health care agenda to tackle out-of-pocket costs – but industry experts question whether her proposals would solve the problem. In addition to defending the Affordable Care Act, Clinton released two separate proposals this week. One would seek to protect people with insurance from having to pay thousands of dollars in addition to their premiums for prescription drugs; the other would set overall limits on out-of-pocket health spending for those with insurance. (Rovner, 9/25)

HEALTH IT

13. Premera Faces 38 Class-Action Lawsuits Over Cyberattack

A security breach of the insurance company's computer system may have compromised the personal information of 11 million customers. Some of them are suing, citing attempts at identify theft. In other Health IT news, a Walgreens database outage delayed prescriptions at thousands of pharmacies.

The Seattle Times: Premera Sued Over Security Breaches
With less than a week left to apply, about 830,000 of almost 11 million current and former insurance customers have registered for credit monitoring and identity-theft protection after their personal and medical information may have been compromised in a security breach that Premera announced in March. Mountlake Terrace-based Premera maintains that it does not “have any evidence that there was any criminal activity on anyone’s account as a result of the cyberattack,” company spokeswoman Melanie Coon said in an email statement. (Garnick, 9/24)

The Chicago Tribune: Outage Of Walgreens Pharmacy Computer Database Causes Prescription Delays
Getting a prescription filled at Walgreens may take a lot longer than usual over the next few days due to an ongoing outage of the drugstore chain’s pharmacy computer database. Pharmacists have been filling prescriptions manually since the system went down Tuesday morning, causing delays for customers at all 8,200 Walgreens drugstores across the U.S., a company spokesman said Thursday. (9/24)

PUBLIC HEALTH AND EDUCATION

14. FDA Needs More Info To Gauge Safety Of Essure Sterilization Device

The agency also wrote in a letter Thursday that a health-care startup’s cancer detection kit, which would be sold directly to healthy individuals, is high-risk and could harm public health.

NPR: FDA Advisers Call For More Safety Data On Sterilization Device
The Food and Drug Administration should gather more information to try to get a better sense of the safety of the Essure sterilization device, a panel of experts assembled by the agency recommended Thursday. (Stein, 9/24)

Bloomberg: Startup's Cancer Test For The Healthy May Harm Public, FDA Says
The Food and Drug Administration said Thursday that a health-care startup's cancer detection kit sold to healthy individuals is high-risk, could harm public health, and hasn't been validated by science. The FDA wrote to Pathway Genomics Corp. on Sept. 21 about the test, which retails for as much as $699. Patients get the test ordered by their doctor or one working for Pathway, then the company analyzes a blood sample for circulating traces of cancer. The company, which is backed by IBM Corp. and the venture capital firm Founders Fund, has touted the test as a less-expensive, faster way of detecting tumors. (Edney and Chen, 9/24)

STATE WATCH

15. State Highlights: Conn. Hospital CEO Salaries Draw Scrutiny; Calif. Counties Provide Non-Emergency Care To Undocumented Adults

Health care stories are reported from Connecticut, California, Florida, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Alabama, District of Columbia, Kansas, Iowa, Nevada, North Carolina, Michigan and Texas.

The Connecticut Mirror: Hospital CEO Pay: Red Herring Or Key In State Funding Debate?
As hospital leaders warn of potential job and service reductions in response to state funding cuts, the six- and seven-figure pay packages of Connecticut hospital executives have emerged as a point of contention. (Levin Becker, 9/25)

NPR: California Counties Add Health Care For Immigrant Adults
A California county voted Tuesday to restore primary health care services to undocumented adults living in the county. Contra Costa County, east of San Francisco, joins 46 other California counties that have agreed to provide non-emergency care to immigrants who entered the country illegally. (Romero, 9/24)

News Service Of Florida: Bondi, Hospital System Reach $3.5M Settlement
Two days after the U.S. Department of Justice announced a $115 million legal settlement with Adventist Health System, Florida Attorney General Pam Bondi said Wednesday her office has reached a $3.5 million settlement with the Altamonte Springs-based hospital system. Both settlements, which stem from whistleblower lawsuits filed by Adventist employees, involve allegations that the hospital firm had improper financial arrangements with physicians. (9/24)

The Milwaukee Journal-Sentinel: Assembly Passes Measure Cutting Taxpayer Funding Of Planned Parenthood
The state Assembly voted Thursday to strip Planned Parenthood of about $3.5 million in government funding a year. The measure passed, 60-35, with all Republicans backing it and all Democrats opposing it. It now goes to the Senate, which like the Assembly is controlled by Republicans. (Marley, 9/24)

The Wall Street Journal: Lawmakers Fail To Override Christie Veto
New Jersey Democrats unsuccessfully attempted on Thursday to override Gov. Chris Christie's veto of a gun-control bill when most GOP supporters of the legislation decided not to buck the presidential candidate. The legislation would have prevented people with a documented history of mental illness from expunging that record to buy a gun. (Haddon, 9/24)

The New York Times: Alabama Vote Is Rare Win In The South For The U.A.W.
The 2-to-1 margin of victory at the small factory, which makes seats for trucks, represents an unusual win in the uphill battle to organize autoworkers in the South. But it was unclear whether the vote signaled a broader breakthrough for labor and the U.A.W. in a region that has historically been allergic to most unions. Employees at C.V.G. cited low pay, which tops out at $15.80 an hour, the growing use of temporary workers at even lower wages and rising health insurance costs as reasons they voted to join the union. (Cohen, 9/24)

Kaiser Health News: D.C. Women To Get Access To Full Year's Worth Of Contraceptives
Under a new law, District of Columbia women will be able to scratch one item off their list of things to worry about: running out of birth control pills. Under the law, which passed its congressional review period this month, women will be able to get a year's supply of pills at once. Prescriptions for birth control pills typically have to be renewed every 30 or 90 days, potentially resulting in women missing scheduled pills. The yearlong provision will begin in 2017. (Andrews, 9/25)

The Associated Press: Utah Unveils Tool Showing Impact Of Federal Budget Crisis
Lawwmakers worried about Utah's reliance on U.S. government funds unveiled an online calculator Thursday that shows how the state would be hit by various federal budget disasters like a shutdown. ... The calculator comes with several built-in scenarios that the commission says are "extreme but possible," such as broad federal spending cuts and or deep slashes to Medicaid money. On the website, the public can access a slimmed down version of a more sophisticated tool that legislative budget staff can use. (Price, 9/24)

The Kansas Health Institute News Service: Mental Health Advocates Question 72-Hour Involuntary Hold Proposal
Several advocates for people with mental illness on Wednesday panned a proposal that would allow treatment facilities to hold people in crisis situations for up to 72 hours as involuntary patients. "This is a deprivation of liberty," Mike Burgess, a spokesperson with the Disability Rights Center of Kansas, said during a meeting of the Kansas Mental Health Coalition. It would be better, he said, to expand access to voluntary treatment. (Ranney, 9/24)

Health News Florida: Orlando Health To 5,000 Patients: Redo Mammograms
Orlando Health mailed letters today to more than 5,300 patients who may have gotten bad mammograms. Women who went to the Boston Diagnostic Imaging location on Orange Avenue from May of 2013 to July of 2015 are asked to call Orlando Health. It's unclear why the Boston Diagnostic center has lost its accreditation, but Orlando Health bought the center last December. (Aboraya, 9/24)

Health News Florida: Isolation Increases Florida's Rural Suicide Rates
Florida's rural counties are seeing suicide rates for youth almost double that of the state's large cities. And experts say isolation, poverty, access to firearms and a lack of mental health resources are to blame. ... the teen suicide rate in Florida's small towns has doubled in the past 20 years. From 2012 through 2014, almost 8,000 youth younger than 21 killed themselves in Florida. Of those, 520 come from rural communities -- a significant number given their populations. Also, experts say the number of teen suicides could be much higher, in part because medical examiners and law enforcement don't have an objective set of criteria to decide whether to label a death as suicide. (Miller and Klingener, 9/24)

The Associated Press: Chiropractor Says Iowa Officials Wrong About Payment Rules
A chiropractor accused of improper Medicaid billings says Iowa officials are wrong about coverage eligibility for some conditions. Prosecutors said Thursday that Elizabeth Kressin, of Spencer, had submitted improper claims for more than seven years for what the prosecutors said were medically unnecessary chiropractic procedures for which payments weren't allowed. They include bed wetting, colic and ear infections. (9/25)

The Associated Press: Survey Shows Big Drop In Uninsured Nevada Kindergartners
An annual health survey of Nevada kindergartners shows a big drop in the percentage of children without health insurance, a change that researchers attribute to more use of Medicaid benefits. The seventh annual report from the Nevada Institute for Children's Research and Policy at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, showed 7.6 percent of kindergartners were uninsured last school year, down from 12.6 percent a year earlier. (Rindels, 9/24)

The Charlotte Observer: New Charlotte VA Center Will Expand Veterans Health Care In Region
Charlotte's new Veterans Affairs Health Care Center won't open officially for more than six months. ... The Charlotte site is one of seven new VA health centers approved by Congress in 2010. The Salisbury hospital region is one of the fastest growing in the country, said VA spokesman Barthalomew Major. An estimated 140,000 veterans live in the Charlotte metropolitan area, about 60,000 in Mecklenburg County alone. Although the number of veterans nationwide is declining, the number of veterans enrolled in the VA health-care system in increasing, Major said. Over the past 10 years, the number of VA patients nationwide has increased by 23 percent, but in the Salisbury region, the increase has been 66 percent, he said. (Garloch, 9/24)

The Detroit Free Press: Doctor: Lead Seen In More Flint Kids Since Water Switch
Flint's ongoing water woes are now associated with an immediate and irreversible danger — possible lead poisoning of some of the city's children, according to a review of blood test results by a Hurley Children's Hospital pediatrician. ... State officials say their own review of blood test results have not shown the same increase that [Dr. Mona] Hanna-Attisha found. Moreover, water tests have similarly shown lead within federally accepted levels, they say. (Erb, 9/24)

The San Antonio Express-News: Judge To Halt Medicaid Cuts For Therapy Services
A judge has decided to temporarily block tens of millions of dollars in planned Medicaid funding cuts, likely ensuring that thousands of children with disabilities will continue to access therapy services after Oct. 1. (Rosenthal, 9/24)

HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH

16. Research Roundup: Economics Of Chronic Care; State-Run Marketplaces

Each week, KHN compiles a selection of recently released health policy studies and briefs.

Annals of Internal Medicine: Medicare Chronic Care Management Payments And Financial Returns To Primary Care Practices--A Modeling Study
Physicians have traditionally been reimbursed for face-to-face visits. A new non–visit-based payment for chronic care management (CCM) of Medicare patients took effect in January 2015. ... If nonphysician staff were to deliver CCM services, net revenue to practices would increase despite opportunity and staffing costs. Practices could expect approximately $332 per enrolled patient per year... if CCM services were delivered by registered nurses (RNs), approximately $372 ... if services were delivered by licensed practical nurses, and approximately $385 ... if services were delivered by medical assistants. ... At a minimum, 131 Medicare patients ... must enroll for practices to recoup the salary and overhead costs of hiring a full-time RN to provide CCM services. (Basu et al., 9/22)

The Commonwealth Fund: The Experiences of State-Run Marketplaces That Use HealthCare.gov
This brief explores the experiences of four states—Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, and Oregon—that established their own exchanges but have operated them with support from the federal HealthCare.gov eligibility and enrollment platform. Drawing on discussions with policymakers, insurers, and brokers, we examine how these supported state-run marketplaces perform their key functions. We find that this model may offer states the ability to maximize their influence over their insurance markets, while limiting the financial risk of running an exchange. (Giovannelli and Lucia, 9/17)

The Kaiser Family Foundation: Serving Low-Income Seniors Where They Live: Medicaid's Role In Providing Community-Based Long-Term Services And Supports
To better understand the low-income population with [long-term services and supports] LTSS needs, including those covered by Medicaid and those who are not, this issue brief examines the need for LTSS among seniors who live in the community and need LTSS. We use the 2011 National Health and Aging Trends Study (NHATS) to examine rates of need for LTSS and detail the characteristics of seniors who need these services. Throughout the brief, we compare dual eligible beneficiaries to low-income seniors without Medicaid. We also examine a third group, higher income seniors without Medicaid, to understand the role of income. Because LTSS needs increase with age, we also examine differences by age. (Garfield, 9/18)

National Governors Association: Using Data To Better Serve The Most Complex Patients: Highlights From NGA's Intensive Work With Seven States
[C]omplex care patients, sometimes referred to as super-utilizers, have comorbid and often serious conditions. ... such conditions often span both physical and behavioral health and are often further complicated by social factors, such as housing instability, poverty, or limited education. ... complex care patients represent only a small proportion (5 percent) of [Medicaid] beneficiaries but account for more than half of program costs. ... the National Governors Association has worked with several states to develop statewide [data] initiatives for improving the management of care for super-utilizers .... The following lessons learned can help state leaders ...: Understand the characteristics of complex populations. ... Identify and target specific patients. ... Ensure effective management and evaluation. (Isasi, 9/23)

Here is a selection of news coverage of other recent research:

Reuters: Americans Overpaying Hugely For Cancer Drugs - Study
Americans are paying way over the odds for some modern cancer drugs, with pharmaceutical companies charging up to 600 times what the medicines cost to make, according to an independent academic study. The United States also pays more than double the price charged in Europe for these drugs - so-called tyrosine kinase inhibitors (TKIs), a potent class of cancer pills with fewer side effects than chemotherapy. The analysis by pharmacologist Andrew Hill of Britain's University of Liverpool, who will present his findings at the Sept. 25-29 European Cancer Congress in Vienna, is likely to fuel a growing storm over U.S. drug costs. (Hirschler, 9/22)

The Philadelphia Inquirer/Health Day: ERs Often 'Safety Net' Care For People With Schizophrenia: CDC
A new report finds that, too often, under-medicated Americans suffering from schizophrenia end up seeking care in the nation's hospital emergency rooms. The report, issued Wednesday by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, found that between 2009 and 2011, over 382,000 visits to ERs were recorded for people aged 18 to 64 with schizophrenia. (9/23)

Reuters: Weight-Loss Surgery May Not Increase Health Costs For Diabetes
Weight loss surgery may be a cost-effective way of lowering blood sugar for many diabetics, not just those who are severely obese, a Swedish study suggests. Researchers found that for people with diabetes, total healthcare costs did not rise in the years following weight-loss surgery, largely because of overall savings from less use of healthcare and medications. (Rapaport, 9/23)

Reuters: A Text Message A Day May Keep The Doctor Away
Texting patients regular reminders to do things like eat right, exercise more and smoke less may help them make lifestyle changes linked to a lower risk of heart attacks and strokes, an Australian study suggests. Researchers sent four texts a week to about 350 people with heart disease to supplement their regular care with reminders designed to encourage healthier habits. Another group of about 350 patients stuck with their usual care routines but didn't receive texts. (9/23)

The New York Times: Consumers Are Embracing Full-Fat Foods
Public health authorities have long urged Americans to cut back on foods high in saturated fat like butter, meat and whole milk. But a new report on dietary-fat consumption suggests that the public is increasingly eating more, not less, of these foods. The new report, which was published last week by the Credit Suisse Research Institute, found that sales of butter in the United States rose 14 percent last year and climbed another 6 percent in the first three months of 2015. Sales of whole milk rose 11 percent in the first half of this year, while skim milk purchases fell 14 percent. The report also predicted that consumption of red meat and eggs would climb in the coming years. (O'Connor, 9/23)

Reuters: Telehealth Visits May Be An Option After Surgery
People may happily, and safely, forgo in-person doctors' visits after surgery by opting instead for talking with their surgeons by phone or video, suggests a small study of U.S. veterans. Most patients preferred the virtual visits and the doctors didn't miss any infections that popped up after surgery, the researchers report in JAMA Surgery. (Seaman, 9/23)

Medscape: Many Poor Kids With Mental Illness Miss Out On Benefits
A "sizable" number of US children with mental disorders who are from low-income households do not receive federal benefits under the Social Security Administration's Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, according to a new report from the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, in Washington, DC. However, the number of these children who are receiving SSI funds is growing at a pace consistent with the mental health trends in the general population, the report indicates. (Brooks, 9/21)

Medscape: DNR After In-Hospital Cardiac Arrest May Not Match Prognosis
Among patients who had an in-hospital cardiac arrest and successful restoration of spontaneous circulation, do-not-resuscitate (DNR) orders were generally issued quickly and reflected predicted prognosis, a new study reports. However, the study, which was published in the September 22/29, 2015 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, also identified room for improvement. (Busko, 9/23)

EDITORIALS AND OPINIONS

17. Viewpoints: Pinning Blame For A Possible Shutdown; Medicare Should Help On Drug Prices

A selection of opinions on health care from around the country.

Los Angeles Times: Are Democrats Actually The Ones Trying To Shut Down The Government?
So, who's trying to shut down the government, Democrats or Republicans? The answer, naturally, depends on whom you ask. ... But another way, it was Republicans who decided to tie the continued operation of government to the question of whether Planned Parenthood should receive Medicaid dollars. They took the hostage, they're responsible for the consequences. Feel free to debate the merits of Planned Parenthood all you like, but this fight isn't new. The recent videos didn't seem to persuade any of the organization's supporters in Congress to flip to the other side. So the outcome Thursday wasn't just predictable, it was a certainty. (Jon Healey, 9/24)

The Washington Post's Plum Line: Government Shutdown Fight May Again Shake Up GOP Presidential Race

With the big news out of Congress today the warm welcome received by Pope Francis, one might forget that our nation's august legislature is headed for yet another government shutdown, this time over Republican demands that the government cut off all funding for Planned Parenthood, most of which comes in the form of Medicaid reimbursements for women's health care. This comes at a particularly inopportune time for Republicans. Just when it was starting to look like their chaotic presidential primary might be heading to a more sane place, the shutdown controversy threatens to drag it backwards, boosting the candidates the party fears most. (Paul Waldman, 9/24)

The Washington Post's The Fix: Donald Trump Just Went After Martin Shkreli. Why In The World Isn't The Rest Of The GOP?

Jumping into the prescription drug debate could help elevate those candidates' plans, because prescription drug prices is one of the few health-care issues where Americans agree that the status quo needs to change. In fact, 76 percent of Americans said dealing with prescription drug prices should be Washington's No. 1 health-care priority, according to an April poll from the Kaiser Family Foundation. ... GOP front-runner Donald Trump is regularly praised by liberal leaders, such as Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) and New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio (D), for his call to raise taxes on the wealthy. Want to out-Trump Trump? Why not start talking about an issue that matters deeply to so many Americans? (Amber Phillips, 9/24)

Huffington Post: Top LGBT Group Wants Congress To Investigate Drug Company That Proposed Massive Price Hike

One of the nation's highest-profile LGBT advocacy organizations has joined the calls for Congress to investigate Turing Pharmaceuticals, the company that recently sparked a national backlash when it proposed hiking the price of a critical anti-infection drug. On Wednesday, The Huffington Post has learned, the Human Rights Campaign sent letters to the chairmen of three key House committees with jurisdiction over health care and the drug industry. In the letters, the organization calls upon the committees to investigate Turing's recent announcement that it would raise the price of drug called Daraprim, a treatment for toxoplasmosis, from $13.50 to $750 a tablet. (Jonathan Cohn, 9/24)

The Philadelphia Inquirer: A 5,455 Percent Price Increase? Expect More Of It

After Pope Francis's visit to the U.S., possibly the biggest news item this week has been the depraved price increase that Turing Pharmaceuticals posted for its drug, Daraprim. Although the 5,455 percent that Turing hiked Daraprim's price is astounding, the absolute daily price is less than that of many other drugs and the practice of gouging prices on specialty drugs is consistent with practices across the industry. (Daniel R. Hoffman, 9/24)

Bloomberg: Let Medicare Tackle High Drug Costs

Yes, the U.S. pays 40 percent more for drugs than other countries do, and last year those costs rose 12.6 percent. But the increase is expected to slow, and drugs still account for just 10 cents of every dollar Americans spend on health care. What has rightly made drug costs a political issue, however, are the astronomical prices of a few specialty medicines. ... The best strategy to push down such prices -- the one endorsed by [Hillary] Clinton and one of her rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, Bernie Sanders -- is to give Medicare, which pays for 29 percent of all U.S. prescription drug purchases, the ability to negotiate prices with drugmakers. That Medicare doesn't already do this is Congress's fault. (9/24)

Tribune News Service: Patients Win As Larger Insurers Seek To Cut Costs With Better Service

The planned mergers of several of America's largest health insurers Aetna combining with Humana, and Anthem with Cigna is almost certain to be good for the insurers, reducing overhead and improving their bargaining position as they attempt to negotiate better rates with providers. But what's in it for you and me? The answer may surprise you: In all likelihood, the mergers will lead to better medical care at lower costs. (Jon Kaplan, 9/24)

The Washington Post: Want To Fight Poverty? Expand Access To Contraception.

Pope Francis's visit has brought renewed attention to some of our nation's toughest economic challenges: inequality, poverty and income (im)mobility. These are pressing issues that leaders of both political parties say they want to tackle, but they disagree on useful, or even acceptable, policy tools. I have a humble suggestion for an antipoverty policy that, if framed correctly, could appeal to both left and right (though probably not Francis). That policy: better access to contraception. (Catherine Rampell, 9/24)

Forbes: Utah Proposes Tax On The Sick To Pay For Obamacare Medicaid Expansion

After the legislature blocked his Obamacare Medicaid expansion plans in 2014 and 2015, Utah Governor Gary Herbert (R) began working with legislative leaders to negotiate some kind of "compromise" to expand the program to more than 100,000 able-bodied adults. Although the deal is being negotiated in secret, some details have been leaked to the public. According to the few specifics made public, the biggest component of the negotiated framework is to levy a new "assessment" on medical providers in Utah to help pay for the state's share of expansion. But the so-called assessment is simply a new Obamacare tax on the sick that will not only raise health care costs for all Utahns, but add significantly to the national debt. (Nic Horton, Jonathan Ingram and Josh Archambault, 9/24)

The Washington Post's Wonkblog: We Must Act On Global Health Because Millions Of Lives Are At Stake

The report made a strong case that the benefits of the right health investments far exceed the costs. Indeed, I believe the moral and economic case for investments in health care--both prevention and treatment--is as or more compelling than in any other area in the developing world. The dramatic declines in child mortality and increases in life expectancy demonstrate that policy can make an immense difference. (Lawrence Summers, 9/24)

Bloomberg: Pope Moves The Needle In U.S. Politics

Pope Francis hasn't changed any church policies on economics, social justice, war, abortion or gay marriage. As if to underscore that point, on Wednesday he visited the Little Sisters of the Poor, which took the U.S. government to court to fight a requirement that religious organizations cover birth control in the health insurance they provide to employees. Yet in his emphasis on the plight of the poor, immigrants and the environment, this pope has changed the Catholic Church's tone and rebalanced its priorities. That bothers conservative activists in the U.S., where the Catholic hierarchy for three decades has largely been identified with Republicans and the culture wars because of its stress on abortion and gay marriage. (Albert R. Hunt, 9/24)

The New England Journal of Medicine: Physician Payment After The SGR — The New Meritocracy

The “doc fix” — a permanent replacement for the unworkable sustainable growth rate formula (SGR) enacted in 1997 for calculating Medicare's physician fees — had been a long time coming .... At the heart of the legislation is the new Merit-Based Incentive Payment System (MIPS), which replaces the Physician Value-Based Payment Modifier to move physician payment under Medicare further into the territory of value-based purchasing. ... When it is implemented, the MIPS will become the largest physician pay-for-performance scheme in the world and the first to create a single value-based purchasing framework covering the full spectrum of physician specialties. This new meritocracy will need to be flexible enough to account for the heterogeneous practice styles of the professionals who care for Medicare beneficiaries and the settings in which they work. (Meredith B. Rosenthal, 9/24)

The New England Journal of Medicine: Leap Of Faith — Medicare's New Physician Payment System

These changes mark a new era, in which Medicare offers powerful incentives for physicians to participate in ACOs and other innovative payment and delivery models. ... This revamping reflects a broader movement in U.S. health care toward paying for medical services on the basis of value rather than volume — a movement built on the prevailing view in the health policy community that cost-containment efforts can succeed only if we move away from fee-for-service payment. But there are several important problems with this belief and the reforms it inspires. (Jonathan Oberlander and Miriam J. Laugesen, 9/24)

Kaiser Health News is an editorially independent operating program of the Kaiser Family Foundation. (c) 2014 Kaiser Health News. All rights reserved.

Follow us on Twitter | Facebook | LinkedIn

You are subscribed to this email alert as kimmithd@michigan.gov.

Update your email preferences to choose the types of emails you receive. Or, permanently unsubscribe from all emails.

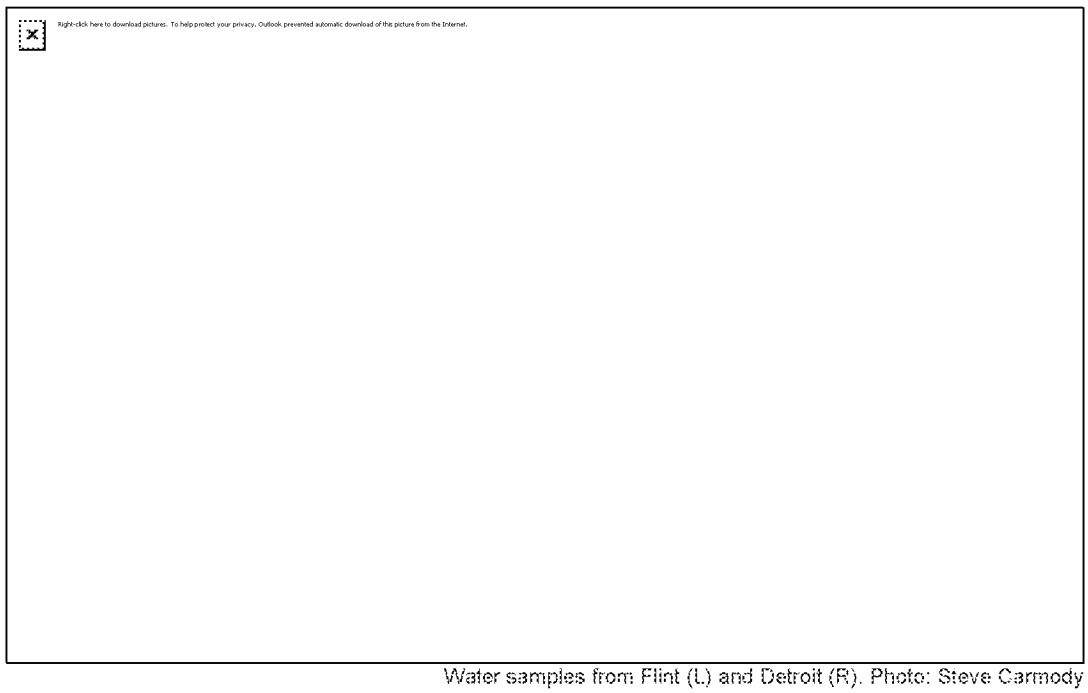
If you need help or have questions, please send an email to subscriptions@kaiserhealthnews.org
Please do not reply to this email as this address is not monitored.

Kaiser Family Foundation & Kaiser Health News | 2400 Sand Hill Road | Menlo Park, CA 94025

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, September 25, 2015 3:50 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Lead in Flint's water; Art in the aisles

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.



Water samples from Flint (L) and Detroit (R). Photo: Steve Carmody

"I want them to quit poisoning their citizens."

The water in Flint is likely poisoning kids. That's what pediatricians in the city say, after looking at lead levels in young children before and after the city switched its drinking water supply from the Detroit water system to the Flint River. Sarah Hulett looks at the impact it may be having on children in the city.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Guerilla artist makes sculptures inside big box stores

Photo: Doug Coombe

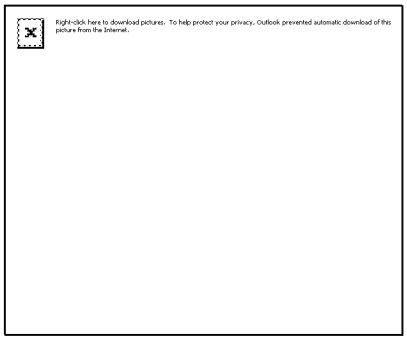
Would this sculpture catch your eye in the underwear department? Carson Brown is a visual artist from Grand Rapids who wants to make people think critically about what he calls the American landscape of consumerism. Is it art...or just a pile of stuff? Kyle Norris has the story.

Volkswagen dodged clean air rules with emissions software

By now you've probably heard of the growing scandal involving Volkswagen's "clean diesel" vehicles. The CEO of VW resigned earlier this week and the company is facing billions in fines from the EPA. Michigan Radio's Tracy Samilton first reported the story for NPR last Friday, and the Diane Rehm Show examined what the scandal means for consumers and the car industry.

The main entrance gate at the Volkswagen production plant in Wolfsburg, Germany. Photo: Alexander Koerner/Getty Images.

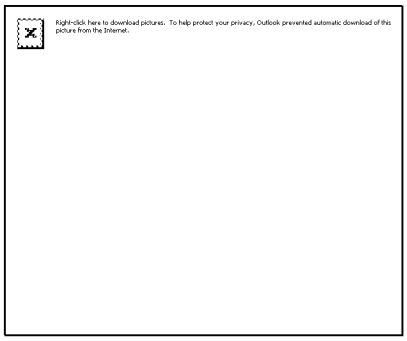
Upcoming Michigan Radio Event



Michigan Radio's West Michigan Member Mixer
Sunday, Oct. 4, Noon-2:00 PM
Grand Rapids Art Museum

Join us for our West Michigan Member Mixer and ArtPrize festivities. Stop by the Grand Rapids Art Museum on Sunday, October 4, to enjoy refreshments and to meet some of the Michigan Radio staff. Click here to register.

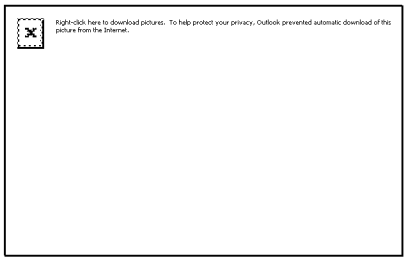
Featured Event



ArtPrize
Now through Oct. 11 in Downtown Grand Rapids

ArtPrize kicked off this week with over 1500 pieces of public art on display all throughout downtown Grand Rapids. Michigan Radio is proud to once again serve as a media sponsor. Get more information and plan your visit.

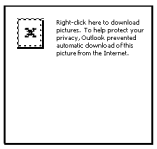
Thank you!



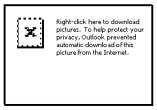
We are grateful to the 4,957 listeners who donated more than $553,000 to Michigan Radio during our recent fall fund drive. This show of support from new sustaining donors as well as renewing members is greatly appreciated by all of us here at Michigan Radio. Thank you again for your generosity and support!

P.S. If you missed the fund drive don't worry...you can still make your gift now.

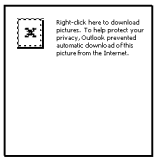
This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features



Is Muskegon Heights too violent to host a high school football game?



Meet my new nemesis: the invasive fruit fly swarming Michigan berry crops

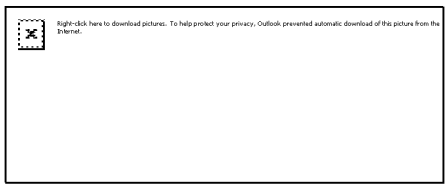


Gov. Snyder launches a new political action committee, looks to find a new group of GOP lawmakers

The "guns-under-any-circumstances" crowd is making a strategic mistake

---

Stateside Highlights



"Shame on us" if we're not a top 10 school system in 10 years, says Michigan's school superintendent
Just about every measurement shows that all groups of Michigan students are losing ground academically compared to their peers in other states. More.

Documentary tells story of Flint's T-Rex

One of the breakout stars of the 2012 summer Olympics in London was a teenage girl from Flint. More.

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

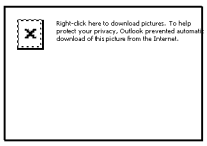
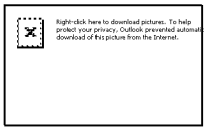
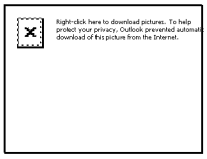
Weekend Highlights



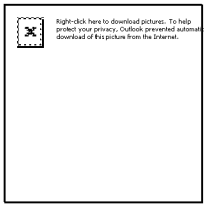
The Moth
Sat 12 pm and 8 pm
"Boyhood"
A preacher's kid steals money from his grandfather and a former child soldier navigates a New York high school.



Snap Judgment
Sat 2 pm and 9p
"The Brass Ring"
Stories about the amazing lengths people go to when reaching for the prize.



Ask me Another
Sat 4 pm
"Sonia Manzano: These Are The Muppets In Your Neighborhood"
After 44 years as "Maria" on Sesame Street, Sonia Manzano talks about retiring from the show.



On Being with Krista Tippett
Sun 7 am and 10 pm
"Asteroids, Stars, and the Love of God"
Fresh off the Pope's visit, this hour two Vatican astronomers share the way they think of life, faith, and the Universe.

Bonus Click

"It's deja vu all over again!"
Yogi Berra, the New York Yankees Hall of Fame baseball player, died Tuesday at age 90. He was known for his skills as a catcher... and his catchphrases. Here's a sample of some of our favorites.

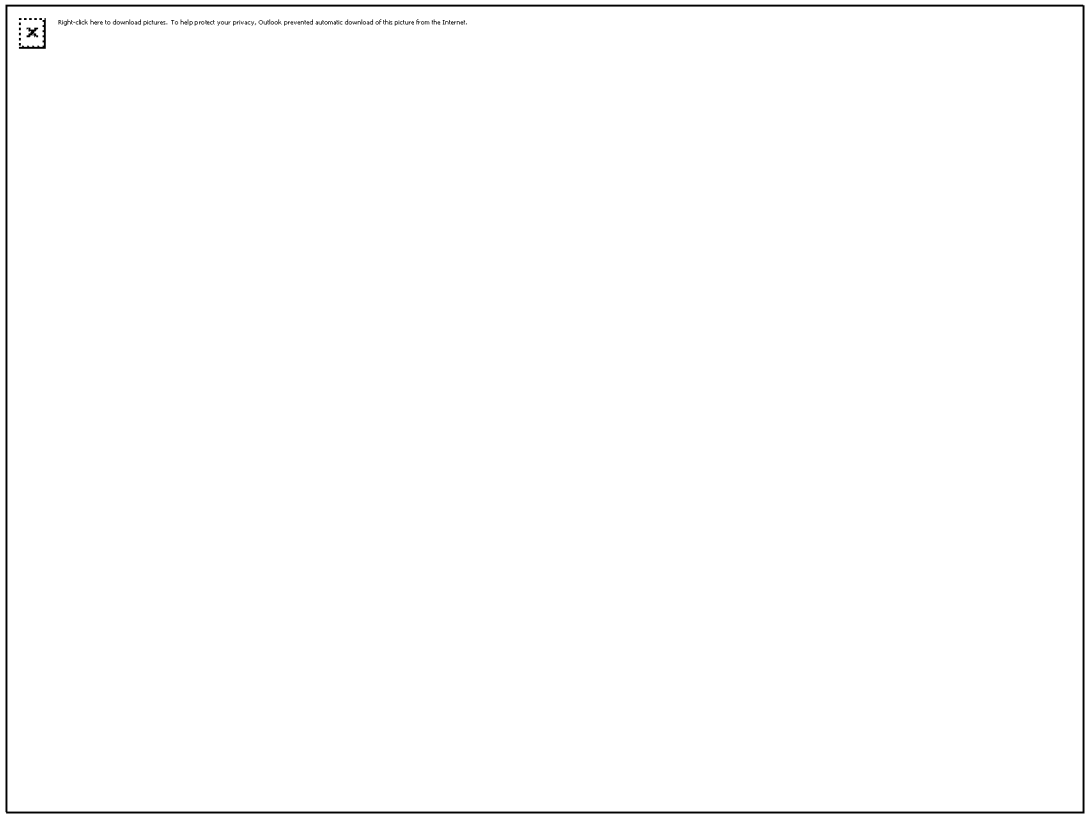
Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com ¦
Update Profile/Email Address ¦ Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ ¦ About our service provider.

Michigan Radio ¦ 535 W. William St. ¦ Suite 110 ¦ Ann Arbor ¦ MI ¦ 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, October 02, 2015 3:02 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Continuing coverage of Flint's water crisis

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.



Credit: Steve Carmody

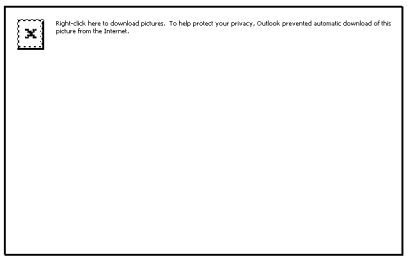
Flint's Water Crisis

Earlier this week, Flint got more bad news about its water system when a new report estimated it will cost the city $1.5 billion to repair the damage done since the switch to the Flint River as a water source.

In 2014, the city switched its drinking water source to save money. Flint Mayor Dayne Walling was a guest on *Stateside this week saying the state should approve a corrosion-control plan "as fast as humanly possible" to help keep lead out of the water.

If you have missed parts of the Flint water story, here's a quick rundown.

Native American boarding schools have nearly killed Michigan's native language



Holy Childhood School in Harbor Springs
Credit: Little Traverse Bay Band of Odawa Indians Archives and Records

Only an estimated three people with the Little Traverse Bay Band of Odawa Indians are still fluent in Anishinaabemowin, which was the language of the Great Lakes for millennia. Michigan Radio's Emily Fox has the story about the role that a school in one of Michigan's favorite vacation destinations played in the decline of native speakers.

Michel Martin Begins Hosting Weekend All Things Considered

Michel Martin

Michel Martin, former host of Tell Me More, will take over as weekend host of All Things Considered beginning this Saturday.

Upcoming Michigan Radio Event

Issues & Ale: College Affordability and Access
Tuesday, October 6 - 6:30-8 PM
One Well Brewing, Kalamazoo

Join us for this State of Opportunity discussion about the impact college costs have on first generation or lower income students. Info and registration.

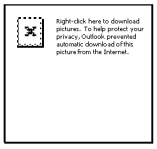
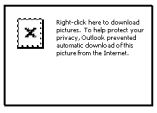
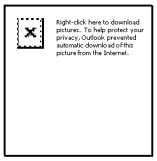
This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features



This is my think piece to try to make sense of the latest senseless tragedy



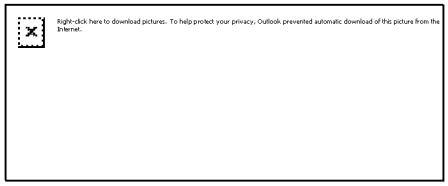
State officials say they've nearly reached goal for Lake Erie, critics say "not so fast"



Michigan Republicans get choosy in GOP presidential primary

Will anything be done about one of Matty Moroun's most corrupt deals?

Stateside Highlights



Nation's longest-serving state AG "really saw his life as public service"
Frank Kelly has the distinction of being both the youngest and oldest Attorney General in Michigan's history, serving for 37 years. More

The Tricycle Collective is helping Detroiters buy back their homes
Michele Oberholtzer's organization helps residents, who are often renters, living in homes that are up for auction remain in their homes. More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

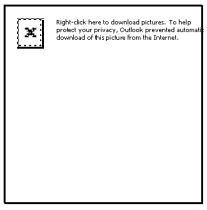
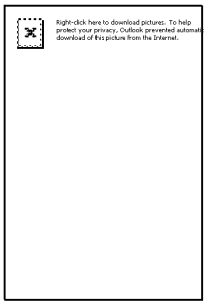
Weekend Highlights



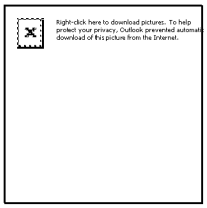
TED Radio Hour
Fri 6 am / Sun 8 pm
Love it or hate it, most of us have to work for a living. This Hour, TED speakers explore our values and motivations when it comes to the workplace.

On The Media
Sat 7 am / Sun 7 pm
A show all about the Supreme Court, just in time for the start of the term.

Wait, Wait...Don't Tell Me!
Sat 11 am / Sun 4 pm
Recorded in front of a sold-out crowd earlier this week in Ann Arbor with Not My Job guest, author and Michigan Radio commentator, John U. Bacon.



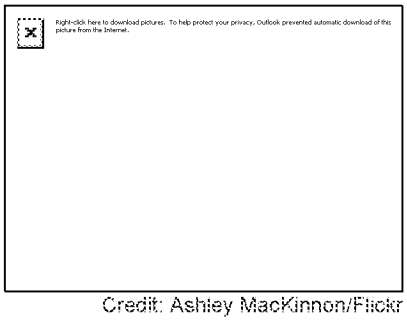
This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"Human Spectacle 2015"
From Gladiators to reality T.V. stars, we've always loved to gawk at others. But what's it like when the tables are turned and all eyes are on you?



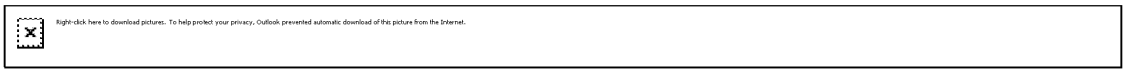
A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
"Keep Your Head Up"
The California Honeydrops ward off the early autumn chill with fired-up Bay Area Jazz, and The Cactus Blossoms deliver sharp country harmonies.
Plus the Latest News from Lake Wobegon and the Royal Academy of Radio Actors.

Bonus Click

What's in Pumpkin Spice flavor?
In honor of the first full week of fall, we revisit Dan Charles' 2014 piece on the flavor of the season -- pumpkin spice. What's the deal with the "science goo" in our lattes?



Credit: Ashley MacKinnon/Flickr



Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: The Environment Report <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, October 06, 2015 12:05 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Flint's Water Crisis

Having trouble viewing this email? Click here

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

October 6, 2015

This Week on The Environment Report

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Water samples from Flint (L) and Detroit (R). Photo, Steve Carmody / Michigan Radio

In Flint, lead levels in some children's blood have spiked dramatically since the city started using the Flint River as its water source. We've been hearing some conflicting things from state officials about what exactly Flint has been doing--if anything--to cut down on lead in the water. We'll sort that out, on the next Environment Report.

Listen to The Environment Report on Michigan Radio, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:50 am & 5:45 pm. Or, visit us online.

Environmental News from Around the World

South Carolina Copes With Deadly Flooding: 'Something We've Never Seen Before'

Obama just announced the first new marine sanctuaries in 15 years

AP analysis: Dozens of deaths likely from VW pollution dodge

Indonesia Forest Fires Could Become Worst on Record: NASA

BP settlement agreement announced in July to be filed Monday

The Environment Report, Michigan Radio
535 W. William, Ann Arbor, MI 48103

Support The Environment Report

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 West William Street | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 10:27 AM
To: Kangas, Susan (DHHS)
Subject: FW: Flint Water Summary for Governor

Importance: High

Are you also ok with this?

From: Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 9:49 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Cc: Becker, Timothy (DHHS); Ray, Patricia (DHHS)
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

See my answers in RED below

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 7:18 AM
To: Becker, Timothy (DHHS)
Cc: Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Subject: FW: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Tim – we are working on the FY 16 supplemental this morning.

Your help is needed in identifying:

1. For the $1 million for filters in restricted funds: the name of the line item and what you want to call the funds (just 'Total Other State Restricted Funds' or a specific state restricted fund).

We think it should go in the Emergency Services Local Office Allocations line item and call the fund "total other state restricted funds". This will be the only source of state restricted in that line and we believe it should go in this line because that's where we've already received it, have set up coding, and that's where the work project is paid out of.

2. For the app. $600,000 (please confirm the exact GF amount) for follow up for children with elevated blood levels, which line item? I assume it will be a different line.

As I mentioned to Nancy, it should be $850,000 to contract out the Nurse Assessments and the Environmental Blood Level Investigators. We'd like this paid out of the Childhood Lead Program in the Family and Maternal Child Health Services.

3. A brief, short paragraph summarizing what DHHS will be doing / purchasing (for the supplemental letter).

(I've put in a lot here so you all can condense it down if you'd like)

These funds will be used to conduct visits by nurses and send trained certified Environmental Blood Level Investigators to families in Flint. Nurse visits will monitor child lead levels to determine changes in those levels and communicate with primary care providers if other tests are required due to blood levels. Nurses will also conduct developmental screenings and if necessary make referrals for developmental services in the community. Nurses will also conduct nutritional assessments and counseling. Funds will also be used to support Environmental Blood Level Investigators who will test the various surfaces in the home for lead, collect dust samples and submit to the lab and conduct detailed visual inspections. Investigators will also prepare detailed reports summarizing the results of the investigations and will coordinate those results with the nurses making visits to the home.

4. Question – do you need any boilerplate language or not?

We are good with NO boilerplate language and would likely use our existing contract with MPHI to coordinate these services. There's also a possibility we could contract with the local Genesee health department.

Please respond back ASAP this morning – thank you

From: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 6:17 PM
To: Wyant, Dan (DEQ); Khouri, Nick (TREASURY); Saxton, Thomas (Treasury); Lyon, Nick (DHHS); Becker, Timothy (DHHS); Pallone, Maggie (DEQ); Zimmer, Mike (LARA); Pohl, Allan (LARA); Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Cc: Roberts, John (DTMB); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB); Starr, Scott (DTMB); Fosdick, David (DTMB); Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Attached is a summary of the funding commitments to address the Flint Water situation. The total state commitment is $10.4m; $7.9m of that amount is GF/GP. [The DHHS number needs to be verified tomorrow morning, but the final number should be close to this estimate.]

The funding will address 4 priority areas:

1. Provision of filters for residential service;

2. 50% of the estimated cost to reconnect temporarily to the Detroit Water System;

3. Funding for testing water samples; and

4. Other state assistance (e.g., home/school/health facility inspections and follow-up for children with elevated blood levels).

We are preparing a formal supplemental request to transmit to the Legislature tomorrow. John intends to talk with Rep. Pscholka and Sen. Hildenbrand about including this funding in HB 4102, the pending supplemental bill now awaiting House concurrence. Assuming that they agree, we would ask for final action next week.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our planned approach.

Nancy

From: Kaiser Health News <emails@kaiserhealthnews.org>
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 10:10 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: KHN Morning Briefing: October 9, 2015

Not rendering correctly? View this email as a web page here.
Not a subscriber? Sign up

Morning Briefing

Friday, October 09, 2015
Check Kaiser Health News online for the latest headlines

KAISER HEALTH NEWS ORIGINAL STORIES
1. Medical Prices Higher In Areas Where Large Doctor Groups Dominate, Study Finds
2. Political Cartoon: 'Gospel Truth?'

MEDICARE
3. CMS Releases Star Ratings For 2016 Medicare Advantage Plans

HEALTH LAW ISSUES AND IMPLEMENTATION
4. Insurers Seeking More Obamacare Aid Could Wait Years

QUALITY
5. Bill Would Require Drug, Device Makers To Disclose Pay To Nurses, Physician Assistants
6. Med Schools Trying To Adapt To New Health Care Environment

CAPITOL HILL WATCH
7. House Panel Finds No Financial Wrongdoing By Planned Parenthood, Rep. Chaffetz Says
8. From Planned Parenthood To Obamacare: Speaker Race Will Impact Key Health Care Issues, Funding

MEDICAID
9. Ariz. Weighs Medicaid Work Requirement, But HHS Has Rejected That For Other States

MARKETPLACE
10. Big Pharmaceutical Companies Withhold Support Of Trans-Pacific Trade Deal
11. Biotech Stock Poised For Big Gain Or Big Fall

PUBLIC HEALTH AND EDUCATION

12. Oncologists Skipping Expensive Cancer Drugs That Offer Little Or No Benefit
13. Proposed Measure To Repeal California Vaccine Law Fails To Get Enough Signatures To Make Ballot
14. FDA Recognizes Salt As Generally 'Safe'; Advocacy Group Wants That Status Removed

STATE WATCH
15. State Highlights: Another Rural Hospital Closes; N.Y. Expands Low-Cost Health Care To Immigrants; Fla. Kids Losing Special-Needs Services

HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH
16. Research Roundup: Observation Care At VA; Meeting Charity Standards; Medicare Drug Plans

EDITORIALS AND OPINIONS
17. Viewpoints: War Of Words On Kansas Medicaid; Sebelius' Legacy; Mental Health Care Reform

KAISER HEALTH NEWS ORIGINAL STORIES

1. Medical Prices Higher In Areas Where Large Doctor Groups Dominate, Study Finds

Researchers report that prices for a dozen procedures and tests were 8 to 26 percent higher in counties with the highest level of physicians concentrated in large group practices. (Michelle Andrews, 10/9)

2. Political Cartoon: 'Gospel Truth?'

Kaiser Health News provides a fresh take on health policy developments with "Political Cartoon: 'Gospel Truth?'" by Nate Beeler, The Columbus Dispatch.

Here's today's health policy haiku:

HEALTH CARE POLICY IN THE BALANCE

Who will be Speaker?
Choice may set tone for budget
And key health issues.

- Anonymous

If you have a health policy haiku to share, please Contact Us and let us know if you want us to include your name. Keep in mind that we give extra points if you link back to a KHN original story.

MEDICARE

3. CMS Releases Star Ratings For 2016 Medicare Advantage Plans

Almost three out of four beneficiaries are enrolled in medical and drug coverage plans that received at least a four-star quality rating, according to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. The rankings did show a drop for some companies, especially in regard to prescription drug benefits.

Modern Healthcare: Medicare Advantage Star Ratings Reveal Mix Of High, Low Performers
More Medicare Advantage plans nabbed top quality marks for their 2016 plans than last year, a potential sign that private insurers are trying to meet the federal government's standards for high-quality products and coordinated healthcare for seniors. But the CMS' star ratings, released Thursday, also showed that private Medicare plans are still failing on many levels, particularly when it comes to prescription drug benefits. (Herman, 10/8)

Meanwhile, 2016 Medicare Part D premiums will rise for many -

Reuters: Unwelcome News About Medicare's Rising Drug Costs
Seniors have received some unpleasant news in their mailboxes in recent weeks: premiums for many Medicare prescription drug insurance plans will rise at double-digit rates next year. Premiums for the ten most popular Medicare Part D prescription drug plans (PDPs) will rise an average of 8 percent next year - the fastest clip in five years, according to Avalere Health, a consulting and research firm. And five of the top plans will boost their average premiums anywhere from 16 percent to 26 percent. (Miller, 10/8)

HEALTH LAW ISSUES AND IMPLEMENTATION

4. Insurers Seeking More Obamacare Aid Could Wait Years

Insurers who hoped to get billions in aid after opening-year losses from their participation in the health law's insurance marketplaces are only getting 12.6 percent of what they requested after the fund to pay them fell short. In the meantime, Obamacare dropouts get picked up by employer coverage in California, and Wyoming loses one of its two health law insurers.

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: Affordable Care Act Aid Could Take Years To Reach Insurers
Health insurers that lost millions of dollars last year under the Affordable Care Act may wait years for the government to deliver the aid it promised them. Companies, including Downtown-based insurer Highmark, want about $2.87 billion to help cover their first-year losses from online insurance marketplaces — a centerpiece of the landmark health care law. But a federal relief program meant to limit their risk is more than $2 billion short, leaving the companies to collect only 12.6 percent of those requests late this year, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services said this month. (Smeltz, 10/8)

Los Angeles Times: Many Obamacare Dropouts In California Picked Up Employer Coverage, State Says

Nearly half of the estimated 700,000 Californians who have dropped their Obamacare policies during the past two years have enrolled in an employer-based plan, a new report from the Covered California exchange shows. In a news conference Thursday, Peter Lee, the organization's executive director, said there were about 1.3 million Californians enrolled in the exchange's plans as of June 30. That was about two-thirds of the 2 million who have enrolled in the exchange since it opened Oct. 1, 2013. (Sisson, 10/8)

The Associated Press: Wyoming Loses 1 Of Its 2 Affordable Care Act Insurers

One of the two companies offering health insurance coverage in Wyoming under the federal health care law has decided to drop out of the program after receiving word that the federal government would be providing drastically less financial help than it expected. The news comes as state leaders debate whether the federal government can be trusted to help pay for expansion of a health insurance program for the working poor. (Moen, 10/8)

Also, lawmakers in New Jersey ask the attorney general there to delay proposed insurance plans from Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield that are meant to save money --

The Associated Press: New Health Insurance Plan Sparks Debate In New Jersey

Two New Jersey senators have asked the state attorney general to delay the biggest health insurer in the state from offering a set of insurance plans that are being sold as money-saving ways to cover health care. Critics fear the Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield plans could hurt some patients and hospitals. Democratic Sens. Nia Gill and Joseph Vitale say the state should first set up a way to oversee how health insurers rate health care providers when they set up tiered systems. Here's a look at the issue. (Mulvihill, 10/8)

Colorado's cooperative insurance plan faces an uncertain future over cost concerns, and a patient advocacy group rates California's best HMO and PPO plans --

The Associated Press: Low-Cost Health Insurer In Colorado Faces Uncertain Future

Colorado's biggest nonprofit health insurer faces an uncertain future, and its 80,000 or so customers don't know whether their insurer will be able to offer new polices when next year's enrollment period begins soon. Colorado HealthOP, which emerged from the Affordable Care Act, faces possible insolvency because the U.S. government said it won't be able to cover payments to help stabilize premiums in federal insurance markets. (Wyatt, 10/8)

Los Angeles Times: California Agency Ranks Kaiser As Best HMO, Anthem And Cigna As Best PPOs

Kaiser Permanente was the highest-rated HMO and Anthem Blue Cross and Cigna the top-rated PPOs in a new state report. The California Office of the Patient Advocate released ratings Wednesday of 10 HMOs, six PPOs and more than 200 medical groups, just as Californians prepare to choose their health plans for next year from their employers or Covered California, the state's Obamacare exchange. (Pfeifer, 10/8)

QUALITY

5. Bill Would Require Drug, Device Makers To Disclose Pay To Nurses, Physician Assistants

The legislation, introduced in the Senate, would close a loophole in the law that requires public disclosure of such payments to doctors and some other health providers.

ProPublica: Bill Would Add Nurses, Physician Assistants To Pharma Payments Database
A bill proposed Wednesday by two U.S. senators would require drugmakers and medical device manufacturers to publicly disclose their payments to nurse practitioners and physician assistants for promotional talks, consulting, meals and other interactions. The legislation would close a loophole in the Physician Payment Sunshine Act, which requires companies to report such payments to doctors, dentists, chiropractors, optometrists and podiatrists. Companies have so far released more than 15 million payment records, covering August 2013 to December 2014. (Ornstein, 10/8)

And on prices for medical services -

Kaiser Health News: Medical Prices Higher In Areas Where Large Doctor Groups Dominate, Study Finds
Prices for many common medical procedures are higher in areas where physicians are concentrated into larger practice groups, according to a new study. The October Health Affairs study examined the average county prices paid by preferred provider insurance organizations in 2010. It focused on 15 high-volume, high-cost medical procedures across a variety of specialties, including vasectomy, laparoscopic appendectomy, colonoscopy with lesion removal, nasal septum repair, cataract removal and knee replacement. The prices studied reflected the negotiated prices between the PPOs and the physician groups, including payments made by both the plan and the patient. The average price ranged from $2,301 for a total knee replacement to $576 for a vasectomy. (Andrews, 10/9)

6. Med Schools Trying To Adapt To New Health Care Environment

With a revolution in U.S. health care -- in both how care is delivered and paid for -- schools that train doctors are scrambling to revamp. Also, a Michigan paper examines the burden on nurses at an understaffed state hospital, and a study analyzes patient attitudes about being discharged from the hospital.

The Washington Post: A Different Kind Of Care Package
U.S. health care is in a revolution that is starting to shake up one of the most conservative parts of medicine: its antiquated model for training doctors. Once paid a la carte for the procedures and services they perform, physicians are beginning to be reimbursed for keeping their patients healthy. ... The AMA is worried enough about the problem that it has been giving out millions of dollars to prod new kinds of teaching, in the hope that doctors' training can adapt as quickly as the system they will soon join. (Johnson, 10/8)

The Lansing State Journal: Michigan Mental Health Nurses Say OT Hurts Patient Care
The well-being of some 700 patients in state psychiatric hospitals is in the hands of nurses who say they're overworked, overtired and overstressed because of excessively mandated double shifts. Sometimes several days a week, nurses in Michigan's five state-run hospitals end their regular eight-hour shifts only to be ordered to cover staffing shortages by working another eight hours. Against the recommendations of nursing groups and one of the state's own task forces, several current and former nurses at the Michigan Department of Health & Human Services told the State Journal they're worked to the point of exhaustion and ragged nerves, more prone to errors or poor judgment as they deal with unpredictable, sometimes violent patients. (Hinkley, 10/8)

Reuters: Patients Who Feel Ready To Leave The Hospital Are More Satisfied
In a small study of hospitilized patients, those who felt ready to go home when they were discharged were more satisfied with the hospital and their caregivers than those who didn't feel ready to go. It may be useful to use patient readiness for discharge as one measure of quality of care, the authors write in the Journal of the American College of Surgeons. (Doyle, 10/8)

CAPITOL HILL WATCH

7. House Panel Finds No Financial Wrongdoing By Planned Parenthood, Rep. Chaffetz Says

Chairman of the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee Jason Chaffetz (R-Utah) says his committee's hearings have not found that the reproductive health organization is improperly handling its finances. He says investigations may continue. At a hearing yesterday, a former employee said that Planned Parenthood did bill Medicaid for abortion services. The woman made similar claims in a lawsuit that in 2014 an Iowa appeals court said did not have enough evidence to go forward.

The Huffington Post: GOP Probe Into Planned Parenthood Funding Comes Up Empty
Rep. Jason Chaffetz (R-Utah), chairman of the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee, said Thursday [during a Judiciary Committee hearing] that the GOP's investigation into Planned Parenthood's use of federal funds hasn't turned up anything. ... Chaffetz said Thursday that he still supports digging into Planned Parenthood's activities, even if they're using their money appropriately. "I think there will continue to be investigations," he said. (Bendry, 10/8)

The Hill: Planned Parenthood Billed Medicaid For Abortion Services, Ex-Employee

Claims

A former Planned Parenthood employee told lawmakers Thursday that she had firsthand knowledge that the organization has billed the federal government for abortion-related ultrasounds and medications, in violation of federal law. Susan Thayer, who spent 17 years working as a clinic manager for Planned Parenthood in Iowa, told lawmakers Thursday that the group had overbilled Medicaid by about $28 million, reasserting claims that have been the subject of a drawn-out court battle in Iowa. ... an appeals court in Iowa ruled in fall 2014 that Thayer did not have detailed enough evidence to accuse Planned Parenthood of submitting false claims. (Ferris, 10/8)

8. From Planned Parenthood To Obamacare: Speaker Race Will Impact Key Health Care Issues, Funding

House Republicans will meet Friday morning to discuss next steps in electing a leader following Rep. Kevin McCarthy's surprise withdrawal from the race Thursday. Rep. Paul Ryan has resisted recruitment appeals so far.

The New York Times: Republicans To Meet Amid Turmoil After Kevin McCarthy's Exit From Speaker Race

House Republicans will meet Friday morning at the Capitol to begin charting a path forward after Representative Kevin McCarthy of California's stunning withdrawal from the race for speaker dashed expectations of an orderly succession and threw Congress deeper into turmoil. The struggle to restore order to their leadership comes as they confront major fiscal issues with rapidly approaching deadlines, and Republican leaders are casting about for a candidate for speaker who can both bring along restive conservatives and maintain the backing of the far larger ranks of the rest of their conference. (Herszenhorn, 10/9)

Wall Street Journal: Paul Ryan Resists Calls To Run For House Speaker

Deprived of a clear pick for House speaker, many Republican lawmakers turned Thursday to Paul Ryan, the 2012 GOP vice presidential nominee, an architect and lead salesman of the party's conservative economic policies. While the Ways and Means committee chairman, said in a statement Thursday that he was "grateful for the encouragement," Mr. Ryan added that he wouldn't be a candidate. ... He has described the chairmanship of the Ways and Committee, a panel that oversees issues such as tax and government health-care policy, Social Security and trade, as an ideal post for him. (McKinnon and Hughes, 10/8)

MEDICAID

9. Ariz. Weighs Medicaid Work Requirement, But HHS Has Rejected That For Other States

Arizona has already expanded its Medicaid program, but lawmakers there want to set tougher standards for those who are eligible. News outlets also report on the wait in Montana for the federal government to consider the state's expansion plans and a controversial statement by an aide to the Kansas governor.

Stateline: Should Medicaid Recipients Have To Work?
If Arizona gets its way, its able-bodied, low-income adults will face the toughest requirements in the country to receive health care coverage through Medicaid. Most of the those Medicaid recipients and new applicants would have to have a job, be looking for one or be in job training to qualify for the joint federal-state program for the poor. They would have to contribute their own money to health savings accounts .... Some of Arizona's proposals have been made in other states, and the federal government has signed off on them. It has rejected work requirements, however. (Ollove, 10/8)

The Great Falls Tribune: Waiting For Medicaid Costly To Some Montanans
Holly Blouch wants to be working, and she wants to be healthy. But right now, it's almost impossible to do both. Diagnosed with carcinoid disorder eight years ago, Blouch needed to work to have health insurance to pay for her medical care, which will some day involve needing a kidney transplant. But she can't work enough hours to keep medical insurance because of her health. "There are a lot of people out there like me," said the 37-year-old Kalispell woman. She's referring to herself and the 69,999 other Montanans who now qualify for Medicaid coverage after the Montana Legislature approved the expansion plan this year. But she's got to wait a little while longer to get that coverage while the federal government reviews Montana's waiver application. (Cates, 10/8)

Wichita Eagle: Governor's Press Office Calls Medicaid Expansion 'Morally Reprehensible'
Gov. Sam Brownback's press office blasted Medicaid expansion as an "Obamacare ruse" in an e-mail to supporters Tuesday, signaling that the governor won't back expansion anytime soon. Melika Willoughby, the governor's deputy director of communications, pushed back against the claim that the state's refusal to expand Medicaid helped cause the closure of Mercy Hospital in Independence. "Those who say Medicaid Expansion would save the Independence Hospital are lying. It wouldn't," Willoughby said in an e-mail to the governor's supporters. "Instead, this Obamacare ruse funnels money to big city hospitals, creates a new entitlement class, and fails to rightly prioritize service for disabled citizens." (Lowry, 10/7)

And in other Medicaid news -

Los Angeles Times: Blue Shield's Deal With Regulators On $1.2-Billion Acquisition Draws Fire
Beleaguered insurer Blue Shield of California won state approval for its $1.2-billion acquisition of a Medicaid health plan, but the nonprofit company's deal with regulators drew heavy criticism. The California Department of Managed Health Care said it extracted several key concessions from Blue Shield in an agreement unveiled Thursday. Ending a high-stakes and lengthy battle, the company agreed to permanently relinquish its longtime state tax exemption. (Terhune, 10/8)

The Associated Press: DHS Director Says He Will Leave Department By End Of Year
The director of Arkansas' Department of Human Services said Thursday that he will leave his job by the end of the year. John Selig said in a news release that he told Gov.

Asa Hutchinson about his plans to leave the department that has overseen the implementation of the state's "private option" Medicaid expansion plan. Hutchinson said in an emailed statement that he met with Selig on Wednesday and asked him to stay on through January to help with the transition. (Lauer, 10/8)

MARKETPLACE

10. Big Pharmaceutical Companies Withhold Support Of Trans-Pacific Trade Deal

Negotiators struck a compromise on the major issue of patent protections for biologics and vaccines that left no party completely happy.

The Wall Street Journal: Business Groups Withholding TPP Support On Lack Of Details
Major U.S. business groups, citing internal frictions and uncertainty over the details of President Barack Obama's 12-nation Pacific trade deal, are withholding their support for now, hobbling the administration's early efforts to win congressional backing. With big pharmaceutical companies and several other major industries disappointed by the Trans-Pacific Partnership, the broader business coalitions that have long backed the talks say they first must consult with their members. (Mauldin, 10/8)

NPR: TPP Negotiators Reached Agreement With Sticky Compromise On Biologics Drugs
A big sticking point in the negotiations over the Trans-Pacific Partnership involved biologics medicines and vaccines created from living organisms. The dispute centered on patent protection: how many years drug companies should have before facing competition from generics. The negotiators ended up with a complicated compromise that gives drug makers five to eight years of protection. But nobody is really happy with the outcome. (Zarroli, 10/8)

11. Biotech Stock Poised For Big Gain Or Big Fall

One Wall Street analyst says there's no middle ground forward for investment in biotech firms, whose products are becoming the focus of scrutiny after big price hikes. Elsewhere, a new multiple sclerosis drug from Roche shows promise, and there's news on a takeover bid by Blackstone and an impending sale by Clayton, Dubilier & Rice of a drug-compounding firm.

The Wall Street Journal: Biotechs Are A 'Strong Buy' Or 'Strong Sell,' Wall Street Strategist Says
Biotechnology stocks can't catch a break. And one Wall Street strategist says the volatile price action recently has him expecting one of two things: A sharp turnaround or a deeper plunge. "The group isn't a 'Buy' or 'Sell' here – it is either 'Strong Buy' or 'Strong Sell,'" wrote Nicholas Colas, chief market strategist at brokerage Convergex. Biotechs have long been a volatile sector, well outperforming the large-cap S&P index during good times and significantly underperforming during bad times. (Scholer, 10/8)

The Wall Street Journal: Roche's MS Drug Reports Promising Results
Roche Holding AG's Genentech unit said its experimental drug ocrelizumab proved effective in three late-stage studies against multiple sclerosis, potentially heralding an important new treatment option for the debilitating disease. In two of the studies, which included 1,656 patients with relapsing multiple sclerosis, the most common form of the condition, ocrelizumab proved superior to the commonly used drug, Rebif, in reducing the annual rate of relapse of major symptoms and other measures of the status of the disease, Roche said. (Winslow, 10/8)

Bloomberg: Blackstone To Acquire BioMed Realty Trust For $4.8B
Blackstone Group agreed to buy landlord BioMed Realty Trust Inc. for $4.8 billion, betting on growth in real estate demand from the life sciences and biotechnology industries. Shares of REITs have been battered this year as investors gird for the first interest-rate hike since 2006, creating opportunities for buyers like New York-based Blackstone to acquire companies relatively cheaply. Health-care spending is rising quickly in the United States, boosting demand for laboratory space that can accommodate pharmaceutical developers and manufacturers. (Callanan and Mulholland, 10/8)

The Wall Street Journal: PharMEDium A Hit For CD&R As Firms Renew Interest In Sector
Clayton Dubilier & Rice's planned sale of drug-compounding company PharMEDium Healthcare Holdings Inc. for $2.58 billion stands to land the private equity firm a nice return on its investment. It also reflects revived interest in compounding pharmacies, which mix or dilute pharmaceutical agents to create hospital-grade dosage forms that aren't commercially available. (Or, 10/8)

PUBLIC HEALTH AND EDUCATION

12. Oncologists Skipping Expensive Cancer Drugs That Offer Little Or No Benefit

Meanwhile, news outlets report on other cancer care developments like the impact of life-expectancy questions on patients and what elephant genes could teach researchers about fighting the disease.

Reuters: Cancer Doctors Drop Pricey Drugs With Little Effect
U.S. oncologists, aware that patients are paying more of the costs of expensive cancer drugs, are increasingly declining to prescribe medicines that have scant or no effect, even as a last resort. At least half a dozen drugs, including colon cancer treatments Cyramza, from Eli Lilly & Co, and Stivarga, sold by Bayer AG, aren't worth prices that can exceed $100,000 a year, top cancer specialists said in interviews with Reuters. (Beasley, 10/8)

Reuters: Discussing Life Expectancy Gives Advanced Cancer Patients Realistic View

When doctors discuss prognosis with advanced cancer patients, those patients have more realistic views of their life expectancy and don't seem to experience a decrease in emotional wellbeing, according to a new study. "That the vast majority of cancer patients who are dying say that they want to know their prognosis seems surprisingly courageous," said senior author Holly G. Prigerson of Weill Cornell Medical College in New York City. (Doyle, 10/8)

Los Angeles Times: What Elephants Can Teach Scientists About Fighting Cancer In Humans

You've heard that elephants never forget, but did you know they almost never get cancer either? It turns out just 4.8% of known elephant deaths are related to cancer. For humans, cancer-related deaths are much higher — between 11% and 25%, scientists say. The low cancer rate among elephants is particularly intriguing because all things being equal, elephants should get more cancer than we do. (Netburn, 10/8)

13. Proposed Measure To Repeal California Vaccine Law Fails To Get Enough Signatures To Make Ballot

Also in California, Gov. Jerry Brown signs three bills aimed at limiting prescriptions of antipsychotics for foster children. Meanwhile, the Food and Drug Administration faces criticism for its continued approval of OxyContin for kids. And the growing heroin epidemic puts more minors into the state foster systems.

The Associated Press: Measure To Repeal California Vaccine Law Won't Be On Ballot

Proponents of an effort to repeal California's new stricter law requiring mandatory vaccines for schoolchildren failed to submit enough signatures to qualify a ballot initiative asking voters to repeal the law. County election clerks reported receiving fewer than 234,000 of the 366,000 signatures needed to ask California voters to repeal the law, according to figures provided to the secretary of state's office and posted online Thursday. The new state law struck down the state's personal belief exemption for immunizations, a move that requires nearly all public schoolchildren to be vaccinated. (Williams, 10/8)

NPR: California Approves Laws To Cut Use Of Antipsychotics In Foster Care

Efforts to protect children in foster care from being inappropriately medicated with powerful antipsychotic drugs got a big boost forward on Tuesday, when California Gov. Jerry Brown signed three bills into law designed to reform prescribing. Overprescribing of psychiatric meds for foster youth is a persistent problem nationwide, with children given the drugs at double or triple the rate of those not in foster care. (Korry, 10/8)

The New York Times: F.D.A. Approval Of OxyContin Use For Children Continues To Draw Scrutiny

Ever since the Food and Drug Administration approved the use of the narcotic painkiller OxyContin for certain children in August, it has faced unabated criticism from lawmakers and public officials who are wrestling with devastating rates of prescription opioid abuse in their communities. ... The crux of the issue is whether the agency's approval will lead to more prescriptions for OxyContin in young patients. (Saint Louis, 10/8)

Stateline: How Heroin Is Hitting The Foster Care System
Timothy Dick's office receives all kinds of reports of child abuse and neglect. Perhaps a child has a broken bone, or is underfed, or has been left home alone for too long. But when caseworkers drive to the child's home to investigate, they often discover the same root cause. "What we're finding more and more is that the parents are addicted to opiates. And more often than not, it's heroin," said Dick, assistant director of child protective services in Clermont County, Ohio. (Quinton, 10/9)

In other children's health news -

CNN: Anti-Bullying Laws Appear To Be Working
Roughly 20% of high school students report being bullied at school in the past year, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and 15% of high school students said they were bullied online. That number has gone down significantly since the federal government started collecting data on the problem in 2005. A decade ago, 28% of students reported being bullied. Why? One reason is that anti-bullying laws seem to actually work. That's what a new study in JAMA Pediatrics suggests, although not all bullying laws are equally impactful. (Christensen, 10/8)

The New York Times: Eating Organic Lowers Pesticide Levels In Children
Researchers have found that when children eat organic fruits and vegetables, the amount of pesticides in their bodies declines significantly. Most organophosphorus pesticides have been phased out for residential use, but they are still widely used in agriculture. High doses in agricultural workers can be deadly. (Bakalar, 10/8)

The Associated Press: Researcher: Children's Cancer Linked To Fukushima Radiation
A new study says children living near the Fukushima nuclear meltdowns have been diagnosed with thyroid cancer at a rate 20 to 50 times that of children elsewhere, a difference the authors contend undermines the government's position that more cases have been discovered in the area only because of stringent monitoring. Most of the 370,000 children in Fukushima prefecture (state) have been given ultrasound checkups since the March 2011 meltdowns at the tsunami-ravaged Fukushima Dai-ichi nuclear plant. The most recent statistics, released in August, show that thyroid cancer is suspected or confirmed in 137 of those children, a number that rose by 25 from a year earlier. Elsewhere, the disease occurs in only about one or two of every million children per year by some estimates. (Kageyama, 10/8)

14. FDA Recognizes Salt As Generally 'Safe'; Advocacy Group Wants That Status Removed

In other public health news, researchers find that intense early intervention can lead to recovery for people diagnosed with schizophrenia.

McClatchy: Consumer Group Sues FDA For Inaction On Salt
A prominent consumer advocacy group sued the U.S. Food and Drug Administration on Thursday for failing to regulate the amount of salt in the nation's food supply. The Center for Science in the Public Interest wants the FDA to act on the group's 10-year-old petition to lift salt's status as "generally recognized as safe." Doing so would reclassify salt as a food additive, which subjects it to more stringent regulation, like limits on the amounts allowed in processed foods. The legal action is the latest chapter in the group's decades-long efforts to combat excessive sodium consumption. Eating too much salt can lead to high blood pressure, a major risk factor for heart disease, kidney failure and stroke. (Pugh, 10/8)

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Intense Early Intervention For Schizophrenia Leads To Recovery

When the Places for People outreach team found Chandra Thirdkill, she was about 40 years old and had been homeless for two years. Her struggles, however, began as a teen. Everyone looked at her like she was ugly, she thought. No one liked her. She constantly got into fights. Thirdkill dropped out of high school, turned to alcohol and drugs, and was in and out of jail as the fights grew to involve dishes, knives and bricks. Shooting and injuring her then-husband landed her in prison for three years. That's when she was finally diagnosed with schizophrenia. (Munz, 10/8)

STATE WATCH

15. State Highlights: Another Rural Hospital Closes; N.Y. Expands Low-Cost Health Care To Immigrants; Fla. Kids Losing Special-Needs Services

News outlets report on health issues in Missouri, New York, Florida, California, Georgia, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and Maine.

The New York Times: Closing A Hospital, And Fearing For The Future

By this weekend, the last patients will be discharged and Mercy Hospital Independence will close, joining dozens of rural hospitals around the country that have not been able to withstand the financial and demographic challenges buffeting them. The hospital and its outpatient clinics, owned by the Mercy health care system in St. Louis, was where people in this city of 9,000 turned for everything from sore throats to emergency treatment after a car crash. Now, many say they are worried about what losing Mercy will mean not just for their own health, but for their community's future. (Smith and Goodnough, 10/8)

Reuters: New York To Offer Low-Cost Healthcare To Immigrants

New York will become one of the first major U.S. cities to expand low-cost healthcare to uninsured immigrants regardless of their legal status under a pilot program to launch next spring, Mayor Bill de Blasio said on Thursday. The pilot, called Direct Access, will initially apply to 1,000 immigrants. Some of them are in the country legally but still ineligible for support under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, popularly known as Obamacare. The program is expected to expand in the following years. (10/8)

The News Service Of Florida: Senate Panel Wants Answers From DOH On Children's Health Programs

A Florida Senate panel on Wednesday demanded answers from a state Department of Health official about how many special-needs children have recently lost services as the state transitions to a new Medicaid system --- and why. Several members of the Senate Health and Human Services Appropriations Subcommittee said they'd had calls from constituents --- "in tears," in the words of Sen. Aaron Bean, R-Fernandina Beach --- over losing critical health-care services for their children. (Menzel, 10/8)

Georgia Health News: 'Balance Billing' Draws Legislative Scrutiny

A patient scheduled for surgery makes sure that both the hospital and surgeon are in the health plan's network prior to the operation. But after the surgery, a surprise bill arrives for hundreds of dollars. It turns out that the anesthesiologist used in the procedure was not in the patient's insurance network – and the patient had no idea. Such "balance billing" situations often confound and upset consumers receiving medical care – and can lead to tough collections practices. (Miller, 10/8)

Los Angeles Times: Death With Dignity Act In Oregon: A Preview Of What California Might Expect

California's new law, which the 77-year-old former Jesuit seminarian struggled with before signing, was modeled after legislation enacted in Oregon nearly 18 years ago. Whether they call it "death with dignity" or the "corruption of the medical profession," "physician-assisted suicide" or "medical killing," those on both sides of the end-of-life debate do agree on one thing: That Oregon's example offers important lessons for California and its 38.8 million residents, who in the near future will be able to ask a doctor to prescribe them a lethal dose of medication so they can hasten their own deaths. (La Ganga, 10/8)

The Philadelphia Inquirer: Camden County Program To Boost Post-Overdose Care

Camden County is launching a pilot program to support drug-overdose victims who are revived by police only to then wait weeks for a spot in an inpatient treatment center. Dubbed Operation SAL - an acronym for Save A Life and also a tribute to the son of a local addiction-issues advocate - the $150,000 program is designed to help up to 50 people receive intensive outpatient treatment during that waiting period after an overdose. (Lai, 10/8)

NJ Spotlight: Bid For Saint Michael's Could Let State Reshape Future Of Newark Hospitals

In the span of three years, the number of hospitals that the state owns could go from zero to two -- both in Newark, potentially allowing it determine exactly what healthcare in that city will look like for decades to come. The New Jersey Health Care Facilities Financing Authority has emerged as a potential bidder for Saint Michael's Medical Center in Newark, just two years after the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey handed over University Hospital to the state. (Kitchenman, 10/8)

The Philadelphia Inquirer: Nemours Health Teaming With Lancaster County Clinic To Treat Children With Genetic Disorders

Nemours Children's Health System and the Clinic for Special Children in Lancaster County signed a five-year agreement to collaborate on the care of children with rare genetic disorders, the two tax-exempt organizations announced. The clinic, near Strasburg, Pa., was founded in 1989 to treat Old Order Amish and Mennonite children with genetic disorders. (Brukbaker, 10/9)

Minnesota Public Radio: CVS Offering Anti-Overdose Drug Without Prescription
Pharmacists at one of the largest drugstore chains in Minnesota can now distribute an antidote over the counter that can reverse opiate overdoses. CVS has announced that pharmacists at stores in Minnesota and 11 other states are now able to distribute the anti-overdose drug naloxone without a prescription. Another pharmacy based in southern Minnesota is exploring a similar program that's expected to launch before the end of the year. (Collins, 10/8)

Health News Florida: Lawmakers Prepare For Familiar Health Battles
Health care has been a hot-button policy issue for years in the Florida Legislature, and it's starting to look like the session scheduled to start on Jan. 12 will be no different. Battles over Medicaid expansion and payments to hospitals treating low-income patients were so bitter in the spring, it brought the Legislature to a halt. (Shedden, 10/8)

The Associated Press: 3 Working Groups Start Tackling Heroin Problem In Maine
A task force formed to address the state's heroin epidemic held its first meeting on Thursday, with 35 people on three teams focusing on law enforcement, education and treatment, officials said. The three working groups will hold additional meetings to come up with solutions and strategies to turn back the tide of overdose deaths, addiction and drug-related crimes, said U.S. Attorney Thomas Delahanty, who volunteered to establish the working groups after a pair of drug summits in August. (Sharp, 10/8)

The Associated Press: Snyder Supports Switching Flint Water System Back To Detroit
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Thursday called for Flint to switch back to Detroit's water system to address a public health emergency over lead and grapple with broader concerns about the effects of the aging pipes distributing the city's water supply. Flint stopped using water from the Detroit system last year as a cost-cutting measure, opting instead for a supply direct from the Flint River. But since the swap, residents have complained of the water's funky smell, taste and appearance, as well as adverse health reactions, and doctors discovered that the corrosive river water was drawing lead from aging pipes in some homes. (Karoub and Eggert, 10/8)

Health News Florida: Arizona Homeopathic Doc Faces FL Board
A doctor who says she is "dedicated to the natural treatment of cancer" has been ordered to appear before the Florida Board of Medicine on Friday to explain the death of a toddler from an unapproved drug. Martha Grout MD, who left Florida 20 years ago after catching flak for her alternative methods, nevertheless holds a current Florida license. The incident occurred at her alternative medicine center in Scottsdale, Ariz., where she practices "homeopathy," a style of medicine that is not legal in Florida. (Gentry, 10/8)

The Associated Press: Petitions Filed To Allow Medical Marijuana Use In Missouri
The first step to put medical marijuana to a statewide vote next year came Thursday, with supporters filing initiative petitions with the Missouri secretary of state. The two petitions from pro-medical marijuana group New Approach Missouri, would ask voters whether to amend the state constitution to allow physicians to recommend the drug to patients with certain illnesses, such as cancer, epilepsy and post-traumatic stress disorder, as well as "any other chronic, debilitating or otherwise equivalent condition."

(Ballentine, 10/8)

St. Louis Public Radio: Effort Underway To Legalize Medical Marijuana Use In Missouri
Backers of medical marijuana want Missourians to decide if doctors can be allowed to prescribe the drug to critically ill patients. Two ballot initiatives that would do just that were filed on Thursday. Sheila Dundon of Columbia is a registered nurse and a breast cancer survivor. She says past cancer patients advised her to try marijuana to help curb the effects of chemotherapy. (Griffin, 10/8)

HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH

16. Research Roundup: Observation Care At VA; Meeting Charity Standards; Medicare Drug Plans

Each week, KHN compiles a selection of recently released health policy studies and briefs.

Health Affairs: Observation Rates At Veterans' Hospitals More Than Doubled During 2005–13, Similar To Medicare Trends
When neither inpatient admission nor prompt discharge is clearly indicated for a patient in the emergency department, physicians place the patient under observation in a hospital for diagnosis and treatment. The increasing prevalence of observation stays at hospitals reimbursed by Medicare is receiving considerable attention, but the prevalence remains unexplored in Veterans Health Administration (VHA) hospitals, which are subject to different payment policies. Using VHA data for fiscal years 2005–13, we identified trends and variations in observation rates across twenty-one Veteran Integrated Service Networks and 128 VHA hospitals nationwide. We found that observation rates across VHA hospitals more than doubled, from 6.5 percent to 13.8 percent, and that there was substantial variation across both Veteran Integrated Service Networks and hospitals. (Wright et al., 10/5)

Health Affairs: Connecticut's 'Money Follows The Person' Yields Positive Results For Transitioning People Out Of Institutions
[T]he federal Money Follows the Person Rebalancing Demonstration helps qualified individuals living in institutions make the transition to life in the community. The Connecticut Money Follows the Person program is an unusually rich source of data, with information on the 2,262 people who transitioned to the community under that state's program during 2008–14. ... for the majority of respondents who remained in the community, quality of life and life satisfaction improved significantly after transition, and they stayed high. About half of the participants visited hospitals or emergency departments after transition; however, only 14 percent had returned to an institution one year after transition. Predictors of reinstitutionalization included some not previously observed: mental health disability, difficulties with family members before transition, and not exercising choice and control in daily life. (Robison et al., 10/5)

Brookings: A Floor-And-Trade Proposal To Improve The Delivery Of Charity-Care Services By U.S. Nonprofit Hospitals

Many uninsured Americans rely on charity care provided by nonprofit hospitals, which receive substantial tax benefits in exchange for providing community benefits. In this discussion paper we show that the hospitals that receive the largest tax benefits tend to be located in wealthier communities, whereas the demand for uncompensated care is highest in poorer communities. To ameliorate this geographic mismatch between the supply of charity care and the demand for charity care, we propose a floor-and-trade system whereby nonprofit hospitals would be required to meet charity-care standards, either by providing care to local patients or by purchasing credits from other hospitals. (Ody, Dranove and Garthwaite, 10/7)

The Kaiser Family Foundation: Medicare Part D At Ten Years: The 2015 Marketplace And Key Trends, 2006-2015

This report presents findings from an analysis of the Medicare Part D marketplace in 2015 and changes in features of the drug benefit offered by Part D plans since 2006. ... In 2015, more than 39 million Medicare beneficiaries are enrolled in Medicare drug plans. Since 2006, the share of Medicare beneficiaries enrolled in a Part D plan has increased from 53 percent to 72 percent of all eligible Medicare beneficiaries. ... The average Part D enrollee had a choice of 30 PDPs and 15 MA-PD plans in 2015. ... In 2015, most plans use five cost-sharing tiers: preferred and non-preferred tiers for generic drugs, preferred and non-preferred tiers for brand drugs, and a tier for specialty drugs. ... Cost sharing for brand-name drugs has been relatively stable in recent years. (Hoadley, Cubanski and Neuman, 10/5)

The Commonwealth Fund: U.S. Health Care From A Global Perspective: Spending, Use Of Services, Prices, And Health In 13 Countries

This analysis draws upon data from the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and other cross-national analyses to compare health care spending, supply, utilization, prices, and health outcomes across 13 high-income countries .... These data predate the major insurance provisions of the Affordable Care Act. In 2013, the U.S. spent far more on health care than these other countries. Higher spending appeared to be largely driven by greater use of medical technology and higher health care prices, rather than more frequent doctor visits or hospital admissions. In contrast, U.S. spending on social services made up a relatively small share of the economy relative to other countries. Despite spending more on health care, Americans had poor health outcomes, including shorter life expectancy and greater prevalence of chronic conditions. (Squires and Anderson, 10/8)

CDC's Preventing Chronic Disease Journal: Health Status of Older US Workers and Nonworkers, National Health Interview Survey, 1997–2011

Many US workers are increasingly delaying retirement from work .... We examined the association of older adults' health status with their employment/occupation and other characteristics. National Health Interview Survey data from 1997 through 2011 were pooled for adults aged 65 or older .... Employed older adults had better health outcomes than unemployed older adults. Physically demanding occupations had the lowest risk of poor health outcomes, suggesting a stronger healthy worker effect: service workers were at lowest risk of multiple functional limitations ... and blue-collar workers were at lowest risk of multimorbidity ... and multiple functional limitation .... A strong association exists between employment and health status in older adults beyond what can be explained by socioeconomic factors (eg, education, income) or health behaviors (eg, smoking). (Kachan et al., 9/24)

Here is a selection of news coverage of other recent research:

The Wall Street Journal: How Economic Downturns May Be Good For Your Health
Economic downturns, it turns out, appear to be good for health, according to a study released this week by the National Bureau of Economic Research. The research by Christopher Ruhm, a professor at the University of Virginia, builds upon earlier studies looking at the impact of economic downturns on health. "There is considerable evidence that harmful behaviors–like heavy drinking and smoking–decrease in bad economic times, whereas health-enhancing activities such as exercise and social interactions increase," Mr. Ruhm said. (Sparshott, 10/7)

Reuters: Women Are Missing From HIV Drug Trials
Although women make up roughly half of the world's HIV cases, they remain largely excluded from clinical trials testing drugs, vaccines and potential cures for the virus, a research review confirms. In an analysis spanning several decades that included work done as recently as 2012, researchers found that women typically comprised about 11 percent of participants in trials investigating cures for HIV. Similarly, drug studies were only about 19 percent female and just 38 percent of vaccine trial subjects were women. (Rapaport, 10/2)

Reuters: Caring For Loved One With Alzheimer's May Be Most Stressful For Spouse
Caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's disease isn't easy under the best of circumstances, but it may be much more stressful for spouses and people who suffer from depression, a Finnish study suggests. Researchers followed 236 family caregivers of Alzheimer's patients for three years after the diagnosis. Caregiving appeared to be much more stressful for people who were married to the patients or who suffered from depression when the study began. (Rapaport, 10/2)

Reuters: Perceived Discrimination Linked To Smoking And Poor Diet
Feeling like the target of discrimination may increase a person's odds of harmful behaviors like smoking, eating fatty foods and getting less sleep, a study of African-Americans suggests. Researchers examined the connection between discrimination and these unhealthy habits among almost 5,000 African-American residents of the Jackson, Mississippi metropolitan area. (Rapaport, 10/8)

The Oregonian: Oregonians Billed By Out-Of-Network Health Providers At High Rates, Insurer Group Says
Patients who use health providers outside of their insurer's network can expect bills to be as much as 1,200 percent more than what those services would cost under Medicare, according to a new study from an insurer lobbying group. In Oregon, for instance, a session of computer-targeted radiation therapy to treat tumors costs, on average, $2,409. That's about six times the average Medicare reimbursement rate of $397 — a key benchmark for health care costs. (Budnick, 10/5)

The Wall Street Journal: Study: Attempted Suicide Rises After Weight-Loss Surgery
People who undergo surgery for weight loss are 50% more likely to attempt suicide after the operation than before it, according to a large Canadian study published

Wednesday in the journal JAMA Surgery. The popular procedures, which were performed nearly 200,000 times in the U.S. last year, result in significant weight loss for most patients and often bring about reductions in Type 2 diabetes, hypertension and sleep apnea as well. Many patients also report improved mood and self-esteem. But a small group experience a worsening of depression, substance abuse and eating disorders, past studies have found. (Beck, 10/7)

Reuters: Type Of Weight Loss Surgery Matters For Diabetes Remission
Diabetics considering weight-loss surgery to help send their disease into remission should opt for the most popular procedure, a gastric bypass, researchers suggest. In their study of different types of so-called bariatric surgeries, the biggest impact on diabetes remission was seen with gastric bypass, which can reduce the size of the stomach from about three pints to roughly the size of a shot glass. (Rapaport, 10/6)

The Associated Press: Gene Test Finds Which Breast Cancer Patients Can Skip Chemotherapy
Many women with early-stage breast cancer can skip chemotherapy without hurting their chances of beating the disease, a major new study has found. The 21-gene test accurately identified a group of women whose cancers are so likely to respond to hormone-blocking drugs that adding chemo would do little, if any, good while also exposing them to side effects and other risks, the researchers found. “You can’t do better than that,” says the study leader, Dr. Joseph Sparano of Montefiore Medical Center in New York. (Marchione, 10/3)

The New York Times: Heart Scan Can Fine-Tune Risk Estimate For Patients Considering Statins
Treatment guidelines suggest that nearly half of those over age 40 — nearly 50 million people in the United States — at least consider a cholesterol-lowering statin to reduce heart attack risk. But a new large study of people who had an inexpensive heart scan found that half of those who were statin candidates had no signs of plaque in their heart and very little chance of having a heart attack in the next decade. (Kolata, 10/5)

The Associated Press: Report: More US Hospitals Are Encouraging Breast-Feeding
Health officials say more hospitals are encouraging new mothers to breast-feed. A new report found more than two-thirds of hospitals in 2013 helped women start breast-feeding within an hour after birth. That's up from 44 percent six years earlier. Roughly 90 percent of hospitals teach moms breast-feeding techniques and how to recognize and respond to infant feeding cues. But only about a quarter refrain from giving infants breast milk alternatives — like formula or water — unless medically necessary. (Stobbe, 10/6)

EDITORIALS AND OPINIONS

17. Viewpoints: War Of Words On Kansas Medicaid; Sebelius' Legacy; Mental Health Care Reform

A selection of opinions on health care from around the country.

Huffington Post: This GOP Governor's Comments About The Poor Are Incredibly Revealing

Some Republicans want their party to stop bashing poor people as lazy and undeserving of public assistance. Sam Brownback, the conservative governor of Kansas, doesn't appear to be one of them. Brownback and his allies are in the middle of a major fight over Medicaid, the government-run health insurance program for the poor and disabled. ... And while conservatives who oppose the expansion sometimes rely exclusively on arguments about Medicaid's efficacy -- or perceived lack thereof -- Brownback has been putting his rhetorical emphasis elsewhere. On Tuesday, the governor's deputy communications director, Melika Willoughby, distributed a letter laying out in detail the heart of Brownback's argument -- namely, that expanding Medicaid would be "morally reprehensible" because it would help "able-bodied adults ... who choose not to work" and would send money to "big city hospitals." (Jonathan Cohn, 10/7)

Kansas City Star: Gov. Sam Brownback's Missive On Medicaid Expansion Was Wrong, Cruel And Divisive

Kansas Gov. Sam Brownback's office sent out one of its trademark propaganda pieces on Tuesday, this one on the subject of Medicaid expansion. In its effort to score political points, it maligns low-income Kansans and pits citizens with disabilities against the working poor. As with other recent messages, the email signed by the governor's deputy communications director, Melika Willoughby, is rife with inaccurate information. (10/6)

Kansas City Star: Gov. Sam Brownback Takes The Low Road On Medicaid Expansion

In Kansas Gov. Sam Brownback's world, expanding Medicaid eligibility to more low-income Kansans would create "new government entitlements" for "able-bodied adults" and benefit a small number of "big city hospitals." I'll say this for Melika Willoughby, the deputy communications director who penned that incendiary language in an email on behalf of the Brownback administration: She's got the code words down pat. ... By spewing this sort of vitriol, the governor's office is choosing to argue a complex issue with the lowest forms of talking points. (Barbara Shelly, 10/8)

Forbes: Three Major Problems Left By Sec. Sebelius' Legacy: Obamacare's Medicaid Expansion

While [former HHS Secretary Kathleen] Sebelius resigned in the shadow of a disastrous roll-out of healthcare.gov, her more damaging legacy is the temptation for state leaders to embrace a bigger welfare state and accept an injection of federal dollars funded by Medicare cuts and deficit spending. Medicaid expansion, like Obamacare, fails to deliver on its promises of quality health care that improves the health of enrollees. Even more troubling, ballooning Medicaid expansion costs threaten every other service and will trap millions in a cycle of dependency and poverty. (Tarren Bragdon, 10/7)

Deseret News: Let The People Decide On Medicaid Expansion

I listened with interest to Tuesday's Health Reform Task Force, where members of the Gang of Six presented their "Utah Access" plan for Medicaid expansion. This new proposal, built on the premise that health care providers should pay the majority of the state's expansion costs, did not go over well. Providers are upset, and they have a right to be. Most providers will see no economic benefit from Medicaid expansion. They should not have to pay more than any other Utahn to cover its costs. (Dan Liljenquist, 10/8)

Des Moines Register: Medicaid Savings Are Increasingly Suspect
Perhaps Gov. Terry Branstad thought he could quietly privatize Iowa's Medicaid program. Instruct a state agency to hand over administration to managed care companies, issue a few press releases about "modernization," quickly secure federal approval and hope no one raises a fuss. Except when 4.2 billion public dollars and health care for 560,000 Iowans are on the line, people eventually pay attention to the details. It doesn't take long to realize privatization makes no sense. (10/8)

The Wall Street Journal: Mass Shootings And A Mental-Health Disgrace
We all know how this plays out in Congress: a moment of silence on the House floor and a fraternal feeling of melancholy when the flag over the Capitol is lowered to half-staff. But that moment of silence will not heal the hearts of those who lost a loved one, and it will not stop the next tragedy. Here and now we need action; we need real change. That's why I've authored the Helping Families in Mental Health Crisis Act. The bill focuses resources and reform where they are most needed: to foster evidence-based care, fix the shortage of psychiatric hospital beds, empower patients and caregivers under HIPAA privacy laws, and help patients get treatment well before their illness spirals into crisis. (Rep. Tim Murphy, R-Penn.)

The New York Times: Getting The Diagnosis Wrong
Diagnostic accuracy is fiendishly difficult to measure precisely, but it is estimated that doctors get it wrong in one out of 10 to one out of 20 cases. Up until now, the focus of the patient safety movement has been on errors of medical treatment — incorrect medications or dosages, postoperative complications, hospital-acquired infections. But diagnostic errors — incorrect or delayed diagnoses — may be more common and potentially more deadly. The Institute of Medicine has taken up the subject, and its new report offers the chilling observation that nearly everyone will experience at least one diagnostic error in their lifetimes. (Ofri, 10/8)

Politico: Planned Parenthood's Cecile Richards Blasts GOP 'Total Lack Of Civility'
Cecile Richards, the president of Planned Parenthood, says she was "stunned by the total lack of civility and use of raw power" by Republican members of Congress during last week's House Oversight and Government Reform hearing on her organization's federal funding, Richards fired back at Congress and Republicans in general in a Guardian article published Thursday, warning that the Supreme Court's 1973 decision in Roe v. Wade is "on the ballot" for next year's presidential election. (Nick Gass, 10/8)

Kaiser Health News is an editorially independent operating program of the Kaiser Family Foundation. (c) 2014 Kaiser Health News. All rights reserved.

Follow us on Twitter | Facebook | LinkedIn

You are subscribed to this email alert as kimmithd@michigan.gov.

Update your email preferences to choose the types of emails you receive. Or, permanently unsubscribe from all emails.

If you need help or have questions, please send an email to subscriptions@kaiserhealthnews.org
Please do not reply to this email as this address is not monitored.

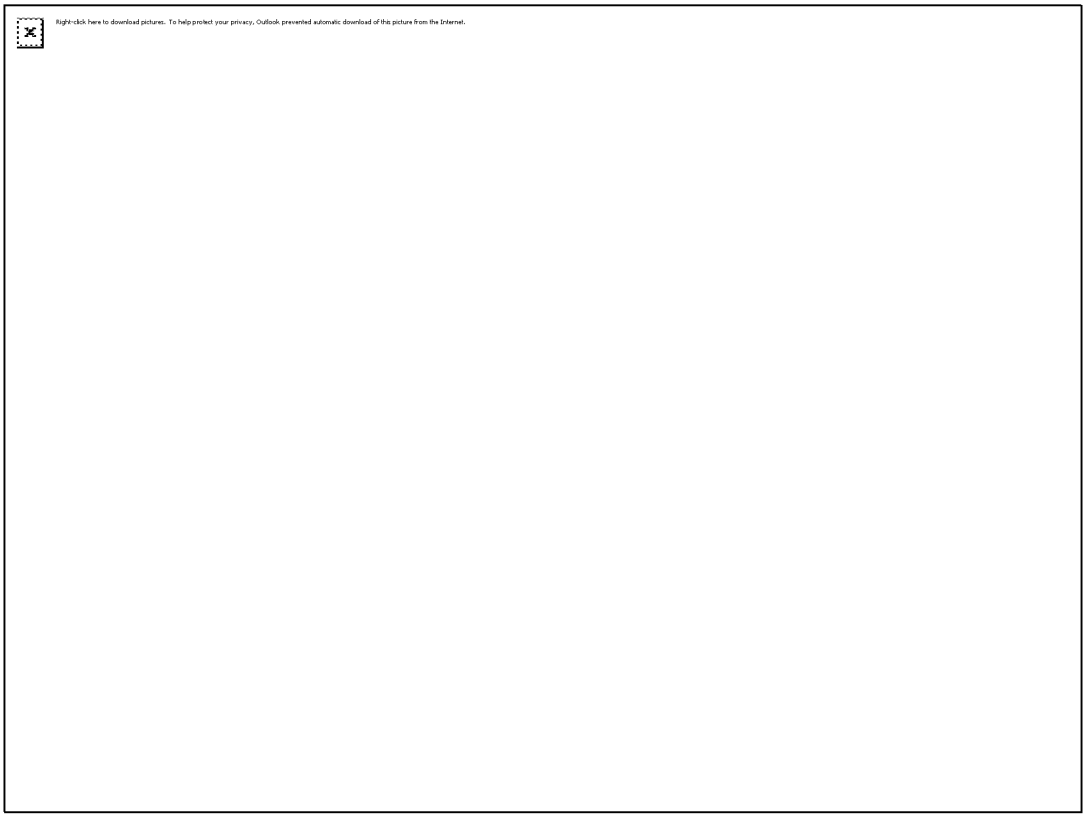
Kaiser Family Foundation & Kaiser Health News | 2400 Sand Hill Road | Menlo Park, CA 94025

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 3:32 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Remembering Grace Lee Boggs / Flint Update

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

October 9, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.



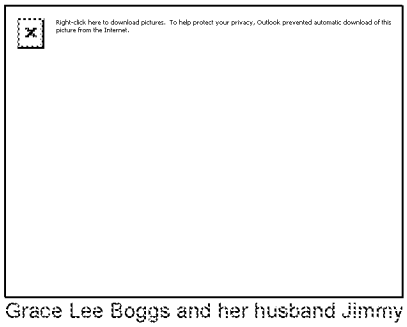
Gov. Snyder announced the $12 million plan to hook the city of Flint back up to Detroit water.
Photo by Steve Carmody / Michigan Radio

Flint returning to Detroit water, but problems persist

A year and a half after city leaders stood in Flint's water plant and raised plastic glasses to toast the city's switch to the Flint River, the city is going back to Detroit's water system after the state, the city and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation agreed to kick in $12 million to make the switch. Despite the proposed change, there are new concerns about lead in the water in Flint schools. Steve Carmody has details on the latest developments.

Remembering Detroit's Grace Lee Boggs

Philosopher, activist, and writer Grace Lee Boggs died at her home on the east side of Detroit earlier this week. She was 100. Zak Rosen has this recollection of the woman described as an "American Revolutionary."



Grace Lee Boggs and her husband Jimmy Boggs. Photo courtesy, Boggs Center.

Weekend All Things Considered Saturday & Sunday, 5-6:00 PM

With Michel Martin's debut as weekend host of All Things Considered, you can look forward to several new segments on the show. Saturdays will bring different perspectives on the week's stories, including the "Barbershop" roundtable. Sundays will take a deep dive into the important stories of the coming week including conversations around faiths, values and beliefs, and a commentary from Michel called "Can I Just Tell You?"

Michel Martin, new weekend host of All Things Considered.

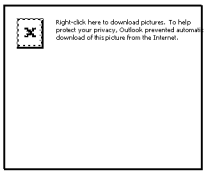
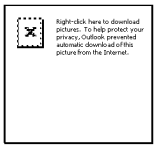
Win Tickets!

Enter to win a pair of tickets to see humorist David Sedaris at the Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor on October 26.

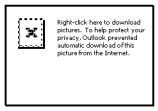


This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

Road funding debate could get in the way of making sure there isn't a repeat of Flint water crisis



What would a world with no racial achievement gaps in schools look like?

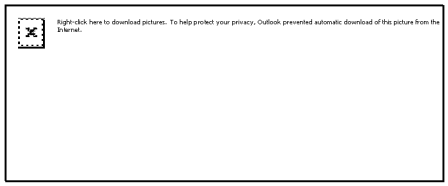


Federal appeals court orders EPA to rewrite ballast rules for ships

We need a thorough investigation into how the Snyder administration handled the Flint water crisis

---

Stateside Highlights



Did debtors' prison ever really go away?
Across Michigan and the rest of the country, people are being jailed over failing to repay fines and fees. More>

There's a way to help every child in Michigan save for education
Measures of family wealth and education attainment in the U.S. show a widening gap between the rich and the poor, but this Next Idea proposes a way to close that gap. More>

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

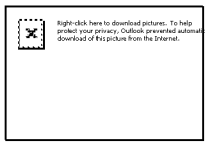
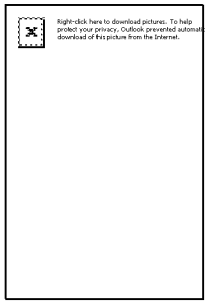
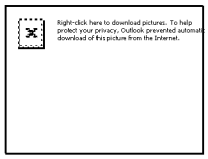
Weekend Highlights



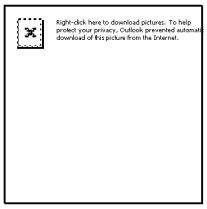
The Moth Radio Hour
Sat 12 pm & 8 pm
"Live from Boston"
A New York City cop looks into the death of a kid he grew up with, a marriage opposed, and more.



This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"Peer Review"
Inside the room at Hardee's where the hot-dog topped burger was born. And other tales of people and their ideas, being judged by their peers.



Ask me Another
Sat 4 pm
"The Milk Carton Kids: No Expiration Date"
The folk band, The Milk Carton Kids tell host Ophira Eisenberg about the benefits of being a duo and field Seinfeld trivia questions.

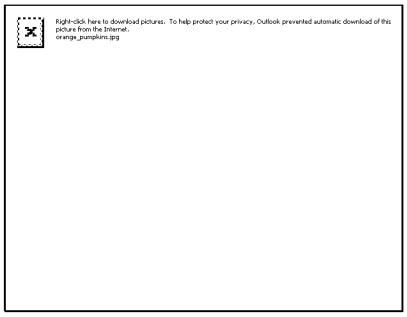


A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
"Three Heads are Better Than One"
After 41 years on the air, Garrison Keillor accidentally let his radio license lapse. In his stead, Sara Watkins, Sarah Jarosz and Aoife O'Donovan host this week's episode. With the Royal Academy of Radio Actors.

Old car won't run?

Don't trash it! We've got a better way to get rid of your old car:
Donate it to Michigan Radio.

Bonus Click



Dire news for pie lovers
Thanksgiving is still more than a month away, but there's potential bad news for pie bakers...a canned-pumpkin shortage.

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, October 16, 2015 3:33 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Life after high school; Faith in government shaken

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | Support the Station

October 16, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

MDEQ Director Dan Wyant, at the microphone, with Michigan Governor Rick Snyder, right.
Credit State of Michigan / LiveStream

MDEQ Director: Flint water crisis has shaken faith in government

For months, Flint residents were assured their drinking water was safe, until mounting evidence showed high lead levels in the water. In a Stateside interview earlier this week, Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant called it an issue of "experience rather than wrongdoing" and said no one should lose their job. Learn more.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Life After High School: State of Opportunity special

Wednesday, Oct. 22 at 3 PM and 10 PM

Senior year in high school...the popular narrative is that you graduate, go to college, then start your career. But life after high school is more complicated for many young people in Michigan. Join Michigan Radio's Jennifer White next Wednesday as we look at the options open to young people as they work to build a life for themselves.

Upcoming Retirement Series: Your Money and Your Life

Having enough money to retire is now the top financial concern for Americans. Starting next week, NPR will begin airing a new series on how to start saving and investing successfully for retirement. Tune in during Morning Edition, 5-9:00 AM, and All Things Considered, 4-6:30 PM, beginning the week of October 19, on Michigan Radio.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.
3_piggy_banks.jpg

Issues & Ale: College Affordability & Access

Tuesday, October 27, 6:30-8 PM
ABC Microbrewery, 720 Norris St., Ypsilanti

Join Michigan Radio's Jennifer Guerra as she hosts this State of Opportunity discussion about the rising cost of college and the impact it's having on first generation and lower income students. Learn more and register to attend.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Featured Event: Washtenaw County Heart Ball

Friday, October 30, 6:30 PM
U-M Stadium - Jack Roth Stadium Club

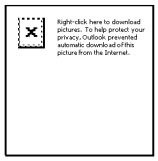
Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

This year's Heart Ball promises to be an engaging evening of fun and passion bringing community and philanthropic leaders together. Tickets and information.

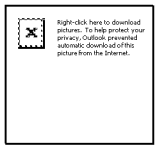
Creating your legacy at Michigan Radio

It's easier than you think to have an impact on future generations of public radio listeners. Here are some ways...

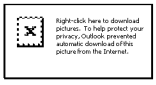
This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features



Will controversial Dave Agema run for Congress (in a district in which he doesn't even live)?



What does it take for most people to support soaking the rich with higher taxes? Mass war

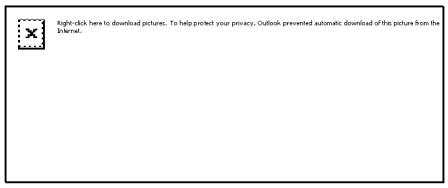


Michigan lawmakers consider banning microbeads in consumer products

Commentary: Lawmakers have lost their minds, and it's time to call them out

---

Stateside Highlights



To help students focus, we could use less medication and more meditation
Mindfulness techniques can offer a way to help students and teachers handle stress in the classroom.
More

Catholic nun describes 30 years of teaching literature at men's prison
A Roman Catholic nun in Adrian has been teaching literature to male prisoners for nearly 30 years. More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

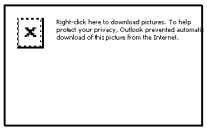
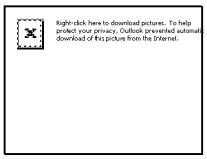
Weekend Highlights

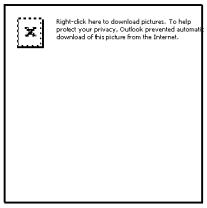
On the Media
Sat 7 am / Sun 7 pm
"Nudity on the Radio"
We've got more to say about Playboy's announcement this week that it will no longer do the thing that has defined it for over sixty years....feature nude models in the magazine.



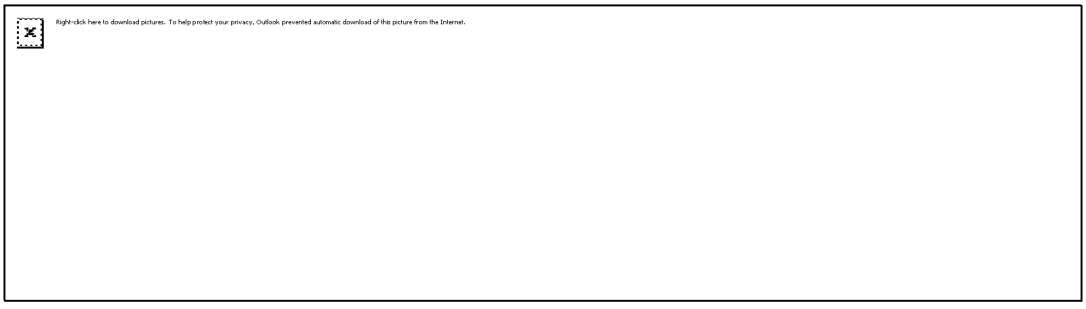
Snap Judgment
Sat 2 pm & 9 pm
"Mystery Man"
People think they know who they're dealing with, but we throw them for a loop.



Ask me Another
Sat 4 pm
"Welcome To Night Vale: All Hail The Mighty Quiz Show!"
The creators of the hit podcast Welcome to Night Vale reflect on its runaway success and help lead a game about mysterious phenomena...that one should never speak of or acknowledge.

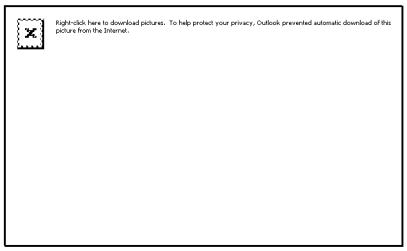


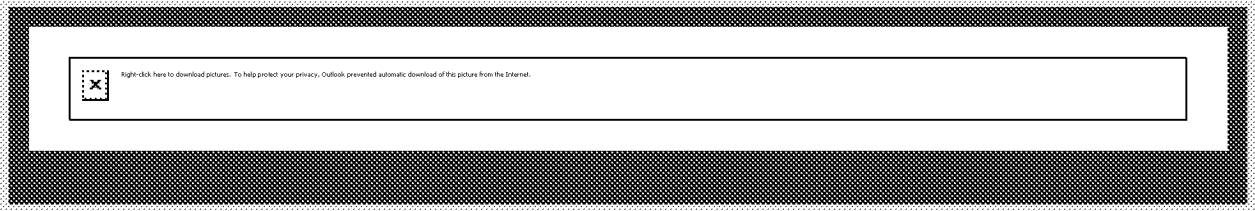
A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
"Autumn in St. Paul"
Garrison is back at the mic for a live broadcast from the Fitzgerald Theater. With mandolin fireworks from Chris Thile; red-hot fiddle and cello from Alasdair Fraser and Natalie Haas; a visit from public radio's only staff blues singer, Hilary Thavis; plus the Royal Academy of Radio Actors and an update on the last two weeks of News from Lake Wobegon.

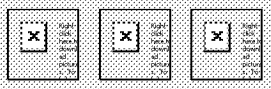


Bonus Click

Smart phones have been around for years, and even smart watches are so 2015. Maybe you need a Ringly smart ring that will let you know when important people are contacting you, or that your Uber is here.







Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

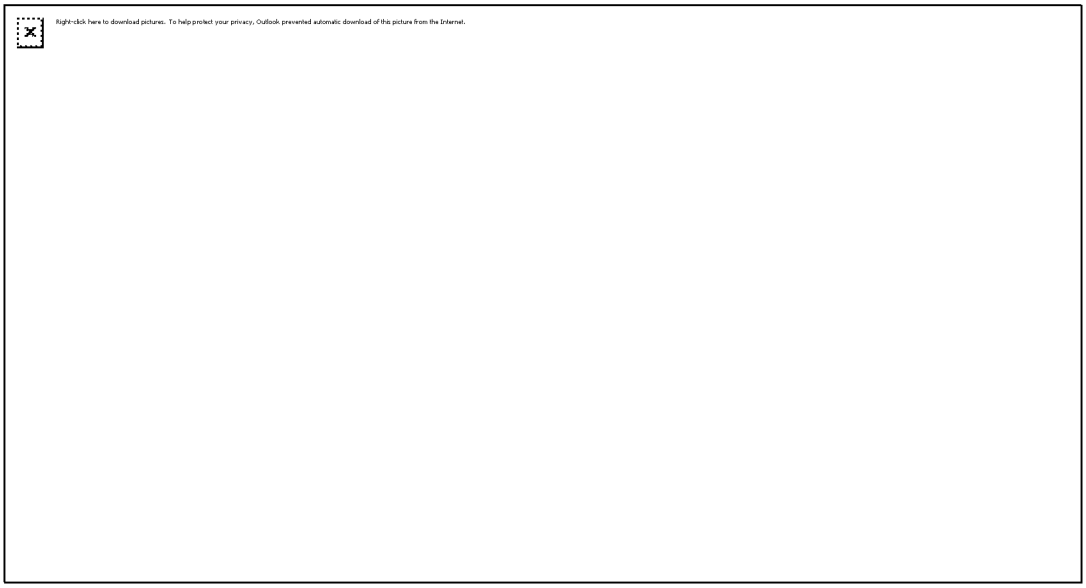
Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, October 23, 2015 3:31 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: What you need to know about the water crisis/Win tickets

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | Support the Station

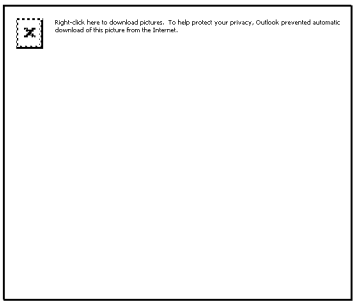
October 23, 2015



Flint did not follow federal rules to keep lead out of water

Earlier this week, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality admitted Flint did not follow federal rules designed to keep lead out of water. The city didn't do any kind of corrosion control when it started pumping water from the Flint River. The treatment helps keep lead from corroding from old service lines and pipes in people's homes, and is required under federal law.

If you live in Flint, Michigan Radio's Infowire has compiled this guide to what you need to know about the water crisis, including how you can get your water tested.



Connections

Wed 10/28, 3pm and 10pm

For a lot of us, we got where we are today through a combination of hard work...and some helpful connections along the way. Networks are all around us, if we're lucky. Join State of Opportunity's Jennifer Guerra next Wednesday for CONNECTIONS, a radio documentary about the power of networks.

Our Life After High School special

What's the best way for students to build a future for themselves? In this week's State of Opportunity special, Jennifer White talked to students from all over the state who each took a different path after leaving high school. Listen to their stories about college, the military, and job training programs, and then tell us yours.

Issues & Ale: College Affordability & Access

Tuesday, October 27, 6:30-8 PM
ABC Microbrewery, 720 Norris St., Ypsilanti
FREE ADMISSION

Join Michigan Radio's Jennifer Guerra as she hosts this State of Opportunity discussion about the rising cost of college and the impact it's having on first generation and lower income students. Learn more and register to attend.

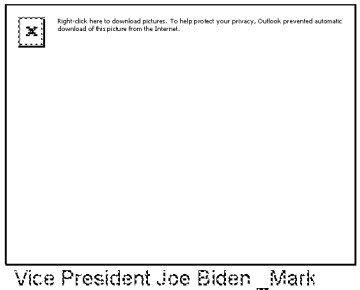
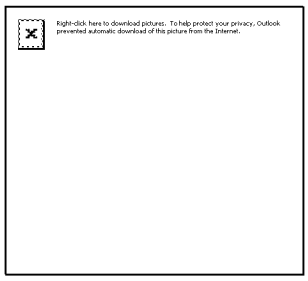
Canada Reminds Us That American Elections Are Much Longer

If Vice President Biden had announced his presidential candidacy this week, he would have entered the race with 384 days until Election Day. But he said it was too late for him to be competitive. Meanwhile Canada elected a new Prime Minister this week, following a campaign that lasted about 11 weeks. Why are American election campaigns so long?



Vice President Joe Biden _Mark Wilson_Getty Images_

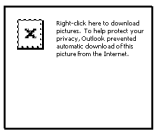
Win Tickets from Michigan Radio



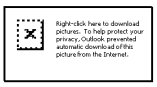
Enter to win a pair of tickets to the Grand Rapids Wine, Beer & Food Festival (Nov. 19-21, 2015), the largest wine and beer tasting event in the Midwest. Click here to enter.

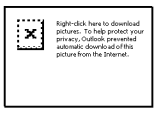
This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

Governor Snyder has faced a hard few months, and there's little relief in sight



Are the arts a luxury or an economic necessity?

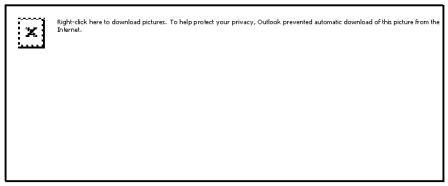




Building a comeback for the Detroit River

Commentary: Paying attention to Canada's election

Stateside Highlights



Pawpaw: the fruit America forgot
There is a fruit native to North America that is plentiful and was quite popular for a long time. More

Is GM as "vastly different" as Mary Barra claims?
GM announced better than expected profits his week, but what does that mean when times are good for all car makers right now? More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

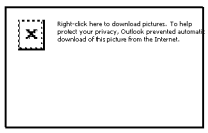
Weekend Highlights

Reveal
Sun 6 pm
"High and Dry"

From who is using the most water in parched California to the skyrocketing water bills in New York, Reveal investigates water issues around the country.

On the Media
Sat 7 am / Sun 7 pm

Brooke speaks with Cora Currier of The Intercept about how to unpack the White House's jargon on drone strikes, what it tells us about drone policy, and what the murky wording means for journalists trying to report on it.

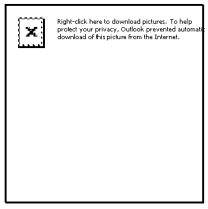


Snap Judgment
Sat 2 pm & 9 pm
"Spooked VI: The Awakening"

We bury the very bad things and hope they go away forever, but some things... never die.

This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"And the Call Was Coming from the Basement"

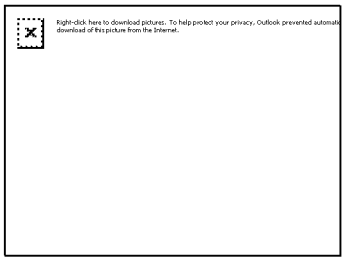
Scary stories that are all true for the week leading up to Halloween. Zombie raccoons, haunted houses, and things that go "EEEEK!!" in the night.



A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
On Both Sides

The show heads up the Mississippi River for a live broadcast from Anoka High School in Garrison Keillor's hometown of Anoka, Minnesota, the Halloween Capital of the World.

Creating your legacy at Michigan Radio



It's easier than you think to have an impact on future generations of public radio listeners. Here are some ways...

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, November 06, 2015 3:03 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Michigan's Mormon King / A New Water Threat

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | Support the Station

November 6, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Tap water in a Flint hospital on Oct.16_ 2015 _Joyce Zhu- Flintwaterstudy.org_

New threat in Flint water

The EPA says people living in Flint could be in danger of "high lead release" into their tap water if road work or other physical disturbances to service lines occur. These physical disturbances "could pose an immediate and acute health hazard" to residents.

Meanwhile, an expert on water treatment is saying that the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality knowingly dropped lead test samples to avoid exceeding a federal drinking water standard. By not including those samples, the city remained below the action level for lead. Mark Brush has details.

Michigan Radio Events

M I Curious Trivia Night
Tuesday, November 24, 7:00 PM
Rockford Brewing Co., Rockford

Join us for our next M I Curious Trivia Night where you can test your knowledge of the Great Lakes state, and meet and mingle with fellow Michigan Radio listeners. Learn more and register.

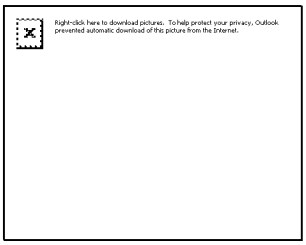
Stories you might have missed



How a Mormon king shaped a sleepy island in Lake Michigan

It's a story of murder, intrigue, and a Mormon population that's completely vanished. And it started with an M I Curious question about the Mormon kingdom that used to be on Beaver Island.

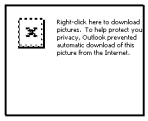
Get a load of this chart

It's not an eye test. This chart shows all 80 federal programs that provide help to low-income families. Most everyone agrees that the system is a mess but as our State of Opportunity team points out, there's also more to the story than the chart lets on.

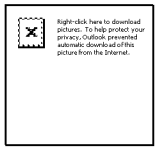
Win Tickets!

Enter to win a pair of passes to see the Bolshoi Ballet's critically acclaimed "Jewels" as it is broadcast via satellite from Moscow to selected movie theaters on Sunday, November 15 at 12:55 PM. Enter here.

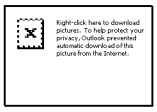
This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features



There's a lot to learn from a forgotten Michigan innovator



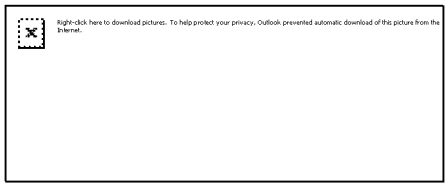
Pro-gay rights groups at odds over how to add LGBT protections to Michigan's constitution



A scientific panel weighs in on fish farming

Voters are smarter than the politicians

Stateside Highlights



Roads deal: mission accomplished or can kicked?
State legislators finally passed a road funding deal earlier this week. More

"Superior:" a coming-of-age tale set in Northern Michigan
It's the summer of 1969 and two lifelong friends grab their bicycles and set out on a 1,300-mile journey around Lake Superior. More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

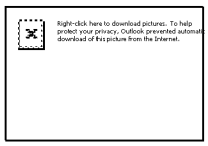
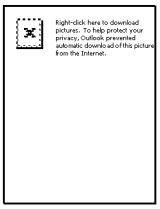
Weekend Highlights

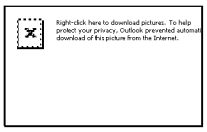
On the Media
Sat 7 am / Sun 7 pm
One complaint about last week's CNBC Republican debate was that moderators made galling, if predictable, use of the media's favorite trick: the dreaded "gotcha" question. But what actually qualifies as a gotcha question?



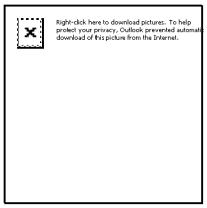
The Moth
Sat 12 pm & 8 pm
"Wedding Dress, Prison Choir, and a Hotdog"
A feminist searches for her wedding dress, a playwright visits a prison in Malawi, a man lives his life regretting a single moment, and more.



This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"Transformers"
This hour, people address very big fears. Like a prisoner, who hasn't talked to anyone in years, and his bold plan to re-introduce himself to the world.



Snap Judgment
Sat 2 pm & 9 pm
"Cross To Bear"
It would break ordinary mortals, but there are those who carry huge burdens in their lives - despite looking normal.



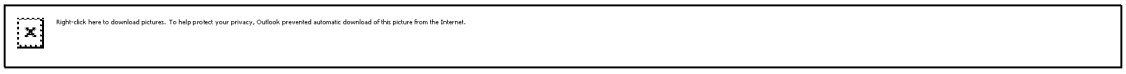
A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
"Crossing Waters"
This week is a live broadcast from Bemidji, Minnesota, with a little southern electric blues from Elvin Bishop and his Big Fun Trio. Plus Guy Noir, The Royal Academy of Radio Actors and the Latest News from Lake Wobegon.

Bloomberg via Getty Images

Bonus Click

China's War on Golf

Our recent warm weather has kept many Michiganders out on the links, but China's Communist Party recently banned people from joining golf clubs in that country. It's considered a violation of the country's "moral ethical code."



Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com |
Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, November 20, 2015 3:03 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: The Refugee Debate / New MI Curious Questions

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | Support the Station

November 20, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Photo_ European Commission DG ECHO

The Refugee Debate in Michigan

The Paris terrorist attacks ignited a debate over whether Syrian refugees should be allowed into Michigan. After first saying he was hitting the "pause" button on bringing more refugees to the state, Governor Snyder tried to clarify his position. Local officials weighed in also, saying Syrian refugees were welcome in Grand Rapids, but in Oakland County...not so much!

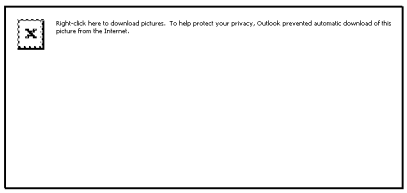
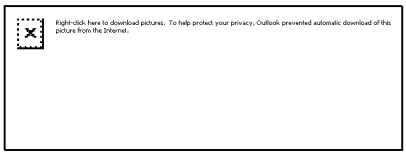
Meanwhile, here are four things you should know about the current vetting process for refugees.

New MI Curious Questions

We've got three new Detroit questions up for vote on MI Curious. They deal with streetcars on Gratiot Avenue, a time capsule at the Soldiers and Sailors Monument, and the Masonic Temple. Cast your vote to let us know which one we should investigate.



Great Thanksgiving Listen



You can help StoryCorps preserve the voices of a generation over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend. Learn more.

Stories You Might Have Missed

Plans for Syrian refugee center moving forward in Pontiac
Plans to transform an abandoned elementary school in Pontiac into a community center for Syrian refugees are moving forward despite Gov. Snyder's announcement to put refugee resettlement efforts on hold.

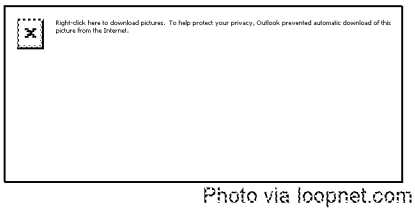


Photo via loopnet.com

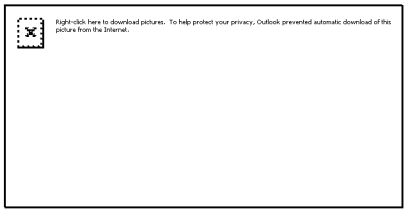
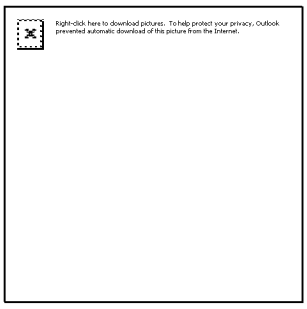


MSU being sued for mishandling of sexual assault investigations
The lawsuit is being brought by four women, all seniors at MSU, who claim the university dragged out investigations into their sexual assault complaints.

Michigan Radio Events



Issues & Ale: Flint's Water Crisis
Tuesday, December 1 - 7:00 pm
Redwood Steakhouse & Brewery, Flint

Join host Jack Lessenberry to discuss the latest on Flint's water situation. Please note, because of space availability, you must register to attend. Free admission.

This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

Some Republican lawmakers are adopting the "tax break" religion

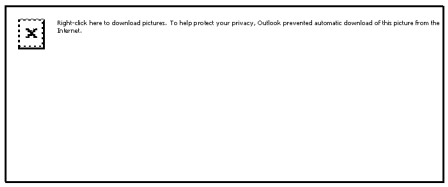
Islamophobia harms the fearful as much as the feared

Michigan cherry growers mobilize against invasive fruit fly

Gov. Snyder's decision on Syrian refugees plays into what ISIS wants

---

Stateside Highlights



Researchers say biodiversity is key to saving threatened coffee crops
Two UM professors discuss how "coffee rust" could put your morning cup in jeopardy. More

Lead Vatican astronomer: "Science is a wonderful way of getting to know God"
Did you know the Vatican has astronomers and one of them is from Michigan? More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Tired of driving that old turkey?
Donate a vehicle to Michigan Radio and support the programs you love.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Visit Michigan Radio's CaféPress online shop for all the Michigan Radio fans on your list.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Weekend Highlights

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

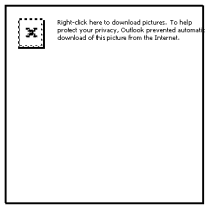
The Moth
Sat 12 pm and 8 pm
"The Moth StorySlam"
We'll hear stories from live open-mic StorySlam events in cities like Portland, OR; Burlington, VT; & the birthplace of The Moth StorySlam, New York City.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"Regrets, I've had a few"
Everybody makes mistakes. And every so often, there's that one regret that makes us pause and take notice. This week, people find ways to cope with those regrets.

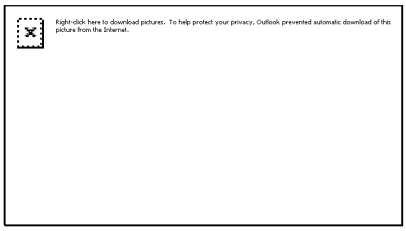
Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Snap Judgment
Sat 2 pm and 9pm
"Gratitude 2015"
You've laughed with us, cried with us, and now...it's time to say thanks. On the next Snap Judgment

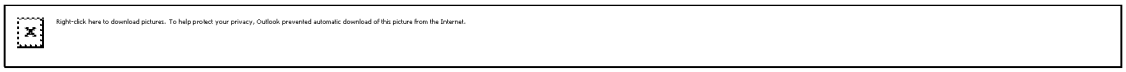


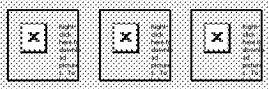
A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
"Quid Aere Perennius"
Live from the Palace Theater in Waterbury Connecticut, Craver Hicks, Watson and Newberry join the show. Don't let the name fool you, they aren't providing legal advice, but rocky bluegrass and old time music. Plus the Latest News from Lake Wobegon.

Bonus Click



Cop pulls over Google self-driving car, finds no driver to ticket
A police officer pulled over one of Google's autonomous vehicles recently for driving too slowly, only to find no driver. We can only imagine the disembodied navigation voice apologizing, and saying he's new to the neighborhood.





Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Masterson, Cindy (DHHS)
Sent: Tuesday, November 24, 2015 11:52 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: FW: DHHS (391) - EBA - 391007
Attachments: 391007_Flint Water project funding _GF.xlsx

Sorry, the Flint Water supplemental EBA is 391007.

Cindy Masterson
Health Services Budget Division Director
Michigan Department of Health and Human Services
Office 517-241-2409
Fax 517-241-4845

From: Moges, Kidest (DHHS)
Sent: Friday, November 13, 2015 4:12 PM
To: SBOBudgetaryTransactions
Cc: Boyd, Jeremy (DHHS); Thelen, Beverly (DHHS); Bacon, Richard (DHHS); Hetherington, Michael (DHHS); Dawson, Brice (DHHS); Kangas, Susan (DHHS); Gillette, Patrice (DHHS); Masterson, Cindy (DHHS); Hanley, Farah (DHHS); Scott, Teri (DHHS); Schneider, Teresa (DHHS); Smith, Kidada (DHHS); Halverson, Lisa M. (DHHS); Bendele, Steven (DHHS); Lehman, Mary Lou (DHHS); Babb, Abbey (DTMB); Fosdick, David (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Hovenkamp, Robert (DTMB); Kimmith, Dean (DTMB); Mukuna, Herve (DTMB); White, Keith (DTMB)
Subject: DHHS (391) - EBA - 391007

Attached is EBA 391007. The purpose of this EBA is to appropriate supplemental funds authorized in P.A. 143 of 2015 for the Flint water project.

Thank you.

Kide Moges
Information Technology & Administration Section, Budget Division
Michigan Department of Health and Human Services
(517) 373-9603

E-mail Confidentiality Notice:
This message, including any attachments is intended solely for the use of the named recipient(s) and may contain confidential and/or privileged information. Any unauthorized review, use, disclosure, or distribution of any confidential and/or privileged information contained in this e-mail is expressly prohibited. If you are not the intended recipient, please contact the sender by reply e-mail and destroy any and all copies of the original message.

	A	B	C	D
1	STATE BUDGET OFFICE
2	BUDGETARY TRANSACTION PROCESSING IN MAIN-FACS
3
4
5	TYPE OF TRANSACTION:	Supplemental
6	AGENCY CODE:	391
7	DEPARTMENT:	Department of Health and Human Services
8	FILE #:	391007
9	FISCAL YEAR:	2016
10	DATE:	11/13/2015
11
12
13				"20"
14	UNIT/LINE ITEM TITLES		AY	APPR #
15	TO:	FAMILY, MATERNAL AND CHILDREN'S HEALTH SERVICES
16		Childhood Lead Program	2016	14254
17		State general fund/general purpose
18
19	GRAND TOTAL:
20
21	EXPLANATION:	To appropriate supplemental funds authorized in P.A. 143 of 2015 for the Flint water project.
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32
33
34
35
36
37
38
39

	E	F	G	H	I	J	K	L
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12			1st QTR	2nd QTR	3rd QTR	4th QTR	TOTAL	TOTAL
13	"D23"	FINANCE	Effective	Effective	Effective	Effective	"D23"	"20"
14	FUND #	TYPE	10/01	01/01	04/01	07/01	FUND	APPR
15
16								$850,000
17	0100	01	$425,000	$425,000			$850,000
18
19			$425,000	$425,000	$0	$0	$850,000	$850,000
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32
33
34
35
36
37
38
39

	A	B	C	D
40
41
42
43
44
45
46
47
48
49
50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58
59
60
61
62
63
64
65
66
67
68
69
70	Administrative Transfer
71	Legislative Transfer
72	Supplemental
73	Boilerplate Supplemental
74	Executive Order Reorganization
75	Other Transaction Processing

From: Masterson, Cindy (DHHS)
Sent: Tuesday, November 24, 2015 12:52 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Re: DHHS (391) - EBA - 391007

Thanks.

Sent from my iPhone

On Nov 24, 2015, at 12:07 PM, Kimmith, Dean (DTMB) <KimmithD@michigan.gov> wrote:

> Moved to approved – apologies for the delay
>
> ---
>
> From: SBOBudgetaryTransactions
> Sent: Monday, November 16, 2015 8:37 AM
> To: Moges, Kidest (DHHS)
> Cc: Boyd, Jeremy (DHHS); Thelen, Beverly (DHHS); Bacon, Richard (DHHS); Hetherington, Michael (DHHS); Dawson, Brice (DHHS); Kangas, Susan (DHHS); Gillette, Patrice (DHHS); Masterson, Cindy (DHHS); Hanley, Farah (DHHS); Scott, Teri (DHHS); Schneider, Teresa (DHHS); Smith, Kidada (DHHS); Halverson, Lisa M. (DHHS); Bendele, Steven (DHHS); Lehman, Mary Lou (DHHS); Babb, Abbey (DTMB); Fosdick, David (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Hovenkamp, Robert (DTMB); Kimmith, Dean (DTMB); Mukuna, Herve (DTMB); White, Keith (DTMB)
> Subject: RE: DHHS (391) - EBA - 391007
>
> EBA has been logged and placed in the pending folder for review.
>
> ---
>
> From: Moges, Kidest (DHHS)
> Sent: Friday, November 13, 2015 4:12 PM
> To: SBOBudgetaryTransactions <SBOBudgetaryTransactions@michigan.gov>
> Cc: Boyd, Jeremy (DHHS) <BOYDJ1@michigan.gov>; Thelen, Beverly (DHHS) <ThelenB7@michigan.gov>; Bacon, Richard (DHHS) <baconr@michigan.gov>; Hetherington, Michael (DHHS) <HetheringtonM1@michigan.gov>; Dawson, Brice (DHHS) <DawsonB4@michigan.gov>; Kangas, Susan (DHHS) <KangasS1@michigan.gov>; Gillette, Patrice (DHHS) <GilletteP@michigan.gov>; Masterson, Cindy (DHHS) <MastersonC@michigan.gov>; Hanley, Farah (DHHS) <hanleyf@michigan.gov>; Scott, Teri (DHHS) <ScottT13@michigan.gov>; Schneider, Teresa (DHHS) <schneidert@michigan.gov>; Smith, Kidada (DHHS) <SmithK67@michigan.gov>; Halverson, Lisa M. (DHHS) <HalversonL@michigan.gov>; Bendele, Steven (DHHS) <BendeleS@michigan.gov>; Lehman, Mary Lou (DHHS) <LehmanM@michigan.gov>; Babb, Abbey (DTMB) <BabbA2@michigan.gov>; Fosdick, David (DTMB) <FosdickD@michigan.gov>; Harkins, Chris (DTMB) <HarkinsC1@michigan.gov>; Hovenkamp, Robert (DTMB) <HovenkampR@michigan.gov>; Kimmith, Dean (DTMB) <KimmithD@michigan.gov>; Mukuna, Herve (DTMB) <MukunaH1@michigan.gov>; White, Keith (DTMB) <WhiteK14@michigan.gov>
> Subject: DHHS (391) - EBA - 391007
>
> Attached is EBA 391007. The purpose of this EBA is to appropriate supplemental funds authorized in P.A. 143 of 2015 for the Flint water project.
>
> Thank you.
>
> Kide Moges

Information Technology & Administration Section, Budget Division
Michigan Department of Health and Human Services
(517) 373-9603

E-mail Confidentiality Notice:
This message, including any attachments is intended solely for the use of the named recipient(s) and may contain confidential and/or privileged information. Any unauthorized review, use, disclosure, or distribution of any confidential and/or privileged information contained in this e-mail is expressly prohibited. If you are not the intended recipient, please contact the sender by reply e-mail and destroy any and all copies of the original message.

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, November 25, 2015 11:19 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Thanksgiving Day specials / Upcoming Issues & Ale events

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | Support the Station

November 25, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

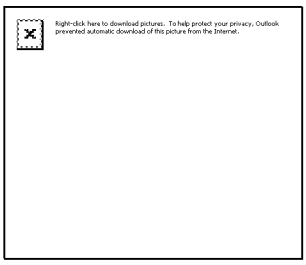
Tune in for these special shows on Thanksgiving Day

The Splendid Table's Turkey Confidential
Thurs, Nov. 26 - 12:00-2:00 pm

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Help is on the way for Thanksgiving cooks from Lynne Rossetto Kasper, host of The Splendid Table. Lynne will answer listener questions throughout the live show, and will be joined by internationally renowned chef and author Jacques Pépin; and food enthusiast and TV personality Nigella Lawson.

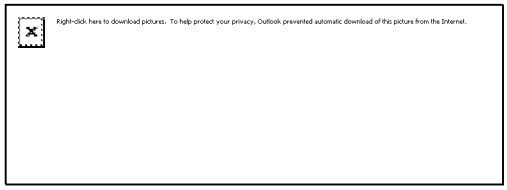
Connections: The Power of Networks, A State of Opportunity Special
Thurs, Nov. 26 - 3:00-4:00 pm
For a lot of us, we got where we are today through a combination of hard work...and some helpful connections along the way. Networks are all around us, if we're lucky. Join State of Opportunity's Jennifer Guerra next Wednesday for CONNECTIONS, a radio documentary about the power of networks.



Reveal: For Profit Rehab Centers...Neglect and Abuse
Thurs, Nov 26 - 10:00-11:00 pm
From The Center for Investigative Reporting, this month Reveal looks at 40 years of abuse and neglect of people with disabilities at specialty rehab centers across the U.S.

StoryCorps' "Great Thanksgiving Listen"

You can help StoryCorps preserve the voices of a generation over the thanksgiving holiday weekend. Learn more.



Stories you might have missed

Washington Post* piece highlights "tensions" in Hamtramck as "first majority-Muslim" U.S. city

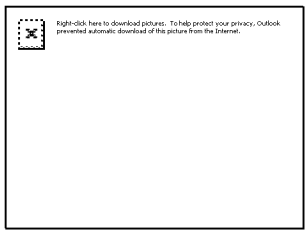
Washington Post reporter Sarah Pulliam Bailey writes that the city in 2013 "earned the distinction of becoming what appears to be the first majority-Muslim city in the United States following the arrival of thousands of immigrants. Mark Brush has more.

Sponsored events

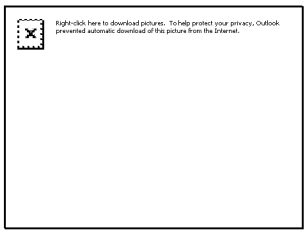


Sing-A-Long White Christmas
Friday, Nov. 27, 7:30 pm
Michigan Theater, Ann Arbor

Sing along to this Christmas classic starring Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney. With on-screen lyrics, interactive props, and more! Join us for caroling with the Barton organ from 7 - 7:30 PM.

Tickets and information.

Upcoming Issues & Ale events



Issues & Ale: Flint's Water Crisis
Tuesday, Dec. 1, 7:00-8:30 pm
Redwood Brewing, Flint

Join host Jack Lessenberry as we discuss the latest on Flint's water situation. Learn more.

Issues & Ale: The People's Lawyer
Tuesday, Dec. 8, 7:00-8:30 pm
Conor O'Neill's, Ann Arbor

Join host Jack Lessenberry for this conversation with the so-called godfather of the Michigan Democratic Party, former Attorney General Frank Kelly. Learn more.

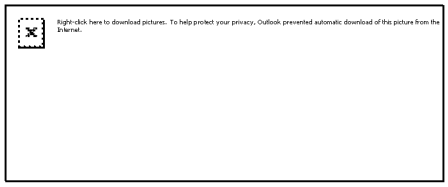
This week's top Michigan Radio features

What priorities will Governor Snyder give up in order to overhaul Detroit schools?

Some hunters say changes in northern Michigan deer hunting rules mean bigger bucks

Should Congressman John Conyers make a graceful exit?

Stateside highlights



New Flint Mayor Karen Weaver: "They voted for a new leader, so let me lead."
With the city of Flint's challenges, including the water crisis, its newly elected mayor doesn't have the luxury of gradually learning the ropes.
More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Tired of driving that old turkey?
Donate a vehicle to Michigan Radio and support the programs you love.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Visit Michigan Radio's CaféPress online shop for all the Michigan Radio fans on your list.

Bonus click

A Cranberry Dish To Relish Far From Home

Every Thanksgiving since 1971, NPR's Susan Stamberg has found a way to sneak her notorious and, yes, weird family recipe for cranberry relish into NPR's coverage. And 2015 is no exception.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com |
Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, December 04, 2015 3:05 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Issues & Ale and Detroit Bankruptcy events

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | Support the Station

December 4, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

(L to r) Sen. Jim Ananich, Prof. Marc Edwards, Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha, Steve Carmody, and Jack Lessenberry

Flint's drinking water is still not safe

Even though Flint changed back to Detroit's water system in October, the city's tap water is "still not safe." That's according to Virginia Tech researcher Marc Edwards, who was a panelist at our Issues & Ale event earlier this week. Flint residents had the opportunity to pose questions to expertsabout the water crisis at the event, which also included Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha of Hurley Medical Center and State Senator Jim Ananich (D-Flint). If you missed the event, you can listen to audio here, and get Jack Lessenberry's perspective.

Michigan Radio events

Issues & Ale: The People's Lawyer
Tuesday, Dec 8, 7:00-8:30 PM
Conor O'Neill's, Ann Arbor

Join host Jack Lessenberry for this conversation with the so-called godfather of the Michigan Democratic Party, former Attorney General Frank Kelly. Learn more and register.

Detroit Bankruptcy: One Year Later
Thursday, Dec. 9, 5:30-8:00 PM
Wayne State Community Arts Auditorium, Detroit

This Detroit Journalism Cooperative discussion will feature Gov. Rick Snyder, Mayor Mike Duggan and now-retired Bankruptcy Judge Steven Rhodes. Learn more.

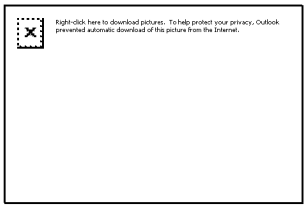
Stories you might have missed



Despite Snyder's "pause," Syrian refugees continue to arrive in Michigan

There's been a lot of confusion on the topic, so let's just clarify something. Syrian refugees are still coming to Michigan. More are expected. And Governor Snyder is fine with that. More.

We asked teachers "Have you seen class sizes change over time?"

It seems like common sense that kids do better in smaller classes, but it's hard to get a clear answer about class sizes in Michigan. We surveyed Michigan elementary school teachers to find out how their class sizes have changed and the impact it's had. More.

This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

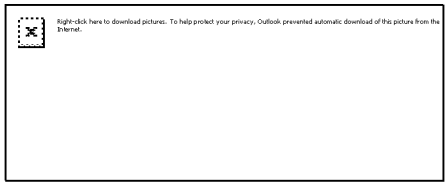
Split government? Open seats in 2016 could give Democrats a chance at state House control

Detroit bankruptcy lesson: Underfunded pension funds could trip up other municipalities

The ACLU is unwilling to do anything meaningful to help push for LGBT civil rights

---

Stateside Highlights



New book "How to Live in Detroit Without Being a Jackass"
Writer Aaron Foley decided it was time to give visitors and newcomers a dose of Detroit realism.
More

What really killed Oscar Wilde?
Oscar Wilde died 115 years ago this week. A UM historian has a much different theory about what killed the great writer. More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

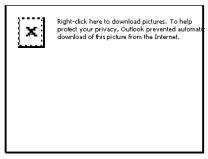
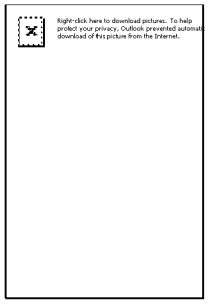
Weekend Highlights

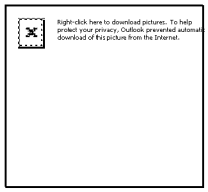


Radiolab
Fri 10 pm / Sun 9 pm
"23 weeks 6 days"
This hour focuses on the story of Kelley and Tom, whose daughter was born at 23 weeks and 6 days - roughly halfway to full term. Their story raises questions about the dividing line of life and death, and morality.

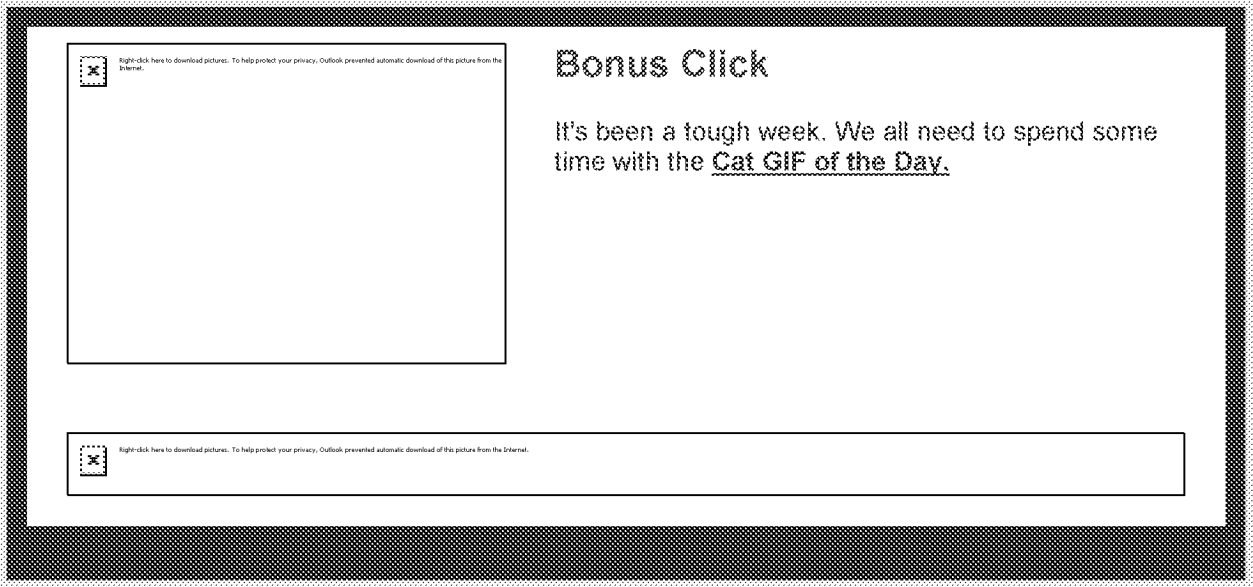
On the Media
Sat 7 am
"Lies, lies, lies"
It's been quite an election season for inaccuracies -- from biographical claims to policy claims and beyond. We'll offer a taxonomy of lies and consider if any of us can really handle the truth in the political arena.

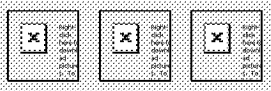


This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"Home Movies"
The rituals we document in Home movies are often similar - weddings, vacations and so on. This hour, five stories that start with a typical home movie but take a turn for the unique.



The Dinner Party Download
Sat 3 pm
Master thespian Sir Ian McKellen with etiquette advice and real talk about his least favorite co-stars... supermodel Cindy Crawford recalls her photo shoot with a 40-pound python... Plus, a history of the Pokemon Shockwave of 1997, a kid show-inspired cocktail, and more!





Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, December 04, 2015 3:48 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Issues & Ale and Detroit Bankruptcy events - CORRECTION

Please note: The day and time indicated for the Detroit Bankruptcy event in our previous newsletter was incorrect. The correct information is shown below.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | Support the Station

December 4, 2015

(L to r) Sen. Jim Ananich, Prof. Marc Edwards, Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha, Steve Carmody, and Jack Lessenberry

Flint's drinking water is still not safe

Even though Flint changed back to Detroit's water system in October, the city's tap water is "still not safe." That's according to Virginia Tech researcher Marc Edwards, who was a panelist at our Issues & Ale event earlier this week. Flint residents had the opportunity to pose questions to expertsabout the water crisis at the event, which also included Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha of Hurley Medical Center and State Senator Jim Ananich (D-Flint). If you missed the event, you can listen to audio here, and get Jack Lessenberry's perspective.

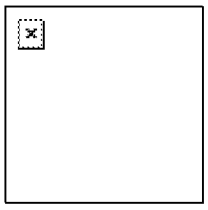
Michigan Radio events



Issues & Ale: The People's Lawyer
Tuesday, Dec 8, 7:00-8:30 PM
Conor O'Neill's, Ann Arbor

Join host Jack Lessenberry for this conversation with the so-called godfather of the Michigan Democratic Party, former Attorney General Frank Kelly. Learn more and register.

Detroit Bankruptcy: One Year Later
Wednesday, Dec. 9, 6:00-8:00 PM
Wayne State Community Arts Auditorium, Detroit

This Detroit Journalism Cooperative discussion will feature Gov. Rick Snyder, Mayor Mike Duggan and now-retired Bankruptcy Judge Steven Rhodes. You must register to attend. Learn more.

Stories you might have missed

Despite Snyder's "pause," Syrian refugees continue to arrive in Michigan

There's been a lot of confusion on the topic, so let's just clarify something. Syrian refugees are still coming to Michigan. More are expected. And Governor Snyder is fine with that. More.

We asked teachers "Have you seen class sizes change over time?"

It seems like common sense that kids do better in smaller classes, but it's hard to get a clear answer about class sizes in Michigan. We surveyed Michigan elementary school teachers to find out how their class sizes have changed and the impact it's had. More.

This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

Split government? Open seats in 2016 could give Democrats a chance at state House control

Detroit bankruptcy lesson: Underfunded pension funds could trip up other municipalities

The ACLU is unwilling to do anything meaningful to help push for LGBT civil rights

---

Stateside Highlights

New book "How to Live in Detroit Without Being a Jackass"
Writer Aaron Foley decided it was time to give visitors and newcomers a dose of Detroit realism.
More

What really killed Oscar Wilde?
Oscar Wilde died 115 years ago this week. A UM historian has a much different theory about what killed the great writer. More

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

Weekend Highlights

Radiolab
Fri 10 pm / Sun 9 pm
"23 weeks 6 days"
This hour focuses on the story of Kelley and Tom, whose daughter was born at 23 weeks and 6 days - roughly halfway to full term. Their story raises questions about the dividing line of life and death, and morality.

On the Media
Sat 7 am
"Lies, lies, lies"
It's been quite an election season for inaccuracies -- from biographical claims to policy claims and beyond. We'll offer a taxonomy of lies and consider if any of us can really handle the truth in the political arena.

This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"Home Movies"
The rituals we document in Home movies are often similar - weddings, vacations and so on. This hour, five stories that start with a typical home movie but take a turn for the unique.

The Dinner Party Download
Sat 3 pm
Master thespian Sir Ian McKellen with etiquette advice and real talk about his least favorite co-stars... supermodel Cindy Crawford recalls her photo shoot with a 40-pound python... Plus, a history of the Pokemon Shockwave of 1997, a kid show-inspired cocktail, and more!

Bonus Click

It's been a tough week. We all need to spend some time with the Cat GIF of the Day.

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

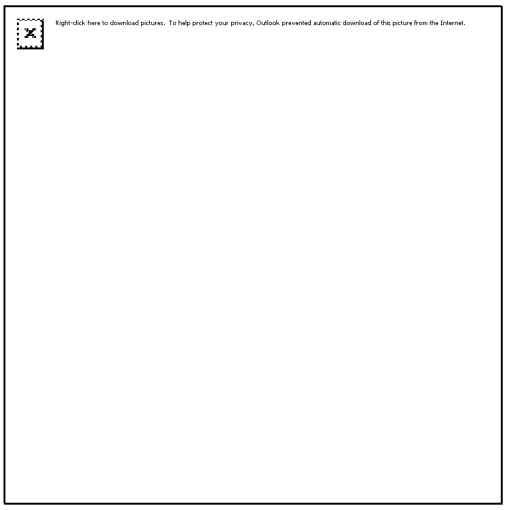
From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, December 11, 2015 3:04 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Special Documentary: Not Safe to Drink

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | iPhone/Android App

December 11, 2015

Thank you for your support during our December membership drive!



We wrapped up our December membership drive this past Tuesday with over $400,000 raised. With your support, our news teams will continue to dig deeper to gather the news and analysis you are eager to hear. Click here for more details on the drive.

Special Documentary

Not Safe to Drink
Wednesday, Dec. 16 at 3 pm (10 pm repeat)

What would you do if your tap water turned brown? If it gave your children a rash every time they took a bath? Or worse, if it made them really sick? Tune in next Wednesday for a special documentary, hosted by Lindsey Smith...and hear the wild story about how the water in Flint became Not Safe To Drink.

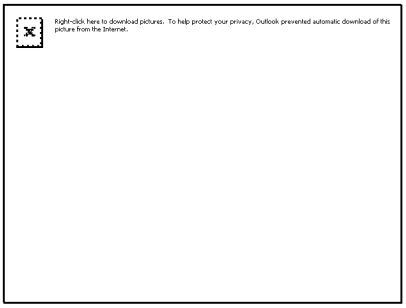
Featured Event

UMMA Fridays After 5
Friday, Dec. 11. 5-8 pm
University of Michigan Museum of Art, Ann Arbor

Enjoy live music from Michigan Pops Jazz Band and ballroom dancing. With all of UMMA's galleries remaining open until 8 pm, this exciting series provides a festive and interactive atmosphere for all audiences. Admission is free. And, save the date for the next Fridays After 5 event on Feb. 12, 2016. More information>

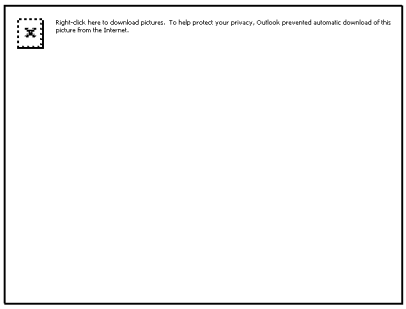
Upcoming Michigan Radio Event

Moth StorySLAM: Joy
Tues., Dec. 15, 7:30 PM (doors open at 6 PM)
Circus Bar, Ann Arbor



An experience that brought you utter delight, or a time you were able to provide it for somebody else...Sign up to tell a five-minute story, volunteer to be on a judging team or just sit back and listen. Learn more>

Stories you might have missed



Here's how you can help Syrian refugees in Michigan Many people in Michigan want to help - and have been helping - refugees arriving from Syria and other countries. Here's how.

Where Gun Laws Stand In Your State
President Obama has called for state and local governments to tighten gun laws, which vary widely. These maps show where states stand on nine important types of gun measures.

This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

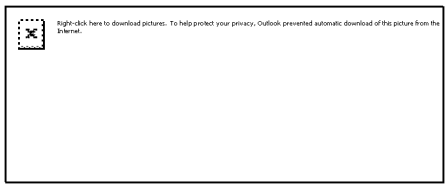
Republican Legislature looks to wrap up 2015 with a political gift to GOP candidates

Why isn't road kill picked up on a timely basis across Michigan?

How one educator brings hip-hop to the classroom

Commentary: Detroit's Dying Public Schools

Stateside Highlights



Searching for a black Santa
For Detroiters, this is going to be the first Christmas without Northland Mall. And that raises a difficult question for the black community -- where will they go to find a black Santa Claus? More.

Ann Arbor couple makes "pointless dreams" come true with improv theater
The Pointless Brewery & Theatre is about to open in Ann Arbor nearly two years after the owner's cancer diagnosis. More.

Listen to Stateside with Cynthia Canty Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

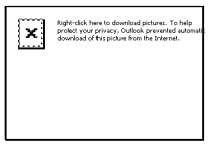
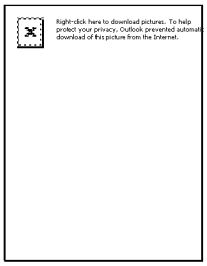
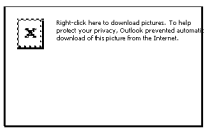
Weekend Highlights



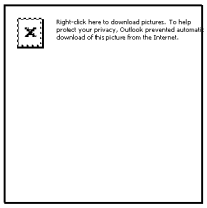
The Moth
Sat 12 pm and 8 pm
"Reality TV, an Egg Timer, and a burglary"
This hour, a reality TV show puts true romance in jeopardy, a speechwriter has an explosive showdown with Bill Clinton and more.



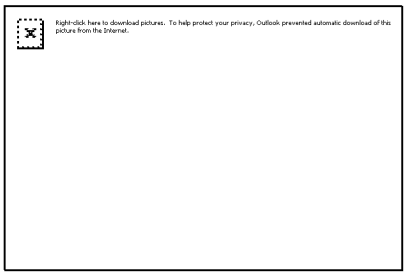
This American Life
Sat 1 pm / Sun 3 pm
"Sinatra's 100th Birthday"
For Frank Sinatra's 100th birthday; stories, tributes and attempts to understand Ol' Blue Eyes.



Snap Judgment
Sat 2 pm and 9 pm
"Better Half"
You see it all the time, a couple, hand in hand, and you think to yourself...How is she with him?

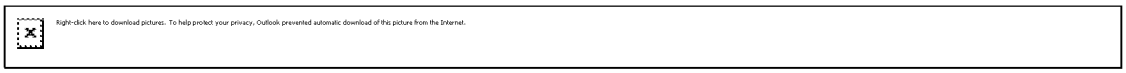


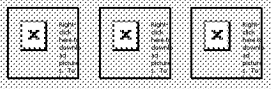
A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
"One of those Nights"
This week, it's the final live holiday broadcast at The Town Hall in New York city. Keb' Mo' illustrates his modern take on the blues, singing sisters from Brooklyn, and more. Plus the latest News from Lake Wobegon.



Bonus Click

People Are Naming Their Babies After Instagram Filters
Lux, Amaro, Valencia and Juno. Those are names of some of the filters you can use on Instagram to adjust how your picture looks. Those are also popular names for babies in 2015. It's not a coincidence.





Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, December 18, 2015 4:02 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Not Safe to Drink; Tiny Desk Contest

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | iPhone/Android App

December 18, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

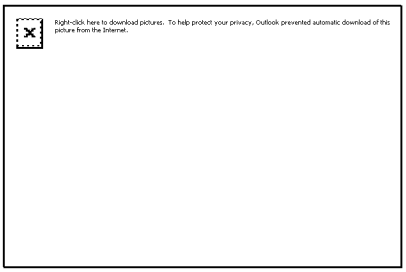
Not Safe to Drink

What would you do if your tap water turned brown? Or worse, if it made your kids really sick? If you missed our documentary about how the water in Flint became Not Safe to Drink, you can listen to it on Michigan Radio this Sunday at 6:00pm, or find it on our website, along with extra online content about the city's water crisis.

As part of our coverage, we gave one Flint family a disposable camera and asked them to take photos of the way the Flint water crisis affected their day-to-day life. You can hear from the family themselves in this video.

Note: The governor's office contacted Michigan Radio to take issue with a portion of reporting on this story. You can learn more about that in this Reporter's Notebook from Lindsey Smith.

Featured Event



Ira Glass
Sunday, January 24, 3:00pm
Miller Auditorium, Kalamazoo

The creator of This American Life talks about his program and how it's put together. Tickets and information.

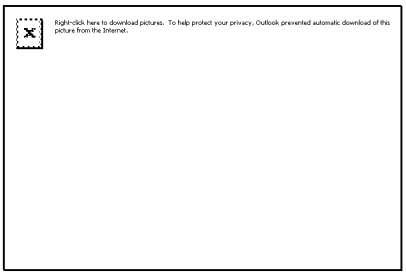
Stories you might have missed



Making a way out of no way
As part of our year-long Bringing Up Detroit series, we catch up with Christina Lumpkin and her family.

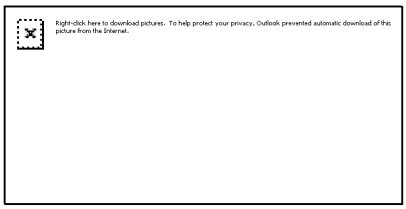
Group pushes alternatives to oil pipeline beneath the Mackinac Straits
An environmental group says oil pipelines running beneath the Mackinac Straits could be shut down without disrupting oil supplies.



NPR's 'Tiny Desk' Contest

NPR Music is bringing back their Tiny Desk contest, asking unknown bands and musicians all over the country to film themselves performing one song at a desk of their choice. Learn more.

Your year-end gift comes back to you

A year-end contribution is a great way to support Michigan Radio while taking advantage of tax savings. Your contribution will count for 2015 tax year credit if you contribute online before midnight on December 31, or send a check that is postmarked by December 31. To make your gift, click here.

This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

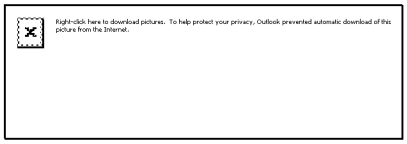
NASA scientists track air pollution from space

Will Gov. Rick Snyder hit the pause button on efforts to take in more Syrian refugees?

Backlash against Muslims takes a toll on imams

Commentary: Worse than Citizens United

Stateside Highlights

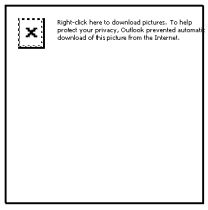


Can a Detroit start-up curb gun violence?
How do we keep guns out of the wrong hands? A Detroit based company may have an answer. More.

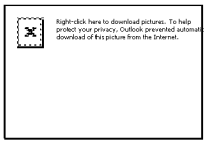
When did we start calling Michigan "the Mitten State?"
Today it's not so hard to see why we call Michigan the mitten state. But people weren't always good at making maps. More.

Listen to Stateside Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.

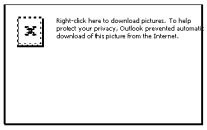
Weekend Highlights



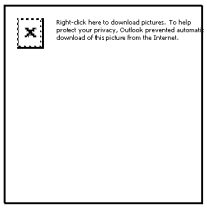
TED Radio Hour
Sat 6 am / Sun 8 pm
"The Hero's Journey"
TED speakers explore what's behind a hero's journey. From The Odyssey to Robinson Crusoe and Star Wars -- why are we drawn to stories about heroes? And what do they tell us about ourselves?



The Moth
Sat 12 pm & 8 pm
"Sing Sing, Ornaments, Car Accidents, and Curses"
In this special holiday edition of The Moth; a family tradition endures scandal, a daughter honor's her mother's last Christmas wish and more.



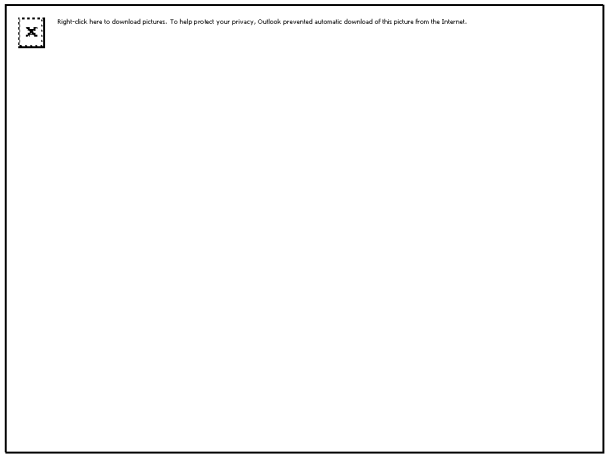
Snap Judgment
Sat 2 pm & 9 pm
"The Fall Guy"
Who are they going to turn to when the dust settles and someone has to take the blame?

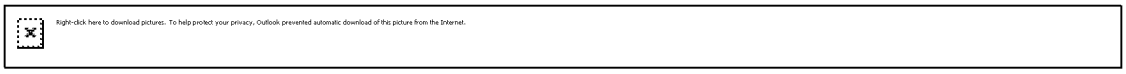


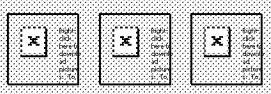
A Prairie Home Companion
Sat 6 pm / Sun 12 pm
"Merry and Bright"
This week, plenty of Holiday Festivities, including songs from Maria Jette and Lynn Peterson. And a showcase of the season's sounds with rare music boxes and pump organs.

Bonus Click

Ten 'Star Wars' Movie Mistakes
Unless you've been living in an ice cave on the planet Hoth, you're probably aware that "Star Wars: The Force Awakens" is now in theaters. Let's go back and view some of the mistakes from the original Star Wars movies you may have missed.







Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio ⁞ 535 W. William St. ⁞ Suite 110 ⁞ Ann Arbor ⁞ MI ⁞ 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, December 22, 2015 12:02 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: What the State knew about Flint's water / Our warm winter

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

December 22, 2015

This Week on The Environment Report

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

People in Flint protest the state and city's handling of the water crisis. Credit: Steve Carmody_Mich Radio

We now know that children in Flint developed elevated levels of lead in their blood after the city switched to the Flint River for its drinking water. It turns out the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services knew from their own data in July of this year that an increasing number of kids in Flint had elevated levels of lead in their blood. But the agency did not make this information public. In fact, until October, they denied there was any problem. We'll hear more about this on Tuesday's Environment Report.

And, on Thursday...El Nino has made this winter unusually warm. While a lot of us don't mind that, it's been terrible for the winter sports industry in Michigan. We'll hear what this means for tourism in our state.

Listen to The Environment Report on Michigan Radio, Tuesday and Thursday at 8:50 AM and 5:45 PM.

The Environment Report will be taking a break next week for the holidays. We'll be back on Tuesday, Jan. 5. We wish you a very Happy Holiday Season!

Environmental News from Around the World

Congress OKs Bill Banning Plastic Microbeads in Skin Care Products

NPR: Obama Insists Climate Deal Will Outlast GOP 'Climate Denial'

This Could Be 'One Of The Warmest Christmas Days Of Your Lifetime'

AP investigation: US power grid vulnerable to foreign hacks

Using pocket vetoes, Obama rebuffs GOP attempt to kill Clean Power Plan

---

STAY CONNECTED:

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, December 23, 2015 12:34 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Happy Holidays from Michigan Radio / Upcoming holiday specials

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

Mich Radio News | Program Schedule | Events Calendar | iPhone/Android App

December 23, 2015

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

We may not have a white Christmas, but we extend our best wishes for the holiday season and a wonderful 2016!

We hope you'll tune in for these special shows over the holidays

December 24, 3 pm & 10 pm
Mr. Knight's Neighborhood: A State of Opportunity Special
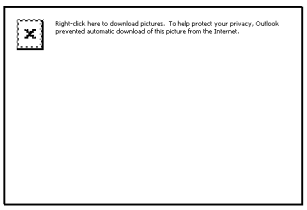
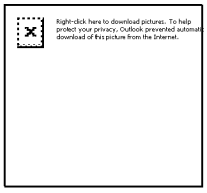
Jennifer Guerra brings the story of Cody High School's Coach Knight and the students he's trying to help stay on track.



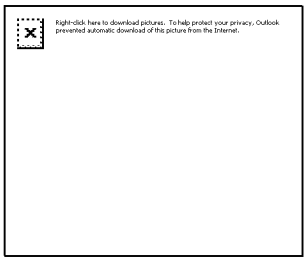
December 24, 8 pm
Tinsel Tales #3
Audie Cornish, Nina Totenberg and other voices from NPR's past and present tell stories of the season in this hour-long special...an NPR holiday tradition.

December 25, 9 am
BBC Newshour 2015 Quiz
It's the annual BBC World Service end-of-year quiz, testing two teams of Newshour presenters on their knowledge of the events and people making news during 2015.

December 25, 4 pm
All Things Considered
Tune in for "Santa for President," an original radio play bringing together the election and the holiday seasons, featuring the voices of Rachel Dratch and Mo Rocca.



January 1, 10 pm
Homemade Stories: The Struggle is Real
Detroit storyteller Shannon Cason takes us on a journey that finds hope in struggle.



State of Opportunity Changes

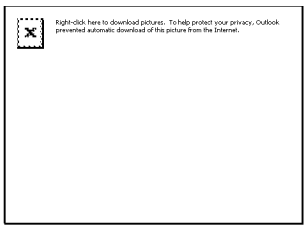
Today we bid a fond farewell to Brittany Bartkowiak, who has worked for Michigan Radio's State of Opportunity team as Outreach Producer. Besides being SOO's voice in the community, she has covered a wide range of stories including college affordability, foster care and juvenile justice reform. Brittany is leaving us to begin work at CARE House of Oakland County.

Your year-end gift comes back to you

A year-end contribution is a great way to support Michigan Radio while taking advantage of tax savings. Your contribution will count for 2015 tax year credit if you contribute online before midnight on December 31, or send a check that is postmarked by December 31. Make your gift here.

Stories you might have missed

Detroit: First year out of bankruptcy (a Detroit Journalism Cooperative documentary)
Lester Graham hosts this special report looking at the progress, struggles, and failures in Detroit during the city's first year out of bankruptcy. You can find it here.



Recommendations we think you'll love
As the year winds down, here's some recommended reading and listening for State of Opportunity fans.

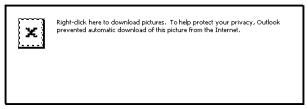
This Week's Top Michigan Radio Features

Virginia Tech researcher accuses state health officials of "hiding" data on Flint's water

1,762 people died from drug overdoses in Michigan in 2014 alone

Commentary: With Trump - we've seen this before

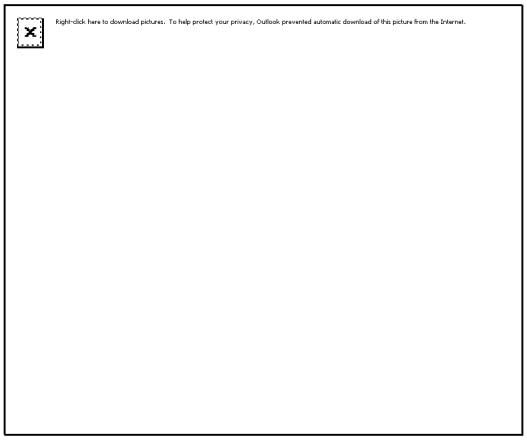
Stateside Highlights



Words of the Year with Anne Curzan
Some of the words in the running for 'Word of the Year' aren't even words. More

Michigan teacher: Before race or religion, come together on a human level
In an environment filled with increasing rhetoric aimed at followers of Islam, the Muslim community has been put on the defensive. More

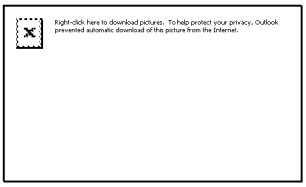
Listen to Stateside Monday through Thursday at 3 PM and 10 PM.



Bonus Click

The Science Behind Baking Your Ideal Chocolate Chip Cookie

It's holiday cookie baking time, and NPR's The Salt blog offers these no-fail tips for baking your perfect cookie.



Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Michigan Radio | 535 W. William St. | Suite 110 | Ann Arbor | MI | 48103

From: Kangas, Susan (DHHS)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 8:53 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor

We're on the phone together now, hammering it out. ☺

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 8, 2015 8:21 AM
To: Kangas, Susan (DHHS) <KangasS1@michigan.gov>
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor

Farah just called me – she's working on a response.

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 8:19 AM
To: Kangas, Susan (DHHS)
Subject: FW: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Susan – I sent this to Tim and Farah this morning, not sure if you're in the loop on this.

Nancy asked me to forward you this message in the hope that you can chase down answers from Tim / Farah. Legislative conversations are taking place.

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 7:18 AM
To: Becker, Timothy (DCH) (beckert1@michigan.gov)
Cc: Hanley, Farah (DTMB) (hanleyf@michigan.gov)
Subject: FW: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Tim – we are working on the FY 16 supplemental this morning.

Your help is needed in identifying:

1. For the $1 million for filters in restricted funds: the name of the line item and what you want to call the funds (just 'Total Other State Restricted Funds' or a specific state restricted fund).

2. For the app. $600,000 (please confirm the exact GF amount) for follow up for children with elevated blood levels, which line item? I assume it will be a different line.

3. A brief, short paragraph summarizing what DHHS will be doing / purchasing (for the supplemental letter).

4. Question – do you need any boilerplate language or not?

Please respond back ASAP this morning – thank you

From: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 6:17 PM
To: Wyant, Dan (DEQ); Khouri, Nick (TREASURY); Saxton, Thomas (Treasury); Lyon, Nick (DHHS); Becker, Timothy (DHHS); Pallone, Maggie (DEQ); Zimmer, Mike (LARA); Pohl, Allan (LARA); Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Cc: Roberts, John (DTMB); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB); Starr, Scott (DTMB); Fosdick, David (DTMB); Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Attached is a summary of the funding commitments to address the Flint Water situation. The total state commitment is $10.4m; $7.9m of that amount is GF/GP. [The DHHS number needs to be verified tomorrow morning, but the final number should be close to this estimate.]

The funding will address 4 priority areas:

1. Provision of filters for residential service;

2. 50% of the estimated cost to reconnect temporarily to the Detroit Water System;

3. Funding for testing water samples; and

4. Other state assistance (e.g., home/school/health facility inspections and follow-up for children with elevated blood levels).

We are preparing a formal supplemental request to transmit to the Legislature tomorrow. John intends to talk with Rep. Pscholka and Sen. Hildenbrand about including this funding in HB 4102, the pending supplemental bill now awaiting House concurrence. Assuming that they agree, we would ask for final action next week.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our planned approach.

Nancy

From: Michigan Radio <michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, November 17, 2015 12:05 PM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: EPA Rules on Lead Levels in Water

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

November 17, 2015

This Week on The Environment Report

The Flint water crisis will be part of a public meeting starting today in Virginia about federal rules on lead. The EPA is working to revise its rules on lead and copper in water, and those rules have gotten extra scrutiny because of Flint's drinking water problems. We'll hear about a water testing protocol that Michigan cities have been using that some critics say can hide lead problems. You can find the story here.

Listen to The Environment Report on Michigan Radio, Tuesday and Thursday at 8:50 AM and 5:45 PM.

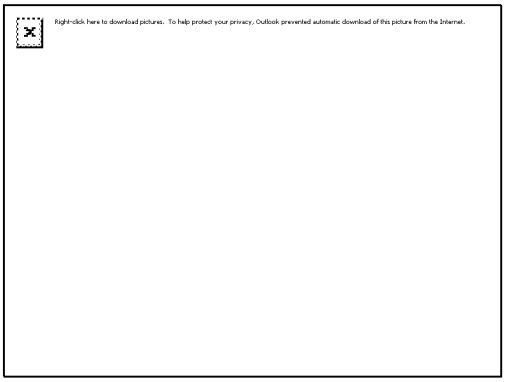


Photo: Steve Carmody_Mich Radio

Environmental News from Around the World

France To Go on With UN Climate Conference Despite Paris Terror Attacks

FDA Finalizes FSMA Produce Safety Rule, Food Import Rules

Brazil's Slow-Motion Environmental Catastrophe Unfolds

When Will a Massive Earthquake, Tsunami Hit the Pacific Northwest?

Manure From Millions of Hogs Fuels Natural Gas Project

Support The Environment Report

Forward this email

This email was sent to kimmithd@michigan.gov by michiganradiomarketing@gmail.com ¦
Update Profile/Email Address ¦ Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ ¦ About our service provider.

Michigan Radio ¦ 535 W. William St. ¦ Suite 110 ¦ Ann Arbor ¦ MI ¦ 48103

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 8:54 AM
To: Kangas, Susan (DHHS)
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor

Perfect. Hammer away.

From: Kangas, Susan (DHHS)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 8:53 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor

We're on the phone together now, hammering it out. ☺

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 8, 2015 8:21 AM
To: Kangas, Susan (DHHS) <KangasS1@michigan.gov>
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor

Farah just called me -- she's working on a response.

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 8:19 AM
To: Kangas, Susan (DHHS)
Subject: FW: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Susan -- I sent this to Tim and Farah this morning, not sure if you're in the loop on this.

Nancy asked me to forward you this message in the hope that you can chase down answers from Tim / Farah. Legislative conversations are taking place.

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 7:18 AM
To: Becker, Timothy (DCH) (beckert1@michigan.gov)
Cc: Hanley, Farah (DTMB) (hanleyf@michigan.gov)
Subject: FW: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Tim -- we are working on the FY 16 supplemental this morning.

Your help is needed in identifying:

1. For the $1 million for filters in restricted funds: the name of the line item and what you want to call the funds (just 'Total Other State Restricted Funds' or a specific state restricted fund).

2. For the app. $600,000 (please confirm the exact GF amount) for follow up for children with elevated blood levels, which line item? I assume it will be a different line.

3. A brief, short paragraph summarizing what DHHS will be doing / purchasing (for the supplemental letter).

4. Question – do you need any boilerplate language or not?

Please respond back ASAP this morning – thank you

From: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 6:17 PM
To: Wyant, Dan (DEQ); Khouri, Nick (TREASURY); Saxton, Thomas (Treasury); Lyon, Nick (DHHS); Becker, Timothy (DHHS); Pallone, Maggie (DEQ); Zimmer, Mike (LARA); Pohl, Allan (LARA); Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Cc: Roberts, John (DTMB); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB); Starr, Scott (DTMB); Fosdick, David (DTMB); Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Attached is a summary of the funding commitments to address the Flint Water situation. The total state commitment is $10.4m; $7.9m of that amount is GF/GP. [The DHHS number needs to be verified tomorrow morning, but the final number should be close to this estimate.]

The funding will address 4 priority areas:

1. Provision of filters for residential service;

2. 50% of the estimated cost to reconnect temporarily to the Detroit Water System;

3. Funding for testing water samples; and

4. Other state assistance (e.g., home/school/health facility inspections and follow-up for children with elevated blood levels).

We are preparing a formal supplemental request to transmit to the Legislature tomorrow. John intends to talk with Rep. Pscholka and Sen. Hildenbrand about including this funding in HB 4102, the pending supplemental bill now awaiting House concurrence. Assuming that they agree, we would ask for final action next week.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our planned approach.

Nancy

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 10:58 AM
To: Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor

Thank you Farah.

From: Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 9:49 AM
To: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Cc: Becker, Timothy (DHHS); Ray, Patricia (DHHS)
Subject: RE: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

See my answers in RED below

From: Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 7:18 AM
To: Becker, Timothy (DHHS)
Cc: Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Subject: FW: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Tim – we are working on the FY 16 supplemental this morning.

Your help is needed in identifying:

1. For the $1 million for filters in restricted funds: the name of the line item and what you want to call the funds (just 'Total Other State Restricted Funds' or a specific state restricted fund).

We think it should go in the Emergency Services Local Office Allocations line item and call the fund "total other state restricted funds". This will be the only source of state restricted in that line and we believe it should go in this line because that's where we've already received it, have set up coding, and that's where the work project is paid out of.

2. For the app. $600,000 (please confirm the exact GF amount) for follow up for children with elevated blood levels, which line item? I assume it will be a different line.

As I mentioned to Nancy, it should be $850,000 to contract out the Nurse Assessments and the Environmental Blood Level Investigators. We'd like this paid out of the Childhood Lead Program in the Family and Maternal Child Health Services.

3. A brief, short paragraph summarizing what DHHS will be doing / purchasing (for the supplemental letter).

(I've put in a lot here so you all can condense it down if you'd like)

These funds will be used to conduct visits by nurses and send trained certified Environmental Blood Level Investigators to families in Flint. Nurse visits will monitor child lead levels to determine changes in those levels and communicate with primary care providers if other tests are required due to blood levels. Nurses will also conduct developmental screenings and if necessary make referrals for developmental services in the community. Nurses will also conduct nutritional assessments and counseling. Funds will also be used to support Environmental Blood Level Investigators who will test the various surfaces in the home for lead, collect dust samples and submit to the lab and conduct detailed visual inspections. Investigators will also prepare detailed reports summarizing the results of the investigations and will coordinate those results with the nurses making visits to the home.

4. Question – do you need any boilerplate language or not?

We are good with NO boilerplate language and would likely use our existing contract with MPHI to coordinate these services. There's also a possibility we could contract with the local Genesee health department.

Please respond back ASAP this morning – thank you

From: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 6:17 PM
To: Wyant, Dan (DEQ); Khouri, Nick (TREASURY); Saxton, Thomas (Treasury); Lyon, Nick (DHHS); Becker, Timothy (DHHS); Pallone, Maggie (DEQ); Zimmer, Mike (LARA); Pohl, Allan (LARA); Hanley, Farah (DHHS)
Cc: Roberts, John (DTMB); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB); Starr, Scott (DTMB); Fosdick, David (DTMB); Kimmith, Dean (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Importance: High

Attached is a summary of the funding commitments to address the Flint Water situation. The total state commitment is $10.4m; $7.9m of that amount is GF/GP. [The DHHS number needs to be verified tomorrow morning, but the final number should be close to this estimate.]

The funding will address 4 priority areas:

1. Provision of filters for residential service;

2. 50% of the estimated cost to reconnect temporarily to the Detroit Water System;

3. Funding for testing water samples; and

4. Other state assistance (e.g., home/school/health facility inspections and follow-up for children with elevated blood levels).

We are preparing a formal supplemental request to transmit to the Legislature tomorrow. John intends to talk with Rep. Pscholka and Sen. Hildenbrand about including this funding in HB 4102, the pending supplemental bill now awaiting House concurrence. Assuming that they agree, we would ask for final action next week.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our planned approach.

Nancy

From: Public Sector Consultants Inc. <donna@www-pscinc.ccsend.com> on behalf of Public Sector Consultants Inc. <psc@pscinc.com>
Sent: Wednesday, December 09, 2015 3:05 PM
To: Kokx, Kris (DTMB)
Subject: Poll: Split over guns and prison reform, voters unite over water quality

PRESS RELEASE
December 9, 2015

For Immediate Release
Contact: Selma Tucker
Director of Marketing & Communications
(517) 484-4954, stucker@pscinc.com
Public Sector Consultants Inc.

Split over guns and prison reform, voters unite over water quality

LANSING, Mich. -- In the wake of the Flint water crisis, how concerned are voters about the safety of the water in their home? Enough to agree with each other, according to the latest Michigan's Pulse poll, a partnership of Public Sector Consultants and Michigan Radio.

From November 3 to November 5, 2015, Denno Research surveyed 600 likely voters on a range of topics, including water quality, concealed pistols, prison reform and autonomous vehicles. Beyond increased attention to urban water quality, these highly politicized topics yielded little agreement, with stark differences by political affiliation, race and age.

Water Safety

Ninety-one percent of respondents agree that the State of Michigan should examine the water systems in densely populated areas for signs of failing infrastructure. The vast majority (84 percent) also feel that water should be tested in Michigan's K-12 school buildings at least once a year.

About half of respondents (46 percent) are concerned about the safety of their water, but there are clear differences by subgroups:

- African-American voters (71 percent) are more concerned than white voters (40 percent).
- Democrats (52 percent) are more concerned than Republicans (36 percent).
- Wayne County respondents (61 percent) have higher concerns than those in other parts of the state, with 81 percent of voters in Detroit expressing concern about the safety of their water.

Concealed Pistols and Prison Reform

With the recent coverage of high-profile shootings on college and K-12 school campuses, allowing concealed pistols in these places has become a major topic for the upcoming presidential election. Under state law, those licensed to carry concealed pistols still cannot carry their weapons at schools; at day care centers, sports arenas or stadiums; at entertainment facilities that seat 2,500 or more; at bars, churches, hospitals, casinos and dormitories or classrooms of colleges or universities.

About half of voters (46 percent) support lifting the ban in some or all of these places, while (49 percent) oppose that.

- Of the Republicans polled, 65 percent support lifting the ban in some or all of these places, compared to Democrats, at 33 percent.

Less than half of respondents (40 percent) support lifting the ban in day care centers, K-12 schools and college dormitories and classrooms, with a little over half (55 percent) opposed.

- Almost half of all men polled (47 percent) and almost two-thirds of Republicans polled (62 percent) support lifting the ban; while women (34 percent), Democrats (27 percent) and Independents (34 percent) oppose doing so.

Slightly more than half of Michigan voters (53 percent) support presumptive parole, legislation recently passed by the Michigan House that automatically paroles low-risk felons after they serve their minimum sentence.

- African-Americans (74 percent) and Democrats (67 percent) are more supportive than whites (49 percent) and Republicans (40 percent).

Finally, we asked voters if they think offenders who were convicted of violent crimes under the age of 18 should be eligible for parole. The jury is clearly still out on this issue, with opinion split between yes (41 percent) and no (39 percent), with nearly a quarter (20 percent) saying they don't know or are unsure.

Robot Cars

Autonomous vehicles are currently being developed in Michigan, and some (like the Google Self-Driving Car) are already being road tested in other states. We wondered if people were comfortable with the idea of robots driving cars on Michigan's roads, and more to the point, if people thought they would make our roads safer.

- A solid majority (68 percent) are not comfortable with the idea of having driverless cars on Michigan's roads, with half (51 percent) saying they were very uncomfortable.
- A little more than half of voters (56 percent) feel that driverless cars would be more dangerous than the humans currently driving on Michigan's roads.

Despite this opposition, voters accept that this will be how people get around in the near future. Most respondents (57 percent) think that driverless cars will be common in Michigan sometime in the next five to 20 years. That buys humanity at least a few years to figure out how to prevent the cyborg invasion that is sure to follow.

Legislative Reform

In a previous PSC poll after the failure of Proposal 1, road funding was identified as a critical priority, with voters saying the legislature should work over the summer to resolve the issue. While the poll did not specifically address the merits of the $1.2 billion package recently signed by Gov.

Rick Snyder, voters clearly do not approve of the way this issue was handled, with the vast majority rating the legislature as bad (21 percent) or terrible (58 percent).

We followed this question with a couple of options on how to improve the effectiveness of the Michigan Legislature. All of the ideas appear to have similar appeal, which seems to indicate that voters are ready for a change -- even if they don't know exactly what the change should look like:

- Stricter campaign finance and/or ethics laws (25 percent)
- Switch to a part-time legislature (21 percent)
- Do nothing because legislators can always be voted out of office if they are doing a poor job (21 percent)
- Change the length of term limits by allowing members to serve up to 12 years in either chamber (18 percent)
- Don't know/unsure (15 percent)

Goodbye Halloween

On the heels of the Halloween season, we wondered what had scared voters the most so far in 2015. While a quarter (25 percent) were not willing to express their fears out loud, those that did were scared most by the presidential debates (42 percent), followed by the Detroit Lions (22 percent).

About the Survey

Michigan Radio, an NPR News Station and the state's most listened-to public radio service, and Public Sector Consultants (PSC), the state's premier nonpartisan think tank, are partnering on a yearlong initiative studying Michiganders' attitudes toward policy issues affecting their lives in a series called Michigan's Pulse. Michigan's Pulse will release quarterly in weeklong segments on Michigan Radio's Stateside with Cynthia Canty with in-depth analysis by PSC researchers and other thought leaders.

The Michigan Radio/PSC survey of the Michigan electorate was conducted by Lansing-based Denno Research. Six-hundred respondents, 450 by landline and 150 by cell phone, in the state of Michigan were surveyed from November 3 to 5, 2015, with a margin of error of plus/minus 4 percent. A screen was employed to include only those participants who said they would vote, either at the polls or by absentee ballot, in the November 2016 general election.

Full survey results are available here.

Public Sector Consultants is Michigan's most respected, connected, and dedicated research and program management firm, with specialties in governance and regulation, health care, education, energy, and environmental policy. PSC is committed to providing objective research and sound solutions to the public and private sector.

Michigan Radio is an NPR News Station, and the state's most listened-to public radio service, attracting more than 500,000 listeners each week across Michigan. Licensed to the University of Michigan, Michigan Radio broadcasts at 91.7 FM in southeastern Michigan, 91.1 FM in Flint, and 104.1 in western Michigan, and is available online at michiganradio.org.

###

Forward this email

This email was sent to kokxk@michigan.gov by psc@pscinc.com ¦
Update Profile/Email Address ¦ Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ ¦ About our service provider.

Public Sector Consultants Inc. ¦ 230 N. Washington Square ¦ Suite 300 ¦ Lansing ¦ MI ¦ 48933

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 9:27 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 1/4 Newsroom

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, January 4, 2016
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

DEQ changes/Flint water

Flint water prompts state changes: DNR Director Keith Creagh appointed as interim DEQ director (Mlive)
Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh will serve as interim director of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality after that director's resignation over the Flint water crisis.

DNR chief to lead DEQ on interim basis (AP)
The head of Michigan's Department of Natural Resources will temporarily become the state's top environmental regulator. Gov. Rick Snyder says Keith Creagh will lead the Department of Environmental Quality on an interim basis. DEQ chief Dan Wyant quit Tuesday after a report on Flint's water crisis put the blame on the agency.

Governor names Interim Director for DEQ (ABC 10 UP)
Governor Rick Snyder announced earlier today that a Michigan Tech alum who works for the state will hold the position of Interim director for the Department of Environmental Quality. Snyder announced Michigan Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh will serve in the position effective January 4th.

Shakeup roils DEQ in wake of Flint water crisis (Detroit News)
Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh became the interim head of the DEQ on Wednesday after Gov. Rick Snyder accepted Tuesday the resignation of agency director Dan Wyant — just over five years after he was named to the post. Creagh's former deputy, Bill Moritz, is taking the reins at the DNR.

Snyder names DNR chief Keith Creagh to head DEQ (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder named state Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh as the interim head of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality on Wednesday, one day after he accepted the resignation of Dan Wyant as part of the fallout from the Flint drinking water crisis.

DEQ spokesman also resigns over Flint water crisis, says city 'didn't feel like we cared' (Mlive)
Michigan Department of Environmental Quality spokesperson Brad Wurfel has joined director Dan Wyant in resigning

after a task force cited department failures in addressing the Flint water crisis. Wurfel in an email to contacts on Tuesday night said he had been honored to serve under Wyant and was joining his boss in resigning.

Flint water report prompts apologies, resignations (Detroit News)
Michigan's top environmental official resigned Tuesday after an independent task force delivered its initial findings on the Flint water contamination crisis — conclusions that also prompted an apology from Gov. Rick Snyder.

Michigan Environment Chief Resigns Over Flint Water Crisis (Bloomberg BNA)
Dan Wyant resigned as director of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality after a governor-appointed task force looking into the crisis stemming from lead in the City of Flint water system laid most of the blame with the department, Gov. Rick Snyder (R) said Dec. 29.

Flint leaders applaud DEQ director's resignation, governor's apology (Mlive)
Mayor Karen Weaver and other local leaders say the resignation of Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant and release of Flint Water Task Force findings Tuesday are the first steps toward holding people accountable for Flint's water crisis.

George Weeks: Snyder and the Flint water crisis (Traverse City Record Eagle)
As he enters his final year in office, two-term Gov. Rick Snyder has enjoyed a fairly successful tenure, including the economic bailout of Detroit and some other economic initiatives. But his administration ended 2015 mired in a horrendous mess involving the Flint water contamination crisis.

MDEQ Director Wyant resigns over Flint water crisis, Snyder apologizes (Michigan Radio)
The head of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) has resigned over the drinking water crisis in Flint. Gov. Rick Snyder has also now apologized to the community of Flint for his administration's involvement in the situation.

State Rep. Sheldon Neeley calls out, on governor for help over Flint water (Mlive)
The service included guest speaker Sheldon Neeley, the 34th District state House Representative from Flint, who took a hard stance against Gov. Rick Snyder and what he felt was the emergency manager's role over the water issue in Flint.

Economy
5 trends to watch in Michigan's economy (Freep)
If the prognosticators are right, Michigan's still recovering economy is poised for another round of substantial growth by riding an expected banner year for auto sales.

Interviews
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, legislative leaders name biggest disappointments of 2015 (Mlive)
The Flint drinking water crisis was the biggest disappointment of 2015, according to Gov. Rick Snyder and Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich, who have very different perspectives on the situation.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, legislative leaders describe top priorities for 2016 (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder went 1 for 4 on his top fall priorities in the Michigan Legislature this year, and the three unfinished items now top his agenda for 2016. Snyder is hoping lawmakers will act by March on his plan to relieve Detroit Public Schools from crushing debt by splitting the district in two, a move that could cost the state $715 million over 10 years.

Chief's next gig
Snyder's retiring chief of staff to take position at Honigman (Crain's Detroit Business)
Dennis Muchmore will join Detroit-based law firm Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn LLP next month after retiring as Gov. Rick Snyder's chief of staff. Muchmore, 69, will become chairman of the firm's government relations and regulatory practice group as of Feb. 1, said David Foltyn, Honigman's chairman and CEO. The role will require leading a team of attorneys who specialize in such business policy areas as health care, gaming and hospitality.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ

Advocates say Dan Wyant's resignation from MDEQ isn't enough (Metro Times)
Dan Wyant, director of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality, submitted a resignation letter Tuesday following months of controversy surrounding Flint's poisonous water.

Four takeaways from the Flint Water Advisory Task Force preliminary report (MLive)
The Flint Water Advisory Task Force turned in a preliminary report on Flint's water crisis, saying the responsibility ultimately falls to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

MDEQ spokesperson Brad Wurfel resigns too (Metro Times)
Brad Wurfel, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality spokesperson, tendered his resignation Tuesday following news that DEQ director Dan Wyant was resigning.

Michigan to continue working on federal carbon plan despite resignation of DEQ director (Crain's)
Michigan's energy administrators say work on a plan to comply with new federal carbon rules is expected to continue following the resignation of Dan Wyant, the state's top environmental regulator who was helping to lead the project.

DHHS

Rates of lead in Holland's children lower than Muskegon, Grand Rapids (Holland Sentinel)
According to the most recent data available from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, the percent of children under the age of 6…

Fish Story: How safe is your catch (MSU Extension)
There is nothing better than going fishing and serving that catch later for dinner. But is the catch of the day safe?

DNR

Deer killed in Clinton County may have Chronic Wasting Disease (FOX 47)
he Michigan Department of Natural Resources says a deer killed by a bow hunter earlier this month may have Chronic Wasting Disease.

24 recruits to attend conservation officers training academy (Huron Daily Tribune)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says 24 recruits are scheduled to attend its conservation officer training academy.

Pure Michigan hunt drawing (WBKB)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wants to remind hunters that time is running out to apply for a chance to win over $4,000.00 worth of hunting gear and hunting licenses for elk and bear.

Crawford County and DNR near an agreement to improve public safety (Crawford County Avalanche)
A multi-year effort to get road and address signs erected to direct emergency responders to residential areas surrounded by land owned by the State of Michigan is gaining momentum and should be finalized soon

DTMB

Livingston County's jobless rate improves from October to November (WHMI)
After holding mostly steady, Livingston County's jobless rate improved in November. Seasonally unadjusted jobless rates in November declined slightly over the month in most major labor market areas.

Upper Peninsula Jobless rate raises (Daily News)

Unemployment rose in Dickinson and 10 other Upper Peninsula counties in November due to normal job fluctuations and seasonal job cuts, according to the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget in Lansing.

MDE

Bay City Academy board submits $1.3 million debt plan, despite not approving it (MLive)
Dealing with a $1.3 million budget deficit, the Bay City Academy Board of Education has submitted its debt-elimination plan to the state, despite not approving it.

State test results to be released as education officials mull new legislation (Daily Tribune)
As children return to classes after a long holiday break, officials in many area school districts will be receiving results of a new state standardized test that Michigan students took for the first time last spring.

MEDC

Marketplace will serve as a gem to the downtown area (ABC 10)
The former Northern Motors parking lot located on 15th and Ludington will soon become the Escanaba Marketplace. The lot is just under an acre and will harbor a large pavilion. The pavilion will be used to host several events including the Farmers Market.

Pure Michigan beer: Metro Detroit micro-maltery opens (Detroit Free Press)
The malted barley at the heart of your favorite locally-brewed craft beer probably didn't come from Michigan.

MPSC

Renewable energy surcharge disappearing from utility customer bills (Michigan Radio)
A surcharge paid by Michigan utility customers for electricity generated by wind and solar energy is disappearing.

Lawmakers end oversight of cable TV companies (Times Herald)
"I was just reading in the Free Press that the Michigan Public Service Commission has to drop oversight of the cable TV industry. Our legislators decided not to fund that little part of it. The consumer, again, takes it in the ear. I figure our legislators were getting big money toward their campaigns so they let it fall. So we're going to be at the mercy of the cable companies. Our legislators have let everything go to hell in a hand basket."

MSHDA

Village primes for senior housing (Grand Blanc View)
Area seniors, such as resident Emery Bennett, may soon see the fulfillment of his wish of affordable senior housing, within the village boundaries. Land purchased from the United Methodist Church seven years ago will host the apartments.

MSP

New phone rules will help first responders pinpoint emergency location (Oakland Press)
New rules set to go into effect next year will help first responders pinpoint the location of an emergency inside of large buildings.

7% of Michigan adults have a concealed pistol license, and other CPL facts (MLive)
Fifteen years after Michigan changed its law to make it easier to get a license to carry a concealed weapon, there were 497,016 active licenses on file as of Dec. 1, according to data compiled by the Michigan State Police.

Look up the number of concealed pistol licenses in your Michigan county (MLive)
Among Michigan's 10 million residents, almost a half-million had a concealed pistol license as of Dec. 1, according to data collected by the Michigan State Police.

SUPREME COURT

Opinion for openness (City Pulse)

The Michigan Supreme Court, usually so protective of business, hostile to unions and deferential to powerful interests, actually ruled in favor of openness and transparency last week by ordering Michigan State University to release the names of football and basketball athletes identified in crime-related incident reports.

LEGISLATIVE

House speaker rejects city school reforms as priority (Detroit News)
Kevin Cotter has four chief priorities as he prepares to lead a temporarily smaller but more unified Republican caucus into his second and final year as House speaker, and an overhaul and bailout of Detroit's financially and academically failed school district is not among them.

Snyder being pressed to veto bill that would restrict information about local ballot issues (AP)
Lawmakers' unexpected vote to block school districts and municipalities from informing the public about local ballot measures within two months of an election has left opponents pressuring Gov. Rick Snyder to veto the bill, which they say would keep voters in the dark about taxes and other issues.

Sign or veto? Five years in, Snyder faces another test (Freep)
Republican Gov. Rick Snyder completed his fifth year in office on Friday, and he marked the anniversary grappling with yet another contentious bill that awaits his signature and will help shape his legacy.

Michigan's oversight of cable TV firms shuts off in '16 (Freep)
Even more than the IRS and Ohio State, Michiganders love to hate their cable TV providers. "Honestly, I haven't heard anybody say they like their cable company," said Linda Krieger, 71, of Oak Park.

DETROIT

Detroit urban farming prompts career hopes (Freep)
For people working the Hantz Woodlands project on Detroit's east side, it came as a simple request.
"A lot of kids would stop by and say, 'Can I drive your equipment?'" said Mike Score, president of Hantz Farms.

In Detroit school reform debate, focus on accountability (Freep)
Nothing has been the focus of more effort by more people in recent years than the repeated attempts to reform the Detroit Public School System.

Rate-setting for region tops to-do list for Great Lakes Water Authority in 2016 (Macomb Daily)
Setting water and sewerage service rates in the suburbs will be only one item on the Great Lakes Water Authority's agenda as the entity officially takes over Detroit Water and Sewerage Departmentoperations Jan. 1.

Debt payments set to balloon for Detroit Public Schools (Detroit News)
The debt payments of Detroit Public Schools — already the highest of any school district in Michigan — are set to balloon in February to an amount nearly equal to the school district's payroll and benefits as the city school system teeters on the edge of insolvency.

Wayne Co. judge wants to trademark 'Detroit RiverWalk' (Freep)
A judge has applied to trademark the name "Detroit RiverWalk" in hopes of profiting from the sales of merchandise promoting the popular city attraction.

Dennis Handley, Detroit marathon relay director, dies (Freep)
Dennis Handley of Ferndale, a veteran runner and volunteer for running events, died Thursday night on Belle Isle while picking up the last sign that marked the course of the 46th-annual New Year's Eve Family Fun Run.

At Detroit school, it's cool to be green (Freep)

An ocean-themed explosion of color fills a tall atrium, where long tendrils of blue plastic create a flowing waterfall for rainbow-colored fish dangling from the glass ceiling.

OPINION

Milliken: Seek alternatives to Straits pipeline quickly (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan is called the Great Lakes State for a reason. The Great Lakes surround us, they nourish us, and they define us as Michiganders. We therefore have special responsibilities as stewards of these lakes.

Editorial: Snyder should veto campaign finance bill (Detroit News)
We get it. Republican lawmakers want to limit future tax hikes and ease the burden on taxpayers. That's not a bad goal. But an amendment that got added at the last minute to a fairly innocuous campaign finance bill went too far in tying the hands of school districts and local government that want to raise money for various projects.

Jacques: LGBT proposal likely to flop (Detroit News)
Michigan's best chance of adding protections against discrimination for gays and lesbians got shot down a year ago.

Editorial: EPA needs oversight (Detroit News)
Anyone who keeps up with the Environmental Protection Agency's Twitter account won't be surprised to know the agency has been accused of violating several laws by lobbying and organizing grassroots support for proposed environmental regulations.

Susan J. Demas: The Flint water crisis will cause pain for decades to come (Detroit News)
The Flint water crisis is one of those stories that seems too terrible to be true.

Editorial: Plastics ban good move but problem not yet in the bag (TC Record Eagle)
There is no magic pill for our country's growing problem with plastic pollution, but a bill signed into law by the President Barack Obama this week will help keep some microscopic bits out of the Great Lakes.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, July 13, 2015 9:48 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 7/13 Newsroom
Attachments: 150713 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, July 13, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Bill signings
Snyder signs bill ending incentives for film industry (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder signed legislation Friday that ends Michigan's film incentive program to grow the state's movie industry, but keeps the Michigan Film Office in tact -- at least for now. House Bill 4122, now Public Act 117 of 2015, means an incentive program that helped attract major Hollywood stars and top directors to Michigan to make movies such as "Batman v. Superman: Dawn of Justice," "Red Dawn" and the "Transformers" franchise, will soon fade to black.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill to kill film incentives (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder's signature today made it official: Michigan film incentives will fade to black. A bill sponsored by Rep. Dan Lauwers, R-Brockway Twp., and signed by Snyder puts a stop to state film incentives, which have existed since 2008 and helped Michigan attract major films like "Batman vs Superman" and "Oz The Great and Powerful."

Snyder signs bill ending movie cash incentives (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed a bill to eliminate state incentives for film and television productions in Michigan, ending a program that went from bang to bust in seven years. While the state will stop granting subsidies to movie projects at the end of next year, Snyder said, it's important to keep the Michigan Film Office to assist producers who still want to shoot movies in Michigan locations.

Snyder signs bill ending incentives for film industry (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder signed legislation Friday that ends Michigan's film incentive program to grow the state's movie industry, but keeps the Michigan Film Office in tact -- at least for now. House Bill 4122, now Public Act 117 of 2015, means an incentive program that helped attract major Hollywood stars and top directors to Michigan to make movies such as "Batman v. Superman: Dawn of Justice," "Red Dawn" and the "Transformers" franchise, will soon fade to black.

Snyder signs law to end cash incentives for movie production (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Friday signed a law to end incentives that encourage the production of movies and TV shows in Michigan, closing the curtain on a recession-era program that his predecessor had touted for providing an immediate economic boost.

Governor Snyder axes state film incentive program (WHTC)
Michigan's controversial film incentives program will be no more. Governor Snyder signed legislation that phases out this remnant from his predecessor Jennifer Granholm's administration once current incentive deals have expired.

No more film tax credits for Michigan (WLNS)
The controversial tax credits that helped lure Hollywood heavyweights to Michigan are no more. Governor Rick Snyder signed a bill to end the cash rebates given to film companies that produce work in Michigan.

Governor Snyder signs law ending Michigan film incentives (WWMT)
On Friday Governor Rick Snyder signed a law ending Michigan's film incentives. The Michigan Film Office will continue to operate, but it will not be able to offer new cash rebates to filmmakers.

Snyder signs bill removing MI film incentives (MI News 26)
Gov. Rick Snyder, on Friday, signed a bill that will remove all state film incentives. According to reports, The Michigan Film Office will continue operating but will no longer offer cash rebates for companies that produce movies in Michigan.

That's a Wrap! Film Subsidies Terminated (Michigan Capitol Confidential)
On Friday, Gov. Rick Snyder signed House Bill 4122, legislation that phases out Michigan's film subsidy program. The measure, which is now officially Public Act 117 of 2015, prohibits the state film office and the relevant agencies from entering into any new film subsidy agreements or adding to existing ones. Money left over after the last subsidy deal is satisfied will revert to the state's General Fund.

Shepler's Ferry Christening
Gov. Rick Snyder christens Shepler's 'Miss Margy' ferry (Mlive)
We're getting closer to Miss Margy's maiden voyage to Mackinac Island! On Sunday, July 12, Gov. Rick Snyder christened the "Miss Margy," an all-aluminum 85-foot ferry manufactured for Shepler's Ferry by Moran Iron Works in Onaway.

New ferry in Mackinac Island fleet christened by governor (AP)
The newest ferry in a Mackinac Island fleet has been christened by Gov. Rick Snyder and Shepler's Ferry CEO Bill Shepler. The new $3.8 million, 85-foot ship named "Miss Margy" was built at Moran Iron Works in Onaway. It's undergoing final preparations in Mackinaw City before its maiden voyage to Mackinac Island later this summer. The ceremony was held Sunday in Mackinaw City.

Made in Michigan ferry christened in Mackinaw City (Marine Log)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder yesterday christened the newest addition to the Shepler's Mackinac Island Ferry fleet, the $3.8 million, 85-foot Miss Margy. It is the first ferry to be built in northern Michigan in recent memory. In the past, a number of ferries were built at now-defunct shipyards in the state.

New Mackinac Island Ferry Christened (9&10 News)
A collaboration between two northern Michigan businesses made for a historic celebration in Mackinaw City today. The new Mackinac Island ferry called "Miss Margy" has been docked in Mackinaw City since May, but a christening ceremony took place at Shepler's Dock in Mackinaw City today.

Mackinac fleet adds a new Margy (Detroit News)
There's a new Miss Margy in Mackinaw City. The $3.8-million, 85-foot boat, which reprises an honored family name, is joining the fleet of five passenger ferries at Shepler's Mackinac Island Ferry Co. It's the first ferry built in northern Michigan, and will be christened Sunday by Gov. Rick Snyder and Bill Shepler, the son of William Shepler, founder of the family-owned ferry line that carries tourists from Mackinaw City and St. Ignace to Mackinac Island.

Miss Margy gets christened in Mackinaw City (TV 7&4 News)
A christening was held Sunday afternoon for Miss Margy, the newest addition to Shepler's Mackinac Island Ferry Fleet. Hundreds of people arrived in Mackinaw City to get an early look at the nearly completed ship.

APPOINTMENTS

Saginaw woman one of two appointments to SVSU Board of Control (Mlive)
A Saginaw woman and an Oakland County man have been appointed by Gov. Rick Snyder to fill two vacancies on the Saginaw Valley State University Board of Control. The eight-person board is the governing body of the university.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Four takeaways from Attorney General Bill Schuette's visit to Muskegon (MLive)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette made the rounds in Muskegon on Thursday, July 9.

Corrections
Michigan denies request to film Kid Rock video in prison (WEYI)
The Michigan Department of Corrections has denied a production company's request to film a Kid Rock music video inside an Ypsilanti women's prison.

MDOC, producers in talks for Kid Rock music video in Standish (Arenac County Independent)
A recent request by Boulevard Industries to shoot a Kid Rock music video in the Women's Huron Valley Correctional Facility in Ypsilanti was turned down by the Michigan Department of Corrections, which recommended Standish Max as an alternative.

DEQ
Water Safety: Parasites in Michigan's Lakes and Rivers (WILX)
Michigan has never had a case of Primary Amebic Meningoencephalitis, the infection caused by an amoeba that almost always results in death. Briggs says if you are in the south or other, warmer lakes, remember that the amoeba can only infect humans through the nose.

DMVA (VAA)
Survey highlights needs of state's female veterans (Crain's Detroit Business)
In Michigan's quest to provide better services to veterans, state officials are gathering some new findings that could illuminate the needs of woman vets.

Companies share strategies on putting vets on their duty rosters (Crain's Detroit Business)
Michelle Salvatore, vice president of recruiting at Quicken Loans Inc., knew something had to change when she was baffled by a veteran's resume. "I couldn't figure out from his resume where in this company he could belong," she said, "because I just didn't understand the lingo."

DNR
Indoor center promoting Michigan's outdoors opens soon (Freep)
A touch of "up north" has arrived in downtown Detroit with the completion of the Michigan Department of Natural Resource's Outdoor Adventure Center along the city's east riverfront. The three-story, 41,000-square-foot indoor facility opens July 20 and features hands-on, interactive exhibits including a 40-foot-tall, man-made tree.

Three peregrine falcons banded 200 feet above Lake Superior (WPBN)
Members of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the National Park Service have banded peregrine falcon chicks 200 feet above Lake Superior on a rock cliff on Passage Island.

Limited off-road vehicle use allowed at Bewabic State Park (WWTV)

Off-road vehicle users now have permission to ride onto the grounds of Bewabic State Park in the Upper Peninsula's Iron County. Michigan Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh says ORV use will be allowed only for loading and unloading the vehicles or for riding them from designated parking areas and campsites to trail networks.

Willard Beach reopens in Battle Creek (WWMT)

Willard Beach is back open in Battle Creek after its successful relocation. Located at Willard Beach Park, it's the city's access to Goguac Lake.

DNR announces Aquatic Habitat Grant Program (WMNN)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), on Thursday, announced its next round of funding for the Aquatic Habitat Grant Program. The Aquatic Habitat Grant Program's focus is to fun projects that protect intact aquatic habitats and rehabilitate habitats that have been degraded.

DNR grants limited ORV use at Bewabic State Park (Iron Mountain Daily News)

Michigan Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh has issued an order approving off-road vehicle use at Bewabic State Park in Iron County, the fifth Michigan state park where ORV use has been approved since 2009.

Someone has been illegally dumping trash in the ravine (WBUP)

For some, it's a place of scenic beauty, a pristine recreational spot and a home to local wildlife. For others, it's good place to throw out their trash. In the area of the Hungarian Falls someone has dumped a fair amount of old junk.

MDE

Education department to make website more accessible (Freep)

The Michigan Department of Education has a mountainous task ahead of it to comply with a federal directive and make its website accessible to people with disabilities.

MDOT

Meetings planned on possible new passenger rail service (AP)

More public meetings are planned on proposed new passenger rail service that could connect Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids and Holland. The second of three rounds of public meetings starts Monday on the exploratory study. The public can share input as well as to hear preliminary findings.

Marysville wins $236,000 grant to extend, mark bike trails (The Voice)

The 54-mile Bridge-to-Bay Trail – the non-motorized route extending from Lakeport State Park on Lake Huron down the east coast of St. Clair County and all the way to the north tip of Lake St. Clair in New Baltimore in Macomb County – is about to get a little closer to completion.

MSHDA

St. Johns housing project receives MSHDA tax credits (LSJ)

A proposed housing project that would be the tallest building in the St. Johns central business district cleared a major hurdle recently.

City ponders housing tax break (Traverse City Record Eagle)

City commissioners will consider a request to waive thousands of dollars in property taxes for a downtown affordable housing project.

City Gets Grant for Redevelopment (WBKB)

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority is helping the city of Alpena say goodbye to the old Alpena Power Building in the heart of the downtown area.

$1.4 M given for low-income housing in Muskegon Heights, Spring Lake (MLive)

State officials announced late Friday that new housing projects in Muskegon Heights and Spring Lake would be given nearly $1.4 million in tax credits from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

MSP

Child's body found in lake where autistic boy disappeared (MLive)
Rescue crews have found a child's body in the water in Lake Callis in Davison Township. The call went out at 12:33 p.m. Friday, July 10, according to the Genesee County 911 website.

Intersection still tops 'most dangerous' lists (C&G)
Data collected from the Michigan State Police Traffic Crash Reporting Unit placed the intersection of Groesbeck Highway and Cass Avenue at the top of Macomb County's most dangerous lists.

U.S. marshal cleared in Lansing shooting (LSJ)
A U.S. marshal who shot an unarmed parole absconder holding a cell phone acted lawfully and in self-defense because there was a "well-grounded" belief his life was in danger, Ingham County Prosecutor Stuart Dunnings III has decided.

Saginaw man who shot and injured MSP trooper to serve 30 years in prison (MLive)
A Saginaw man will spend 30 years in prison for shooting a Michigan State Police trooper in 2013. The trooper suffered minor injuries.

Man accused of hiring women to smuggle drugs to Michigan (MLive)
A man is facing federal charges, accused of hiring women to smuggle heroin in their vaginas from Chicago to Battle Creek, court documents show.

Michigan State Troopers issue more than 300 tickets in eight-hour shift (WXYZ)
Michigan State Police troopers made 300 different traffic stops Thursday on I-275 in Livonia.
According to MSP, troopers assigned to the Motor Unit of the Special Enforcement Section conducted traffic enforcement after many complaints of high speed and aggressive driving in the area.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Activists calling for Michigan water reform wrap up 70 mile trek (Michigan Radio)
A group of activists protesting water shutoffs in Detroit and water quality issues in Flint wrapped up a 70 mile walking journey between the two cities this week. Members and supporters of the Detroit People's Water Board Coalition are calling on Michigan lawmakers to end shutoffs and implement an income-based water affordability plan.

Michigan lawmakers in familiar spot on roads; dueling plans differ on tax hikes, fund shifts (AP)
Lawmakers looking to spend at least $1.2 billion more a year to improve Michigan roads find themselves in a familiar spot — with competing plans. The good news is the House and Senate are a little closer together on a road-funding solution than when they compromised on what proved to be a doomed ballot proposal. The bad news is legislators still have major differences.

Universities say funding system broke, lawmakers disagree (Freep)
It's a simple fact — $12 million is much bigger than $1.2 million. That's why Oakland University President George Hynd and the Board of Trustees didn't have to really think about the rationale for increasing tuition by 8.48% last week and exceeding a state tuition cap. The Rochester school declined $1.2 million from the state in incentive money in exchange for getting $12 million in tuition revenue.

Michigan Political Points: Road repair needs trump 'no tax' mantra in several GOP states (MLive)
Michigan isn't the only Republican-led state considering a fuel tax increase to fix crumbling roads. Welcome to Michigan Political Points, my weekly roundup of news, views and YouTubes from the state Capitol and beyond.

Turf war: Community colleges want to offer more 4-year degrees (Bridge)
Lawmakers in Michigan have renewed an effort to allow community colleges to award bachelor's degrees in nursing — a move that could change the way nursing education is delivered in the state as industry preferences evolve to favor nurses with more advanced training. The state's 28 community colleges support the idea as a natural extension of their mission.

Another booming year sparks more calls for repeal of Michigan fireworks law (MLive)
Booming fireworks are a headache for Jan Hollinrake, but they're a "nightmare" for her 10-year old golden retriever, who spent her Fourth of July weekend in a panic despite taking sedatives.

DETROIT

Indoor center promoting Michigan's outdoors to open (AP)
A touch of "up north" has arrived in downtown Detroit with the completion of the Michigan Department of Natural Resource's Outdoor Adventure Center along the city's east riverfront. The three-story, 41,000-square-foot indoor facility opens July 20 and features hands-on, interactive exhibits including a 40-foot-tall, man-made tree.

Detroit neighborhood real estate finally going up (Freep)
Home values in Detroit neighborhoods are finally experiencing some upward momentum after years of rock-bottom prices. Still among the cheapest places in the nation to buy a house, Detroit neighborhoods are seeing prices inch up on most residential blocks with substantial gains in the strongest areas.

Summer at school? Cranbrook hosts Detroit teens (Freep)
Stephanie Hernandez usually spends her summers watching TV at home. This year, she's learning to speak French and studying biology. Stephanie, 14, who will attend Cass Tech High School in the fall, is one of 175 Detroit students participating in Horizons-Upward Bound at Cranbrook Schools in Bloomfield Hills. The year-round, federally funded program provides an academic boost for teens who come from low-income families or have parents who never went to college.

The mayor, a Muslim leader and a neighborhood's rebirth (Freep)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan and his talent and development teams have reached out to help a community partnership that is building a new neighborhood with funding from an Ann Arbor radiologist who wants to redefine how people see Muslims. City officials plan to meet this month with the neighborhood project's manager, Mark Crain, and with Waseem Ullah, a Pakistani Muslim who is raising money to restore the neighborhood near the Muslim Center at the intersection of the Lodge and Davison freeways.

Detroit council wants a piece of future bridge proceeds (Freep)
If the Moroun family builds a second Ambassador Bridge, the Detroit City Council wants to make sure the city has a chance to generate revenue from its traffic. The council could vote as early as Tuesday on a much-debated land swap agreement with the Detroit International Bridge Company that would advance the Morouns' plans for a twin span to the aging Ambassador Bridge.

OPINION/EDITORIAL

Albom: Parents—and judge—taking it out on kids (Detroit Free Press)
Most of us can remember being sent to our rooms, or forced to sit at the table all night until we finished our vegetables.

Judge Gorcyca and the mother of all time-outs (Detroit Free Press)
Fishermen rescued 5-year-old Elian Gonzalez 3 miles off the coast of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., on Thanksgiving Day 1999, about a week after he and 11 other refugees, including Elian's mother, fled Cuba on a primitive raft.

Hiking water rates won't solve the underlying problems (Detroit Free Press)
If people can't pay for water under current rates, how will they pay under increased rates? It seems to me that there will be a hole in the Detroit Water Department's budget, with or without the rate hike. Simply hiking rates and cutting water to those who can't pay does nothing to solve the budget problem.

Give states control over education (Lansing State Journal)
The last time Congress tackled education reform was in 2001 with No Child Left Behind. Its premise was to boost student achievement through an array of metrics that held schools and states accountable for providing them with a quality education. But 14 years later, its one-size-fits-all mandates and arbitrary benchmarks have let many American students down.

Ticket resale ban outdates and frivolous, yet lives on (MLive)
Here we are, heading toward the peak of baseball and summer concert seasons. But in the middle of all the sun and excitement there's a lingering problem: If you try to sell an unused ticket to a sporting event or concert for just $1 above the face value, an 80-year-old Michigan law says you could go to jail.

Donald Trump's immigration remarks were beginning of his end (MLive)
There are two famous Donalds in the world. One is a cartoon duck. The other is a Trump, and some of his harshest critics contend the two are one and the same.

Republican leaders relying on similar strategy to limit funding (MLive)
Republican lawmakers are using the defeat by voters in May of an expansive road-funding ballot issue to achieve a long-sought goal: permanently downsize state government.

Editorial: Don't disrupt state's Medicaid solution (Detroit News)
After convincing the Supreme Court to allow it to hedge on the language of the Affordable Care Act, the Obama administration is trying to hold Michigan to the strict letter of the Medicaid law. In the process it risks blowing a $1.3 billion hole in the state budget.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, July 13, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Bill signings

Snyder signs bill ending incentives for film industry (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder signed legislation Friday that ends Michigan's film incentive program to grow the state's movie industry, but keeps the Michigan Film Office in tact -- at least for now. House Bill 4122, now Public Act 117 of 2015, means an incentive program that helped attract major Hollywood stars and top directors to Michigan to make movies such as "Batman v. Superman: Dawn of Justice," "Red Dawn" and the "Transformers" franchise, will soon fade to black.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill to kill film incentives (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder's signature today made it official: Michigan film incentives will fade to black. A bill sponsored by Rep. Dan Lauwers, R-Brockway Twp., and signed by Snyder puts a stop to state film incentives, which have existed since 2008 and helped Michigan attract major films like "Batman vs Superman" and "Oz The Great and Powerful."

Snyder signs bill ending movie cash incentives (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed a bill to eliminate state incentives for film and television productions in Michigan, ending a program that went from bang to bust in seven years. While the state will stop granting subsidies to movie projects at the end of next year, Snyder said, it's important to keep the Michigan Film Office to assist producers who still want to shoot movies in Michigan locations.

Snyder signs bill ending incentives for film industry (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder signed legislation Friday that ends Michigan's film incentive program to grow the state's movie industry, but keeps the Michigan Film Office in tact -- at least for now. House Bill 4122, now Public Act 117 of 2015, means an incentive program that helped attract major Hollywood stars and top directors to Michigan to make movies such as "Batman v. Superman: Dawn of Justice," "Red Dawn" and the "Transformers" franchise, will soon fade to black.

Snyder signs law to end cash incentives for movie production (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Friday signed a law to end incentives that encourage the production of movies and TV shows in Michigan, closing the curtain on a recession-era program that his predecessor had touted for providing an immediate economic boost.

Governor Snyder axes state film incentive program (WHTC)
Michigan's controversial film incentives program will be no more. Governor Snyder signed legislation that phases out this remnant from his predecessor Jennifer Granholm's administration once current incentive deals have expired.

No more film tax credits for Michigan (WLNS)

The controversial tax credits that helped lure Hollywood heavyweights to Michigan are no more. Governor Rick Snyder signed a bill to end the cash rebates given to film companies that produce work in Michigan.

Governor Snyder signs law ending Michigan film incentives (WWMT)
On Friday Governor Rick Snyder signed a law ending Michigan's film incentives. The Michigan Film Office will continue to operate, but it will not be able to offer new cash rebates to filmmakers.

Snyder signs bill removing MI film incentives (MI News 26)
Gov. Rick Snyder, on Friday, signed a bill that will remove all state film incentives. According to reports, The Michigan Film Office will continue operating but will no longer offer cash rebates for companies that produce movies in Michigan.

That's a Wrap! Film Subsidies Terminated (Michigan Capitol Confidential)
On Friday, Gov. Rick Snyder signed House Bill 4122, legislation that phases out Michigan's film subsidy program. The measure, which is now officially Public Act 117 of 2015, prohibits the state film office and the relevant agencies from entering into any new film subsidy agreements or adding to existing ones. Money left over after the last subsidy deal is satisfied will revert to the state's General Fund.

Shepler's Ferry Christening
Gov. Rick Snyder christens Shepler's 'Miss Margy' ferry (Mlive)
We're getting closer to Miss Margy's maiden voyage to Mackinac Island! On Sunday, July 12, Gov. Rick Snyder christened the "Miss Margy," an all-aluminum 85-foot ferry manufactured for Shepler's Ferry by Moran Iron Works in Onaway.

New ferry in Mackinac Island fleet christened by governor (AP)
The newest ferry in a Mackinac Island fleet has been christened by Gov. Rick Snyder and Shepler's Ferry CEO Bill Shepler. The new $3.8 million, 85-foot ship named "Miss Margy" was built at Moran Iron Works in Onaway. It's undergoing final preparations in Mackinaw City before its maiden voyage to Mackinac Island later this summer. The ceremony was held Sunday in Mackinaw City.

Made in Michigan ferry christened in Mackinaw City (Marine Log)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder yesterday christened the newest addition to the Shepler's Mackinac Island Ferry fleet, the $3.8 million, 85-foot Miss Margy. It is the first ferry to be built in northern Michigan in recent memory. In the past, a number of ferries were built at now-defunct shipyards in the state.

New Mackinac Island Ferry Christened (9&10 News)
A collaboration between two northern Michigan businesses made for a historic celebration in Mackinaw City today. The new Mackinac Island ferry called "Miss Margy" has been docked in Mackinaw City since May, but a christening ceremony took place at Shepler's Dock in Mackinaw City today.

Mackinac fleet adds a new Margy (Detroit News)
There's a new Miss Margy in Mackinaw City. The $3.8-million, 85-foot boat, which reprises an honored family name, is joining the fleet of five passenger ferries at Shepler's Mackinac Island Ferry Co. It's the first ferry built in northern Michigan, and will be christened Sunday by Gov. Rick Snyder and Bill Shepler, the son of William Shepler, founder of the family-owned ferry line that carries tourists from Mackinaw City and St. Ignace to Mackinac Island.

Miss Margy gets christened in Mackinaw City (TV 7&4 News)
A christening was held Sunday afternoon for Miss Margy, the newest addition to Shepler's Mackinac

Island Ferry Fleet. Hundreds of people arrived in Mackinaw City to get an early look at the nearly completed ship.

APPOINTMENTS

Saginaw woman one of two appointments to SVSU Board of Control (Mlive)
A Saginaw woman and an Oakland County man have been appointed by Gov. Rick Snyder to fill two vacancies on the Saginaw Valley State University Board of Control. The eight-person board is the governing body of the university.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Four takeaways from Attorney General Bill Schuette's visit to Muskegon (MLive)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette made the rounds in Muskegon on Thursday, July 9.

Corrections
Michigan denies request to film Kid Rock video in prison (WEYI)
The Michigan Department of Corrections has denied a production company's request to film a Kid Rock music video inside an Ypsilanti women's prison.

MDOC, producers in talks for Kid Rock music video in Standish (Arenac County Independent)
A recent request by Boulevard Industries to shoot a Kid Rock music video in the Women's Huron Valley Correctional Facility in Ypsilanti was turned down by the Michigan Department of Corrections, which recommended Standish Max as an alternative.

DEQ
Water Safety: Parasites in Michigan's Lakes and Rivers (WILX)
Michigan has never had a case of Primary Amebic Meningoencephalitis, the infection caused by an amoeba that almost always results in death. Briggs says if you are in the south or other, warmer lakes, remember that the amoeba can only infect humans through the nose.

DMVA (VAA)
Survey highlights needs of state's female veterans (Crain's Detroit Business)
In Michigan's quest to provide better services to veterans, state officials are gathering some new findings that could illuminate the needs of woman vets.

Companies share strategies on putting vets on their duty rosters (Crain's Detroit Business)
Michelle Salvatore, vice president of recruiting at Quicken Loans Inc., knew something had to change when she was baffled by a veteran's resume. "I couldn't figure out from his resume where in this company he could belong," she said, "because I just didn't understand the lingo."

DNR
Indoor center promoting Michigan's outdoors opens soon (Freep)
A touch of "up north" has arrived in downtown Detroit with the completion of the Michigan Department of Natural Resource's Outdoor Adventure Center along the city's east riverfront. The three-story, 41,000-square-foot indoor facility opens July 20 and features hands-on, interactive exhibits including a 40-foot-tall, man-made tree.

Three peregrine falcons banded 200 feet above Lake Superior (WPBN)

Members of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the National Park Service have banded peregrine falcon chicks 200 feet above Lake Superior on a rock cliff on Passage Island.

Limited off-road vehicle use allowed at Bewabic State Park (WWTV)
Off-road vehicle users now have permission to ride onto the grounds of Bewabic State Park in the Upper Peninsula's Iron County. Michigan Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh says ORV use will be allowed only for loading and unloading the vehicles or for riding them from designated parking areas and campsites to trail networks.

Willard Beach reopens in Battle Creek (WWMT)
Willard Beach is back open in Battle Creek after its successful relocation. Located at Willard Beach Park, it's the city's access to Goguac Lake.

DNR announces Aquatic Habitat Grant Program (WMNN)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), on Thursday, announced its next round of funding for the Aquatic Habitat Grant Program. The Aquatic Habitat Grant Program's focus is to fun projects that protect intact aquatic habitats and rehabilitate habitats that have been degraded.

DNR grants limited ORV use at Bewabic State Park (Iron Mountain Daily News)
Michigan Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh has issued an order approving off-road vehicle use at Bewabic State Park in Iron County, the fifth Michigan state park where ORV use has been approved since 2009.

Someone has been illegally dumping trash in the ravine (WBUP)
For some, it's a place of scenic beauty, a pristine recreational spot and a home to local wildlife. For others, it's good place to throw out their trash. In the area of the Hungarian Falls someone has dumped a fair amount of old junk.

MDE

Education department to make website more accessible (Freep)
The Michigan Department of Education has a mountainous task ahead of it to comply with a federal directive and make its website accessible to people with disabilities.

MDOT

Meetings planned on possible new passenger rail service (AP)
More public meetings are planned on proposed new passenger rail service that could connect Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids and Holland. The second of three rounds of public meetings starts Monday on the exploratory study. The public can share input as well as to hear preliminary findings.

Marysville wins $236,000 grant to extend, mark bike trails (The Voice)
The 54-mile Bridge-to-Bay Trail – the non-motorized route extending from Lakeport State Park on Lake Huron down the east coast of St. Clair County and all the way to the north tip of Lake St. Clair in New Baltimore in Macomb County – is about to get a little closer to completion.

MSHDA

St. Johns housing project receives MSHDA tax credits (LSJ)
A proposed housing project that would be the tallest building in the St. Johns central business district cleared a major hurdle recently.

City ponders housing tax break (Traverse City Record Eagle)
City commissioners will consider a request to waive thousands of dollars in property taxes for a downtown affordable housing project.

City Gets Grant for Redevelopment (WBKB)
The Michigan State Housing Development Authority is helping the city of Alpena say goodbye to the old Alpena Power Building in the heart of the downtown area.

$1.4 M given for low-income housing in Muskegon Heights, Spring Lake (MLive)
State officials announced late Friday that new housing projects in Muskegon Heights and Spring Lake would be given nearly $1.4 million in tax credits from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

MSP
Child's body found in lake where autistic boy disappeared (MLive)
Rescue crews have found a child's body in the water in Lake Callis in Davison Township. The call went out at 12:33 p.m. Friday, July 10, according to the Genesee County 911 website.

Intersection still tops 'most dangerous' lists (C&G)
Data collected from the Michigan State Police Traffic Crash Reporting Unit placed the intersection of Groesbeck Highway and Cass Avenue at the top of Macomb County's most dangerous lists.

U.S. marshal cleared in Lansing shooting (LSJ)
A U.S. marshal who shot an unarmed parole absconder holding a cell phone acted lawfully and in self-defense because there was a "well-grounded" belief his life was in danger, Ingham County Prosecutor Stuart Dunnings III has decided.

Saginaw man who shot and injured MSP trooper to serve 30 years in prison (MLive)
A Saginaw man will spend 30 years in prison for shooting a Michigan State Police trooper in 2013. The trooper suffered minor injuries.

Man accused of hiring women to smuggle drugs to Michigan (MLive)
A man is facing federal charges, accused of hiring women to smuggle heroin in their vaginas from Chicago to Battle Creek, court documents show.

Michigan State Troopers issue more than 300 tickets in eight-hour shift (WXYZ)
Michigan State Police troopers made 300 different traffic stops Thursday on I-275 in Livonia. According to MSP, troopers assigned to the Motor Unit of the Special Enforcement Section conducted traffic enforcement after many complaints of high speed and aggressive driving in the area.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Activists calling for Michigan water reform wrap up 70 mile trek (Michigan Radio)
A group of activists protesting water shutoffs in Detroit and water quality issues in Flint wrapped up a 70 mile walking journey between the two cities this week. Members and supporters of the Detroit People's Water Board Coalition are calling on Michigan lawmakers to end shutoffs and implement an income-based water affordability plan.

Michigan lawmakers in familiar spot on roads; dueling plans differ on tax hikes, fund shifts (AP)
Lawmakers looking to spend at least $1.2 billion more a year to improve Michigan roads find themselves in a familiar spot — with competing plans. The good news is the House and Senate are a little closer together on a road-funding solution than when they compromised on what proved to be a doomed ballot proposal. The bad news is legislators still have major differences.

Universities say funding system broke, lawmakers disagree (Freep)
It's a simple fact — $12 million is much bigger than $1.2 million. That's why Oakland University President George Hynd and the Board of Trustees didn't have to really think about the rationale for increasing tuition by 8.48% last week and exceeding a state tuition cap. The Rochester school declined $1.2 million from the state in incentive money in exchange for getting $12 million in tuition revenue.

Michigan Political Points: Road repair needs trump 'no tax' mantra in several GOP states (MLive)
Michigan isn't the only Republican-led state considering a fuel tax increase to fix crumbling roads. Welcome to Michigan Political Points, my weekly roundup of news, views and YouTubes from the state Capitol and beyond.

Turf war: Community colleges want to offer more 4-year degrees (Bridge)
Lawmakers in Michigan have renewed an effort to allow community colleges to award bachelor's degrees in nursing — a move that could change the way nursing education is delivered in the state as industry preferences evolve to favor nurses with more advanced training. The state's 28 community colleges support the idea as a natural extension of their mission.

Another booming year sparks more calls for repeal of Michigan fireworks law (MLive)
Booming fireworks are a headache for Jan Hollinrake, but they're a "nightmare" for her 10-year old golden retriever, who spent her Fourth of July weekend in a panic despite taking sedatives.

DETROIT

Indoor center promoting Michigan's outdoors to open (AP)
A touch of "up north" has arrived in downtown Detroit with the completion of the Michigan Department of Natural Resource's Outdoor Adventure Center along the city's east riverfront. The three-story, 41,000-square-foot indoor facility opens July 20 and features hands-on, interactive exhibits including a 40-foot-tall, man-made tree.

Detroit neighborhood real estate finally going up (Freep)
Home values in Detroit neighborhoods are finally experiencing some upward momentum after years of rock-bottom prices. Still among the cheapest places in the nation to buy a house, Detroit neighborhoods are seeing prices inch up on most residential blocks with substantial gains in the strongest areas.

Summer at school? Cranbrook hosts Detroit teens (Freep)
Stephanie Hernandez usually spends her summers watching TV at home. This year, she's learning to speak French and studying biology. Stephanie, 14, who will attend Cass Tech High School in the fall, is one of 175 Detroit students participating in Horizons-Upward Bound at Cranbrook Schools in Bloomfield Hills. The year-round, federally funded program provides an academic boost for teens who come from low-income families or have parents who never went to college.

The mayor, a Muslim leader and a neighborhood's rebirth (Freep)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan and his talent and development teams have reached out to help a community partnership that is building a new neighborhood with funding from an Ann Arbor radiologist who wants to redefine how people see Muslims. City officials plan to meet this month with the neighborhood project's manager, Mark Crain, and with Waseem Ullah, a Pakistani Muslim who is raising money to restore the neighborhood near the Muslim Center at the intersection of the Lodge and Davison freeways.

Detroit council wants a piece of future bridge proceeds (Freep)

If the Moroun family builds a second Ambassador Bridge, the Detroit City Council wants to make sure the city has a chance to generate revenue from its traffic. The council could vote as early as Tuesday on a much-debated land swap agreement with the Detroit International Bridge Company that would advance the Morouns' plans for a twin span to the aging Ambassador Bridge.

OPINION/EDITORIAL

Albom: Parents—and judge—taking it out on kids (Detroit Free Press)
Most of us can remember being sent to our rooms, or forced to sit at the table all night until we finished our vegetables.

Judge Gorcyca and the mother of all time-outs (Detroit Free Press)
Fishermen rescued 5-year-old Elian Gonzalez 3 miles off the coast of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., on Thanksgiving Day 1999, about a week after he and 11 other refugees, including Elian's mother, fled Cuba on a primitive raft.

Hiking water rates won't solve the underlying problems (Detroit Free Press)
If people can't pay for water under current rates, how will they pay under increased rates? It seems to me that there will be a hole in the Detroit Water Department's budget, with or without the rate hike. Simply hiking rates and cutting water to those who can't pay does nothing to solve the budget problem.

Give states control over education (Lansing State Journal)
The last time Congress tackled education reform was in 2001 with No Child Left Behind. Its premise was to boost student achievement through an array of metrics that held schools and states accountable for providing them with a quality education. But 14 years later, its one-size-fits-all mandates and arbitrary benchmarks have let many American students down.

Ticket resale ban outdates and frivolous, yet lives on (MLive)
Here we are, heading toward the peak of baseball and summer concert seasons. But in the middle of all the sun and excitement there's a lingering problem: If you try to sell an unused ticket to a sporting event or concert for just $1 above the face value, an 80-year-old Michigan law says you could go to jail.

Donald Trump's immigration remarks were beginning of his end (MLive)
There are two famous Donalds in the world. One is a cartoon duck. The other is a Trump, and some of his harshest critics contend the two are one and the same.

Republican leaders relying on similar strategy to limit funding (MLive)
Republican lawmakers are using the defeat by voters in May of an expansive road-funding ballot issue to achieve a long-sought goal: permanently downsize state government.

Editorial: Don't disrupt state's Medicaid solution (Detroit News)
After convincing the Supreme Court to allow it to hedge on the language of the Affordable Care Act, the Obama administration is trying to hold Michigan to the strict letter of the Medicaid law. In the process it risks blowing a $1.3 billion hole in the state budget.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, September 09, 2015 9:33 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 9/9 Newsroom
Attachments: 150909 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, September 9, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Gov. Snyder: Progress on roads deal but no agreement (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder huddled with top legislative leaders to discuss a potential plan for repairing Michigan's deteriorating roads Tuesday but emerged with no agreement and was noncommittal about what was discussed. Snyder described the meeting as "a good productive discussion." He said he's "not in a position ... yet" to provide any details about proposals hashed out with four top legislative Republicans and Democrats in the hour-long meeting.

Snyder: Gamrat-Courser Taking Attention Away From Important Items (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder says the Gamrat-Courser affair has become a legislative distraction, pulling attention away from issues the state must work on. Snyder also said that he hopes the scandal will quickly go away.

Governor Snyder Believes Courser-Gamrat Situation A Distraction For Lawmakers (WSJM)
The investigation into the affair between state Representatives Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat has become a distraction for state lawmakers. That's the opinion of Governor Snyder, who feels the issue needs to be dealt with quickly and go away. He says there are a slew of other things that need attention.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Calley Calls for Law to Ban "Inhumane," Barbaric" Practices in Special Education (Michigan Radio)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley is pushing for changes in Michigan's special education system. He outlined findings of his special education listening tour and survey on Tuesday to the state Board of Education.

Lt. Governor: Make IEPs Individual, Stop Using Restraints On Students (WSJM)
Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley is recommending that Michigan lawmakers put into law what the State Board of Education has already recommended: eliminating any use of seclusion and restraint of misbehaving special education students unless they pose an imminent danger to themselves or others. The board adopted such a policy in 2006, but it was never put into state law, and Calley says some schools continue to use restraints when they shouldn't.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

Professor leading Flint water study will visit here Sept. 15 (MLive)
Marc Edwards, the Virginia Tech professor overseeing a study of Flint's drinking water, is scheduled to speak during a town hall meeting here Sept. 15.

Mayoral challenger calls for federal investigation into Flint water (MLive)
Mayoral challenger Karen Weaver is calling for a federal investigation into Flint's water problems, including recent reports of high levels of lead in drinking water.

Flint mayoral candidate calls for federal probe of city's water system (Michigan Radio)
A candidate for Flint mayor wants the federal government to investigate the city's problem plagued water system and how city officials have responded to those problems.

Southwest Michigan county gets funds to clean up old winery (AP)
Van Buren County in southwestern Michigan is getting state funding to clean up a former winery for use as a brewery's new location.

The perfect invader strikes a Michigan trout stream (MSU Extension)

DHHS

Many Michigan kids consider suicide, stat shows (Detroit Free Press)
Here's a sobering statistic for the first day of the 2015-16 school year: 16% of Michigan teens seriously consider suicide. One in 11 attempts it at least once.

Hope set to defend title in State Flu vaccination competition (WHTC)
he second annual state College and University Flu Vaccination Challenge is underway. Defending small-school champion Hope College, along with Grand Valley State University, are among 15 institutions of higher learning that are partnering with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services in an eight month-long competition to see who has the highest student body inoculation percentage. HHS officials say that only 11 percent of those aged 18-24 were vaccinated last winter.

Agency that placed autistic boy who drowned should lost license, state says (MLive)
The state says the foster agency that placed 9-year-old Omarion Humphrey, the severely autistic boy who went missing and drowned in a Davison Township park, should lose its license.

State looking to revoke foster agency's license after investigation (WNEM)
The state is looking to revoke the license of a foster agency.

DNR

Michigan DNR collecting info on tagged smallmouth bass in Lake Michigan (FOX 28)
If you manage to haul in a smallmouth bass the next time you're fishing in Lake Michigan, you may want to take a closer look at the fish. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wants you to report some information if you reel in one that's been tagged.

Team combats foreign species in West Michigan (Grand haven Tribune)
The Allegan Conservation District hired these two recent college graduates in July. Lowes and Lucas, with the district's executive director, Justin Burchett, make up the organization's "invasive species strike force," in charge of tracking down and taking out plants foreign to local ecosystems.

Presentation will address oak wilt infestation in Livingston County (WHMI)
A fungal disease that is killing oak trees will be the focus of an event tomorrow night in Hartland. ReLeaf Michigan, in association with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Arboriculture Society of Michigan, will be hosting a presentation on Oak Wilt Disease by Dr. David Roberts, a Plant Pathologist at Michigan State University. The disease is said to be spreading quickly in Livingston County, with noticeable infestation along Clyde Road in Hartland Township and Brighton Road in the Brighton area.

MDARD

PETA: UniverSoul Circus elephants may have tuberculosis (Detroit Free Press)

The animal rights group PETA says two UniverSoul Circus elephants set to perform next week at Chene Park could be carrying a strain of tuberculosis that is transmittable to humans, but a circus spokesman says the animals are healthy and have been cleared for travel by the federal agriculture department.

MDOT

Environmentalists tell MDOT to pump the brakes on I-94 expansion (WKAR)

The Michigan Department of Transportation has plans to renovate a 6.7 stretch of I-94 near Detroit. MDOT says the plan will make the highway safer and reduce traffic congestion. But environmentalists are raising concerns about the impact of the project. We talk to Nick Schroeck, of the Great Lakes Environmental Law Center, about why.

M-13 will close Sept. 17 for RR crossing work (Argus Press)

Travelers along M-13 will face a week-long detour starting Sept. 17 at the Huron and Eastern Railroad just north of downtown.

10 things to know about Roosevelt Park's road and stormwater study (MLive)

Like many cities in Muskegon County and across the state of Michigan, Roosevelt Park has several infrastructure projects it could implement to enhance residents' quality of life.

Michigan's first business aviation expo planned Sept. 25 (Bloomfield Hills Patch)

Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson is inviting corporate executives to attend Michigan's first business aviation expo at Oakland County International Airport (OCIA) on Friday, Sept. 25 from 11 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.

MGCB

State fines Greektown Casino-Hotel for 25 regulatory violations (Crain's)

The Michigan Gaming Control Board on Tuesday ordered Greektown Casino LLC to pay $529,500 in fines for 25 regulatory violations that occurred before Dan Gilbert's management team took over the casino hotel.

Gambling officials fine Greektown Casino for past violations (AP)

reektown Casino LLC has been ordered by the Michigan Gaming Control Board to pay nearly $530,000 in fines related to 25 violations under its previous ownership and management.

Greektown Casino fined over $500,000 for violations of previous owner (MLive)

he Michigan Gaming Control Board on Tuesday announced fines totaling more than $529,500 against Greektown Casino for various violations that occurred between 2010 and 2014, before Quicken Loans founder Dan Gilbert owned and ran the casino.

Past Wayne County land deal haunts Greektown Casino (Detroit Free Press)

State gaming regulators on Tuesday ordered Greektown Casino-Hotel in Detroit to pay nearly $530,000 for past violations, including a fine for not disclosing a broker fee paid for selling land that was to be a parking lot as part of the new county jail project.

MSP

New DNA law leads to arrest in 2001 EGR rape (Wood TV)

A woman attacked and raped by a stranger on the street 14 years ago said she never let her attacker define her, but she's ready to help define him.

85 percent of Michigan's school buses pass safety inspection on first try (WXYZ)
The Michigan State Police Department says 85% of the state's almost 16,000 school buses passed their initial safety inspections prior to the beginning of the school year.

MVAA
Public, private sectors collaborate to help exiting military cope with cuts (MLive)
Monthly job cut data being released this week is expected to reveal over 100,000 workers cut from U.S. employer payrolls during July. According to Challenger, Gray & Christmas Inc., the global outplacement consultancy that tracks such data, this monthly job cut number is the highest in four years, 136% higher than cuts for June and 125% higher than the number of cuts in July of 2014. Also noted by Challenger, Gray is the fact that more than half the cuts are due to "massive troop and civilian workforce reductions announced by the U.S. Army.

OU earns statewide recognition for supporting student veterans (Oakland University)
Oakland University is among select colleges and universities in Michigan being recognized for the exceptional support services it provides to student veterans. The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency recently released its 2015-2016 list of "Veteran-Friendly Schools," which recognizes institutions of higher learning for their dedication to student veterans and dependents utilizing their G.I. Bill and other educational benefits.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

MI Rep. Cindy Gamrat asks for forgiveness at committee hearing, Courser releases statement (WXYZ)
A special legislative committee convened this morning in Lansing to determine the future of two members of the Michigan House of Representatives.

Michigan House lawyer urges 1 expulsion, 1 censure of lawmakers involved in affair cover-up (AP)
The top lawyer for the Michigan House recommended Tuesday that one state lawmaker be expelled and another censured for misconduct stemming from an attempt to hide their extramarital affair.

House attorney recommends censure for Gamrat, expulsion for Courser (FOX 17)
Embattled Rep. Cindy Gamrat, R-Plainwell, admitted during a disciplinary hearing in Lansing Tuesday morning to misusing taxpayer money to cover up an extramarital affair with Rep. Todd Courser.

DETROIT NEWS

Obama to visit today, tout $175M in apprentice grants (Detroit Free Press)
President Barack Obama will travel to Warren today to announce $175 million in apprenticeship grants to 34,000 people across the U.S., including more than 1,700 in Michigan, and again call for two years of tuition-free community college for anyone with good grades.

Detroit schools plan $121 million note sale to refinance debt as enrollment slumps (Crain's Detroit Business)
The Detroit school system, which is being run by a state-appointed manager because of its financial strains, is planning to sell $121 million in tax-exempt notes this week as it struggles with shrinking enrollment.

Water world: Aquatic science school opens in Detroit (Detroit Free Press)
There's a fresh coat of bright blue paint on the doors and walls, a giant aquarium with two turtles in the foyer and a new sign out front.

New faces as Metro area students head back to school (Detroit News)
The first day of school Tuesday was a "new and improved" one for many students across Metro Detroit.

Community leaders welcome Detroit students back to school (WJBK)

Thousands of children are heading back to school this morning, and some are getting a special greeting at Detroit Public Schools. The Task Force on Black Male Engagement lined up outside the school doors to welcome the students to class, greeting the kids with a round of applause and high fives to go around.

Detroit City Council may see pot dispensary ordinance (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit City Councilman James Tate said he could introduce an ordinance regulating the licensing and location of medical marijuana dispensaries as early as next week.

Greektown Casino fined for past ownership violations (Detroit News)
Greektown Casino LLC was ordered Tuesday to pay nearly $530,000 in fines related to 25 violations under its previous ownership and management, according to the Michigan Gaming Control Board.

Detroit school bonds downgraded on enrollment worries (Detroit News)
The declining enrollment of Detroit Public Schools, as well as the system's under-funded pensions and a possible district restructuring, prompted a leading credit agency to lower its rating of some of the school system's bonds Tuesday.

Obama to tout apprenticeships in Michigan (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama will visit Macomb Community College on Wednesday to tout the use of apprenticeships to rebuild the U.S. workforce and plans to make community college free for the first two years.

OPINION

Voter fraud in Michigan? Not hardly (Detroit Free Press)
It's sure to grab attention: 24 Michigan counties, 141 around the country, have more registered voters than residents eligible to vote.

Editorial: Making a done deal work (Detroit News)
Congress this week is expected to take what now is a largely symbolic vote on the nuclear arms deal the Obama administration and five other nations negotiated with Iran. With the fate of the agreement sealed, the focus must quickly turn to making it work.

Editor's note: Obama visit rightly honors MCCC (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama was to arrive in Metro Detroit today for a visit to Macomb County Community College.

Hoffa: Let's get America working again (Detroit News)
Everyday Americans are facing increased challenges at work and at home. The outsourcing of millions of good-paying jobs overseas has led to lower paychecks here in the U.S. That, in turn, has made it more difficult for many workers to provide for their families.

State must support students, families to close achievement gaps (MLive)
No longer a top tier state for education, Michigan today has larger gaps in student outcomes among its diverse populations than many other states, jettisoning our state to 37th in the nation according to theNational Kids Count project. These learning gaps start early and persist and grow throughout educational careers without appropriate intervention and support, threatening our state's future and the futures of thousands of our children.

Editorial: Vaccinate your children (Lansing State Journal)
The vaccination debate has reached an apex in recent years. As some often highly educated parents challenge regulatory standards that have been in place for decades, non-medical waiver requests have increased. Results have been disastrous.

Complex cuts to much-needed social programs are not the best way to fund road repairs (Michigan Radio)

According to Nolan Finley, the editorial page editor of the Detroit News, the legislature is actually close to a bipartisan deal to finally fix the roads.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, September 9, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Gov. Snyder: Progress on roads deal but no agreement (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder huddled with top legislative leaders to discuss a potential plan for repairing Michigan's deteriorating roads Tuesday but emerged with no agreement and was noncommittal about what was discussed. Snyder described the meeting as "a good productive discussion." He said he's "not in a position ... yet" to provide any details about proposals hashed out with four top legislative Republicans and Democrats in the hour-long meeting.

Snyder: Gamrat-Courser Taking Attention Away From Important Items (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder says the Gamrat-Courser affair has become a legislative distraction, pulling attention away from issues the state must work on. Snyder also said that he hopes the scandal will quickly go away.

Governor Snyder Believes Courser-Gamrat Situation A Distraction For Lawmakers (WSJM)
The investigation into the affair between state Representatives Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat has become a distraction for state lawmakers. That's the opinion of Governor Snyder, who feels the issue needs to be dealt with quickly and go away. He says there are a slew of other things that need attention.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Calley Calls for Law to Ban "Inhumane," Barbaric" Practices in Special Education (Michigan Radio)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley is pushing for changes in Michigan's special education system. He outlined findings of his special education listening tour and survey on Tuesday to the state Board of Education.

Lt. Governor: Make IEPs Individual, Stop Using Restraints On Students (WSJM)
Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley is recommending that Michigan lawmakers put into law what the State Board of Education has already recommended: eliminating any use of seclusion and restraint of misbehaving special education students unless they pose an imminent danger to themselves or others. The board adopted such a policy in 2006, but it was never put into state law, and Calley says some schools continue to use restraints when they shouldn't.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

Professor leading Flint water study will visit here Sept. 15 (MLive)
Marc Edwards, the Virginia Tech professor overseeing a study of Flint's drinking water, is scheduled to speak during a town hall meeting here Sept. 15.

Mayoral challenger calls for federal investigation into Flint water (MLive)
Mayoral challenger Karen Weaver is calling for a federal investigation into Flint's water problems, including recent reports of high levels of lead in drinking water.

Flint mayoral candidate calls for federal probe of city's water system (Michigan Radio)
A candidate for Flint mayor wants the federal government to investigate the city's problem plagued water system and how city officials have responded to those problems.

Southwest Michigan county gets funds to clean up old winery (AP)
Van Buren County in southwestern Michigan is getting state funding to clean up a former winery for use as a brewery's new location.

The perfect invader strikes a Michigan trout stream (MSU Extension)

DHHS
Many Michigan kids consider suicide, stat shows (Detroit Free Press)
Here's a sobering statistic for the first day of the 2015-16 school year: 16% of Michigan teens seriously consider suicide. One in 11 attempts it at least once.

Hope set to defend title in State Flu vaccination competition (WHTC)
he second annual state College and University Flu Vaccination Challenge is underway. Defending small-school champion Hope College, along with Grand Valley State University, are among 15 institutions of higher learning that are partnering with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services in an eight month-long competition to see who has the highest student body inoculation percentage. HHS officials say that only 11 percent of those aged 18-24 were vaccinated last winter.

Agency that placed autistic boy who drowned should lost license, state says (MLive)
The state says the foster agency that placed 9-year-old Omarion Humphrey, the severely autistic boy who went missing and drowned in a Davison Township park, should lose its license.

State looking to revoke foster agency's license after investigation (WNEM)
The state is looking to revoke the license of a foster agency.

DNR
Michigan DNR collecting info on tagged smallmouth bass in Lake Michigan (FOX 28)
If you manage to haul in a smallmouth bass the next time you're fishing in Lake Michigan, you may want to take a closer look at the fish. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wants you to report some information if you reel in one that's been tagged.

Team combats foreign species in West Michigan (Grand haven Tribune)
The Allegan Conservation District hired these two recent college graduates in July. Lowes and Lucas, with the district's executive director, Justin Burchett, make up the organization's "invasive species strike force," in charge of tracking down and taking out plants foreign to local ecosystems.

Presentation will address oak wilt infestation in Livingston County (WHMI)
A fungal disease that is killing oak trees will be the focus of an event tomorrow night in Hartland. ReLeaf Michigan, in association with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Arboriculture Society of Michigan, will be hosting a presentation on Oak Wilt Disease by Dr. David Roberts, a Plant Pathologist at Michigan State University. The disease is said to be spreading quickly in Livingston County, with noticeable infestation along Clyde Road in Hartland Township and Brighton Road in the Brighton area.

MDARD

PETA: UniverSoul Circus elephants may have tuberculosis (Detroit Free Press)
The animal rights group PETA says two UniverSoul Circus elephants set to perform next week at Chene Park could be carrying a strain of tuberculosis that is transmittable to humans, but a circus spokesman says the animals are healthy and have been cleared for travel by the federal agriculture department.

MDOT

Environmentalists tell MDOT to pump the brakes on I-94 expansion (WKAR)
The Michigan Department of Transportation has plans to renovate a 6.7 stretch of I-94 near Detroit. MDOT says the plan will make the highway safer and reduce traffic congestion. But environmentalists are raising concerns about the impact of the project. We talk to Nick Schroeck, of the Great Lakes Environmental Law Center, about why.

M-13 will close Sept. 17 for RR crossing work (Argus Press)
Travelers along M-13 will face a week-long detour starting Sept. 17 at the Huron and Eastern Railroad just north of downtown.

10 things to know about Roosevelt Park's road and stormwater study (MLive)
Like many cities in Muskegon County and across the state of Michigan, Roosevelt Park has several infrastructure projects it could implement to enhance residents' quality of life.

Michigan's first business aviation expo planned Sept. 25 (Bloomfield Hills Patch)
Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson is inviting corporate executives to attend Michigan's first business aviation expo at Oakland County International Airport (OCIA) on Friday, Sept. 25 from 11 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.

MGCB

State fines Greektown Casino-Hotel for 25 regulatory violations (Crain's)
The Michigan Gaming Control Board on Tuesday ordered Greektown Casino LLC to pay $529,500 in fines for 25 regulatory violations that occurred before Dan Gilbert's management team took over the casino hotel.

Gambling officials fine Greektown Casino for past violations (AP)
reektown Casino LLC has been ordered by the Michigan Gaming Control Board to pay nearly $530,000 in fines related to 25 violations under its previous ownership and management.

Greektown Casino fined over $500,000 for violations of previous owner (MLive)
he Michigan Gaming Control Board on Tuesday announced fines totaling more than $529,500 against Greektown Casino for various violations that occurred between 2010 and 2014, before Quicken Loans founder Dan Gilbert owned and ran the casino.

Past Wayne County land deal haunts Greektown Casino (Detroit Free Press)
State gaming regulators on Tuesday ordered Greektown Casino-Hotel in Detroit to pay nearly $530,000 for past violations, including a fine for not disclosing a broker fee paid for selling land that was to be a parking lot as part of the new county jail project.

MSP

New DNA law leads to arrest in 2001 EGR rape (Wood TV)
A woman attacked and raped by a stranger on the street 14 years ago said she never let her attacker define her, but she's ready to help define him.

85 percent of Michigan's school buses pass safety inspection on first try (WXYZ)
The Michigan State Police Department says 85% of the state's almost 16,000 school buses passed their initial safety inspections prior to the beginning of the school year.

MVAA
Public, private sectors collaborate to help exiting military cope with cuts (MLive)
Monthly job cut data being released this week is expected to reveal over 100,000 workers cut from U.S. employer payrolls during July. According to Challenger, Gray & Christmas Inc., the global outplacement consultancy that tracks such data, this monthly job cut number is the highest in four years, 136% higher than cuts for June and 125% higher than the number of cuts in July of 2014. Also noted by Challenger, Gray is the fact that more than half the cuts are due to "massive troop and civilian workforce reductions announced by the U.S. Army.

OU earns statewide recognition for supporting student veterans (Oakland University)
Oakland University is among select colleges and universities in Michigan being recognized for the exceptional support services it provides to student veterans. The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency recently released its 2015-2016 list of "Veteran-Friendly Schools," which recognizes institutions of higher learning for their dedication to student veterans and dependents utilizing their G.I. Bill and other educational benefits.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

MI Rep. Cindy Gamrat asks for forgiveness at committee hearing, Courser releases statement (WXYZ)
A special legislative committee convened this morning in Lansing to determine the future of two members of the Michigan House of Representatives.

Michigan House lawyer urges 1 expulsion, 1 censure of lawmakers involved in affair cover-up (AP)
The top lawyer for the Michigan House recommended Tuesday that one state lawmaker be expelled and another censured for misconduct stemming from an attempt to hide their extramarital affair.

House attorney recommends censure for Gamrat, expulsion for Courser (FOX 17)
Embattled Rep. Cindy Gamrat, R-Plainwell, admitted during a disciplinary hearing in Lansing Tuesday morning to misusing taxpayer money to cover up an extramarital affair with Rep. Todd Courser.

DETROIT NEWS

Obama to visit today, tout $175M in apprentice grants (Detroit Free Press)
President Barack Obama will travel to Warren today to announce $175 million in apprenticeship grants to 34,000 people across the U.S., including more than 1,700 in Michigan, and again call for two years of tuition-free community college for anyone with good grades.

Detroit schools plan $121 million note sale to refinance debt as enrollment slumps (Crain's Detroit Business)
The Detroit school system, which is being run by a state-appointed manager because of its financial strains, is planning to sell $121 million in tax-exempt notes this week as it struggles with shrinking enrollment.

Water world: Aquatic science school opens in Detroit (Detroit Free Press)
There's a fresh coat of bright blue paint on the doors and walls, a giant aquarium with two turtles in the foyer and a new sign out front.

New faces as Metro area students head back to school (Detroit News)
The first day of school Tuesday was a "new and improved" one for many students across Metro Detroit.

Community leaders welcome Detroit students back to school (WJBK)
Thousands of children are heading back to school this morning, and some are getting a special greeting at Detroit Public Schools. The Task Force on Black Male Engagement lined up outside the school doors to welcome the students to class, greeting the kids with a round of applause and high fives to go around.

Detroit City Council may see pot dispensary ordinance (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit City Councilman James Tate said he could introduce an ordinance regulating the licensing and location of medical marijuana dispensaries as early as next week.

Greektown Casino fined for past ownership violations (Detroit News)
Greektown Casino LLC was ordered Tuesday to pay nearly $530,000 in fines related to 25 violations under its previous ownership and management, according to the Michigan Gaming Control Board.

Detroit school bonds downgraded on enrollment worries (Detroit News)
The declining enrollment of Detroit Public Schools, as well as the system's under-funded pensions and a possible district restructuring, prompted a leading credit agency to lower its rating of some of the school system's bonds Tuesday.

Obama to tout apprenticeships in Michigan (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama will visit Macomb Community College on Wednesday to tout the use of apprenticeships to rebuild the U.S. workforce and plans to make community college free for the first two years.

OPINION

Voter fraud in Michigan? Not hardly (Detroit Free Press)
It's sure to grab attention: 24 Michigan counties, 141 around the country, have more registered voters than residents eligible to vote.

Editorial: Making a done deal work (Detroit News)
Congress this week is expected to take what now is a largely symbolic vote on the nuclear arms deal the Obama administration and five other nations negotiated with Iran. With the fate of the agreement sealed, the focus must quickly turn to making it work.

Editor's note: Obama visit rightly honors MCCC (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama was to arrive in Metro Detroit today for a visit to Macomb County Community College.

Hoffa: Let's get America working again (Detroit News)
Everyday Americans are facing increased challenges at work and at home. The outsourcing of millions of good-paying jobs overseas has led to lower paychecks here in the U.S. That, in turn, has made it more difficult for many workers to provide for their families.

State must support students, families to close achievement gaps (MLive)
No longer a top tier state for education, Michigan today has larger gaps in student outcomes among its diverse populations than many other states, jettisoning our state to 37th in the nation according to theNational Kids Count project. These learning gaps start early and persist and grow throughout educational careers without appropriate intervention and support, threatening our state's future and the futures of thousands of our children.

Editorial: Vaccinate your children (Lansing State Journal)
The vaccination debate has reached an apex in recent years. As some often highly educated parents challenge regulatory standards that have been in place for decades, non-medical waiver requests have increased. Results have been disastrous.

Complex cuts to much-needed social programs are not the best way to fund road repairs (Michigan Radio)
According to Nolan Finley, the editorial page editor of the Detroit News, the legislature is actually close to a bipartisan deal to finally fix the roads.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, September 11, 2015 10:08 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 9/11 Newsroom
Attachments: 150911 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, September 11, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Trade mission
Governor Snyder Embarks on Another Eight-Day Foreign Business "Mission" (WHTC)
For the second time in three weeks, Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley is the operational chief executive of Michigan. Governor Snyder embarked on an eight-day investment mission to Japan and Germany in a trip similar to one he made last month to China.

Gov. Snyder promotes Michigan in Japan and Germany (MI 26 News)
Gov. Rick Snyder is traveling the world once again on a mission to promote Michigan. Snyder is leading an investment mission to Japan and Germany with a focus on strengthening trade relationships for Michigan-made goods. Snyder is meeting with government and company leaders from both countries throughout the next week.

Courser/Gamrat/ Special Election
Snyder will decide when lawmakers' replacements chosen (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder will decide when the constituents of former Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat will get replacements. The Republican incumbent must decide when to call special primary and general elections to choose replacements for Courser in the 80th District in Lapeer County and Gamrat in the 82nd District in Allegan County.

Snyder welcomes Michigan State Police investigation of Courser, Gamrat (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, who has refrained from saying much about the Capitol sex scandal, indicated that he supports opening an MSP investigation into Courser and Gamrat.

Gov. Snyder Supports MSP Decision To Open Criminal Investigation Into Former State Representatives (WILX)
Gov. Rick Snyder issued the following statement Friday regarding the Michigan House of Representatives request for the Michigan State Police to investigate the actions of Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat:

Snyder to call elections to replace Courser, Gamrat (Freep)
It's now up to Gov. Rick Snyder to call elections to replace two tea party lawmakers who lost their seats early Friday in a scandal over misuse of House resources in an attempt to cover up their extramarital affair. Candidates have already expressed interest in replacing Rep. Todd Courser, R-Lapeer, and Rep. Cindy Gamrat, R-Plainwell.

Chris Priest new role

Former Snyder adviser Chris Priest named new Michigan Medicaid director (Crain's Detroit Business)
Chris Priest, Gov. Rick Snyder's former deputy strategy director, has been named the state's new Medicaid director, the Department of Health and Human Services said Thursday.

New State Medicaid Program Chief Named (WHTC)
Chris Priest, a one-time staffer in both the Granholm and Snyder gubernatorial administrations, was tapped by state Health and Human Services Director Nick Lyon to take over the Medical Services Administration.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley talks with Paul W. Smith on WJR (WJR)
Lt. Governor Brian Calley talks to Paul W. Smith about the need for changes in the state's special education programs.

Ford Museum hosts 9/11 ceremonies (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
Friday evening will conclude with an hour-long ceremony at 7 p.m. with a performance by the Salvation Army Brass Brand, the SpartanNash flag presentation, remarks from Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, remarks by Boy Scout Council President Wayman Britt and a final salute.

Dr. Jay Kulbertis was recognized as the 2015 Manufacturing Talent Champion (TV 3 UP)
"Employers today say I'm having a difficult time filling the spots," said Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley. "Getting people with the right skill set and the right background the right ingredients for what we need."

Lt. Governor at WMU for launch of new autism center (WWMT)
Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley will be at Western Michigan University Friday to help launch a critical new resource center. It's the grand opening of Western's Evaluation Center for Autism and Neurodevelopmental Disorder or WECAN.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Bill Schuette: Let Michigan take on Iran (Detroit Free Press)
Until Todd Courser's ingenious plan to "inoculate the herd" against the disclosure of his extracurricular canoodling with fellow state Rep. Cindy Gamrat misfired, Lansing's worst-kept secret was the unsated political ambitions of state Attorney General Bill Schuette.

DEQ
Feds sending in experts to help Flint keep lead out of water (MLive)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says it will send help to the city as it develops plans for controlling corrosion in treated Flint River water, a key to keeping lead from leaching into homes and businesses.

Group file comments with DEQ regarding biomass power plant (Upper Michigan's Source)
Two environmental groups charged that a draft state air permit for a power plant located in the Upper Peninsula provides little or no protection to residents of L'Anse.

Detroit hazardous waste site plans tenfold expansion (Detroit Free Press)
For four decades, residents off Mt. Elliott Street near I-94 in Detroit have lived -- somewhat uneasily -- next to a hazardous waste processing facility, through which tons of the most toxic chemicals from industry are treated and temporarily stored.

Mapping Michigan wetland loss (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality has released its first status report on the wetlands in our state.

MEDC
Under the Bridge project meets fundraising goal (LSJ)
By next spring, the U.S. 127 overpass on Michigan Avenue will be transformed into a work of art.

MSP

Police holding press conference regarding Parrack investigation (Wood TV)
Nearly eight years after she was strangled and her body dumped in a southwest Michigan cemetery, a suspect has been arrested and charged with the murder of 11-year-old Jodi Parrack.

Police, prosecutor to provide update on Jodi Parrack homicide (MLive)
Michigan State Police and St. Joseph County Prosecutor John McDonough have scheduled a press conference for 5 p.m. Thursday to discuss the unsolved homicide of 11-year-old Jodi Parrack.

Michigan gets $7.5M to help clear untested rape kits (Detroit Free Press)
he Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, Michigan State Police and the city of Flint are set to receive nearly $7.5 million total to help further cut the number of untested sexual assault kits, while also paying to conduct DNA analysis, investigate crimes and help rape victims across the state.

More than $7 million awarded to test backlogged rape kits in Michigan (MLive)
Two Michigan police agencies and the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office will receive more than $7 million in federal grants to help test a backlog of rape kits.

State police, Flint get money for sex assault kit testing (AP)
The state police and Flint Police Department will receive grants to help reduce backlogs of untested sexual assault kits.

MSP, Flint, Wayne County get money to test rape kits (Detroit News)
Three Michigan law enforcement agencies will get grants to reduce backlogs of untested sexual assault kits.

School bus inspections improved from 2014 (Times Herald)
Eighteen school buses out of 342 in St. Clair and Sanilac counties failed inspections this year, and another four were cited for less serious violations, according to the latest Michigan State Police report.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

New bill would get rid of open-carry loophole (Michigan Radio)
A new Michigan Senate bill introduced this week would close a loophole that allows open carry of firearms in gun-free zones, including schools and places of worship.

As sex scandal winds down, voters want Mich. legislature to focus on roads (WWMUT)
Viewers keep telling us that they're tired of stories like Gamrat and Courser, and they want their lawmakers to stop talking about the sex scandal and focus on a road solution.

One Michigan lawmaker resigns, second expelled over love affair, botched cover-up (Fox News)
One Michigan state representative resigned early Friday and a second was expelled from the House amid an investigation over a sexual affair between the two and a bizarre attempt to cover it up involving a phony email sent by one of the lawmakers.

Disgraced Michigan lawmaker resigns in sex scandal, another expelled (CNN)
The Michigan lawmakers at the center of a sex scandal at the Statehouse were forced out by angry colleagues early Friday morning, following hours of heated debate.

Fate of Michigan lawmakers in sex scandal decided (CBS News)
One of two socially conservative Michigan lawmakers embroiled in scandal over their extramarital affair resigned early Friday morning rather than face possible -- perhaps likely expulsion.

DETROIT

Focus: HOPE to get $3M for apprenticeship training (Detroit News)
Detroit's Focus: HOPE will receive $3 million in apprenticeship grants to train the workforce of the future in information technology and advanced manufacturing.

Arena holdout asks $3.5 million for fire-damaged home (Detroit News)
The owners of a fire-damaged Cass Corridor house in the shadow of the new Red Wings arena are asking $3.5 million for the property. They are among the few holdouts in the area around the venue who have not sold to the Ilitch organization, which owns the Wings.

Michigan gets $7.5M to help clear untested rape kits (Detroit Free Press)
The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, Michigan State Police and the city of Flint are set to receive nearly $7.5 million total to help further cut the number of untested sexual assault kits, while also paying to conduct DNA analysis, investigate crimes and help rape victims across the state.

OPINION

Bill Schuette: Let Michigan take on Iran (Detroit Free Press)
Until Todd Courser's ingenious plan to "inoculate the herd" against the disclosure of his extracurricular canoodling with fellow state Rep. Cindy Gamrat misfired, Lansing's worst-kept secret was the unsated political ambitions of state Attorney General Bill Schuette.

House should show state Reps. Courser, Gamrat the door (Detroit Free Press)
We don't have a roads deal, or a plan to reform Detroit Public Schools, or significant progress on any of the other pressing issues facing Michigan. But a House of Representatives committee charged with reviewing the evidence against state Reps. Todd Courser, R-Lapeer, and Cindy Gamrat, R-Plainwell, has reached the right conclusion: Both should be expelled.

Howes: Courser-Gamrat embarassment tars GOP (Detroit News)
Until the end, Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat would not be ignored.

News readers: Lansing needs to fix Michigan's roads (Detroit News)
This is what happens when you go from collecting $2 billion in taxes on businesses to $287 million in 4 years. Funny how they're already collecting $2.5 billion more from citizens in the state yet can't find the money; might as well jack up taxes some more. I'm done with both parties; they are worthless to the average person.

Jacques: Obama promotes a higher ed idea that works (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama has had a lot of bad ideas about higher education during his tenure, but his promise to expand apprenticeship programs holds potential.

Our Editorial: Feds, fund the Soo study (Detroit News)
Maintaining the avenues of commerce is a core responsibility of the federal government. Currently, it's failing big-time at that basic duty.

Susan J. Demas: Why should democrats vote for a bad road deal? (MLive)
What do Democrats gain by voting for a bad road-funding deal?

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, September 11, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Trade mission

Governor Snyder Embarks on Another Eight-Day Foreign Business "Mission" (WHTC)
For the second time in three weeks, Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley is the operational chief executive of Michigan. Governor Snyder embarked on an eight-day investment mission to Japan and Germany in a trip similar to one he made last month to China.

Gov. Snyder promotes Michigan in Japan and Germany (MI 26 News)
Gov. Rick Snyder is traveling the world once again on a mission to promote Michigan. Snyder is leading an investment mission to Japan and Germany with a focus on strengthening trade relationships for Michigan-made goods. Snyder is meeting with government and company leaders from both countries throughout the next week.

Courser/Gamrat/ Special Election

Snyder will decide when lawmakers' replacements chosen (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder will decide when the constituents of former Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat will get replacements. The Republican incumbent must decide when to call special primary and general elections to choose replacements for Courser in the 80th District in Lapeer County and Gamrat in the 82nd District in Allegan County.

Snyder welcomes Michigan State Police investigation of Courser, Gamrat (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, who has refrained from saying much about the Capitol sex scandal, indicated that he supports opening an MSP investigation into Courser and Gamrat.

Gov. Snyder Supports MSP Decision To Open Criminal Investigation Into Former State Representatives (WILX)
Gov. Rick Snyder issued the following statement Friday regarding the Michigan House of Representatives request for the Michigan State Police to investigate the actions of Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat:

Snyder to call elections to replace Courser, Gamrat (Freep)
It's now up to Gov. Rick Snyder to call elections to replace two tea party lawmakers who lost their seats early Friday in a scandal over misuse of House resources in an attempt to cover up their extramarital affair. Candidates have already expressed interest in replacing Rep. Todd Courser, R-Lapeer, and Rep. Cindy Gamrat, R-Plainwell.

Chris Priest new role

Former Snyder adviser Chris Priest named new Michigan Medicaid director (Crain's Detroit Business)
Chris Priest, Gov. Rick Snyder's former deputy strategy director, has been named the state's new Medicaid director, the Department of Health and Human Services said Thursday.

New State Medicaid Program Chief Named (WHTC)
Chris Priest, a one-time staffer in both the Granholm and Snyder gubernatorial administrations, was tapped by state Health and Human Services Director Nick Lyon to take over the Medical Services Administration.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley talks with Paul W. Smith on WJR (WJR)
Lt. Governor Brian Calley talks to Paul W. Smith about the need for changes in the state's special education programs.

Ford Museum hosts 9/11 ceremonies (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
Friday evening will conclude with an hour-long ceremony at 7 p.m. with a performance by the Salvation Army Brass Brand, the SpartanNash flag presentation, remarks from Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, remarks by Boy Scout Council President Wayman Britt and a final salute.

Dr. Jay Kulbertis was recognized as the 2015 Manufacturing Talent Champion (TV 3 UP)
"Employers today say I'm having a difficult time filling the spots," said Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley. "Getting people with the right skill set and the right background the right ingredients for what we need."

Lt. Governor at WMU for launch of new autism center (WWMT)
Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley will be at Western Michigan University Friday to help launch a critical new resource center. It's the grand opening of Western's Evaluation Center for Autism and Neurodevelopmental Disorder or WECAN.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Bill Schuette: Let Michigan take on Iran (Detroit Free Press)
Until Todd Courser's ingenious plan to "inoculate the herd" against the disclosure of his extracurricular canoodling with fellow state Rep. Cindy Gamrat misfired, Lansing's worst-kept secret was the unsated political ambitions of state Attorney General Bill Schuette.

DEQ
Feds sending in experts to help Flint keep lead out of water (MLive)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says it will send help to the city as it develops plans for controlling corrosion in treated Flint River water, a key to keeping lead from leaching into homes and businesses.

Group file comments with DEQ regarding biomass power plant (Upper Michigan's Source)
Two environmental groups charged that a draft state air permit for a power plant located in the Upper Peninsula provides little or no protection to residents of L'Anse.

Detroit hazardous waste site plans tenfold expansion (Detroit Free Press)
For four decades, residents off Mt. Elliott Street near I-94 in Detroit have lived -- somewhat uneasily -- next to a hazardous waste processing facility, through which tons of the most toxic chemicals from industry are treated and temporarily stored.

Mapping Michigan wetland loss (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality has released its first status report on the wetlands in our state.

MEDC
Under the Bridge project meets fundraising goal (LSJ)
By next spring, the U.S. 127 overpass on Michigan Avenue will be transformed into a work of art.

MSP
Police holding press conference regarding Parrack investigation (Wood TV)
Nearly eight years after she was strangled and her body dumped in a southwest Michigan cemetery, a suspect has been arrested and charged with the murder of 11-year-old Jodi Parrack.

Police, prosecutor to provide update on Jodi Parrack homicide (MLive)
Michigan State Police and St. Joseph County Prosecutor John McDonough have scheduled a press conference for 5 p.m. Thursday to discuss the unsolved homicide of 11-year-old Jodi Parrack.

Michigan gets $7.5M to help clear untested rape kits (Detroit Free Press)
he Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, Michigan State Police and the city of Flint are set to receive nearly $7.5 million total to help further cut the number of untested sexual assault kits, while also paying to conduct DNA analysis, investigate crimes and help rape victims across the state.

More than $7 million awarded to test backlogged rape kits in Michigan (MLive)
Two Michigan police agencies and the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office will receive more than $7 million in federal grants to help test a backlog of rape kits.

State police, Flint get money for sex assault kit testing (AP)
The state police and Flint Police Department will receive grants to help reduce backlogs of untested sexual assault kits.

MSP, Flint, Wayne County get money to test rape kits (Detroit News)
Three Michigan law enforcement agencies will get grants to reduce backlogs of untested sexual assault kits.

School bus inspections improved from 2014 (Times Herald)
Eighteen school buses out of 342 in St. Clair and Sanilac counties failed inspections this year, and another four were cited for less serious violations, according to the latest Michigan State Police report.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

New bill would get rid of open-carry loophole (Michigan Radio)
A new Michigan Senate bill introduced this week would close a loophole that allows open carry of firearms in gun-free zones, including schools and places of worship.

As sex scandal winds down, voters want Mich. legislature to focus on roads (WWMUT)
Viewers keep telling us that they're tired of stories like Gamrat and Courser, and they want their lawmakers to stop talking about the sex scandal and focus on a road solution.

One Michigan lawmaker resigns, second expelled over love affair, botched cover-up (Fox News)

One Michigan state representative resigned early Friday and a second was expelled from the House amid an investigation over a sexual affair between the two and a bizarre attempt to cover it up involving a phony email sent by one of the lawmakers.

Disgraced Michigan lawmaker resigns in sex scandal, another expelled (CNN)
The Michigan lawmakers at the center of a sex scandal at the Statehouse were forced out by angry colleagues early Friday morning, following hours of heated debate.

Fate of Michigan lawmakers in sex scandal decided (CBS News)
One of two socially conservative Michigan lawmakers embroiled in scandal over their extramarital affair resigned early Friday morning rather than face possible -- perhaps likely expulsion.

DETROIT

Focus: HOPE to get $3M for apprenticeship training (Detroit News)
Detroit's Focus: HOPE will receive $3 million in apprenticeship grants to train the workforce of the future in information technology and advanced manufacturing.

Arena holdout asks $3.5 million for fire-damaged home (Detroit News)
The owners of a fire-damaged Cass Corridor house in the shadow of the new Red Wings arena are asking $3.5 million for the property. They are among the few holdouts in the area around the venue who have not sold to the Ilitch organization, which owns the Wings.

Michigan gets $7.5M to help clear untested rape kits (Detroit Free Press)
The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, Michigan State Police and the city of Flint are set to receive nearly $7.5 million total to help further cut the number of untested sexual assault kits, while also paying to conduct DNA analysis, investigate crimes and help rape victims across the state.

OPINION

Bill Schuette: Let Michigan take on Iran (Detroit Free Press)
Until Todd Courser's ingenious plan to "inoculate the herd" against the disclosure of his extracurricular canoodling with fellow state Rep. Cindy Gamrat misfired, Lansing's worst-kept secret was the unsated political ambitions of state Attorney General Bill Schuette.

House should show state Reps. Courser, Gamrat the door (Detroit Free Press)
We don't have a roads deal, or a plan to reform Detroit Public Schools, or significant progress on any of the other pressing issues facing Michigan. But a House of Representatives committee charged with reviewing the evidence against state Reps. Todd Courser, R-Lapeer, and Cindy Gamrat, R-Plainwell, has reached the right conclusion: Both should be expelled.

Howes: Courser-Gamrat embarassment tars GOP (Detroit News)
Until the end, Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat would not be ignored.

News readers: Lansing needs to fix Michigan's roads (Detroit News)
This is what happens when you go from collecting $2 billion in taxes on businesses to $287 million in 4 years. Funny how they're already collecting $2.5 billion more from citizens in the state yet can't find the money; might as well jack up taxes some more. I'm done with both parties; they are worthless to the average person.

Jacques: Obama promotes a higher ed idea that works (Detroit News)

President Barack Obama has had a lot of bad ideas about higher education during his tenure, but his promise to expand apprenticeship programs holds potential.

Our Editorial: Feds, fund the Soo study (Detroit News)
Maintaining the avenues of commerce is a core responsibility of the federal government. Currently, it's failing big-time at that basic duty.

Susan J. Demas: Why should democrats vote for a bad road deal? (MLive)
What do Democrats gain by voting for a bad road-funding deal?

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, September 15, 2015 9:37 AM
Subject: 9/15 Newsroom
Attachments: 150915 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Sept. 15, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Trade mission
Snyder attempts to strengthen ties with Japan during overseas trip (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder touted Michigan's growth before the Midwest U.S.-Japan Association Conference in Tokyo at the midway point of an eight-day business mission. Over the weekend, this state's chief executive reaffirmed a nearly 50-year-long sister state agreement with the governor of Shiga Prefecture.

Proclamation
How can Michigan welcome immigrants? Let's start with Syria (Crain's Detroit Business)
Part of Gov. Rick Snyder's plan to continue a growth curve for Michigan's economy rests with immigrants. He designated Sept. 14-20 as immigration week — officially Welcoming Week in Michigan — to recognize the economic assets that immigrants, many of them entrepreneurs, play in our economy.

Snyder declares Michigan "Welcoming Week" to honor immigrants (Michigan Radio)
The immigration question is causing turmoil in the Republican presidential primary, but Governor Rick Snyder is standing by his staunchly pro-immigration position. Snyder has declared this "Welcoming Week" with a particular focus on honoring immigrants.

Flag honors
Gov. Snyder orders flags to half staff to honor Lansing firefighter (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder is ordering flags at half-staff on Wednesday at the State Capitol, and all state buildings, in honor of Lansing firefighter Dennis Rodeman. Rodeman died last Wednesday, after police say a man deliberately hit him while he was collecting money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley spends morning with G.R. preschoolers (WZZM)
Lieutenant Governor and West Michigan native Brian Calley was in town Monday. He talked with parents and kids at the Early Learning Neighborhood Collaborative on Vries Street SW in Grand Rapids. The center got a new playground back in June, thanks to volunteers who built it in just a day. Monday's visit was all about dedicating the pre-school's new outdoor learning center.

Lt. gov. praises Spring Lake leaders (Grand Haven Tribune)

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, speaking at a ceremony behind Village Hall, said the two municipalities sharing space there is a solid example for other state municipalities to follow.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Schuette touts success of school safety hotline (AP)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is promoting a hotline and online student safety system called OK2SAY.

DEQ

State DEQ to answer questions about Flint's water woes (Michigan Radio)
"The head of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality plans to respond Monday to a demand for answers about Flint's water woes. Last week, State Sen. Jim Ananich, D-Flint, state Rep. Sheldon Neeley, D-Flint, and state Rep. Phil Phelps, D-Flushing, sent a letter to DEQ director Dan Wyant demanding answers to a list of questions about the safety and treatment of Flint's drinking water."

Flint asks Snyder for $30M to upgrade water system (AP)
The mayor of Flint is asking Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder for $30 million to help upgrade the city's water system and replace lead service pipes. The Flint Journal reports Mayor Dayne Walling announced his request while speaking Monday to the City Council. The request was made that day in a letter to Snyder.

Removing Kalamazoo River dams in Otsego topic of Sept. 15 meeting (MLive)
"The Kalamazoo River natural resource trustees are asking for comment from the public on restoration of the river, particularly the proposed removal of the two Otsego-area dams."

DHHS

Bubonic plague case confirmed in Michigan (Freep)
A Michigan resident has contracted the rare, life-threatening bubonic plague — the first documented case in Michigan's public health history, state officials confirmed. The Marquette County adult is recovering after apparently contracting the flea-borne illness during a trip to Colorado. Officials are reassuring the public there is no cause for alarm, despite the disease's connection to the microorganism that caused the Black Death plague in Europe in the 1300s, killing millions and reshaping history.

DNR

DNR: Project to improve access to Lake Huron (Detroit News)
"A $65,000 boat ramp replacement project in Arenac County is designed to improve access to Lake Huron."

Trailhead property purchased for Muskegon link in Grand Rapids-Hart trail (MLive)
"The much-anticipated Fred Meijer Berry Junction Trail -- which would link bike trails from Grand Rapids to Muskegon to Hart -- could have a convenient trailhead off of Giles Road."

DNR approves land transactions in the U.P. (Upper Michigan's Source)
"Michigan Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh approved several land transactions at the Sept. 10 meeting of the Michigan Natural Resources Commission in Lansing."

Headlands Dark Sky Park hosting Harvest Moon Total Eclipse viewing event (Up North Live)
"Michigan has five state parks with dark sky preserves, and on the night of Sept. 27, there will be even more of a reason to visit these parks. The night of Sept. 27 will have a Super Harvest Moon Total Eclipse. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says Michigan state parks and state forest campgrounds are ideal viewing locations."

MDE

Teachers on Food Stamps? Not Likely (Capitol Confidential)
"Fran Cullen, a retired Traverse City teacher who blogs and writes for union publications, became the latest union activist to claim that the pay at Michigan schools is so low that some teachers are forced onto food stamps."

Michigan per-pupil spending flatlines, and 6 other facts on K-12 expenditures (Mlive)
Michigan spending on K-12 public school students remained virtually the same between 2008-09 and 2013-14, according to state data.

The 2013-14 average was $9,568 per per pupil for general operations, not including capitol expenditures. That compares to $9,545 in 2008-09, the data shows. The 2013-14 data is the most recent available.

Average teacher pay continues to shrink, study shows (Cadillac News)
"The average salary of public school teachers in the state dropped by $360 in 2013-14 from the previous school year, which already was $84 less than in 2011-12, according to the Michigan Department of Education."

MDOT
Orange barrels: Should there be lights? (Freep)
A controversy over whether the Michigan Department of Transportation should move to brighter construction barrels that cost up to 43% more has raised questions among some suppliers about an earlier decision to remove orange lights from the tops of the barrels in the first place.

MEDC
Group hoping to bring children's museum to the area (Ogemaw County Herald)
"A group of area residents about 20-strong is working together in an attempt to bring a children's museum to West Branch and the surrounding area in the near future. West Branch City Manager Heather Grace is tentatively the president of the committee, and she told the Herald the idea for the museum came from a discussion with Michigan Economic Development Corporation Regional Representative Dan Leonard."

TED/TIA
Class-action lawsuit claims State of Michigan improperly seizing tax refunds (WXYZ)
"The State of Michigan's Unemployment Insurance Agency is improperly seizing the federal and state tax refunds of potentially thousands of men and women, according to a class-action lawsuit served on the state today."

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Legislature: Gun, abortion bills introduced (Detroit Free Press)
While most of the Legislature's attention was focused on expulsion hearings for two lawmakers, representatives and senators still managed to introduce 68 new bills in the first full week of their fall session after being off most of the summer. And the hot-button issues were predominant: from banning abortions after 20 weeks to closing the open carry loophole in Michigan's gun laws.

TV host John Oliver skewers Courser-Gamrat sex scandal (Detroit Free Press)
While this summer's sex scandal between former state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat has kept Lansing reporters busy, it's also functioning as an offering to the comedy gods. Sunday night, John Oliver, host of HBO's "Last Week Tonight" (and Jon Stewart's former protege) devoted a segment of his satirical newscast to cataloging all the salacious details from the Courser-Gamrat affair for a national audience.

Fields of candidates grow for seats of Courser, Gamrat (The Detroit News)
The number of candidates has grown for the state House seats that became vacant when Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat were forced out of the Legislature late last week during a dramatic session.

DETROIT

White House's 'Smart Cities' push includes Detroit (The Detroit News)
The White House on Monday unveiled a new $160 million "Smart Cities" initiative that will boost federal research and leverage more than 25 new technology collaborations to help local communities tackle important issues. The initiative includes a project with Detroit and Wayne State University, and its projects include efforts to reduce traffic congestion, fight crime, foster economic growth, manage the effects of climate change and improve the delivery of city services.

Detroit named one of best cities to be a teacher (Detroit Free Press)
In the latest of a string of random, attention-grabbing national rankings, Detroit has been named one of the top cities in the U.S. to be a teacher – leaving some in the profession scratching their heads. A New York-based research and analytics company called Value Penguin said Detroit is the third best large city (with a population of more than 500,000) in the U.S. for teachers, behind San Diego and Oakland, Calif. Of 30 cities of various sizes, Detroit was sixth overall.

Ally donates 3,000 new library books to Detroit Public Schools (SubPrime)
In honor of local students going back to school, Ally Financial recently announced that it will be donating 3,000 new library books to schools in the Detroit Public School district. Officials highlighted elementary and middle school libraries throughout the district will receive 50 new books that focus on various financial literacy skills and concepts with selections for pre-kindergarten through eighth grade reading levels.

Cushingberry featured in Belle Isle promotional videos (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit's second-ranking council member was filmed taking a dip in the Detroit River as part of a new video series to promote Belle Isle and its unique mix of attractions. George Cushingberry Jr., the council's president pro tem, wades in the river waist-deep before taking a plunge underwater to show residents it's fit for swimming. The video was posted today on the city of Detroit's YouTube channel.

Hundreds to throw bread crumbs into Detroit River in Rosh Hashanah observance (MLive)
A Detroit-area Jewish congregation plans to observe a Rosh Hashanah tradition at the Detroit riverfront on Tuesday. Hundreds are expected to gather at Hart Plaza to perform a symbolic casting-away of shortcomings in ritual called "Tashlich," the Hebrew word for "to cast." Tashlich is an annual ritual performed during Rosh Hashanah, a two-day observance of the Jewish new year, which began Sunday evening.

Can Dave Bing's voice reconnect the Pistons to Detroit? (Freep)
Thirty-seven years after the Detroit Pistons left Cobo Arena in downtown Detroit for the Oakland County suburbs, Tom Gores — now in his fifth year as team owner — is stepping up efforts to reconnect the Pistons with the city whose name the franchise carries.

$6.5 million Entrepreneurs of Color Fund debuts Tuesday (Detroit News)
A $6.5 million lending program debuts Tuesday for Detroit minority entrepreneurs and businesses that primarily hire minorities. The Entrepreneurs of Color program will provide financing for general contractors, small retailers and other neighborhood service businesses, according to a press release issued Monday. The fund will focus on businesses that traditionally have lower credit availability, lack access to capital and staffing and primarily serve Detroit's neighborhoods.

MISCELLANEOUS

Wage repeal group submits 390,000 petition signatures (Detroit News)
Protecting Michigan Taxpayers, a group with ties to the conservative DeVos family of Grand Rapids and a state organization representing nonunion contractors, has collected 390,000 petition signatures for its proposal to dump Michigan's prevailing wage law.

OPINION

Mackinac pipeline helps power Michigan's industrial comeback (MLive)
For months we've heard the same old rhetoric about the integrity of Enbridge's Line 5, which runs under the Straits of Mackinac. It's time to set the record straight about this important piece of Michigan's energy infrastructure, what it means for the state economy, and the commitment by the company and workers to ensure it continues to safely operate.

Why did the Courser-Gamrat scandal dominate headlines? (MLive)
Nobody outside Lansing really cared about theTodd Courser-Cindy Gamrat scandal, except to giggle about two politicians having sex.

In expulsion affair, social media gave pols feedback at the speed of 'like' (MLive)
Politicians are like everybody else. They want everybody to like them. That is especially important for them because their job security depends on that. But, alas, if you are making tough decisions, not everyone is going to be pleased.

Editorial: Bring them here (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama has signaled the United States will accept at least 10,000 more refugees from Syria during the next year. Michigan should lobby to be the destination for most, if not all of those seeking new homes.

Lund: Unions are chicken Little on prevailing wage (Detroit News)

"Chicken Little" — it's an age-old fable with a compelling lesson for Michigan's modern-day debate over whether to repeal prevailing wage laws. Don't let hysteria over an imagined threat obscure good judgment.

Bush: My tax overhaul will unleash growth (Detroit News)
Under President Barack Obama, Americans have now endured six years of tax increases, endless regulation, vast new federal programs and $8 trillion in added debt. The president told us this "stimulus" would jump-start the economy. Instead, we got an anemic economy growing at barely 2 percent a year. Some call this "the new normal" — but it isn't something we can accept if we are going to restore the opportunity for every American to rise and achieve earned success.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Sept. 15, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Trade mission
Snyder attempts to strengthen ties with Japan during overseas trip (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder touted Michigan's growth before the Midwest U.S.-Japan Association Conference in Tokyo at the midway point of an eight-day business mission. Over the weekend, this state's chief executive reaffirmed a nearly 50-year-long sister state agreement with the governor of Shiga Prefecture.

Proclamation
How can Michigan welcome immigrants? Let's start with Syria (Crain's Detroit Business)
Part of Gov. Rick Snyder's plan to continue a growth curve for Michigan's economy rests with immigrants. He designated Sept. 14-20 as immigration week — officially Welcoming Week in Michigan — to recognize the economic assets that immigrants, many of them entrepreneurs, play in our economy.

Snyder declares Michigan "Welcoming Week" to honor immigrants (Michigan Radio)
The immigration question is causing turmoil in the Republican presidential primary, but Governor Rick Snyder is standing by his staunchly pro-immigration position. Snyder has declared this "Welcoming Week" with a particular focus on honoring immigrants.

Flag honors
Gov. Snyder orders flags to half staff to honor Lansing firefighter (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder is ordering flags at half-staff on Wednesday at the State Capitol, and all state buildings, in honor of Lansing firefighter Dennis Rodeman. Rodeman died last Wednesday, after police say a man deliberately hit him while he was collecting money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley spends morning with G.R. preschoolers (WZZM)
Lieutenant Governor and West Michigan native Brian Calley was in town Monday. He talked with parents and kids at the Early Learning Neighborhood Collaborative on Vries Street SW in Grand Rapids. The center got a new playground back in June, thanks to volunteers who built it in just a day. Monday's visit was all about dedicating the pre-school's new outdoor learning center.

Lt. gov. praises Spring Lake leaders (Grand Haven Tribune)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, speaking at a ceremony behind Village Hall, said the two municipalities sharing space there is a solid example for other state municipalities to follow.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Schuette touts success of school safety hotline (AP)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is promoting a hotline and online student safety system called OK2SAY.

DEQ

State DEQ to answer questions about Flint's water woes (Michigan Radio)
"The head of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality plans to respond Monday to a demand for answers about Flint's water woes. Last week, State Sen. Jim Ananich, D-Flint, state Rep. Sheldon Neeley, D-Flint, and state Rep. Phil Phelps, D-Flushing, sent a letter to DEQ director Dan Wyant demanding answers to a list of questions about the safety and treatment of Flint's drinking water."

Flint asks Snyder for $30M to upgrade water system (AP)
The mayor of Flint is asking Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder for $30 million to help upgrade the city's water system and replace lead service pipes. The Flint Journal reports Mayor Dayne Walling announced his request while speaking Monday to the City Council. The request was made that day in a letter to Snyder.

Removing Kalamazoo River dams in Otsego topic of Sept. 15 meeting (MLive)
"The Kalamazoo River natural resource trustees are asking for comment from the public on restoration of the river, particularly the proposed removal of the two Otsego-area dams."

DHHS

Bubonic plague case confirmed in Michigan (Freep)
A Michigan resident has contracted the rare, life-threatening bubonic plague — the first documented case in Michigan's public health history, state officials confirmed. The Marquette County adult is recovering after apparently contracting the flea-borne illness during a trip to Colorado. Officials are reassuring the public there is no cause for alarm, despite the disease's connection to the microorganism that caused the Black Death plague in Europe in the 1300s, killing millions and reshaping history.

DNR

DNR: Project to improve access to Lake Huron (Detroit News)
"A $65,000 boat ramp replacement project in Arenac County is designed to improve access to Lake Huron."

Trailhead property purchased for Muskegon link in Grand Rapids-Hart trail (MLive)
"The much-anticipated Fred Meijer Berry Junction Trail -- which would link bike trails from Grand Rapids to Muskegon to Hart -- could have a convenient trailhead off of Giles Road."

DNR approves land transactions in the U.P. (Upper Michigan's Source)

"Michigan Department of Natural Resources Director Keith Creagh approved several land transactions at the Sept. 10 meeting of the Michigan Natural Resources Commission in Lansing."

Headlands Dark Sky Park hosting Harvest Moon Total Eclipse viewing event (Up North Live)
"Michigan has five state parks with dark sky preserves, and on the night of Sept. 27, there will be even more of a reason to visit these parks. The night of Sept. 27 will have a Super Harvest Moon Total Eclipse. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says Michigan state parks and state forest campgrounds are ideal viewing locations."

MDE
Teachers on Food Stamps? Not Likely (Capitol Confidential)
"Fran Cullen, a retired Traverse City teacher who blogs and writes for union publications, became the latest union activist to claim that the pay at Michigan schools is so low that some teachers are forced onto food stamps."

Michigan per-pupil spending flatlines, and 6 other facts on K-12 expenditures (Mlive)
Michigan spending on K-12 public school students remained virtually the same between 2008-09 and 2013-14, according to state data. The 2013-14 average was $9,568 per per pupil for general operations, not including capitol expenditures. That compares to $9,545 in 2008-09, the data shows. The 2013-14 data is the most recent available.

Average teacher pay continues to shrink, study shows (Cadillac News)
"The average salary of public school teachers in the state dropped by $360 in 2013-14 from the previous school year, which already was $84 less than in 2011-12, according to the Michigan Department of Education."

MDOT
Orange barrels: Should there be lights? (Freep)
A controversy over whether the Michigan Department of Transportation should move to brighter construction barrels that cost up to 43% more has raised questions among some suppliers about an earlier decision to remove orange lights from the tops of the barrels in the first place.

MEDC
Group hoping to bring children's museum to the area (Ogemaw County Herald)
"A group of area residents about 20-strong is working together in an attempt to bring a children's museum to West Branch and the surrounding area in the near future. West Branch City Manager Heather Grace is tentatively the president of the committee, and she told the Herald the idea for the museum came from a discussion with Michigan Economic Development Corporation Regional Representative Dan Leonard."

TED/TIA
Class-action lawsuit claims State of Michigan improperly seizing tax refunds (WXYZ)

"The State of Michigan's Unemployment Insurance Agency is improperly seizing the federal and state tax refunds of potentially thousands of men and women, according to a class-action lawsuit served on the state today."

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Legislature: Gun, abortion bills introduced (Detroit Free Press)
While most of the Legislature's attention was focused on expulsion hearings for two lawmakers, representatives and senators still managed to introduce 68 new bills in the first full week of their fall session after being off most of the summer. And the hot-button issues were predominant: from banning abortions after 20 weeks to closing the open carry loophole in Michigan's gun laws.

TV host John Oliver skewers Courser-Gamrat sex scandal (Detroit Free Press)
While this summer's sex scandal between former state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat has kept Lansing reporters busy, it's also functioning as an offering to the comedy gods. Sunday night, John Oliver, host of HBO's "Last Week Tonight" (and Jon Stewart's former protege) devoted a segment of his satirical newscast to cataloging all the salacious details from the Courser-Gamrat affair for a national audience.

Fields of candidates grow for seats of Courser, Gamrat (The Detroit News)
The number of candidates has grown for the state House seats that became vacant when Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat were forced out of the Legislature late last week during a dramatic session.

DETROIT

White House's 'Smart Cities' push includes Detroit (The Detroit News)
The White House on Monday unveiled a new $160 million "Smart Cities" initiative that will boost federal research and leverage more than 25 new technology collaborations to help local communities tackle important issues. The initiative includes a project with Detroit and Wayne State University, and its projects include efforts to reduce traffic congestion, fight crime, foster economic growth, manage the effects of climate change and improve the delivery of city services.

Detroit named one of best cities to be a teacher (Detroit Free Press)
In the latest of a string of random, attention-grabbing national rankings, Detroit has been named one of the top cities in the U.S. to be a teacher – leaving some in the profession scratching their heads. A New York-based research and analytics company called Value Penguin said Detroit is the third best large city (with a population of more than 500,000) in the U.S. for teachers, behind San Diego and Oakland, Calif. Of 30 cities of various sizes, Detroit was sixth overall.

Ally donates 3,000 new library books to Detroit Public Schools (SubPrime)
In honor of local students going back to school, Ally Financial recently announced that it will be donating 3,000 new library books to schools in the Detroit Public School district. Officials highlighted elementary and middle school libraries throughout the district will receive 50 new books that focus on various financial literacy skills and concepts with selections for pre-kindergarten through eighth grade reading levels.

Cushingberry featured in Belle Isle promotional videos (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit's second-ranking council member was filmed taking a dip in the Detroit River as part of a new video series to promote Belle Isle and its unique mix of attractions. George Cushingberry Jr., the council's president pro tem, wades in the river waist-deep before taking a plunge underwater to show residents it's fit for swimming. The video was posted today on the city of Detroit's YouTube channel.

Hundreds to throw bread crumbs into Detroit River in Rosh Hashanah observance (MLive)
A Detroit-area Jewish congregation plans to observe a Rosh Hashanah tradition at the Detroit riverfront on Tuesday. Hundreds are expected to gather at Hart Plaza to perform a symbolic casting-away of shortcomings in ritual called "Tashlich," the Hebrew word for "to cast." Tashlich is an annual ritual performed during Rosh Hashanah, a two-day observance of the Jewish new year, which began Sunday evening.

Can Dave Bing's voice reconnect the Pistons to Detroit? (Freep)
Thirty-seven years after the Detroit Pistons left Cobo Arena in downtown Detroit for the Oakland County suburbs, Tom Gores — now in his fifth year as team owner — is stepping up efforts to reconnect the Pistons with the city whose name the franchise carries.

$6.5 million Entrepreneurs of Color Fund debuts Tuesday (Detroit News)
A $6.5 million lending program debuts Tuesday for Detroit minority entrepreneurs and businesses that primarily hire minorities. The Entrepreneurs of Color program will provide financing for general contractors, small retailers and other neighborhood service businesses, according to a press release issued Monday. The fund will focus on businesses that traditionally have lower credit availability, lack access to capital and staffing and primarily serve Detroit's neighborhoods.

MISCELLANEOUS

Wage repeal group submits 390,000 petition signatures (Detroit News)
Protecting Michigan Taxpayers, a group with ties to the conservative DeVos family of Grand Rapids and a state organization representing nonunion contractors, has collected 390,000 petition signatures for its proposal to dump Michigan's prevailing wage law.

OPINION

Mackinac pipeline helps power Michigan's industrial comeback (MLive)
For months we've heard the same old rhetoric about the integrity of Enbridge's Line 5, which runs under the Straits of Mackinac. It's time to set the record straight about this important piece of Michigan's energy infrastructure, what it means for the state economy, and the commitment by the company and workers to ensure it continues to safely operate.

Why did the Courser-Gamrat scandal dominate headlines? (MLive)
Nobody outside Lansing really cared about theTodd Courser-Cindy Gamrat scandal, except to giggle about two politicians having sex.
In expulsion affair, social media gave pols feedback at the speed of 'like' (MLive)
Politicians are like everybody else. They want everybody to like them. That is especially important for them because their job security depends on that. But, alas, if you are making tough decisions, not everyone is going to be pleased.

Editorial: Bring them here (Detroit News)

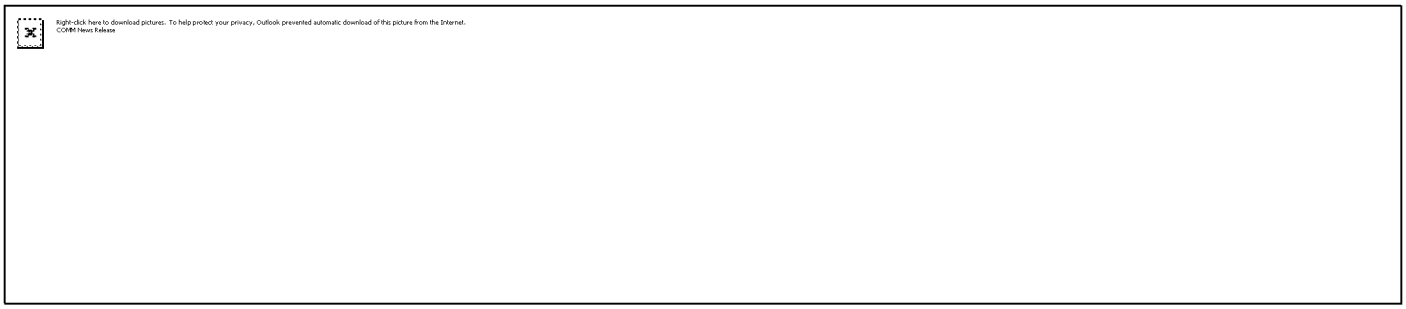
President Barack Obama has signaled the United States will accept at least 10,000 more refugees from Syria during the next year. Michigan should lobby to be the destination for most, if not all of those seeking new homes.

Lund: Unions are chicken Little on prevailing wage (Detroit News)
"Chicken Little" — it's an age-old fable with a compelling lesson for Michigan's modern-day debate over whether to repeal prevailing wage laws. Don't let hysteria over an imagined threat obscure good judgment.

Bush: My tax overhaul will unleash growth (Detroit News)
Under President Barack Obama, Americans have now endured six years of tax increases, endless regulation, vast new federal programs and $8 trillion in added debt. The president told us this "stimulus" would jump-start the economy. Instead, we got an anemic economy growing at barely 2 percent a year. Some call this "the new normal" — but it isn't something we can accept if we are going to restore the opportunity for every American to rise and achieve earned success.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Friday, October 02, 2015 1:58 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder: Comprehensive action plan will help Flint residents address water concerns



Contacts: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
517-335-6397

Brad Wurfel, 517-284-6713
Department of Environmental Quality

Jennifer Eisner, 517-230-9804
Department of Health and Human Services

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Friday, October 2, 2015

Editor's Note: Click here for infographic and action plan.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Comprehensive action plan will help Flint residents address water concerns

Collaborative effort with state, federal and city leaders focuses on testing, assistance

FLINT, Mich. – Flint residents need to have access to safe, clean, water now and long into the future, Gov. Rick Snyder said, announcing a comprehensive action plan created with state, federal and city leaders to address concerns about drinking water.

The water leaving Flint's drinking water system is safe to drink, but some families with lead plumbing in their homes or service connections could experience higher levels of lead in the water that comes out of their faucets.

The action plan focuses on increasing water testing, offering additional precautions for families with lead plumbing in their homes, and providing long-term solutions to address the city's water infrastructure challenges. The plan was created at Snyder's direction by the Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Health and Human Services (DHHS), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the city of Flint.

"We are focused on helping ensure safe, clean, accessible drinking water and addressing and mitigating concerns and protecting public health," Snyder said. "Today's action plan builds upon ongoing work with local, state and federal agencies and our partnership with city and community leaders. Together, we are working to ensure that all Flint residents have accurate information and know that help is available to address potential problems."

The city and the state also are working together to gather more data to ensure the water that leaves the treatment plant as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe for all residents. The plan includes:

- Testing in Flint public schools immediately to ensure that drinking water is safe, with testing also available at no cost to any other school in Flint.
- Offering free water testing to Flint residents to assure their drinking water is safe.
- Providing free water filters to residents.
- Expanding health exposure testing of individual homes.
- Accelerating corrosion controls in the Flint drinking water system.
- Accelerating water system improvements to address replacing lead service lines.
- Expediting the completion of the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline.
- Expanding a Safe Drinking Water Technical Advisory Committee to ensure the best technology, practices and science are being followed by adding an expert from the Environmental Protection Agency's Office of Research and Development to the group.
- Naming Dr. Eden Wells, chief medical executive for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, as the Flint drinking water public health adviser.
- Boosting a comprehensive lead education program to make sure residents have detailed information about how to protect themselves and their homes.

Residents can have their water tested by calling 810-787-6537 and pressing 1, or emailing flintwater@cityofflint.com. The DEQ is covering the cost of this testing.

State leaders have been working closely with state and federal lawmakers to tap resources at all levels of government to address concerns.

State health experts said there has been an increase in elevated childhood blood lead levels in some specific communities. Initial analysis of MDHHS data found that blood lead levels of children in Flint have followed an expected seasonal trend. While this analysis for Flint as a whole remains true, a comprehensive and detailed review breaking down data by ZIP codes with the city revealed that MDHHS data is consistent with a study presented recently by Hurley Children's Hospital.

"While we cannot conclusively say that the water source change is the sole cause of the increase, this analysis supports our efforts as we take active steps to reduce all potential lead exposures in Flint," MDHHS Director Nick Lyon said. "As part of this, we are working closely with our public and private partners to provide Flint residents on MDHHS assistance programs with free water filters and inform families about the steps they can take to reduce all lead exposures in their home."

As a part of the action plan, National Sanitation Foundation certified water filters will be made available to Flint residents through emergency state funds and coordinated efforts with local community agencies and donors. Information about how to obtain the filters will soon be available.

"This action plan offers concrete steps we will take in a local, state and federal partnership to ensure all Flint residents have safe water to drink," DEQ Director Dan Wyant said. "The DEQ will work closely with the city to gather further data to ensure the water that leaves Flint's system as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe to drink."

Additional information is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

###

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to leedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Friday, October 16, 2015 9:05 AM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state budget+Michigan

state budget+Michigan

Daily update - October 16, 2015

NEWS

Beware Claims of State Budget Cuts

Michigan Capitol Confidential

A common refrain heard from policymakers is that there is no extra money in the budget for roads, or for most any other priority. Michigan's continued ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan state employees would see raises under deals

Detroit Free Press

... over how a federal health care tax would affect the state budget. If union ... The Michigan Corrections Organization, the Michigan State Employees ...

Flag as irrelevant

Ask Nick: Is there room for both Michigan and Michigan State at the top?

MLive.com

In football, Michigan's recruiting budget is going to be larger, the Wolverines will continue to push their brand into areas of the country that Michigan ...

Flag as irrelevant

What's the state of the rainy-day fund?

Michigan Radio

The Michigan Legislature has approved $9 million to deal with the fallout ... Demas says as of the last budget cycle there's about $386 million in the ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan House approves literacy bill that would hold back third-graders who lag in reading

WDIV Detroit

The state budget that took effect Oct. 1 includes about $28 million for added instructional time, screening, reading coaches and professional ...

Flag as irrelevant

For the record: Water crisis in Flint, Michigan, an obscene failure of government

Wisconsin Gazette

There's good news: The City of Flint, Michigan, ould soon reconnect to the Detroit Water and ... To lead a state, a balanced budget is not sufficient.

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Friday, October 16, 2015 3:03 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - October 16, 2015

NEWS

Ann Arbor angst creeps into Michigan State fan base

USA TODAY

Michigan hadn't even put its finishing touches on its 38-0 thrashing of Northwestern last weekend, and Michigan State fans were already assuming the ...

Ask Nick: Is there room for both Michigan and Michigan State at the top? - MLive.com

Michigan vs. Michigan State: Once Again, It Matters to the Rest of Us - RollingStone.com

Chip on its shoulder, green in its heart, Michigan State visits Michigan as an underdog - Washington Post

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Vandals strike ahead of Michigan State-Michigan game

Washington Times

Tracy Harris cleans a statue of Earvin "Magic" Johnson on the campus of Michigan State University, Thursday, Oct. 15, 2015, in East Lansing, Mich.

Michigan State again hit by vandalism ahead of football game - USA TODAY

Izzo denounces 'idiots' who vandalized Magic statue - Detroit Free Press

Blue paint hits Michigan State as vandals strike again during rivalry week with UM - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

ESPN's Kirk Herbstreit breaks down the Michigan State-Michigan game

MLive.com

ESPN analyst Kirk Herbstreit, shown here during a previous ESPN College GameDay appearance in East Lansing, provided MLive.com with an ...

Flag as irrelevant

Police search home of Michigan doctor after finding what seems to be fetus parts in car trunk

Fox News

Police in Michigan raided the home and office of an allegedly rogue ... The state Attorney General's Office suspects Roth may be performing illegal ...

Local, state, and federal authorities investigate Michigan abortionist after human tissue found in car ... - National Right to Life News

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Shilique Calhoun Finds a Good Fit in Michigan State's Pass Rush

New York Times

Gill, who was the defensive line coach at Michigan State at the time, was expecting Shilique Calhoun to be the next elite pass-rusher to join the ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State graffiti spotted on U-M campus

MLive.com

Michigan State fans are officially making their mark on the University of Michigan's campus. A day after the U-M fans hit MSU landmarks — including ...

Flag as irrelevant

Recruiting: Michigan State keeps moving up 2016 rankings

Detroit Free Press

Michigan State has benefited from this situation and jumped up a few spots. The fact that a few of the recent decommitted prospects are looking at ...

Flag as irrelevant

ESPN's College GameDay set up ahead of Michigan-Michigan State game

MLive.com

ESPN's College GameDay has set up on the north end of the Diag at the University of Michigan on Friday, October 16, 2015. Melanie Maxwell | The ...

Flag as irrelevant

What's the state of the rainy-day fund?

Michigan Radio

The Michigan Legislature has approved $9 million to deal with the fallout from the Flint water crisis. That price tag has turned attention to how the ...

Flag as irrelevant

I'm Shmacked coming to U-M to film party culture during Michigan-Michigan State game

MLive.com

This weekend, I'm Shmacked---- a group that films such party culture, including drinking and drug use, on college campuses across the nation ---- will ...

Ann Arbor's hour-by-hour forecast for Michigan, Michigan State game - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, December 03, 2015 9:21 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/3 Newsroom
Attachments: 151203 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, December 3, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

DC Visit
Snyder: investing in relationships key to China trade (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said investing in relationships with Chinese companies and people is a means not only for boosting business and jobs but moving toward solving more complex U.S.-Chinese issues, such as national security and intellectual property.

Proclamations
Gov. Rick Snyder names Dec. 7-11 as Computer Science Education Week (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently named Dec. 7-13 as Computer Science Education Week and encouraged schools and students across the state to engage in the Hour of Code initiative.

Bill Signing
Snyder signs measure to consolidate March election (Pioneer Tribune)
Local governments will be able to include candidates for local office and other questions on ballots for the March 2016 presidential primary election, under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Recall Petition
Detroit pastor submits revised Snyder recall petition (Detroit Free Press)
A Detroit pastor has submitted revised wording for a petition to recall Gov. Rick Snyder over the Flint water crisis, but an attorney for the governor says the new wording still fails to meet standards required under state law.

DEPARTMENTS

MDE
Michigan audit faults EAA for poor budget controls (The Detroit News)
The state-created Educational Achievement Authority suffered from a "consistent lack of controls" in information technology that resulted in poorly maintained budgets, vendors being paid without contracts and a lack of oversight in purchasing, a state audit concluded.

MSP
Michigan cops fume over loss of U.S. military vehicles (Detroit Free Press)

Michigan law enforcement agencies are returning donated surplus military equipment to the federal government this month — including tracked armored vehicles that metro Detroit sheriff's offices have had for more than a decade— under orders of the White House, and they are not happy about it.

Project Blue Light pledges to 'never forget' (Daily Tribune)

Police, firefighters, and first responders from around southeastern Michigan gathered in Hazel Park Tuesday evening to honor the memory and survivors of fellow officers killed in the line of duty. Five Michigan police officers, and three firefighters who died while on the job over the past year, were honored during the hour-long service.

MEDC

St. Johns industrial park adding technology, 100 jobs (Lansing State Journal)

The city has announced a partnership with Frontier Communications to bring fiber-optic technology services to the city's certified industrial park, a move that will add 100 jobs, according to local officials. The Clinton County Economic Alliance and Quest Software are also partners in the program, which will upgrade the technology available to customers inside the industrial park.

DNR

Restoration of Lake Michigan reef seeks to help native fish (AP)

About 450 tons of limestone have been dumped into Lake Michigan in a project to rehabilitate a northern Michigan reef and boost native fish populations. The Traverse City Record-Eagle reports the dumping location in Grand Traverse Bay is in a reef complex where lake trout, lake whitefish and lake herring are known to spawn. MLive.com reports the limestone was put in the water this summer.

Milkweed planted on Mackinac Island to aid monarch butterflies (MLive)

A new grassland habitat area has been established on Mackinac Island to aid the migratory North American monarch butterfly population. About 400,000 common milkweed seeds were scattered in November on roughly three acres of land at the east end of the island's airport by Mackinac State Historic Parks, a division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Michigan DNR targets illegal importation of deer in fight against chronic wasting disease (AP)

Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officers are targeting the illegal importation of deer into the state as part of an effort to prevent the spread of chronic wasting disease. The state says Tuesday that officers recently seized six deer being transported into the state along the Interstate 94 corridor of the border with Indiana in southwestern Michigan.

LEGISLATIVE

Reps. Liberati, Chang introduces reforms to emergency manager law (The News Herald)

State Reps. Frank Liberati (D-Allen Park) and Stephanie Chang (D-Detroit) announced Nov. 30 they have both introduced legislation to reform the laws governing emergency financial managers. If passed, their bills would amend the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act.

Switch data center tax break bills clear committee, head to Michigan House (Mlive)

The Michigan House Tax Policy committee on Wednesday advanced legislation that would provide large tax breaks to cloud-computing data center companies, including a Nevada-based firm that plans to open a Grand Rapids campus if the package is signed into law. Three House bills, approved in a series of 8-5 votes that blurred party lines, would exempt data centers from state sales, use and personal property taxes. As amended, local governments would have to sign off on any property tax reduction.

Election bills: No-reason absentee injected into debate over straight-ticket voting ban (Mlive)

A bill that would allow voters to cast absentee ballots at a local clerk's office without a reason was swiftly approved by the House Elections Committee on Wednesday, making it part of a broader discussion on changes to election law. Under current law, a person can only request an absentee ballot for one of six reasons: being over 60; being unable to vote without assistance at the polls; expecting to be out of town on election day; in jail awaiting arraignment or trial; unable to attend the polls for religious reasons; or being appointed to work as a precinct worker in a different precinct.

House to take up absentee, straight-party voting today (Detroit Free Press)

The House is poised to take up legislation that will make it easier to vote by absentee ballot, but eliminate straight-party ticket voting at the same time. Republicans in the Senate have already passed the elimination of straight-ticket voting, which Democrats believe is a partisan ploy to skew elections toward the GOP. The House Elections Committee will take up the legislation today after it voted Wednesday to pass a bill that would allow people to get an absentee ballot without providing a reason for needing to vote on a day other than Election Day.

Michigan officials should ignore gay marriage ruling, lawmakers say at religious freedom rally (Mlive)
Michigan officials should "reclaim this state's sovereignty by not recognizing or enforcing" the U.S. Supreme Court decision that gave same-sex couples the right to marry, according to a resolution set to be introduced in the state House. State Rep. Tom Hooker, R-Byron Center, read his pending resolution out loud Wednesday during a "rally to protect religious people and stop persecution of religious people" outside the Michigan Capitol.

DETROIT

Patterson lavishes Detroit lawmakers with rare praise (The Detroit News)
Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson lavished state representatives from Detroit with rare praise earlier this week for their continued opposition to Mayor Mike Duggan's auto insurance plan. Patterson sent all members of the Legislature a two-page letter on Wednesday warning against a Senate-passed no-fault auto insurance reform bill that has languished in the House since April.

Poverty up in third of Detroit area communities (The Detroit News)
Metro Detroit continues to stagger through its recovery from the Great Recession, even as auto sales soar to a record and the state jobless rate plummets. The pain lingers not just in the region's biggest cities, but also in some of its smallest suburbs, where household incomes are stagnant, if not smaller, and poverty is creeping up.

OPINION

Census: Few Michigan communities see income growth (Detroit Free Press)
Only 31 Michigan communities saw incomes rise over the 10-year period from 2005 to 2014, according to Census data released today.

Specialty courts cut costs, improve lives (Detroit Free Press)
Regionalism in government is a wonderful concept that is sometimes difficult to implement. Wayne County alone has 20 separate district courts and four municipal courts, each with its own judge or judges, funding source, court administrator and probation department. Many of these courts were created in times when government in general was expanding, not shrinking as it is now.

Finley: Today's campus protesters all about themselves (Detroit News)
A friend offered an intriguing take on the unrest present on many of America's college campuses.
Editorial: Debt is crushing state's schools (Detroit News)
The education financial crisis in Michigan extends well beyond Detroit Public Schools, as a new report from a major credit rating service confirms. The findings should move the talk about fixing school finances well beyond the state's largest district.

Editor's note: Dereliction of duty at DPS (Detroit News)
A lot of teachers probably mean it when they say it's all about the kids. I know they do. I've had great teachers. My brother is an inspiring public school teacher in Texas. My mom taught for a long time.

Letter: Area Muslim community promotes harmony (Detroit News)
The recent spate of violence conducted by the Islamic State in France, Lebanon and Sinai is a cause of deep concern for all. The extremists have committed outrageous acts that bring disrepute to Muslims over the world. There is a false perception that some media outlets have promoted that all Muslims are passively sitting and do not condemn atrocities by Jihadi groups. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Roads will continue to crumble under Republican road funding plan (MLive)
When I was elected to serve the people of the 95th House District, I knew it was an honor and a privilege to be their voice in Lansing for all matters concerning the district and the state as a whole. It was imperative that I stay faithful to those who elected me. That's why I didn't vote for the recent Republican road funding plan.

Ken Braun: Pyramid-scheme economics at work in special tax break for Nevada firm (MLive)
I grew up working in a Michigan family business that paid its taxes — all of them — just like most every other Michigan business. If that store didn't have the dollars to pay the sales or personal property taxes that would be owed for an improvement, then the improvement had to wait.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, December 3, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

DC Visit
Snyder: investing in relationships key to China trade (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said investing in relationships with Chinese companies and people is a means not only for boosting business and jobs but moving toward solving more complex U.S.-Chinese issues, such as national security and intellectual property.

Proclamations
Gov. Rick Snyder names Dec. 7-11 as Computer Science Education Week (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently named Dec. 7-13 as Computer Science Education Week and encouraged schools and students across the state to engage in the Hour of Code initiative.

Bill Signing
Snyder signs measure to consolidate March election (Pioneer Tribune)
Local governments will be able to include candidates for local office and other questions on ballots for the March 2016 presidential primary election, under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Recall Petition
Detroit pastor submits revised Snyder recall petition (Detroit Free Press)
A Detroit pastor has submitted revised wording for a petition to recall Gov. Rick Snyder over the Flint water crisis, but an attorney for the governor says the new wording still fails to meet standards required under state law.

DEPARTMENTS

MDE
Michigan audit faults EAA for poor budget controls (The Detroit News)
The state-created Educational Achievement Authority suffered from a "consistent lack of controls" in information technology that resulted in poorly maintained budgets, vendors being paid without contracts and a lack of oversight in purchasing, a state audit concluded.

MSP
Michigan cops fume over loss of U.S. military vehicles (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan law enforcement agencies are returning donated surplus military equipment to the federal government this month — including tracked armored vehicles that metro Detroit sheriff's offices have had for more than a decade— under orders of the White House, and they are not happy about it.
Project Blue Light pledges to 'never forget' (Daily Tribune)
Police, firefighters, and first responders from around southeastern Michigan gathered in Hazel Park Tuesday evening to honor the memory and survivors of fellow officers killed in the line of duty. Five

Michigan police officers, and three firefighters who died while on the job over the past year, were honored during the hour-long service.

MEDC

St. Johns industrial park adding technology, 100 jobs (Lansing State Journal)
The city has announced a partnership with Frontier Communications to bring fiber-optic technology services to the city's certified industrial park, a move that will add 100 jobs, according to local officials. The Clinton County Economic Alliance and Quest Software are also partners in the program, which will upgrade the technology available to customers inside the industrial park.

DNR

Restoration of Lake Michigan reef seeks to help native fish (AP)
About 450 tons of limestone have been dumped into Lake Michigan in a project to rehabilitate a northern Michigan reef and boost native fish populations. The Traverse City Record-Eagle reports the dumping location in Grand Traverse Bay is in a reef complex where lake trout, lake whitefish and lake herring are known to spawn. MLive.com reports the limestone was put in the water this summer.

Milkweed planted on Mackinac Island to aid monarch butterflies (MLive)
A new grassland habitat area has been established on Mackinac Island to aid the migratory North American monarch butterfly population. About 400,000 common milkweed seeds were scattered in November on roughly three acres of land at the east end of the island's airport by Mackinac State Historic Parks, a division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Michigan DNR targets illegal importation of deer in fight against chronic wasting disease (AP)
Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officers are targeting the illegal importation of deer into the state as part of an effort to prevent the spread of chronic wasting disease. The state says Tuesday that officers recently seized six deer being transported into the state along the Interstate 94 corridor of the border with Indiana in southwestern Michigan.

LEGISLATIVE

Reps. Liberati, Chang introduces reforms to emergency manager law (The News Herald)
State Reps. Frank Liberati (D-Allen Park) and Stephanie Chang (D-Detroit) announced Nov. 30 they have both introduced legislation to reform the laws governing emergency financial managers. If passed, their bills would amend the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act.

Switch data center tax break bills clear committee, head to Michigan House (Mlive)
The Michigan House Tax Policy committee on Wednesday advanced legislation that would provide large tax breaks to cloud-computing data center companies, including a Nevada-based firm that plans to open a Grand Rapids campus if the package is signed into law. Three House bills, approved in a series of 8-5 votes that blurred party lines, would exempt data centers from state sales, use and personal property taxes. As amended, local governments would have to sign off on any property tax reduction.

Election bills: No-reason absentee injected into debate over straight-ticket voting ban (Mlive)
A bill that would allow voters to cast absentee ballots at a local clerk's office without a reason was swiftly approved by the House Elections Committee on Wednesday, making it part of a broader discussion on changes to election law. Under current law, a person can only request an absentee ballot for one of six reasons: being over 60; being unable to vote without assistance at the polls; expecting to be out of town on election day; in jail awaiting arraignment or trial; unable to attend the polls for religious reasons; or being appointed to work as a precinct worker in a different precinct.

House to take up absentee, straight-party voting today (Detroit Free Press)
The House is poised to take up legislation that will make it easier to vote by absentee ballot, but eliminate straight-party ticket voting at the same time. Republicans in the Senate have already passed the elimination of straight-ticket voting, which Democrats believe is a partisan ploy to skew elections toward the GOP. The House Elections Committee will take up the legislation today after it voted Wednesday to pass a bill that would allow people to get an absentee ballot without providing a reason for needing to vote on a day other than Election Day.

Michigan officials should ignore gay marriage ruling, lawmakers say at religious freedom rally (Mlive)
Michigan officials should "reclaim this state's sovereignty by not recognizing or enforcing" the U.S. Supreme Court decision that gave same-sex couples the right to marry, according to a resolution set to be introduced in the state House. State Rep. Tom Hooker, R-Byron Center, read his pending resolution out loud Wednesday during a "rally to protect religious people and stop persecution of religious people" outside the Michigan Capitol.

DETROIT

Patterson lavishes Detroit lawmakers with rare praise (The Detroit News)
Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson lavished state representatives from Detroit with rare praise earlier this week for their continued opposition to Mayor Mike Duggan's auto insurance plan. Patterson sent all members of the Legislature a two-page letter on Wednesday warning against a Senate-passed no-fault auto insurance reform bill that has languished in the House since April.

Poverty up in third of Detroit area communities (The Detroit News)
Metro Detroit continues to stagger through its recovery from the Great Recession, even as auto sales soar to a record and the state jobless rate plummets. The pain lingers not just in the region's biggest cities, but also in some of its smallest suburbs, where household incomes are stagnant, if not smaller, and poverty is creeping up.

OPINION

Census: Few Michigan communities see income growth (Detroit Free Press)
Only 31 Michigan communities saw incomes rise over the 10-year period from 2005 to 2014, according to Census data released today.

Specialty courts cut costs, improve lives (Detroit Free Press)
Regionalism in government is a wonderful concept that is sometimes difficult to implement. Wayne County alone has 20 separate district courts and four municipal courts, each with its own judge or judges, funding source, court administrator and probation department. Many of these courts were created in times when government in general was expanding, not shrinking as it is now.

Finley: Today's campus protesters all about themselves (Detroit News)
A friend offered an intriguing take on the unrest present on many of America's college campuses.
Editorial: Debt is crushing state's schools (Detroit News)
The education financial crisis in Michigan extends well beyond Detroit Public Schools, as a new report from a major credit rating service confirms. The findings should move the talk about fixing school finances well beyond the state's largest district.

Editor's note: Dereliction of duty at DPS (Detroit News)
A lot of teachers probably mean it when they say it's all about the kids. I know they do. I've had great teachers. My brother is an inspiring public school teacher in Texas. My mom taught for a long time.

Letter: Area Muslim community promotes harmony (Detroit News)
The recent spate of violence conducted by the Islamic State in France, Lebanon and Sinai is a cause of deep concern for all. The extremists have committed outrageous acts that bring disrepute to Muslims over the world. There is a false perception that some media outlets have promoted that all Muslims are passively sitting and do not condemn atrocities by Jihadi groups. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Roads will continue to crumble under Republican road funding plan (MLive)
When I was elected to serve the people of the 95th House District, I knew it was an honor and a privilege to be their voice in Lansing for all matters concerning the district and the state as a whole. It was imperative that I stay faithful to those who elected me. That's why I didn't vote for the recent Republican road funding plan.

Ken Braun: Pyramid-scheme economics at work in special tax break for Nevada firm (MLive)
I grew up working in a Michigan family business that paid its taxes — all of them — just like most every other Michigan business. If that store didn't have the dollars to pay the sales or personal property taxes that would be owed for an improvement, then the improvement had to wait.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, December 11, 2015 10:02 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/11 Newsroom
Attachments: 151211 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, December 11, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews

Gov. Snyder Speaks with WFNT about Flint, Refugees, Job Creation and More (WFNT)
In his year end interview with WFNT, Governor Rick Snyder talked about issues still facing Flint, refugees coming to the U.S. and Michigan, changes to where and who can carry concealed weapons, job creation and more. Hear the full interview below:

With Valenti and Foster, Gov. Rick Snyder Talks Roads, Michigan Football [VIDEO] (97.1 The Ticket)
Who else wants a check for the repairs they have to suffer on Michigan roads? Mike Valenti and Terry Foster talked to Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder Tuesday in-studio, where the guy who goes by the moniker "one tough nerd" weighed in on roads, his love of his alma mater the University of Michigan, and more.

Gov. Snyder visits; Trump's anti-Muslim stance (Fox 2 Detroit)
Gov. Rick Snyder stops in and talks about all things state wise.

'Michigan Matters' Goes One-On-One With Gov. Snyder: On Trump, The Economy, Flint's Water Woes And DPS (CBS Detroit/WWJ-TV)
Gov. Rick Snyder stopped by CBS 62 studios to provide an update of the past year and answered probing questions from "Michigan Matters" Senior Producer/Host Carol Cain on the biggest stories of 2015.

Governor Snyder calls Trump's anti-Muslim comments "inappropriate" (Fox 47 News)
Governor Rick Snyder doesn't see any similarity between his call to temporarily stop Syrian refugees from coming to Michigan and Donald Trump's "No Muslims Allowed" immigration plan.

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

Bill OK'd to offer immunity for reporting drug overdose (AP)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, who chaired the task force, said Wednesday that he will push in 2016 to extend the legal protection to people 21 and older and to those reporting non-prescription drug overdoses, such as heroin- and cocaine-related emergencies.

APPOINTMENTS

Attorney Helal Farhat appointed as 19th District Court Magistrate (Arab American News)
Attorney Helal Farhat has been appointed as a part time 19th District Court Magistrate, filling a vacancy left by former magistrate Adel Harb, who last month was appointed to the 3rd Circuit Court by Governor Snyder.

Snyder puts former state GOP chair on Oakland U. board (Freep)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed the former chairman of the Michigan Republican Party to serve on the Oakland University Board of Trustees. Bobby Schostak served as the chairman of the state GOP from 2011 to 2014 before stepping aside.

Schostak named to OU Board of Trustees (OU News)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed Oakland University alumnus and long-time supporter Robert I. Schostak, of Bloomfield Hills, to the Oakland University Board of Trustees.

DEPARTMENTS

AG
Northern Michigan Landowners who signed leases with Chesapeake could see settlement checks (Mi News 26)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette announced on Thursday that approximately 700 Northern Michigan landowners who were affected by a racketeering and bid-rigging scheme involving the Chesapeake Energy Corporation should begin receiving claim forms soon.

DEQ
State settles litigation with owners of Flat Rock housing community (The News Herald)
The DEQ and Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette announced the state's settlement of civil litigation with the owners of a housing community in Flat Rock. The settlement resolves violations of Michigan's water laws by the owners of Arbor Americana Manufactured Housing Community, including Arbor Americana, LLC and one company official.

More lead in plumbing found at Flint's Brownell school, state report says (Mlive)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality report says an assessment of the plumbing system at Brownell STEM Academy found lead solder joints on copper piping, brass valves and fittings, brass components in fixtures and galvanized piping -- all potential sources of lead.

DNR
Wildlife researchers not so sure about drones (Great Lakes Echo)
Perhaps drones could track feral swine to help oust the invasive critter from Michigan. But local researchers are hesitant to employ the technology for wildlife management. "There's a lot of potential for uneasiness," said Stephen Beyer, who manages wildlife research at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Michigan Department of Natural Resources announces preliminary 2015 firearm deer harvest estimates (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources recently announced the preliminary estimates of the 2015 firearm deer harvest, which ended Nov. 30, with indications of mixed results throughout the state.

State confiscates 93-pound Petoskey stone from Michigan man (Mlive)
Nearly three months after Tim O'Brien lugged a giant 93-pound Petoskey stone from Lake Michigan, the state has confiscated the rock. Michigan Department of Natural Resources officers went to O'Brien's home in Copemish on Wednesday, Dec. 9, to collect the 93-pound rock he found in mid-September.

MDARD
Elm seed bug found in Michigan (Up Matters)
The Elm seed bug has made its way into Michigan. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development confirmed it has been discovered in Oakland County. The elm seed bug (Arocatus melanocephalus (Fabricius)) is a small, non-native home-invading pest native to south-central Europe. Elm seed bug is considered a minor pest of elm and other trees. It can, however, be a significant household nuisance because it enters buildings in large numbers to seek refuge from winter weather.

Exotic tree pest discovered in Oakland County (Detroit Free Press)
The state Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the elm seed bug has been discovered in Oakland County. A native of south-central Europe, it uses needle-like mouth parts to penetrate seeds and extract nutrients. It feeds primarily on elm.

MDHHS

Troubled DHHS software improves (Lansing State Journal)
The Michigan Department of Health & Human Services claims it's fixed nearly two-thirds of the defects in a glitch-ridden child welfare software program that gave caseworkers incomplete information and delayed payments to foster families.

MDOC
Cellphones, marijuana arrive with prison food shipment (9&10 News)
Authorities say cellphones and marijuana arrived with a food shipment to a Michigan prison. Michigan Department of Corrections spokesman Chris Gautz tells the Detroit Free Press that inspectors at Saginaw Correctional Facility in Freeland, about 95 miles northwest of Detroit, found the contraband Monday and turned the case over to state police to investigate.

MDOT
New traffic safety system installed at Petoskey intersection (Up North Live)
After three months of development and installation, a revolutionary new traffic warning system is up and running in Emmet County. The Michigan Department of Transportation installed the new system at a dangerous intersection near downtown Petoskey.

LEGISLATIVE

'Do or die' time for $5B pyramid deal (WOOD TV8)
Proponents are running out of time to pass a plan to lure a multi-billion dollar cloud data storage company to West Michigan.

No vote in Michigan House on data center legislation (WZZM 13)
Michigan lawmakers are under pressure to decide the fate of a gigantic project in Gaines Township as a deadline looms to approve a new data center.

Switch data center tax break bills delayed -- not dead -- in Michigan House (MLive)
Tax break bills that would help West Michigan land a high-tech data center company are "not dead yet" in the state House, which adjourned Thursday without voting on Senate-approved bills.

Skubick: Heated straight party ticket voting debate continues (WLNS)
Exactly 41 states did not have straight ticket voting whereby citizens check only one box for all of the candidates and then they are out of the polling place.

Lawmakers working to change sex offender laws (WLNS)
Grand Ledge Senator Rick Jones sponsored the bill, after a federal judge ruled that parts of Michigan's sex offender registration law are too vague and unconstitutional.

DETROIT

$600,000 in donations to fight blight in Brightmoor (Freep)
The Brightmoor neighborhood on Detroit's northwest side will see 25 blighted homes torn down and more than 100 overgrown, dangerous vacant lots cleared, a project funded by private donations to the city's blight fight, officials said today.

'Snyder Flu' Continues As Detroit Students, Teachers Protest Plan For Charter Schools (WWJ)
A handful of Detroit schools have closed this week due to what has been called 'Snyder Flu' and Thursday was no different. A plan in Lansing supported by Gov. Rick Snyder would turn dozens of schools in the city into charter schools in exchange for millions of dollars to cover a portion of the district's debt.

Multiple Detroit schools closed today after teacher "sick-out" (WXYZ)
This morning, students at some Detroit Public Schools had to stay home. Teachers working in at least six buildings in Detroit did not report for work because of an apparent sick-out.

Ex-Mumford principal, 2 others indicted in Detroit reform school district corruption case (Crain's)
A former principal at Gov. Rick Snyder's reform school district and two others have been indicted by a federal grand jury on a slew of charges, including bribery, conspiracy, money laundering and tax evasion.

Former principal and two contractors of state-run Detroit school face bribery charges (MLive)
A former principal and a pair of after-school tutoring contractors are charged in federal court with bribery, money laundering and tax violations related to their work at the state-run Education Achievement Authority.

AFT names administrator for Detroit teachers union (Detroit News)
The American Federation of Teachers has named an aide to President Randi Weingarten as administrator of the Detroit teachers union.

Detroit's Dying Public Schools (Michigan Radio)
Detroit's Public Schools are slowly dying. Those who run them would not use those words, but that's what is happening. The schools have lost sixty-five percent of their students in the last ten years, and have closed more than three-fifths of their buildings.

OPINION

Detroit school 'sickouts' measure system's dysfunction (Detroit Free Press)
If there's any measure of just how bad things are in Detroit Public Schools, it's surely a series of "sickouts" — a coordinated mass absence under the guise of sick leave — which forced seven schools to close Thursday.

Editorial: Facts should inform gun debate (Detroit News)
The terrorist attack in San Bernardino last week has prompted calls for more gun control. But before the nation can have a meaningful conversation about changing gun laws, it must get the facts straight.

Civil Rights commissioners: Stand up to hate (Detroit News)
In Michigan, more than 300 years of settlement and progress have taught us some things. As people around the world are reeling from terrorist attacks, it is important that we state these truths and underscore our commitment to protecting the civil rights of all people.

Juvenile courts best answer for 17-year-olds (Detroit News)
Throughout my career, I have worked to elevate juvenile justice issues to a level where the state policies that govern how youth in trouble with the law are handled can be thoroughly examined, and amended as necessary. One policy reform that I have consistently advocated for is ensuring that youth who commit a crime are treated differently than adult offenders. That's why I support the proposed legislation to raise the age of juvenile jurisdiction from 17 to 18.

Snyder can do the right thing on LGBT rights and endorse Fair Michigan (MLive)
Gov. Snyder and reasonable Republicans have an historic opportunity before them. And I believe they will do the right thing.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, December 11, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews

Gov. Snyder Speaks with WFNT about Flint, Refugees, Job Creation and More (WFNT)
In his year end interview with WFNT, Governor Rick Snyder talked about issues still facing Flint, refugees coming to the U.S. and Michigan, changes to where and who can carry concealed weapons, job creation and more. Hear the full interview below:

With Valenti and Foster, Gov. Rick Snyder Talks Roads, Michigan Football [VIDEO] (97.1 The Ticket)
Who else wants a check for the repairs they have to suffer on Michigan roads? Mike Valenti and Terry Foster talked to Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder Tuesday in-studio, where the guy who goes by the moniker "one tough nerd" weighed in on roads, his love of his alma mater the University of Michigan, and more.

Gov. Snyder visits; Trump's anti-Muslim stance (Fox 2 Detroit)
Gov. Rick Snyder stops in and talks about all things state wise.

'Michigan Matters' Goes One-On-One With Gov. Snyder: On Trump, The Economy, Flint's Water Woes And DPS (CBS Detroit/WWJ-TV)
Gov. Rick Snyder stopped by CBS 62 studios to provide an update of the past year and answered probing questions from "Michigan Matters" Senior Producer/Host Carol Cain on the biggest stories of 2015.

Governor Snyder calls Trump's anti-Muslim comments "inappropriate" (Fox 47 News)
Governor Rick Snyder doesn't see any similarity between his call to temporarily stop Syrian refugees from coming to Michigan and Donald Trump's "No Muslims Allowed" immigration plan.

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

Bill OK'd to offer immunity for reporting drug overdose (AP)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, who chaired the task force, said Wednesday that he will push in 2016 to extend the legal protection to people 21 and older and to those reporting non-prescription drug overdoses, such as heroin- and cocaine-related emergencies.

APPOINTMENTS

Attorney Helal Farhat appointed as 19th District Court Magistrate (Arab American News)
Attorney Helal Farhat has been appointed as a part time 19th District Court Magistrate, filling a vacancy left by former magistrate Adel Harb, who last month was appointed to the 3rd Circuit Court by Governor Snyder.

Snyder puts former state GOP chair on Oakland U. board (Freep)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed the former chairman of the Michigan Republican Party to serve on the Oakland University Board of Trustees. Bobby Schostak served as the chairman of the state GOP from 2011 to 2014 before stepping aside.

Schostak named to OU Board of Trustees (OU News)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed Oakland University alumnus and long-time supporter Robert I. Schostak, of Bloomfield Hills, to the Oakland University Board of Trustees.

DEPARTMENTS

AG
Northern Michigan Landowners who signed leases with Chesapeake could see settlement checks (Mi News 26)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette announced on Thursday that approximately 700 Northern Michigan landowners who were affected by a racketeering and bid-rigging scheme involving the Chesapeake Energy Corporation should begin receiving claim forms soon.

DEQ
State settles litigation with owners of Flat Rock housing community (The News Herald)
The DEQ and Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette announced the state's settlement of civil litigation with the owners of a housing community in Flat Rock. The settlement resolves violations of Michigan's water laws by the owners of Arbor Americana Manufactured Housing Community, including Arbor Americana, LLC and one company official.

More lead in plumbing found at Flint's Brownell school, state report says (Mlive)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality report says an assessment of the plumbing system at Brownell STEM Academy found lead solder joints on copper piping, brass valves and fittings, brass components in fixtures and galvanized piping -- all potential sources of lead.

DNR
Wildlife researchers not so sure about drones (Great Lakes Echo)
Perhaps drones could track feral swine to help oust the invasive critter from Michigan. But local researchers are hesitant to employ the technology for wildlife management. "There's a lot of potential for uneasiness," said Stephen Beyer, who manages wildlife research at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Michigan Department of Natural Resources announces preliminary 2015 firearm deer harvest estimates (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources recently announced the preliminary estimates of the 2015 firearm deer harvest, which ended Nov. 30, with indications of mixed results throughout the state.

State confiscates 93-pound Petoskey stone from Michigan man (Mlive)
Nearly three months after Tim O'Brien lugged a giant 93-pound Petoskey stone from Lake Michigan, the state has confiscated the rock. Michigan Department of Natural Resources officers went to O'Brien's home in Copemish on Wednesday, Dec. 9, to collect the 93-pound rock he found in mid-September.

MDARD
Elm seed bug found in Michigan (Up Matters)
The Elm seed bug has made its way into Michigan. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development confirmed it has been discovered in Oakland County. The elm seed bug (Arocatus melanocephalus (Fabricius)) is a small, non-native home-invading pest native to south-central Europe.

Elm seed bug is considered a minor pest of elm and other trees. It can, however, be a significant household nuisance because it enters buildings in large numbers to seek refuge from winter weather.

Exotic tree pest discovered in Oakland County (Detroit Free Press)
The state Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the elm seed bug has been discovered in Oakland County. A native of south-central Europe, it uses needle-like mouth parts to penetrate seeds and extract nutrients. It feeds primarily on elm.

MDHHS
Troubled DHHS software improves (Lansing State Journal)
The Michigan Department of Health & Human Services claims it's fixed nearly two-thirds of the defects in a glitch-ridden child welfare software program that gave caseworkers incomplete information and delayed payments to foster families.

MDOC
Cellphones, marijuana arrive with prison food shipment (9&10 News)
Authorities say cellphones and marijuana arrived with a food shipment to a Michigan prison. Michigan Department of Corrections spokesman Chris Gautz tells the Detroit Free Press that inspectors at Saginaw Correctional Facility in Freeland, about 95 miles northwest of Detroit, found the contraband Monday and turned the case over to state police to investigate.

MDOT
New traffic safety system installed at Petoskey intersection (Up North Live)
After three months of development and installation, a revolutionary new traffic warning system is up and running in Emmet County. The Michigan Department of Transportation installed the new system at a dangerous intersection near downtown Petoskey.

LEGISLATIVE

'Do or die' time for $5B pyramid deal (WOOD TV8)
Proponents are running out of time to pass a plan to lure a multi-billion dollar cloud data storage company to West Michigan.

No vote in Michigan House on data center legislation (WZZM 13)
Michigan lawmakers are under pressure to decide the fate of a gigantic project in Gaines Township as a deadline looms to approve a new data center.

Switch data center tax break bills delayed -- not dead -- in Michigan House (MLive)
Tax break bills that would help West Michigan land a high-tech data center company are "not dead yet" in the state House, which adjourned Thursday without voting on Senate-approved bills.

Skubick: Heated straight party ticket voting debate continues (WLNS)
Exactly 41 states did not have straight ticket voting whereby citizens check only one box for all of the candidates and then they are out of the polling place.

Lawmakers working to change sex offender laws (WLNS)
Grand Ledge Senator Rick Jones sponsored the bill, after a federal judge ruled that parts of Michigan's sex offender registration law are too vague and unconstitutional.

DETROIT

$600,000 in donations to fight blight in Brightmoor (Freep)
The Brightmoor neighborhood on Detroit's northwest side will see 25 blighted homes torn down and more than 100 overgrown, dangerous vacant lots cleared, a project funded by private donations to the city's blight fight, officials said today.

'Snyder Flu' Continues As Detroit Students, Teachers Protest Plan For Charter Schools (WWJ)
A handful of Detroit schools have closed this week due to what has been called 'Snyder Flu' and Thursday was no different. A plan in Lansing supported by Gov. Rick Snyder would turn dozens of schools in the city into charter schools in exchange for millions of dollars to cover a portion of the district's debt.

Multiple Detroit schools closed today after teacher "sick-out" (WXYZ)
This morning, students at some Detroit Public Schools had to stay home. Teachers working in at least six buildings in Detroit did not report for work because of an apparent sick-out.

Ex-Mumford principal, 2 others indicted in Detroit reform school district corruption case (Crain's)
A former principal at Gov. Rick Snyder's reform school district and two others have been indicted by a federal grand jury on a slew of charges, including bribery, conspiracy, money laundering and tax evasion.

Former principal and two contractors of state-run Detroit school face bribery charges (MLive)
A former principal and a pair of after-school tutoring contractors are charged in federal court with bribery, money laundering and tax violations related to their work at the state-run Education Achievement Authority.

AFT names administrator for Detroit teachers union (Detroit News)
The American Federation of Teachers has named an aide to President Randi Weingarten as administrator of the Detroit teachers union.

Detroit's Dying Public Schools (Michigan Radio)
Detroit's Public Schools are slowly dying. Those who run them would not use those words, but that's what is happening. The schools have lost sixty-five percent of their students in the last ten years, and have closed more than three-fifths of their buildings.

OPINION

Detroit school 'sickouts' measure system's dysfunction (Detroit Free Press)
If there's any measure of just how bad things are in Detroit Public Schools, it's surely a series of "sickouts" — a coordinated mass absence under the guise of sick leave — which forced seven schools to close Thursday.

Editorial: Facts should inform gun debate (Detroit News)
The terrorist attack in San Bernardino last week has prompted calls for more gun control. But before the nation can have a meaningful conversation about changing gun laws, it must get the facts straight.

Civil Rights commissioners: Stand up to hate (Detroit News)
In Michigan, more than 300 years of settlement and progress have taught us some things. As people around the world are reeling from terrorist attacks, it is important that we state these truths and underscore our commitment to protecting the civil rights of all people.

Juvenile courts best answer for 17-year-olds (Detroit News)

Throughout my career, I have worked to elevate juvenile justice issues to a level where the state policies that govern how youth in trouble with the law are handled can be thoroughly examined, and amended as necessary. One policy reform that I have consistently advocated for is ensuring that youth who commit a crime are treated differently than adult offenders. That's why I support the proposed legislation to raise the age of juvenile jurisdiction from 17 to 18.

Snyder can do the right thing on LGBT rights and endorse Fair Michigan (MLive)
Gov. Snyder and reasonable Republicans have an historic opportunity before them. And I believe they will do the right thing.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, December 15, 2015 9:56 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/15 Newsroom
Attachments: 151215 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, December 15, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews
Interview with Frank Beckmann (WJR)

Snyder rejects Trump's call for Muslim immigration ban (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday rejected the proposal by Republican presidential frontrunner Donald Trump to temporarily prohibit anyone of the Muslim faith from entering the country over national security concerns. "Donald Trump's comments about banning all Muslims is absolutely inappropriate, and it doesn't reflect the spirit of America, in my view," the Michigan Republican governor said in an interview with The Detroit News Editorial Board.

Gov. Snyder 'open' to ending EAA school reform (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said Monday he's "open" to disbanding his controversial Education Achievement Authority if it's part of a deal with the Legislature to overhaul public education governance in Detroit. The Republican governor started the authority three years ago to try to turn around 15 low-performing schools in the Detroit district.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder talks of his priorities for next year (The Oakland Press)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder plans an aggressive agenda in 2016, taking aim at energy policy, education reform in Detroit, economic growth and job creation statewide, and reform of the state's criminal justice system. Snyder said wants legislation introduced early next year so it can be passed and implemented by summer to address financial shortfalls in Detroit Public Schools before they mushroom into legal issues.

Michigan Governor Rick Snyder Looks Back On 2015 (WKQS FM)
Governor Rick Snyder joined News Director Walt Lindala today on the SUNNY Morning Show with Walt & Mike for a look back on some of the major accomplishments in Lansing for 2015. In a fast-moving exclusive interview with Great Lakes Radio News, Governor Snyder discussed several topics, including the passage of a road funding bill and the balancing of the state budget by the legislature.

DEPARTMENTS

DNR
State DNR recommends more than $500,000 for Jackson area trail system (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is setting aside more than half a million dollars for a trail system that connects the city of Jackson with Summit Township. The state DNR recommended the Legislature approve a $300,000 grant to the city along with a $94,000 grant to Summit Township and $173,500 to the county for the project.

MDARD

ASPCA Assists Oscoda County Animal Control to Seize 50 Dogs from Michigan Puppy Mill (Ionia Sentinel Standard)

The ASPCA® (The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals®) Field Investigations and Response team is assisting the Oscoda County Sheriff's Department and Oscoda County Animal Control with the seizure of more than 50 dogs from a large, substandard, unlicensed breeding facility in Mio, Mich. The dogs were seized from the property Monday afternoon after warrants were served, and criminal charges are expected to follow. This investigation began after authorities received complaints of abuse and neglect at the facility.

MDOC

Dept of Corrections to begin sending mobile alerts (MI News 26)

The Michigan Department of Corrections announced on Monday that they are now able to update people with critical public safety alerts through the use of Nixle. Nixle is a mass communications platform, designed to share alerts regarding emergency situations, training exercises, and other important events with residents around the state. Schools, local governments and businesses can also sign up to receive alerts through the system.

MDOT

Michigan DOT wants public comments on 2016-2020 transportation plan (Equipment World)

The Michigan Department of Transportation is looking for public comments on the draft of its 2016-2020 Five-Year Transportation program that details funding and transportation projects in that time span. An interactive map for the proposed projects is available here, and the draft plan is available for review at www.michigan.gov/mdot5yearplan. "The Five-Year Transportation Program is a continuous, interactive dialogue with the users of the state transportation system, and anchors MDOT's project development," the agency says

Michigan DOT seeking 'Road Watchers' (AP)

The Michigan Department of Transportation is seeking "Road Watchers" to report on winter highway conditions in the northern Lower Peninsula.

For a third year, MDOT is recruiting people in the northernmost 21 counties in the state's Lower Peninsula to participate in periodic surveys on conditions during the morning commuting period on some key routes.

MPSC

Business group to sue over Consumers Energy rate increase (MLive)

Less than a month after the Michigan Public Service Commission approved a Consumers Energy rate increase of $130 million per year, a group of businesses is appealing the decision. The Association of Businesses Advocating Tariff Equity represents the energy interests of industrial users before the MPSC and legislature. They say the case sets the profit margin -- or return on equity -- at 10.3 percent, the highest approved across the nation this year. The national average is 9.55 percent.

Rate increase coming next month for Michigan Gas Utilities residential customers (WTVB)

Rates are going up beginning next month for residential customers of Michigan Gas Utilities. The Michigan Public Service Commission on Friday took action on filings in seven different cases including approving a settlement agreement authorizing Michigan Gas Utilities Corporation to increase its base rates by $3,400,000 annually.

MSP

Delta hosts 'Race to College' for elementary students (Midland Daily News)

Delta College trustees recently heard an overview of the "Race to College" event, an opportunity for elementary students to visit campus. Associate Professors Kim Klein (political science) and Tim Allen (mathematics), the lead organizers of Delta's inaugural "Race to College," said the event attracted some 150 students to campus to learn about health and wellness, bike safety and college. The fifth grade students, from Bay City's Washington Elementary School and Jesse Loomis Elementary School in Saginaw, participated in a total of eight academic and physical activity stations, officials said.

Federal agency sends 28,000 liters of water to Flint (AP)

The Federal Emergency Management Agency has sent thousands of bottles of water to Flint amid ongoing problems with the city's water supply.

About 28,000 liters of water was delivered Monday to the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan in Flint. The Food Bank will donate the water bottles to "partner agencies," including soup kitchens, homeless shelters and food pantries, and then they'll be distributed to residents.

SOS

Election board rejects recall petition against Snyder (Detroit News)
State canvassers rejected recall petitions against Gov. Rick Snyder and Sen. Wayne Schmidt on Monday — Snyder because of Flint water problems and Schmidt for his Nov. 3 votes on a road funding package. By unanimous votes, the board of two Democrats and two Republicans found both proposed recall petitions don't state the recall reasons clearly and factually

LEGISLATIVE

In Courser-Gamrat matter, will we ever know who knew what and when? (MLive)
The Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser saga is the story that keeps on giving. Fasten your safety belts for what could be a grueling, divisive and protracted confrontation involving two of their former employees and the joint they used to work in, the Michigan House of Representatives. Efforts to settle a wrongful dismissal claim before it got into the courts did not get that close, so now all sides may go at it before a senior U.S. District Court judge in West Michigan.

Michigan lawmakers preparing for final week in Lansing until after Christmas (WTHC)
Lawmakers in Lansing will be working this final week before the Christmas and New Year's holidays, looking to get some matters out of their proverbial in-boxes. MIRS News is reporting that majority GOP members in the state House brought up no-fault auto insurance reform in a closed-door caucus meeting last week, leading to speculation that it will be back on the front burner early next year. The Michigan Senate considers House-passed bills that would end straight-ticket partisan voting and allow no-reform absentee balloting in Michigan.

DETROIT

Detroiters struggle to survive without city water (Detroit News)
How do you survive without running water for more than two years? First, get a trash can. Put it under the roof to collect water to flush the toilet. Then, get a bucket and remember what your grandparents taught you in the early 1950s, before indoor plumbing reached all of rural America. "You use your brain. You scramble. You survive because you're used to dealing with nothing," said Fayette Coleman, 66, who grew up fetching water from wells in Belleville.

Pressure builds for a new school plan for Detroit kids (Freep)
State Sen. Bert Johnson said Monday that he would co-sponsor legislation to create a new school district for Detroit children and put an elected school board in charge of retiring the old district's debt.

OPINION

Editorial: Body camera footage is public (LSJ)
Body cameras are about accountability. They are good for citizens and they are good for police officers.

The forest-loving Farm Bill at 25 (Bridge)
Many people have seen a two-person crosscut saw in action. For those who haven't, it's the lumberjacks' long hand saw, with large teeth along its edge and hardwood handles at both ends.

New bills boost legislators' attack on democracy (Freep)
It's beginning to look a lot like open season on our democracy. The cacophony surrounding the 2016 presidential election is reaching terrifying new heights. The U.S. Supreme Court just heard arguments in a case that may upend the long-held constitutional promise of one person, one vote. And a flurry of disastrous changes to election laws are sailing through the Michigan Legislature that collectively make voting more chaotic and confusing for Michigan voters.

As Legislature considers medical marijuana proposals, facts must overcome fiction, myths (MLIve)
The Michigan Legislature is poised to provide much-needed clarity to our state's medical marijuana law. By approving a framework of strong regulations that hold people accountable, policymakers can end seven years of confusion that has harmed patients, local communities and responsible businesses eager to follow the rules.

Rick Haglund: Michigan business tax incentives here to stay — for now (MLive)

Eliminating tax incentives to attract businesses is like playing a game of Whack-A-Mole. Knock one down and another pops up. Gov. Rick Snyder sought to end such incentives when he and the Legislature killed the Michigan Economic Growth Authority, which offered lucrative business-tax credits, in 2011.

Susan J. Demas: Courser-Gamrat scandal now threatens to take down House GOP in 2016 (MLive)
I've been highly skeptical of Democrats winning back the state House next year.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, December 15, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews
Interview with Frank Beckmann (WJR)

Snyder rejects Trump's call for Muslim immigration ban (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday rejected the proposal by Republican presidential frontrunner Donald Trump to temporarily prohibit anyone of the Muslim faith from entering the country over national security concerns. "Donald Trump's comments about banning all Muslims is absolutely inappropriate, and it doesn't reflect the spirit of America, in my view," the Michigan Republican governor said in an interview with The Detroit News Editorial Board.

Gov. Snyder 'open' to ending EAA school reform (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said Monday he's "open" to disbanding his controversial Education Achievement Authority if it's part of a deal with the Legislature to overhaul public education governance in Detroit. The Republican governor started the authority three years ago to try to turn around 15 low-performing schools in the Detroit district.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder talks of his priorities for next year (The Oakland Press)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder plans an aggressive agenda in 2016, taking aim at energy policy, education reform in Detroit, economic growth and job creation statewide, and reform of the state's criminal justice system. Snyder said wants legislation introduced early next year so it can be passed and implemented by summer to address financial shortfalls in Detroit Public Schools before they mushroom into legal issues.

Michigan Governor Rick Snyder Looks Back On 2015 (WKQS FM)
Governor Rick Snyder joined News Director Walt Lindala today on the SUNNY Morning Show with Walt & Mike for a look back on some of the major accomplishments in Lansing for 2015. In a fast-moving exclusive interview with Great Lakes Radio News, Governor Snyder discussed several topics, including the passage of a road funding bill and the balancing of the state budget by the legislature.

DEPARTMENTS

DNR
State DNR recommends more than $500,000 for Jackson area trail system (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is setting aside more than half a million dollars for a trail system that connects the city of Jackson with Summit Township. The state DNR recommended the Legislature approve a $300,000 grant to the city along with a $94,000 grant to Summit Township and $173,500 to the county for the project.

MDARD

ASPCA Assists Oscoda County Animal Control to Seize 50 Dogs from Michigan Puppy Mill (Ionia Sentinel Standard)
The ASPCA® (The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals®) Field Investigations and Response team is assisting the Oscoda County Sheriff's Department and Oscoda County Animal Control with the seizure of more than 50 dogs from a large, substandard, unlicensed breeding facility in Mio, Mich. The dogs were seized from the property Monday afternoon after warrants were served, and criminal charges are expected to follow. This investigation began after authorities received complaints of abuse and neglect at the facility.

MDOC
Dept of Corrections to begin sending mobile alerts (MI News 26)
The Michigan Department of Corrections announced on Monday that they are now able to update people with critical public safety alerts through the use of Nixle. Nixle is a mass communications platform, designed to share alerts regarding emergency situations, training exercises, and other important events with residents around the state. Schools, local governments and businesses can also sign up to receive alerts through the system.

MDOT
Michigan DOT wants public comments on 2016-2020 transportation plan (Equipment World)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is looking for public comments on the draft of its 2016-2020 Five-Year Transportation program that details funding and transportation projects in that time span. An interactive map for the proposed projects is available here, and the draft plan is available for review at www.michigan.gov/mdot5yearplan. "The Five-Year Transportation Program is a continuous, interactive dialogue with the users of the state transportation system, and anchors MDOT's project development," the agency says

Michigan DOT seeking 'Road Watchers' (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is seeking "Road Watchers" to report on winter highway conditions in the northern Lower Peninsula.
For a third year, MDOT is recruiting people in the northernmost 21 counties in the state's Lower Peninsula to participate in periodic surveys on conditions during the morning commuting period on some key routes.

MPSC
Business group to sue over Consumers Energy rate increase (MLive)
Less than a month after the Michigan Public Service Commission approved a Consumers Energy rate increase of $130 million per year, a group of businesses is appealing the decision. The Association of Businesses Advocating Tariff Equity represents the energy interests of industrial users before the MPSC and legislature. They say the case sets the profit margin -- or return on equity -- at 10.3 percent, the highest approved across the nation this year. The national average is 9.55 percent.

Rate increase coming next month for Michigan Gas Utilities residential customers (WTVB)
Rates are going up beginning next month for residential customers of Michigan Gas Utilities. The Michigan Public Service Commission on Friday took action on filings in seven different cases including approving a settlement agreement authorizing Michigan Gas Utilities Corporation to increase its base rates by $3,400,000 annually.

MSP
Delta hosts 'Race to College' for elementary students (Midland Daily News)
Delta College trustees recently heard an overview of the "Race to College" event, an opportunity for elementary students to visit campus. Associate Professors Kim Klein (political science) and Tim Allen (mathematics), the lead organizers of Delta's inaugural "Race to College," said the event attracted some 150 students to campus to learn about health and wellness, bike safety and college. The fifth grade students, from Bay City's Washington Elementary School and Jesse Loomis Elementary School in Saginaw, participated in a total of eight academic and physical activity stations, officials said.

Federal agency sends 28,000 liters of water to Flint (AP)
The Federal Emergency Management Agency has sent thousands of bottles of water to Flint amid ongoing problems with the city's water supply.
About 28,000 liters of water was delivered Monday to the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan in Flint. The Food Bank will donate the water bottles to "partner agencies," including soup kitchens, homeless shelters and food pantries, and then they'll be distributed to residents.

SOS
Election board rejects recall petition against Snyder (Detroit News)
State canvassers rejected recall petitions against Gov. Rick Snyder and Sen. Wayne Schmidt on Monday — Snyder because of Flint water problems and Schmidt for his Nov. 3 votes on a road funding package. By unanimous votes, the board of two Democrats and two Republicans found both proposed recall petitions don't state the recall reasons clearly and factually

LEGISLATIVE

In Courser-Gamrat matter, will we ever know who knew what and when? (MLive)
The Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser saga is the story that keeps on giving. Fasten your safety belts for what could be a grueling, divisive and protracted confrontation involving two of their former employees and the joint they used to work in, the Michigan House of Representatives. Efforts to settle a wrongful dismissal claim before it got into the courts did not get that close, so now all sides may go at it before a senior U.S. District Court judge in West Michigan.

Michigan lawmakers preparing for final week in Lansing until after Christmas (WTHC)
Lawmakers in Lansing will be working this final week before the Christmas and New Year's holidays, looking to get some matters out of their proverbial in-boxes. MIRS News is reporting that majority GOP members in the state House brought up no-fault auto insurance reform in a closed-door caucus meeting last week, leading to speculation that it will be back on the front burner early next year. The Michigan Senate considers House-passed bills that would end straight-ticket partisan voting and allow no-reform absentee balloting in Michigan.

DETROIT

Detroiters struggle to survive without city water (Detroit News)
How do you survive without running water for more than two years? First, get a trash can. Put it under the roof to collect water to flush the toilet. Then, get a bucket and remember what your grandparents taught you in the early 1950s, before indoor plumbing reached all of rural America. "You use your brain. You scramble. You survive because you're used to dealing with nothing," said Fayette Coleman, 66, who grew up fetching water from wells in Belleville.

Pressure builds for a new school plan for Detroit kids (Freep)
State Sen. Bert Johnson said Monday that he would co-sponsor legislation to create a new school district for Detroit children and put an elected school board in charge of retiring the old district's debt.

OPINION

Editorial: Body camera footage is public (LSJ)
Body cameras are about accountability. They are good for citizens and they are good for police officers.

The forest-loving Farm Bill at 25 (Bridge)
Many people have seen a two-person crosscut saw in action. For those who haven't, it's the lumberjacks' long hand saw, with large teeth along its edge and hardwood handles at both ends.

New bills boost legislators' attack on democracy (Freep)
It's beginning to look a lot like open season on our democracy. The cacophony surrounding the 2016 presidential election is reaching terrifying new heights. The U.S. Supreme Court just heard arguments in a case that may upend the long-held constitutional promise of one person, one vote. And a flurry of disastrous changes to election laws are sailing through the Michigan Legislature that collectively make voting more chaotic and confusing for Michigan voters.

As Legislature considers medical marijuana proposals, facts must overcome fiction, myths (MLIve)
The Michigan Legislature is poised to provide much-needed clarity to our state's medical marijuana law. By approving a framework of strong regulations that hold people accountable, policymakers can end seven years of confusion that has harmed patients, local communities and responsible businesses eager to follow the rules.

Rick Haglund: Michigan business tax incentives here to stay — for now (MLive)
Eliminating tax incentives to attract businesses is like playing a game of Whack-A-Mole. Knock one down and another pops up. Gov. Rick Snyder sought to end such incentives when he and the Legislature killed the Michigan Economic Growth Authority, which offered lucrative business-tax credits, in 2011.

Susan J. Demas: Courser-Gamrat scandal now threatens to take down House GOP in 2016 (MLive)
I've been highly skeptical of Democrats winning back the state House next year.

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Tuesday, December 15, 2015 2:08 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 15, 2015

NEWS

Lead in kids' blood causes Flint, Michigan to declare state of emergency

The Verge

The city of Flint, Michigan, has declared a state of emergency because of high levels of lead in children's blood, reports The Washington Post. Many ...

Lead levels in water prompt state of emergency in Flint, Michigan - Reuters

Lead levels in water prompt state of emergency in Flint, Michigan - Yahoo News

In Flint, Mich., there's so much lead in children's blood that a state of emergency is declared - Washington Post

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

At Michigan State and Oklahoma, revenue sports are four of a kind

USA TODAY

A little more than a month ago in early November, Michigan State athletic director Mark Hollis and Oklahoma's Joe Castiglione were together in ...

Michigan State season review: A-plus coaching effort leads to playoff berth - ESPN (blog)

Alabama vs. Michigan State 2015: Early Prediction, Betting Odds For College Football Playoff ... - International Business Times

Alabama Crimson Tide Ready to Roll Over Michigan State - ExaminerPress.com (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

MSU recruits get to see what success looks like

Lansing State Journal

DEARBORN -- Brandon Randle and Demetric Vance are watching Michigan State's run to the College Football Playoff from afar, waiting for their time ...

Michigan State edges Iowa for Big Ten title - Seating Chair

Michigan State's last-minute TD topples Iowa - ObserverVoice.com (blog)

Iowa loses heartbreaker to Michigan State 16-13 - The Voice Herald (blog)
Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State stays No. 1, Oklahoma climbs to No. 3: AP Top 25 Basketball Poll

cleveland.com

Michigan State got 64 first-place votes and 1,621, followed by Kansas with the remaining first-place vote and 1,499 points. Oklahoma moves from No.

Michigan State remains No. 1 in AP poll, gets nearly every first-place vote - MLive.com

Michigan State, Kansas remain 1-2 in AP Top 25 Poll - WXYZ

My AP basketball top-25 ballot: Michigan State remains No. 1 - San Jose Mercury News (blog)
Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's allotment of 13000 Cotton Bowl tickets sells out

MLive.com

Two-time Michigan State team captain Shilique Calhoun and the Spartans left AT&T Stadium smiling last Jan. 1 after rallying for a 42-41 win over ...

MSU sells out Cotton Bowl ticket allotment - Detroit Free Press
Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Comparing recruiting rankings of current Michigan State and Alabama players

MLive.com

Michigan State football coach Mark Dantonio looked on as the football team was honored for winning the 2015 Big Ten championship in the first half of ...

Iowa falls to Michigan State in final minutes of Big 10 Championship - The Voice Herald (blog)

Nike Releases Photo Of Michigan State's Uniform For Cotton Bowl - PressOracle.com (blog)

No. 5 Michigan State edges No. 4 Iowa for Big Ten title - Recorderpost.com (satire) (registration) (blog)
Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State notes: Connor Cook 'feeling a lot better,' prep begins for Alabama

MLive.com

Michigan State quarterback Connor Cook has been nursing a sprained throwing shoulder since the Nov. 14 win over Maryland. (Mike Mulholland ...

Flag as irrelevant

Value of GM's state tax credits remain secret

The Detroit News

General Motors Co. said Tuesday it will invest another $1 billion in Michigan facilities through 2030 as part of a deal with Gov. Rick Snyder's ...

GM to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030, agrees to state cap on MEGA tax credits - Crain's Detroit Business

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

King cornerback Hill plans Michigan State official

247Sports

A source close to the situation confirmed with Spartan Tailgate that 2016 Detroit (Mich.) King cornerback Lavert Hill plans to take an official visit to ...

Barton relieved to have walk-on plans at Michigan State - 247Sports

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

5 things to watch: Michigan State one win away from matching best start in program history

MLive.com

Michigan State guard Denzel Valentine (45) shoots a 3-pointer in the first half of their NCAA basketball game against Florida at the Breslin Center in ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Wednesday, December 16, 2015 8:07 AM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state budget+Michigan

state budget+Michigan

Daily update - December 16, 2015

NEWS

GM to invest $1B in Michigan after credits amended

Detroit Free Press

Michigan economic development officials said they could not release the ... of the tax program that helped blow a hole in this year's state budgets. Gov.

GM to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030, agrees to state cap on MEGA tax credits - Crain's Detroit Business

Michigan, GM Agree to Cap Tax Credits, Won't Specify Amount - ABC News

GM to invest $1B in Michigan after tax credits amended - Miami Herald

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Value of GM's state tax credits remain secret

The Detroit News

"The agreement with GM on MEGA credits helps Michigan's budget forecast. And today's announcement that it is investing in Saginaw, Flint and Grand ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan City Declares State Of Emergency Over The Amount Of Lead In Children's Blood

ThinkProgress

Michigan City Declares State Of Emergency Over The Amount Of Lead In ... The residents of Flint, Michigan have so much lead in their bloodstreams that the ... the $15.7 million it took out of its budget to cover Detroit's water bill hikes.

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan Planned Parenthoods to receive $1M in grant money

WLNS

The State Administrative Board Approved the grant transfer includes ... local revenue, meaning the entire deal is in line with current state budget laws.

Flag as irrelevant

GM to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030

Automotive News

The state did not release the value of the cap. ... "The agreement with GM on MEGA credits helps Michigan's budget forecast," Michigan Gov.

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, December 16, 2015 10:02 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/16 Newsroom
Attachments: 151216 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, December 16, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES
Interviews
A Refreshing Approach to Politics in Michigan (National Journal)
If Rick Snyder is a faux reformer, he disguises it well behind gobs of data and the passion of an evangelist.

Bill signing
Governor Snyder Repeals Old Crimes (AP)
Outdated crimes such as cursing in front of women or children and trampling blackberry bushes are no longer be on Michigan's books under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder.
Snyder said in a statement Tuesday that the criminal laws "no longer make sense in the 21st century."

Michigan eliminating outdated laws (ABC 57)
In an effort to get with the times and modernize Michigan's government, Governor Rick Snyder signed several bills on Tuesday, eliminating outdated laws. On Tuesday, Governor Rick Snyder signed multiple bills eliminating those types of outdated laws.

Michigan scraps old laws banning cursing in front of women, trash talking during duels (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed a package of bills to repeal a series of outdated and unenforceable laws, including a prohibition against cursing in front of women or kids. Gone from the books are criminal statutes that had banned people from embellishing the national anthem, hosting walkathons or talking trash during a duel.

Gov. Snyder analyzes old laws that don't apply to the 21st Century (WLNS)
Go ahead and trample a blackberry bush or accept a challenge to a duel. Believe it or not, those laws were still on the books 24 hours ago but not anymore.

Gov. Snyder signs bills eliminating laws on dueling, cursing and trampling blackberry bushes (UP Matters/TV 3)
Cursing in front of women or children or playing the national anthem out of tune will no longer be criminal acts punishable by jail time in Michigan, under legislation signed today by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Cursing in front of women is no longer illegal in Michigan (Arab American News)
Gov. Snyder signed a legislation Tuesday repealing several outdated laws. Cursing in front of women or children or playing the national anthem out of tune will no longer be criminal acts punishable by jail time in Michigan. "Modernizing state government is an ongoing effort," Snyder said. "I appreciate the work of the legislature in analyzing the criminal code and eliminating statutes that no longer make sense in the 21st century."

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bills repealing outdated laws (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed several house bills that will repeal several outdated criminals laws. Acts such as cursing in front of women and children or playing the national anthem out of tune, among others, will no longer be punishable by jail time.

Cursing in front of women? Trampling blackberry bushes? Michigan Gov. gets rid of archaic laws (Fox 28)
If you have a bad habit of cursing in front of women or children you might be in luck. Although not an acceptable social norm, at the very least where children are concerned, at least your potty mouth won't land you in a Michigan jail. Governor Rick Snyder signed legislation Tuesday eliminating some of the more "quaint" laws still on the books that were criminal acts punishable by jail time, such as playing the national anthem out of tune (all aspiring high school marching band members, take note).

Governor Snyder Repeals Strange and Outdated Michigan Laws (9&10 News)
Weird and outdated laws are now officially off the books in Michigan. Governor Snyder signed legislation Tuesday that ends laws he says make no sense in the 21st century. The repealed laws include bans on advertisements about STDs, dueling, and embellishing the national anthem.

Governor Rick Snyder strikes strange and outdated laws from Michigan books (Boyne Gazette)
Cursing in front of women or children or playing the national anthem out of tune will no longer be criminal acts punishable by jail time in Michigan, under legislation signed today by Gov. Rick Snyder.

GM
Value of GM's state tax credits remains secret (Detroit News)
General Motors Co. said Tuesday it will invest another $1 billion in Michigan facilities through 2030 as part of a deal with Gov. Rick Snyder's administration to cap the value of its business income tax credits.

GM to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030, agrees to state cap on MEGA tax credits (Crain's)
General Motors Co. today said it plans to spend $1 billion in Michigan over the next 15 years while reaching a pact with the Snyder administration to cap the value of state business tax credits it receives.

GM announces $356M investment for three Michigan projects (MLive)
General Motors is planning to make $356 million in investments for a new engine line in Flint and other projects in Michigan that are expected to create at least 50 jobs and retain nearly 500 jobs, the company is announcing today, Dec. 15.

Big Three automaker plans $43M investment in plant (GRBJ)
A Big Three automaker is planning to invest more than $43 million in a plant in the area to support a new components line.k

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Flint mayor declares disaster in hopes of getting federal aid (WSJ)
Officials in Flint, Mich., are seeking funding from the federal government to address the effects of contamination in the city's drinking supply, which has nearly doubled the percentage of children showing elevated levels of lead.

How people in Flint were stripped of a basic human need: safe drinking water (Michigan Radio)

The tap water in Lee Ann Walters' home in Flint was causing her family's health problems. Tests show her water had extremely high lead levels. Her son Gavin was diagnosed with lead poisoning.

DHHS

Michigan offering grants to support fluoridation equipment (AP)

Flint mayor declares state of emergency over contaminated water (CBS)
The mayor of Flint, Michigan, has declared a state of emergency due to problems with the city's water system caused by the earlier use of Flint River water.

State officials emphasize need for vaccination following recent chickenpox outbreaks (AP)
Following recent reports of varicella outbreaks around the state, the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is advising parents to make sure their children are up to date on vaccinations against the disease, also known as chickenpox.

MDHHS promotes chickenpox vaccine (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is advising parents to have children vaccinated after recent reports of varicella outbreaks — also known as chickenpox — in the state.

Wayne one of four Mich. counties with chickenpox outbreak (Detroit News)
Wayne County is one of four counties in Michigan that have seen a recent outbreak of chickenpox.

Chickenpox outbreak in Michigan sparks warning (WOOD TV)
State health officials are urging parents to ensure their children are up-to-date on vaccines after chickenpox outbreaks in several counties, including two in West Michigan.

Health officials say unvaccinated kids cause of Chickenpox outbreak (WMUK)
State health officials say a recent wave of chickenpox cases has been caused primarily by unvaccinated children contracting the illness at school.

State board approves Planned Parenthood grant despite conservative objections (MLive)
The State Administrative Board on Tuesday approved a grant transfer and funding increase for Planned Parenthood of Mid and South Michigan to provide low-cost family planning services in Detroit.

Chickenpox back; officials urge vaccination (Huron Daily Tribune)
In light of a recent chickenpox outbreak, state officials on Tuesday urged residents to be vaccinated against the varicella virus.

Unvaccinated kids lead to Chickenpox Outbreak across Michigan (WEMU)
State health officials say a recent wave of chickenpox cases has been caused primarily by unvaccinated children contracting the illness at school.

DTMB

Survey planned along Grand River ahead of possible dredging (9&10)
An underwater survey is planned of the Grand River between Grand Rapids and the Bass River Recreation Area ahead of a possible dredging effort.

MDOT

'Road Watchers' needed for northern lower Michigan (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is seeking "Road Watchers" to report on winter highway conditions in the northern Lower Peninsula.

MEDC

Data: Michigan high school graduation rate improving (Freep)
A national report shows Michigan's high school graduation rate is improving. The U.S. Education Department's National Center for Education Statistics report says the state's 2013-14 rate was nearly 79 percent -- up from 77 percent the previous year.

Pure Michigan extends marketing relationship with Tigers, MIS (Crain's)
The state's Pure Michigan travel and tourism campaign will continue at Comerica Park during Detroit Tigers games and at Michigan International Speedway during the annual NASCAR race in August.

GM commits to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030 (WDIV)
General Motors on Tuesday said it would invest $1 billion in its home state by 2030.

GM to invest $1B in Michigan after credits amended (Detroit Free Press)
General Motors plans to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030 as part of a new deal with the state to cap the automaker's tax credits.

State, General Motors agree to cap MEGA credits at mystery amount (MLive)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation and General Motors announced Tuesday that they have renegotiated a 2009 tax credit, but neither party is disclosing how much the amended credit is capped at.

Michigan, GM agree to cap tax credits, won't specify amount (ABC)
Michigan and General Motors agreed Tuesday to cap the state's liability for lucrative tax credits but did not specify the amount, as the automaker committed to make $1 billion worth of capital investments in its home state by 2030.

State to create tax-free zone around Sakthi Automotive's planned Detroit campus expansion (Crains)
The state will set up a tax-free district around Sakthi Automotive Group USA Inc.'s planned expanded campus on Detroit's southwest side as part of a financing package for the project.

MSHDA
Michigan Land Bank contractor charges with overbilling (Detroit News)
An arrest warrant was issued Tuesday for a state contractor who allegedly overbilled the Detroit Land Bank Authority for services related to asbestos removal and housing blight demolition he never performed.

Consultant to land banks hit with felony charge in false billing case (Crain's)
A West Bloomfield Township man whose company managed residential demolitions for Detroit and the state was charged with a felony Tuesday involving false billings.

$236,000 in home upgrades to be awarded (Petoskey News)
A $236,000 grant has been awarded to Charlevoix County to help low-income homeowners.

SUPREME COURT
Michigan Supreme Court justices discuss inner-workings (Detroit News)
It was billed as the "Bob & Bridget Show: Behind the Scenes at the Michigan Supreme Court.

Michigan judicial tenure commission files formal complaint against Judge Gorcyca (Huffington Post)
The Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission tasked with investigating allegations of judicial misconduct has filed a formal complaint against Judge Lisa Gorcyca who ordered the Tsimhoni children (presently ages 10, 11, and 14) to juvenile detention for refusing to have lunch with their father who they claim is abusive. She famously threatened, bullied, and insulted them during their June 24th sentencing hearing, even comparing them to the disciples of criminal cultist Charles Manson.

Chippewa County judge facing possible suspension (9&10)
A Chippewa County judge could be suspended after an investigation into cases she presided over.

Special tax breaks for one data center put others at risk (MLive)
Any tax reform for data businesses by the Legislature needs to be rooted in fairness for the Michigan companies that already employ hundreds of Michigan workers.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan medical marijuana dispensary bills not dead, but not going anywhere in 2015 (MLive)
An evolving proposal to allow regulated medical marijuana dispensaries and related businesses is unlikely to move this year in the Michigan Senate despite an ongoing push from supporters.

Bipartisan leaders head to the Capitol to advocate marijuana regulation (WLNS)
A bipartisan coalition of leaders from the public and private sector will meet at the Capitol Building Tuesday to encourage action by the Michigan Senate on medical marijuana regulations.

Legislation to fix Detroit schools stalled until 2016 (Detroit Free Press)
A desire by Gov. Rick Snyder and the city of Detroit to quickly fix the monumental financial problems facing the Detroit Public Schools continues to run into the political reality of what a difficult task that will be in the halls of the state Capitol.

Data Centers Get Tax Breaks After All-Nighter From Michigan Lawmakers (WEMU)
The legislation flew through the state House and Senate during a late-night session on Tuesday. The goal is to lure a massive data farm to the Grand Rapids area. "This opportunity is huge for the state of Michigan," said state Sen. Dave Hildenbrand (R-Lowell).

Legislature backs tax breaks for $5B data center (The Detroit News)
The Legislature worked late Tuesday to approve sales and use tax exemptions that supporters say are designed to attract a $5-billion data server center to Grand Rapids and make Michigan a bigger player in a new technology industry.

Planned Parenthood contract approved over objections (Detroit Free Press)
Despite strong opposition push back from a group of 29 Republican members of the House of Representatives, the state Administrative Board approved a $1.2-million addition to a federal contract with Planned Parenthood of Mid and South Michigan to provide health services for women.

Michigan House, Senate vote for tax breaks to land Switch data center (Mlive)
Tax break bills that should help West Michigan land a $5 billion data center development project are headed to the desk of Gov. Rick Snyder. The state House broke a stalemate late Tuesday, modifying and approving bills to exempt data centers from sales and use taxes through 2035 if the industry meets collective job creation goals. The Senate signed off on the changes at roughly 11:30 p.m.

Legislation to fix Detroit schools stalled until 2016 (Freep)
A desire by Gov. Rick Snyder and the city of Detroit to quickly fix the monumental financial problems facing the Detroit Public Schools continues to run into the political reality of what a difficult task that will be in the halls of the state Capitol.

DETROIT

Detroit: We won't move forward unless we learn to listen (WDET)
One year after bankruptcy, Detroit is at another crossroads. The city's finances look better (for now), but as the tensions that surfaced on Wednesday reveal, there isn't consensus on whether we are truly better off as a community.

Leaders say EAA will persevere despite uncertainty (The Detroit News)

The Education Achievement Authority will continue its work in spite of the possibility that the turnaround school district could be disbanded as part of efforts to overhaul education in Detroit, officials said Tuesday during a board of directors meeting.

Detroit unlikely to forgive water debts of poor (The Detroit News)
An emerging plan to address massive water shut-offs in Detroit likely will stress conservation, convenience and some form of assistance — but not debt forgiveness. A so-called blue ribbon committee studying water affordability in Detroit met for the final time Tuesday before finalizing a report due in January to the City Council.

Shina brothers to unveil $6.2 million expansion, rebranding of Detroit markets (Crain's Detroit Business)
Banner Super Store will unveil its $6.2 million expansion project and rebrand as Imperial Fresh Market during a grand reopening Wednesday morning. The 14424 Schaefer Highway location in northwest Detroit location is the first of four stores in Detroit owned by the five Shina brothers: Basim, Mazim, Maher, Mike and Sam.

OPINION

Editorial: Largest solar array in Mich. (LSJ)

Tuesday reader's view: A power play (Midland Daily News)
A disgrace. Among the many attempts to limit government to the "correct" people, Sen. Jim Stamas and Rep. Gary Glenn have led us to new depths. The bill removing "straight-ticket" voting is falsely portrayed as encouraging voters to learn about candidates, to have more credible representation.

No-reason absentee voting bill is simple, secure and right on time (MLive)
Hardworking Michigan families' busy lives shouldn't prevent them from voting. That's why I support a proposal that would allow them to cast a secure absentee ballot.

Retiring Straits pipeline is not enough (The Times Herald)
An environmental activist group has found the obvious answer to Enbridge's aging and controversial Line 5 carrying crude oil beneath the Straits of Mackinac. The risk it poses to the Great Lakes is unnecessary, the group For Love of Water suggests, because the pipeline itself is not necessary. The group says that other Enbridge pipelines could carry the oil that flows through Line 5 without passing old pipes or risky waterways because they all end in the same place: Crossing the St. Clair River at Marysville.

Bieber: Lawmakers should make voting easier, not harder (Detroit News)
The 2016 election may seem like a long way off, but Republicans in Lansing are already making it harder to vote, so they can tip the scales in their favor next November.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, December 16, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES
Interviews
A Refreshing Approach to Politics in Michigan (National Journal)
If Rick Snyder is a faux reformer, he disguises it well behind gobs of data and the passion of an evangelist.

Bill signing
Governor Snyder Repeals Old Crimes (AP)
Outdated crimes such as cursing in front of women or children and trampling blackberry bushes are no longer be on Michigan's books under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder.
Snyder said in a statement Tuesday that the criminal laws "no longer make sense in the 21st century."

Michigan eliminating outdated laws (ABC 57)
In an effort to get with the times and modernize Michigan's government, Governor Rick Snyder signed several bills on Tuesday, eliminating outdated laws. On Tuesday, Governor Rick Snyder signed multiple bills eliminating those types of outdated laws.

Michigan scraps old laws banning cursing in front of women, trash talking during duels (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed a package of bills to repeal a series of outdated and unenforceable laws, including a prohibition against cursing in front of women or kids. Gone from the books are criminal statutes that had banned people from embellishing the national anthem, hosting walkathons or talking trash during a duel.

Gov. Snyder analyzes old laws that don't apply to the 21st Century (WLNS)
Go ahead and trample a blackberry bush or accept a challenge to a duel. Believe it or not, those laws were still on the books 24 hours ago but not anymore.

Gov. Snyder signs bills eliminating laws on dueling, cursing and trampling blackberry bushes (UP Matters/TV 3)
Cursing in front of women or children or playing the national anthem out of tune will no longer be criminal acts punishable by jail time in Michigan, under legislation signed today by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Cursing in front of women is no longer illegal in Michigan (Arab American News)
Gov. Snyder signed a legislation Tuesday repealing several outdated laws. Cursing in front of women or children or playing the national anthem out of tune will no longer be criminal acts punishable by jail time in Michigan. "Modernizing state government is an ongoing effort," Snyder said. "I appreciate the work of the legislature in analyzing the criminal code and eliminating statutes that no longer make sense in the 21st century."

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bills repealing outdated laws (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed several house bills that will repeal several outdated criminals laws. Acts such as cursing in front of women and children or playing the national anthem out of tune, among others, will no longer be punishable by jail time.

Cursing in front of women? Trampling blackberry bushes? Michigan Gov. gets rid of archaic laws (Fox 28)
If you have a bad habit of cursing in front of women or children you might be in luck. Although not an acceptable social norm, at the very least where children are concerned, at least your potty mouth won't land you in a Michigan jail. Governor Rick Snyder signed legislation Tuesday eliminating some of the more "quaint" laws still on the books that were criminal acts punishable by jail time, such as playing the national anthem out of tune (all aspiring high school marching band members, take note).

Governor Snyder Repeals Strange and Outdated Michigan Laws (9&10 News)
Weird and outdated laws are now officially off the books in Michigan. Governor Snyder signed legislation Tuesday that ends laws he says make no sense in the 21st century. The repealed laws include bans on advertisements about STDs, dueling, and embellishing the national anthem.

Governor Rick Snyder strikes strange and outdated laws from Michigan books (Boyne Gazette)
Cursing in front of women or children or playing the national anthem out of tune will no longer be criminal acts punishable by jail time in Michigan, under legislation signed today by Gov. Rick Snyder.

GM
Value of GM's state tax credits remains secret (Detroit News)
General Motors Co. said Tuesday it will invest another $1 billion in Michigan facilities through 2030 as part of a deal with Gov. Rick Snyder's administration to cap the value of its business income tax credits.

GM to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030, agrees to state cap on MEGA tax credits (Crain's)
General Motors Co. today said it plans to spend $1 billion in Michigan over the next 15 years while reaching a pact with the Snyder administration to cap the value of state business tax credits it receives.

GM announces $356M investment for three Michigan projects (MLive)
General Motors is planning to make $356 million in investments for a new engine line in Flint and other projects in Michigan that are expected to create at least 50 jobs and retain nearly 500 jobs, the company is announcing today, Dec. 15.

Big Three automaker plans $43M investment in plant (GRBJ)
A Big Three automaker is planning to invest more than $43 million in a plant in the area to support a new components line.k

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Flint mayor declares disaster in hopes of getting federal aid (WSJ)
Officials in Flint, Mich., are seeking funding from the federal government to address the effects of contamination in the city's drinking supply, which has nearly doubled the percentage of children showing elevated levels of lead.

How people in Flint were stripped of a basic human need: safe drinking water (Michigan Radio)
The tap water in Lee Ann Walters' home in Flint was causing her family's health problems. Tests show her water had extremely high lead levels. Her son Gavin was diagnosed with lead poisoning.

DHHS
Michigan offering grants to support fluoridation equipment (AP)

Flint mayor declares state of emergency over contaminated water (CBS)
The mayor of Flint, Michigan, has declared a state of emergency due to problems with the city's water system caused by the earlier use of Flint River water.

State officials emphasize need for vaccination following recent chickenpox outbreaks (AP)
Following recent reports of varicella outbreaks around the state, the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is advising parents to make sure their children are up to date on vaccinations against the disease, also known as chickenpox.

MDHHS promotes chickenpox vaccine (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is advising parents to have children vaccinated after recent reports of varicella outbreaks — also known as chickenpox — in the state.

Wayne one of four Mich. counties with chickenpox outbreak (Detroit News)
Wayne County is one of four counties in Michigan that have seen a recent outbreak of chickenpox.

Chickenpox outbreak in Michigan sparks warning (WOOD TV)
State health officials are urging parents to ensure their children are up-to-date on vaccines after chickenpox outbreaks in several counties, including two in West Michigan.

Health officials say unvaccinated kids cause of Chickenpox outbreak (WMUK)
State health officials say a recent wave of chickenpox cases has been caused primarily by unvaccinated children contracting the illness at school.

State board approves Planned Parenthood grant despite conservative objections (MLive)
The State Administrative Board on Tuesday approved a grant transfer and funding increase for Planned Parenthood of Mid and South Michigan to provide low-cost family planning services in Detroit.

Chickenpox back; officials urge vaccination (Huron Daily Tribune)
In light of a recent chickenpox outbreak, state officials on Tuesday urged residents to be vaccinated against the varicella virus.

Unvaccinated kids lead to Chickenpox Outbreak across Michigan (WEMU)
State health officials say a recent wave of chickenpox cases has been caused primarily by unvaccinated children contracting the illness at school.

DTMB
Survey planned along Grand River ahead of possible dredging (9&10)
An underwater survey is planned of the Grand River between Grand Rapids and the Bass River Recreation Area ahead of a possible dredging effort.

MDOT
'Road Watchers' needed for northern lower Michigan (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is seeking "Road Watchers" to report on winter highway conditions in the northern Lower Peninsula.

MEDC
Data: Michigan high school graduation rate improving (Freep)

A national report shows Michigan's high school graduation rate is improving. The U.S. Education Department's National Center for Education Statistics report says the state's 2013-14 rate was nearly 79 percent -- up from 77 percent the previous year.

Pure Michigan extends marketing relationship with Tigers, MIS (Crain's)
The state's Pure Michigan travel and tourism campaign will continue at Comerica Park during Detroit Tigers games and at Michigan International Speedway during the annual NASCAR race in August.

GM commits to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030 (WDIV)
General Motors on Tuesday said it would invest $1 billion in its home state by 2030.

GM to invest $1B in Michigan after credits amended (Detroit Free Press)
General Motors plans to invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030 as part of a new deal with the state to cap the automaker's tax credits.

State, General Motors agree to cap MEGA credits at mystery amount (MLive)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation and General Motors announced Tuesday that they have renegotiated a 2009 tax credit, but neither party is disclosing how much the amended credit is capped at.

Michigan, GM agree to cap tax credits, won't specify amount (ABC)
Michigan and General Motors agreed Tuesday to cap the state's liability for lucrative tax credits but did not specify the amount, as the automaker committed to make $1 billion worth of capital investments in its home state by 2030.

State to create tax-free zone around Sakthi Automotive's planned Detroit campus expansion (Crains)
The state will set up a tax-free district around Sakthi Automotive Group USA Inc.'s planned expanded campus on Detroit's southwest side as part of a financing package for the project.

MSHDA
Michigan Land Bank contractor charges with overbilling (Detroit News)
An arrest warrant was issued Tuesday for a state contractor who allegedly overbilled the Detroit Land Bank Authority for services related to asbestos removal and housing blight demolition he never performed.

Consultant to land banks hit with felony charge in false billing case (Crain's)
A West Bloomfield Township man whose company managed residential demolitions for Detroit and the state was charged with a felony Tuesday involving false billings.

$236,000 in home upgrades to be awarded (Petoskey News)
A $236,000 grant has been awarded to Charlevoix County to help low-income homeowners.

SUPREME COURT
Michigan Supreme Court justices discuss inner-workings (Detroit News)
It was billed as the "Bob & Bridget Show: Behind the Scenes at the Michigan Supreme Court.

Michigan judicial tenure commission files formal complaint against Judge Gorcyca (Huffington Post)
The Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission tasked with investigating allegations of judicial misconduct has filed a formal complaint against Judge Lisa Gorcyca who ordered the Tsimhoni children (presently ages 10, 11, and 14) to juvenile detention for refusing to have lunch with their father who they claim is abusive. She famously threatened, bullied, and insulted them during their June 24th sentencing hearing, even comparing them to the disciples of criminal cultist Charles Manson.

Chippewa County judge facing possible suspension (9&10)
A Chippewa County judge could be suspended after an investigation into cases she presided over.

Special tax breaks for one data center put others at risk (MLive)
Any tax reform for data businesses by the Legislature needs to be rooted in fairness for the Michigan companies that already employ hundreds of Michigan workers.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan medical marijuana dispensary bills not dead, but not going anywhere in 2015 (MLive)
An evolving proposal to allow regulated medical marijuana dispensaries and related businesses is unlikely to move this year in the Michigan Senate despite an ongoing push from supporters.

Bipartisan leaders head to the Capitol to advocate marijuana regulation (WLNS)
A bipartisan coalition of leaders from the public and private sector will meet at the Capitol Building Tuesday to encourage action by the Michigan Senate on medical marijuana regulations.

Legislation to fix Detroit schools stalled until 2016 (Detroit Free Press)
A desire by Gov. Rick Snyder and the city of Detroit to quickly fix the monumental financial problems facing the Detroit Public Schools continues to run into the political reality of what a difficult task that will be in the halls of the state Capitol.

Data Centers Get Tax Breaks After All-Nighter From Michigan Lawmakers (WEMU)
The legislation flew through the state House and Senate during a late-night session on Tuesday. The goal is to lure a massive data farm to the Grand Rapids area. "This opportunity is huge for the state of Michigan," said state Sen. Dave Hildenbrand (R-Lowell).

Legislature backs tax breaks for $5B data center (The Detroit News)
The Legislature worked late Tuesday to approve sales and use tax exemptions that supporters say are designed to attract a $5-billion data server center to Grand Rapids and make Michigan a bigger player in a new technology industry.

Planned Parenthood contract approved over objections (Detroit Free Press)
Despite strong opposition push back from a group of 29 Republican members of the House of Representatives, the state Administrative Board approved a $1.2-million addition to a federal contract with Planned Parenthood of Mid and South Michigan to provide health services for women.

Michigan House, Senate vote for tax breaks to land Switch data center (Mlive)
Tax break bills that should help West Michigan land a $5 billion data center development project are headed to the desk of Gov. Rick Snyder. The state House broke a stalemate late Tuesday, modifying and approving bills to exempt data centers from sales and use taxes through 2035 if the industry meets collective job creation goals. The Senate signed off on the changes at roughly 11:30 p.m.

Legislation to fix Detroit schools stalled until 2016 (Freep)
A desire by Gov. Rick Snyder and the city of Detroit to quickly fix the monumental financial problems facing the Detroit Public Schools continues to run into the political reality of what a difficult task that will be in the halls of the state Capitol.

DETROIT

Detroit: We won't move forward unless we learn to listen (WDET)
One year after bankruptcy, Detroit is at another crossroads. The city's finances look better (for now), but as the tensions that surfaced on Wednesday reveal, there isn't consensus on whether we are truly better off as a community.

Leaders say EAA will persevere despite uncertainty (The Detroit News)
The Education Achievement Authority will continue its work in spite of the possibility that the turnaround school district could be disbanded as part of efforts to overhaul education in Detroit, officials said Tuesday during a board of directors meeting.

Detroit unlikely to forgive water debts of poor (The Detroit News)
An emerging plan to address massive water shut-offs in Detroit likely will stress conservation, convenience and some form of assistance — but not debt forgiveness. A so-called blue ribbon committee studying water affordability in Detroit met for the final time Tuesday before finalizing a report due in January to the City Council.

Shina brothers to unveil $6.2 million expansion, rebranding of Detroit markets (Crain's Detroit Business)
Banner Super Store will unveil its $6.2 million expansion project and rebrand as Imperial Fresh Market during a grand reopening Wednesday morning. The 14424 Schaefer Highway location in northwest Detroit location is the first of four stores in Detroit owned by the five Shina brothers: Basim, Mazim, Maher, Mike and Sam.

OPINION

Editorial: Largest solar array in Mich. (LSJ)

Tuesday reader's view: A power play (Midland Daily News)
A disgrace. Among the many attempts to limit government to the "correct" people, Sen. Jim Stamas and Rep. Gary Glenn have led us to new depths. The bill removing "straight-ticket" voting is falsely portrayed as encouraging voters to learn about candidates, to have more credible representation.

No-reason absentee voting bill is simple, secure and right on time (MLive)
Hardworking Michigan families' busy lives shouldn't prevent them from voting. That's why I support a proposal that would allow them to cast a secure absentee ballot.

Retiring Straits pipeline is not enough (The Times Herald)
An environmental activist group has found the obvious answer to Enbridge's aging and controversial Line 5 carrying crude oil beneath the Straits of Mackinac. The risk it poses to the Great Lakes is unnecessary, the group For Love of Water suggests, because the pipeline itself is not necessary. The group says that other Enbridge pipelines could carry the oil that flows through Line 5 without passing old pipes or risky waterways because they all end in the same place: Crossing the St. Clair River at Marysville.

Bieber: Lawmakers should make voting easier, not harder (Detroit News)
The 2016 election may seem like a long way off, but Republicans in Lansing are already making it harder to vote, so they can tip the scales in their favor next November.

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Wednesday, December 16, 2015 2:08 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 16, 2015

NEWS

Flint, Michigan, Declares State of Emergency Amid Lead in Drinking Water Scare

NBCNews.com

In trying to solve one water crisis, the city of Flint, Michigan, has inadvertently created a new, even bigger one — and it's coming at the cost of ...

Flint, Michigan, mayor declares state of emergency over lead levels in water - Daily Kos

State of emergency declared in Flint, Michigan, over amount of lead in water - ABA Journal

'A manmade disaster': Michigan city declares state of emergency after widespread water ... - Raw Story

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Connor Cook says Michigan State must beat Alabama at its own game

MLive.com

Michigan State quarterback Connor Cook ran for a first down on a fourth-and-2 from the Iowa 5-yard line, extending the game-winning touchdown ...

Five Bold Predictions About Michigan State That Were Completely Wrong - CBS Local

Spartans' Connor Cook: Throwing shoulder feels 'really good' - ESPN

Michigan State Football Recruiting: George Hill to announce Friday night - isportsweb.com (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

State of Michigan employees to receive pay hikes, lump-sum payments

Midland Daily News

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Civil Service Commission has approved contracts with five unions representing about 33,000 state workers that ...

Flag as irrelevant

Spartans come together to help star Denzel Valentine survive & thrive

Sports Illustrated

EAST LANSING, Mich. — After a 10 p.m. ET tip-off in California and a red-eye charter flight across three time zones that hit the ground in East Lansing ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State notes: Jack Conklin selected Sporting News 1st team All-American

MLive.com

Michigan State offensive tackle Jack Conklin, shown here warming up in Lucas Oil Stadium the day before the Spartans' 16-13 win over Iowa, has ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's bottom-line mentality for Alabama: 'They're beatable'

MLive.com

EAST LANSING — Michigan State's football players were respectful of Alabama at their Cotton Bowl media day. The Spartans qualified their answers ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State basketball by the numbers: How other early season No. 1s have fared

MLive.com

Michigan State guard Bryn Forbes (5) watches his 3-point shot rim out in the second half of their NCAA basketball game against Louisville at the ...

Flag as irrelevant

Tuesday's AM Hot Clicks: Amberleigh West; A Michigan State Christmas

Sports Illustrated

Follow Andy Gray on Twitter | Email Andy | Extra Mustard on Facebook. Mustard Minute: Spartan Christmas. Mustard Minute: Michigan State fan's ...

Flag as irrelevant

Bullet grazes Michigan State Police dog as troopers stop pit bull attack

MLive.com

Watch Lt. Kaiser talk MSP K-9 injury Michigan State Police Lt. David Kaiser said K-9 officer Zeke was injured while tracking a suspect in Flint. The K-9 ...

Flag as irrelevant

Alabama, Kirby Smart prep for Michigan State, College Football Playoff

NCAA.com

TUSCALOOSA -- After a wild seven days during which Alabama lost one longtime defensive coordinator only to replace him with an equally familiar ...

Alabama starts preparing for Michigan State - The Decatur Daily

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Thursday, December 17, 2015 2:08 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 17, 2015

NEWS

Rewinding Nick Saban's thoughts on Jeremy Pruitt, Connor Cook and Michigan State

AL.com

--Saban says Connor Cook might be the best quarterback Alabama has faced all season. He thinks Michigan State is a "very, very good team" and that ...

Henry, No. 2 Alabama start preparation for Michigan State - USA TODAY

Derrick Henry, No. 2 Alabama start preparation for Michigan State - Tulsa World

Henry, No. 2 Alabama Start Preparation for Michigan State - ABC News

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan Mayor Declares State of Emergency Over Lead Levels

NPR

The mayor of Flint, Michigan says her city is experiencing a "man-made ... And the only way that we were going to happen was to declare a state of ...

Lead in kids' blood causes Flint, Michigan to declare state of emergency - Heraldvoice.com (blog)

Lead in kids' blood causes Flint, Michigan to declare state of emergency - Wakey Wakey News

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Top running back recruit Kareem Walker commits to UM

Detroit Free Press

1 overall in the country and has Michigan in the mix. ... the process, he was reportedly down to the same final two as Bush: Michigan and Florida State, ...

Four-star RB Kareem Walker commits to Michigan - MLive.com

Michigan, Florida State, Arizona State, Alabama or Auburn for Kareem Walker - Scout

Kareem Walker picks Michigan: No. 1-ranked RB solidifies future amid more N.J. inroads for UM - NJ.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's Jack Conklin undecided on future, embraces Alabama challenge

MLive.com

Michigan State left tackle Jack Conklin has gone from being a relatively anonymous walk-on from Plainwell to a projected first-round NFL draft pick ...

The best quotes from MSU's Cotton Bowl media day - Detroit Free Press

College Football Podcast: Preview, picks for Alabama-Michigan State - Sports Illustrated

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State notes: Tales of Jack Conklin's fresh squirrel, Jack Allen's cat

MLive.com

EAST LANSING — There was plenty of serious football talked about at Michigan State's Cotton Bowl media day Wednesday morning, but the players ...

Jack Allen's Craigslist cat is 'almost like a dog' - USA TODAY

Michigan St. C Jack Allen has a cat from Craigslist - Yardbarker

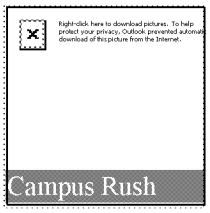
Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Armed with confidence: Connor Cook has heard all the questions, and he plans to answer in the ...

Campus Rush

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Connor Cook walked into the Michigan State media center at 8:22 a.m. on Wednesday, seven minutes past his appointed ...



Flag as irrelevant

MSU's Conklin focused on winning title, not NFL

Detroit Free Press

EAST LANSING – The answer will be the same until Michigan State is done playing and Jack Conklin actually focuses on something other than ...

Michigan State's success is no surprise to Saban - The Detroit News

Michigan State looking forward to return of starter in secondary - FOXSports.com

Michigan State Has Come 'Full Circle' Since Last Cotton Bowl - CBS Local

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State Police raid Dearborn city clerk's office

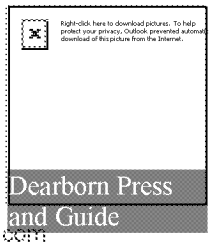
Dearborn Press and Guide

Michigan State Police raided the office of Dearborn City Clerk Kathy Buda on Wednesday morning in connection with an embezzlement investigation.

Michigan State Police Raid Dearborn City Clerk's Office - CBS Local

Michigan State Police raid Dearborn city office - Detroit Free Press

Michigan State police conduct embezzlement investigation at Dearborn City Hall - MLive.com



Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Poison Water Prompts State of Emergency in Michigan City

The Takeaway (blog)

Residents in Flint, Michigan have been dealing with the aftermath of lead-tainted water for over a year now, something that's lead to brain damage in ...

Flint, Michigan Mayor Declares State of Emergency over Lead Poisoning - JD Supra (press release)

Flint, Michigan, Declares State Of Emergency Over Lead In Water - PressOracle.com (blog)

Michigan in State Of Emergency After Contaminated Water Causes High Levels Of Lead In Kids - Medical Daily

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State happy to get a shot at stopping Derrick Henry

ESPN (blog)

Lawrence Thomas and a few of his Michigan State teammates tuned in last Saturday night to see Alabama's Derrick Henry win the Heisman Trophy.

Preparing for Alabama Heisman Trophy winner Derrick Henry no easy task for Michigan State - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, December 22, 2015 9:29 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/22 Newsroom

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, December 22, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Local students invited to submit design for State of the State program cover (Midland Daily News)
Mid-Michigan students are invited to submit a design to Gov. Rick Snyder for the 2016 State of the State program cover. The winner and one guest will be invited to Lansing to meet Gov. Snyder and attend the 2016 State of the State address. Michigan high school, junior high and elementary students can submit original designs for the State of the State program.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Tribute concert yields over $5,000 for community organizations (Sentinel Standard)
The 6th Annual Christmas in Ionia concert took place on Dec. 13 in downtown Ionia, and record numbers for attendees and funds raised are being celebrated by event organizers. The event was hosted as a means to pay tribute to veterans throughout Ionia County, featuring local talent. According to Tracy Hodgkins, event organizer, this year's concert yielded the largest crowd in the event's history, as well as the largest payout.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Strongest link yet between Flint's water, kids' lead levels (AP)
A pediatrician who raised concerns about elevated lead levels in children's blood in Flint, Michigan, says a new study provides the strongest evidence yet of a link between those levels and the cash-strapped city's water system.

Will the water in Flint, Michigan, ever be safe again? (Al Jazeera America)
The head of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality says he hasn't regained the public's trust after a water crisis in the city of Flint left tens of thousands of residents at risk of lead exposure.

'Political cowardice' tops readers' fave 2015 quotes (LSJ)
Democrat Curtis Hertel Jr. had been in the Legislature for just days when his colleagues from across the aisle started to push a repeal of the state's prevailing wage laws.

Michigan ignored 'conclusive evidence' of Flint lead poisoning, researcher says (Huffington Post)
Michigan state officials insisted that the water supply in Flint was safe even though they knew an unusual number of children had suffered lead poisoning, according to a scientist who helped blow the whistle on Flint's water crisis.

Virginia Tech researcher accuses state health officials of "hiding" data on Flint's water (Michigan Radio)

Virginia Tech researchers accuse Michigan health officials of trying to "stonewall" the investigation into lead in Flint's drinking water.

DHHS

Lead poisoning threatens Michigan kids: What are the risks? (Live Science)
The mayor of Flint, Michigan, declared a state of emergency last week after elevated levels of lead were detected in the city's drinking water. Experts say that young children are especially susceptible to even low levels of lead because their brains are still developing.

Youth suicide prevention grant awarded to MCHD (Upper Michigans Source)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services Injury and Violence Prevention Unit has awarded a grant to the Marquette County Health Department.

Suicide prevention grant awarded to Marquette County health Department (Michigan Public Radio)
The Marquette County Health Department has received a grant to fund a four-year youth suicide prevention project.

DNR

Communities get share of $1.3 million for outdoor recreation (AP)
Michigan says 33 communities will share more than $1.3 million in grants funded by the sale of the annual pass for access to state parks and recreation areas.

Second DNR officer added in Branch County (WTVB)
Branch County now has two, instead of only one Michigan Department of Natural Resources Conservation Officers, and one of the new officers, Isaac Tyson, introduced himself at last night's meeting of the Branch County Township Supervisor's Association. Tyson's partner is Joshua Jackson and they just started working in the county this fall after nearly a year of training since joining the DNR January 1, 2015.

MDE

Programs give students a voice of change for healthy school environments (MSU Extension)
Michigan State University Extension staff are working with students throughout the state that are interested in healthier cafeterias and school environments

MDOT

MACC director optimistic on federal road bill (Holland Sentinel)
Congress' transportation bill got a positive review from a top area road official on Monday.

MDCR

Oakland Community College program gets national recognition (AP)
Oakland Community College's sign language interpreter program has been awarded national accreditation by the Commission on Collegiate Interpreter Education.

MPSC

Dearborn Chamber backs energy-efficiency standards (Detroit News)
If any community understands the benefits of efficiency, it's Dearborn — home to Henry Ford, whose introduction of the assembly line changed the world.

DTE Energy building two solar sites planned to be largest in Michigan (MLive)
DTE Energy plans to build what would be Michigan's largest solar array in Lapeer this spring, the company announced.

DTE Energy announces biggest solar project yet (Michigan Radio)
DTE Energy is taking its biggest plunge into solar power yet, with a Lapeer County project announced Monday.

MSHDA

Michigan economic development on track, leaders say (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan's economic development is on track despite cutbacks, but more needs to be done to boost training to improve job skills, according to three of the state's top workforce and housing leaders.

Allegan seeks grant for Griswold (Allegan Co. News)
To complete $106,288 worth of restoration at Griswold Auditorium, Allegan is applying for a grant.

MSP
MSP have six new canine teams (Midland Daily)
Michigan citizens will soon benefit from the services of six new canine teams that graduated from the Michigan State Police 2015 Basic Canine School on Friday.

MSP encourage Michiganders to report suspicious activity (UP Matters)
This month, the Michigan State Police is seeking to remind Michiganders of the important and critical role they play in keeping our state safe by reporting suspicious activity.

SOS
Michigan Supreme Court re-evaluating its laws about the punishments sex offenders get; other states follow suit (Lawyer Herald)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to take a second look at a man's case that was convicted and is in the list of sex offenders for life. The court has decided to review their registry because of cases like this.

Sex offender registry appeal (FOX 32)
Should a man's name now be taken off the sex offender registry because his conviction was erased 18 years ago? Why or why not?

DETROIT

Detroit City Hall jobs up for grabs (Detroit News)
The hiring sign is out for the city of Detroit, but some unions and City Council members are worried it will leave some municipal employees on the street.

Judge swears in 103 new Americans in Detroit ceremony (Detroit News)
Kadhum Swailem entered the federal courthouse in Detroit Monday morning as one of 103 immigrants from 32 countries taking the final step to become a naturalized American.

Final plans for Hudson's site could be ready in 30 days (Detroit News)
Billionaire Dan Gilbert's final plans for the vacant Hudson's site in downtown Detroit could be revealed in 30 days or sooner.

Utilities ramp up tree cutting to curb power outages (Freep)
This year was a contentious one for Michigan's electric utilities -- over trees. The state's big electric providers, under federal and state mandates to reduce outages, this year ramped up their forestry programs, an effort they plan to increase even more in coming years.

Mapping project lists info about Detroit organizations (AP)
A new project is listing information about Detroit's community development organizations, neighborhood associations, block clubs and neighborhood service providers.

OPINION

Our view: Snyder should veto straight-ticket legislation (Midland Daily News)
Gov. Rick Snyder still has a chance to do the right thing for Michigan voters who enjoy or prefer having the option of voting straight-ticket for a political party in elections. He can veto the legislation passed by the state Senate and House this week.

Editor's note: Governor tries to stall Uber (Detroit News)
Government always thinks it can make things better. Yet that's rarely true, especially in the business world. Case in point: app-based ride-sharing services like Uber and Lyft. These companies are flourishing in cities all over the country, including Detroit. The businesses are giving people a reliable, competitively-priced alternative for getting around.

Editorial: Communities should seek police cost savings (Detroit News)
Milford is a case study in how local communities should address public safety, and how they shouldn't. The village and township have formed a committee to study the needs of their joint police department over the next 10 years.

Mich. lawmakers need to do more for Detroit's public schools (Toledo Blade)
As the clock ticked down the last days of this year's legislative session, majority Republicans mounted a full-court press to give their party more partisan advantage in coming elections.

Susan J. Demas: From Trump to Clinton, voters don't like most of presidential field (MLive)
There are currently 13 major presidential candidates, and voters only like three of them.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, December 23, 2015 9:07 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/23 Newsroom
Attachments: 151223 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, December 23, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Emergency Manager/Lincoln Park exit
No more emergency managers in Michigan cities after Lincoln Park escapes financial crisis (Mlive)
While three Michigan school districts are still run by emergency managers, there are no remaining state appointees running city governments after Lincoln Park officially escaped financial emergency Tuesday.

Last Michigan city out from under emergency management (Freep)
The City of Lincoln Park is returning to self-government, meaning that for the first time in 15 years, no Michigan city is under the control of a state-appointed emergency manager, Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday.

Year-end interviews
Skubick: Snyder tries to cut financial deficit at Detroit Schools (WLNS)
Voters around the state are being asked to contribute to the governor's proposal to reduce the deficit in the Detroit Public schools.

Holiday message from Governor Snyder and First Lady Sue Snyder (UPMatters)
Gov. Rick Snyder and First Lady Sue Snyder wished Michiganders a safe and happy holiday season. Click here to watch the video. First Lady Sue Snyder: What a wonderful time of year to be in Michigan with our friends and families. This is a time to rest and step back from our busy lives to appreciate what we have.

Detroit Public Schools
Michigan Gov. Proposes Bailout of Struggling Detroit Schools (Capitol Confidential)
Two years after the City of Detroit went through a highly publicized bankruptcy, Michigan's governor is proposing a $715 million bailout of the troubled Detroit Public Schools (DPS).

Legislature
Gov. Snyder signs bill saving courts money and increases efficiency (WLNS)
Changes are coming to the way Michigan courts handle paperwork and it might save you a trip to the courthouse in the near future.

Gov. Rick Snyder goes 1 for 4 on fall priorities as Michigan Legislature calls it a year (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature took its time in 2015, completing just one of Gov. Rick Snyder's top four fall priorities and sending him the fewest number of bills since Republicans took full control of state government five years ago.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Snyder appoints Judge John Hallacy to vacancy on 37th Circuit Court (WWMT)
A vacancy on the 37th Circuit Court in Calhoun County has been filled. On Tuesday, Governor Rick Snyder announced the appointment of Judge John Hallacy, of the 10th District Court, to fill the vacancy on the circuit court.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
$600K grant covers Hudson sewer inspection project (LenConnect)
Hudson city officials and a Kalamazoo engineering firm are moving forward with a large-scale stormwater and sewer management inspection project to keep ahead of short- and long-term maintenance needs.

DHHS
Flint's water crisis: Michigan ignored strong evidence of lead poisoning (Pulse)
Michigan state discovered strong evidence of a spike in children lead poisoning but officials still insisted that there was no anomalous increase in blood lead levels of kids, as Marc Edwards, a civil engineering professor at Virginia Tech, wrote online on Monday.

Was lead poisoning from Flint River preventable? Research implicates water supply (Medical Daily)
Just a week after Michigan mayor Karen Weaver declared a state of emergency over elevated levels of lead in children's blood, a new study published in the American Journal of Public Health reveals the strongest evidence of a link between elevated blood-lead levels and the city of Flint's poor water system

DNR
$50K donation will cover cost of bike rental station, help with trail project (MLive)
Jackson County Parks recently received two large donations from the Hurst Foundation to help fund two county park projects Dec. 17.

Ann Arbor council votes 7-3 to scale back park closures for deer cull (MLive)
A few city parks are being taken off the list of areas to be closed during the Ann Arbor deer cull starting in January.

Dog park, ice rink project benefit from state recreation grants (Petoskey News)
Recreation projects in two Charlevoix County cities will benefit from two recently announced grants from the state's Recreation Passport Fund.

Land deal reached for new particleboard plant (Crawford County Avalanche)
The State of Michigan has reached a deal for land for a particleboard plant that will be built south of Grayling.

DNR official says local herd 'collapsing' (Mining Gazette)
Officials with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are well aware the deer population in the Upper Peninsula is low and they're studying the issue closely.

MDOT
Audit: MDOT broke its own rule on road safety studies (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) broke its own rule on road safety studies. That's according to a new report from the Michigan auditor general's office.

MDE
Strategic goals in Lansing aim to make Michigan a top 10 education state (Huron Daily Tribune)
In an effort to make Michigan a top 10 education state during the next decade, the Michigan Board of Education recently adopted some strategic goals.

MPSC
DTE rate hike is bad news for seniors (The Times Herald)
read your article "DTE Energy to increase rates" in Thursday's Times Herald with great interest. Are you aware that this is the second increase by DTE in rates this year? The first was in June and according to my calculations, was an increase of over 7 percent. Now it is 11.3 percent for a total of 18 percent for the year.

MSHDA

Agency gets grant to help homeowners (Morning Sun)
A grant from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority is allowing the Mid Michigan Community Action Agency to assist home owners and potential home owners through an educational program.

MSP

MSP suggests emergency preparedness gift ideas (ABC 57 News)
If you still have some more holiday shopping to do, an unlikely source may have a few ideas for that perfect gift. On Tuesday, Michigan State Police released their 2015 emergency preparedness gift list.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan's surplus tax revenue may boost roads (Detroit News)
Michigan lawmakers may have more than $700 million in surplus tax revenue on their hands when they return to the Capitol next month after a four-week holiday break.

Lawmakers: Federal budget to boost ongoing blight-fighting efforts in Michigan cities (AP)
Lawmakers say the recently approved federal budget package is expected to boost efforts to remove and repurpose thousands of blighted properties in Michigan cities.

Royal Oak blasts pending election legislation before governor (Macomb Daily)
Royal Oak City Commissioners passed a resolution against a bill now before Gov. Rick Snyder that would bar public bodies from using public funds to distribute information to voters on ballot proposals 60 days before an election.

Lawmakers leave roads a wreck, risk other funding (Detroit News)
After years of delay, neglect and political posturing, the Legislature and governor recently trumpeted their success in passing a plan that will fix Michigan roads. Unfortunately, they did no such thing.

DETROIT

DPS terminates ombudswoman after investigation (Detroit News)
Detroit Public Schools has terminated its first ombudswoman following an internal investigation into allegations of misconduct.

Not Your Grandfather's Municipal Market: Investors Eye Recovery Value (Forbes)
Tainted from the Detroit bankruptcy and mired in the Puerto Rico debt crisis, investors are re-evaluating the former safe haven of the bond world, municipals, and emphasizing recovery values in their credit work.

OPINION

Editorial: Hasten help to Flint (Detroit News)
Flint's financial crisis became a health crisis with the decision to unhook from the Detroit water system and start delivering water to residents itself. Since the city was under state emergency management at the time, much of the responsibility for fixing the problem rests with Lansing.

Grinch-like tax on Christmas trees (Detroit News)
In a development that would surely warm the "two sizes too small" heart of the Grinch, the "Christmas Tree Tax" is being collected for the first time this year. This is a tax levied on the sale of each Christmas tree in order to encourage the sale of ... Christmas trees.

Letter: Transparency and GM tax information (Detroit News)
Re: The Detroit News' Dec 17 editorial calling for the state to release the details of a recent amendment to General Motors' tax credit deal: The deal does provide GM with hundreds of millions of other tax dollars. But these numbers should already be public, under state law.

Lawmakers leave roads a wreck, risk other funding (Detroit News)

After years of delay, neglect and political posturing, the Legislature and governor recently trumpeted their success in passing a plan that will fix Michigan roads. Unfortunately, they did no such thing.

Common cause: Snyder should veto election bills (Detroit News)
Striking late at night, when they assumed no one would be watching, politicians in Lansing passed bills to protect the voice of wealthy special interests, granting them a louder voice in our government, while pushing voters aside. The question now is whether Gov. Rick Snyder will stop them.

The scourge of sex trafficking (Detroit Free Press)
It's the scourge around the corner, in the house down the street -- or even in our own families.

Michigan should do away with the straight-ticket option (Detroit Free Press)
Of all the things that make our country great, nothing is more universally cherished than our right to vote. Americans choose their own destiny, and they exercise that choice through the democratic process.

First Lady Sue Snyder comes out of 'shell' for good causes (MLive)
Apparently, it helps to know somebody when you want state support for one of your favorite projects.

Howes: Best, worst of Mich. found around Lansing (Detroit News)
And, lo, in the closing days of the year 2015 AB — after bankruptcy — the call went out to all those not yet gone and making merry: Who are the best (and worst) in Michigan business and politics?

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, December 23, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Emergency Manager/Lincoln Park exit
No more emergency managers in Michigan cities after Lincoln Park escapes financial crisis (Mlive)
While three Michigan school districts are still run by emergency managers, there are no remaining state appointees running city governments after Lincoln Park officially escaped financial emergency Tuesday.

Last Michigan city out from under emergency management (Freep)
The City of Lincoln Park is returning to self-government, meaning that for the first time in 15 years, no Michigan city is under the control of a state-appointed emergency manager, Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday.

Year-end interviews
Skubick: Snyder tries to cut financial deficit at Detroit Schools (WLNS)
Voters around the state are being asked to contribute to the governor's proposal to reduce the deficit in the Detroit Public schools.

Holiday message from Governor Snyder and First Lady Sue Snyder (UPMatters)
Gov. Rick Snyder and First Lady Sue Snyder wished Michiganders a safe and happy holiday season. Click here to watch the video. First Lady Sue Snyder: What a wonderful time of year to be in Michigan with our friends and families. This is a time to rest and step back from our busy lives to appreciate what we have.

Detroit Public Schools
Michigan Gov. Proposes Bailout of Struggling Detroit Schools (Capitol Confidential)
Two years after the City of Detroit went through a highly publicized bankruptcy, Michigan's governor is proposing a $715 million bailout of the troubled Detroit Public Schools (DPS).

Legislature
Gov. Snyder signs bill saving courts money and increases efficiency (WLNS)
Changes are coming to the way Michigan courts handle paperwork and it might save you a trip to the courthouse in the near future.

Gov. Rick Snyder goes 1 for 4 on fall priorities as Michigan Legislature calls it a year (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature took its time in 2015, completing just one of Gov. Rick Snyder's top four fall priorities and sending him the fewest number of bills since Republicans took full control of state government five years ago.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Snyder appoints Judge John Hallacy to vacancy on 37th Circuit Court (WWMT)
A vacancy on the 37th Circuit Court in Calhoun County has been filled. On Tuesday, Governor Rick Snyder announced the appointment of Judge John Hallacy, of the 10th District Court, to fill the vacancy on the circuit court.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
$600K grant covers Hudson sewer inspection project (LenConnect)
Hudson city officials and a Kalamazoo engineering firm are moving forward with a large-scale stormwater and sewer management inspection project to keep ahead of short- and long-term maintenance needs.

DHHS
Flint's water crisis: Michigan ignored strong evidence of lead poisoning (Pulse)
Michigan state discovered strong evidence of a spike in children lead poisoning but officials still insisted that there was no anomalous increase in blood lead levels of kids, as Marc Edwards, a civil engineering professor at Virginia Tech, wrote online on Monday.

Was lead poisoning from Flint River preventable? Research implicates water supply (Medical Daily)
Just a week after Michigan mayor Karen Weaver declared a state of emergency over elevated levels of lead in children's blood, a new study published in the American Journal of Public Health reveals the strongest evidence of a link between elevated blood-lead levels and the city of Flint's poor water system

DNR
$50K donation will cover cost of bike rental station, help with trail project (MLive)
Jackson County Parks recently received two large donations from the Hurst Foundation to help fund two county park projects Dec. 17.

Ann Arbor council votes 7-3 to scale back park closures for deer cull (MLive)
A few city parks are being taken off the list of areas to be closed during the Ann Arbor deer cull starting in January.

Dog park, ice rink project benefit from state recreation grants (Petoskey News)
Recreation projects in two Charlevoix County cities will benefit from two recently announced grants from the state's Recreation Passport Fund.

Land deal reached for new particleboard plant (Crawford County Avalanche)
The State of Michigan has reached a deal for land for a particleboard plant that will be built south of Grayling.

DNR official says local herd 'collapsing' (Mining Gazette)
Officials with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are well aware the deer population in the Upper Peninsula is low and they're studying the issue closely.

MDOT
Audit: MDOT broke its own rule on road safety studies (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) broke its own rule on road safety studies. That's according to a new report from the Michigan auditor general's office.

MDE

Strategic goals in Lansing aim to make Michigan a top 10 education state (Huron Daily Tribune)
In an effort to make Michigan a top 10 education state during the next decade, the Michigan Board of Education recently adopted some strategic goals.

MPSC

DTE rate hike is bad news for seniors (The Times Herald)
read your article "DTE Energy to increase rates" in Thursday's Times Herald with great interest. Are you aware that this is the second increase by DTE in rates this year? The first was in June and according to my calculations, was an increase of over 7 percent. Now it is 11.3 percent for a total of 18 percent for the year.

MSHDA

Agency gets grant to help homeowners (Morning Sun)
A grant from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority is allowing the Mid Michigan Community Action Agency to assist home owners and potential home owners through an educational program.

MSP

MSP suggests emergency preparedness gift ideas (ABC 57 News)
If you still have some more holiday shopping to do, an unlikely source may have a few ideas for that perfect gift. On Tuesday, Michigan State Police released their 2015 emergency preparedness gift list.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan's surplus tax revenue may boost roads (Detroit News)
Michigan lawmakers may have more than $700 million in surplus tax revenue on their hands when they return to the Capitol next month after a four-week holiday break.

Lawmakers: Federal budget to boost ongoing blight-fighting efforts in Michigan cities (AP)
Lawmakers say the recently approved federal budget package is expected to boost efforts to remove and repurpose thousands of blighted properties in Michigan cities.

Royal Oak blasts pending election legislation before governor (Macomb Daily)
Royal Oak City Commissioners passed a resolution against a bill now before Gov. Rick Snyder that would bar public bodies from using public funds to distribute information to voters on ballot proposals 60 days before an election.

Lawmakers leave roads a wreck, risk other funding (Detroit News)
After years of delay, neglect and political posturing, the Legislature and governor recently trumpeted their success in passing a plan that will fix Michigan roads. Unfortunately, they did no such thing.

DETROIT

DPS terminates ombudswoman after investigation (Detroit News)
Detroit Public Schools has terminated its first ombudswoman following an internal investigation into allegations of misconduct.

Not Your Grandfather's Municipal Market: Investors Eye Recovery Value (Forbes)

Tainted from the Detroit bankruptcy and mired in the Puerto Rico debt crisis, investors are re-evaluating the former safe haven of the bond world, municipals, and emphasizing recovery values in their credit work.

OPINION

Editorial: Hasten help to Flint (Detroit News)
Flint's financial crisis became a health crisis with the decision to unhook from the Detroit water system and start delivering water to residents itself. Since the city was under state emergency management at the time, much of the responsibility for fixing the problem rests with Lansing.

Grinch-like tax on Christmas trees (Detroit News)
In a development that would surely warm the "two sizes too small" heart of the Grinch, the "Christmas Tree Tax" is being collected for the first time this year. This is a tax levied on the sale of each Christmas tree in order to encourage the sale of ... Christmas trees.

Letter: Transparency and GM tax information (Detroit News)
Re: The Detroit News' Dec 17 editorial calling for the state to release the details of a recent amendment to General Motors' tax credit deal: The deal does provide GM with hundreds of millions of other tax dollars. But these numbers should already be public, under state law.

Lawmakers leave roads a wreck, risk other funding (Detroit News)
After years of delay, neglect and political posturing, the Legislature and governor recently trumpeted their success in passing a plan that will fix Michigan roads. Unfortunately, they did no such thing.

Common cause: Snyder should veto election bills (Detroit News)
Striking late at night, when they assumed no one would be watching, politicians in Lansing passed bills to protect the voice of wealthy special interests, granting them a louder voice in our government, while pushing voters aside. The question now is whether Gov. Rick Snyder will stop them.

The scourge of sex trafficking (Detroit Free Press)
It's the scourge around the corner, in the house down the street – or even in our own families.

Michigan should do away with the straight-ticket option (Detroit Free Press)
Of all the things that make our country great, nothing is more universally cherished than our right to vote. Americans choose their own destiny, and they exercise that choice through the democratic process.

First Lady Sue Snyder comes out of 'shell' for good causes (MLive)
Apparently, it helps to know somebody when you want state support for one of your favorite projects.

Howes: Best, worst of Mich. found around Lansing (Detroit News)
And, lo, in the closing days of the year 2015 AB — after bankruptcy — the call went out to all those not yet gone and making merry: Who are the best (and worst) in Michigan business and politics?

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, December 28, 2015 10:53 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/28 Newsroom
Attachments: 151228 Newsroom.docx

Monday, December 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lincoln Park/EM exit
City Of Lincoln Park Free From Emergency Management (Michigan Radio)
Lincoln Park was officially released from state control yesterday. This marks the first time in 15 years no Michigan city is being run by an emergency manager. Rick Pluta reports.

Bill signings
Gov. Rick Snyder signs bills to simplify court paperwork with e-filing (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed six bills that aim to modernize the Michigan court filing system by taking it online. House Bills 5208, 5029 and 5030 define the terms of the electronic filing system and lay out the fees for electronic filings, including a provision exempting indigent filers from fees if they are exempt from regular filing fees.

Gov. Snyder approves tax breaks to entice tech company, help existing data centers in Michigan (AP)
A tech company's expansion into western Michigan will be ensured through tax breaks that Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law on Wednesday, exempting it and in-state data centers from sales and use taxes for 20 years as long as the industry adds 1,000 jobs.

Snyder signs tax break bill to lure data center (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday signed into law measures that give tax breaks to data centers and are expected to draw what's been touted as a $5-billion investment in western Michigan by Nevada-based Switch Corp.

Snyder signs data center legislation (MiBiz)
Gov. Rick Snyder today signed legislation exempting co-located data centers from state sales and use tax, paving the way for the largest data center east of the Mississippi River to locate on a site south of Grand Rapids.

Gov. Snyder signs off on major tax breaks for data centers (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed bills giving major tax breaks to data centers in Michigan. All data centers will no longer have to pay sales and use tax. But the new laws are in place in order to lure a single, massive server farm to the Grand Rapids area.

Gov. Snyder signs tax breaks for $5B Switch data center (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder today signed tax-reform legislation designed to attract the largest data center in the eastern United States to an empty building outside Grand Rapids. Switch, a Nevada-based company that wants to use the old Steelcase "pyramid" building as the hub for a new 2 million-square-foot campus, will be exempt — along with other data centers — from sales and use taxes on equipment like computers, servers and cabling through 2035, if the industry meets collective job-creation goals.

Gov. Snyder signs bills designed to bring Switch data center to W. Mich. (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder announced Wednesday that he has signed a pair of bills designed to help a major Internet data center developer expand into West Michigan. Gov. Snyder's office announced that he had signed Senate Bills 616 and 617, which allow exemptions from sales and use taxes for items in a qualified data center, such as computers, servers, routers, cabling, and wiring used in operating, managing, or maintaining the business. SB 616 was sponsored by Sen. Tonya Schuitmaker.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs data center legislation (WZZM)
Governor Rick Snyder signed legislation on Wednesday granting tax policy changes for data centers which opens the door for a major new industry here in West Michigan.

Tax breaks signed, clearing way for Switch (WOOD-TV)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed two bills designed to bring a multi-billion dollar investment from a cloud data storage company to West Michigan. Nevada-based Switch will invest $5 billion to transform the former Steelcase pyramid in Gaines Township into a cloud data storage facility that would eventually employ around 1,000 people.

Gov. Snyder signs bills modernizing tax structure to adapt to emerging technology (UP Matters/TV 3)
Legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder Wednesday will modernize the structure of Michigan's tax code to ensure treatment of data center inputs more closely aligns with treatment of manufacturing inputs and tax laws in other states.

Gov. Snyder Signs Bill That Makes 'Guilty Mind' Necessary For Convictions (Capitol Confidential)
House Bill 4713, a measure to prevent people from being convicted for unknowingly violating the law — something that has become increasingly likely as the number of regulations has increased — has been signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The bill was passed unanimously by both chambers of the Michigan Legislature.

Flag honors
Gov. Rick Snyder lowers flags in recognition of former State Rep. Daisy Elliott (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently ordered all U.S. flags be lowered to half-staff within the State Capitol Complex beginning Dec. 28 in honor of former State Rep. Daisy Elliott, who died Dec. 22.

Former State Rep. Daisy Elliott Has Died (WHTC)
Governor Rick Snyder has ordered flags lowered in Michigan Monday to honor former state Rep. Daisy Elliott, who died Tuesday.

Michigan civil rights act co-author Daisy Elliott dies (Mlive)
Civil rights activist and Michigan's Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights Act co-author Daisy Elliott has died. Elliott died Tuesday at age 98, the James H. Cole Home for Funerals in Detroit said on its website.

Daisy Elliott, Detroiter behind civil rights law, dies (Detroit News)
Daisy Elliott, an African-American civil rights advocate and former Michigan representative who helped push through a landmark law aimed at protecting against racial bias as well as other forms of discrimination, has died at age 98, friends and family announced late Tuesday.

Interviews

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, legislative leaders name top accomplishments of 2015 (Mlive)
Michigan's continued economic recovery was the top accomplishment for the state in 2015, according to Gov. Rick Snyder. The state's unemployment rate dropped in nine of the first 11 months of the year, and while some long-term challenges remain, economists are predicting Michigan's six-year recovery will continue through 2016.

Year-In-Review: Governor Snyder Discusses Michigan's 2015 (9&10 News)
"Michigan's the comeback state. We're reinventing ourselves but there is more work to be done." A new year for the state of Michigan is only one week away. State leaders like Gov. Rick Snyder are taking the time to sit down and look back at 2015.

Governor Snyder's Agenda For 2016 Includes Energy, Getting DPS Out Of Debt (WSJM)
There's more on the governor's to-do list for 2016 than reforming the state's energy policy and passing a plan to get Detroit Public Schools out of debt. Those two issues are the most high profile ones but there are other things on Governor Rick Snyder's plate, like criminal justice reforms.

DPS reform, energy, medical pot: Legislative issues to watch in 2016 (Crain's Detroit Business)
When state lawmakers return from holiday recess Jan. 13, they will have plenty of business-related policy issues to think about as they look to the year ahead. Among these issues, some of which were introduced this year and held over, will be Detroit Public Schools reform, energy and medical marijuana regulations.

Skubick: Governor Snyder courted by presidential hopefuls (WLNS)
If the Republicans take the White House next year, is there a chance Gov. Rick Snyder may leave for a post in a new administration? For a time this last year, some people thought they would see another face on that Republican Presidential debate stage, Governor Rick Snyder.

Data centers, roads, film incentives among targets of business-related bills Michigan lawmakers OK'd in 2015 (Crain's Detroit Business)
The state Legislature capped 2015 by approving tax breaks for data centers that operate in Michigan, a decision that paves the way for a Nevada data center developer to open one near Grand Rapids. The bill, if signed by Gov. Rick Snyder, would be one of several major policy changes with business implications adopted this year.

Misc

What Michigan leaders hope for in the New Year (Freep)
It's the season for celebrating and starting anew. So with 2016 only days away, I asked luminaries across Michigan to share some of their New Year's resolutions and wishes. Gov. Rick Snyder: "I resolve to keep my foot on the accelerator. Michigan has made great progress in the last five years reinventing our state, making it stronger. There's more we can do — together — and I have no intention of slowing down in 2016."

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Calley calls for improved special ed programs (Capital News Service)
Schools should provide what children need and not expect children to conform to old structures, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley said in a report to the state Board of Education, asking it to increase access, scope and quality of special education. Calley wrote, "I have been traveling the state, holding informal town halls with parents and educators who face the challenges and triumphs of working every day with students in need of special education services. "

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

First lady Sue Snyder comes out of 'shell' for good causes (Mlive)
Ask first lady Sue Snyder, who secured $500,000 in the state budget to attack sexual assaults on college campuses. She is the first first lady in the country to take on this cause, and she has a passion aimed at changing the system. She got the idea during a spring break vacation with her teenage daughter and a female friend and her daughter.

APPOINTMENTS

Kettering student tagged for Gov. Snyder's MiSTEM Advisory Council (Mlive)
A Kettering University student has been selected by Gov. Rick Snyder to help identify strategies to improve science, technology, engineering and math education in the state. Harrison Ford, a mechanical engineering major, was one of 11 people named Dec. 23 to Snyder's MiSTEM Advisory Council.

George Heartwell appointed to state board, gets GVSU job (WOOD Radio)
Outgoing Grand Rapids Mayor George Heartwell has a new gig. Gov. Rick Snyder appointed Heartwell to the State Transportation Commission, on which he will serve a three-year term.

Upper Peninsula residents appointed by Governor Snyder to advisory boards and councils (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder makes appointments to the MiSTEM Advisory Council.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Michigan can comply with federal Clean Power Plan for a decade with no changes (Mlive)
Michigan can comply with the federal Clean Power Plan to reduce carbon emissions without changing anything until at least 2025, the Michigan Agency for Energy and Michigan Department of Environmental Quality announced Tuesday. The Environmental Protection Agency in August announced a plan to cut carbon emissions by 2030. Michigan specifically has to cut 31 percent of emissions from the state's 2012 levels by 2030.

Part of St. Clair County in 'nonattainment' for sulfur dioxide emissions (The Voice)
A portion of St. Clair County does not meet federal standards for sulfur dioxide emissions, according to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, largely because of DTE's two coal burning power plants in the county, the St. Clair Power Plant in East China Township and the Belle River Power Plant in China Township.

Grants available for local projects to reduce food waste (AP)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality is offering grants for projects designed to prevent food waste. It's part of an initiative Gov. Rick Snyder announced in 2014 to double the state's residential recycling rate. Wasted food accounts for more than 20 percent of household trash – more than any other material.

Agencies offer grants to support Michigan stream cleanups (AP)
The Department of Environmental Quality and the Great Lakes Commission plan to divide $25,000 among selected applicants. Those who receive grants are expected to match at least 25 percent of the money.

DNR
Harrison gets grant for band shell (Morning Sun)
Nearly six years ago, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources created a grant program to help residents enjoy the outdoors. A state law that created the Local Public Recreation Facilities Fund is used for the development of public recreation for local municipalities. In the latest round of grant announcements, the city of Harrison was awarded $45,000 in the form of a DNR Recreational Passport Grant to construct a walkway and music/band shell.

Communities get share of $1.3M for outdoor recreation (AP)
Michigan says 33 communities will share more than $1.3 million in grants funded by the sale of the annual pass for access to state parks and recreation areas. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources recently announced recipients of Recreation Passport grants.

Deer numbers 'collapsing' in U.P. (Iron Mountain Daily News)
Officials with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources said they are closely studying the dwindling deer herd in the Upper Peninsula, where some areas have lost more than half of their normal population.

MDARD
Michigan poultry exhibition ban lifted (Record Eagle)
The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development this week lifted the statewide ban on poultry exhibitions. The state implemented the ban in June 2015 as a precautionary measure in response to the Avian Influenza outbreak across the Midwest.

Michigan Agriculture officials lift poultry exhibition ban (AP)
A ban on poultry exhibitions in Michigan that was introduced in June to prevent the spread of bird flu has been lifted. The decision to remove the ban came after an evaluation of the disease risk and status of the Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza — HPAI — outbreak, Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development officials said Wednesday.

Farmer says food inspection looked like a 'raid' (Interlochen Public Radio)
Food inspectors used a warrant signed by a judge to visit a farm near Cadillac last week. State police troopers were also on hand for the inspection of Bakers Green Acres last Thursday. A spokeswoman for the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development, Jennifer Holton, called the inspection "routine."

MDOT
Road agencies: We're ready for whatever winter brings (Freep)
MDOT's Detroit maintenance garage handles 300 lane miles in metro Detroit with 13 plow trucks that have underbody blades, and 11 are equipped with a front plow, said MDOT spokeswoman Diane Cross. She said the garage salt barn holds 3,000 ton of salt and a 5,000 gallon tank containing calcium chloride with boost.

Overhaul of I-75 bridge slated (Monroe Evening News)
State transportation officials have announced an overhaul of the I-75 bridge over the Rouge River in Detroit. The Michigan Department of Transportation announced it plans to replace the bridge deck that officials have spent more than $1 million repairing since 2011. The $80 million project is scheduled to begin in 2017.

Audit Finds MDOT Broke its Own Rule on Road Safety Studies (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) broke its own rule on road safety studies. That's according to a new report from the Michigan auditor general's office.

MEDC
State Agency Says '#MichiganIsAuto,' But the Economy Has Changed (Capitol Confidential)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation, the state government agency in charge of giving selective tax breaks and subsidies to certain corporations and developers, publishes short messages on the social media platform Twitter. They include the hashtag "#MichiganIsAuto."

Dilworth Hotel project gets $1 million grant (Petoskey News Review)
City of Boyne City officials and the developer behind an effort to restore and reopen the landmark Dilworth Hotel recently received word that the project has be officially approved for a $1 million state grant to offset certain costs associated with the project.

MSHDA
Local nonprofit seeks to help home buyers at every level (Midland Daily News)
With a new $40,000 grant from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, Mid Michigan Community Action Agency will continue to offer its Homeowner Empowerment Program, which provides education and resources to those looking to achieve financial stability and attain success as homeowners.

MSP

Michigan State Police gives safety tips for driving on slick roads (WLNS)
Michigan State Police say there are many ways to avoid some of those slips, starting with increasing driving distance. Officials say it's important to give some space between your car and the car in front of you.

Michigan State Police: Prepare For Hazardous Winter Storm (Fox 2 Detroit)
The Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division (MSP/EMHSD) encourages citizens and visitors to prepare for a hazardous winter storm expected to affect most of the Lower Peninsula from noon Monday, Dec. 28, and into Tuesday, Dec. 29.

Michigan State Police warn residents of hazardous winter storm (TV 7&4)
The Michigan State Police and the Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division are encouraging residents and visitors to prepare for a hazardous winter storm.

Michigan State Police adds 6 canine teams (County Press)
Michigan State Police (MSP) Director Col. Kriste Kibbey Etue is pleased to announce that Michigan citizens will soon benefit from the services of six new canine teams that graduated from the MSP 2015 Basic Canine School on Friday.

New 'revolutionary' DNA test finds the shoe fits (WOOD-TV)
In fact, Michigan State Police officials say they spent $135,000 in federal funds to buy the STRmix program in March. That also covered the cost of training a dozen lab technicians. They hope to start using the program in a few months.

MVAA
State and regional coalition work to help veterans get the benefits and services they need (Iosco County News-Herald)
Since 2002, about 2.6 million service members have separated from the active military and the reserve component, transitioning to civilian life after serving in operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom. Nearly 700,000 of those veterans, 7.1 percent of the state population, live in Michigan, making it 11th in the nation in terms of its number of veteran residents.

Supreme Court
Convicts paying for courts as lawmakers trump ruling (AP)
Without a comma of dissent, the Michigan Supreme Court struck down an enduring practice that had brought millions of dollars to local courts from people convicted of crimes.

Michigan State loses appeal in records fight with ESPN (Detroit News)
The Michigan Supreme Court denied a request for appeal from Michigan State on Wednesday, a decision stemming from a suit filed by ESPN after names of students were redacted from incident reports the network requested. It means Michigan State will have to disclose the names of suspects who were among the 301 student-athletes that ESPN had identified in its original request under the Michigan Freedom of Information Act. Michigan State released those reports but the names were redacted. ESPN then sued to have the information released.

LEGISLATIVE

Convicts paying for courts as Michigan lawmakers trump major ruling (AP)
Without a comma of dissent, the Michigan Supreme Court struck down an enduring practice that had brought millions of dollars to local courts from people convicted of crimes.

Top 10 — No. 9 Roads make headlines in 2015 (Huron Daily Tribune)
Roads. You probably heard more talk than ever this year about a plan to fix them.
Yet an agreeable solution to pay for crumbling Michigan roads seemed nearly impossible.

2015: A list of state legislative achievements, inaction (Freep)
Michigan's Legislature was dominated in 2015 with trying to find a solution for Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges.

Data centers, roads, film incentives among targets of business-related bills Michigan lawmakers OK'd in 2015 (Crain's)
The state Legislature capped 2015 by approving tax breaks for data centers that operate in Michigan, a decision that paves the way for a Nevada data center developer to open one near Grand Rapids.

DPS reform, energy, medical pot: Legislative issues to watch in 2016 (Crain's)
When state lawmakers return from holiday recess Jan. 13, they will have plenty of business-related policy issues to think about as they look to the year ahead.

DETROIT

Detroit area Syrians hope to shake stereotypes (Detroit News)
Bashar Imam says he loves America, his home since late 1979, when he left his native Syria for what he deemed a better, prosperous life.

Exiting chief judge Rosen: I'll miss living on edge (Detroit News)
Detroit's federal courthouse has hosted some of America's most significant and sensational criminal and civil cases in the last seven years.

Goodwill cashes in as auto supplier in Detroit area (Detroit News)
Goodwill Industries of Greater Detroit is doing more than spreading cheer, operating thrift stores and training those in need this holiday season. The nonprofit is producing millions of dollars through its growing automotive parts operations.

OPINION

Rick Haglund: Michigan economic future is optimistic (MLive)
Michigan's six-year-long economic recovery should continue at cruising speed through 2016 as auto sales keep climbing and job growth maintains a healthy pace. But major long-term challenges in improving the education of the workforce, boosting incomes and attracting new talent remain.

Editorial: Private dollars could boost Port Huron span (Detroit News)
While most of the international bridge conversation in Michigan has been focused on the proposed Gordie Howe Bridge across the Detroit River, southeast Michigan has an existing, vitally important span in Port Huron that could use some support.

Blame term limits for Lansing's lack of sense (Times Herald)
So, fellow Michiganders, how's that term limits thingy working out for you? If you've been paying any attention lately, probably not so well. All those promises supporters of term limits made to the electorate two decades ago about how wonderfully efficient state government would become have not quite panned out.

Banning pit bulls is a knee-jerk response to a larger problem (MLive)
When faced with complex social problems, we tend to go for the easy solution. Terrorism? Prohibit Muslims from entering the country. Undocumented immigrants? Build a big wall and deport everyone who might be Mexican. Mixed-breed dogs kill a child? Prohibit the ownership of pit bulls.

Bizon: I heard constituents and voted against SB13 (Battle Creek Enquirer)
The people of Michigan are passionate about what they believe in. They want their voices to be heard in their government on the issues that mean the most to them.

What is the right path for U.S. foreign policy? (Freep)
American voters will demand a fresh start for U.S. foreign policy when the next president is sworn into office on January 20, 2017.

'Prejudiced' Trump can't win, senior Michigan pol says (MLive)
This guy has forgotten more politics than Donald Trump has ever learned, and when asked what he thought of the Trump juggernaut, his response was swift and to the point: "Not much."

Michigan's Medicaid victory (Toledo Blade)
Two years ago, the Michigan Legislature grudgingly accepted the federal government's offer to extend the Medicaid program of low-income health insurance to adults who earn as much as one-third more than the federal poverty level. That expansion has been an amazingly good thing for both citizens and their employers, especially since Washington is absorbing nearly all the costs.

Michigan Citizen Action: Bring oversea profits home (Detroit News)
As end of the year budget discussions continue to unfold in Washington and the holiday season gets roaring, we need our elected leaders to look overseas.

Senate Bill 571 censors factual election information (Detroit News)
In today's busy world, we need more information about the important things going on around us — not less.

Our Editorial: New test scores set benchmark (Detroit News)
The Michigan Department of Education took its time releasing comprehensive testing data from this spring, but at least school districts now have a benchmark to judge future test results. Next year, the department must make sure it releases testing scores in a more timely manner if they are to be useful in the classroom.

Gov. Snyder Signs Bill That Makes 'Guilty Mind' Necessary For Convictions (Capitol Confidential)
House Bill 4713, a measure to prevent people from being convicted for unknowingly violating the law — something that has become increasingly likely as the number of regulations has increased — has been signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The bill was passed unanimously by both chambers of the Michigan Legislature.

Christmas story urges us to find compassion for exiled (Freep)
There are two Christmas stories. There is the romanticized antiseptic tale that has taken hold in our popular culture. It is the "Silent Night"/"Oh! Little Town of Bethlehem" version. Mary is smiling; Joseph is hovering protectively over mother and child. Animals provide warmth; angels are singing; and shepherds come to see the new born "Babe in the Manger". In this version, all is pure and all is bright.

Our Editorial: And on Earth, peace (Detroit News)
As we together enjoy a holiday marked by family, friends and faith, we turn to some familiar passages to find both cheer and comfort.

Michigan Gave Away Tens of Millions for Little in Return (Capitol Confidential)
In mid-December when the Michigan Legislature passed a law giving data centers tax exemptions, it set a job creation requirement of 400 jobs by 2022 and 1,000 by 2026. That gives the entire data center industry in Michigan 10 years to create roughly as many jobs as would be expected if just four new big box stores, such as Sam's Club, Meijer, or a Super Target store opened for business.

Susan J. Demas: How Republicans are emboldening Donald Trump (MLive)
Politics is full of choices. And for now, it's a free country — at least until President Donald Trump trashes the First Amendment and shuts down parts of the Internet.

What Michigan leaders hope for in the New Year (Freep)
It's the season for celebrating and starting anew. So with 2016 only days away, I asked luminaries across Michigan to share some of their New Year's resolutions and wishes.

Rochelle Riley: Yes Santa, Virginia acted on guns (Freep)

Thirty-two deaths in a single tragic instance can push a state to take drastic measures. Perhaps that is why the State of Virginia has given America a drastic Christmas gift that could save lives.

Our editorial: Transparency is job One in demo work (Detroit News)
Detroit hopes to get another bundle of money from Washington to help it keep tearing down blighted buildings. The expanded federal pipeline of funds makes it all the more urgent that the city's demolition programs operate under absolute transparency.

Letter: Finley column points to key social challenge (Detroit News)
Re: Nolan Finley's Dec. 20 column "Black inclusion in Detroit's comeback still lagging": The column makes the important point, as Finley did a year ago ("Where are all the black people"), that African-Americans are benefiting far less than whites in the city's turnaround. His point is evident from the many whites that are filling new jobs, tables at new restaurants, seats at entertainment venues and lines at new retail outlets in the city's core.

Flint water probe may unleash flood of findings on mistakes (MLive)
It was very revealing how some readers responded to the post that the first lady thought her husband might die from a blood clot. Instead of reflecting on the gravity of that story, lots of folks wanted to beat up on the governor for allegedly poisoning the kids in Flint with lead.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, December 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lincoln Park/EM exit
City Of Lincoln Park Free From Emergency Management (Michigan Radio)
Lincoln Park was officially released from state control yesterday. This marks the first time in 15 years no Michigan city is being run by an emergency manager. Rick Pluta reports.

Bill signings
Gov. Rick Snyder signs bills to simplify court paperwork with e-filing (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed six bills that aim to modernize the Michigan court filing system by taking it online. House Bills 5208, 5029 and 5030 define the terms of the electronic filing system and lay out the fees for electronic filings, including a provision exempting indigent filers from fees if they are exempt from regular filing fees.

Gov. Snyder approves tax breaks to entice tech company, help existing data centers in Michigan (AP)
A tech company's expansion into western Michigan will be ensured through tax breaks that Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law on Wednesday, exempting it and in-state data centers from sales and use taxes for 20 years as long as the industry adds 1,000 jobs.

Snyder signs tax break bill to lure data center (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday signed into law measures that give tax breaks to data centers and are expected to draw what's been touted as a $5-billion investment in western Michigan by Nevada-based Switch Corp.

Snyder signs data center legislation (MiBiz)
Gov. Rick Snyder today signed legislation exempting co-located data centers from state sales and use tax, paving the way for the largest data center east of the Mississippi River to locate on a site south of Grand Rapids.

Gov. Snyder signs off on major tax breaks for data centers (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed bills giving major tax breaks to data centers in Michigan. All data centers will no longer have to pay sales and use tax. But the new laws are in place in order to lure a single, massive server farm to the Grand Rapids area.

Gov. Snyder signs tax breaks for $5B Switch data center (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder today signed tax-reform legislation designed to attract the largest data center in the eastern United States to an empty building outside Grand Rapids. Switch, a Nevada-based company that wants to use the old Steelcase "pyramid" building as the hub for a new 2 million-square-foot campus, will be exempt — along with other data centers — from sales and use taxes on equipment like computers, servers and cabling through 2035, if the industry meets collective job-creation goals.

Gov. Snyder signs bills designed to bring Switch data center to W. Mich. (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder announced Wednesday that he has signed a pair of bills designed to help a major Internet data center developer expand into West Michigan. Gov. Snyder's office announced that he had signed Senate Bills 616 and 617, which allow exemptions from sales and use taxes for items in a qualified data center, such as computers, servers, routers, cabling, and wiring used in operating, managing, or maintaining the business. SB 616 was sponsored by Sen. Tonya Schuitmaker.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs data center legislation (WZZM)
Governor Rick Snyder signed legislation on Wednesday granting tax policy changes for data centers which opens the door for a major new industry here in West Michigan.

Tax breaks signed, clearing way for Switch (WOOD-TV)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed two bills designed to bring a multi-billion dollar investment from a cloud data storage company to West Michigan. Nevada-based Switch will invest $5 billion to transform the former Steelcase pyramid in Gaines Township into a cloud data storage facility that would eventually employ around 1,000 people.

Gov. Snyder signs bills modernizing tax structure to adapt to emerging technology (UP Matters/TV 3)
Legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder Wednesday will modernize the structure of Michigan's tax code to ensure treatment of data center inputs more closely aligns with treatment of manufacturing inputs and tax laws in other states.

Gov. Snyder Signs Bill That Makes 'Guilty Mind' Necessary For Convictions (Capitol Confidential)
House Bill 4713, a measure to prevent people from being convicted for unknowingly violating the law — something that has become increasingly likely as the number of regulations has increased — has been signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The bill was passed unanimously by both chambers of the Michigan Legislature.

Flag honors
Gov. Rick Snyder lowers flags in recognition of former State Rep. Daisy Elliott (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently ordered all U.S. flags be lowered to half-staff within the State Capitol Complex beginning Dec. 28 in honor of former State Rep. Daisy Elliott, who died Dec. 22.

Former State Rep. Daisy Elliott Has Died (WHTC)
Governor Rick Snyder has ordered flags lowered in Michigan Monday to honor former state Rep. Daisy Elliott, who died Tuesday.

Michigan civil rights act co-author Daisy Elliott dies (Mlive)
Civil rights activist and Michigan's Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights Act co-author Daisy Elliott has died. Elliott died Tuesday at age 98, the James H. Cole Home for Funerals in Detroit said on its website.

Daisy Elliott, Detroiter behind civil rights law, dies (Detroit News)
Daisy Elliott, an African-American civil rights advocate and former Michigan representative who helped push through a landmark law aimed at protecting against racial bias as well as other forms of discrimination, has died at age 98, friends and family announced late Tuesday.

Interviews
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, legislative leaders name top accomplishments of 2015 (Mlive)
Michigan's continued economic recovery was the top accomplishment for the state in 2015, according to Gov. Rick Snyder. The state's unemployment rate dropped in nine of the first 11 months of the year, and while some long-term challenges remain, economists are predicting Michigan's six-year recovery will continue through 2016.

Year-In-Review: Governor Snyder Discusses Michigan's 2015 (9&10 News)
"Michigan's the comeback state. We're reinventing ourselves but there is more work to be done." A new year for the state of Michigan is only one week away. State leaders like Gov. Rick Snyder are taking the time to sit down and look back at 2015.

Governor Snyder's Agenda For 2016 Includes Energy, Getting DPS Out Of Debt (WSJM)
There's more on the governor's to-do list for 2016 than reforming the state's energy policy and passing a plan to get Detroit Public Schools out of debt. Those two issues are the most high profile ones but there are other things on Governor Rick Snyder's plate, like criminal justice reforms.

DPS reform, energy, medical pot: Legislative issues to watch in 2016 (Crain's Detroit Business)
When state lawmakers return from holiday recess Jan. 13, they will have plenty of business-related policy issues to think about as they look to the year ahead. Among these issues, some of which were introduced this year and held over, will be Detroit Public Schools reform, energy and medical marijuana regulations.

Skubick: Governor Snyder courted by presidential hopefuls (WLNS)
If the Republicans take the White House next year, is there a chance Gov. Rick Snyder may leave for a post in a new administration? For a time this last year, some people thought they would see another face on that Republican Presidential debate stage, Governor Rick Snyder.

Data centers, roads, film incentives among targets of business-related bills Michigan lawmakers OK'd in 2015 (Crain's Detroit Business)
The state Legislature capped 2015 by approving tax breaks for data centers that operate in Michigan, a decision that paves the way for a Nevada data center developer to open one near Grand Rapids. The bill, if signed by Gov. Rick Snyder, would be one of several major policy changes with business implications adopted this year.

Misc
What Michigan leaders hope for in the New Year (Freep)
It's the season for celebrating and starting anew. So with 2016 only days away, I asked luminaries across Michigan to share some of their New Year's resolutions and wishes. Gov. Rick Snyder: "I resolve to keep my foot on the accelerator. Michigan has made great progress in the last five years reinventing our state, making it stronger. There's more we can do — together — and I have no intention of slowing down in 2016."

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Calley calls for improved special ed programs (Capital News Service)
Schools should provide what children need and not expect children to conform to old structures, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley said in a report to the state Board of Education, asking it to increase access, scope and quality of special education. Calley wrote, "I have been traveling the state, holding informal town halls with parents and educators who face the challenges and triumphs of working every day with students in need of special education services. "

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

First lady Sue Snyder comes out of 'shell' for good causes (Mlive)
Ask first lady Sue Snyder, who secured $500,000 in the state budget to attack sexual assaults on college campuses. She is the first first lady in the country to take on this cause, and she has a passion aimed at changing the system. She got the idea during a spring break vacation with her teenage daughter and a female friend and her daughter.

APPOINTMENTS

Kettering student tagged for Gov. Snyder's MiSTEM Advisory Council (Mlive)
A Kettering University student has been selected by Gov. Rick Snyder to help identify strategies to improve science, technology, engineering and math education in the state. Harrison Ford, a mechanical engineering major, was one of 11 people named Dec. 23 to Snyder's MiSTEM Advisory Council.

George Heartwell appointed to state board, gets GVSU job (WOOD Radio)
Outgoing Grand Rapids Mayor George Heartwell has a new gig. Gov. Rick Snyder appointed Heartwell to the State Transportation Commission, on which he will serve a three-year term.

Upper Peninsula residents appointed by Governor Snyder to advisory boards and councils (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder makes appointments to the MiSTEM Advisory Council.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Michigan can comply with federal Clean Power Plan for a decade with no changes (Mlive)
Michigan can comply with the federal Clean Power Plan to reduce carbon emissions without changing anything until at least 2025, the Michigan Agency for Energy and Michigan Department of Environmental Quality announced Tuesday. The Environmental Protection Agency in August announced a plan to cut carbon emissions by 2030. Michigan specifically has to cut 31 percent of emissions from the state's 2012 levels by 2030.

Part of St. Clair County in 'nonattainment' for sulfur dioxide emissions (The Voice)
A portion of St. Clair County does not meet federal standards for sulfur dioxide emissions, according to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, largely because of DTE's two coal burning power plants in the county, the St. Clair Power Plant in East China Township and the Belle River Power Plant in China Township.

Grants available for local projects to reduce food waste (AP)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality is offering grants for projects designed to prevent food waste. It's part of an initiative Gov. Rick Snyder announced in 2014 to double the state's residential recycling rate. Wasted food accounts for more than 20 percent of household trash – more than any other material.

Agencies offer grants to support Michigan stream cleanups (AP)
The Department of Environmental Quality and the Great Lakes Commission plan to divide $25,000 among selected applicants. Those who receive grants are expected to match at least 25 percent of the money.

DNR
Harrison gets grant for band shell (Morning Sun)
Nearly six years ago, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources created a grant program to help residents enjoy the outdoors. A state law that created the Local Public Recreation Facilities Fund is used for the development of public recreation for local municipalities. In the latest round of grant announcements, the city of Harrison was awarded $45,000 in the form of a DNR Recreational Passport Grant to construct a walkway and music/band shell.

Communities get share of $1.3M for outdoor recreation (AP)
Michigan says 33 communities will share more than $1.3 million in grants funded by the sale of the annual pass for access to state parks and recreation areas. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources recently announced recipients of Recreation Passport grants.

Deer numbers 'collapsing' in U.P. (Iron Mountain Daily News)
Officials with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources said they are closely studying the dwindling deer herd in the Upper Peninsula, where some areas have lost more than half of their normal population.

MDARD
Michigan poultry exhibition ban lifted (Record Eagle)
The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development this week lifted the statewide ban on poultry exhibitions. The state implemented the ban in June 2015 as a precautionary measure in response to the Avian Influenza outbreak across the Midwest.

Michigan Agriculture officials lift poultry exhibition ban (AP)
A ban on poultry exhibitions in Michigan that was introduced in June to prevent the spread of bird flu has been lifted. The decision to remove the ban came after an evaluation of the disease risk and status of the Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza — HPAI — outbreak, Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development officials said Wednesday.

Farmer says food inspection looked like a 'raid' (Interlochen Public Radio)
Food inspectors used a warrant signed by a judge to visit a farm near Cadillac last week. State police troopers were also on hand for the inspection of Bakers Green Acres last Thursday. A spokeswoman for the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development, Jennifer Holton, called the inspection "routine."

MDOT
Road agencies: We're ready for whatever winter brings (Freep)
MDOT's Detroit maintenance garage handles 300 lane miles in metro Detroit with 13 plow trucks that have underbody blades, and 11 are equipped with a front plow, said MDOT spokeswoman Diane Cross. She said the garage salt barn holds 3,000 ton of salt and a 5,000 gallon tank containing calcium chloride with boost.

Overhaul of I-75 bridge slated (Monroe Evening News)
State transportation officials have announced an overhaul of the I-75 bridge over the Rouge River in Detroit. The Michigan Department of Transportation announced it plans to replace the bridge deck that officials have spent more than $1 million repairing since 2011. The $80 million project is scheduled to begin in 2017.

Audit Finds MDOT Broke its Own Rule on Road Safety Studies (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) broke its own rule on road safety studies. That's according to a new report from the Michigan auditor general's office.

MEDC

State Agency Says '#MichiganIsAuto,' But the Economy Has Changed (Capitol Confidential)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation, the state government agency in charge of giving selective tax breaks and subsidies to certain corporations and developers, publishes short messages on the social media platform Twitter. They include the hashtag "#MichiganIsAuto."

Dilworth Hotel project gets $1 million grant (Petoskey News Review)
City of Boyne City officials and the developer behind an effort to restore and reopen the landmark Dilworth Hotel recently received word that the project has be officially approved for a $1 million state grant to offset certain costs associated with the project.

MSHDA

Local nonprofit seeks to help home buyers at every level (Midland Daily News)
With a new $40,000 grant from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, Mid Michigan Community Action Agency will continue to offer its Homeowner Empowerment Program, which provides education and resources to those looking to achieve financial stability and attain success as homeowners.

MSP

Michigan State Police gives safety tips for driving on slick roads (WLNS)
Michigan State Police say there are many ways to avoid some of those slips, starting with increasing driving distance. Officials say it's important to give some space between your car and the car in front of you.

Michigan State Police: Prepare For Hazardous Winter Storm (Fox 2 Detroit)
The Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division (MSP/EMHSD) encourages citizens and visitors to prepare for a hazardous winter storm expected to affect most of the Lower Peninsula from noon Monday, Dec. 28, and into Tuesday, Dec. 29.

Michigan State Police warn residents of hazardous winter storm (TV 7&4)
The Michigan State Police and the Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division are encouraging residents and visitors to prepare for a hazardous winter storm.

Michigan State Police adds 6 canine teams (County Press)
Michigan State Police (MSP) Director Col. Kriste Kibbey Etue is pleased to announce that Michigan citizens will soon benefit from the services of six new canine teams that graduated from the MSP 2015 Basic Canine School on Friday.

New 'revolutionary' DNA test finds the shoe fits (WOOD-TV)
In fact, Michigan State Police officials say they spent $135,000 in federal funds to buy the STRmix program in March. That also covered the cost of training a dozen lab technicians. They hope to start using the program in a few months.

MVAA

State and regional coalition work to help veterans get the benefits and services they need (Iosco County News-Herald)
Since 2002, about 2.6 million service members have separated from the active military and the reserve component, transitioning to civilian life after serving in operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom. Nearly 700,000 of those veterans, 7.1 percent of the state population, live in Michigan, making it 11th in the nation in terms of its number of veteran residents.

Supreme Court

Convicts paying for courts as lawmakers trump ruling (AP)
Without a comma of dissent, the Michigan Supreme Court struck down an enduring practice that had brought millions of dollars to local courts from people convicted of crimes.

Michigan State loses appeal in records fight with ESPN (Detroit News)
The Michigan Supreme Court denied a request for appeal from Michigan State on Wednesday, a decision stemming from a suit filed by ESPN after names of students were redacted from incident reports the network requested. It means Michigan State will have to disclose the names of suspects who were among the 301 student-athletes that ESPN had identified in its original request under the Michigan Freedom of Information Act. Michigan State released those reports but the names were redacted. ESPN then sued to have the information released.

LEGISLATIVE

Convicts paying for courts as Michigan lawmakers trump major ruling (AP)
Without a comma of dissent, the Michigan Supreme Court struck down an enduring practice that had brought millions of dollars to local courts from people convicted of crimes.

Top 10 — No. 9 Roads make headlines in 2015 (Huron Daily Tribune)
Roads. You probably heard more talk than ever this year about a plan to fix them.
Yet an agreeable solution to pay for crumbling Michigan roads seemed nearly impossible.

2015: A list of state legislative achievements, inaction (Freep)
Michigan's Legislature was dominated in 2015 with trying to find a solution for Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges.

Data centers, roads, film incentives among targets of business-related bills Michigan lawmakers OK'd in 2015 (Crain's)
The state Legislature capped 2015 by approving tax breaks for data centers that operate in Michigan, a decision that paves the way for a Nevada data center developer to open one near Grand Rapids.

DPS reform, energy, medical pot: Legislative issues to watch in 2016 (Crain's)
When state lawmakers return from holiday recess Jan. 13, they will have plenty of business-related policy issues to think about as they look to the year ahead.

DETROIT

Detroit area Syrians hope to shake stereotypes (Detroit News)
Bashar Imam says he loves America, his home since late 1979, when he left his native Syria for what he deemed a better, prosperous life.

Exiting chief judge Rosen: I'll miss living on edge (Detroit News)
Detroit's federal courthouse has hosted some of America's most significant and sensational criminal and civil cases in the last seven years.

Goodwill cashes in as auto supplier in Detroit area (Detroit News)
Goodwill Industries of Greater Detroit is doing more than spreading cheer, operating thrift stores and training those in need this holiday season. The nonprofit is producing millions of dollars through its growing automotive parts operations.

OPINION

Rick Haglund: Michigan economic future is optimistic (MLive)
Michigan's six-year-long economic recovery should continue at cruising speed through 2016 as auto sales keep climbing and job growth maintains a healthy pace. But major long-term challenges in improving the education of the workforce, boosting incomes and attracting new talent remain.

Editorial: Private dollars could boost Port Huron span (Detroit News)
While most of the international bridge conversation in Michigan has been focused on the proposed Gordie Howe Bridge across the Detroit River, southeast Michigan has an existing, vitally important span in Port Huron that could use some support.

Blame term limits for Lansing's lack of sense (Times Herald)
So, fellow Michiganders, how's that term limits thingy working out for you? If you've been paying any attention lately, probably not so well. All those promises supporters of term limits made to the electorate two decades ago about how wonderfully efficient state government would become have not quite panned out.

Banning pit bulls is a knee-jerk response to a larger problem (MLive)
When faced with complex social problems, we tend to go for the easy solution. Terrorism? Prohibit Muslims from entering the country. Undocumented immigrants? Build a big wall and deport everyone who might be Mexican. Mixed-breed dogs kill a child? Prohibit the ownership of pit bulls.

Bizon: I heard constituents and voted against SB13 (Battle Creek Enquirer)
The people of Michigan are passionate about what they believe in. They want their voices to be heard in their government on the issues that mean the most to them.

What is the right path for U.S. foreign policy? (Freep)
American voters will demand a fresh start for U.S. foreign policy when the next president is sworn into office on January 20, 2017.

'Prejudiced' Trump can't win, senior Michigan pol says (MLive)
This guy has forgotten more politics than Donald Trump has ever learned, and when asked what he thought of the Trump juggernaut, his response was swift and to the point: "Not much."

Michigan's Medicaid victory (Toledo Blade)
Two years ago, the Michigan Legislature grudgingly accepted the federal government's offer to extend the Medicaid program of low-income health insurance to adults who earn as much as one-third more than the federal poverty level. That expansion has been an amazingly good thing for both citizens and their employers, especially since Washington is absorbing nearly all the costs.

Michigan Citizen Action: Bring oversea profits home (Detroit News)
As end of the year budget discussions continue to unfold in Washington and the holiday season gets roaring, we need our elected leaders to look overseas.

Senate Bill 571 censors factual election information (Detroit News)
In today's busy world, we need more information about the important things going on around us — not less.

Our Editorial: New test scores set benchmark (Detroit News)

The Michigan Department of Education took its time releasing comprehensive testing data from this spring, but at least school districts now have a benchmark to judge future test results. Next year, the department must make sure it releases testing scores in a more timely manner if they are to be useful in the classroom.

Gov. Snyder Signs Bill That Makes 'Guilty Mind' Necessary For Convictions (Capitol Confidential)
House Bill 4713, a measure to prevent people from being convicted for unknowingly violating the law — something that has become increasingly likely as the number of regulations has increased — has been signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The bill was passed unanimously by both chambers of the Michigan Legislature.

Christmas story urges us to find compassion for exiled (Freep)
There are two Christmas stories. There is the romanticized antiseptic tale that has taken hold in our popular culture. It is the "Silent Night"/"Oh! Little Town of Bethlehem" version. Mary is smiling; Joseph is hovering protectively over mother and child. Animals provide warmth; angels are singing; and shepherds come to see the new born "Babe in the Manger". In this version, all is pure and all is bright.

Our Editorial: And on Earth, peace (Detroit News)
As we together enjoy a holiday marked by family, friends and faith, we turn to some familiar passages to find both cheer and comfort.

Michigan Gave Away Tens of Millions for Little in Return (Capitol Confidential)
In mid-December when the Michigan Legislature passed a law giving data centers tax exemptions, it set a job creation requirement of 400 jobs by 2022 and 1,000 by 2026. That gives the entire data center industry in Michigan 10 years to create roughly as many jobs as would be expected if just four new big box stores, such as Sam's Club, Meijer, or a Super Target store opened for business.

Susan J. Demas: How Republicans are emboldening Donald Trump (MLive)
Politics is full of choices. And for now, it's a free country — at least until President Donald Trump trashes the First Amendment and shuts down parts of the Internet.

What Michigan leaders hope for in the New Year (Freep)
It's the season for celebrating and starting anew. So with 2016 only days away, I asked luminaries across Michigan to share some of their New Year's resolutions and wishes.

Rochelle Riley: Yes Santa, Virginia acted on guns (Freep)
Thirty-two deaths in a single tragic instance can push a state to take drastic measures. Perhaps that is why the State of Virginia has given America a drastic Christmas gift that could save lives.

Our editorial: Transparency is Job One in demo work (Detroit News)
Detroit hopes to get another bundle of money from Washington to help it keep tearing down blighted buildings. The expanded federal pipeline of funds makes it all the more urgent that the city's demolition programs operate under absolute transparency.

Letter: Finley column points to key social challenge (Detroit News)
Re: Nolan Finley's Dec. 20 column "Black inclusion in Detroit's comeback still lagging": The column makes the important point, as Finley did a year ago ("Where are all the black people"), that African-Americans are benefiting far less than whites in the city's turnaround. His point is evident from the many whites that are filling new jobs, tables at new restaurants, seats at entertainment venues and lines at new retail outlets in the city's core.

Flint water probe may unleash flood of findings on mistakes (MLive)
It was very revealing how some readers responded to the post that the first lady thought her husband might die from a blood clot. Instead of reflecting on the gravity of that story, lots of folks wanted to beat up on the governor for allegedly poisoning the kids in Flint with lead.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 9:39 AM
Subject: 12/29 Newsroom
Attachments: 151229 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, December 29, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews

Snyder plan to fix Detroit schools slow to gain steam (AP)
Michigan Gov's Republican governor Rick Snyder is proposing another pricey state bailout and a sweeping reorganization that could lead to closing independent, publicly funded charter schools, where an increasing number of city students are enrolled.

Michigan criminal justice reforms, shelved in 2015, are on the radar for first half of next year (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder listed criminal justice reform as one of four things he wanted to accomplish in 2015, but with session officially over he's eyeing the first half of 2016 for progress. "I think we can get to smarter justice in our state," Snyder said in an interview earlier this month. "I think in cases where there's opportunities to be more efficient, to have cost savings, to free up resources that we can reinvest in more diversionary programs, in more reentry programs, to have better outcomes."

SEOC activation/state offices closing

Storm prompts state to activate Emergency Operations Center (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has activated the state's Emergency Operations Center and ordered the closing of state offices in the Lower Peninsula as a winter storm began to move across Michigan. Warnings and advisories were issued Monday and into Tuesday ahead of the storm which was expected to bring heavy, wet snow to the Upper Peninsula and freezing rain and high winds to other parts of the state.

Gov. Snyder activates State Emergency Operations Center due to winter storm (TV 7&4)
Gov. Rick Snyder activated the State Emergency Operations Center due to the hazardous winter storm expected to affect Michigan. The National Weather Service is forecasting about a foot of heavy, wet snow for the Upper Peninsula and freezing rain for some areas of the Lower Peninsula. Power outages are likely to happen.

Slippery going as storm ices up metro Detroit roads (Freep)
The winter snow prompted Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder to close state offices at 1 p.m. He also activated the state's Emergency Operations Center.

Snyder activates emergency operations center (WOOD Radio)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said hazardous conditions for Monday prompted him to activate a state emergency operations center.

Gov. Rick Snyder: State Emergency Operations Center ready to assist communities in need (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today activated the State Emergency Operations Center due to the hazardous winter storm expected to affect the entire state of Michigan from Monday, Dec. 28, through Tuesday, Dec. 29. The National Weather Service is forecasting about a foot of heavy, wet snow for the Upper Peninsula and freezing rain with a quarter- to half-inch of ice accumulation for some areas of the Lower Peninsula. Power outages are likely to occur.

Governor activates State Emergency Operations Center (ABC 10 UP)
With the National Weather Service predicting a foot of heavy, wet snow here in the U.P. and significant ice accumulation downstate, Governor Rick Snyder activated the State Emergency Operations Center in Lansing at noon Monday.

State of Michigan closing offices at 1 p.m. due to severe weather (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday announced that state offices in the Lower Peninsula would close at 1 p.m. due to severe weather. He also activated the State Emergency Operations Center, which is operated by the Michigan State Police and coordinates emergency response efforts from state and local governments.

Thousands still without power following ice storm (Holland Sentinel)
Government offices played it safe due to the weather, with multiple closings and cancellations. Gov. Rick Snyder announced that all state offices in the Lower Peninsula were to close on 1 p.m. on Monday. All events at West Ottawa High School and Holland Public Schools, including sports, were cancelled. A few basketball tournaments in Holland, Zeeland and at Cornerstone University in Grand Rapids were postponed.

Easier commute expected Tuesday after ice storm (Detroit News)
Earlier Monday, Gov. Rick Snyder activated the state's Emergency Operations Center and closed Lower Peninsula state offices at 1 p.m. The Emergency Operations Center, located in Lansing and overseen by the Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division, coordinates response and recovery efforts by state agencies and local government, officials said. It will remain activated this week until its operations are no longer required.

Bill signings
Top Michigan laws of 2015 led by road funding plan (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder and lawmakers have enacted nearly 270 laws this year, topped by the approval of fuel tax and vehicle registration fee increases to improve deteriorating roads.

Flag honors
Flags At Half Staff For Former State Representative (WILX)
Flags are at half staff today to honor a former state representative who died last week. Daisy Elliot served in the Michigan House of Representatives for 18 years.

APPOINTMENTS

Hallacy to assume bench next week (Battle Creek Enquirer)
John Hallacy leaves the Calhoun County District Court bench at noon Tuesday and assumes new duties as a circuit court judge. It all happens on paper. Hallacy, 52, was appointed a judge of the Calhoun County Circuit Court on Wednesday by Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder. Hallacy replaces Conrad Sindt, who retired Sept. 30 after 24 years on the bench.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Independent report confirms state made mistakes, but not 'intentional' ones in Flint (Michigan Radio)

Preliminary findings from Michigan's independent Auditor General give more details about the Flint water crisis.

Auditor: State erred with Flint water, didn't mislead feds (AP)
Michigan's auditor says state officials should have required the city of Flint to treat its water for corrosion earlier but didn't purposely mislead federal regulators.

Auditor General's report says Flint water should have gotten corrosion control (MLive)
A letter dated Dec. 23 from the Office of State Auditor General responding to a series of questions asked by Michigan Sen. Jim Ananich, D-Flint, in October made it clear that corrosion control should have been maintained during Flint's transition from Detroit water to Flint River water.

Michigan's auditor general points finger at state, DEQ over Flint water crisis (WTVB)
Michigan's auditor general says their investigation of the Flint water contamination issue finds the state, in particular, the Department of Environmental Quality, responsible for the decision to use water from the Flint River.

Auditor general findings set off Flint water debate (Detroit News)
Findings compiled by Michigan's Office of the Auditor General have set off another debate about who is to blame for Flint's 18-month-long water crisis.

Obama signs into law Upton's bill banning microbeads (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama signed into law Monday a bill championed by southwest Michigan Congressman Fred Upton to phase out the production and sale of tiny bits of plastic called microbeads.

DIFS
SDL offers insurance talk (Argus Press)
The Owosso branch of the Shiawassee District Library will host a program on long-term care insurance at 7 p.m. Jan. 12.

DNR
Successful Elk season in Michigan (WHTC)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says most hunters found success during the late elk season in the northern lower peninsula, despite warm weather putting them at a disadvantage.

Sebewaing in line for DNR park grant (Huron Daily Tribune)
The Village of Sebewaing received some good news recently when it was recommended by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for a Land and Water Conservation Fund grant.

MDARD
Michigan small farmer who went up against DNR makes major announcement (Inquisitr)
Mark Baker, the now-nationally-known small farmer in Michigan who went up against the DNR for the right to raise his heritage pigs has made a startling announcement on his Baker's Green Acres YouTube channel. The announcement comes just days after the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development conducted what spokesperson Jennifer Holton termed a "routine" inspection and days after Baker announced the loss of a dear friend who advocated with Baker on issues brought before the Michigan Small Farm Council.

MDOC
Michigan criminal justice reforms, shelved in 2015, are on the radar for first half of next year (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder listed criminal justice reform as one of four things he wanted to accomplish in 2015, but with session officially over he's eyeing the first half of 2016 for progress.

MDOT
Faster Michigan roads possible by summer (WOOD Radio)
It took several committee hearings and sit-downs with the state police and state department of transportation, but it appears Michigan's speed limit is poised to increase in 2016 under legislation before a House committee.

FAST Act could provide about $1 billion a year to Michigan (Crain's)
On Dec. 4, President Barack Obama signed the Fixing America's Surface Transportation (FAST) Act. The FAST Act reauthorized the federal gas tax that pays for some (but not all) of the nation's transportation programs and provides additional funding for the next five years for a variety of transportation-related projects. Included among its provisions is an increase in state funding for roads, which should provide an average of a little more than $1 billion a year to Michigan.

No major crashes reported as sleet-snow mix covers Detroit roadways (MLive)
As of 1 p.m. Monday, as a winter storm passed through the Detroit area into the northers suburbs, highway trouble seemed to be minimal.

Crashes increase on slick Detroit-area highways with onset of rush hour traffic (MLive)
While all remained relatively quiet as sleet and freezing rain covered Detroit highways early this afternoon, that changed by rush hour.

Slippery going as storm ices up metro Detroit roads (Detroit Free Press)
Call it global warming or a fluke — Michiganders enjoyed a pass on winter right up until this week.

MPSC
MPSC authorizes 5% DTE rate hike (Energy Manager Today)
The Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) authorized DTE Electric (DTE) on December 11 (Case No. U-17767) to increase its electric rates by $238.2 million annually – a figure 36 percent below the $370 million that the utility initially had requested a year ago.

MSP
Plan ahead to avoid drinking and driving this New Year's Eve (Oakland Press)
As New Year's Eve approaches, motorists can be thankful that awareness campaigns over the past several years have led to an overall drop in drunken driving in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Medical marijuana lawyers want state crime lab moved out of Michigan State Police (Michigan Radio)
A group of criminal defense attorneys says the Michigan State Police (MSP) should no longer oversee the state crime lab.

State police urge caution on the roads (WSJM)
Michigan State Police want drivers to be prepared if they have to be on the roadways today. With snow, freezing rain and high winds expected to make for some hazardous road conditions, Captain Chris Kelenske of the MSP Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division, is encouraging people to stay home during the storm. But for those who have to go out, he says they should have an emergency preparedness kit in their vehicle.

Winter weather safety reminders (ABC 10)
With winter weather causing power outages and hazardous driving conditions, the Michigan State Police would like to pass along some safety reminders.

Driving tips for your hazardous winter commute (WLNS)
Hazardous winter weather has arrived with freezing rain, high winds and icy roads.

Support grows for slow Lakeshore Drive campaign (Holland Sentinel)
According to the Michigan State Police, factors used to help set speeds include traffic crash data and the driving environment, and a speed study to…

Police, emergency management prepare to keep you safe during storm (UP North Live)

While crews take care of road conditions, State Police and emergency coordinators are working to make sure that people stay safe during the storm.

LEGISLATIVE

More than 1,000 votes missed by members of State House and Senate in 2015 (News Herald)
Michigan's 38 senators and 110 representatives missed a combined 1,055 recorded roll call votes in 2015 according to the Missed Votes Report compiled by Jack McHugh, editor of MichiganVotes.org.

State Rep. Gary Glenn named 'freshman lawmaker of the year' by news service (MLive)
Almost a full year into his first term in the Michigan House of Representative, Midland-area lawmaker Gary Glenn has been named the Michigan Legislature's "freshman of the year" for 2015.

MIRS names Glenn Freshman Legislator of the Year (Midland Daily)
Glenn's selection from among 44 first-term state representatives and 10 first-time state senators was announced on MIRS Monday, a weekly podcast featuring a round table discussion by MIRS state Capitol reporters that focused primarily on Glenn's bipartisan leadership on this year's energy policy debate in Lansing.

DETROIT

Detroit to job-hunting felons: We can help (Detroit Free Press)
At 52, Edward Jackson of Detroit has what he says is his first real job. Jackson has spent 20 years in prison on drug and weapons charges over his lifetime, and every time he was freed, he eventually fell back into trouble because he could never find gainful work. Like millions of Americans with criminal histories, whom advocates call returning citizens, he found himself turned away quickly by employers.

Detroit chief urges change after 7-year-old- killed (Detroit Free Press)
Three bullet holes in the picture window stood in grim contrast Monday to the flashing Christmas lights behind a drawn curtain in the two-story brick home in northwest Detroit side where 7-year-old Chanell Berry was shot and killed the previous night.

OPINION

Bieda: Bills would leave voters in dark (Detroit News)
Lawmakers in Lansing recently worked late into the night to pass a series of controversial bills, one of which grew from 12 to 53 pages in the span of an hour. Republicans barred Democrats' staff from the Senate floor to make it harder for us to review the amended legislation, and immediately forced a vote.

Skubick: 'Prejudiced' Trump can't win, senior Michigan pol says (Mlive)
This guy has forgotten more politics than Donald Trump has ever learned, and when asked what he thought of the Trump juggernaut, his response was swift and to the point: "Not much. The reference here is to former Democratic Attorney General Frank Kelley, who has been on seven book-signing gigs since they published his "The People's Lawyer." At age 90, with a birthday set for New Year's Eve, the nation's longest-serving A.G. is still as sharp as he was when he was tapped for the job.

Skubick: Snyder hits 'pause' again - on flak for immigration statements (Mlive)
One of the worst things to happen to politicians was the invention of videotape. The problem with recording political remarks is that they can come back to bite you in the you-know-where when you change those remarks. Think the master flip-flopper Mitt Romney and work down from there to Gov. Rick Snyder.

Editorial: More answers needed for Wayne Co. jail mess (Detroit News)

If a corporation intentionally fails to disclose to investors material information about its financial condition, it is subject to lawsuits and even criminal charges against its officers. The same fate should await public officials who knowingly deceive taxpayers and their representatives.

Hamilton: Tough time for politicians (Detroit News)
This is a very tough time to be a politician. The women and men who've undertaken to represent us face circumstances that make campaigning and governing unusually challenging right now.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, December 29, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews
Snyder plan to fix Detroit schools slow to gain steam (AP)
Michigan Gov's Republican governor Rick Snyder is proposing another pricey state bailout and a sweeping reorganization that could lead to closing independent, publicly funded charter schools, where an increasing number of city students are enrolled.

Michigan criminal justice reforms, shelved in 2015, are on the radar for first half of next year (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder listed criminal justice reform as one of four things he wanted to accomplish in 2015, but with session officially over he's eyeing the first half of 2016 for progress. "I think we can get to smarter justice in our state," Snyder said in an interview earlier this month. "I think in cases where there's opportunities to be more efficient, to have cost savings, to free up resources that we can reinvest in more diversionary programs, in more reentry programs, to have better outcomes."

SEOC activation/state offices closing
Storm prompts state to activate Emergency Operations Center (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has activated the state's Emergency Operations Center and ordered the closing of state offices in the Lower Peninsula as a winter storm began to move across Michigan. Warnings and advisories were issued Monday and into Tuesday ahead of the storm which was expected to bring heavy, wet snow to the Upper Peninsula and freezing rain and high winds to other parts of the state.

Gov. Snyder activates State Emergency Operations Center due to winter storm (TV 7&4)
Gov. Rick Snyder activated the State Emergency Operations Center due to the hazardous winter storm expected to affect Michigan. The National Weather Service is forecasting about a foot of heavy, wet snow for the Upper Peninsula and freezing rain for some areas of the Lower Peninsula. Power outages are likely to happen.

Slippery going as storm ices up metro Detroit roads (Freep)
The winter snow prompted Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder to close state offices at 1 p.m. He also activated the state's Emergency Operations Center.

Snyder activates emergency operations center (WOOD Radio)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said hazardous conditions for Monday prompted him to activate a state emergency operations center.

Gov. Rick Snyder: State Emergency Operations Center ready to assist communities in need (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today activated the State Emergency Operations Center due to the hazardous winter storm expected to affect the entire state of Michigan from Monday, Dec. 28, through Tuesday, Dec. 29. The National Weather Service is forecasting about a foot of heavy, wet snow for the Upper Peninsula and freezing rain with a quarter- to half-inch of ice accumulation for some areas of the Lower Peninsula. Power outages are likely to occur.

Governor activates State Emergency Operations Center (ABC 10 UP)
With the National Weather Service predicting a foot of heavy, wet snow here in the U.P. and significant ice accumulation downstate, Governor Rick Snyder activated the State Emergency Operations Center in Lansing at noon Monday.

State of Michigan closing offices at 1 p.m. due to severe weather (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday announced that state offices in the Lower Peninsula would close at 1 p.m. due to severe weather. He also activated the State Emergency Operations Center, which is operated by the Michigan State Police and coordinates emergency response efforts from state and local governments.

Thousands still without power following ice storm (Holland Sentinel)
Government offices played it safe due to the weather, with multiple closings and cancellations. Gov. Rick Snyder announced that all state offices in the Lower Peninsula were to close on 1 p.m. on Monday. All events at West Ottawa High School and Holland Public Schools, including sports, were cancelled. A few basketball tournaments in Holland, Zeeland and at Cornerstone University in Grand Rapids were postponed.

Easier commute expected Tuesday after ice storm (Detroit News)
Earlier Monday, Gov. Rick Snyder activated the state's Emergency Operations Center and closed Lower Peninsula state offices at 1 p.m. The Emergency Operations Center, located in Lansing and overseen by the Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division, coordinates response and recovery efforts by state agencies and local government, officials said. It will remain activated this week until its operations are no longer required.

Bill signings
Top Michigan laws of 2015 led by road funding plan (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder and lawmakers have enacted nearly 270 laws this year, topped by the approval of fuel tax and vehicle registration fee increases to improve deteriorating roads.

Flag honors
Flags At Half Staff For Former State Representative (WILX)
Flags are at half staff today to honor a former state representative who died last week. Daisy Elliot served in the Michigan House of Representatives for 18 years.

APPOINTMENTS

Hallacy to assume bench next week (Battle Creek Enquirer)
John Hallacy leaves the Calhoun County District Court bench at noon Tuesday and assumes new duties as a circuit court judge. It all happens on paper. Hallacy, 52, was appointed a judge of the Calhoun County Circuit Court on Wednesday by Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder. Hallacy replaces Conrad Sindt, who retired Sept. 30 after 24 years on the bench.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ

Independent report confirms state made mistakes, but not 'intentional' ones in Flint (Michigan Radio)
Preliminary findings from Michigan's independent Auditor General give more details about the Flint water crisis.

Auditor: State erred with Flint water, didn't mislead feds (AP)
Michigan's auditor says state officials should have required the city of Flint to treat its water for corrosion earlier but didn't purposely mislead federal regulators.

Auditor General's report says Flint water should have gotten corrosion control (MLive)
A letter dated Dec. 23 from the Office of State Auditor General responding to a series of questions asked by Michigan Sen. Jim Ananich, D-Flint, in October made it clear that corrosion control should have been maintained during Flint's transition from Detroit water to Flint River water.

Michigan's auditor general points finger at state, DEQ over Flint water crisis (WTVB)
Michigan's auditor general says their investigation of the Flint water contamination issue finds the state, in particular, the Department of Environmental Quality, responsible for the decision to use water from the Flint River.

Auditor general findings set off Flint water debate (Detroit News)
Findings compiled by Michigan's Office of the Auditor General have set off another debate about who is to blame for Flint's 18-month-long water crisis.

Obama signs into law Upton's bill banning microbeads (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama signed into law Monday a bill championed by southwest Michigan Congressman Fred Upton to phase out the production and sale of tiny bits of plastic called microbeads.

DIFS

SDL offers insurance talk (Argus Press)
The Owosso branch of the Shiawassee District Library will host a program on long-term care insurance at 7 p.m. Jan. 12.

DNR

Successful Elk season in Michigan (WHTC)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says most hunters found success during the late elk season in the northern lower peninsula, despite warm weather putting them at a disadvantage.

Sebewaing in line for DNR park grant (Huron Daily Tribune)
The Village of Sebewaing received some good news recently when it was recommended by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for a Land and Water Conservation Fund grant.

MDARD

Michigan small farmer who went up against DNR makes major announcement (Inquisitr)

Mark Baker, the now-nationally-known small farmer in Michigan who went up against the DNR for the right to raise his heritage pigs has made a startling announcement on his Baker's Green Acres YouTube channel. The announcement comes just days after the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development conducted what spokesperson Jennifer Holton termed a "routine" inspection and days after Baker announced the loss of a dear friend who advocated with Baker on issues brought before the Michigan Small Farm Council.

MDOC

Michigan criminal justice reforms, shelved in 2015, are on the radar for first half of next year (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder listed criminal justice reform as one of four things he wanted to accomplish in 2015, but with session officially over he's eyeing the first half of 2016 for progress.

MDOT

Faster Michigan roads possible by summer (WOOD Radio)
It took several committee hearings and sit-downs with the state police and state department of transportation, but it appears Michigan's speed limit is poised to increase in 2016 under legislation before a House committee.

FAST Act could provide about $1 billion a year to Michigan (Crain's)
On Dec. 4, President Barack Obama signed the Fixing America's Surface Transportation (FAST) Act. The FAST Act reauthorized the federal gas tax that pays for some (but not all) of the nation's transportation programs and provides additional funding for the next five years for a variety of transportation-related projects. Included among its provisions is an increase in state funding for roads, which should provide an average of a little more than $1 billion a year to Michigan.

No major crashes reported as sleet-snow mix covers Detroit roadways (MLive)
As of 1 p.m. Monday, as a winter storm passed through the Detroit area into the northers suburbs, highway trouble seemed to be minimal.

Crashes increase on slick Detroit-area highways with onset of rush hour traffic (MLive)
While all remained relatively quiet as sleet and freezing rain covered Detroit highways early this afternoon, that changed by rush hour.

Slippery going as storm ices up metro Detroit roads (Detroit Free Press)
Call it global warming or a fluke — Michiganders enjoyed a pass on winter right up until this week.

MPSC

MPSC authorizes 5% DTE rate hike (Energy Manager Today)
The Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) authorized DTE Electric (DTE) on December 11 (Case No. U-17767) to increase its electric rates by $238.2 million annually – a figure 36 percent below the $370 million that the utility initially had requested a year ago.

MSP

Plan ahead to avoid drinking and driving this New Year's Eve (Oakland Press)
As New Year's Eve approaches, motorists can be thankful that awareness campaigns over the past several years have led to an overall drop in drunken driving in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Medical marijuana lawyers want state crime lab moved out of Michigan State Police (Michigan Radio)
A group of criminal defense attorneys says the Michigan State Police (MSP) should no longer oversee the state crime lab.

State police urge caution on the roads (WSJM)
Michigan State Police want drivers to be prepared if they have to be on the roadways today. With snow, freezing rain and high winds expected to make for some hazardous road conditions, Captain Chris Kelenske of the MSP Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division, is encouraging people to stay home during the storm. But for those who have to go out, he says they should have an emergency preparedness kit in their vehicle.

Winter weather safety reminders (ABC 10)
With winter weather causing power outages and hazardous driving conditions, the Michigan State Police would like to pass along some safety reminders.

Driving tips for your hazardous winter commute (WLNS)
Hazardous winter weather has arrived with freezing rain, high winds and icy roads.

Support grows for slow Lakeshore Drive campaign (Holland Sentinel)
According to the Michigan State Police, factors used to help set speeds include traffic crash data and the driving environment, and a speed study to...

Police, emergency management prepare to keep you safe during storm (UP North Live)
While crews take care of road conditions, State Police and emergency coordinators are working to make sure that people stay safe during the storm.

LEGISLATIVE

More than 1,000 votes missed by members of State House and Senate in 2015 (News Herald)
Michigan's 38 senators and 110 representatives missed a combined 1,055 recorded roll call votes in 2015 according to the Missed Votes Report compiled by Jack McHugh, editor of MichiganVotes.org.

State Rep. Gary Glenn named 'freshman lawmaker of the year' by news service (MLive)
Almost a full year into his first term in the Michigan House of Representative, Midland-area lawmaker Gary Glenn has been named the Michigan Legislature's "freshman of the year" for 2015.

MIRS names Glenn Freshman Legislator of the Year (Midland Daily)
Glenn's selection from among 44 first-term state representatives and 10 first-time state senators was announced on MIRS Monday, a weekly podcast featuring a round table discussion by MIRS state Capitol reporters that focused primarily on Glenn's bipartisan leadership on this year's energy policy debate in Lansing.

DETROIT

Detroit to job-hunting felons: We can help (Detroit Free Press)
At 52, Edward Jackson of Detroit has what he says is his first real job. Jackson has spent 20 years in prison on drug and weapons charges over his lifetime, and every time he was freed, he eventually fell back into trouble because he could never find gainful work. Like millions of Americans with criminal histories, whom advocates call returning citizens, he found himself turned away quickly by employers.

Detroit chief urges change after 7-year-old- killed (Detroit Free Press)
Three bullet holes in the picture window stood in grim contrast Monday to the flashing Christmas lights behind a drawn curtain in the two-story brick home in northwest Detroit side where 7-year-old Chanell Berry was shot and killed the previous night.

OPINION

Bieda: Bills would leave voters in dark (Detroit News)
Lawmakers in Lansing recently worked late into the night to pass a series of controversial bills, one of which grew from 12 to 53 pages in the span of an hour. Republicans barred Democrats' staff from the Senate floor to make it harder for us to review the amended legislation, and immediately forced a vote.

Skubick: 'Prejudiced' Trump can't win, senior Michigan pol says (Mlive)
This guy has forgotten more politics than Donald Trump has ever learned, and when asked what he thought of the Trump juggernaut, his response was swift and to the point: "Not much. The reference here is to former Democratic Attorney General Frank Kelley, who has been on seven book-signing gigs since they published his "The People's Lawyer." At age 90, with a birthday set for New Year's Eve, the nation's longest-serving A.G. is still as sharp as he was when he was tapped for the job.

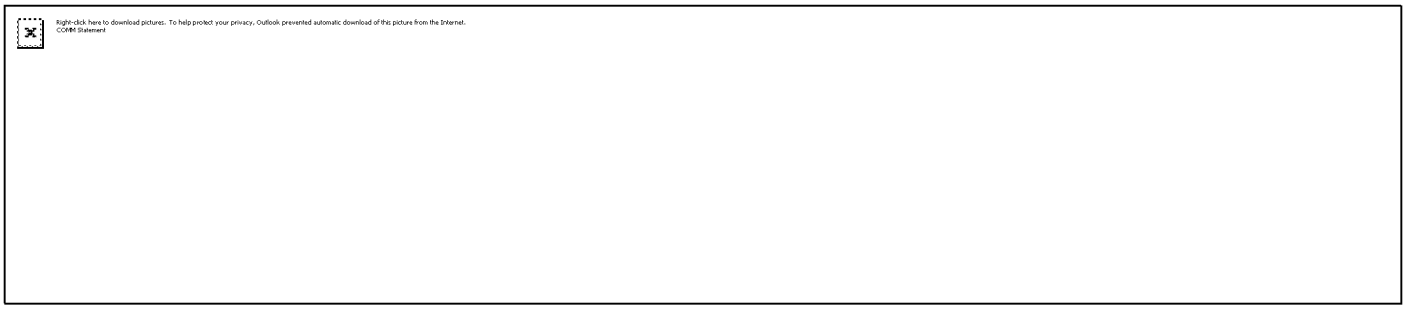
Skubick: Snyder hits 'pause' again - on flak for immigration statements (Mlive)
One of the worst things to happen to politicians was the invention of videotape. The problem with recording political remarks is that they can come back to bite you in the you-know-where when you change those remarks. Think the master flip-flopper Mitt Romney and work down from there to Gov. Rick Snyder.

Editorial: More answers needed for Wayne Co. jail mess (Detroit News)
If a corporation intentionally fails to disclose to investors material information about its financial condition, it is subject to lawsuits and even criminal charges against its officers. The same fate should await public officials who knowingly deceive taxpayers and their representatives.

Hamilton: Tough time for politicians (Detroit News)
This is a very tough time to be a politician. The women and men who've undertaken to represent us face circumstances that make campaigning and governing unusually challenging right now.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:45 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder takes action on initial findings from Flint Water Task Force



Contacts: Dave Murray, Anna Heaton or Laura Biehl

517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Tuesday, Dec. 29, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder takes action on initial findings from Flint Water Task Force

Changes to take place at DEQ, meeting planned with Mayor Karen Weaver

In response to initial findings from the Flint Water Task Force, Gov. Rick Snyder today issued the following statement:

"When I became aware that the city of Flint's water showed elevated lead levels and that the state's handling of the situation was being questioned, I requested funding to switch the source back to the Great Lakes Water Authority and appointed an independent task force to identify possible missteps and areas for improvement.

"The task force has done an exceptional job, reviewing stacks of documents and interviewing scores of Flint, Genesee County, state and federal officials. Although the task force's final report is not yet completed, members have made me aware of some interim findings and corrective steps that I have decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how the state keeps its citizens safe and informed.

"We'll continue to work with the community members to make sure we hear and respond to their concerns.

“In addition, MDEQ Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, and I’ve determined that it’s appropriate to accept it. I’m also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force.

“But changes in leadership and staff are not enough. I understand there can be disagreements within the scientific community. That is why I have directed both the departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services to invite every external scientist who has worked on this issue to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water. Let’s share research on water and blood lead level testing so we can arrive at accurate and mutually supported conclusions. Together, we should work to affirm that we’re using the very best testing protocols to ensure Flint residents have safe drinking water and that we’re taking steps to protect their health over the short and long term.

“I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened. And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure.

“I know many Flint citizens are angry and want more than an apology. That’s why I’m taking the actions today to ensure a culture of openness and trust. We’ve already allocated $10 million to test the water, distribute water filters, and help in other ways. Last week, I called Flint Mayor Karen Weaver, and we’re going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.

“These are only initial steps - we fully expect to take more actions following the recommendations of our task force. When it comes to matters of health and quality of life, we’re committed to doing everything we can to protect the well-being of our citizens.”

# #

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to leedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: Norlock, Linda (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:59 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: FW: NEWS UPDATE--Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

The heads are beginning to roll.

From: gongwerreports@gongwer.com [mailto:gongwerreports@gongwer.com]
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:54 PM
To: Michigan_State_Employees_updates@gongwer.com
Subject: NEWS UPDATE--Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

Tuesday, December 29, 2015, 02:53 PM

Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant has resigned in response to the water crisis that erupted three months ago in Flint.

"MDEQ Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, and I've determined that it's appropriate to accept it. I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force," Governor Rick Snyder said in a statement.

"But changes in leadership and staff are not enough. I understand there can be disagreements within the scientific community. That is why I have directed both the departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services to invite every external scientist who has worked on this issue to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water," Mr. Snyder said. "Let's share research on water and blood lead level testing so we can arrive at accurate and mutually supported conclusions. Together, we should work to affirm that we're using the very best testing protocols to ensure Flint residents have safe drinking water and that we're taking steps to protect their health over the short and long term."

The DEQ has come under major criticism for how it handled testing for lead in Flint drinking water after the city switched to the Flint River as its water source. The water was not properly treated for corrosion, causing lead to leach from service lines into the drinking water.

"I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened. And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure," Mr. Snyder said. "I know many Flint citizens are angry and want more than an apology. That's why I'm taking the actions today to ensure a culture of openness and trust. We've already allocated $10 million to test the water, distribute water filters, and help in other ways. Last week, I called Flint Mayor Karen Weaver, and we're going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance."

Gongwer News Service will have more on this story in today's Michigan Report.

Please send all correspondence to gongwer@gongwer.com This mailbox is not regularly monitored.

Copyright, 2015, Gongwer News Service, Inc. All Rights Reserved. This message and any attachments may not be forwarded or reproduced without express permission from Gongwer News Service.

From: Norlock, Linda (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:59 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: RE: NEWS UPDATE--Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

Ditto

From: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:59 PM
To: Norlock, Linda (DTMB) <norlockl@michigan.gov>
Subject: RE: NEWS UPDATE--Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

I'm surprised it took that long! :O

From: Norlock, Linda (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:59 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: FW: NEWS UPDATE--Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

The heads are beginning to roll.

From: gongwerreports@gongwer.com [mailto:gongwerreports@gongwer.com]
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:54 PM
To: Michigan_State_Employees_updates@gongwer.com
Subject: NEWS UPDATE--Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

Tuesday, December 29, 2015, 02:53 PM

Wyant Resigns In Wake Of Flint Water Crisis

Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant has resigned in response to the water crisis that erupted three months ago in Flint.

"MDEQ Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, and I've determined that it's appropriate to accept it. I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force," Governor Rick Snyder said in a statement.

"But changes in leadership and staff are not enough. I understand there can be disagreements within the scientific community. That is why I have directed both the departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services to invite every external scientist who has worked on this issue to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water," Mr. Snyder said. "Let's share research on water and blood lead level testing so we can arrive at accurate and mutually supported conclusions. Together, we should work to affirm that we're using the very best testing protocols to ensure Flint residents have safe drinking water and that we're taking steps to protect their health over the short and long term."

The DEQ has come under major criticism for how it handled testing for lead in Flint drinking water after the city switched to the Flint River as its water source. The water was not properly treated for corrosion, causing lead to leach from service lines into the drinking water.

"I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened. And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure," Mr. Snyder said. "I know many Flint citizens are angry and want more than an apology. That's why I'm taking the actions today to ensure a culture of openness and trust. We've already allocated $10 million to test the water, distribute water filters, and help in other ways. Last week, I called Flint Mayor Karen Weaver, and we're going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance."

Gongwer News Service will have more on this story in today's Michigan Report.

Please send all correspondence to gongwer@gongwer.com This mailbox is not regularly monitored.

Copyright, 2015, Gongwer News Service, Inc. All Rights Reserved. This message and any attachments may not be forwarded or reproduced without express permission from Gongwer News Service.

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, December 30, 2015 10:48 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/30 Newsroom
Attachments: 151230 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, December 30, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water

Snyder apologizes, Wyant resigns in Flint water crisis (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder apologized to the City of Flint Tuesday for the Flint drinking water crisis that has left children poisoned by lead and announced he has accepted to resignation of Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant.

Michigan Regulator Resigns Amid Flint's Lead-in-Water Crisis (AP)
Michigan's top environmental regulator resigned Tuesday in the wake of Flint's drinking water crisis, which began when the city switched its supply but was not required to immediately keep corrosive river water from leaching lead from service pipes into residents' homes.

DEQ director Wyant resigns due to Flint water crisis (Detroit News)
Michigan's environment director resigned Tuesday after an independent committee delivered its findings on the Flint water contamination crisis to Gov. Rick Snyder.

Gov. Rick Snyder says he's sorry for Flint's lead-in-water crisis (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has issued a statement saying he's sorry for Flint's water crisis. "I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this happened," said Snyder in an email. "And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure."

Director Dan Wyant resigns after task force blasts MDEQ over Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday accepted a resignation from Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant after a task force laid responsibility for the Flint water crisis at the feet of the department.

Flint water crisis prompts DEQ resignation, personnel changes (Metro Times)
Today, the Detroit Free Press reports that Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation in the wake of the crisis. The resignation was announced by Gov. Rick Snyder in a news release.

Snyder issues statement about Flint water (ABC 10 UP)
Governor Rick Snyder issued a statement regarding the initial findings from the Flint Water Task Force. Based on those findings, Snyder stated that he has requested funding to switch Flint's water source back to the Great Lakes Water Authority. In addition, the Department of Environmental Quality director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, which Snyder has accepted. Snyder plans to make other personnel changes as well.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder Apologizes For Flint's Water Crisis (Reuters)
Michigan's governor apologized on Tuesday for the state's mishandling of lead contamination in the city of Flint's water supply and accepted the resignation of the state official whose department was responsible.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder apologizes for lead levels in Flint water (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder issued an apology Tuesday as Dan Wyant, his head of the Department of Environmental Quality, resigned after a task force lead by the state's auditor general blasted the DEQ for it's role in Flint's water crisis.

MISC.
State board rejects recall petitions for Snyder, senators (AP)
People attempting longshot efforts to recall Gov. Rick Snyder and two lawmakers from office will have to try again with state election officials.

Snyder's choice on voter options: Experts or lawmakers? (MLive)
Depending on your political predilections, this may be a grand case of "don't confuse me with the facts, my mind is made up."

DEPARTMENTS

AG
Apples v. Oranges: Attorney General gambles on Wolverine victory (Oakland County One)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette and Florida Attorney General Pam Bondi today entered into a friendly wager over the upcoming Citrus Bowl in which the University of Michigan Wolverines will face the University of Florida Gators.

Oranges vs. apples: Florida AG Pam Bondi bets Gators beat Wolverines (Tampa Bay Times)
The attorneys general of Florida and Michigan have made a friendly wager on the outcome of this year's Citrus Bowl.

Schuette: Apples and oranges at stake for UM in Citrus Bowl (WLNS)
While the Michigan State Spartans are playing Alabama for a shot at the national championship, there is a crate of apples at stake when the University of Michigan plays in the Citrus Bowl.

Michigan and Florida attorney generals make wager on game (WILX)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is betting the Wolverines will beat the Gators in the Citrus Bowl. A box of fruit is at stake.

DEQ
DEQ spokesman also resigns over Flint water crisis, says city 'didn't feel like we cared' (MLive)
Michigan Department of Environmental Quality spokesperson Brad Wurfel has joined director Dan Wyant in resigning after a task force cited department failures in addressing the Flint water crisis.

DHHS
Worksite wellness in progress: Part One (MSU Extension)

Employers recognize that employee health impacts their bottom line and this has generated increased interest in worksite wellness programs. Over 50 percent of US employers offer some type of worksite health promotion program and these employers employ over 75 percent of the American workforce according to the 2013 RAND report (pdf). Employers are looking to wellness programs to contain the rising health care costs of an aging, sedentary American workforce and the need to entice and retain talented employees in competitive hiring markets such as technology.

Holland Public Schools, city team up to investigate lead levels (Holland Sentinel)
Davis is raising a red flag about the number of children living in the city with elevated levels of lead in their blood.

DNR

24 recruits to attend conservation officer training academy (AP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says 24 recruits are scheduled to attend its conservation officer training academy.

DNR sees increase in successful hunters during 2015 season (Alpena News)
There is a lot more venison in deer hunters' freezers this winter as the Michigan Department of Natural Resources reports increased deer kills in the Lower Peninsula during the 2015 deer hunting season.

DTMB

West Michigan's jobless rate close to 15-year low (MLive)
West Michigan's job market set new records for employment in November while the unemployment rate closed in on a 15-year low, according to figures released by the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget.

Four things to know about November unemployment rates: Ottawa, Allegan counties hit new lows (Holland Sentinel)
Ottawa County is tied with Kent County for the best unemployment rate in the state at 2.9 percent among the state's 83 counties, according to the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget, or DTMB. Allegan County is fifth with a rate of 3.2 percent. The worst rate is 10.5 percent in Mackinac County.

Unemployment rate up from previous month, down from previous year (ABC 10)
While many areas across Michigan have seen a slight decrease in unemployment rates in November, the U.P. has risen a bit month-to-month.

MDARD

Habitat provided by eastern hemlock forests may be in jeopardy (MSU Extension)
Landowners and forest recreation enthusiasts should be on the lookout for signs of the hemlock woolly adelgid when they get out to enjoy Michigan forests this winter.

Poultry ban uplifted (WBKB)
In June, Michigan developed a statewide ban on poultry exhibitions at fairs and other events.

MDOT

States implement plow trackers, dash cams to improve snow removal operations (AccuWeather)
State transportation officials around the United States have implemented new tools to help keep drivers safe this winter.

Top 20 driving danger zones in MI revealed (WOOD TV)
Three quarters of the roads with the most winter-weather crashes statewide are located in West Michigan.

Road crews keeping up with winter weather (Upper Michigan's Source)
Most of the Upper Peninsula experienced an accumulation of snow on Tuesday.

MDOT completes road survey in St. Ignace (The St. Ignace News)
From mid-November until Wednesday, December 23, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) conducted surveying work in St. Ignace alongside the Interstate 75 Business Loop to prepare for an upcoming road project in 2017.

Emmet County tests green lights on plow trucks (Up North Live)
Several county road commissions in northern Michigan are interested in using a new lighting system for their plow trucks. The new system aims to make drivers safer during winter weather conditions.

MPSC
New rules for multi-line phone systems will improve emergency response (Up North Live)
When emergencies happen, every second counts. That is why a new rule goes into effect soon to require special phone systems in Michigan to improve emergency response.

SOS
Promoting walking and walkable communities: part three (MSU Extension)
US Surgeon General's Step It Up! 2015 call to action urges individuals to use walking as a form of exercise. Walkers who follow simple rules (see part 2 two) of the road are more likely to stay safe. However, those of us who drive cars to and from our destination often find ourselves sharing the road with walkers who do not always follow the rules.

SUPREME COURT
Former Michigan Supreme Court Justice Mary Beth Kelly advocates for Juvenile Justice (WDET)
Mary Beth Kelly now works for Bodman PLC, but she still has a unique perspective on Michigan's juvenile justice laws.

LEGISLATIVE

New legislation limits transparency, according to local officials (News-Herald)
While no timeline is present, Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to sign legislation that local school officials say will prohibit them from being transparent with voters.

Legislation authored by Representative Leutheuser signed by Governor Snyder (WTVB)
Governor Snyder has signed legislation authored by GOP lawmaker Eric Leutheuser, Branch County's Representative in the State House. The measure expands the scope of private or non-profit services that townships can contract with.

Board of State Canvassers Reject Recall Petitions for Gov. Snyder, Two Michigan Lawmakers (9&10 News)
An attempt at recalling Governor Rick Snyder and two Michigan lawmakers from office has been rejected.

DETROIT

Governor pitches plan to fix Detroit schools (AP)
Detroit needs more than a revitalized downtown with new office workers to spur its rebirth following the largest public bankruptcy in U.S. history. It needs to upgrade a public school system that's considered the worst of its size in the nation.
GOV
Thousands take advantage of ticket amnesty program (Detroit News)

More than a thousand people lined up this week to take advantage of a late Christmas gift from Detroit's 36th District Court: a chance at amnesty.

Hillary Clinton plans Jan. 12 fundraiser in Detroit (Detroit News)
Democratic presidential frontrunner Hillary Clinton is coming to Detroit on Jan. 12 for a fundraiser, her campaign confirmed Tuesday.

OPINION

Editorial: Emergency management law working for cities (Detroit News)
Michigan will start the year with not one of its local communities under emergency management, with the emergence of Lincoln Park from state control last week. While Detroit Public Schools and other school districts, as well as Wayne County, still are operating under some form of state financial oversight, for the first time in 15 years no cities have emergency managers.

State must pay for justice, not defendants (Times Herald)
We thought we were making progress when Lansing moved to eliminate one of the state's most outrageous taxes. Beginning Oct. 1, Michigan began phasing out the "driver responsibility fees" that the Granholm administration invented in 2003 to plug a hole in the state budget. Driver responsibility fees are a tax on those convicted of reckless driving, drunken driving or driving without a valid license.

Gov. Rick Snyder still doesn't get it when it comes to Flint water crisis (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder still doesn't get it. Three months after the state finally acknowledged there was a problem with Flint water, Snyder issued a statement Tuesday, Dec. 29, apologizing for the situation and announcing actions to "ensure a culture of openness and trust."

Look back: What's it like to own the train station? (Freep)
What's it like to own the train station? I'm not going to say that question keeps me up at night, but driving around Detroit with Matt Moroun — the son of Manuel (Matty) Moroun, the 87-year-old industrialist and Ambassador Bridge owner (and dilapidated train station owner, vast property owner and billionaire) — I couldn't help but wonder.

Editorial: Tell Snyder to veto majority's election 'reforms' (Battle Creek Enquirer)
We wrote in November that a bill to strip Michigan voters of the ability to vote straight ticket was beneath the dignity of the Legislature. In hindsight, we over-estimated the Legislature.

Black lives, Tamir Rice and America's uncivil history (Freep)
I was struck with a wide range of emotional responses to the failure of Ohio prosecutors to charge Cleveland police officers for their hasty and thoughtless killing of 12-year-old Tamir Rice — as an African American, as a parent, as a human being.

Another View: Election reform laws headed in wrong direction (Gaylord Herald Times)
State lawmakers recently passed another law designed to reform elections in Michigan.
With 2015 winding down, a bill heads to Gov. Rick Snyder's desk prohibiting local governments from spending money to inform the public about ballot proposals within 60 days of an election.

Helping our veterans in Michigan and beyond (Oakland Press)
Though it feels like partisan bickering in politics is the norm, there are some issues that should always rise above party politics; the care, safety, and well-being of our nation's troops and veterans. As we celebrate the holiday season, the spirit of caring for one another and wishes for peace on Earth are strong. In this spirit, let's make sure as we begin a new year, we hold Congress and the Pentagon responsible for caring for our veterans.

Bieda: Bills would leave voters in dark (Detroit News)

Lawmakers in Lansing recently worked late into the night to pass a series of controversial bills, one of which grew from 12 to 53 pages in the span of an hour. Republicans barred Democrats' staff from the Senate floor to make it harder for us to review the amended legislation, and immediately forced a vote. It's ironic that they eliminated straight-ticket voting on the pretext of helping voters make educated decisions, and yet failed to allow educated voting in their own chambers.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, December 30, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water

Snyder apologizes, Wyant resigns in Flint water crisis (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder apologized to the City of Flint Tuesday for the Flint drinking water crisis that has left children poisoned by lead and announced he has accepted to resignation of Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant.

Michigan Regulator Resigns Amid Flint's Lead-in-Water Crisis (AP)
Michigan's top environmental regulator resigned Tuesday in the wake of Flint's drinking water crisis, which began when the city switched its supply but was not required to immediately keep corrosive river water from leaching lead from service pipes into residents' homes.

DEQ director Wyant resigns due to Flint water crisis (Detroit News)
Michigan's environment director resigned Tuesday after an independent committee delivered its findings on the Flint water contamination crisis to Gov. Rick Snyder.

Gov. Rick Snyder says he's sorry for Flint's lead-in-water crisis (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has issued a statement saying he's sorry for Flint's water crisis. "I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this happened," said Snyder in an email. "And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure."

Director Dan Wyant resigns after task force blasts MDEQ over Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday accepted a resignation from Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant after a task force laid responsibility for the Flint water crisis at the feet of the department.

Flint water crisis prompts DEQ resignation, personnel changes (Metro Times)
Today, the Detroit Free Press reports that Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation in the wake of the crisis. The resignation was announced by Gov. Rick Snyder in a news release.

Snyder issues statement about Flint water (ABC 10 UP)
Governor Rick Snyder issued a statement regarding the initial findings from the Flint Water Task Force. Based on those findings, Snyder stated that he has requested funding to switch Flint's water source back to the Great Lakes Water Authority. In addition, the Department of Environmental Quality director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, which Snyder has accepted. Snyder plans to make other personnel changes as well.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder Apologizes For Flint's Water Crisis (Reuters)

Michigan's governor apologized on Tuesday for the state's mishandling of lead contamination in the city of Flint's water supply and accepted the resignation of the state official whose department was responsible.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder apologizes for lead levels in Flint water (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder issued an apology Tuesday as Dan Wyant, his head of the Department of Environmental Quality, resigned after a task force lead by the state's auditor general blasted the DEQ for it's role in Flint's water crisis.

MISC.
State board rejects recall petitions for Snyder, senators (AP)
People attempting longshot efforts to recall Gov. Rick Snyder and two lawmakers from office will have to try again with state election officials.

Snyder's choice on voter options: Experts or lawmakers? (MLive)
Depending on your political predilections, this may be a grand case of "don't confuse me with the facts, my mind is made up."

DEPARTMENTS
AG
Apples v. Oranges: Attorney General gambles on Wolverine victory (Oakland County One)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette and Florida Attorney General Pam Bondi today entered into a friendly wager over the upcoming Citrus Bowl in which the University of Michigan Wolverines will face the University of Florida Gators.

Oranges vs. apples: Florida AG Pam Bondi bets Gators beat Wolverines (Tampa Bay Times)
The attorneys general of Florida and Michigan have made a friendly wager on the outcome of this year's Citrus Bowl.

Schuette: Apples and oranges at stake for UM in Citrus Bowl (WLNS)
While the Michigan State Spartans are playing Alabama for a shot at the national championship, there is a crate of apples at stake when the University of Michigan plays in the Citrus Bowl.

Michigan and Florida attorney generals make wager on game (WILX)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is betting the Wolverines will beat the Gators in the Citrus Bowl. A box of fruit is at stake.

DEQ
DEQ spokesman also resigns over Flint water crisis, says city 'didn't feel like we cared' (MLive)
Michigan Department of Environmental Quality spokesperson Brad Wurfel has joined director Dan Wyant in resigning after a task force cited department failures in addressing the Flint water crisis.

DHHS
Worksite wellness in progress: Part One (MSU Extension)
Employers recognize that employee health impacts their bottom line and this has generated increased interest in worksite wellness programs. Over 50 percent of US employers offer some type of worksite health promotion program and these employers employ over 75 percent of the American workforce according to the 2013 RAND report (pdf). Employers are looking to wellness programs to contain the rising health care costs of an aging, sedentary American workforce and the need to entice and retain talented employees in competitive hiring markets such as technology.

Holland Public Schools, city team up to investigate lead levels (Holland Sentinel)
Davis is raising a red flag about the number of children living in the city with elevated levels of lead in their blood.

DNR
24 recruits to attend conservation officer training academy (AP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says 24 recruits are scheduled to attend its conservation officer training academy.

DNR sees increase in successful hunters during 2015 season (Alpena News)
There is a lot more venison in deer hunters' freezers this winter as the Michigan Department of Natural Resources reports increased deer kills in the Lower Peninsula during the 2015 deer hunting season.

DTMB
West Michigan's jobless rate close to 15-year low (MLive)
West Michigan's job market set new records for employment in November while the unemployment rate closed in on a 15-year low, according to figures released by the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget.

Four things to know about November unemployment rates: Ottawa, Allegan counties hit new lows (Holland Sentinel)
Ottawa County is tied with Kent County for the best unemployment rate in the state at 2.9 percent among the state's 83 counties, according to the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget, or DTMB. Allegan County is fifth with a rate of 3.2 percent. The worst rate is 10.5 percent in Mackinac County.

Unemployment rate up from previous month, down from previous year (ABC 10)
While many areas across Michigan have seen a slight decrease in unemployment rates in November, the U.P. has risen a bit month-to-month.

MDARD
Habitat provided by eastern hemlock forests may be in jeopardy (MSU Extension)
Landowners and forest recreation enthusiasts should be on the lookout for signs of the hemlock woolly adelgid when they get out to enjoy Michigan forests this winter.

Poultry ban uplifted (WBKB)
In June, Michigan developed a statewide ban on poultry exhibitions at fairs and other events.

MDOT
States implement plow trackers, dash cams to improve snow removal operations (AccuWeather)
State transportation officials around the United States have implemented new tools to help keep drivers safe this winter.

Top 20 driving danger zones in MI revealed (WOOD TV)
Three quarters of the roads with the most winter-weather crashes statewide are located in West Michigan.

Road crews keeping up with winter weather (Upper Michigan's Source)
Most of the Upper Peninsula experienced an accumulation of snow on Tuesday.

MDOT completes road survey in St. Ignace (The St. Ignace News)
From mid-November until Wednesday, December 23, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) conducted surveying work in St. Ignace alongside the Interstate 75 Business Loop to prepare for an upcoming road project in 2017.

Emmet County tests green lights on plow trucks (Up North Live)
Several county road commissions in northern Michigan are interested in using a new lighting system for their plow trucks. The new system aims to make drivers safer during winter weather conditions.

MPSC
New rules for multi-line phone systems will improve emergency response (Up North Live)
When emergencies happen, every second counts. That is why a new rule goes into effect soon to require special phone systems in Michigan to improve emergency response.

SOS
Promoting walking and walkable communities: part three (MSU Extension)
US Surgeon General's Step It Up! 2015 call to action urges individuals to use walking as a form of exercise. Walkers who follow simple rules (see part 2 two) of the road are more likely to stay safe. However, those of us who drive cars to and from our destination often find ourselves sharing the road with walkers who do not always follow the rules.

SUPREME COURT
Former Michigan Supreme Court Justice Mary Beth Kelly advocates for Juvenile Justice (WDET)
Mary Beth Kelly now works for Bodman PLC, but she still has a unique perspective on Michigan's juvenile justice laws.

LEGISLATIVE

New legislation limits transparency, according to local officials (News-Herald)
While no timeline is present, Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to sign legislation that local school officials say will prohibit them from being transparent with voters.

Legislation authored by Representative Leutheuser signed by Governor Snyder (WTVB)
Governor Snyder has signed legislation authored by GOP lawmaker Eric Leutheuser, Branch County's Representative in the State House. The measure expands the scope of private or non-profit services that townships can contract with.

Board of State Canvassers Reject Recall Petitions for Gov. Snyder, Two Michigan Lawmakers (9&10 News)

An attempt at recalling Governor Rick Snyder and two Michigan lawmakers from office has been rejected.

DETROIT

Governor pitches plan to fix Detroit schools (AP)
Detroit needs more than a revitalized downtown with new office workers to spur its rebirth following the largest public bankruptcy in U.S. history. It needs to upgrade a public school system that's considered the worst of its size in the nation.
GOV
Thousands take advantage of ticket amnesty program (Detroit News)
More than a thousand people lined up this week to take advantage of a late Christmas gift from Detroit's 36th District Court: a chance at amnesty.

Hillary Clinton plans Jan. 12 fundraiser in Detroit (Detroit News)
Democratic presidential frontrunner Hillary Clinton is coming to Detroit on Jan. 12 for a fundraiser, her campaign confirmed Tuesday.

OPINION

Editorial: Emergency management law working for cities (Detroit News)
Michigan will start the year with not one of its local communities under emergency management, with the emergence of Lincoln Park from state control last week. While Detroit Public Schools and other school districts, as well as Wayne County, still are operating under some form of state financial oversight, for the first time in 15 years no cities have emergency managers.

State must pay for justice, not defendants (Times Herald)
We thought we were making progress when Lansing moved to eliminate one of the state's most outrageous taxes. Beginning Oct. 1, Michigan began phasing out the "driver responsibility fees" that the Granholm administration invented in 2003 to plug a hole in the state budget. Driver responsibility fees are a tax on those convicted of reckless driving, drunken driving or driving without a valid license.

Gov. Rick Snyder still doesn't get it when it comes to Flint water crisis (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder still doesn't get it. Three months after the state finally acknowledged there was a problem with Flint water, Snyder issued a statement Tuesday, Dec. 29, apologizing for the situation and announcing actions to "ensure a culture of openness and trust."

Look back: What's it like to own the train station? (Freep)
What's it like to own the train station? I'm not going to say that question keeps me up at night, but driving around Detroit with Matt Moroun — the son of Manuel (Matty) Moroun, the 87-year-old industrialist and Ambassador Bridge owner (and dilapidated train station owner, vast property owner and billionaire) — I couldn't help but wonder.

Editorial: Tell Snyder to veto majority's election 'reforms' (Battle Creek Enquirer)
We wrote in November that a bill to strip Michigan voters of the ability to vote straight ticket was beneath the dignity of the Legislature. In hindsight, we over-estimated the Legislature.

Black lives, Tamir Rice and America's uncivil history (Freep)
I was struck with a wide range of emotional responses to the failure of Ohio prosecutors to charge Cleveland police officers for their hasty and thoughtless killing of 12-year-old Tamir Rice — as an African American, as a parent, as a human being.

Another View: Election reform laws headed in wrong direction (Gaylord Herald Times)
State lawmakers recently passed another law designed to reform elections in Michigan.
With 2015 winding down, a bill heads to Gov. Rick Snyder's desk prohibiting local governments from spending money to inform the public about ballot proposals within 60 days of an election.

Helping our veterans in Michigan and beyond (Oakland Press)
Though it feels like partisan bickering in politics is the norm, there are some issues that should always rise above party politics; the care, safety, and well-being of our nation's troops and veterans. As we celebrate the holiday season, the spirit of caring for one another and wishes for peace on Earth are strong. In this spirit, let's make sure as we begin a new year, we hold Congress and the Pentagon responsible for caring for our veterans.

Bieda: Bills would leave voters in dark (Detroit News)
Lawmakers in Lansing recently worked late into the night to pass a series of controversial bills, one of which grew from 12 to 53 pages in the span of an hour. Republicans barred Democrats' staff from the Senate floor to make it harder for us to review the amended legislation, and immediately forced a vote. It's ironic that they eliminated straight-ticket voting on the pretext of helping voters make educated decisions, and yet failed to allow educated voting in their own chambers.

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Wednesday, December 30, 2015 2:06 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 30, 2015

NEWS

College Basketball: Carl Izzo, father of Michigan State's Tom Izzo, dies at 90

NCAA.com

APPLETON, Wis. — Carl Izzo, father of Michigan State basketball coach Tom Izzo, has died. He was 90. Erickson-Rochon and Nash Funeral Homes of ...

Flag as irrelevant

'Just believe!' The anatomy of Michigan State's amazing, saving grace

New York Post

Michigan punter Blake O'Neill is swarmed by Michigan State defenders on the final play of Michigan State's dramatic victory. Photo: AP ...

For Michigan State playmaker Jalen Watts-Jackson, 10 seconds to history - Washington Post

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

College Football Playoff Preview: Alabama's Dominant Run Attack vs. A Lucky Michigan State Team

FiveThirtyEight

Alabama and Michigan State face each other in a late New Year's Eve game that could stretch into 2016 (depending on your time zone). Alabama is ...

Is Michigan State lucky or clutch? Bama in the Playoff is the ultimate test - SB Nation

MSU coach Mark Dantonio: We have never played the underdog card - ESPN

Michigan State thrives without scoring big in recruiting - ESPN

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Game thread: Iowa 83, No. 1 Michigan State 70

The Gazette: Eastern Iowa Breaking News and Headlines

Top-ranked teams might want to think about avoiding the state of Iowa. ... 1 team this season, handing Michigan State its first loss in the Big Ten ...

Michigan State, Maryland, Purdue ready for Big Ten race - U.S. News & World Report

Iowa sends No. 1 Michigan State to first loss, never trails - ESPN

No. 1 Michigan State falls hard at Iowa for first loss of season - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's offensive line breaks down film .. of Ali-Frazier fight

USA TODAY

Though it's been 44 years since The Fight, it's fresh on the minds of Michigan State's offensive linemen heading into their Cotton Bowl national ...

Flag as irrelevant

Mark Dantonio's Spartans (and his name) sure are hard to pin down

ESPN

For the record, the Michigan State football coach is Mark Dantonio, not Mike (which is his younger brother's name), and not Mike D'Antoni, the pro ...

Former Michigan State coach Bobby Williams 'very happy' for what Mark Dantonio has done - MLive.com

Why Nick Saban endorsed Mark Dantonio for MSU job - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

ESPN analyst: MSU must punch 'bully' Alabama in mouth

Detroit Free Press

Herbstreit, who played quarterback at Ohio State, stays impartial on the air, ... "Michigan State and Ohio State winning last year helped that," he said.

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan governor apologizes for state's handling of Flint's water

Reuters

DETROIT Michigan's governor apologized on Tuesday for the state's mishandling of lead contamination in the city of Flint's water supply and accepted ...

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder Apologizes For Flint's Water Crisis - Huffington Post

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Kirk Cousins reflects on Mark Dantonio, Michigan State in The Players Tribune

MLive.com

Michigan State quarterback Kirk Cousins, left, and head coach Mark Dantonio talk during NCAA college football practice in Indianapolis, Friday, Dec.

Flag as irrelevant

MSU hoops wants to use depth as advantage, starting tonight

Detroit Free Press

EAST LANSING -- Northeastern was trapping to try to get back into the game, and Michigan State ended up with a 2-on-1 for an easy opportunity.

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, January 05, 2016 9:42 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 1/5 Newsroom
Attachments: 160105 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, January 5, 2016
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Public Service Commission
Gov. Snyder elevates Talberg as chairwoman of Michigan Public Service Commission (AP)
Michigan Public Service Commission member Sally Talberg has been appointed chairwoman of the commission that regulates energy and telecommunications services. Gov. Rick Snyder announced the move Monday in concert with the announcement that Chairman John Quackenbush is leaving the commission, effective March 31. Quackenbush, of New Buffalo, intends to return to the private sector.

Williamston woman to head Public Service Commission (WILX)
Michigan Public Service Commission member Sally Talberg has been appointed chairwoman of the commission that regulates energy and telecommunications services.

Flint disaster declaration
Gov. Snyder must decide whether to declare disaster in Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Last week, Gov. Rick Snyder said he was sorry for Flint's lead in water crisis. Now, he must decide whether the situation amounts to a man-made disaster, created while the city was being run by emergency managers that he appointed.

Snyder weighs declaring water emergency in Flint (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder is considering whether to declare an emergency for Flint's contaminated water a week after apologizing to residents for the state's handling of Flint's water crisis. But Michigan faces hurdles to getting federal relief, including forgiveness for state loans to Flint involving drinking-water infrastructure improvements that are covered by federal rules.

County OKs Flint's state of emergency declaration (Michigan Radio)
Weaver is scheduled to sit down with Gov. Snyder on Thursday. It will be up to the governor to decide whether Flint's water problems can be submitted to the Obama administration for a federal disaster declaration.

Chief's next gig
Snyder chief of staff set to rejoin lobbying corps (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's outgoing Chief of Staff Dennis Muchmore is joining "the faculty" at Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn LLP later this month to help mentor young attorneys on how to navigate the arms of government and rejoin Lansing's lobbying corps.

Revolving door? Top Snyder aide to register as lobbyist (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder's departing Chief of Staff Dennis Muchmore said Monday he will register as a lobbyist in his new job as chairman of the government relations and regulatory practice group for the Detroit-based Honigman law firm, but he downplayed concerns about potential conflicts of interest or a "revolving door" between state government and the lobbying corps.

Snyder chief will join law firm after leaving state job (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder's chief of staff will lead a law firm's lobbying group after leaving state government. Dennis Muchmore will join Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn LLP on Feb. 1. His last day in Snyder's office is Jan. 20.

Bill signings/new laws
New Year Means New Laws In Michigan (WILX)
Drivers no longer need to keep a paper copy of their insurance in their glove box. If you get pulled over, you can just pull up your proof of insurance on your phone, or tablet. That new law goes into effect today. The legislation was signed into law by Governor Snyder back in October. He says the goal is to make life easier for Michigan residents and to modernize government.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Data shows even higher lead poisoning in kids in West Michigan than Flint (FOX 17)
The recent scandal over lead-poisoning in the water in Flint prompted many of our communities to take a closer look at the issue. According to recent data, West Michigan neighborhoods are home to even higher levels of lead poisoning in kids than Flint.

Steady decline in wetlands endangers Great Lakes (Michigan Radio)
In Michigan and across the country, wetlands are known as marshes, swamps, bogs, fens and pocosins.

Energy project to revive mature oil field, collect millions of barrels of oil (Gaylord Herald Times)
Action has picked up once again at a mature oil field in Bagley Township in an effort project leaders say will collect more than a million gallons of additional oil.

Brownfield funds available for Ontonagon (Mining Gazette)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) has grant funds available for brownfield projects, a topic which was discussed at a recent Ontonagon Village planning commission meeting.

Marathon refinery seeks OK to hike air pollutants (Detroit Free Press)
State environmental regulators are poised to allow the Marathon Detroit Refinery to increase emissions of at least eight air pollutants at its southwest side facility, further angering nearby residents who say they're already suffering by having to deal with the smell of sulfur that hangs in the air, while white and gray billows of smoke from the refinery's stacks provide a dreary visual backdrop for their forgotten neighborhoods.

DIFS
Community Shores bank consent under terminated by state and federal regulators and results of Community Shores Bank Corporation's successful rights offering and private placement (CNN Money)
Community Shores Bank Corporation (OTCBB: CSHB), Muskegon's only locally-headquartered independent community banking organization, reported that its wholly owned subsidiary, Community Shores Bank (the "Bank"), received formal notice on December 29, 2015, from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") and the Michigan Department of Insurance and Financial Services (DIFS) that the regulatory Consent Order entered into on September 2, 2010 has been terminated effective December 16, 2015.

DNR
Michigan Department of Natural Resources reminds hunters of open spring turkey-hunting (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources reminds hunters that the spring turkey-hunting application period is now open.

Tensions mount as Ann Arbor deer cull is set to begin (MLive)
With a deer cull starting in Ann Arbor parks as early as 4 p.m. Monday, city officials are giving no indication they plan to call off the sharpshooters as a group of residents now suing the city is asking.

Mild winter meaning less ice fishing (WSJM)
Mild weather the last few months means opportunities to ice fish in the Upper Peninsula are few and far between, however people are still fishing on lakes, ponds and rivers. George Madison, a fisheries manager with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, says they've seen an uptick in the number of people fishing from the shoreline or from boats.

MDOC

Michigan Department of Corrections want fewer drug offenders in prison (WEMU)
State corrections officials are preparing for a wave of drug offenders entering the system for getting caught with heroin and other narcotics.

MDOT

Fort Street Bridge near I-75 in Detroit reopens (Detroit Free Press)
A drawbridge near Interstate 75 in Detroit has reopened about a year after work on the span was originally scheduled for completion.

MEDC

Michigan weekend getaway website founded by Holland man (Holland Sentinel)
Michigan has so much to offer. But it's not always easy to find.What if there was a website that offered pre-packaged weekend getaways with a personal touch?

Michigan Angel fund closes six deals at end of 2015, invests $2.9 million in Michigan Startups (Business Wire)
The Michigan Angel Fund (MAF) closed 2015 with $2.91 million of investment, including six deals totaling $1,578,000 in the last quarter.

MSHDA

Low-income housing repair program ending in Kalkaska (AP)
Low-income residents in the northern Michigan community of Kalkaska will have to look elsewhere for support in fixing up dilapidated homes.

Kalkaska County Commissioners vote to dissolve county housing commission (9&10)
Kalkaska County residents in need of support for fixing up dilapidated homes will no longer be able to depend on the Kalkaska County housing commission to help cover costs.

Kalkaska ends housing repair loan program (Traverse City Record-Eagle)
Eleven low-income Kalkaska residents who applied for loans to fix their dilapidated homes will go without.

MSP

Michigan's Capitol buzzed by drone (Detroit News)
The restricted airspace around the State Capitol was buzzed Monday morning by a small drone surveying the statehouse's recently renovated exterior.

Police ask citizens to report unusual activity (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
With the country seemingly in a heightened state of alert, Michigan State Police are reminding local residents that they can play a critical role with the newly unveiled "If you see something, say something" campaign.

County Oks Flint's state of emergency declaration (Michigan Radio)
Flint's state of emergency declaration is on its way to the governor's office.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan taxpayers have spent more than $77,000 on the Courser-Gamrat scandal so far (MLive)
The Michigan House of Representatives spent $77,000 on legal services in the course of ousting former Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat, according to data obtained by liberal advocacy group Progress Michigan.

Harassment suit against lawmaker settled for under $12K (Detroit News)
The Michigan House of Representatives last fall quietly settled a sexual harassment lawsuit brought by a former aide against state Rep. Brian Banks for less than $12,000 — a fraction of the legal bill associated with the suit.

DETROIT

Detroit cops upset over plan to install time clocks (Detroit News)
Detroit police officers are bristling at a plan that will require them to punch time clocks at the beginning and end of their shifts.

DDOT drivers want city to reject expanded SMART service (Freep)
The union representing bus drivers in Detroit wants to stop a plan that would open key routes in the city for expanded service by the region's suburban bus system.

Approval for new bridge span could come in March (Freep)
The Coast Guard said Monday it could, by early March, finally award Manuel (Matty) Moroun and the owners of the Ambassador Bridge a permit to build a twin to the Detroit River span, though that project's future is in doubt with the Canadian government moving ahead with a rival bridge.

Detroit gets more time to decide on American Motors HQ (Detroit News)
The city of Detroit is getting more time to decide whether it wants to take control of the abandoned former American Motors Corp. headquarters site.

Marathon refinery seeks OK to hike air pollutants (Freep)
State environmental regulators are poised to allow the Marathon Detroit Refinery to increase emissions of at least eight air pollutants at its southwest side facility, further angering nearby residents who say they're already suffering by having to deal with the smell of sulfur that hangs in the air, while white and gray billows of smoke from the refinery's stacks provide a dreary visual backdrop for their forgotten neighborhoods.

OPINION

State apology, resignation over Flint water first step (Detroit Free Press)
In the quiet week between Christmas and New Year's Day, Michigan Department of Environmental Quality chief Dan Wyant resigned, followed quickly by department spokesman Brad Wurfel.

Editor's note: Daisy Elliot's legacy will endure (Detroit News)
Daisy Elliott, 98, died late last month, but her legacy lives on in the form of Michigan's civil rights law, which bears her name.

Editorial: Don't restrict gun rights by executive order (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama will begin his final year in office by testing how much power he can consolidate in the executive branch. The president met Monday with Attorney General Loretta Lynch to go over his plans for expanding the nation's gun control laws.

Owens: Abuse at root of election bill (Detroit News)
In classic fashion, school officials and local governments are blaming everyone but themselves for a bill that is sitting on Gov. Rick Snyder's desk awaiting his signature.

Steady decline in wetlands endangers Great Lakes (Michigan Radio)
In Michigan and across the country, wetlands are known as marshes, swamps, bogs, fens and pocosins.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, January 5, 2016
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Public Service Commission
Gov. Snyder elevates Talberg as chairwoman of Michigan Public Service Commission (AP)
Michigan Public Service Commission member Sally Talberg has been appointed chairwoman of the commission that regulates energy and telecommunications services. Gov. Rick Snyder announced the move Monday in concert with the announcement that Chairman John Quackenbush is leaving the commission, effective March 31. Quackenbush, of New Buffalo, intends to return to the private sector.

Williamston woman to head Public Service Commission (WILX)
Michigan Public Service Commission member Sally Talberg has been appointed chairwoman of the commission that regulates energy and telecommunications services.

Flint disaster declaration
Gov. Snyder must decide whether to declare disaster in Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Last week, Gov. Rick Snyder said he was sorry for Flint's lead in water crisis. Now, he must decide whether the situation amounts to a man-made disaster, created while the city was being run by emergency managers that he appointed.

Snyder weighs declaring water emergency in Flint (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder is considering whether to declare an emergency for Flint's contaminated water a week after apologizing to residents for the state's handling of Flint's water crisis. But Michigan faces hurdles to getting federal relief, including forgiveness for state loans to Flint involving drinking-water infrastructure improvements that are covered by federal rules.

County OKs Flint's state of emergency declaration (Michigan Radio)
Weaver is scheduled to sit down with Gov. Snyder on Thursday. It will be up to the governor to decide whether Flint's water problems can be submitted to the Obama administration for a federal disaster declaration.

Chief's next gig
Snyder chief of staff set to rejoin lobbying corps (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's outgoing Chief of Staff Dennis Muchmore is joining "the faculty" at Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn LLP later this month to help mentor young attorneys on how to navigate the arms of government and rejoin Lansing's lobbying corps.

Revolving door? Top Snyder aide to register as lobbyist (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder's departing Chief of Staff Dennis Muchmore said Monday he will register as a lobbyist in his new job as chairman of the government relations and regulatory practice group for the Detroit-based Honigman law firm, but he downplayed concerns about potential conflicts of interest or a "revolving door" between state government and the lobbying corps.

Snyder chief will join law firm after leaving state job (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder's chief of staff will lead a law firm's lobbying group after leaving state government. Dennis Muchmore will join Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn LLP on Feb. 1. His last day in Snyder's office is Jan. 20.

Bill signings/new laws
New Year Means New Laws In Michigan (WILX)
Drivers no longer need to keep a paper copy of their insurance in their glove box. If you get pulled over, you can just pull up your proof of insurance on your phone, or tablet. That new law goes into effect today. The legislation was signed into law by Governor Snyder back in October. He says the goal is to make life easier for Michigan residents and to modernize government.

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ
Data shows even higher lead poisoning in kids in West Michigan than Flint (FOX 17)
The recent scandal over lead-poisoning in the water in Flint prompted many of our communities to take a closer look at the issue. According to recent data, West Michigan neighborhoods are home to even higher levels of lead poisoning in kids than Flint.

Steady decline in wetlands endangers Great Lakes (Michigan Radio)
In Michigan and across the country, wetlands are known as marshes, swamps, bogs, fens and pocosins.

Energy project to revive mature oil field, collect millions of barrels of oil (Gaylord Herald Times)
Action has picked up once again at a mature oil field in Bagley Township in an effort project leaders say will collect more than a million gallons of additional oil.

Brownfield funds available for Ontonagon (Mining Gazette)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) has grant funds available for brownfield projects, a topic which was discussed at a recent Ontonagon Village planning commission meeting.

Marathon refinery seeks OK to hike air pollutants (Detroit Free Press)
State environmental regulators are poised to allow the Marathon Detroit Refinery to increase emissions of at least eight air pollutants at its southwest side facility, further angering nearby residents who say they're already suffering by having to deal with the smell of sulfur that hangs in the air, while white and gray billows of smoke from the refinery's stacks provide a dreary visual backdrop for their forgotten neighborhoods.

DIFS
Community Shores bank consent under terminated by state and federal regulators and results of Community Shores Bank Corporation's successful rights offering and private placement (CNN Money)
Community Shores Bank Corporation (OTCBB: CSHB), Muskegon's only locally-headquartered independent community banking organization, reported that its wholly owned subsidiary, Community Shores Bank (the "Bank"), received formal notice on December 29, 2015, from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") and the Michigan Department of Insurance and Financial Services (DIFS) that the regulatory Consent Order entered into on September 2, 2010 has been terminated effective December 16, 2015.

DNR
Michigan Department of Natural Resources reminds hunters of open spring turkey-hunting (Holland Sentinel)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources reminds hunters that the spring turkey-hunting application period is now open.

Tensions mount as Ann Arbor deer cull is set to begin (MLive)
With a deer cull starting in Ann Arbor parks as early as 4 p.m. Monday, city officials are giving no indication they plan to call off the sharpshooters as a group of residents now suing the city is asking.

Mild winter meaning less ice fishing (WSJM)
Mild weather the last few months means opportunities to ice fish in the Upper Peninsula are few and far between, however people are still fishing on lakes, ponds and rivers. George Madison, a fisheries manager with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, says they've seen an uptick in the number of people fishing from the shoreline or from boats.

MDOC
Michigan Department of Corrections want fewer drug offenders in prison (WEMU)
State corrections officials are preparing for a wave of drug offenders entering the system for getting caught with heroin and other narcotics.

MDOT
Fort Street Bridge near I-75 in Detroit reopens (Detroit Free Press)
A drawbridge near Interstate 75 in Detroit has reopened about a year after work on the span was originally scheduled for completion.

MEDC
Michigan weekend getaway website founded by Holland man (Holland Sentinel)
Michigan has so much to offer. But it's not always easy to find.What if there was a website that offered pre-packaged weekend getaways with a personal touch?

Michigan Angel fund closes six deals at end of 2015, invests $2.9 million in Michigan Startups (Business Wire)
The Michigan Angel Fund (MAF) closed 2015 with $2.91 million of investment, including six deals totaling $1,578,000 in the last quarter.

MSHDA
Low-income housing repair program ending in Kalkaska (AP)
Low-income residents in the northern Michigan community of Kalkaska will have to look elsewhere for support in fixing up dilapidated homes.

Kalkaska County Commissioners vote to dissolve county housing commission (9&10)
Kalkaska County residents in need of support for fixing up dilapidated homes will no longer be able to depend on the Kalkaska County housing commission to help cover costs.

Kalkaska ends housing repair loan program (Traverse City Record-Eagle)
Eleven low-income Kalkaska residents who applied for loans to fix their dilapidated homes will go without.

MSP
Michigan's Capitol buzzed by drone (Detroit News)
The restricted airspace around the State Capitol was buzzed Monday morning by a small drone surveying the statehouse's recently renovated exterior.

Police ask citizens to report unusual activity (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
With the country seemingly in a heightened state of alert, Michigan State Police are reminding local residents that they can play a critical role with the newly unveiled "If you see something, say something" campaign.

County Oks Flint's state of emergency declaration (Michigan Radio)
Flint's state of emergency declaration is on its way to the governor's office.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan taxpayers have spent more than $77,000 on the Courser-Gamrat scandal so far (MLive)
The Michigan House of Representatives spent $77,000 on legal services in the course of ousting former Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat, according to data obtained by liberal advocacy group Progress Michigan.

Harassment suit against lawmaker settled for under $12K (Detroit News)
The Michigan House of Representatives last fall quietly settled a sexual harassment lawsuit brought by a former aide against state Rep. Brian Banks for less than $12,000 — a fraction of the legal bill associated with the suit.

DETROIT

Detroit cops upset over plan to install time clocks (Detroit News)
Detroit police officers are bristling at a plan that will require them to punch time clocks at the beginning and end of their shifts.

DDOT drivers want city to reject expanded SMART service (Freep)
The union representing bus drivers in Detroit wants to stop a plan that would open key routes in the city for expanded service by the region's suburban bus system.

Approval for new bridge span could come in March (Freep)
The Coast Guard said Monday it could, by early March, finally award Manuel (Matty) Moroun and the owners of the Ambassador Bridge a permit to build a twin to the Detroit River span, though that project's future is in doubt with the Canadian government moving ahead with a rival bridge.

Detroit gets more time to decide on American Motors HQ (Detroit News)
The city of Detroit is getting more time to decide whether it wants to take control of the abandoned former American Motors Corp. headquarters site.

Marathon refinery seeks OK to hike air pollutants (Freep)
State environmental regulators are poised to allow the Marathon Detroit Refinery to increase emissions of at least eight air pollutants at its southwest side facility, further angering nearby residents who say they're already suffering by having to deal with the smell of sulfur that hangs in the air, while white and gray billows of smoke from the refinery's stacks provide a dreary visual backdrop for their forgotten neighborhoods.

OPINION

State apology, resignation over Flint water first step (Detroit Free Press)

In the quiet week between Christmas and New Year's Day, Michigan Department of Environmental Quality chief Dan Wyant resigned, followed quickly by department spokesman Brad Wurfel.

Editor's note: Daisy Elliot's legacy will endure (Detroit News)
Daisy Elliott, 98, died late last month, but her legacy lives on in the form of Michigan's civil rights law, which bears her name.

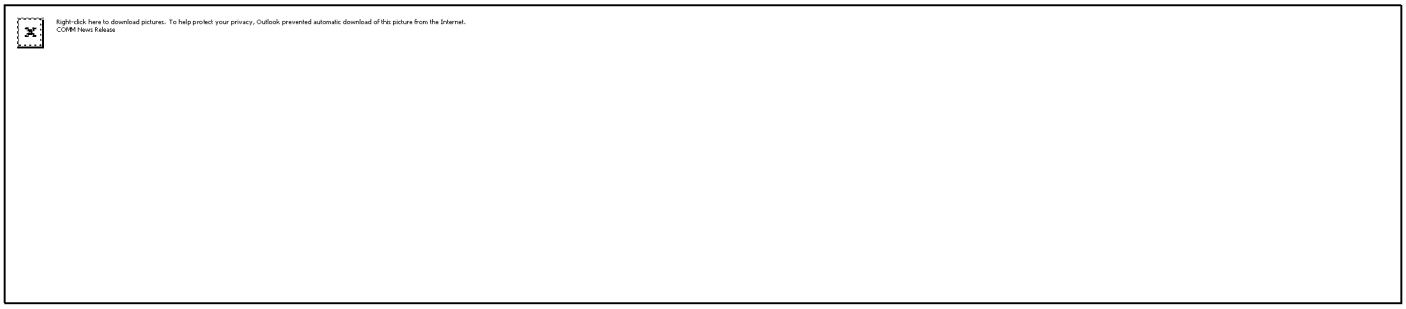
Editorial: Don't restrict gun rights by executive order (Detroit News)
President Barack Obama will begin his final year in office by testing how much power he can consolidate in the executive branch. The president met Monday with Attorney General Loretta Lynch to go over his plans for expanding the nation's gun control laws.

Owens: Abuse at root of election bill (Detroit News)
In classic fashion, school officials and local governments are blaming everyone but themselves for a bill that is sitting on Gov. Rick Snyder's desk awaiting his signature.

Steady decline in wetlands endangers Great Lakes (Michigan Radio)
In Michigan and across the country, wetlands are known as marshes, swamps, bogs, fens and pocosins.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, January 05, 2016 4:28 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Snyder declares emergency for Genesee County



Contacts: Dave Murray, Laura Biehl, or Anna Heaton

517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Tuesday, Jan. 5, 2016

Editor's note: A copy of the official declaration is available at the link below.

Gov. Snyder declares emergency for Genesee County

State Emergency Operations Center activated to assist with relief efforts

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today declared a state of emergency for Genesee County due to the ongoing health and safety issues caused by lead in the city of Flint's drinking water.

By declaring a state of emergency, Snyder has made available all state resources in cooperation with local response and recovery operations. The declaration authorizes the Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division (MSP/EMHSD) to coordinate state efforts.

"The health and welfare of Flint residents is a top priority and we're committed to a coordinated approach with resources from state agencies to address all aspects of this situation," Snyder said. "Working in full partnership with the Flint Water Advisory Task Force, all levels of government and water quality experts, we will find both short-term and long-term solutions to ensure the health and safety of Flint residents."

In addition to the emergency declaration, Snyder activated the State Emergency

Operations Center to coordinate state response and recovery activities. State agencies will report to the center to coordinate resources, assess the situation and begin providing assets to assist with local relief operations.

“Our staff recognizes the urgency of this situation and is already working closely with local officials,” said Capt. Chris A. Kelenske, Deputy State Director of Emergency Management and Homeland Security and commander of the MSP/EMHSD. “We will continue to collaborate with state, city and county leaders to coordinate relief efforts, streamline communication and use all available resources to help residents.”

On Jan. 4, Genesee County declared a “local state of emergency,” which activated local emergency response and recovery plans. By requesting a governor’s declaration, the county has determined local resources are insufficient to address the situation and state assistance is required to protect public health, safety and property to lessen or avert the threat of a crisis.

The city of Flint has been under a local emergency declaration since Dec. 14, 2015.

The SEOC is the emergency operations center for the state of Michigan. Located in Lansing, the center is overseen by the MSP/EMHSD and coordinates response and recovery efforts by state agencies and local government. The SEOC is staffed by members of state agencies and other partners for decision making and information coordination during disasters or emergencies in the state of Michigan.

#

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to leedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Saturday, April 13, 2013 3:58 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

News 8 new results for state of Michigan

US grants permit to build 2nd Detroit-Canada bridge
USA TODAY
WASHINGTON — The U.S. State Department announced its issuance of a presidential permit to the state of Michigan for the New International Trade Crossing between Detroit and Windsor, Ontario, moving the project an important step closer to completion.
See all stories on this topic »

US State Department Gives Michigan Permission for Bridge to Canada
Yahoo! News
The U.S. State Department gave the state of Michigan permission to begin construction on a new bridge to Canada on Thursday. The department must approve all international bridge-building projects before they can move forward, as noted by Michigan **...
See all stories on this topic »

Michigan OKs Flint plan to secede from Detroit water system
The Detroit News
The state of Michigan has approved Flint's plans to get its water by participating in a pipeline project that would tap Lake Huron. The approval is subject to review of a final offer from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department by Monday. State **...
See all stories on this topic »

Obama administration grants state permit for bridge to Canada
UpNorthLive.com
WASHINGTON -- Michigan has won approval from the Obama administration to build a second bridge between Detroit and Windsor, Ontario. A presidential permit awarded Friday by the U.S. Department of State allows Michigan and Canada to move forward **...
See all stories on this topic »

ESPN's Jay Bilas ranks MSU hoops third, UM ninth entering next season
The Detroit News
Jay Bilas isn't expecting much falloff for Michigan State and Michigan next season. The ESPN college basketball analyst lists Michigan State and Michigan among his top 10 teams entering next season. Bilas has the Spartans at No. 3, behind Kentucky and **...
See all stories on this topic »

Michigan State giving Riley Bullough a shot at running back
Detroit Free Press
EAST LANSING – Riley Bullough has a different perspective on big brother Max – from backing him up at middle linebacker to running right at him. Bullough is the first man up in Mark Dantonio's quest to switch some players around and find a running back.
See all stories on this topic »

Michigan approves Flint bypass of Detroit water
The Detroit News
The state of Michigan on Friday approved Flint's participation in the project. The approval is subject to review — by Monday — of a final offer from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department. State Treasurer Andy Dillon told Flint's state-appointed **...
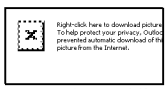
See all stories on this topic »

Obama Administration Approves New International Bridge For Detroit
Interlochen Public Radio
A presidential permit will allow the state of Michigan to wrap up a deal with Canada to build a new international



Interlochen Public

bridge connecting Detroit and Windsor-Ontario. The new bridge could be operating by the end of the decade. Governor Rick Snyder has been ... Radio

See all stories on this topic »

Tip: Use site restrict in your query to search within a site (site:nytimes.com or site:.edu). Learn more.

Delete this alert.
Create another alert.
Manage your alerts.

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Wednesday, July 16, 2014 3:00 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - July 16, 2014

NEWS

State official says report misstates Michigan's approach to Rainy Day Fund

Detroit Free Press

LANSING — A national report released today by the Pew Charitable Trusts gives Michigan credit as one of only 12 states that use growth data to ...

Flag as irrelevant

Jordan Plans To Visit Ohio State And Michigan

ohiostate.247sports.com

Jordan worked out at camps at Michigan, Ohio State and Michigan State in June. He was offered a scholarship at the Wolverines' camp. The coaching ...

Flag as irrelevant

Celebrate Michigan's Craft Beer Month with a few of the states's brews, upcoming events

The Elkhart Truth

Michigan didn't get its nickname, "The Great Beer State," by accident. The state is ranked fifth in the nation in total number of breweries, and it has an ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State Rose Bowl hero Kyler Elsworth signs with CFL's Montreal Alouettes, discusses ...

MLive.com

EAST LANSING — Michigan State Rose Bowl defensive MVP Kyler Elsworth has found a new home field with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian ...

Flag as irrelevant

Transfers, freshmen should make Michigan State formidable in future

USA TODAY

DIMONDALE — The transfer who might play right away might bebetter off sitting out a year. The one who will sit for sure is happy about it, but there's ...

Flag as irrelevant

Five key points in Flint emergency manager's new report to the state of Michigan

The Flint Journal

FLINT, MI -- The city's emergency manager has updated the state on Flint's financial condition and many other key issues in a new report that ...

Flag as irrelevant

High school coach: Michigan State recruit Larry Scott runs like Adrian Peterson

Detroit Free Press

It's a little too early to suggest Michigan State running back commit Larry Scott will be the next Adrian Peterson. But his high school coach, Brian ...

Flag as irrelevant

Federal appeals court dismisses five-state Asian carp lawsuit

JURIST

The court found that the "States have not alleged facts showing that the ... In December 2009 the state of Michigan filed a lawsuit [JURIST report] in the ...

Flag as irrelevant

Metro+state: Mak Van Ameyde named new Eastern Michigan baseball coach

Detroit Free Press

Van Ameyde returns to Ypsilanti after spending the past six seasons at Michigan State as a pitching coach before being promoted to associate head ...

Flag as irrelevant

Defensive battles highlight Michigan State's football camp

The Detroit News

Sophomore Darian Hicks is the favorite to replace Darqueze Dennard at one cornerback spot for Michigan State. (Dale G. Young / Detroit News).

Flag as irrelevant

Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.
Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Monday, September 28, 2015 3:03 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update · September 28, 2015

NEWS

Western Michigan's P.J. Fleck says Broncos 'beat ourselves' in Ohio State loss, sees improvement

MLive.com

Ohio State running back Curtis Samuel breaks through the line of scrimmage to score a touchdown against Western Michigan during the fourth quarter ...

Flag as irrelevant

Numbers: Big plays continue to hurt Michigan State on defense

MLive.com

Air ForceaEUs running back Benton Washington (24) tries to escape a tackle during their game against Michigan State at Spartan Stadium in East ...

College Football Power Rankings: Utah moves; Florida, Michigan enter - CBSSports.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

State data confirms higher blood-lead levels in Flint kids

Detroit Free Press

Data that the State of Michigan released last week to refute a hospital researcher's claim that an increasing number of Flint children have been ...

Clean Water Rule needs protection for Michigan rivers' sake - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Mark Dantonio: Michigan State's Montae Nicholson 'needed to play better' vs. Central Michigan

MLive.com

Oregon wide receiver Charles Nelson (6) tries to avoid being tackled by Michigan State safety Montae Nicholson (9) in the first quarter of their college ...

MSU's Dantonio provides no Conklin (leg) update - Detroit Free Press

Michigan State 24-point favorite over traditionally tough foe Purdue - MLive.com

Purdue Boilermakers vs Michigan State Spartans Game Odds - Get More Sports (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Ohio State vs. Western Michigan | Three points

Columbus Dispatch

Ohio State quarterback Cardale Jones knows that if he hadn't tried to be so fine on a couple of deep passes that his star would have been even ...

Flag as irrelevant

Hype machine revs up for Michigan after first big win

ESPN (blog)

The state of Utah, of all places, played a large role in that. ... don't mind that Michigan State's signature win of the year dropped in significance.

AP top-25 ballot moves: Utah rises, Michigan soars, Ohio State slips and Oregon tumbles - San Jose Mercury News (blog)

3 UM O's with Drew Sharp: Win could benefit MSU, too - Detroit Free Press

Michigan enters AP Top 25, Michigan State remains No. 2 - WXYZ

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Ohio State vs. Western Michigan | What the Buckeyes had to say

Columbus Dispatch

"We had to come back and we all had to get engaged with each other all over again. We practiced hard for the last four weeks and this week it really ...

Ohio State could face its toughest end to regular season as Michigan begins to rise - cleveland.com

Offense regains form in Ohio State's 38-12 win over Western Michigan - OSU - The Lantern

Ohio State vs. Western Michigan postgame notes - Columbus Dispatch

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Top of Michigan's ticket in 2018 could be all female

Lansing State Journal

But 2018 in Michigan could break even more glass ceilings. ... think about where we're going as a state, and look at my kids and the future of Michigan ...

Top of Michigan's '18 ticket could be historic first: All female - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

MSU's Calhoun is B1G co-defensive player of week

Detroit Free Press

The Big Ten weekly accolades are rolling in for Michigan State, after the Spartans were shut out all of last season. Senior defensive end Shilique ...

Flag as irrelevant

West Michigan designers promote state as hub for innovation and design

MiBiz

Companies who get their products produced in Michigan only use a portion of the state's highly skilled advanced manufacturing resources. That's the ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Friday, October 02, 2015 9:03 AM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state budget+Michigan

state budget+Michigan

Daily update - October 2, 2015

NEWS

Budget bill add-on awaits future state funds for Flint water

MLive.com

FLINT, MI -- A funding mechanism aimed at the state paying for measures to reduce lead levels in Flint's drinking water has been added to a budget ...

Flag as irrelevant

Purdue-Michigan State Preview Capsule

abc27

Michigan State's offense line vs. Purdue's defensive front. The Spartans came into the season believing their offensive line would be a strength, and ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan road trips: fall travel savings

WDIV Detroit

"What I like about Michigan is it is more budget-friendly than some of the ... Finally, you can use a state website to find where the best fall colors are ...

Flag as irrelevant

'Looming budgetary pressures' add difficulty to Michigan road funding plan

Greenville Daily News

'Looming budgetary pressures' add difficulty to Michigan road funding plan ... an effective roads funding plan within the means of the state budget.

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan Senate approves $7.7 million for settlement after fatal crash involving state trooper

The Republic

The Senate voted 30-5 Thursday to amend the budget to authorize the ... State police spokeswoman Shanon Banner says while the settlement doesn't ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

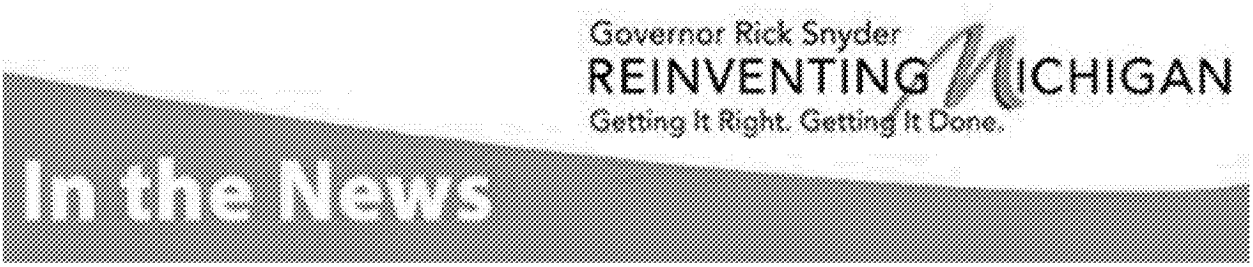
You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, April 28, 2015 9:34 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 4/28 NEWSROOM
Attachments: 150428 NEWSROOM.docx



Tuesday, April 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Telling Michigan's Story/2016 Speculation

Michigan Governor Rick Snyder Coy on Possible Presidential Bid (The Street.com)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder shied away from answering whether he'll throw his hat into the ring for the Republican presidential nomination but he was eager to tout his accomplishments since taking office. Whether or not he chooses to run, Snyder said Washington needs some new blood. 'Lets not have someone who is going to follow the same model of being a traditional politician. We have real problems.

Gov. Rick Snyder 'looking at' throwing hat in 2016 ring (Fox Business)
Gov. Rick Snyder, (R-Mich.), discusses how to move the needle on growth and the 2016 race.

Rick Snyder Tempers Talk of 2016 Presidential Run (Bloomberg News)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder said Monday he is not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination—not yet, at least. "It's something that I'm watching," Snyder said on Bloomberg Television After Snyder attended a Republican Jewish Coalition event in Las Vegas on Friday with other likely and declared candidates, former Senator Norm Coleman told reporters, "He's running." Snyder spokesman Jarrod Agen denied that Snyder had made a decision on the race, according to MLive.com.

Snyder to decide on presidential run in next few months (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said Monday he plans to decide whether to run for president "in the next couple of months or so." Snyder is in California to speak at a conference about Detroit's turnaround and emergence from bankruptcy and gave a round of cable news interviews.

Pandas

Gov. Snyder says 'no' to bringing in pandas after cost analysis (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder is saying 'no,' to bringing two giant pandas to Detroit. He brought up the idea in December of 2013, saying he wanted them in Detroit to help raise money and attention for the city. However, after investigation and analysis, it turns out it would be too expensive to bring the pandas in right now.

Roads

Only 1 in 5 expected to vote on Michigan roads, sales tax (Freep)

An elections expert is projecting that 1.5 million Michigan voters will turn out for the May 5 road funding special election on Proposal 1. That's less than the 2.4 million in Michigan who voted in the Proposal A special election of 1994, but higher than some analysts have predicted.

Last-ditch campaigns rev up in Prop 1 campaign (Detroit News)

Supporters of Proposal 1 plan to launch a three-day, nine-city bus tour Thursday in a last-ditch effort to convince voters to approve a nearly 17 percent increase in the state sales tax rate. With one week until the special statewide election next Tuesday, the Safe Roads Yes ballot campaign is deploying teams of volunteers to call voters and track down unreturned absentee ballots over the proposed constitutional amendment linked to boosting road funding $1.2 billion annually. The campaign wouldn't divulge who will be on the bus.

Prop flop? Startling results among Michigan lawmakers after survey on Proposal 1 (WXYZ)

The huge Proposal 1 decision is coming quickly! Dozens of state lawmakers who pushed the red hot issue to the voters, are not saying how they would vote. Is it because they are afraid of attaching themselves to a huge tax increase and are already hearing from angry voters in their own district?

Energy

New executive order moves to improve Michigan's energy future (Mlive)

The success of Michigan's energy future hinges on reliability, sustainability, and adaptability, Governor Snyder's senior policy advisor on energy Valerie Brader tells Kirk Heinze on Greening of the Great Lakes. A new policy directive, formally referred to as Executive Order 2015-10 created the Michigan Agency for Energy, which will be led by Brader, the soon-to-be executive director.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Thousands in pink raise money to battle breast cancer (Detroit News)

Over 2,600 participants walked the Detroit Zoo Saturday morning for 'A Walk at the Zoo,' which raised $276,000 to reduce the financial strain of everyday expenses for women battling breast cancer.

DEPARTMENTS

AG

SCOTUS to hear challenge to Michigan same-sex marriage ban (Michigan Radio)

Crowds gathered as the US Supreme Court prepared to arguments on whether same-sex marriage bans like Michigan's violate the Constitution.

Anticipation building to Supreme Court hearing on same-sex marriage bans (FOX 17)

On Tuesday, the United States Supreme Court will hear oral arguments on the legality of same-sex marriage stemming from cases in four different states, including Michigan.

US Supreme Court to hear Michigan gay marriage case (Metro Times)

A Hazel Park couple's three-year court fight to win the right to marry will culminate Tuesday at the U.S. Supreme Court.

DeBoer on marriage case: It's starting to get real (Detroit News)

It was a near-miss vehicle accident on a two-lane country road four years ago that brought Michigan into the landmark same-sex case set for historic arguments before the nation's highest court Tuesday.

Gay marriage case reunites Michigan opponents (Detroit Free Press)

'Red Sign Lady' and a U-M student -- both spurred to action by gay marriage debate -- square off again, this time in Washington.

Same sex marriage supporters gather at Michigan Capitol (Detroit Free Press)

Shirley Hanna of East Lansing had a simple message Monday evening that needed few words.

Love must win: Gay marriage supporters rally at Michigan Capitol on eve of Supreme Court hearing (MLive)
Gay couples and straight supporters rallied outside the Michigan Capitol on Monday night, hours before a challenge to the state's same-sex marriage ban goes before the nation's highest court.

Supreme Court, I'm tired of being only sort of married (Detroit Free Press)
When it comes to marriage, my legal status is murky. Before I married another woman in New York in 2013, I was clearly a "single woman" who happened to want to have the right to marry another woman, but I was not "married." For two years now, I've been married -- well, sort-of married or sometimes married

DNR
More than 600 trash piles found on public land across Michigan (MLive)
As spring unfolds and the snow clears, Michigan Department of Natural Resources staff are looking for volunteers to help clear away piles of trash that have been dumped on public land in more than 650 places across the state.

Wildfire during Camp Grayling training exercise burns 700 acres (DVIDS)
Pyrotechnics used during a training event on Camp Grayling Joint Maneuver Training Center sparked a small wildfire that burned 700 acres of the 5,261-acre Multi-Purpose Range Complex, April 25, 2015.

DNR wants volunteers to help clean up trash (WDET)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is looking for volunteers to help pick up illegally dumped trash.

MDCR
Anti-bullying Relentless Tour to visit Bronxville (Bronxville Daily Voice)
The Michigan Department of Civil Rights and the Autism Alliance of Michigan announced the Relentless Tour – a first-of-its-kind anti-bullying initiative – will visit Bronxville, Eastchester and Scarsdale on April 28-30.

MDOT
Statewide constitutional amendment proposal to appear on May 5 ballot (The Voice)
A statewide ballot proposal will appear on the May 5 special election ballot. Proposal 15-1 will simply require a yes or no from voting citizens. Coming to a decision on the issue before casting your vote won't be so easy. There are 121,738 residents registered to do their civic duty in St. Clair County, according to the secretary of state's office.
Proposal 1: how bad are our roads? (WZZM)

Detroit-area transit agencies consider single fare card (Detroit Free Press)
Imagine grabbing a DDOT or SMART bus and paying with a plastic card that you just used to ride the People Mover and M-1 Rail.

MEDC
Detroit Red Wings arena project price likely to go well beyond $650 million (MLive)
Developers driving the Detroit Red Wings arena and entertainment development project now under construction in the city's core have frequently cited a $650 million total cost.
State, local partners host real estate matchmaking event in Ypsilanti (Ypsilanti Courier)
Twenty-four local and regional investors and developers attended a recent real estate matchmaking event in Ypsilanti.

MPSC
Michigan regulators approve We Energies-Integrys merger (Utility Drive)
The Michigan Public Service Commission last week authorized Integrys Energy Group and Wisconsin Energy Corp. to move ahead with their $9.1 billion merger.

Wisconsin Energy-Integrys acquisition receives one more regulatory approval (Fierce Energy)
The Integrys Energy Group, Inc. acquisition by Wisconsin Energy Corp. passed another approval with the go-ahead by the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC). We Energies is a subsidiary of Wisconsin Energy Corp.

MSP

Ferndale drops proposal to make drone flying a crime (Detroit Free Press)
Ferndale officials passed up the chance Monday night to keep hobbyists, professional photographers and at least one chimney sweep from flying drones in the city.

Detroit suburb to consider banning drones (Michigan Radio)
The City Council of Ferndale will discuss an ordinance tonight that would ban drones from the Detroit suburb's airspace. The proposed ban would not apply to law enforcement, and people would be able to fly drones over their own property.

Proposed Flint budget would leave water rate unchanged, add 10 part-time cops (MLive)
Water and sewer rates would remain unchanged and 10 part-time police officers would be hired in a proposed Flint budget unveiled Monday, April 27.

DETROIT

Evans offers 'recovery plan' to save $230M over 4 years (Detroit News)
Battle lines were drawn Monday as Wayne County Executive Warren Evans rolled out a "recovery plan" to fix the county's finances by cutting $230 million over four years — a proposal a key union leader called "essentially a nonstarter."

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

No-fault auto insurance reform gets growing opposition (Freep)
As the Michigan House of Representatives prepares to vote on a bill, perhaps later this week, that would make major changes to Michigan's no-fault auto insurance system, opposition to the proposal is ramping up.

Religious freedom up for debate in Senate committee (LSJ)
Despite Gov. Rick Snyder's promise to veto a religious freedom bill if it reaches his desk, the state Senate Judiciary committee will consider such a bill on Tuesday.

Prop flop? Startling results among Michigan lawmakers after survey on Proposal 1 (WXYZ)
The huge Proposal 1 decision is coming quickly! Dozens of state lawmakers who pushed the red hot issue to the voters, are not saying how they would vote.

Dems pledge uphill fight against new Senate offices (Detroit News)
House Democrats said Monday they will attempt to block state spending on a move to new offices planned by the 38-member Michigan Senate, calling it a $134-million boondoggle.

OPINION/EDITORIAL

Couple forged unlikely path to high court center stage (Detroit Free Press)
They never sought to make headlines, much less history.

Why Michigan's same-sex marriage ban is doomed (Detroit Free Press)
This Tuesday, for the second time in as many years, the U.S. Supreme Court will take up the contentious issue of same-sex marriage.

Susan J. Demas: From RFRA to gay adoption bills, Michigan GOP shows jobs aren't a top priority (MLive)
When most Michigan voters went to the polls last November, their top priority was jobs.
Chang: Why homeschool reform is necessary (Detroit News)
Most students in homeschool environments do well.Most.

Gillard: Pass Prop 1, for the children (Detroit News)
While much attention around Proposition 1 has been focused on roads and transportation safety, we've been looking at the prospects of a "yes" vote on the May 5 ballot proposal through the eyes of children and families.

Editorial: Make regional cooperation work (Detroit News)
Gary Brown, Detroit's group executive for operations, has called for more regional cooperation. He points to past successes such as the Detroit Zoo and Detroit Institute of Art millages and says future joint ventures can move the city and the suburbs forward.

Gay marriage case opens in High Court (Detroit News)
Two Michigan nurses challenging the state's gay-marriage ban before the U.S. Supreme Court on Tuesday hold some of the most sympathetic and compelling arguments that will be presented in front of the nine justices, legal experts say.

Editor's Note: Senators wasting time on RFRA (Detroit News)
The same day Michigan defends its gay marriage ban before the U.S. Supreme Court, state senators are holding a hearing on a bill that would put in place a Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

###

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, April 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Telling Michigan's Story/2016 Speculation

Michigan Governor Rick Snyder Coy on Possible Presidential Bid (The Street.com)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder shied away from answering whether he'll throw his hat into the ring for the Republican presidential nomination but he was eager to tout his accomplishments since taking office. Whether or not he chooses to run, Snyder said Washington needs some new blood. 'Lets not have someone who is going to follow the same model of being a traditional politician. We have real problems.

Gov. Rick Snyder 'looking at' throwing hat in 2016 ring (Fox Business)
Gov. Rick Snyder, (R-Mich.), discusses how to move the needle on growth and the 2016 race.

Rick Snyder Tempers Talk of 2016 Presidential Run (Bloomberg News)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder said Monday he is not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination—not yet, at least. "It's something that I'm watching," Snyder said on Bloomberg Television After Snyder attended a Republican Jewish Coalition event in Las Vegas on Friday with other likely and declared candidates, former Senator Norm Coleman told reporters, "He's running." Snyder spokesman Jarrod Agen denied that Snyder had made a decision on the race, according to MLive.com.

Snyder to decide on presidential run in next few months (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said Monday he plans to decide whether to run for president "in the next couple of months or so." Snyder is in California to speak at a conference about Detroit's turnaround and emergence from bankruptcy and gave a round of cable news interviews.

Pandas

Gov. Snyder says 'no' to bringing in pandas after cost analysis (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder is saying 'no,' to bringing two giant pandas to Detroit. He brought up the idea in December of 2013, saying he wanted them in Detroit to help raise money and attention for the city. However, after investigation and analysis, it turns out it would be too expensive to bring the pandas in right now.

Roads

Only 1 in 5 expected to vote on Michigan roads, sales tax (Freep)
An elections expert is projecting that 1.5 million Michigan voters will turn out for the May 5 road funding special election on Proposal 1. That's less than the 2.4 million in Michigan who voted in the Proposal A special election of 1994, but higher than some analysts have predicted.

Last-ditch campaigns rev up in Prop 1 campaign (Detroit News)
Supporters of Proposal 1 plan to launch a three-day, nine-city bus tour Thursday in a last-ditch effort to convince voters to approve a nearly 17 percent increase in the state sales tax rate. With one week until the special statewide election next Tuesday, the Safe Roads Yes ballot campaign is deploying teams of volunteers to call voters and track down unreturned absentee ballots over the proposed constitutional amendment linked to boosting road funding $1.2 billion annually. The campaign wouldn't divulge who will be on the bus.

Prop flop? Startling results among Michigan lawmakers after survey on Proposal 1 (WXYZ)
The huge Proposal 1 decision is coming quickly! Dozens of state lawmakers who pushed the red hot issue to the voters, are not saying how they would vote. Is it because they are afraid of attaching themselves to a huge tax increase and are already hearing from angry voters in their own district?

Energy
New executive order moves to improve Michigan's energy future (Mlive)
The success of Michigan's energy future hinges on reliability, sustainability, and adaptability, Governor Snyder's senior policy advisor on energy Valerie Brader tells Kirk Heinze on Greening of the Great Lakes. A new policy directive, formally referred to as Executive Order 2015-10 created the Michigan Agency for Energy, which will be led by Brader, the soon-to-be executive director.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES
Thousands in pink raise money to battle breast cancer (Detroit News)
Over 2,600 participants walked the Detroit Zoo Saturday morning for 'A Walk at the Zoo,' which raised $276,000 to reduce the financial strain of everyday expenses for women battling breast cancer.

DEPARTMENTS
AG
SCOTUS to hear challenge to Michigan same-sex marriage ban (Michigan Radio)
Crowds gathered as the US Supreme Court prepared to arguments on whether same-sex marriage bans like Michigan's violate the Constitution.

Anticipation building to Supreme Court hearing on same-sex marriage bans (FOX 17)
On Tuesday, the United States Supreme Court will hear oral arguments on the legality of same-sex marriage stemming from cases in four different states, including Michigan.

US Supreme Court to hear Michigan gay marriage case (Metro Times)
A Hazel Park couple's three-year court fight to win the right to marry will culminate Tuesday at the U.S. Supreme Court.

DeBoer on marriage case: It's starting to get real (Detroit News)
It was a near-miss vehicle accident on a two-lane country road four years ago that brought Michigan into the landmark same-sex case set for historic arguments before the nation's highest court Tuesday.

Gay marriage case reunites Michigan opponents (Detroit Free Press)
'Red Sign Lady' and a U-M student -- both spurred to action by gay marriage debate -- square off again, this time in Washington.

Same sex marriage supporters gather at Michigan Capitol (Detroit Free Press)
Shirley Hanna of East Lansing had a simple message Monday evening that needed few words.

Love must win: Gay marriage supporters rally at Michigan Capitol on eve of Supreme Court hearing (MLive)
Gay couples and straight supporters rallied outside the Michigan Capitol on Monday night, hours before a challenge to the state's same-sex marriage ban goes before the nation's highest court.

Supreme Court, I'm tired of being only sort of married (Detroit Free Press)
When it comes to marriage, my legal status is murky. Before I married another woman in New York in 2013, I was clearly a "single woman" who happened to want to have the right to marry another woman, but I was not "married." For two years now, I've been married -- well, sort-of married or sometimes married

DNR
More than 600 trash piles found on public land across Michigan (MLive)
As spring unfolds and the snow clears, Michigan Department of Natural Resources staff are looking for volunteers to help clear away piles of trash that have been dumped on public land in more than 650 places across the state.

Wildfire during Camp Grayling training exercise burns 700 acres (DVIDS)
Pyrotechnics used during a training event on Camp Grayling Joint Maneuver Training Center sparked a small wildfire that burned 700 acres of the 5,261-acre Multi-Purpose Range Complex, April 25, 2015.

DNR wants volunteers to help clean up trash (WDET)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is looking for volunteers to help pick up illegally dumped trash.

MDCR
Anti-bullying Relentless Tour to visit Bronxville (Bronxville Daily Voice)
The Michigan Department of Civil Rights and the Autism Alliance of Michigan announced the Relentless Tour – a first-of-its-kind anti-bullying initiative – will visit Bronxville, Eastchester and Scarsdale on April 28-30.

MDOT
Statewide constitutional amendment proposal to appear on May 5 ballot (The Voice)
A statewide ballot proposal will appear on the May 5 special election ballot. Proposal 15-1 will simply require a yes or no from voting citizens. Coming to a decision on the issue before casting your vote won't be so easy. There are 121,738 residents registered to do their civic duty in St. Clair County, according to the secretary of state's office.
Proposal 1: how bad are our roads? (WZZM)

Detroit-area transit agencies consider single fare card (Detroit Free Press)
Imagine grabbing a DDOT or SMART bus and paying with a plastic card that you just used to ride the People Mover and M-1 Rail.

MEDC
Detroit Red Wings arena project price likely to go well beyond $650 million (MLive)
Developers driving the Detroit Red Wings arena and entertainment development project now under construction in the city's core have frequently cited a $650 million total cost.
State, local partners host real estate matchmaking event in Ypsilanti (Ypsilanti Courier)
Twenty-four local and regional investors and developers attended a recent real estate matchmaking event in Ypsilanti.

MPSC
Michigan regulators approve We Energies-Integrys merger (Utility Drive)
The Michigan Public Service Commission last week authorized Integrys Energy Group and Wisconsin Energy Corp. to move ahead with their $9.1 billion merger.

Wisconsin Energy-Integrys acquisition receives one more regulatory approval (Fierce Energy)
The Integrys Energy Group, Inc. acquisition by Wisconsin Energy Corp. passed another approval with the go-ahead by the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC). We Energies is a subsidiary of Wisconsin Energy Corp.
MSP
Ferndale drops proposal to make drone flying a crime (Detroit Free Press)
Ferndale officials passed up the chance Monday night to keep hobbyists, professional photographers and at least one chimney sweep from flying drones in the city.

Detroit suburb to consider banning drones (Michigan Radio)
The City Council of Ferndale will discuss an ordinance tonight that would ban drones from the Detroit suburb's airspace. The proposed ban would not apply to law enforcement, and people would be able to fly drones over their own property.
Proposed Flint budget would leave water rate unchanged, add 10 part-time cops (MLive)
Water and sewer rates would remain unchanged and 10 part-time police officers would be hired in a proposed Flint budget unveiled Monday, April 27.

DETROIT
Evans offers 'recovery plan' to save $230M over 4 years (Detroit News)
Battle lines were drawn Monday as Wayne County Executive Warren Evans rolled out a "recovery plan" to fix the county's finances by cutting $230 million over four years — a proposal a key union leader called "essentially a nonstarter."

LEGISLATIVE NEWS
No-fault auto insurance reform gets growing opposition (Freep)
As the Michigan House of Representatives prepares to vote on a bill, perhaps later this week, that would make major changes to Michigan's no-fault auto insurance system, opposition to the proposal is ramping up.

Religious freedom up for debate in Senate committee (LSJ)
Despite Gov. Rick Snyder's promise to veto a religious freedom bill if it reaches his desk, the state Senate Judiciary committee will consider such a bill on Tuesday.

Prop flop? Startling results among Michigan lawmakers after survey on Proposal 1 (WXYZ)
The huge Proposal 1 decision is coming quickly! Dozens of state lawmakers who pushed the red hot issue to the voters, are not saying how they would vote.

Dems pledge uphill fight against new Senate offices (Detroit News)
House Democrats said Monday they will attempt to block state spending on a move to new offices planned by the 38-member Michigan Senate, calling it a $134-million boondoggle.

OPINION/EDITORIAL
Couple forged unlikely path to high court center stage (Detroit Free Press)
They never sought to make headlines, much less history.

Why Michigan's same-sex marriage ban is doomed (Detroit Free Press)

This Tuesday, for the second time in as many years, the U.S. Supreme Court will take up the contentious issue of same-sex marriage.

Susan J. Demas: From RFRA to gay adoption bills, Michigan GOP shows jobs aren't a top priority (MLive)
When most Michigan voters went to the polls last November, their top priority was jobs.
Chang: Why homeschool reform is necessary (Detroit News)
Most students in homeschool environments do well.Most.

Gillard: Pass Prop 1, for the children (Detroit News)
While much attention around Proposition 1 has been focused on roads and transportation safety, we've been looking at the prospects of a "yes" vote on the May 5 ballot proposal through the eyes of children and families.

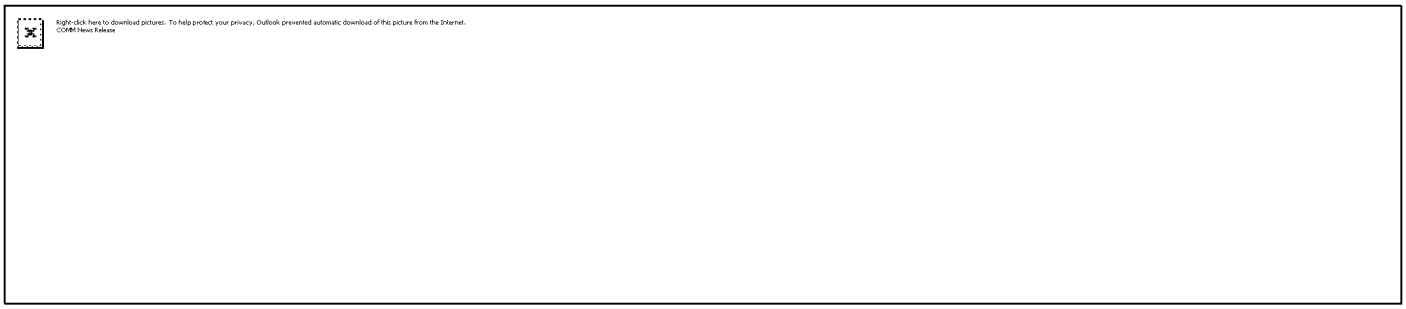
Editorial: Make regional cooperation work (Detroit News)
Gary Brown, Detroit's group executive for operations, has called for more regional cooperation. He points to past successes such as the Detroit Zoo and Detroit Institute of Art millages and says future joint ventures can move the city and the suburbs forward.

Gay marriage case opens in High Court (Detroit News)
Two Michigan nurses challenging the state's gay-marriage ban before the U.S. Supreme Court on Tuesday hold some of the most sympathetic and compelling arguments that will be presented in front of the nine justices, legal experts say.

Editor's Note: Senators wasting time on RFRA (Detroit News)
The same day Michigan defends its gay marriage ban before the U.S. Supreme Court, state senators are holding a hearing on a bill that would put in place a Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

###

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, April 29, 2015 2:19 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder: City of Flint ready to move forward as financial emergency resolved



Contacts:
Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray , Governor's Office
517-335-6397

Terry Stanton, Department of Treasury
517-335-2167

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Wednesday, April 29, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder: City of Flint ready to move forward as financial emergency resolved

Transition advisory board of city leaders to help with financial stability

LANSING, Mich. –The financial emergency in the city of Flint has been resolved and a Receivership Transition Advisory Board has been appointed to ensure a smooth transition to local control and continued financial stability for the city, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

"I was pleased to receive and accept Jerry Ambrose's recommendation that the financial emergency in Flint has been sufficiently addressed," Snyder said. "This is a new day for Flint and the city is ready to move toward a brighter future. These are important steps as we work together to transition back to local control in the city."

Snyder said Ambrose, and those who preceded him, worked diligently to finalize several critical reforms in the city, so it can return to local control. The Receivership Transition Advisory Board appointed today will work closely with local leaders to ensure Flint continues on a path toward long-term financial stability.

Ambrose notified the governor Tuesday of his determination, noting numerous accomplishments in Flint since a financial emergency was declared in November, 2011:

- Deficits in both the General Fund and Water Fund have been addressed, with a $7 million GF deficit to be eliminated through a loan authorized by the Local Financial Assistance Loan Board this morning.
- Long-term liability costs have been reduced from $850 million to $240 million. Multipliers for remaining employees with defined benefit pension plans have been reduced with new employees enrolled in a hybrid pension plan.

- New ordinances addressing long-term financial sustainability have been enacted by City Council with support of the mayor, including a strategic plan; a biennial budget and five-year financial projections; and, establishment of a fund balance reserve, including establishment of a budget stabilization fund.
- The structure of the city organization has changed significantly. A city administrator has been hired with expanded control over daily activities. The workforce has been reduced by more than 20 percent with city operations to better reflect and meet current needs.
- In November 2014, voters approved revisions to the current charter and approved establishment of a Charter Review Commission, which will consider the city's future form of governance, including whether to create a city manager.

Ambrose had previously enacted a two-year budget for the city and issued his final order as emergency manager this morning. The order outlines responsibilities of elected officials and their collaboration and cooperation with the RTAB.

The new board includes:

- Frederick Headen, legal advisor to the state treasurer (state treasurer designee).
- Brian Larkin, director at Flint and Genesee County Chamber of Commerce (Department of Technology, Management and Budget director designee).
- David McGhee, officer with the Skillman Foundation (representing persons with relevant professional experience).
- Robert McMahan, president of Kettering University (representing persons with relevant professional experience.
- Beverly Walker-Griffea, president of Mott Community College (representing persons with relevant professional experience).

"I am very pleased to appoint such distinguished people to this important post," Snyder said. "Each of these people cares deeply about the future of this great city and I'm certain they will work closely with Mayor Walling and city council members to move Flint forward and maintain a strong financial path."

For more information about Public Act 436 of 2012, the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act, visit the Local Government Fiscal Health page on the Department of Treasury's web site at www.michigan.gov/treasury.

###

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to leedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 10:09 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 9/3 Newsroom
Attachments: 150903 Newsroom.docx

Thursday, September 3, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Sexual assault kits press conference
Worthy: $10 million needed to advance rape kit cases (Detroit News)
Michigan law enforcement authorities need $10 million to help deliver justice for at least 1,350 sexual assault victims whose cases languished for years in a Detroit police storage facility, Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy said Wednesday.

Detroit clears massive backlog of untested rape kits (Freep)
Detroit's huge backlog of untested rape kits has been cleared, with nearly all of the more than 11,000 kits discovered in a police storage facility in 2009 now tested, Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said at a news conference Wednesday.

Prosecutor: 10,000 untested Detroit rape kits now processed (WDIV)
Testing has been completed by the Michigan State Police on more than 10,000 sexual assault kits found in a Detroit police property storage facility. Gov. Rick Snyder and Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy say the next phase of the process is investigating and prosecuting rape cases associated with the kits.

Governor Snyder Addresses Issue of Sexual Assault Kits (9&10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder touched on the issue of sexual assault Wednesday afternoon. He said he plans to stay on top of the issue on college and university campuses. He made the comments at an event Wednesday, giving an update on the status of untested sexual assault kits found in 2009

Governor Rick Snyder: 10K rape kits from Detroit have been tested (WXYZ)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder says 10,000 rape kits from Detroit have been tested. Snyder was joined by Michigan State Police, Wayne County Prosecutor Kim Worthy and other sexual violence prevention groups.

Backlogged rape kits in Detroit head for further investigation (Reuters)
Most of the 11,000 rape-evidence kits left languishing in a Detroit warehouse have been analyzed since they turned up several years ago, with DNA matches leading to further investigation in 35 states, Michigan's governor said on Wednesday.

State officials say rape kit backlog almost cleared (Michigan Radio)
Officials say a backlog of more than 11,000 untested rape kits found in an abandoned Detroit crime lab is almost cleared. In some instances, the cases go back more than three decades. But, some victims will still have to wait years for justice. The untested rape kits were discovered six years ago. A combined state, local and private sector effort was launched to clear the backlog.

Testing complete on more than 10,000 abandoned rape kits in Detroit (AP)
Testing has been completed by the Michigan State Police on more than 10,000 sexual assault kits found in a Detroit police property storage facility. Gov. Rick Snyder and Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy say the next phase of the process is investigating and prosecuting rape cases associated with the kits.

State police finish testing 10,000+ shelved rape kits (Fox 17)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Wednesday that Michigan State Police have finished testing more than 10,000 rape kits that were found in a Detroit warehouse more than five years ago. The Detroit Police Department evidence kits were found in 2009. Of the 10,087 that were tested, 2,616 of them were linked to the FBI's Combined DNA Index System (CODIS), according to a release from the governor's office.

Chinese investment
Chinese company to invest nearly $26 million in Northville Township facility (Oakland Press)
A Chinese bearing manufacturer is investing nearly $26 million to establish a new U.S. headquarters and technical center in Northville Township, creating 125 jobs, Gov. Rick Snyder announced Monday.

Courser/Gamrat
Snyder Staying Out of Sex Scandal (WILX)
After Monday's report that showed Representatives Courser and Gamrat used taxpayer dollars to cover up their affair, Governor Snyder's keeping his mouth shut on whether or not they should resign. He says it's the House's responsibility to decide whether or not to expel the Representatives.

Why Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder isn't publicly calling for Reps. Courser, Gamrat to resign (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, unlike some other top Republicans, has not publicly called on GOP state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat to resign over allegations that they misused state resources to hide their extra-marital affair. And the governor, speaking with reporters on Wednesday afternoon, made clear he does not plan to weigh in at this time.

Flags lowered
Mary Lou Parks, Who Served In Michigan House, Dies At 79 (AP)
Former state Rep. Mary Lou Parks, who served six years in the Michigan House representing Detroit, has died. She was 79. Swanson Funeral Home, which is handling arrangements, says Parks died Aug. 23 and details on cause of death weren't released.

Miscellaneous
Kasich talks small government, praises Snyder in Michigan trip (Michigan Daily)
Kasich said he felt a responsibility to help Ohio when he ran for governor, and related his experience with that of Snyder's. "I went in (in Ohio), and we were really just like Governor Snyder, we really were in a deep hole, 20 percent of our operating budget, and so I took on the same approach (as Snyder)," he said.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Michigan's "Clean Power Plan" could go forward despite knee-jerk, anti-Obama actions (Michigan Radio)

Some days I find myself wishing President Obama would make a speech honoring motherhood and propose a program to honor mothers.

DMVA

Seven member of Congress tour Michigan military bases (MLive)
A U.S. senator and six House representatives visited Selfridge Air National Guard Base on Wednesday.

Seven U.S. Congressional members begin tour of Michigan military bases (Detroit News)

Member of Congress visit Selfridge (127th Wing Public Affairs)
In an historic visit, seven members of Congress toured Selfridge Air National Guard Base today, gaining insight into the diverse missions, capabilities and the future potential of the base.

Michigan's Congressional delegation tours military sites (Macomb Daily)
Seven members of Michigan's Congressional delegation on Wednesday had a unique boots-on-the-ground look at two major military facilities in Macomb County.

Michigan Congress members visit Selfridge Air National Guard Base (Detroit Free Press)

DNR

Michigan gets $951K grant to expand hunting program (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has received federal funding to expand a program that pays private owners to let the public use their land for hunting.

Endangered bird numbers rise (AP)
State wildlife officials report prospects are improving for two of Michigan's endangered bird species.

Let's get the facts straight on Chronic Wasting disease (LSJ)
Jill Fritz with the Humane Society of the United States recently voiced her opinions about the privately owned deer ranches and their role regarding chronic wasting disease in Michigan. While I respect each person's right to voice their opinion, I take issue with nearly every aspect of her editorial. The best course of action to prevent further spread of CWD in Michigan clearly must be based on facts and science. Let's take a look at the bullet points from Ms. Fritz' viewpoint and see if they are science based, or simply fear-mongering meant to advance the anti-hunting agenda of HSUS.

State needs smart long-term planning for public land (Detroit Free Press)
A recent column by state Sens. Tom Casperson and Darwin Booher advocating for bills that would change regulation of state-managed public land raises an important issue for Michigan citizens.

Black bear back in Michigan (WSJM)
The bear that passed through southwest Michigan this spring and early summer has returned to Michigan after an excursion into Indiana.

DEQ

If you dump trash in recycling bins, 'We're going to start fining you $250' (MLive)
There is recyclable material in the photograph above. But it won't get recycled. Instead, it's headed to a landfill or incinerator to be dumped along with the trash mixed in with it.

Lead leaches into 'very corrosive' Flint drinking water, researchers say (MLive) lint drinking water is "very corrosive" and "causing lead contamination in homes," researchers from Virginia Tech University reported online Wednesday, Sept. 2.

DHHS

Michigan approves $89.5M for energy assistance program (AP)

The state has approved Michigan Energy Assistance Program grants totaling $89.5 million for 13 organizations to help low-income residents.

MDARD

'Skimmer' found inside gas pump in Mundy Township (ABC 12)

A device designed to steal credit card information has been found in Mid-Michigan. An inspector from the Michigan Department of Agriculture was checking gas pumps at the Mobile station on West Hill Road near US-23, in Mundy Township, when he found what is known as a "skimmer."

Authorities search for suspects behind credit card 'skimmers' (WOOD TV)

As the number of electronic skimming devices found hidden inside gas pumps increases, the Michigan Department of Agriculture has launched a statewide blitz, checking pumps for the devices before they do too much damage.

State says to watch for invasive beetle on Michigan's doorstep (C&G)

An invasive, tree-killing insect working its way across the U.S. is closing in on Michigan, and the Department of Natural Resources is asking residents to be watchful.

MAEAP Farm Field Day draws locals from several counties (Daily Reporter)

On Aug. 26, Benne Farm hosted the annual 2015 Michigan Agriculture Environmental Assurance Program Farm Field Day for farmers from Branch and St. Joseph counties, with visitors from throughout the area.

MDOT

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day weekend (WDIV)

The Michigan Department of Transportation is suspending work on more than 100 construction projects across the state to make traveling easier for drivers during the Labor Day weekend.

MDOT to halt road projects at 3 p.m. Friday across state (TC Times)

To accommodate motorists traveling throughout Michigan over the Labor Day holiday weekend, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) will remove traffic restrictions on 114 of 155 active projects statewide.

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day (Holland Sentinel)

The Michigan Department of Transportation will remove traffic restrictions on 114 of 155 active projects statewide statewide from 3 p.m. Sept. 4 through 6 a.m. Sept. 8.

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day weekend (WOOD TV)

To help drivers over the Labor Day holiday weekend, the Michigan Department of Transportation will suspend construction on many of its projects.

MSP

Hundreds attend funeral for Michigan State Police trooper (AP)

Officers from across the state and nation were among hundreds of people attending the funeral for a Michigan State Police trooper who was killed while on motorcycle patrol.

Authorities search for suspects behind credit card 'skimmers' (WOOD TV)

As the number of electronic skimming devices found hidden inside gas pumps increases, the Michigan Department of Agriculture has launched a statewide blitz, checking pumps for the devices before they do too much damage.

Traffic deaths on the rise, law enforcement looks to stem the tide heading into holiday weekend (WWMT)

Across the country, traffic deaths are on the rise--something law enforcement is aware of, heading into a busy holiday weekend.

SOS

Michigan Secretary of State pulls plug on HP Pact on BAM (WHTC)
A 40.1 million-dollar contract with Hewlett Packard to overhaul the Michigan Secretary of State's computer system was terminated a year early by Ruth Johnson. The Business Access Modernization program was begun by Johnson's predecessor Terry Lynn Land in 2003 to replace 1970's-era technology for the agency's basic services such as drivers' licenses, vehicle titles and voter registration. Underestimating costs led to the program failing to meet a 2010 completion deadline.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Democrats Demand Lawmakers Identify Budget Cuts for Roads (WMUK)
Republican leaders in the House have floated a plan that would require hundreds of millions of dollars in cuts. But the plan doesn't spell out which programs would lose funding.

Michigan state agencies pay $345,000 to lobby lawmakers (LSJ)
State government agencies spent about $345,000 paying employees to lobby lawmakers from Jan. 1 through July 31, according to transparency records maintained by the Secretary of State.

DETROIT NEWS

Detroit Fire Department & Detroit Public Schools team up to train students as first responders (WXYZ)
Today the Detroit Fire Department and Detroit Public Schools will unveil a brand new program to train students as first responders.

Report: Fires cost Detroit millions, displace hundreds (Detroit News)
A new report shows fire and arson remain a huge challenge for Detroit, destroying buildings almost as fast as the city can tear them down.

OPINION

Courser, Gamrat no longer deserve the chance to resign (Detroit Free Press)
I am asking you to stop calling for the resignation of state Reps. Todd Courser Cindy Gamrat. They no longer deserve the opportunity to resign.

Testing abandoned rape kits just the first step (Detroit Free Press)
So this sounds like good news: 10,000 of the more than 11,000 backlogged Detroit rape kits have been tested.

State needs smart, long-term planning for public land (Detroit Free Press)
A recent column by state Sens. Tom Casperson and Darwin Booher advocating for bills that would change regulation of state-managed public land raises an important issue for Michigan citizens.

Investigation of bizarre cover-up requires full disclosure (Port Huron Times Herald)
State Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat need to save themselves, their constituents and the state of Michigan from any more of their tawdry antics.

Editor's note: College students get schooled on consent (Detroit News)
When first arriving on a college campus, freshman students have a lot of new things to learn, from navigating dorm life to understanding their class schedule. This year, more students than ever will also have to get schooled in sexual assault.

Finley: Gov. John Kasich, to voters: Pick a 'Dodge' (Detroit News)
John Kasich looks like the right sort of man, and certainly these look like the right sort of times for someone of his record and resume.

Driverless cars: Promising or dangerous (Detroit News)
People tend to forget the past. The challenges and opportunities of the furious present often blot out our memories.

Our Editorial: Invest in energy infrastructure (Detroit News)
Last month's temporary spike in gas prices, caused by an unexpected shutdown of BP's Indiana refinery, has subsided, but it serves as both a warning and reminder of how vulnerable Michigan and much of the Midwest is to an aging energy infrastructure.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, September 3, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Sexual assault kits press conference
Worthy: $10 million needed to advance rape kit cases (Detroit News)
Michigan law enforcement authorities need $10 million to help deliver justice for at least 1,350 sexual assault victims whose cases languished for years in a Detroit police storage facility, Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy said Wednesday.

Detroit clears massive backlog of untested rape kits (Freep)
Detroit's huge backlog of untested rape kits has been cleared, with nearly all of the more than 11,000 kits discovered in a police storage facility in 2009 now tested, Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said at a news conference Wednesday.

Prosecutor: 10,000 untested Detroit rape kits now processed (WDIV)
Testing has been completed by the Michigan State Police on more than 10,000 sexual assault kits found in a Detroit police property storage facility. Gov. Rick Snyder and Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy say the next phase of the process is investigating and prosecuting rape cases associated with the kits.

Governor Snyder Addresses Issue of Sexual Assault Kits (9&10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder touched on the issue of sexual assault Wednesday afternoon. He said he plans to stay on top of the issue on college and university campuses. He made the comments at an event Wednesday, giving an update on the status of untested sexual assault kits found in 2009

Governor Rick Snyder: 10K rape kits from Detroit have been tested (WXYZ)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder says 10,000 rape kits from Detroit have been tested. Snyder was joined by Michigan State Police, Wayne County Prosecutor Kim Worthy and other sexual violence prevention groups.

Backlogged rape kits in Detroit head for further investigation (Reuters)
Most of the 11,000 rape-evidence kits left languishing in a Detroit warehouse have been analyzed since they turned up several years ago, with DNA matches leading to further investigation in 35 states, Michigan's governor said on Wednesday.

State officials say rape kit backlog almost cleared (Michigan Radio)
Officials say a backlog of more than 11,000 untested rape kits found in an abandoned Detroit crime lab is almost cleared. In some instances, the cases go back more than three decades. But, some victims will still have to wait years for justice. The untested rape kits were discovered six years ago. A combined state, local and private sector effort was launched to clear the backlog.

Testing complete on more than 10,000 abandoned rape kits in Detroit (AP)
Testing has been completed by the Michigan State Police on more than 10,000 sexual assault kits found in a Detroit police property storage facility. Gov. Rick Snyder and Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy say the next phase of the process is investigating and prosecuting rape cases associated with the kits.

State police finish testing 10,000+ shelved rape kits (Fox 17)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Wednesday that Michigan State Police have finished testing more than 10,000 rape kits that were found in a Detroit warehouse more than five years ago. The Detroit Police Department evidence kits were found in 2009. Of the 10,087 that were tested, 2,616 of them were linked to the FBI's Combined DNA Index System (CODIS), according to a release from the governor's office.

Chinese investment
Chinese company to invest nearly $26 million in Northville Township facility (Oakland Press)
A Chinese bearing manufacturer is investing nearly $26 million to establish a new U.S. headquarters and technical center in Northville Township, creating 125 jobs, Gov. Rick Snyder announced Monday.

Courser/Gamrat
Snyder Staying Out of Sex Scandal (WILX)
After Monday's report that showed Representatives Courser and Gamrat used taxpayer dollars to cover up their affair, Governor Snyder's keeping his mouth shut on whether or not they should resign. He says it's the House's responsibility to decide whether or not to expel the Representatives.

Why Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder isn't publicly calling for Reps. Courser, Gamrat to resign (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, unlike some other top Republicans, has not publicly called on GOP state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat to resign over allegations that they misused state resources to hide their extra-marital affair. And the governor, speaking with reporters on Wednesday afternoon, made clear he does not plan to weigh in at this time.

Flags lowered
Mary Lou Parks, Who Served In Michigan House, Dies At 79 (AP)
Former state Rep. Mary Lou Parks, who served six years in the Michigan House representing Detroit, has died. She was 79. Swanson Funeral Home, which is handling arrangements, says Parks died Aug. 23 and details on cause of death weren't released.

Miscellaneous
Kasich talks small government, praises Snyder in Michigan trip (Michigan Daily)
Kasich said he felt a responsibility to help Ohio when he ran for governor, and related his experience with that of Snyder's. "I went in (in Ohio), and we were really just like Governor Snyder, we really were in a deep hole, 20 percent of our operating budget, and so I took on the same approach (as Snyder)," he said.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Michigan's "Clean Power Plan" could go forward despite knee-jerk, anti-Obama actions (Michigan Radio)
Some days I find myself wishing President Obama would make a speech honoring motherhood and propose a program to honor mothers.

DMVA
Seven member of Congress tour Michigan military bases (MLive)

A U.S. senator and six House representatives visited Selfridge Air National Guard Base on Wednesday.

Seven U.S. Congressional members begin tour of Michigan military bases (Detroit News)

Member of Congress visit Selfridge (127th Wing Public Affairs)
In an historic visit, seven members of Congress toured Selfridge Air National Guard Base today, gaining insight into the diverse missions, capabilities and the future potential of the base.

Michigan's Congressional delegation tours military sites (Macomb Daily)
Seven members of Michigan's Congressional delegation on Wednesday had a unique boots-on-the-ground look at two major military facilities in Macomb County.

Michigan Congress members visit Selfridge Air National Guard Base (Detroit Free Press)

DNR
Michigan gets $951K grant to expand hunting program (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has received federal funding to expand a program that pays private owners to let the public use their land for hunting.

Endangered bird numbers rise (AP)
State wildlife officials report prospects are improving for two of Michigan's endangered bird species.

Let's get the facts straight on Chronic Wasting disease (LSJ)
Jill Fritz with the Humane Society of the United States recently voiced her opinions about the privately owned deer ranches and their role regarding chronic wasting disease in Michigan. While I respect each person's right to voice their opinion, I take issue with nearly every aspect of her editorial. The best course of action to prevent further spread of CWD in Michigan clearly must be based on facts and science. Let's take a look at the bullet points from Ms. Fritz' viewpoint and see if they are science based, or simply fear-mongering meant to advance the anti-hunting agenda of HSUS.

State needs smart long-term planning for public land (Detroit Free Press)
A recent column by state Sens. Tom Casperson and Darwin Booher advocating for bills that would change regulation of state-managed public land raises an important issue for Michigan citizens.

Black bear back in Michigan (WSJM)
The bear that passed through southwest Michigan this spring and early summer has returned to Michigan after an excursion into Indiana.

DEQ
If you dump trash in recycling bins, 'We're going to start fining you $250' (MLive)
There is recyclable material in the photograph above. But it won't get recycled. Instead, it's headed to a landfill or incinerator to be dumped along with the trash mixed in with it.

Lead leaches into 'very corrosive' Flint drinking water, researchers say (MLive) lint drinking water is "very corrosive" and "causing lead contamination in homes," researchers from Virginia Tech University reported online Wednesday, Sept. 2.

DHHS
Michigan approves $89.5M for energy assistance program (AP)
The state has approved Michigan Energy Assistance Program grants totaling $89.5 million for 13 organizations to help low-income residents.

MDARD

'Skimmer' found inside gas pump in Mundy Township (ABC 12)
A device designed to steal credit card information has been found in Mid-Michigan. An inspector from the Michigan Department of Agriculture was checking gas pumps at the Mobile station on West Hill Road near US-23, in Mundy Township, when he found what is known as a "skimmer."

Authorities search for suspects behind credit card 'skimmers' (WOOD TV)
As the number of electronic skimming devices found hidden inside gas pumps increases, the Michigan Department of Agriculture has launched a statewide blitz, checking pumps for the devices before they do too much damage.

State says to watch for invasive beetle on Michigan's doorstep (C&G)
An invasive, tree-killing insect working its way across the U.S. is closing in on Michigan, and the Department of Natural Resources is asking residents to be watchful.

MAEAP Farm Field Day draws locals from several counties (Daily Reporter)
On Aug. 26, Benne Farm hosted the annual 2015 Michigan Agriculture Environmental Assurance Program Farm Field Day for farmers from Branch and St. Joseph counties, with visitors from throughout the area.

MDOT

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day weekend (WDIV)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is suspending work on more than 100 construction projects across the state to make traveling easier for drivers during the Labor Day weekend.

MDOT to halt road projects at 3 p.m. Friday across state (TC Times)
To accommodate motorists traveling throughout Michigan over the Labor Day holiday weekend, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) will remove traffic restrictions on 114 of 155 active projects statewide.

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Transportation will remove traffic restrictions on 114 of 155 active projects statewide statewide from 3 p.m. Sept. 4 through 6 a.m. Sept. 8.

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day weekend (WOOD TV)
To help drivers over the Labor Day holiday weekend, the Michigan Department of Transportation will suspend construction on many of its projects.

MSP

Hundreds attend funeral for Michigan State Police trooper (AP)
Officers from across the state and nation were among hundreds of people attending the funeral for a Michigan State Police trooper who was killed while on motorcycle patrol.

Authorities search for suspects behind credit card 'skimmers' (WOOD TV)
As the number of electronic skimming devices found hidden inside gas pumps increases, the Michigan Department of Agriculture has launched a statewide blitz, checking pumps for the devices before they do too much damage.

Traffic deaths on the rise, law enforcement looks to stem the tide heading into holiday weekend (WWMT)
Across the country, traffic deaths are on the rise--something law enforcement is aware of, heading into a busy holiday weekend.

SOS

Michigan Secretary of State pulls plug on HP Pact on BAM (WHTC)
A 40.1 million-dollar contract with Hewlett Packard to overhaul the Michigan Secretary of State's computer system was terminated a year early by Ruth Johnson. The Business Access Modernization program was begun by Johnson's predecessor Terry Lynn Land in 2003 to replace 1970's-era technology for the agency's basic services such as drivers' licenses, vehicle titles and voter registration. Underestimating costs led to the program failing to meet a 2010 completion deadline.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Democrats Demand Lawmakers Identify Budget Cuts for Roads (WMUK)
Republican leaders in the House have floated a plan that would require hundreds of millions of dollars in cuts. But the plan doesn't spell out which programs would lose funding.

Michigan state agencies pay $345,000 to lobby lawmakers (LSJ)
State government agencies spent about $345,000 paying employees to lobby lawmakers from Jan. 1 through July 31, according to transparency records maintained by the Secretary of State.

DETROIT NEWS

Detroit Fire Department & Detroit Public Schools team up to train students as first responders (WXYZ)
Today the Detroit Fire Department and Detroit Public Schools will unveil a brand new program to train students as first responders.

Report: Fires cost Detroit millions, displace hundreds (Detroit News)
A new report shows fire and arson remain a huge challenge for Detroit, destroying buildings almost as fast as the city can tear them down.

OPINION

Courser, Gamrat no longer deserve the chance to resign (Detroit Free Press)
I am asking you to stop calling for the resignation of state Reps. Todd Courser Cindy Gamrat. They no longer deserve the opportunity to resign.

Testing abandoned rape kits just the first step (Detroit Free Press)
So this sounds like good news: 10,000 of the more than 11,000 backlogged Detroit rape kits have been tested.

State needs smart, long-term planning for public land (Detroit Free Press)
A recent column by state Sens. Tom Casperson and Darwin Booher advocating for bills that would change regulation of state-managed public land raises an important issue for Michigan citizens.

Investigation of bizarre cover-up requires full disclosure (Port Huron Times Herald)
State Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat need to save themselves, their constituents and the state of Michigan from any more of their tawdry antics.

Editor's note: College students get schooled on consent (Detroit News)

When first arriving on a college campus, freshman students have a lot of new things to learn, from navigating dorm life to understanding their class schedule. This year, more students than ever will also have to get schooled in sexual assault.

Finley: Gov. John Kasich, to voters: Pick a 'Dodge' (Detroit News)
John Kasich looks like the right sort of man, and certainly these look like the right sort of times for someone of his record and resume.

Driverless cars: Promising or dangerous (Detroit News)
People tend to forget the past. The challenges and opportunities of the furious present often blot out our memories.

Our Editorial: Invest in energy infrastructure (Detroit News)
Last month's temporary spike in gas prices, caused by an unexpected shutdown of BP's Indiana refinery, has subsided, but it serves as both a warning and reminder of how vulnerable Michigan and much of the Midwest is to an aging energy infrastructure.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, September 04, 2015 11:33 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 9/4 Newsroom
Attachments: 150904 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, September 4, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Battle Creek base visit
Support pledged for B.C. military (Battle Creek Enquirer)
A dwindling Michigan congressional delegation finished a two-day tour Thursday of military installations, pledging support for bases in Battle Creek. "It has been a terrific two days," U.S. Sen Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing, said during a stop at the Michigan Air National Guard Base at W.K. Kellogg Airport. "We are the hearty ones who made the final leg of the trip.

Congress members from MI tour military sites (WOOD TV)
Members of Michigan's congressional delegation are among those who got a close-up look at major military sites in the state this week. Republican Gov. Rick Snyder also joined the tour.

Lawmakers tour air base in Battle Creek (WWMT)
The group, which included Governor Rick Snyder, was looking for Michigan to become a defense leader for our nation. "I am happy to play a large role, whatever they need to get it done, in terms of getting the missile defense here in Battle Creek," said Gov. Snyder. "I've seen it, obviously I am somewhat biased, but this would be an awesome place to see it done, and that's in line with whats been done in Battle Creek."

Pipeline EO/agreement
Enbridge agrees to keep heavy crude out of pipeline (AP)
A company that ships oil through the Great Lakes pledged Thursday to keep heavy crude out of a pipeline in northern Michigan. Enbridge Energy already doesn't transport heavy crude in the Straits of Mackinac. The deal signed with state officials preserves the status quo and requires a 180-day notice if changes are proposed.

15-person Michigan oil pipeline advisory board appointed by governor (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed a 15-member standing advisory board to implement recommendations on Michigan oil pipeline safety included in a state report focused on Enbridge's Line 5 pipeline under the Straits of Mackinac. The Michigan Pipeline Safety Advisory Board includes, among others, members of the U.S. Coast Guard, National Wildlife Foundation, Marathon Pipeline Co. and Enbridge Inc., which operates a 62-year-old twin line under the Mackinac straits that environmental advocates say threatens the lakes with an oil spill.

Michigan, Enbridge Agree on Mackinac Straits Heavy Crude Oil Ban (Petoskey News Review)
State officials reached an agreement with Enbridge Thursday that permanently bans heavy crude oil from moving through the Line 5 pipeline under the Straits of Mackinac.

Enbridge agrees to keep heavy crude out of pipeline -- but deal doesn't really change anything (Michigan Radio)
The state of Michigan has signed a deal with Enbridge Energy that heavy crude oil will not be shipped through a pipeline that runs beneath the Straits of Mackinac.

Oil company agrees to Mackinac Straits Heavy Crude oil ban (New Baltimore Patch)
Canada-based Enbridge Partners will stop using its No. 5 pipeline under the Straits of Mackinac to transport heavy crude oil under an agreement reached Thursday with the state of Michigan.

Enbridge agrees to heavy crude out of pipeline (Detroit Free Press)
A company that ships oil through the Great Lakes pledged Thursday to keep heavy crude out of a pipeline in northern Michigan.

Proclamations
Be prepared: It's time for public to consider how to handle an emergency (Huron Daily Tribune)
Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed September as Preparedness Month to encourage Michiganders to plan and prepare for natural and human-made emergencies and disasters. "This is the time of year where we encourage all Michiganders to prepare for emergencies and disasters," Snyder said. "For the last couple of years, many communities have experienced severe weather disasters, with the most recent in Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties. By taking just a few crucial steps this month, Michigan families can be prepared for the worst, just in case."

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley: state's opioid scourge requires urgent action (WKAR)
America is eager to do something about the recent surge in prescription drug overdoses and fatalities.Here in Michigan, Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley heads the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force. Current State sorts through the challenges of tackling the problem and asks the Lieutenant Governor about his take on the road funding challenge and Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Schuette urges states to impose sanctions on Iran (Michigan Daily)
Though an Obama administration deal to loosen economic sanctions against Iran as part of an agreement to limit the country's nuclear power is nearing approval from Congress, states such as Michigan could continue to obstruct U.S. trade with Iran.

DEQ
Lower TTHM levels put Flint in compliance with Safe Drinking Water Act (MLive)
The city is no longer in violation of the federal Safe Drinking Water Act because the level of total trihalomethanes in water samples collected last month has fallen, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality says.

Flint will have lead-reduction plan for water system by 2016, officials say (MLive)
The city says it will put measures in place to reduce lead in drinking water by 2016, an announcement that comes one day after a water expert warned of the potential for a "huge public health problem" here.

Michigan's Adventure sewage increase request stirs opposition (MLive)
Neighbors, environmentalists and local government officials are pushing for a public hearing on a permit request by Michigan's Adventure amusement park to increase the amount of sewage it treats and releases into the groundwater.

DHHS
Michigan approves grants for energy assistance (MI News 26)
Michigan has approved Energy Assistance Program grants totaling $89.5 million for 13 organizations to help low-income residents.

September is Infant Safe Sleep Awareness Month in Michigan (MSU Extension)
A baby dies every three days in Michigan and 100 percent of these deaths are preventable, according to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. Sudden unexpected infant death (SUID) is the sudden, unexplained, unexpected death of an infant younger than one year and is the leading cause of death in infants, and most deaths occur between two and four months of age.

DNR

DNR to host public meeting to gather input on Algonquin Pathway, Ski Trail proposals (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources today announced it will host a public meeting Monday, Sept. 14, to gather input on land management activities – trail improvements and timber harvesting – along the Algonquin Pathway/Ski Trail in Chippewa County. The meeting will start at 6 p.m. at the City Hall Commission Chambers, 225 E. Portage Ave., Sault Ste. Marie.

Boating site opening for Lake Angeline in Upper Peninsula (AP)
A new $90,000 boating access site is opening for Lake Angeline in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Endangered bird populations rebound thanks to Michigan DNR and conservation work (Newswire – PR)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced on Tuesday that two endangered species of birds, the piping plover and the Kirtland's warbler, have been observed in record numbers in the state this year, which the DNR attributes to conservation efforts enacted with the help of partners.

LARA

MIOSHA receives customer service award for investing more than $1 Million in worker safety and health (Workers Compensation)
The Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration (MIOSHA) recently received the William Q. Wierhdt Customer Service Award from federal OSHA for the success of its FY 2015 matching grant program that provided Michigan small businesses with more than $1 million toward worker protections. MIOSHA is part of the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (LARA).

MVAA

Honorably discharged veterans invited to present at event hosted by Gov. Snyder (Oakland Press)

MDOC

MI prisoners donate to give students back-to-school basics (WXYZ)
Inmates at southeast Michigan prisons have donated more than $27,000 to help provide back-to-school supplies for local students, according to a press release from the Michigan Department of Corrections.

Prisoners make donations to give children a better shot as success (MI News 26)
Most students in Michigan are already back in school or will be starting on Tuesday. As families prepare their children for the upcoming school year, not all are able to provide the back-to-school basics that are essential for their success. So, several Michigan prisoners have stepped up to help out.

MDOT

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day holiday, urges safety (Midland Daily)
To accommodate motorists traveling throughout Michigan over the Labor Day holiday weekend, the Michigan Department of Transportation will remove traffic restrictions on 114 of 155 active projects statewide.

Why do truck weigh stations seem like they're always closed? (Michigan Radio)
There's a lot of talk (though as of yet, no action) about a long-term solution for fixing Michigan's crumbling roads.

MPSC

GOP-led Michigan will develop state compliance strategy for Clean Power Plan (Utility Drive)
Seeking to avoid placing the state's future in the hads of Washington "bureaucrats," Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder (R) has announced that his state will develop a plan to comply with the Obama administration's Clean Power Plan.

MSP

Mid-Michigan residents fall victim to credit card fraud (WNEM)
Several residents in one Mid-Michigan community have fallen victim to credit card fraud.

Public enjoys a glimpse of work done by Michigan State Police (Daily News)
The Iron Mountain post of the Michigan State Police opened its doors to the public on Wednesday for its annual open house.

Extra officers continue drunk driving and seat belt enforcement during Labor Day holiday (WLNS)
There will be a lot of people out on the roads this holiday weekend and officers from police departments, sheriff's offices and the Michigan State Police will be on the lookout for impaired drivers and unbuckled motorists.

MSP trooper convicted an sexual assault charges (Lansing State Journal)
A Michigan State Police trooper was found guilty Thursday on four counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct.

Credit card information stolen at gas stations (WZZM)
Michigan State Police and the Ionia County Sheriff's Office are investigating reports of fraudulent credit card activity.

September is Michigan preparedness month (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder has declared September to be Michigan Preparedness Month, when everyone should be sure to take a couple of steps to ready themselves for any possible emergency that might occur. Ron Leix, with the Michigan State Police, says that as the fall approaches, you should be sure to have an emergency kit on hand.

September proclaimed as awareness month in Michigan (Petoskey News Review)
Gov. Rick Snyder proclaimed September as Preparedness Month to encourage Michiganders to plan and prepare for natural and human-made emergencies and disasters.

DETROIT NEWS

White Boy Rick wins bid to be resentenced (Detroit Free Press)
Richard Wershe Jr., who gained notoriety during the 1980s in Detroit as a young, flamboyant drug dealer known as White Boy Rick, won his bid for resentencing.

Auction of Taubman art collection expected to net $500M (Detroit Free Press)
More than 500 pieces of art owned by the late Detroit shopping mall magnate A. Alfred Taubman are heading to the auction block in New York, where they are expected to fetch more than $500 million -- the most valuable private collection ever offered for sale at auction, according to Sotheby's, which is handling the sale.

OPINION

Abortion coercion should be unlawful (Grand Haven Tribune)
No matter what side you are on regarding abortion, we would find it difficult not to be in favor of making it unlawful to force a pregnant woman to get one against her will.

Open carry isn't bad, it's just unexpected (Port Huron Times Herald)
People in Michigan tend to have a very negative viewpoint when they see people open carry firearms. I believe the main reason this makes people nervous is because it is not done often and therefore not something we are familiar with.

Editorial: NLRB ruling hits entrepreneurs (Detroit News)
Last week, the National Labor Relations Board gave unions a big win — even by the Obama administration's labor-friendly standards. While that's good news for labor supporters, the so-called new joint employer rule could fundamentally harm a wide range of U.S. businesses.

Could Snyder or Obama win, now? (MLive)
If Gov. Rick Snyder and President Barack Obama were on the ballot today seeking re-election, how would they do?

Ken Braun: Too bad grand Rapids can't replace rapid transit route with Uber (MLive).
The new Silver Line rapid transit bus running through Grand Rapids has been operating for most of a year and now averages 56,000 rides per month. The CEO of The Rapid - Grand Rapids' public bus service - is cautiously optimistic, saying "it's a good sign of a new route developing its ridership base so quickly."

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, September 4, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Battle Creek base visit
Support pledged for B.C. military (Battle Creek Enquirer)
A dwindling Michigan congressional delegation finished a two-day tour Thursday of military installations, pledging support for bases in Battle Creek. "It has been a terrific two days," U.S. Sen Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing, said during a stop at the Michigan Air National Guard Base at W.K. Kellogg Airport. "We are the hearty ones who made the final leg of the trip.

Congress members from MI tour military sites (WOOD TV)
Members of Michigan's congressional delegation are among those who got a close-up look at major military sites in the state this week. Republican Gov. Rick Snyder also joined the tour.

Lawmakers tour air base in Battle Creek (WWMT)
The group, which included Governor Rick Snyder, was looking for Michigan to become a defense leader for our nation. "I am happy to play a large role, whatever they need to get it done, in terms of getting the missile defense here in Battle Creek," said Gov. Snyder. "I've seen it, obviously I am somewhat biased, but this would be an awesome place to see it done, and that's in line with whats been done in Battle Creek."

Pipeline EO/agreement
Enbridge agrees to keep heavy crude out of pipeline (AP)
A company that ships oil through the Great Lakes pledged Thursday to keep heavy crude out of a pipeline in northern Michigan. Enbridge Energy already doesn't transport heavy crude in the Straits of Mackinac. The deal signed with state officials preserves the status quo and requires a 180-day notice if changes are proposed.

15-person Michigan oil pipeline advisory board appointed by governor (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed a 15-member standing advisory board to implement recommendations on Michigan oil pipeline safety included in a state report focused on Enbridge's Line 5 pipeline under the Straits of Mackinac. The Michigan Pipeline Safety Advisory Board includes, among others, members of the U.S. Coast Guard, National Wildlife Foundation, Marathon Pipeline Co. and Enbridge Inc., which operates a 62-year-old twin line under the Mackinac straits that environmental advocates say threatens the lakes with an oil spill.

Michigan, Enbridge Agree on Mackinac Straits Heavy Crude Oil Ban (Petoskey News Review)
State officials reached an agreement with Enbridge Thursday that permanently bans heavy crude oil from moving through the Line 5 pipeline under the Straits of Mackinac.

Enbridge agrees to keep heavy crude out of pipeline – but deal doesn't really change anything (Michigan Radio)
The state of Michigan has signed a deal with Enbridge Energy that heavy crude oil will not be shipped through a pipeline that runs beneath the Straits of Mackinac.

Oil company agrees to Mackinac Straits Heavy Crude oil ban (New Baltimore Patch)
Canada-based Enbridge Partners will stop using its No. 5 pipeline under the Straits of Mackinac to transport heavy crude oil under an agreement reached Thursday with the state of Michigan.

Enbridge agrees to heavy crude out of pipeline (Detroit Free Press)
A company that ships oil through the Great Lakes pledged Thursday to keep heavy crude out of a pipeline in northern Michigan.

Proclamations
Be prepared: It's time for public to consider how to handle an emergency (Huron Daily Tribune)
Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed September as Preparedness Month to encourage Michiganders to plan and prepare for natural and human-made emergencies and disasters. "This is the time of year where we encourage all Michiganders to prepare for emergencies and disasters," Snyder said. "For the last couple of years, many communities have experienced severe weather disasters, with the most recent in Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties. By taking just a few crucial steps this month, Michigan families can be prepared for the worst, just in case."

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley: state's opioid scourge requires urgent action (WKAR)
America is eager to do something about the recent surge in prescription drug overdoses and fatalities.Here in Michigan, Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley heads the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force. Current State sorts through the challenges of tackling the problem and asks the Lieutenant Governor about his take on the road funding challenge and Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Schuette urges states to impose sanctions on Iran (Michigan Daily)
Though an Obama administration deal to loosen economic sanctions against Iran as part of an agreement to limit the country's nuclear power is nearing approval from Congress, states such as Michigan could continue to obstruct U.S. trade with Iran.

DEQ
Lower TTHM levels put Flint in compliance with Safe Drinking Water Act (MLive)
The city is no longer in violation of the federal Safe Drinking Water Act because the level of total trihalomethanes in water samples collected last month has fallen, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality says.

Flint will have lead-reduction plan for water system by 2016, officials say (MLive)
The city says it will put measures in place to reduce lead in drinking water by 2016, an announcement that comes one day after a water expert warned of the potential for a "huge public health problem" here.

Michigan's Adventure sewage increase request stirs opposition (MLive)

Neighbors, environmentalists and local government officials are pushing for a public hearing on a permit request by Michigan's Adventure amusement park to increase the amount of sewage it treats and releases into the groundwater.

DHHS

Michigan approves grants for energy assistance (MI News 26)
Michigan has approved Energy Assistance Program grants totaling $89.5 million for 13 organizations to help low-income residents.

September is Infant Safe Sleep Awareness Month in Michigan (MSU Extension)
A baby dies every three days in Michigan and 100 percent of these deaths are preventable, according to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. Sudden unexpected infant death (SUID) is the sudden, unexplained, unexpected death of an infant younger than one year and is the leading cause of death in infants, and most deaths occur between two and four months of age.

DNR

DNR to host public meeting to gather input on Algonquin Pathway, Ski Trail proposals (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources today announced it will host a public meeting Monday, Sept. 14, to gather input on land management activities – trail improvements and timber harvesting – along the Algonquin Pathway/Ski Trail in Chippewa County. The meeting will start at 6 p.m. at the City Hall Commission Chambers, 225 E. Portage Ave., Sault Ste. Marie.

Boating site opening for Lake Angeline in Upper Peninsula (AP)
A new $90,000 boating access site is opening for Lake Angeline in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Endangered bird populations rebound thanks to Michigan DNR and conservation work (Newswire – PR)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced on Tuesday that two endangered species of birds, the piping plover and the Kirtland's warbler, have been observed in record numbers in the state this year, which the DNR attributes to conservation efforts enacted with the help of partners.

LARA

MIOSHA receives customer service award for investing more than $1 Million in worker safety and health (Workers Compensation)
The Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration (MIOSHA) recently received the William Q. Wierhdt Customer Service Award from federal OSHA for the success of its FY 2015 matching grant program that provided Michigan small businesses with more than $1 million toward worker protections. MIOSHA is part of the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (LARA).

MVAA

Honorably discharged veterans invited to present at event hosted by Gov. Snyder (Oakland Press)

MDOC

MI prisoners donate to give students back-to-school basics (WXYZ)
Inmates at southeast Michigan prisons have donated more than $27,000 to help provide back-to-school supplies for local students, according to a press release from the Michigan Department of Corrections.

Prisoners make donations to give children a better shot as success (MI News 26)
Most students in Michigan are already back in school or will be starting on Tuesday. As families prepare their children for the upcoming school year, not all are able to provide the back-to-school basics that are essential for their success. So, several Michigan prisoners have stepped up to help out.

MDOT

MDOT suspends construction for Labor Day holiday, urges safety (Midland Daily)
To accommodate motorists traveling throughout Michigan over the Labor Day holiday weekend, the Michigan Department of Transportation will remove traffic restrictions on 114 of 155 active projects statewide.

Why do truck weigh stations seem like they're always closed? (Michigan Radio)
There's a lot of talk (though as of yet, no action) about a long-term solution for fixing Michigan's crumbling roads.

MPSC

GOP-led Michigan will develop state compliance strategy for Clean Power Plan (Utility Drive)
Seeking to avoid placing the state's future in the hads of Washington "bureaucrats," Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder (R) has announced that his state will develop a plan to comply with the Obama administration's Clean Power Plan.

MSP

Mid-Michigan residents fall victim to credit card fraud (WNEM)
Several residents in one Mid-Michigan community have fallen victim to credit card fraud.

Public enjoys a glimpse of work done by Michigan State Police (Daily News)
The Iron Mountain post of the Michigan State Police opened its doors to the public on Wednesday for its annual open house.

Extra officers continue drunk driving and seat belt enforcement during Labor Day holiday (WLNS)
There will be a lot of people out on the roads this holiday weekend and officers from police departments, sheriff's offices and the Michigan State Police will be on the lookout for impaired drivers and unbuckled motorists.

MSP trooper convicted an sexual assault charges (Lansing State Journal)
A Michigan State Police trooper was found guilty Thursday on four counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct.

Credit card information stolen at gas stations (WZZM)
Michigan State Police and the Ionia County Sheriff's Office are investigating reports of fraudulent credit card activity.

September is Michigan preparedness month (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder has declared September to be Michigan Preparedness Month, when everyone should be sure to take a couple of steps to ready themselves for any possible emergency that might occur. Ron Leix, with the Michigan State Police, says that as the fall approaches, you should be sure to have an emergency kit on hand.

September proclaimed as awareness month in Michigan (Petoskey News Review)
Gov. Rick Snyder proclaimed September as Preparedness Month to encourage Michiganders to plan and prepare for natural and human-made emergencies and disasters.

DETROIT NEWS

White Boy Rick wins bid to be resentenced (Detroit Free Press)

Richard Wershe Jr., who gained notoriety during the 1980s in Detroit as a young, flamboyant drug dealer known as White Boy Rick, won his bid for resentencing.

Auction of Taubman art collection expected to net $500M (Detroit Free Press)
More than 500 pieces of art owned by the late Detroit shopping mall magnate A. Alfred Taubman are heading to the auction block in New York, where they are expected to fetch more than $500 million -- the most valuable private collection ever offered for sale at auction, according to Sotheby's, which is handling the sale.

OPINION

Abortion coercion should be unlawful (Grand Haven Tribune)
No matter what side you are on regarding abortion, we would find it difficult not to be in favor of making it unlawful to force a pregnant woman to get one against her will.

Open carry isn't bad, it's just unexpected (Port Huron Times Herald)
People in Michigan tend to have a very negative viewpoint when they see people open carry firearms. I believe the main reason this makes people nervous is because it is not done often and therefore not something we are familiar with.

Editorial: NLRB ruling hits entrepreneurs (Detroit News)
Last week, the National Labor Relations Board gave unions a big win — even by the Obama administration's labor-friendly standards. While that's good news for labor supporters, the so-called new joint employer rule could fundamentally harm a wide range of U.S. businesses.

Could Snyder or Obama win, now? (MLive)
If Gov. Rick Snyder and President Barack Obama were on the ballot today seeking re-election, how would they do?

Ken Braun: Too bad grand Rapids can't replace rapid transit route with Uber (MLive).
The new Silver Line rapid transit bus running through Grand Rapids has been operating for most of a year and now averages 56,000 rides per month. The CEO of The Rapid - Grand Rapids' public bus service - is cautiously optimistic, saying "it's a good sign of a new route developing its ridership base so quickly."

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, September 16, 2015 10:41 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 9/16 Newsroom

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Sept. 16, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Germany/Frankfurt auto show
Governor talks with Paul W. Smith at the Frankurt auto show (WJR)
Paul W. Smith talks to Governor Rick Snyder live from Frankfurt, Germany about a variety of important issues affecting the state of Michigan including the FCA-UAW tentative agreement, the Governor's ongoing effort to improve the state's economy and recent MEDC budget cuts.

Flags lowered
Gov. Snyder orders flags at half-staff in honor of fallen firefighter (MI 26 News)
Governor Rick Snyder has ordered all U.S. and Michigan flags within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings to be lowered to half-staff on Wednesday in honor of Lansing firefighter Dennis Rodeman, who was killed last Wednesday.

Murdered Lansing firefighter to be laid to rest today, Governor orders flags to half-staff in his honor (WTVB)
Mourners have since donated over $125,000 to Rodeman's wife, who is pregnant with the couple's first child. Gov. Snyder has also ordered flags to be lowered to half-staff today to honor Rodeman's memory.

Funeral for Lansing firefighter set for Wednesday (WKZO)
Gov. Snyder has also ordered flags on Wednesday to be lowered to half-staff to honor Rodeman's memory.

Hundreds Expected At Funeral For Lansing Firefighter 'Deliberately' Run Down By Driver (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered U.S. and Michigan flags to be lowered to half-staff on Wednesday at the Capitol and all state buildings in Rodeman's honor.

Welcoming Week
Gov. Snyder trying to attract, retain immigrant students (WNEM)
Shahamatul Alam is from Bangladesh. He is an electrical engineering major at Saginaw Valley State University. "I think it's really great because a lot of the immigrant students they are looking for these kind of opportunities," Shahamatul Alam said. And he said he's glad to know Gov. Rick Snyder is targeting international students like him.

Benishek retirement

Benishek abruptly announces retirement at end of term (Freep)

Gov. Rick Snyder, another political newcomer who entered politics the same year Benishek did, thanked him for "an outstanding job" working for Michiganders in Congress. State Democratic Party Chairman Brandon Dillon, meanwhile, said Benishek's impending retirement is proof that Democratic policies continue to "resonate across the state."

Benishek Won't Seek Re-Election in 2016 (9&10 News)

Governor Snyder also released a statement about the congressman's retirement. He thanked Dr. Benishek for his service and believes he will continue actively helping people in the Upper Peninsula.

Benishek to retire after third term (WKZO)

Gov. Rick Snyder was appreciative of Benishek's work. "I thank the congressman for his lifetime of service and dedication to our state. Knowing how hard Dan works, I'm sure he'll continue to be active helping people in his beloved Upper Peninsula," Snyder said in a statement released Tuesday morning.

Flint water

Governor says he will work with Flint on water 'struggles' (Mlive)

Mayor Dayne Walling isn't getting much in the way of specific promises, but Gov. Rick Snyder's office says the state will continue to work with Flint on its water "struggles."

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

New Michigan autism resource launched at WMU (WMU News)

Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and a number of Michigan legislators and state officials were at Western Michigan University Sept. 11 to help open a major new resource for Michigan families—Western's Evaluation Center for Autism and Neurodevelopmental disorders—known as WECAN.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Michigan first lady attends safe sleep event in Livonia (Detroit News)

When Shareece Lee got a call regarding her daughter after getting off work several years ago, she knew something was horribly wrong.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

MDARD

Scammers set sights on property owners' black walnut trees (WZZM)

A new scam is targeting homeowners with black walnut trees. State officials say people are being approached to sell their trees because of a disease called Thousand Cankers.

Black walnut scammers lying about tree disease, Michigan officials warn (mLive)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources and Agriculture and Rural Development issued a notice this week, saying the Thousand Cankers Disease, (TCD) which targets walnut trees, has not been detected in Michigan.

EEE Found in Barry County Horse (EIN News)

The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development today announced the state's first reported case in 2015 of Eastern Equine Encephalitis in a Barry County horse. The testing was done by the private practitioner who sent the blood sample directly to the United States Department of Agriculture's National Veterinary Services Lab in Ames, Iowa.

Barry County Horse Contracts Viral Disease (9&10 News)

A Michigan horse has been found with Eastern Equine Encephalitis, the first reported case this year. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development found the disease in a Barry County horse.

Michigan Reports First Equine EEE Case for 2015 (the Horse)
The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development (MDARD) announced Sept. 14 that the state's first reported case in 2015 of Eastern equine encephalitis (EEE) was identified earlier this month in a Barry County horse.

State issues mosquito warning after Michigan horse dies of encephalitis (mLive)
State agricultural officials are warning horse and animal owners to guard themselves against mosquitoes after a horse in Barry County was diagnosed with Eastern Equine Encephalitis earlier this summer.

MEDC
Dispute with Native American casino triggers Michigan Economic Development Corporation layoffs (WKZO-AM)
Sixty-five employees at the Michigan Economic Development Corporation have been given layoff notices because of a dispute between the Gun Lake Casino and the State of Michigan over online gambling.

MDOT
Quick Read: Repaving U.S. 31 (Petoskeynews.com)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is requiring a contractor who repaved the section of U.S. 31 through Bay View in April to redo the work because it did not meet department specifications.

Safety work begins on M-40 near truck stop (Allegan Co. News)
A deadly intersection northeast of Saugatuck-Douglas is getting a $1.5-million makeover scheduled to begin Wednesday. The Michigan Department of Transportation has started rebuilding and relocating the intersection of M-40 and Interchange Drive, meant to improve safety at the I-196 Holland exit.

Roundabout at Bloomfield/F-Hills border hits milestone (O&E Media)
The Road Commission for Oakland County and its Northwestern Connector project partners mark the official opening of the 14 Mile/Orchard Lake Road roundabout on the West Bloomfield Township/Farmington Hills border at 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 21. West Bloomfield Township government officials, Farmington Hills government officials and representatives of the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), consulting engineering firm OHM Advisors, contractor Dan's Excavating, Oakland County commissioners and state and federal elected officials. RCOC Board members and Managing Director Dennis Kolar will host the event.

MDHHS
Michigan's Bubonic plague victim speaks out (NEWSCHANNEL 3)
Health officials believe Plescher caught the plague from a flea bite. They say it's unlikely for the plague to spread. "Human-to-human transmission in any type of plague is extremely rare," says Jennifer Smith, spokesperson for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. "In this type of plague, it's the bubonic plague which affects the lymph nodes and did not affect the lungs. When plague becomes possibly human to human transmittable, it's when it affects the lungs."

New Michigan autism resource launched at WMU (WMU News)
WECAN is one of several elements of the WMU Autism Center of Excellence, which was funded by a special $4 million appropriation by the Michigan Legislature that is administered through the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. The funding for service and training is designed to increase Michigan's capacity to train professionals and expand services so that families will not have to wait so long for diagnosis and treatment. WECAN opened for client appointments on Monday, Sept. 14.

DEQ
Activists urge residents to keep voices heard in Flint water issue (mLIVE)
Research done at Virginia Tech concluded there was a serious problem with lead in Flint water, including 10 percent of homes that had 25 parts per billion of lead or more -- far more than the allowable level -- 15 ppb -- set in federal guidelines, but the city and state Department of Environmental Quality have said water sampling by the city shows lead levels are within state and federal standards.

State grant for Adrian Twp. sewer investigation awarded (Daily Telegram)
At the Adrian Township Board meeting on Monday, Supervisor Jim Koehn informed the board that the township has been approved to receive a $342,910 grant through Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's Stormwater, Asset Management and Wastewater Program. The township will be responsible for covering 10 percent of that total cost.

MDE
College debt debate more than simply reducing college costs (mLIVE)
With college affordability much on the minds of Michigan families, residents support a variety of innovative programs that can earn students free credit hours and reduce post-degree debt.

Democrats unveil "Yes Means Yes" bills meant to prevent campus sexual assaults (Michigan Radio)
If some Democrats in Lansing get their way, all high school sex education classes would teach that "yes means yes" when it comes to sex.
The legislation says anything short of a conscious "yes" does not count as consent to sex.Michigan does not require that districts have a sex education program in any grade. As of 2012, the Michigan Department of Education says 92% of schools had a sex education program. That could mean a school has one class on reproductive health.

SOS
Michigan state audit reveals millions wasted (Click On Detroit)
For more than a decade, the Michigan Secretary of State's office tried and failed at upgrading its driver's license, vehicle and voter registration computer system. According to a 3-year-old audit report done by the Auditor General's office, the project started in September 2003 at an estimated cost of $50 million. The audit found that nine years after the Business Application Modernization (BAM) Project started it still needed improved oversight.

MSP
City named safest in state (C&G Newspapers)
A new report names Rochester Hills the safest city in Michigan. Munetrix, a state-based data aggregator, listed the city as No. 1 among local municipalities with populations over 50,000. After collecting data over three years, Munetrix found Rochester Hills' crime rate of 2.47 percent per capita to be the lowest. The city's crime rate has decreased every year since 2008.

MacInnis asks for outside audit by state police of McGulpin Point gift shop (Petoskey News)
Emmet County commissioner Charlie MacInnis suggested at the board's administration meeting Tuesday that officials consider having an outside audit conducted by Michigan State Police regarding the handling of gift shop merchandise at McGulpin Point Lighthouse, but fellow commissioner Les Atchison said his fellow commissioner is "making mountains out of mole hills."

TED
Training, placement program aims for jobs (Cheboygan Daily Tribune)
Through a multi-agency collaboration, the Digital Works job training and placement assistance program will soon provide a new opportunity in Cheboygan for job-seekers. Program orientations at the new facility, 504 Division St.,in Cheboygan, are scheduled to start Tuesday, Sept. 22. More than 500 jobs have been secured by graduates of the Digital Works program since it launched in Ohio in 2013, according to a news release from Connected Nation.

DMVA
Lansing Veteran Expo offers two days of help, resources (WLNS)
Lansing area veterans can find two-days of free resources and other help this weekend. The event is hosted by the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency and will offer on-site services and access to resources to veterans and their families.

College, state programs prepare veterans for life after military (Crain's Detroit Business)
Phil Larson remembers taking off a uniform he no longer would wear as a staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force and asking himself questions as he moved into civilian life: "Who am I? What's my meaning?"

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Changes sought in Michigan's Freedom of Information Act (WLNS)
State lawmakers Tim Greimel and Jeremy Moss will be introducing a plan that would expand the Freedom of Information Act to cover the state legislature as well as the Governor's office.

Democrats unveil "Yes Means Yes" bills meant to prevent campus sexual assaults (Michigan Radio)
If some Democrats in Lansing get their way, all high school sex education classes would teach that "yes means yes" when it comes to sex.

DETROIT

Biden visit to herald Detroit transportation upgrades (Detroit Free Press)
Vice President Joe Biden will travel to Detroit on Thursday to meet with Mayor Mike Duggan and talk about what the city is characterizing as "major improvements" to the Detroit Department of Transportation.

State to process Detroit individual income tax returns (AP)
The Michigan Department of Treasury will process City of Detroit individual income taxes starting in January as part of a partnership aimed at improving efficiency.

Lions event gets third-graders thinking healthy (Detroit News)
Jamar Cuyler is used to school lunch, so having something different was a change for him. Jamar, a third-grader at Mason Elementary School in Detroit, was on a special field trip to Eastern Market for the Lions' Meet Up & Eat Up program on Tuesday, but he wasn't happy with the selection.

Jones Day to host party at Detroit Institute of Arts (Detroit Free Press)
The private lawyers who spearheaded the city of Detroit's voyage through the nation's largest municipal bankruptcy will celebrate with a party next month at the museum most at risk during the financial crisis.

Detroit takes center stage in 'City as a Startup' event (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit takes another step today toward cementing its reputation as fertile ground for budding entrepreneurs, as the Venture for America program stages its second "City as a Startup" conference in the Motor City.

Detroit arts organizations get funding for training (Detroit News)
More than two dozen Detroit-based nonprofit arts organizations were selected Tuesday by New York-based Bloomberg Philanthropies to partake in the foundation's $30 million Arts Innovation and Management program.

Detroit council weighing strict pot shop rules (Detroit News)
The city's first attempt at regulating medical marijuana dispensaries has made it to the council table in strict legislation aimed at quashing Detroit's proliferation of so-called pot shops.

OPINION

Michael J. Nichols: Gamrat, voters denied due process (Battle Creek enquirer)
The recent resignation of Republican state Rep. Todd Courser and the expulsion of Republican State Representative Cindy Gamrat leave a bad taste for me.

Should Michigan repeal Legislative term limits? (Detroit Free Press)

Should Michigan expand or eliminate term limits? Free Press Editorial Page Editor Stephen Henderson took up the question on "Detroit Today,' on 101.9 (WDET) with Michigan Radio Lansing Bureau Chief Rick Pluta.

Wage stagnation, inequality and the 2016 election (Detroit Free Press)
Because it's not even 2016 yet, there's far more comparison among the presidential candidates in the two major parties than there is between the two parties themselves, and what they're offering.

Why I'm vote for the Iran nuclear deal (Detroit Free Press)
The goal of negotiations between world powers and Iran has always been to prevent Iran from developing a nuclear weapon. After careful review of the agreement, I am confident that it accomplishes its intended goal.

Editorial: Keep day in court to just one day (Detroit News)
Local courts in Michigan now have an option for resolving civil disputes more quickly, and with less inconvenience and uncertainty for all parties.

Bieber: Lawmaker must protect prevailing wage (Detroit News)
There's been a lot of talk in Lansing about fixing our roads over the past few years, but so far not a lot of real action. The roads are worse than ever, and virtually every plan that's been discussed would stick regular, everyday working people with the bill.

Finley: Loans to help diversity city's comeback (Detroit News)
Access to capital is a challenge for any small entrepreneur, but particularly for minorities, who often have fewer personal resources to draw on and a smaller network of potential funders in their circle of family and friends.

On Courser-Gamrat and Trump, Agema gives views, avoids making news (MLive)
Nobody around here can remember the last time David Agema made news and it did not blow up the Internet or foster more calls for him to quit.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, September 24, 2015 10:41 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 9/24 Newsroom
Attachments: 150924 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Sept. 24, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Chinese president visit
Chinese president pledges cooperation on cyber issues (AP)
Earlier Tuesday, meetings with governors from five U.S. states and local Chinese officials produced the deal to work on clean energy. "We can be the core for our national leaders to learn from," Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, who has made five trips to China in five years, told his counterparts.

China's President Xi Jinping Visits the U.S. (WDET)
China: Governor Snyder met with President Xi several times about development in Michigan. "The Governor has taken five trips to China since he's taken office," Watkins says, "It is paying off with jobs and investments in this state."

Fostering futures
Benefit seeks to help former foster children pay for college (AP)
The Michigan Education Trust and the state departments of Treasury and Health and Human Services are hosting Thursday night's fundraiser at Detroit's Atheneum hotel. Gov. Rick Snyder and his wife are honorary chairpersons of Fostering Futures. About 13,000 students are in the Michigan foster care system and many want to attend college, but the state says fewer than 10 percent enroll after high school and less than 3 percent get a college degree. The state says a lack of financial resources is a reason.

MISCELLANEOUS

Candice Miller endorses Carly Fiorina for president (Freep)
A few days after introducing her to the crowd at the Mackinac Republican Leadership Conference, U.S. Rep. Candice Miller on Wednesday announced her endorsement of former Hewlett-Packard head Carly Fiorina in the race for the Republican presidential nomination in 2016.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Researchers finish study of Michigan oil, gas fracking (Idaho Statesmen)

Michigan's oil and gas industry and its regulators have a long way to go toward convincing the public that hydraulic fracturing, or fracking, is environmentally sound, said the director of a study on the practice released Wednesday.

U-M releases final report on high-volume hydraulic fracturing in Michigan (EurekAlert)
University of Michigan researchers today released the final version of a report analyzing policy options for the state of Michigan regarding high-volume hydraulic fracturing, the natural gas and oil extraction process commonly known as fracking.

Mackinac Straits oil spill response drill set Thursday (Petoskey News)
Hundreds of emergency management personnel are scheduled to respond to a mock oil spill Thursday in the Mackinac Straits to train for the possibility of a real spill.

New ACLU video gets tough with Flint officials over lead levels (Metro Times)
A new video from the Michigan ACLU offers some new findings, as well as some very uncomfortable interviews with city officials, as the organization continues to seek justice for residents who have hazardous water coming out of their faucets.

Conservators Making Significant Progress on River Raisin Recovery Efforts (WDET)
The US Environmental Protection Agency is removing a couple of ecological issues from the River Raisin thanks to recent recovery efforts. Conservators have restored the waterway's ability to support healthy fish and wildlife populations. Melanie Foose is an Area of Concern Coordinator for the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality. She says, for example, crews worked to create bypasses around decades-old dams in the river.

Hazardous waste facility's expansion prompts worries (The Detroit News)
The expansion of operations at a hazardous waste facility in Detroit near the Hamtramck border has raised safety questions among some of those who live in or represent the area. Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality is considering a new permit for U.S. Ecology, located on Georgia Street near the city's border with Hamtramck. The site, zoned for heavy industrial, has been used to treat and store waste products, including hazardous materials, for nearly 20 years.

DMVA
'Michigan Says Thanks' event to honor Vietnam War era veterans and families (Macomb Daily News)
Michigan's Vietnam veterans, whether drafted or enlisted, served our country with honor. Tragically, too many returned home with little thanks for their service and not much help transitioning to civilian life. In October, we will spend some time thanking and honoring veterans of the Vietnam War era and their families for their service and sacrifice on behalf of the United States.

Baker College earns status as 'veteran-friendly' school (The Voice)
Baker College has earned the gold-level status as a veteran-friendly school through a program created by the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA). The Veteran-Friendly School program recognizes institutions of higher learning for their dedication to student veterans and dependents, and awards gold-, silver- and bronze-level statuses to institutions based on their veteran-centric services.

DNR
More cleanup efforts planned at storm-damaged trail system (9 & 10 News)
More cleanup efforts are planned for a trail system in Michigan's northern Lower Peninsula that was hit hard by severe thunderstorms last month.

Ensuring a clear path for snowmobiles (Record Eagle)
Expansion of snowmobile trails could boost local economies but may lead to conflicts about crossing private land. In a move to head off such conflicts, a new Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant program will allow local governments and organizations to purchase permanent easements for snowmobile trails that cross private property.

73-year-old great-grandmother shoots Michigan black bear (Monroe News)
Like your typical great-grandmother, Karen Kuch enjoys doing crossword puzzles, reading books and baking. But Kuch is anything but typical. Measuring in at 4 feet, 11 inches tall, the 73-year-old great-grandmother traveled to Michigan's Upper Peninsula recently with her Ruger 44 Magnum rifle and successfully hunted a 220-pound Michigan black bear.

Michigan reduces stocking of salmon in Lake Michigan (AP)
The state of Michigan is stocking fewer salmon in Lake Michigan amid concerns over food supply. About 560,000 salmon were stocked in Lake Michigan this year, two-thirds less than three years ago. WOOD-TV reports a state Department of Natural Resources representative says there are fewer prey fish, such as alewife, for salmon to eat, and stocking too many salmon could result in the fishery collapsing

LTBB Surveys Sturgeon on Burt Lake to Gather Information (9 & 10 News)
A local Native American tribe is making efforts to examine the sturgeon population.The Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians has been surveying sturgeon for almost two weeks now. They've been catching sturgeon in gill nets to gather information on the fish in Burt Lake in Cheboygan County.

A slow start to fall fishing on the Big Manistee (Up North Live)
The warm weather a lot of us have been enjoying isn't exactly what anglers have been hoping for. Granted fall is just beginning, but by now there should be plenty of fish in the Manistee. But with water temps in the river still in the mid 60's, the fish just aren't there yet.

Invasive species study up close (Record Eagle)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wildlife staff recently completed the removal of a high-threat aquatic invasive plant known as yellow floating heart as part of the state's Early Detection and Response program.

LARA
ACLU threatens action against Catholic hospital (The Detroit News)
The American Civil Liberties Union threatened action Wednesday against a Grand Blanc Catholic hospital for refusing a seriously ill woman's request to be sterilized during her scheduled C-section next month. Jessica Mann, 33, of Flushing, has a life-threatening brain tumor and is 35 weeks pregnant, according to the American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan. Genesys Regional Medical Center — part of Ascension Health, the nation's largest Catholic health system — has refused to allow Mann's obstetrician to perform a tubal ligation at the time of the cesarean procedure.

Huntington gives Lansing region $5M for business lending (Lansing State Journal)
Though Rodney Singleton is two years away from retirement, he is already is looking for something to keep him occupied when that time comes. "I am not a golf guy," said Singleton, who works for the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs.

MDE
Ithaca could owe state $1 million for violations (Morning Sun News)
Ithaca Public Schools may be on the hook for over $1 million to the Michigan Department of Education after an audit of the school's online learning program, known as iSchool, revealed improperly-documented participation of hundreds of students since the fall of 2014. In a letter to the Ithaca School Board, on which the district staff was also copied, Gratiot-Isabella RESD Superintendent Jan Amsterburg, also serving as acting superintendent for the Ithaca district, said the audit findings put into question the legitimacy of student membership.

High schools see curriculum tweaks, new activities (C & G News)
With a new school year come tweaks to the schools themselves, and while East Detroit and Roseville high schools may not have any drastic changes this time around, those changes that have been made should make an impact on students. East Detroit High School Principal Scott Johnson said his school has added a career counselor this year — someone who will help students fill out applications for financial aid and prepare for post-secondary education or careers.

MDHHS

St. Clair County Health Department launches immunization coalition (The Voice)

The St. Clair County Health Department and MPRO, as part of the Lake Superior Quality Innovation Network, recently partnered to develop the St. Clair County Adult Immunization Coalition. The coalition will bring together health care professionals to address barriers that exist in recommending and providing immunizations to patients throughout the county, according to a release from MPRO, a non-profit health care quality improvement organization.

MSU Working to Raise Flu Vaccination Rate (WLIX)

The majority of college students are skipping the flu shot, which has state health experts teaming up with schools to improve vaccination rates.

State gets funding for colorectal cancer screenings (Public Radio 90)

Michigan has received a five-year grant to improve colorectal cancer screening rates in the state. The money was awarded to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services Cancer Prevention and Control Section from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Officials are hoping to increase screening rates from the current 72 percent to 80 percent by 2018.

MDOT

Legislation calls for Great Lakes crude shipment ban, studies on alternatives to Line 5 (Petoskey News)

As hundreds prepare to gather for an oil spill response drill in the Mackinac Straits, Michigan's two U.S. senators announced new legislation introduced in hopes of preventing such a spill in the Great Lakes. In a conference call Wednesday, U.S. Sens. Gary Peters and Debbie Stabenow announced their proposed Pipeline Improvement and Preventing Spills Act, which if put into effect would examine alternatives to Line 5 — twin oil pipelines running through the Mackinac Straits — and ban the shipping of crude oil by vessel on the Great Lakes, among other measures in protecting the Great Lakes from an oil spill.

Fear the deer (Ionia Sentinel)

There were 450 vehicle-deer accidents in Ionia County last year and October is one of the most dangerous months for driving, according to the Michigan Deer Crash Coalition. Six people died and 1,702 people were injured in Michigan last year in vehicle-deer accidents and 42 percent of all these types of crashes happen in the fall, according to the MDCC.

MEDC

Port Of Monroe To Get Major Improvements (Daily Detroit)

The City of Monroe's harbor will be undergoing major improvements and alterations in an effort to transform it into a leading cargo transportation center on the Great Lakes. The harbor is a critical economic resource, though many people probably don't even know about it.

Located on the western edge of Lake Erie, the port provides direct access to all five of the Great Lakes and serves 17 states.

Carhartt To Invest $18.6 Million For HQ Expansion In Dearborn, Hire 215 (Daily Detroit)

Unless you've been living under a rock for the last several months, you've probably heard about the new Carhartt location that opened in the Midtown neighborhood of Detroit earlier this summer. Carhartt, founded in Detroit in 1889, is a garment manufacturer best known for work clothes such as jackets, coats, overalls, coveralls, vests and more.

Business expansion to bring 223 new jobs to Auburn Hills over three years (Oakland Press Business)

A Windsor, Ontario-based business plans to create 223 new jobs to Auburn Hills over the next three years with an expansion to a 187,000-square-foot facility in the city. Valiant International Inc., which makes automated auto systems, plans to pay an average of $47 per hour to skilled-trade workers at the facility. The company already has a presence in Oakland County, with an advanced technology engineering center that has been in operation in Troy since 1983.

Madison Elementary settling into year-round calendar (C&G News)

Educators have often wrestled with how to get around the "brain drain" that occurs over summer break. When students come back in the fall, teachers find themselves working harder to get the students focused and back up to speed. Sometimes this means retreading old ground instead of delving straight into new material.

Manufacturers in Dearborn And Van Buren Township, Michigan, Expand Facilities With State Incentives (Area Development)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation reported the state's Strategic Fund approved incentives designed to spark about $76 million in business expansion projects and create more than 380 jobs throughout the state. "Helping businesses grow and locate in Michigan, transforming two of our urban downtown areas, and increasing economic activity at one of the state's major ports will create more and better jobs and build upon our Great Lakes State quality of life," said Governor Rick Snyder.

KBIC embraces path to connect UP villages (UP Matters)
Connecting a nearly 12-mile stretch of land that runs beside the southern rim of the Kewanee Bay holds unprecedented promise for two Upper Peninsula communities viewing the creation of the new path as a major boost to the region's economic development and quality of life.

Sperry's developer gets cash, deadline (The Times Herald)
Long-awaited federal funds that could mean the start of construction at the Sperry's building have gotten the green light. The roughly $10 million project to renovate the former department store into a boutique theater and restaurant has secured about $2.5 million in loan and grant funding through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

State Fund Loaning $3.5 Million to Wurlitzer Building Developers (WDET)
The Michigan Strategic Fund is awarding a loan to the owners of the Wurlitzer Building in Detroit. The Michigan Economic Development Corporation-run fund is providing $3.5 million to turn the long-unoccupied building into a 100-plus room boutique hotel. MEDC spokesperson Stacy Esbrook says there are also plans for retail and restaurant space on the first floor of the Wurlitzer.

MPSC
Royal Oak calls on DTE to address recurring power outages (Macomb Daily News)
Persistent and unexplained power outages in Royal Oak have city officials calling on DTE Energy to explain when the company will address the problem and upgrade its aging equipment. "They acknowledge there are problems with their infrastructure" that cause fires and outages, said City Commissioner Jeremy Mahrle. "My frustration is there is no solution for us ... to challenge DTE to upgrade their infrastructure."

Slight drop coming for Michigan Gas Utilities residential customers (WTVB)
A slight break in monthly bills is coming for homeowners who are customers of Michigan Gas Utilities. The Michigan Public Service Commission today approved a settlement agreement authorizing MGU to implement the utility's energy optimization plan for 2016 and 2017.

SOS
Michigan Secretary of State is Suing Hewlett-Packard (WDET)
The Michigan Secretary of State is suing Hewlett-Packard for failing to upgrade the computer systems in 131 Secretary of State offices. The tech provider did not complete the $49 million upgrade by the 2010 deadline and stopped providing technical support after the contract was terminated this summer.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Sen. Casperson 'definitely looking' at run for Congress (The Detroit News)
State Sen. Tom Casperson, R-Escanaba, is all but certain to jump into a 2016 Republican primary in the 1st Congressional District. As the GOP's Mackinac Island conference came to a close Sunday, Casperson said he's studying the race closely following Republican Congressman DanBenishek's abrupt decision last week to reverse course and not seek a fourth term as planned.

Lawmakers try again to add criminal penalties for coercing abortion (Michigan Radio)
People would face criminal penalties for coercing someone to have an abortion under a bill in the state House. Republican state lawmakers have been trying to add the penalties for years. Supporters say prosecutors should have them as a tool to crack down on domestic abuse.

Partisan redistricting at 'heart' of voter frustration, says Michigan group exploring alternatives (MLive)
Partisan redistricting is at "the heart of so much frustration the public is feeling toward their elected leaders," according to the Michigan League of Women Voters, which is hosting a series of town halls across the state to discuss alternatives.

DETROIT

Duggan expresses frustration with stalled D-Insurance (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan said Wednesday that he's hopping mad about the health care industry's opposition to his plan for D-Insurance, the proposal for lower-cost auto insurance in a city with the nation's highest insurance premiums.

Mayor Duggan: Detroit working to cut crime (Detroit News)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan said he's unsatisfied with the city's crime rates and is working every day on the issue. "The violence is not coming down at the rate we need it to," Duggan told local journalists who are members of the Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Black Journalists during an exclusive interview at the St. Regis Hotel in Midtown. "I'm going to keep (working) every day until it does."

23,000 Backpacks Donated to DPS Students (Daily Detroit)
For many kids, the first day of school is an exciting time. They get to start a new grade, make new friends, and learn new subjects. However, for kids who lack proper school supplies, the first day of school can be painful. However, this school year, the Mike Morse Law Firm, Michigan's largest personal injury law firm, took a drastic step to ensure that every child in Detroit Public Schools grades K-5 received the proper school supplies.

Homelessness in Detroit Public Schools (FOX 2)
Hundreds of Detroit school children are either living in shelters or living on the streets. The serious problem doesn't get a lot of attention but now, the district is becoming a safe haven for kids with no place to call home. The schools are more than just the place the students get education. They also provides clothes, transportation, and support for the students.

Paralyzed Detroit teen, devoted dad get new home (Detroit Free Press)
For Davis and her father, Curtis White, it has been a long journey since she was struck by a bullet from a passing car on Detroit's east side and nearly killed on Aug. 5, 2009, when she was 13. She suffered two heart attacks and a stroke, and underwent numerous surgeries. White was told it was likely she would not survive. But now, the devoted dad and teen finally have a happy ending after receiving a lift van and a debt-free, furnished home that accommodates her disabilities Wednesday from Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries.

Detroit's Eastern Market hosts rare evening event (Detroit Free Press)
Lofts, studios and galleries around Detroit's Eastern Market are opening for a special nighttime event. The Detroit Design Festival's Eastern Market After Dark takes place Thursday, transforming the market into a playground for after-hours exploring. The Detroit Design Festival runs through this weekend and brings together hundreds of designers and others to the city.

Councilman wants to help residents affected by gunfire (The Detroit News)

A Detroit city councilman unveiled a plan Wednesday to use technology to help fight crime and provide social services to residents in need. Scott Benson rolled out Operation Shot Spotter, in which community volunteers will monitor gun shots that are fired, and then visit the location after a three-day cooling off period.

OPINION

Risky Mackinac pipeline presents a test for Michigan leaders (MLive)
Few people know that two of the most iconic symbols of Pure Michigan, Mackinac Island and the Mackinac Bridge, are a stone's throw away from a hidden danger.

Finley: Disunity will deny GOP a 2016 win (Detroit News)
After spending last weekend with a couple of thousand Michigan Republicans and some presidential candidates courting their support, it's clear the GOP is fractured along two planes.

Our Editorial: Tackling heroin abuse (Detroit News)
Heroin and opioid prescription drug abuse has been a growing problem over the past couple years throughout the country, and in Metro Detroit in particular. U.S. Attorney Barbara McQuade of the Eastern District of Michigan is tackling the issue head on with a smart approach that targets drug traffickers rather than users, and emphasizes prevention.

Bush: My economic plan would help Michigan (Detroit News)
I recently had the good fortune to visit Michigan and discuss my ideas for strengthening our nation and creating new economic opportunities for working families.

Thompson: Detroit can't ignore 'energetic' population (Detroit News)
Detroit's young residents say they want to be at the center of the transformation of the city. And in downtown Detroit, the most recent Census reports found a 59 percent increase in the number of college-educated youth under age 35 have taken residence there in the last decade.

Snyder's approach to China can pay off for Michigan (Detroit Free Press)
China's economy is slowing down, yet Michigan is gearing up to find ways to export our goods and services and to tap direct investment from China in ways that create jobs and wealth here at home.

Governor Snyder's plan for clean power makes good business sense (Macomb Daily)
The recent announcement by Governor Rick Snyder that Michigan will create a state-based clean energy plan to comply with the Environmental Protection Agency's Clean Power Plan is a step in the right direction for our clean energy future.

Watkins: Snyder's approach to China can pay off for Michigan (Freep)
The Chinese market, with 1.3 billion people and a middle class that exceeds 300 million is the mother lode of 21st-Century global commerce. Gov. Rick Snyder has traveled to China five times, just returning from another successful trip. A Chinese bearing manufacturer is investing nearly $26 million to establish a new U.S. headquarters in Northville, creating 125 jobs.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Sept. 24, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Chinese president visit
Chinese president pledges cooperation on cyber issues (AP)
Earlier Tuesday, meetings with governors from five U.S. states and local Chinese officials produced the deal to work on clean energy. "We can be the core for our national leaders to learn from," Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, who has made five trips to China in five years, told his counterparts.

China's President Xi Jinping Visits the U.S. (WDET)
China: Governor Snyder met with President Xi several times about development in Michigan. "The Governor has taken five trips to China since he's taken office," Watkins says, "It is paying off with jobs and investments in this state."

Fostering futures
Benefit seeks to help former foster children pay for college (AP)
The Michigan Education Trust and the state departments of Treasury and Health and Human Services are hosting Thursday night's fundraiser at Detroit's Atheneum hotel. Gov. Rick Snyder and his wife are honorary chairpersons of Fostering Futures. About 13,000 students are in the Michigan foster care system and many want to attend college, but the state says fewer than 10 percent enroll after high school and less than 3 percent get a college degree. The state says a lack of financial resources is a reason.

MISCELLANEOUS

Candice Miller endorses Carly Fiorina for president (Freep)
A few days after introducing her to the crowd at the Mackinac Republican Leadership Conference, U.S. Rep. Candice Miller on Wednesday announced her endorsement of former Hewlett-Packard head Carly Fiorina in the race for the Republican presidential nomination in 2016.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Researchers finish study of Michigan oil, gas fracking (Idaho Statesmen)
Michigan's oil and gas industry and its regulators have a long way to go toward convincing the public that hydraulic fracturing, or fracking, is environmentally sound, said the director of a study on the practice released Wednesday.

U-M releases final report on high-volume hydraulic fracturing in Michigan (EurekAlert)

University of Michigan researchers today released the final version of a report analyzing policy options for the state of Michigan regarding high-volume hydraulic fracturing, the natural gas and oil extraction process commonly known as fracking.

Mackinac Straits oil spill response drill set Thursday (Petoskey News)
Hundreds of emergency management personnel are scheduled to respond to a mock oil spill Thursday in the Mackinac Straits to train for the possibility of a real spill.

New ACLU video gets tough with Flint officials over lead levels (Metro Times)
A new video from the Michigan ACLU offers some new findings, as well as some very uncomfortable interviews with city officials, as the organization continues to seek justice for residents who have hazardous water coming out of their faucets.

Conservators Making Significant Progress on River Raisin Recovery Efforts (WDET)
The US Environmental Protection Agency is removing a couple of ecological issues from the River Raisin thanks to recent recovery efforts. Conservators have restored the waterway's ability to support healthy fish and wildlife populations. Melanie Foose is an Area of Concern Coordinator for the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality. She says, for example, crews worked to create bypasses around decades-old dams in the river.

Hazardous waste facility's expansion prompts worries (The Detroit News)
The expansion of operations at a hazardous waste facility in Detroit near the Hamtramck border has raised safety questions among some of those who live in or represent the area. Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality is considering a new permit for U.S. Ecology, located on Georgia Street near the city's border with Hamtramck. The site, zoned for heavy industrial, has been used to treat and store waste products, including hazardous materials, for nearly 20 years.

DMVA
'Michigan Says Thanks' event to honor Vietnam War era veterans and families (Macomb Daily News)
Michigan's Vietnam veterans, whether drafted or enlisted, served our country with honor. Tragically, too many returned home with little thanks for their service and not much help transitioning to civilian life. In October, we will spend some time thanking and honoring veterans of the Vietnam War era and their families for their service and sacrifice on behalf of the United States.

Baker College earns status as 'veteran-friendly' school (The Voice)
Baker College has earned the gold-level status as a veteran-friendly school through a program created by the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA). The Veteran-Friendly School program recognizes institutions of higher learning for their dedication to student veterans and dependents, and awards gold-, silver- and bronze-level statuses to institutions based on their veteran-centric services.

DNR
More cleanup efforts planned at storm-damaged trail system (9 & 10 News)
More cleanup efforts are planned for a trail system in Michigan's northern Lower Peninsula that was hit hard by severe thunderstorms last month.

Ensuring a clear path for snowmobiles (Record Eagle)
Expansion of snowmobile trails could boost local economies but may lead to conflicts about crossing private land. In a move to head off such conflicts, a new Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant program will allow local governments and organizations to purchase permanent easements for snowmobile trails that cross private property.

73-year-old great-grandmother shoots Michigan black bear (Monroe News)
Like your typical great-grandmother, Karen Kuch enjoys doing crossword puzzles, reading books and baking. But Kuch is anything but typical. Measuring in at 4 feet, 11 inches tall, the 73-year-old great-grandmother traveled to Michigan's Upper Peninsula recently with her Ruger 44 Magnum rifle and successfully hunted a 220-pound Michigan black bear.

Michigan reduces stocking of salmon in Lake Michigan (AP)
The state of Michigan is stocking fewer salmon in Lake Michigan amid concerns over food supply. About 560,000 salmon were stocked in Lake Michigan this year, two-thirds less than three years ago. WOOD-TV reports a state Department of Natural Resources representative says there are fewer prey fish, such as alewife, for salmon to eat, and stocking too many salmon could result in the fishery collapsing

LTBB Surveys Sturgeon on Burt Lake to Gather Information (9 & 10 News)
A local Native American tribe is making efforts to examine the sturgeon population.The Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians has been surveying sturgeon for almost two weeks now. They've been catching sturgeon in gill nets to gather information on the fish in Burt Lake in Cheboygan County.

A slow start to fall fishing on the Big Manistee (Up North Live)
The warm weather a lot of us have been enjoying isn't exactly what anglers have been hoping for. Granted fall is just beginning, but by now there should be plenty of fish in the Manistee. But with water temps in the river still in the mid 60's, the fish just aren't there yet.

Invasive species study up close (Record Eagle)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wildlife staff recently completed the removal of a high-threat aquatic invasive plant known as yellow floating heart as part of the state's Early Detection and Response program.

LARA
ACLU threatens action against Catholic hospital (The Detroit News)
The American Civil Liberties Union threatened action Wednesday against a Grand Blanc Catholic hospital for refusing a seriously ill woman's request to be sterilized during her scheduled C-section next month. Jessica Mann, 33, of Flushing, has a life-threatening brain tumor and is 35 weeks pregnant, according to the American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan. Genesys Regional Medical Center — part of Ascension Health, the nation's largest Catholic health system — has refused to allow Mann's obstetrician to perform a tubal ligation at the time of the cesarean procedure.

Huntington gives Lansing region $5M for business lending (Lansing State Journal)
Though Rodney Singleton is two years away from retirement, he is already is looking for something to keep him occupied when that time comes. "I am not a golf guy," said Singleton, who works for the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs.

MDE
Ithaca could owe state $1 million for violations (Morning Sun News)
Ithaca Public Schools may be on the hook for over $1 million to the Michigan Department of Education after an audit of the school's online learning program, known as iSchool, revealed improperly-documented participation of hundreds of students since the fall of 2014. In a letter to the Ithaca School Board, on which the district staff was also copied, Gratiot-Isabella RESD Superintendent Jan Amsterburg, also serving as acting superintendent for the Ithaca district, said the audit findings put into question the legitimacy of student membership.

High schools see curriculum tweaks, new activities (C & G News)

With a new school year come tweaks to the schools themselves, and while East Detroit and Roseville high schools may not have any drastic changes this time around, those changes that have been made should make an impact on students. East Detroit High School Principal Scott Johnson said his school has added a career counselor this year — someone who will help students fill out applications for financial aid and prepare for post-secondary education or careers.

MDHHS

St. Clair County Health Department launches immunization coalition (The Voice)
The St. Clair County Health Department and MPRO, as part of the Lake Superior Quality Innovation Network, recently partnered to develop the St. Clair County Adult Immunization Coalition. The coalition will bring together health care professionals to address barriers that exist in recommending and providing immunizations to patients throughout the county, according to a release from MPRO, a non-profit health care quality improvement organization.

MSU Working to Raise Flu Vaccination Rate (WLIX)
The majority of college students are skipping the flu shot, which has state health experts teaming up with schools to improve vaccination rates.

State gets funding for colorectal cancer screenings (Public Radio 90)
Michigan has received a five-year grant to improve colorectal cancer screening rates in the state. The money was awarded to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services Cancer Prevention and Control Section from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Officials are hoping to increase screening rates from the current 72 percent to 80 percent by 2018.

MDOT

Legislation calls for Great Lakes crude shipment ban, studies on alternatives to Line 5 (Petoskey News)
As hundreds prepare to gather for an oil spill response drill in the Mackinac Straits, Michigan's two U.S. senators announced new legislation introduced in hopes of preventing such a spill in the Great Lakes. In a conference call Wednesday, U.S. Sens. Gary Peters and Debbie Stabenow announced their proposed Pipeline Improvement and Preventing Spills Act, which if put into effect would examine alternatives to Line 5 — twin oil pipelines running through the Mackinac Straits — and ban the shipping of crude oil by vessel on the Great Lakes, among other measures in protecting the Great Lakes from an oil spill.

Fear the deer (Ionia Sentinel)
There were 450 vehicle-deer accidents in Ionia County last year and October is one of the most dangerous months for driving, according to the Michigan Deer Crash Coalition. Six people died and 1,702 people were injured in Michigan last year in vehicle-deer accidents and 42 percent of all these types of crashes happen in the fall, according to the MDCC.

MEDC

Port Of Monroe To Get Major Improvements (Daily Detroit)
The City of Monroe's harbor will be undergoing major improvements and alterations in an effort to transform it into a leading cargo transportation center on the Great Lakes. The harbor is a critical economic resource, though many people probably don't even know about it.
Located on the western edge of Lake Erie, the port provides direct access to all five of the Great Lakes and serves 17 states.

Carhartt To Invest $18.6 Million For HQ Expansion In Dearborn, Hire 215 (Daily Detroit)
Unless you've been living under a rock for the last several months, you've probably heard about the new Carhartt location that opened in the Midtown neighborhood of Detroit earlier this summer. Carhartt, founded in Detroit in 1889, is a garment manufacturer best known for work clothes such as jackets, coats, overalls, coveralls, vests and more.

Business expansion to bring 223 new jobs to Auburn Hills over three years (Oakland Press Business)
A Windsor, Ontario-based business plans to create 223 new jobs to Auburn Hills over the next three years with an expansion to a 187,000-square-foot facility in the city. Valiant International Inc., which makes automated auto systems, plans to pay an average of $47 per hour to skilled-trade workers at the facility. The company already has a presence in Oakland County, with an advanced technology engineering center that has been in operation in Troy since 1983.

Madison Elementary settling into year-round calendar (C&G News)
Educators have often wrestled with how to get around the "brain drain" that occurs over summer break. When students come back in the fall, teachers find themselves working harder to get the students focused and back up to speed. Sometimes this means retreading old ground instead of delving straight into new material.

Manufacturers In Dearborn And Van Buren Township, Michigan, Expand Facilities With State Incentives (Area Development)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation reported the state's Strategic Fund approved incentives designed to spark about $76 million in business expansion projects and create more than 380 jobs throughout the state. "Helping businesses grow and locate in Michigan, transforming two of our urban downtown areas, and increasing economic activity at one of the state's major ports will create more and better jobs and build upon our Great Lakes State quality of life," said Governor Rick Snyder.

KBIC embraces path to connect UP villages (UP Matters)
Connecting a nearly 12-mile stretch of land that runs beside the southern rim of the Kewanee Bay holds unprecedented promise for two Upper Peninsula communities viewing the creation of the new path as a major boost to the region's economic development and quality of life.

Sperry's developer gets cash, deadline (The Times Herald)
Long-awaited federal funds that could mean the start of construction at the Sperry's building have gotten the green light. The roughly $10 million project to renovate the former department store into a boutique theater and restaurant has secured about $2.5 million in loan and grant funding through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

State Fund Loaning $3.5 Million to Wurlitzer Building Developers (WDET)
The Michigan Strategic Fund is awarding a loan to the owners of the Wurlitzer Building in Detroit. The Michigan Economic Development Corporation-run fund is providing $3.5 million to turn the long-unoccupied building into a 100-plus room boutique hotel. MEDC spokesperson Stacy Esbrook says there are also plans for retail and restaurant space on the first floor of the Wurlitzer.

MPSC
Royal Oak calls on DTE to address recurring power outages (Macomb Daily News)
Persistent and unexplained power outages in Royal Oak have city officials calling on DTE Energy to explain when the company will address the problem and upgrade its aging equipment. "They acknowledge there are problems with their infrastructure" that cause fires and outages, said City Commissioner Jeremy Mahrle. "My frustration is there is no solution for us ... to challenge DTE to upgrade their infrastructure."

Slight drop coming for Michigan Gas Utilities residential customers (WTVB)

A slight break in monthly bills is coming for homeowners who are customers of Michigan Gas Utilities. The Michigan Public Service Commission today approved a settlement agreement authorizing MGU to implement the utility's energy optimization plan for 2016 and 2017.

SOS

Michigan Secretary of State is Suing Hewlett-Packard (WDET)
The Michigan Secretary of State is suing Hewlett-Packard for failing to upgrade the computer systems in 131 Secretary of State offices. The tech provider did not complete the $49 million upgrade by the 2010 deadline and stopped providing technical support after the contract was terminated this summer.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Sen. Casperson 'definitely looking' at run for Congress (The Detroit News)
State Sen. Tom Casperson, R-Escanaba, is all but certain to jump into a 2016 Republican primary in the 1st Congressional District. As the GOP's Mackinac Island conference came to a close Sunday, Casperson said he's studying the race closely following Republican Congressman DanBenishek's abrupt decision last week to reverse course and not seek a fourth term as planned.

Lawmakers try again to add criminal penalties for coercing abortion (Michigan Radio)
People would face criminal penalties for coercing someone to have an abortion under a bill in the state House. Republican state lawmakers have been trying to add the penalties for years. Supporters say prosecutors should have them as a tool to crack down on domestic abuse.

Partisan redistricting at 'heart' of voter frustration, says Michigan group exploring alternatives (MLive)
Partisan redistricting is at "the heart of so much frustration the public is feeling toward their elected leaders," according to the Michigan League of Women Voters, which is hosting a series of town halls across the state to discuss alternatives.

DETROIT

Duggan expresses frustration with stalled D-Insurance (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan said Wednesday that he's hopping mad about the health care industry's opposition to his plan for D-Insurance, the proposal for lower-cost auto insurance in a city with the nation's highest insurance premiums.

Mayor Duggan: Detroit working to cut crime (Detroit News)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan said he's unsatisfied with the city's crime rates and is working every day on the issue. "The violence is not coming down at the rate we need it to," Duggan told local journalists who are members of the Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Black Journalists during an exclusive interview at the St. Regis Hotel in Midtown. "I'm going to keep (working) every day until it does."

23,000 Backpacks Donated to DPS Students (Daily Detroit)
For many kids, the first day of school is an exciting time. They get to start a new grade, make new friends, and learn new subjects. However, for kids who lack proper school supplies, the first day of school can be painful. However, this school year, the Mike Morse Law Firm, Michigan's largest personal injury law firm, took a drastic step to ensure that every child in Detroit Public Schools grades K-5 received the proper school supplies.

Homelessness in Detroit Public Schools (FOX 2)
Hundreds of Detroit school children are either living in shelters or living on the streets. The serious problem doesn't get a lot of attention but now, the district is becoming a safe haven for kids with no place to call home. The schools are more than just the place the students get education. They also provides clothes, transportation, and support for the students.

Paralyzed Detroit teen, devoted dad get new home (Detroit Free Press)
For Davis and her father, Curtis White, it has been a long journey since she was struck by a bullet from a passing car on Detroit's east side and nearly killed on Aug. 5, 2009, when she was 13. She suffered two heart attacks and a stroke, and underwent numerous surgeries. White was told it was likely she would not survive. But now, the devoted dad and teen finally have a happy ending after receiving a lift van and a debt-free, furnished home that accommodates her disabilities Wednesday from Detroit Rescue Mission Ministries.

Detroit's Eastern Market hosts rare evening event (Detroit Free Press)
Lofts, studios and galleries around Detroit's Eastern Market are opening for a special nighttime event. The Detroit Design Festival's Eastern Market After Dark takes place Thursday, transforming the market into a playground for after-hours exploring. The Detroit Design Festival runs through this weekend and brings together hundreds of designers and others to the city.

Councilman wants to help residents affected by gunfire (The Detroit News)
A Detroit city councilman unveiled a plan Wednesday to use technology to help fight crime and provide social services to residents in need. Scott Benson rolled out Operation Shot Spotter, in which community volunteers will monitor gun shots that are fired, and then visit the location after a three-day cooling off period.

OPINION

Risky Mackinac pipeline presents a test for Michigan leaders (MLive)
Few people know that two of the most iconic symbols of Pure Michigan, Mackinac Island and the Mackinac Bridge, are a stone's throw away from a hidden danger.

Finley: Disunity will deny GOP a 2016 win (Detroit News)
After spending last weekend with a couple of thousand Michigan Republicans and some presidential candidates courting their support, it's clear the GOP is fractured along two planes.

Our Editorial: Tackling heroin abuse (Detroit News)
Heroin and opioid prescription drug abuse has been a growing problem over the past couple years throughout the country, and in Metro Detroit in particular. U.S. Attorney Barbara McQuade of the Eastern District of Michigan is tackling the issue head on with a smart approach that targets drug traffickers rather than users, and emphasizes prevention.

Bush: My economic plan would help Michigan (Detroit News)
I recently had the good fortune to visit Michigan and discuss my ideas for strengthening our nation and creating new economic opportunities for working families.

Thompson: Detroit can't ignore 'energetic' population (Detroit News)
Detroit's young residents say they want to be at the center of the transformation of the city. And in downtown Detroit, the most recent Census reports found a 59 percent increase in the number of college-educated youth under age 35 have taken residence there in the last decade.

Snyder's approach to China can pay off for Michigan (Detroit Free Press)

China's economy is slowing down, yet Michigan is gearing up to find ways to export our goods and services and to tap direct investment from China in ways that create jobs and wealth here at home.

Governor Snyder's plan for clean power makes good business sense (Macomb Daily)
The recent announcement by Governor Rick Snyder that Michigan will create a state-based clean energy plan to comply with the Environmental Protection Agency's Clean Power Plan is a step in the right direction for our clean energy future.

Watkins: Snyder's approach to China can pay off for Michigan (Freep)
The Chinese market, with 1.3 billion people and a middle class that exceeds 300 million is the mother lode of 21st-Century global commerce. Gov. Rick Snyder has traveled to China five times, just returning from another successful trip. A Chinese bearing manufacturer is investing nearly $26 million to establish a new U.S. headquarters in Northville, creating 125 jobs.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, September 25, 2015 10:07 AM
Subject: 9/25 Newsroom
Attachments: 150925 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, Sept. 25, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Brian Calley, Richard Bernstein hosting WCC event on hiring workers with disabilities (Mlive)
To help solve that problem, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Bernstein are bringing their Hidden Talent Tour to Washtenaw Community College Thursday night. The event will feature an open discussion on workers with disabilities.

Xemplar Club welcomes Lieutenant Governor in Farmington (Farmington Voice)
Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley told a group of Farmington area civic leaders Wednesday that Michigan's unemployment rate could go lower, if employers will consider widening their hiring horizons.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Nevada attorney general joins others in launching investigation of Volkswagen (Las Vegas Sun)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette's office said Thursday he and at least 26 other attorneys general will send subpoenas to the German automaker. Spokeswoman Andrea Bitely says many states will investigate both through their consumer protection and environmental protection divisions.

People ripped off by Western Sky loans to get refunds (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan consumers who were ripped off by illegal, high-priced loans from Western Sky Financial and CashCall are expected to see refund checks by Oct. 2 as part of an earlier-announced multimillion-dollar settlement. Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette and Michigan Department of Insurance and Financial Services Director Patrick McPharlin announced the final claim details this week.

DEQ
Agencies, Enbridge plan Straits of Mackinac oil spill drill (AP)
State and federal agencies are teaming with pipeline operator Enbridge Energy Partners for an oil spill response exercise in the area where crude is piped beneath the Great Lakes. More than 300 people are joining the drill on Thursday, which will simulate a leak from Line 5 in the Straits of Mackinac. The twin lines carry 23 million gallons of crude daily. It's part of a network that runs from North Dakota to Sarnia, Ontario.

Hazardous waste facility's expansion prompts worries (The Detroit News)
The expansion of operations at a hazardous waste facility in Detroit near the Hamtramck border has raised safety questions among some of those who live in or represent the area.

$1.475 million grant to help prevent sewage and stormwater backups in Pittsfield Township (MLive)
The likelihood of a sewage backup in Pittsfield Township will be greatly reduced going forward. That's because the township recently learned it will receive a $1.475 million Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Stormwater Asset Management and Wastewater grant.

State plan to curb Wayne County sulfur dioxide blasted at public hearing (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality has a plan to curb sulfur dioxide pollution in Wayne County, and it has plenty of critics.
In 2013, an area of Wayne County that includes part of Detroit and some downriver communities failed to meet new federal ambient air quality standards for sulfur dioxide.

DHHS
Lead-poisoned Flint kids will pay price for water switch (Detroit Free Press)
Here's what we know about the water supply in Flint: State data show there's more lead in the city's water than at any time in the last 20 years, according to published reports. And new data compiled by a Hurley Children's Hospital researcher shows that the percentage of children with elevated blood-lead levels, in some zip codes, nearly doubled since the city began to draw its water from the Flint River.

DNR
State wants to look at 93-pound Petoskey stone taken from Lake Michigan (MLive)
Authorities with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources say they want to speak with Tim O'Brien after news reports emerged about him digging out and carrying away a 93-pound Petoskey stone from Lake Michigan.

MDOT
State provides almost $300,000 for Jonesville rail trail (The Collegian)
The city of Jonesville will open construction bidding in January for the rail trail in order to complete the project sometime during the summer of 2016. The $400,000 project will be funded through a $296,000 Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant and $104,000 in matched city funds.

MSP
Unique Partnership Offers Support for Legal Name Changes (Pride Source)
The Transgender Legal Defense & Education Fund, a national nonprofit organization dedicated to ending discrimination against transgender people, is set to officially launch its Name Change Project in Michigan. The project will provide legal assistance for trans people who are seeking to change their legal name.

State police keep tabs on county's 400 sex offenders (Daily Telegram)
Troopers from the Monroe post of the Michigan State Police spent Wednesday checking in on Lenawee County's registered sex offenders, making sure they are compliant with the terms of their registration. There are approximately 400 registered sex offenders in Lenawee County, 1st Lt. Tony Cuevas said. Depending on the level of his or her offense, they must verify their information with local law enforcement agencies at least once a year. Others must check in twice a year, while the highest-level offenders must verify their personal information four times annually.

Hundreds gather at fundraiser for family of Michigan State Police Trooper Chad Wolf (WXYZ)
Hundreds of people gathered in Livonia Thursday night to help the family of fallen Michigan State Police Trooper Chad Wolf who was killed in a crash while on motorcycle duty.

Supreme Court
Medical Marijuana Act may be unfixable, says attorney (MLive)
The Michigan Court of Appeals decision upholding the conviction of a Kentwood man for violating the Michigan Medical Marijuana Act does little to clarify a law many see as confusing.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Roads, energy, DPS on top of legislative agenda (Detroit Free Press)
Since those plans passed in June and July, legislative leadership has been meeting with Gov. Rick Snyder and Lt. Gov. Brian Calley to try to reach some middle ground. And the numbers being tossed around include some sort of split between money raised from some sort of gas tax, increased registration fees or other ways to raise revenue, and shifting money from the general fund into roads. The formula has ranged from an even split, to $800 million in new revenue and $400 million from existing funds.

Michigan panel debates changes to presidential election system, Electoral College votes (MLive)
Michigan's Republican-led Legislature is again debating prospective election law changes that could benefit a second-place finisher in the state, which has gone Democratic since 1992. The Senate Elections and Government Reform Committee on Thursday took testimony on proposals that would divide Michigan's Electoral College votes, but chairman Dave Robertson, R-Grand Blanc, told reporters that he does not expect any changes for the 2016 election cycle.

Lawmakers split on inspections for prison kitchens (Detroit Free Press)
Lawmakers are split on bipartisan legislation — prompted by reports of maggots and other sanitation issues under former food contractor Aramark Correctional Services — that would require local health departments to inspect prison kitchens regularly.

Lawmakers ponder bigger punishment for big tuition hikes (Detroit Free Press)
The presidents of two southeastern Michigan universities echoed each other as they tried to convince state lawmakers not to lower the boom on them for imposing large tuition hikes on students.

Need for Michigan-First Energy Plan urgent (Huron County View)
The need for a Michigan-first energy plan to ensure reliability and protect customers is increasingly urgent in light of a new Michigan Agency for Energy report that 25 coal units in the state have or will shut down by 2020 due to age and current EPA regulations. The units include Consumers Energy's seven oldest coal plants which are shutting down by April 15, 2016.

OPINION

We should welcome Scheutte's response to Iran deal (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan has a history of using economic sanctions and divestment to prevent Iran from gaining assets from Michigan-based entities. Last month, Attorney General Bill Schuette and Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt encouraged other states to continue state-based economic sanctions and divestment against Iran.

Lead-poisoned Flint kids will pay price for water switch (Detroit Free Press)
Here's what we know about the water supply in Flint: State data show there's more lead in the city's water than at any time in the last 20 years, according to published reports. And new data compiled by a Hurley Children's Hospital researcher shows that the percentage of children with elevated blood-lead levels, in some zip codes, nearly doubled since the city began to draw its water from the Flint River.

Editor's note: Part-time Legislature gets boost (Detroit News)
The push to make Michigan's Legislature part-time and end term limits got a boost from last weekend's straw poll during the state Republican Leadership Conference on Mackinac Island.

Editorial: Saving the city's men a complex task (Detroit News)
Rebuilding a city means little if a large percentage of its people get left behind. Mayor Mike Duggan acknowledged that this week when he asked: "What does Detroit's recovery mean if everybody doesn't have the chance to participate?"

Susan J. Demas: What's a moderate in today's Republican Party? (MLive)
Jeb Bush has long been considered the "moderate" in the GOP presidential field. But what does that really mean?

Mackinac oil won't mix with water — the lifeblood of craft-brew business (MLive)
When I started the Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company, it was the Great Lakes that made it all possible. We draw our water from the Charlevoix Municipal System that is sourced directly from Lake Michigan. Water of the highest quality is what makes it possible for us to succeed and employ 65 people while helping build the economic base for Charlevoix and the surrounding area.

Prognosis is poor for 600,000 Michiganians to keep health coverage (Toledo Blade)
For more than a month, the antics of two misbehaving state lawmakers — Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat — have filled papers and broadcasts across Michigan, blotting out much other news.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, Sept. 25, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Brian Calley, Richard Bernstein hosting WCC event on hiring workers with disabilities (Mlive)
To help solve that problem, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Bernstein are bringing their Hidden Talent Tour to Washtenaw Community College Thursday night. The event will feature an open discussion on workers with disabilities.

Xemplar Club welcomes Lieutenant Governor in Farmington (Farmington Voice)
Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley told a group of Farmington area civic leaders Wednesday that Michigan's unemployment rate could go lower, if employers will consider widening their hiring horizons.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Nevada attorney general joins others in launching investigation of Volkswagen (Las Vegas Sun)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette's office said Thursday he and at least 26 other attorneys general will send subpoenas to the German automaker. Spokeswoman Andrea Bitely says many states will investigate both through their consumer protection and environmental protection divisions.

People ripped off by Western Sky loans to get refunds (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan consumers who were ripped off by illegal, high-priced loans from Western Sky Financial and CashCall are expected to see refund checks by Oct. 2 as part of an earlier-announced multimillion-dollar settlement. Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette and Michigan Department of Insurance and Financial Services Director Patrick McPharlin announced the final claim details this week.

DEQ
Agencies, Enbridge plan Straits of Mackinac oil spill drill (AP)
State and federal agencies are teaming with pipeline operator Enbridge Energy Partners for an oil spill response exercise in the area where crude is piped beneath the Great Lakes. More than 300 people are joining the drill on Thursday, which will simulate a leak from Line 5 in the Straits of Mackinac. The twin lines carry 23 million gallons of crude daily. It's part of a network that runs from North Dakota to Sarnia, Ontario.

Hazardous waste facility's expansion prompts worries (The Detroit News)
The expansion of operations at a hazardous waste facility in Detroit near the Hamtramck border has raised safety questions among some of those who live in or represent the area.

$1.475 million grant to help prevent sewage and stormwater backups in Pittsfield Township (MLive)

The likelihood of a sewage backup in Pittsfield Township will be greatly reduced going forward. That's because the township recently learned it will receive a $1.475 million Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Stormwater Asset Management and Wastewater grant.

State plan to curb Wayne County sulfur dioxide blasted at public hearing (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality has a plan to curb sulfur dioxide pollution in Wayne County, and it has plenty of critics.
In 2013, an area of Wayne County that includes part of Detroit and some downriver communities failed to meet new federal ambient air quality standards for sulfur dioxide.

DHHS
Lead-poisoned Flint kids will pay price for water switch (Detroit Free Press)
Here's what we know about the water supply in Flint: State data show there's more lead in the city's water than at any time in the last 20 years, according to published reports. And new data compiled by a Hurley Children's Hospital researcher shows that the percentage of children with elevated blood-lead levels, in some zip codes, nearly doubled since the city began to draw its water from the Flint River.

DNR
State wants to look at 93-pound Petoskey stone taken from Lake Michigan (MLive)
Authorities with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources say they want to speak with Tim O'Brien after news reports emerged about him digging out and carrying away a 93-pound Petoskey stone from Lake Michigan.

MDOT
State provides almost $300,000 for Jonesville rail trail (The Collegian)
The city of Jonesville will open construction bidding in January for the rail trail in order to complete the project sometime during the summer of 2016. The $400,000 project will be funded through a $296,000 Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant and $104,000 in matched city funds.

MSP
Unique Partnership Offers Support for Legal Name Changes (Pride Source)
The Transgender Legal Defense & Education Fund, a national nonprofit organization dedicated to ending discrimination against transgender people, is set to officially launch its Name Change Project in Michigan. The project will provide legal assistance for trans people who are seeking to change their legal name.

State police keep tabs on county's 400 sex offenders (Daily Telegram)
Troopers from the Monroe post of the Michigan State Police spent Wednesday checking in on Lenawee County's registered sex offenders, making sure they are compliant with the terms of their registration. There are approximately 400 registered sex offenders in Lenawee County, 1st Lt. Tony Cuevas said. Depending on the level of his or her offense, they must verify their information with local law enforcement agencies at least once a year. Others must check in twice a year, while the highest-level offenders must verify their personal information four times annually.

Hundreds gather at fundraiser for family of Michigan State Police Trooper Chad Wolf (WXYZ)
Hundreds of people gathered in Livonia Thursday night to help the family of fallen Michigan State Police Trooper Chad Wolf who was killed in a crash while on motorcycle duty.

Supreme Court
Medical Marijuana Act may be unfixable, says attorney (MLive)

The Michigan Court of Appeals decision upholding the conviction of a Kentwood man for violating the Michigan Medical Marijuana Act does little to clarify a law many see as confusing.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Roads, energy, DPS on top of legislative agenda (Detroit Free Press)
Since those plans passed in June and July, legislative leadership has been meeting with Gov. Rick Snyder and Lt. Gov. Brian Calley to try to reach some middle ground. And the numbers being tossed around include some sort of split between money raised from some sort of gas tax, increased registration fees or other ways to raise revenue, and shifting money from the general fund into roads. The formula has ranged from an even split, to $800 million in new revenue and $400 million from existing funds.

Michigan panel debates changes to presidential election system, Electoral College votes (MLive)
Michigan's Republican-led Legislature is again debating prospective election law changes that could benefit a second-place finisher in the state, which has gone Democratic since 1992. The Senate Elections and Government Reform Committee on Thursday took testimony on proposals that would divide Michigan's Electoral College votes, but chairman Dave Robertson, R-Grand Blanc, told reporters that he does not expect any changes for the 2016 election cycle.

Lawmakers split on inspections for prison kitchens (Detroit Free Press)
Lawmakers are split on bipartisan legislation — prompted by reports of maggots and other sanitation issues under former food contractor Aramark Correctional Services — that would require local health departments to inspect prison kitchens regularly.

Lawmakers ponder bigger punishment for big tuition hikes (Detroit Free Press)
The presidents of two southeastern Michigan universities echoed each other as they tried to convince state lawmakers not to lower the boom on them for imposing large tuition hikes on students.

Need for Michigan-First Energy Plan urgent (Huron County View)
The need for a Michigan-first energy plan to ensure reliability and protect customers is increasingly urgent in light of a new Michigan Agency for Energy report that 25 coal units in the state have or will shut down by 2020 due to age and current EPA regulations. The units include Consumers Energy's seven oldest coal plants which are shutting down by April 15, 2016.

OPINION

We should welcome Scheutte's response to Iran deal (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan has a history of using economic sanctions and divestment to prevent Iran from gaining assets from Michigan-based entities. Last month, Attorney General Bill Schuette and Oklahoma Attorney General Scott Pruitt encouraged other states to continue state-based economic sanctions and divestment against Iran.

Lead-poisoned Flint kids will pay price for water switch (Detroit Free Press)
Here's what we know about the water supply in Flint: State data show there's more lead in the city's water than at any time in the last 20 years, according to published reports. And new data compiled by a Hurley Children's Hospital researcher shows that the percentage of children with elevated blood-lead levels, in some zip codes, nearly doubled since the city began to draw its water from the Flint River.

Editor's note: Part-time Legislature gets boost (Detroit News)
The push to make Michigan's Legislature part-time and end term limits got a boost from last weekend's straw poll during the state Republican Leadership Conference on Mackinac Island.

Editorial: Saving the city's men a complex task (Detroit News)
Rebuilding a city means little if a large percentage of its people get left behind. Mayor Mike Duggan acknowledged that this week when he asked: "What does Detroit's recovery mean if everybody doesn't have the chance to participate?"

Susan J. Demas: What's a moderate in today's Republican Party? (MLive)
Jeb Bush has long been considered the "moderate" in the GOP presidential field. But what does that really mean?

Mackinac oil won't mix with water—the lifeblood of craft-brew business (MLive)
When I started the Lake Charlevoix Brewing Company, it was the Great Lakes that made it all possible. We draw our water from the Charlevoix Municipal System that is sourced directly from Lake Michigan. Water of the highest quality is what makes it possible for us to succeed and employ 65 people while helping build the economic base for Charlevoix and the surrounding area.

Prognosis is poor for 600,000 Michiganians to keep health coverage (Toledo Blade)
For more than a month, the antics of two misbehaving state lawmakers — Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat — have filled papers and broadcasts across Michigan, blotting out much other news.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, September 28, 2015 9:50 AM
Subject: 9/28 Newsroom
Attachments: 150928 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, Sept. 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Amazon announcement
Amazon announcing creation of tech hub in Detroit (Freep)
"It's exciting to see Amazon creating a presence in Detroit and I'm proud to have them here," said Gov. Rick Snyder. "Amazon plans a commitment to developing talent, investing in high-tech jobs and keeping that talent in-state. This company will be a strong partner in growing our talented workforce and opening up these great opportunities."

Amazon, supplier Lear to announce ventures in Detroit (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and the presidents of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University will be on hand for the Amazon announcement. For several years, Amazon has had a recruiting and internship relationship with both universities.

Event previews
Snyder to address Middle Eastern commission (LSJ)
Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to address the inaugural meeting of the Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs on Tuesday. The state Department of Civil Rights said in a news release that the commission, created earlier this year by executive order, will meet for the first time at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Michigan Department of Civil Rights headquarters on the eighth floor of the Capital Tower Building, 110 W. Michigan Ave., the department said in a news release.

Gov. Rick Snyder to unveil new economic initiative during River Rouge visit (Southgate News Herald)
Gov. Rick Snyder will visit River Rouge on Monday to unveil a new initiative designed to help communities build successful economic frameworks. The announcement will be made at 2:30 p.m. at River Rouge's city hall, 10600 W. Jefferson Ave.

Moving Michigan Forward
Snyder fund still collects cash from undisclosed donors (Freep)
Moving Michigan Forward, which, like the NERD Fund, is intended to reduce the financial burden of state government and improve Michigan's social and business climate, reported raising just more than $400,000 in 2014. The website identified all of the 27 individual and corporate donors and how much each gave.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Schuette asks counties for number of untested rape kits (The Detroit News)
Michigan's attorney general is asking prosecutors to report the number of untested rape-evidence kits in their counties. Bill Schuette's letter to county prosecutors Friday is the first step toward the state covering the cost to eliminate an unknown backlog of untested sexual assault kits statewide.

DEQ

Residents want to block hazardous waste plant expansion (Fox 2 Detroit)
Owners of a Detroit waste management plant want to expand their company, but people living nearby, say no. The company has requested that Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality grant it a new permit allowing the company to increase its hazardous waste storage.

Reaction pours in after doctors warn of rising lead levels in Flint kids (MLive)
A group representing Genesee County doctors has joined the call for pregnant mothers and others in high-risk groups to avoid drinking Flint water.
The Genesee County Medical Society Board of Directors approved a resolution Tuesday, Sept. 25, encouraging breast feeding, advising no use of Flint tap water by infants who are fed formula, and encouraging the city to end its use of the Flint River as a water source "as soon as is practicable."

Researchers: Lead levels up after Flint switches to cheaper water supply (Aljazeera America)
Researchers have found high levels of lead in the water supply in Flint, Michigan, after the economically battered city switched its water source from Lake Huron to the Flint River in an attempt to save money. The city issued a lead warning on Friday, ramping up residents' health concerns — and questions about the tradeoffs cash-strapped cities make to revive their economies.

DIFS

People ripped off by Western Sky loans to get refunds (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan consumers who were ripped off by illegal, high-priced loans from Western Sky Financial and CashCall are expected to see refund checks by Oct. 2 as part of an earlier-announced multimillion-dollar settlement.

Checks in high-interest lender settlement to reach Michigan mailboxes by next month (WKZO-AM)
Refund-eligible borrowers will split $2.2 million that was refunded to the state by South Dakota-based Western Sky Financial and California-based CashCall. Attorney General Bill Schutte said the checks should reaching Michigan mailboxes by next month.

DHHS

State data confirms higher blood-lead levels in Flint kids (Detroit Free Press)
Data that the State of Michigan released last week to refute a hospital researcher's claim that an increasing number of Flint children have been lead-poisoned since the city switched its water supply actually supports the hospital's findings, a Free Press analysis has shown.

DMVA

New leadership for GR Home for Vets (WoodTv)
A big shake up in leadership at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans, as two administrative positions have been eliminated. Sara Dunne, the administrator, and Eric Alderman, the director of operations, will no longer be in charge of the facility.

DNR

Health department says West Nile Virus detected in Branch County (WTVB)

Mosquitoes are still biting with the warm early fall weather and the health department in Coldwater is reporting Branch County's first case this year of West Nile virus, which was detected in 3 dead birds turned in by county residents to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The Branch Hillsdale-St. Joseph Community Health Agency also said yesterday another bird, a wild turkey, was submitted by a St. Joseph County resident in late August.

DNR to hold public input session about Fisherman's Island Park in Charlevoix (MiNews 26)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will be hosting an open house to hear public input on a new draft General Management Plan for Fisherman's Island State Park in Charlevoix County.

Lake Sturgeon stocked in Whitefish River (Upper Michigan's Source)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources stocked a Lake Michigan stream Friday morning with 1,180 lake sturgeon. It's part of an effort to repopulate the threatened species across the Great Lakes Region.

Agencies join in oil recovery exercise (Cheboygan News)

The Canadian company Enbridge held an emergency response exercise in the Straits of Mackinac Thursday, testing the company's readiness in the event of a break in Line 5, the pipeline which runs under the Straits that has continually pumped light crude oil and natural gas liquids since its construction in 1953.

DTMB

Lenawee County jobless rate falls to 4.4% (Lenconnect.com)

Lenawee County's jobless rate dropped to 4.4 percent in August from July's 5.6 percent as school support staff began returning to work, according to reports issued Thursday by the Michigan Department of Technology,

Jobless Rates Down in Kalamazoo, Battle Creek Labor Markets in August (WMUK)

The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget says the jobless rate in the Kalamazoo-Portage labor market was 4.2% in August, down from 5.9% last year in Kalamazoo and Van Buren Counties. The Battle Creek labor market's unemployment rate was 4.6% last month. The jobless rate in Calhoun County was 6.1% in August of last year.

MEDC

Downtown developments moving forward despite difficulties (Petosky News)

Developers with two major downtown redevelopment projects in Boyne City recently learned that they are in line for some state economic development funds critical to the financial viability of the projects. But the process has been anything but quick, or easy.

Port of Monroe gets $3 million loan for improvements (Monroe News)

A major infrastructure project at the Port of Monroe could change the landscape of the local economy while promoting similar port projects throughout the state. On Tuesday, the Michigan Strategic Fund approved up to a $3 million loan from its investment funds to improve the port, the Michigan Economic Development Corporation announced.

AMCAB awarded $1.1 million in grants to help U.P. homeless (Upper Michigan's Source)

The Alger Marquette Community Action Board has been awarded three separate grants to serve homeless individuals and families across the Upper Peninsula.

MDE

Vanderbilt Area School transitioning to state treasury oversight (Gaylord Harold Times)

The Michigan Department of Education reported Vanderbilt Area Schools as one of 16 Michigan schools on an early warning deficit list. The list includes schools that have run a deficit for more than five years or schools projected to be running a deficit for more than five years.

Parents Complain Students From Adjacent Districts 'Overcrowding' Their Schools (Michigan Capitol Confidential)

A recent story in the Lansing State Journal on a Michigan public school choice program featured parents from two different school districts complaining that the program is causing overcrowded classrooms in their own districts. But data from the Michigan Department of Education show that the complaints are not supported by the historical record. Enrollment at one of those districts has been in decline for the past eight years, while the other has not experienced any significant enrollment increase.

MDCR

Applicants for Civil Rights chief to be reviewed (Lansing State Journal)
The Michigan Civil Rights Commission will on Monday determine which of the applicants for the soon-to-be-open executive director position will be interviewed, the state Department of Civil Rights has announced.

MSP

Michigan State Police Departments Host National Prescription Drug Take Back Day (9 & 10 News)
The Drug Enforcement Administration is holding a national prescription drug take back day. Michigan State Police encourage people to drop off unwanted, unused, and expired prescriptions so they can be properly disposed of.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Cutting Michigan's Income Tax Would Also Lessen Corporate Welfare Burden (Michigan Capitol Confedential)
Michigan lawmakers who would like to cut the state's personal income tax rate may have found their way eased by a largely overlooked benefit: A rate cut would reduce the amount the state owes to corporations that are benefiting from extensive tax breaks and outright cash subsidies granted by the Michigan Economic Growth Authority during former Gov. Jennifer Granholm's administration.

Michigan Political Points: Cindy Gamrat, Todd Courser inspire re-election prevention bill (MLive)
Former state Reps. Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser, who decided to run for re-election just days after their expulsion and resignation, have highlighted a "hole" in Michigan election law that should be filled, according to one high-ranking legislator.

Will the Legislature finally take action on the roads? (Michigan Radio)
This week, they discussed whether there were any lingering effects of the scandal involving former Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat. They also took a look at the issues the legislature is likely to tackle this session, including funding for roads.

Report: Budget earmarks may limit Michigan lawmakers on road funding (Crain's Detroit Business)
The tendency of Michigan lawmakers to earmark spending in the state budget will make it difficult for them to use existing money in a permanent solution to fund roads, new research shows.

DETROIT

Detroit port asks Schuette to review Moroun deal (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit port officials want the state's attorney general to review the legality of a decade-old deal that gives a Moroun family business sweeping control of port operations in addition to receiving other benefits.

Detroit Clerk Janice Winfrey to challenge John Conyers (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit City Clerk Janice Winfrey said Friday she will challenge longtime Detroit Congressman John Conyers Jr. in the 2016 election for a seat he's held for 26 terms.

Duggan: Time to raise pay for city bus drivers (Detroit Free Press)
Mayor Mike Duggan told a graduating class of new city bus drivers that he will be seeking a raise for them now and in the future as revenues rise from increased ridership

Henry Ford Health System plans $110M cancer center (The Detroit News)
Henry Ford Health System plans to build a $110 million cancer center in Detroit as part of a $500 million expansion and neighborhood improvement project. The five-story, 144,000 square-foot center announced Monday will include a rooftop garden and skywalk to connect it to Henry Ford Hospital.

Detroit workers deal another blow to FCA-UAW contract (Detroit Free Press)
Workers at Fiat Chrysler's Jefferson North Assembly Plant have resoundingly rejected a four-year tentative agreement between the UAW and the automaker, further jeopardizing chances of approval nationwide. At UAW Local 7, whose workers make the Jeep Grand Cherokee and Dodge Durango at the Detroit assembly plant, 66% of the production workers who cast ballots voted against the contract and 77% of skilled trades workers voted against the deal.

MISCELLANEOUS

Top of Michigan's '18 ticket could be historic first: All female (Freep)
Former Senate Majority Leader Gretchen Whitmer, D-East Lansing, and U.S. Rep. Candice Miller, R-Harrison Township, are contemplating runs for governor, when Gov. Rick Snyder has to leave office because of term limits.

OPINION

Snyder must act on Flint lead crisis (Detroit Free Press)
It's hard to understand the resounding yawn that seems to have emanated from the governor's office, following news that an increasing percentage of Flint kids have been lead poisoned after a switch in the city's water supply.

State data confirms higher blood-lead levels in Flint kids (Detroit Free Press)
Data that the State of Michigan released last week to refute a hospital researcher's claim that an increasing number of Flint children have been lead-poisoned since the city switched its water supply actually supports the hospital's findings, a Free Press analysis has shown.

A serious threat to Pure Michigan (Detroit Free Press)
One of the greatest problems that our state government should be addressing is the Enbridge Oil pipeline No. 5 under the Straits of Mackinac. An oil spill there would destroy a beautiful region of the state, and make "Pure Michigan" a sick joke.

Taxing online purchases won't change buying habits (Detroit Free Press)
Remember the fight over charging sales tax for online purchases? The Legislature passed a law in December that requires retailers with a presence in Michigan, including online retailing behemoth Amazon, to collect and remit Michigan's 6% sales tax on purchases made by Michigan shoppers

Keep prevailing wage (Toledo Blade)
For half a century, Michigan has had a law that requires workers, whether or not they belong to unions, to be paid the union-scale “prevailing wage” on state construction jobs. This mandate has worked well in terms of quality and efficiency, not only in Michigan, but also in other states

George Weeks: Continuing presidential campaign focus on Michigan (Traverse City Record Eagle)
Michigan is one of the earliest states to have a 2016 presidential primary showdown—March 8—so it figures that it is getting much late 2015 attention from the crowded GOP field.

Letter: Corporations should pay 'fair share' (Detroit News)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley recently came out against a citizens-initiated proposal that would require corporations to pay their fair share to help fix Michigan’s crumbling roads and bridges so middle-class families don’t continue to bear all the costs (Re: “Calley: Michigan can’t afford a return to ‘lost decade,’ ” Sept. 10).

Locked up since '86; he didn't do it (Detroit News)
Had Karl Vinson's attorney asked just one more question, the Detroiter might have spent the next three decades living a productive life, working and raising a family. Instead, he's been behind bars since 1986 for a crime he could not possibly have committed.

Crops rot for want of immigration reform (Detroit News)
Some Michigan farm owners are leaving their crops to rot because they can't find enough workers to harvest them. That's a shameful problem linked to bad immigration policy, and could be easily fixed if Congress would stop fighting about immigration and start adopting sensible regulations.

Clean Water Rule needs protection for Michigan rivers' sake (MLive)
From the Huron River to Saginaw Bay to the Great Lakes, our waterways help support many Michigan businesses that contribute to local economies, help Michiganders enjoy and explore their waterways, and provide clean drinking water to over 1,400,000 residents. These waterways are now better protected, thanks to the Clean Water Rule.

Pope Francis' climate message heard, if not received, in Lansing (MLive)
Realizing that Pope Francis has a lot of reading to do, it's possible somewhere along the line he missed the internal memo about not mixing politics and religion, because there he was, smack dab in the middle of the most political body in the country, urging the U.S. Congress to get off the dime and work on climate change.

Tom Watkins: Snyder taking right tack in wooing China trade (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently completed his fifth trade mission to China. His efforts have provided dividends by creating jobs and investment in "Pure Michigan." Michigan and America must learn to ride the China wave or surely we will be swamped.

Office of the Great Lakes' 30-year water strategy must advocate against nuclear waste dump (Macomb Daily)
Last year, I led the Michigan Senate in passing resolutions that called on President Obama, the secretary of state and Congress to take the appropriate steps to secure a binding decision on the OPG site from the International Joint Commission (IJC), the official organization appointed to prevent and resolve disputes over the use of the Great Lakes.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, Sept. 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Amazon announcement
Amazon announcing creation of tech hub in Detroit (Freep)
"It's exciting to see Amazon creating a presence in Detroit and I'm proud to have them here," said Gov. Rick Snyder. "Amazon plans a commitment to developing talent, investing in high-tech jobs and keeping that talent in-state. This company will be a strong partner in growing our talented workforce and opening up these great opportunities."

Amazon, supplier Lear to announce ventures in Detroit (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and the presidents of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University will be on hand for the Amazon announcement. For several years, Amazon has had a recruiting and internship relationship with both universities.

Event previews
Snyder to address Middle Eastern commission (LSJ)
Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to address the inaugural meeting of the Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs on Tuesday. The state Department of Civil Rights said in a news release that the commission, created earlier this year by executive order, will meet for the first time at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Michigan Department of Civil Rights headquarters on the eighth floor of the Capital Tower Building, 110 W. Michigan Ave., the department said in a news release.

Gov. Rick Snyder to unveil new economic initiative during River Rouge visit (Southgate News Herald)
Gov. Rick Snyder will visit River Rouge on Monday to unveil a new initiative designed to help communities build successful economic frameworks. The announcement will be made at 2:30 p.m. at River Rouge's city hall, 10600 W. Jefferson Ave.

Moving Michigan Forward
Snyder fund still collects cash from undisclosed donors (Freep)
Moving Michigan Forward, which, like the NERD Fund, is intended to reduce the financial burden of state government and improve Michigan's social and business climate, reported raising just more than $400,000 in 2014. The website identified all of the 27 individual and corporate donors and how much each gave.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Schuette asks counties for number of untested rape kits (The Detroit News)

Michigan's attorney general is asking prosecutors to report the number of untested rape-evidence kits in their counties. Bill Schuette's letter to county prosecutors Friday is the first step toward the state covering the cost to eliminate an unknown backlog of untested sexual assault kits statewide.

DEQ

Residents want to block hazardous waste plant expansion (Fox 2 Detroit)
Owners of a Detroit waste management plant want to expand their company, but people living nearby, say no. The company has requested that Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality grant it a new permit allowing the company to increase its hazardous waste storage.

Reaction pours in after doctors warn of rising lead levels in Flint kids (MLive)
A group representing Genesee County doctors has joined the call for pregnant mothers and others in high-risk groups to avoid drinking Flint water.
The Genesee County Medical Society Board of Directors approved a resolution Tuesday, Sept. 25, encouraging breast feeding, advising no use of Flint tap water by infants who are fed formula, and encouraging the city to end its use of the Flint River as a water source "as soon as is practicable."

Researchers: Lead levels up after Flint switches to cheaper water supply (Aljazeera America)
Researchers have found high levels of lead in the water supply in Flint, Michigan, after the economically battered city switched its water source from Lake Huron to the Flint River in an attempt to save money. The city issued a lead warning on Friday, ramping up residents' health concerns — and questions about the tradeoffs cash-strapped cities make to revive their economies.

DIFS

People ripped off by Western Sky loans to get refunds (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan consumers who were ripped off by illegal, high-priced loans from Western Sky Financial and CashCall are expected to see refund checks by Oct. 2 as part of an earlier-announced multimillion-dollar settlement.

Checks in high-interest lender settlement to reach Michigan mailboxes by next month (WKZO-AM)
Refund-eligible borrowers will split $2.2 million that was refunded to the state by South Dakota-based Western Sky Financial and California-based CashCall. Attorney General Bill Schutte said the checks should reaching Michigan mailboxes by next month.

DHHS

State data confirms higher blood-lead levels in Flint kids (Detroit Free Press)
Data that the State of Michigan released last week to refute a hospital researcher's claim that an increasing number of Flint children have been lead-poisoned since the city switched its water supply actually supports the hospital's findings, a Free Press analysis has shown.

DMVA

New leadership for GR Home for Vets (WoodTv)
A big shake up in leadership at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans, as two administrative positions have been eliminated. Sara Dunne, the administrator, and Eric Alderman, the director of operations, will no longer be in charge of the facility.

DNR

Health department says West Nile Virus detected in Branch County (WTVB)
Mosquitoes are still biting with the warm early fall weather and the health department in Coldwater is reporting Branch County's first case this year of West Nile virus, which was detected in 3 dead birds turned in by county residents to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The Branch Hillsdale-St.

Joseph Community Health Agency also said yesterday another bird, a wild turkey, was submitted by a St. Joseph County resident in late August.

DNR to hold public input session about Fisherman's Island Park in Charlevoix (MiNews 26)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will be hosting an open house to hear public input on a new draft General Management Plan for Fisherman's Island State Park in Charlevoix County.

Lake Sturgeon stocked in Whitefish River (Upper Michigan's Source)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources stocked a Lake Michigan stream Friday morning with 1,180 lake sturgeon. It's part of an effort to repopulate the threatened species across the Great Lakes Region.

Agencies join in oil recovery exercise (Cheboygan News)
The Canadian company Enbridge held an emergency response exercise in the Straits of Mackinac Thursday, testing the company's readiness in the event of a break in Line 5, the pipeline which runs under the Straits that has continually pumped light crude oil and natural gas liquids since its construction in 1953.

DTMB
Lenawee County jobless rate falls to 4.4% (Lenconnect.com)
Lenawee County's jobless rate dropped to 4.4 percent in August from July's 5.6 percent as school support staff began returning to work, according to reports issued Thursday by the Michigan Department of Technology,

Jobless Rates Down in Kalamazoo, Battle Creek Labor Markets in August (WMUK)
The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget says the jobless rate in the Kalamazoo-Portage labor market was 4.2% in August, down from 5.9% last year in Kalamazoo and Van Buren Counties. The Battle Creek labor market's unemployment rate was 4.6% last month. The jobless rate in Calhoun County was 6.1% in August of last year.

MEDC
Downtown developments moving forward despite difficulties (Petosky News)
Developers with two major downtown redevelopment projects in Boyne City recently learned that they are in line for some state economic development funds critical to the financial viability of the projects. But the process has been anything but quick, or easy.

Port of Monroe gets $3 million loan for improvements (Monroe News)
A major infrastructure project at the Port of Monroe could change the landscape of the local economy while promoting similar port projects throughout the state. On Tuesday, the Michigan Strategic Fund approved up to a $3 million loan from its investment funds to improve the port, the Michigan Economic Development Corporation announced.

AMCAB awarded $1.1 million in grants to help U.P. homeless (Upper Michigan's Source)
The Alger Marquette Community Action Board has been awarded three separate grants to serve homeless individuals and families across the Upper Peninsula.

MDE
Vanderbilt Area School transitioning to state treasury oversight (Gaylord Harold Times)
The Michigan Department of Education reported Vanderbilt Area Schools as one of 16 Michigan schools on an early warning deficit list. The list includes schools that have run a deficit for more than five years or schools projected to be running a deficit for more than five years.

Parents Complain Students From Adjacent Districts 'Overcrowding' Their Schools (Michigan Capitol Confidential)
A recent story in the Lansing State Journal on a Michigan public school choice program featured parents from two different school districts complaining that the program is causing overcrowded classrooms in their own districts. But data from the Michigan Department of Education show that the complaints are not supported by the historical record. Enrollment at one of those districts has been in decline for the past eight years, while the other has not experienced any significant enrollment increase.

MDCR
Applicants for Civil Rights chief to be reviewed (Lansing State Journal)
The Michigan Civil Rights Commission will on Monday determine which of the applicants for the soon-to-be-open executive director position will be interviewed, the state Department of Civil Rights has announced.

MSP
Michigan State Police Departments Host National Prescription Drug Take Back Day (9 & 10 News)
The Drug Enforcement Administration is holding a national prescription drug take back day. Michigan State Police encourage people to drop off unwanted, unused, and expired prescriptions so they can be properly disposed of.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Cutting Michigan's Income Tax Would Also Lessen Corporate Welfare Burden (Michigan Capitol Confedential)
Michigan lawmakers who would like to cut the state's personal income tax rate may have found their way eased by a largely overlooked benefit: A rate cut would reduce the amount the state owes to corporations that are benefiting from extensive tax breaks and outright cash subsidies granted by the Michigan Economic Growth Authority during former Gov. Jennifer Granholm's administration.

Michigan Political Points: Cindy Gamrat, Todd Courser inspire re-election prevention bill (MLive)
Former state Reps. Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser, who decided to run for re-election just days after their expulsion and resignation, have highlighted a "hole" in Michigan election law that should be filled, according to one high-ranking legislator.

Will the Legislature finally take action on the roads? (Michigan Radio)
This week, they discussed whether there were any lingering effects of the scandal involving former Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat. They also took a look at the issues the legislature is likely to tackle this session, including funding for roads.

Report: Budget earmarks may limit Michigan lawmakers on road funding (Crain's Detroit Business)
The tendency of Michigan lawmakers to earmark spending in the state budget will make it difficult for them to use existing money in a permanent solution to fund roads, new research shows.

DETROIT

Detroit port asks Schuette to review Moroun deal (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit port officials want the state's attorney general to review the legality of a decade-old deal that gives a Moroun family business sweeping control of port operations in addition to receiving other benefits.

Detroit Clerk Janice Winfrey to challenge John Conyers (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit City Clerk Janice Winfrey said Friday she will challenge longtime Detroit Congressman John Conyers Jr. in the 2016 election for a seat he's held for 26 terms.

Duggan: Time to raise pay for city bus drivers (Detroit Free Press)
Mayor Mike Duggan told a graduating class of new city bus drivers that he will be seeking a raise for them now and in the future as revenues rise from increased ridership

Henry Ford Health System plans $110M cancer center (The Detroit News)
Henry Ford Health System plans to build a $110 million cancer center in Detroit as part of a $500 million expansion and neighborhood improvement project. The five-story, 144,000 square-foot center announced Monday will include a rooftop garden and skywalk to connect it to Henry Ford Hospital.

Detroit workers deal another blow to FCA-UAW contract (Detroit Free Press)
Workers at Fiat Chrysler's Jefferson North Assembly Plant have resoundingly rejected a four-year tentative agreement between the UAW and the automaker, further jeopardizing chances of approval nationwide. At UAW Local 7, whose workers make the Jeep Grand Cherokee and Dodge Durango at the Detroit assembly plant, 66% of the production workers who cast ballots voted against the contract and 77% of skilled trades workers voted against the deal.

MISCELLANEOUS

Top of Michigan's '18 ticket could be historic first: All female (Freep)
Former Senate Majority Leader Gretchen Whitmer, D-East Lansing, and U.S. Rep. Candice Miller, R-Harrison Township, are contemplating runs for governor, when Gov. Rick Snyder has to leave office because of term limits.

OPINION

Snyder must act on Flint lead crisis (Detroit Free Press)
It's hard to understand the resounding yawn that seems to have emanated from the governor's office, following news that an increasing percentage of Flint kids have been lead poisoned after a switch in the city's water supply.

State data confirms higher blood-lead levels in Flint kids (Detroit Free Press)
Data that the State of Michigan released last week to refute a hospital researcher's claim that an increasing number of Flint children have been lead-poisoned since the city switched its water supply actually supports the hospital's findings, a Free Press analysis has shown.

A serious threat to Pure Michigan (Detroit Free Press)
One of the greatest problems that our state government should be addressing is the Enbridge Oil pipeline No. 5 under the Straits of Mackinac. An oil spill there would destroy a beautiful region of the state, and make "Pure Michigan" a sick joke.

Taxing online purchases won't change buying habits (Detroit Free Press)
Remember the fight over charging sales tax for online purchases? The Legislature passed a law in December that requires retailers with a presence in Michigan, including online retailing behemoth Amazon, to collect and remit Michigan's 6% sales tax on purchases made by Michigan shoppers

Keep prevailing wage (Toledo Blade)
For half a century, Michigan has had a law that requires workers, whether or not they belong to unions, to be paid the union-scale "prevailing wage" on state construction jobs. This mandate has worked well in terms of quality and efficiency, not only in Michigan, but also in other states

George Weeks: Continuing presidential campaign focus on Michigan (Traverse City Record Eagle)
Michigan is one of the earliest states to have a 2016 presidential primary showdown—March 8—so it figures that it is getting much late 2015 attention from the crowded GOP field.

Letter: Corporations should pay 'fair share' (Detroit News)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley recently came out against a citizens-initiated proposal that would require corporations to pay their fair share to help fix Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges so middle-class families don't continue to bear all the costs (Re: "Calley: Michigan can't afford a return to 'lost decade,' " Sept. 10).

Locked up since '86; he didn't do it (Detroit News)
Had Karl Vinson's attorney asked just one more question, the Detroiter might have spent the next three decades living a productive life, working and raising a family. Instead, he's been behind bars since 1986 for a crime he could not possibly have committed.

Crops rot for want of immigration reform (Detroit News)
Some Michigan farm owners are leaving their crops to rot because they can't find enough workers to harvest them. That's a shameful problem linked to bad immigration policy, and could be easily fixed if Congress would stop fighting about immigration and start adopting sensible regulations.

Clean Water Rule needs protection for Michigan rivers' sake (MLive)
From the Huron River to Saginaw Bay to the Great Lakes, our waterways help support many Michigan businesses that contribute to local economies, help Michiganders enjoy and explore their waterways, and provide clean drinking water to over 1,400,000 residents. These waterways are now better protected, thanks to the Clean Water Rule.

Pope Francis' climate message heard, if not received, in Lansing (MLive)
Realizing that Pope Francis has a lot of reading to do, it's possible somewhere along the line he missed the internal memo about not mixing politics and religion, because there he was, smack dab in the middle of the most political body in the country, urging the U.S. Congress to get off the dime and work on climate change.

Tom Watkins: Snyder taking right tack in wooing China trade (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently completed his fifth trade mission to China. His efforts have provided dividends by creating jobs and investment in "Pure Michigan." Michigan and America must learn to ride the China wave or surely we will be swamped.

Office of the Great Lakes' 30-year water strategy must advocate against nuclear waste dump (Macomb Daily)
Last year, I led the Michigan Senate in passing resolutions that called on President Obama, the secretary of state and Congress to take the appropriate steps to secure a binding decision on the OPG site from the International Joint Commission (IJC), the official organization appointed to prevent and resolve disputes over the use of the Great Lakes.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, September 29, 2015 9:46 AM
Subject: 9/29 Newsroom
Attachments: 150929 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Sept. 29, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Amazon in Detroit
Amazon expanding Detroit presence (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Mayor Mike Duggan each spoke at the hour-long press conference, hailing Amazon's decision to further invest in the city.

Amazon, Lear moves help boost Detroit as a tech hub (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder, at the Amazon event, said Detroit's growing reputation as a comeback city would help draw educated technology workers. "It's about attracting people that otherwise wouldn't come," he said.

Amazon expansion to harness tech talent in downtown Detroit (Mlive)
Amazon is buying into Detroit. Peter Faricy, vice president for Amazon Marketplace, joined Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan Gov. Rick Snyder, Quicken Loans Founder Dan Gilbert and other community leaders at the COBO Center in Detroit to announce an early 2016 expansion to its Detroit office at 150 W. Jefferson.

Rising Tide
Snyder pledges mentoring for 10 strapped cities (Freep)
The governor's plan, known as Rising Tide, calls for state officials to mentor at-risk communities that need special attention. Snyder didn't say specifically how he would measure the progress of the program, but said he would define its success, in part, by job creation in the communities.

Gov. Snyder unveils initiative for 'more and better jobs' in River Rouge, 9 other cities (Southgate News Herald)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Monday afternoon that River Rouge is one of 10 economically distressed communities across the state chosen for a pilot program that aims to create "more and better jobs."

Snyder Announces Program to Spur Economic Development Across the State (WDET)
Governor Rick Snyder launched a statewide initiative in River Rouge today to stimulate economic growth in cities across the state. The program called Rising Tide will provide development tools and leadership to one community in each of the state's ten economic regions. Snyder says the effort aims to decrease unemployment and poverty rates.

Flint water
Governor says he's "working hard" to resolve Flint water problems (Michigan Radio)

Governor Snyder says the state is "working hard" and doing its best to resolve Flint's water issues. Recent tests have raised alarms about high lead levels in city water — and in some Flint children's blood.

Snyder urged to help Flint reconnect to Detroit water (Detroit News)
Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich urged Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday to help Flint switch back to Detroit's water system after medical researchers found elevated levels of lead in children who consumed water from the Flint River over the past year.

State Sen. Ananich joins call for disconnecting city from Flint River (Mlive)
Michigan Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich is asking Gov. Rick Snyder to broker a new contract allowing Flint to return to pre-treated water from the city of Detroit. Ananich, D-Flint, asked for Snyder's help in a letter Monday, Sept. 28, saying there is too much at risk to continue using the Flint River for drinking water.

Event preview
Gov. Rick Snyder plans to address 1st meeting of Middle Eastern American Affairs commission (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder plans to speak at the inaugural meeting of a commission he created to reflect the growing diversity of those in Michigan with Middle Eastern roots.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley, Justice Bernstein to visit for Dearborn Area Chamber breakfast (Dearborn Press & Guide)
Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley and Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein will be joining the Dearborn Area Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Chamber of Commerce as the guest speakers for the Dearborn Area Chamber's upcoming Business Builder Series, as a part of the 2015 Michigan Association of Chamber Professionals annual convention.

Hospital hopes to reduce heroin addiction by limiting access to prescription pills (Mlive)
On Monday, Sept. 28, Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley visited Allegiance Health to learn more about the hospital's efforts to curtail opiate addiction through restrictive prescription practices.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

Corrections
Memorial for slain corrections officers in the works (LSJ)
In the lobby of the Michigan Corrections Organization's West Kalamazoo Street offices, visitors can peruse a rotating display of the dangers corrections officers face every day. It's a collection of shivs — furtively formed from metal, plastic and paper — that have been confiscated from prisoners, a stark reminder that the 6,000 corrections officers working in Michigan's prisons lay their lives on the line every day.

DMVA
Baker College earns status as 'veteran-friendly' school (The Voice)
Baker College has earned the gold-level status as a veteran-friendly school through a program created by the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA). The Veteran-Friendly School program recognizes institutions of higher learning for their dedication to student veterans and dependents, and awards gold-, silver- and bronze-level statuses to institutions based on their veteran-centric services.

New questions regarding changes at GR Home for Veterans (WZZM)
The WZZM 13 Watchdog team on Monday took more questions to state veterans officials about leadership changes at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans. It follows questions we first asked Friday when breaking the news that two of the facility's leaders are being eliminated and that a recent audit shows problems at the facility. We've confirmed the administrator of the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans, Sara Dunne, is having her position eliminated.

DNR
Land cap not a problem for Michigan DNR (Great Lakes Echo)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reports no negative outcomes from the initial cap on its land ownership of 4.626 million acres statewide, which was implemented by state law in 2012. While some feared that the initial land caps would hurt the DNR's ability to maintain its lands and achieve its environmental goals, state Sen. Tom Casperson, an Escanaba Republican, said that the caps were never meant to harass or limit the department, but simply give it guidelines.

Weevils, invasive plants add to woes of the Pitcher's thistle (Great Lakes Echo)
Invasive plants are further harming the fate of the already threatened Pitcher's thistle, according to a new study. And weevils brought in to control other weedy thistles are yet another new threat to the Pitcher's thistle that grows in Great Lakes sand dunes, according to the study supported by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the Great Lakes restoration Initiative and the University of Michigan Biological Station.

MDARD
Two More Michigan Horses Diagnosed With Eastern Equine Encephalitis (9&10News)
We now know of two more confirmed cases of eastern equine encephalitis in Michigan horses. The infected horses were found in Barry, Calhoun, and Van Buren counties. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development announced the horses tested positive last week and have already been put down. Eastern equine encephalitis is a deadly virus that is spread by infected mosquitos.

State confiscates gas pump card skimmers (LSJ)
State officials and others have confiscated a dozen credit card skimming devices that were hidden in gas pumps around the state. The Michigan Department of Agriculture & Rural Development, which regulates gas pumps, said in a news release that inspectors went on a two-week, statewide blitz after hearing about an increased use of the illegal devices, which are secreted inside gas pumps and download credit card information when motorists pay at the pump.

Credit card skimmer sweep finds 12 devices in gas pumps (WLNS)
A two-week blitz by state investigators has uncovered credit card skimmers in gas pumps across the state. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development began the sweep to locate and remove the skimming devices from Detroit to Lansing and Traverse City. They also searched from Grand Rapids to Saginaw.

MDEQ
Bottled water donations flowing into Flint schools (Michigan Radio)
It took five Home Depot employees a couple trips to unload a pickup truck filled with dozens of cases of bottled water into a classroom at a Flint elementary school this afternoon. The donation was the largest, but far from the only, bottled water donation to Flint schools today.

MDHHS
Kent County has 200 low-cost shingles vaccines for underinsured (MLive)
The Kent County Health Department is offering shingles vaccines at minimal cost to adults who don't have insurance that covers them. Two hundred doses of the vaccine were provided to the county from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

MPSC
Michigan state agency installs solar panels, expects to save taxpayers $800,000 (MLive)
The Michigan Agency for Energy is in charge of leading Michigan's energy future, and it's leading by example with solar panels and energy efficiency improvements. The Michigan Agency for Energy, a relatively new agency, is organized under the Michigan Public Service Commission. Now it's the first energy agency in the nation to make improvements using Property Assessed Clean Energy (PACE) financing.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Dems propose $1 billion in tax credits aimed at alleviating 'middle class squeeze (MLive)
Democrats in the Michigan Legislature are proposing $1 billion in new and expanded tax credits to benefit middle class families, saying it's time to revisit a 2011 tax shift that benefited businesses. The "Blueprint for Michigan's Families" unveiled Monday calls for a new per-child income tax credit, a credit for child and elderly care and a credit to offset college student loan payments. It would also reinstate a senior deduction and expand the Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Lawmakers ponder bigger punishment for big tuition hikes (Freep)
The presidents of two southeastern Michigan universities echoed each other as they tried to convince state lawmakers not to lower the boom on them for imposing large tuition hikes on students. The presidents of Oakland University and Eastern Michigan University argued that they were lean, efficient institutions that had to hike tuition because the state doesn't give them enough money to cover the costs of improving programs and buildings to the level their students demand.

Michiganders to pay more at online retailers as 'Amazon tax' goes into effect this week (Mlive)
Michiganders will be required to pay sales or use tax when they make purchases at some online retailers starting this week. Technically, Michigan residents are all supposed to keep track of any online, mail order or out-of-state purchases and give the state 6 percent sales or use tax on our tax returns. However, many people fail to do so and it's not widely enforced.

DETROIT

Violent crime drops in Detroit, Flint in 2014 (Freep)
Detroit and Flint followed the national trend of declining violent crime last year as both cities saw fewer homicides, rapes and robberies in 2014, according to FBI statistics released Monday. Detroit's homicides dropped from 316 to 298 from 2013 to 2014. Despite that decline, however, Detroit still has one of the worst murder rates among the nation's largest cities, with roughly 44 homicides per 100,000 residents. In comparison, Chicago — which is four times the size of Detroit, with more than 2.7 million residents — had a murder rate of 15 homicides per 100,000 residents in 2014.

Detroit Public Schools alum creating mobile school museum using old SMART buses (WXYZ)
A Mumford High School alum is creating a mobile museum focusing on Detroit's public high schools. He's removing the seats of old SMART buses, adding carpet and turning the buses into mobile museums. They'll be loaded with DPS artifacts like yearbooks, old newspapers and shirts autographed by alumni.

Of five innovation institutes planned for U.S., Detroit getting two (MLive)
Vice President Joe Biden's visit to Detroit Sept. 17 was understandably highlighted by federal funds for the city to get sufficient busing. Less noticed, perhaps, was the announcement that Detroit would be getting an additional, $40 million innovation institute aimed at jump-starting more manufacturing work in the city.

OPINION

Scandal another example of weak FOIA policy (Escanaba Daily Press)
Enacted nearly 40 years ago, Michigan's Freedom of Information Act is a vital tool for residents of this state to track what their government is doing and how their tax dollars are being spent.

Mark Hackel: Jails new asylums for mental health patients (Detroit Free Press)
Macomb County Executive Mark Hackel says correctional institutions have become the new asylums for mental health and substance abuse patients, and there needs to be a better system other than jailing them for minor crimes.

Dark money: The hot stove politicians can't stop touching (Detroit Free Press)
In 2013, Gov. Rick Snyder vowed to shut down a nonprofit that was collecting funds from donors whose names were never made public. Instead, the governor said, he'd launch a new nonprofit with a transparent donor list.

Trump tax plan gives morale boost to state Democratic lawmaker (MLive)
Being a loyal and card-carrying Democrat, there's little chance that Rep. Jim Townsend will vote for GOP presidential front-runner Donald Trump. But at the very least the Royal Oak Democrat owes Mr. Trump a thank-you note for the Donald's advancement of Mr. Townsend's favorite issue: the graduated income tax.

Midland Farmers Market changes, improvements nothing to fear (MLive)
Of all the treasures residents value in their community, the local farmers market usually ranks right near the top. Midland is no exception.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Sept. 29, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Amazon in Detroit

Amazon expanding Detroit presence (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Mayor Mike Duggan each spoke at the hour-long press conference, hailing Amazon's decision to further invest in the city.

Amazon, Lear moves help boost Detroit as a tech hub (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder, at the Amazon event, said Detroit's growing reputation as a comeback city would help draw educated technology workers. "It's about attracting people that otherwise wouldn't come," he said.

Amazon expansion to harness tech talent in downtown Detroit (Mlive)
Amazon is buying into Detroit. Peter Faricy, vice president for Amazon Marketplace, joined Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan Gov. Rick Snyder, Quicken Loans Founder Dan Gilbert and other community leaders at the COBO Center in Detroit to announce an early 2016 expansion to its Detroit office at 150 W. Jefferson.

Rising Tide

Snyder pledges mentoring for 10 strapped cities (Freep)
The governor's plan, known as Rising Tide, calls for state officials to mentor at-risk communities that need special attention. Snyder didn't say specifically how he would measure the progress of the program, but said he would define its success, in part, by job creation in the communities.

Gov. Snyder unveils initiative for 'more and better jobs' in River Rouge, 9 other cities (Southgate News Herald)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Monday afternoon that River Rouge is one of 10 economically distressed communities across the state chosen for a pilot program that aims to create "more and better jobs."

Snyder Announces Program to Spur Economic Development Across the State (WDET)
Governor Rick Snyder launched a statewide initiative in River Rouge today to stimulate economic growth in cities across the state. The program called Rising Tide will provide development tools and leadership to one community in each of the state's ten economic regions. Snyder says the effort aims to decrease unemployment and poverty rates.

Flint water

Governor says he's "working hard" to resolve Flint water problems (Michigan Radio)

Governor Snyder says the state is "working hard" and doing its best to resolve Flint's water issues. Recent tests have raised alarms about high lead levels in city water — and in some Flint children's blood.

Snyder urged to help Flint reconnect to Detroit water (Detroit News)
Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich urged Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday to help Flint switch back to Detroit's water system after medical researchers found elevated levels of lead in children who consumed water from the Flint River over the past year.

State Sen. Ananich joins call for disconnecting city from Flint River (Mlive)
Michigan Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich is asking Gov. Rick Snyder to broker a new contract allowing Flint to return to pre-treated water from the city of Detroit. Ananich, D-Flint, asked for Snyder's help in a letter Monday, Sept. 28, saying there is too much at risk to continue using the Flint River for drinking water.

Event preview
Gov. Rick Snyder plans to address 1st meeting of Middle Eastern American Affairs commission (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder plans to speak at the inaugural meeting of a commission he created to reflect the growing diversity of those in Michigan with Middle Eastern roots.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley, Justice Bernstein to visit for Dearborn Area Chamber breakfast (Dearborn Press & Guide)
Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley and Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein will be joining the Dearborn Area Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Chamber of Commerce as the guest speakers for the Dearborn Area Chamber's upcoming Business Builder Series, as a part of the 2015 Michigan Association of Chamber Professionals annual convention.

Hospital hopes to reduce heroin addiction by limiting access to prescription pills (Mlive)
On Monday, Sept. 28, Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley visited Allegiance Health to learn more about the hospital's efforts to curtail opiate addiction through restrictive prescription practices.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

Corrections
Memorial for slain corrections officers in the works (LSJ)
In the lobby of the Michigan Corrections Organization's West Kalamazoo Street offices, visitors can peruse a rotating display of the dangers corrections officers face every day. It's a collection of shivs — furtively formed from metal, plastic and paper — that have been confiscated from prisoners, a stark reminder that the 6,000 corrections officers working in Michigan's prisons lay their lives on the line every day.

DMVA
Baker College earns status as 'veteran-friendly' school (The Voice)
Baker College has earned the gold-level status as a veteran-friendly school through a program created by the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA). The Veteran-Friendly School program recognizes institutions of higher learning for their dedication to student veterans and dependents, and awards gold-, silver- and bronze-level statuses to institutions based on their veteran-centric services.

New questions regarding changes at GR Home for Veterans (WZZM)
The WZZM 13 Watchdog team on Monday took more questions to state veterans officials about leadership changes at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans. It follows questions we first asked Friday when breaking the news that two of the facility's leaders are being eliminated and that a recent audit shows problems at the facility. We've confirmed the administrator of the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans, Sara Dunne, is having her position eliminated.

DNR

Land cap not a problem for Michigan DNR (Great Lakes Echo)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reports no negative outcomes from the initial cap on its land ownership of 4.626 million acres statewide, which was implemented by state law in 2012. While some feared that the initial land caps would hurt the DNR's ability to maintain its lands and achieve its environmental goals, state Sen. Tom Casperson, an Escanaba Republican, said that the caps were never meant to harass or limit the department, but simply give it guidelines.

Weevils, invasive plants add to woes of the Pitcher's thistle (Great Lakes Echo)
Invasive plants are further harming the fate of the already threatened Pitcher's thistle, according to a new study. And weevils brought in to control other weedy thistles are yet another new threat to the Pitcher's thistle that grows in Great Lakes sand dunes, according to the study supported by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the Great Lakes restoration Initiative and the University of Michigan Biological Station.

MDARD

Two More Michigan Horses Diagnosed With Eastern Equine Encephalitis (9&10News)
We now know of two more confirmed cases of eastern equine encephalitis in Michigan horses. The infected horses were found in Barry, Calhoun, and Van Buren counties. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development announced the horses tested positive last week and have already been put down. Eastern equine encephalitis is a deadly virus that is spread by infected mosquitos.

State confiscates gas pump card skimmers (LSJ)
State officials and others have confiscated a dozen credit card skimming devices that were hidden in gas pumps around the state. The Michigan Department of Agriculture & Rural Development, which regulates gas pumps, said in a news release that inspectors went on a two-week, statewide blitz after hearing about an increased use of the illegal devices, which are secreted inside gas pumps and download credit card information when motorists pay at the pump.

Credit card skimmer sweep finds 12 devices in gas pumps (WLNS)
A two-week blitz by state investigators has uncovered credit card skimmers in gas pumps across the state. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development began the sweep to locate and remove the skimming devices from Detroit to Lansing and Traverse City. They also searched from Grand Rapids to Saginaw.

MDEQ

Bottled water donations flowing into Flint schools (Michigan Radio)

It took five Home Depot employees a couple trips to unload a pickup truck filled with dozens of cases of bottled water into a classroom at a Flint elementary school this afternoon. The donation was the largest, but far from the only, bottled water donation to Flint schools today.

MDHHS

Kent County has 200 low-cost shingles vaccines for underinsured (MLive)
The Kent County Health Department is offering shingles vaccines at minimal cost to adults who don't have insurance that covers them. Two hundred doses of the vaccine were provided to the county from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

MPSC

Michigan state agency installs solar panels, expects to save taxpayers $800,000 (MLive)
The Michigan Agency for Energy is in charge of leading Michigan's energy future, and it's leading by example with solar panels and energy efficiency improvements. The Michigan Agency for Energy, a relatively new agency, is organized under the Michigan Public Service Commission. Now it's the first energy agency in the nation to make improvements using Property Assessed Clean Energy (PACE) financing.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Dems propose $1 billion in tax credits aimed at alleviating 'middle class squeeze (MLive)
Democrats in the Michigan Legislature are proposing $1 billion in new and expanded tax credits to benefit middle class families, saying it's time to revisit a 2011 tax shift that benefited businesses. The "Blueprint for Michigan's Families" unveiled Monday calls for a new per-child income tax credit, a credit for child and elderly care and a credit to offset college student loan payments. It would also reinstate a senior deduction and expand the Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Lawmakers ponder bigger punishment for big tuition hikes (Freep)
The presidents of two southeastern Michigan universities echoed each other as they tried to convince state lawmakers not to lower the boom on them for imposing large tuition hikes on students. The presidents of Oakland University and Eastern Michigan University argued that they were lean, efficient institutions that had to hike tuition because the state doesn't give them enough money to cover the costs of improving programs and buildings to the level their students demand.

Michiganders to pay more at online retailers as 'Amazon tax' goes into effect this week (Mlive)
Michiganders will be required to pay sales or use tax when they make purchases at some online retailers starting this week. Technically, Michigan residents are all supposed to keep track of any online, mail order or out-of-state purchases and give the state 6 percent sales or use tax on our tax returns. However, many people fail to do so and it's not widely enforced.

DETROIT

Violent crime drops in Detroit, Flint in 2014 (Freep)
Detroit and Flint followed the national trend of declining violent crime last year as both cities saw fewer homicides, rapes and robberies in 2014, according to FBI statistics released Monday. Detroit's homicides dropped from 316 to 298 from 2013 to 2014. Despite that decline, however, Detroit still has one of the worst murder rates among the nation's largest cities, with roughly 44 homicides per 100,000 residents. In comparison, Chicago — which is four times the size of Detroit, with more than 2.7 million residents — had a murder rate of 15 homicides per 100,000 residents in 2014.

Detroit Public Schools alum creating mobile school museum using old SMART buses (WXYZ)
A Mumford High School alum is creating a mobile museum focusing on Detroit's public high schools. He's removing the seats of old SMART buses, adding carpet and turning the buses into mobile museums. They'll be loaded with DPS artifacts like yearbooks, old newspapers and shirts autographed by alumni.

Of five innovation institutes planned for U.S., Detroit getting two (MLive)
Vice President Joe Biden's visit to Detroit Sept. 17 was understandably highlighted by federal funds for the city to get sufficient busing. Less noticed, perhaps, was the announcement that Detroit would be getting an additional, $40 million innovation institute aimed at jump-starting more manufacturing work in the city.

OPINION

Scandal another example of weak FOIA policy (Escanaba Daily Press)
Enacted nearly 40 years ago, Michigan's Freedom of Information Act is a vital tool for residents of this state to track what their government is doing and how their tax dollars are being spent.

Mark Hackel: Jails new asylums for mental health patients (Detroit Free Press)
Macomb County Executive Mark Hackel says correctional institutions have become the new asylums for mental health and substance abuse patients, and there needs to be a better system other than jailing them for minor crimes.

Dark money: The hot stove politicians can't stop touching (Detroit Free Press)
In 2013, Gov. Rick Snyder vowed to shut down a nonprofit that was collecting funds from donors whose names were never made public. Instead, the governor said, he'd launch a new nonprofit with a transparent donor list.

Trump tax plan gives morale boost to state Democratic lawmaker (MLive)
Being a loyal and card-carrying Democrat, there's little chance that Rep. Jim Townsend will vote for GOP presidential front-runner Donald Trump. But at the very least the Royal Oak Democrat owes Mr. Trump a thank-you note for the Donald's advancement of Mr. Townsend's favorite issue: the graduated income tax.

Midland Farmers Market changes, improvements nothing to fear (MLive)
Of all the treasures residents value in their community, the local farmers market usually ranks right near the top. Midland is no exception.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, September 30, 2015 10:27 AM
Subject: 9/30 Newsroom
Attachments: 150930 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Sept. 30, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water

Gov. Rick Snyder pledging 'action steps' in response to lead leaching into Flint water (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder is pledging to take action this week or next in response to lead turning up in Flint's water. Snyder told reporters Tuesday that lead is a "serious issue." He says a "large team" is working with Flint officials, and he'll soon announce "public action steps."

Gov. Snyder's office offers muted response to proposed Flint water fix (Metro Times)
Snyder's office was remarkably restrained for an administration facing a problem this serious. A statement from a spokesperson in the article said: "We believe protecting public health is paramount and safe, clean, accessible drinking water is essential. That's what we are focused on helping ensure and deeply share the senator's commitment to helping address the issue."

Governor helped hush-hush delivery of water filters to Flint pastors (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder quietly helped deliver 1,500 water filters to Flint last month -- even as state officials gave assurances that the city's tap water was safe and meeting all regulatory standards. Dave Murray, a spokesman for Snyder, confirmed that the filters, distributed by the Concerned Pastors for Social Action, came from a "corporate donor that does not wish to be recognized but cares deeply about the community."

Snyder Talks About Bringing Refugees To Michigan (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder told the first ever gathering of the Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern Affairs in Lansing that he is looking into the state bringing some refugees from the Middle East to Michigan. The governor says he's actively looking at the situation and wants to know how Michigan can help out. He stops short of saying how many refugees may come to Michigan.

Gov. Snyder says action coming on Flint's water woes (Freep)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday the drinking water situation in Flint is a serious issue and he expects the state to come forward with "action steps" by early next week. Snyder did not answer directly when asked if he thinks the drinking water in Flint is contributing to elevated lead levels in children there.

Gov's office helps get water filters to Flint families (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's office quietly orchestrated the distribution of 1,500 water filters to Flint families this summer while insisting the city's water is safe to drink. In July, Snyder's office worked with an anonymous corporate donor to distribute the faucet filters through a group of Flint pastors, Snyder spokesman Dave Murray said Tuesday. It was unclear who initiated the plan — the donor, the governor's office or someone else.

Middle Eastern American Affairs commission
Snyder in talks on resettling Syrian refugees in Mich. (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday his administration is in talks with the federal government about resettling refugees from war-torn Syria in Michigan. Snyder disclosed the discussions are underway Tuesday while addressing the first meeting of the Commission on Middle-Eastern American Affairs the governor created earlier this year.

Snyder: Michigan exploring steps to take in Syria refugees (Freep)
The state is in talks with the federal government to determine the process for accepting refugees from the ongoing crisis in Syria and the Middle East, Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday. "I don't want to overreact to say it's a certain number, or we're going to do this, but I think it's worth exploring and making sure we have a program and do that homework," Snyder told reporters in Lansing.

Snyder Says Michigan Should Take Refugees (WDET)
Governor Rick Snyder says he'd like Michigan to welcome more refugees fleeing war and violence in the Middle East. The governor told the new Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs he's already been in touch with the federal government.

Snyder says Michigan should take refugees (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder says he'd like Michigan to welcome more refugees fleeing war and violence in the Middle East. The governor told the new Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs he's already been in touch with the federal government.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Michigan discussing role it can play in taking more Syrian refugees (AP)
Republican Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday his administration is talking with federal officials on the role the state can play in accepting more refugees from war-torn Syria and the Middle East, building on Michigan's century-plus of Arab immigration and taking a different tone from some GOP presidential candidates.

Governor Says Refugees Won't Take Jobs From Americans (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder's administration is talking with the federal government about bringing more refugees to Michigan. When News 10 asked the Governor about it on Tuesday, he wouldn't get into numbers. But he did push back against the idea that refugees will take jobs away from American citizens.

Supreme Court appointment
U-M attorney headed to Michigan Supreme Court? (Freep)
Will Gov. Rick Snyder turn to his alma mater to fill a vacancy in the Michigan Supreme Court, in an announcement expected today? Speculation on who will replace Justice Mary Beth Kelly is centering on Joan Larsen, special counsel to the dean for student and graduate activities at the University of Michigan, where Snyder obtained his bachelor's, master's and law degrees.

Snyder expected to name new Michigan Supreme Court justice Wednesday (Mlive)
Republican Gov. Rick Snyder, who has scheduled an 11 a.m. news conference Wednesday, is expected to name his pick for the next justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. Justice Mary Beth Kelly, in a move that surprised many, announced in August she would be stepping down from state's highest court to return to private practice.

Snyder to appoint new justice to Michigan Supreme Court (AP)

Gov. Rick Snyder is set to name a new justice on the Michigan Supreme Court. The Republican governor will announce his choice at a late-morning news conference Wednesday in Lansing. Justice Mary Beth Kelly is leaving the bench to return to private practice, effective Thursday.

Gov. Snyder to appoint new justice to Michigan Supreme Court, his 3rd to 7-member panel (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder is set to name a new justice on the Michigan Supreme Court. The Republican governor will announce his choice at a late-morning news conference Wednesday in Lansing. Justice Mary Beth Kelly is leaving the bench to return to private practice, effective Thursday.

Appeals Court appointment
Snyder appoints Oakland County judge to state appeals court (AP)
An Oakland County judge who lost an election to the Michigan Supreme Court is getting a new job. Colleen O'Brien was appointed to the state appeals court Tuesday by Gov. Rick Snyder. There's a vacancy on the court after the resignation of Judge Pat Donofrio.

Snyder makes appointment to Court of Appeals (TV 6 UP)
Colleen O'Brien was appointed to the Michigan Court of Appeals by Gov. Rick Snyder. "Collen has served with distinction in one of the state's largest trial courts for 16 years handling complex civil, criminal, and family law cases," Snyder said. "As the president of the Michigan Judges Association, she is an important leader in our state's judiciary. Her personal integrity, widely respected legal acumen, and substantial judicial experience will be of great benefit to the Court of Appeals and the people of Michigan."

Snyder picks O'Brien for state Court of Appeals (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday he has appointed Oakland County Circuit Judge Colleen O'Brien to fill a vacancy on the Michigan Court of Appeals. O'Brien, an unsuccessful Republican Party-nominated candidate for the Michigan Supreme Court in 2012 and among those speculated under consideration for an opening there now, fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Pat Donofrio.

Governor Tabs O'Brien to Fill Appeals Court Vacancy (WHTC)
Governor Snyder filled a vacancy on the state Court of Appeals by tabbing Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Colleen O'Brien to replace Pat Donofrio, who resigned. The Clarkston jurist has been on that bench for 16 years, primarily handling criminal cases.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES
Advocates say discipline policies are failing special needs students (WKAR)
Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley recently gathered feedback from thousands of parents of kids with special needs. One of the major concerns raised was the tactics teachers and other school employees used when it came to dealing with disruptive behavior from those students.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Michigan AG Bill Schuette backs civil asset forfeiture reform package (MLive)
Attorney General Bill Schuette, Michigan's top law enforcement officer, is backing legislation that would begin to reform the state's civil asset forfeiture laws, which allow police to seize property linked to a crime even if charges are never filed.

Schuette, Eplings urge anti-bullying measures in East Lansing (Lansing State Journal)
The couple stood beside Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette this morning at East Lansing High School as part of the second year of the state's Okay2Say anti-bullying program. Okay2Say is an online program allowing anyone who witnesses or hears about bullying or other safety concerns to report confidentially to law enforcement and mental health professionals.

MDARD

Michigan ag exports to China skyrocket (Fresh Plaza)

In the past five years, more and more of Michigan's prepared fruits and vegetables have been on their way to China, according to export data from Euromonitor International Ltd. From 2010 to 2014, the dollar value of prepared fruit and vegetable exports, which include dried tart cherries, rose almost four-fold.

'Skimming' scam stealing information at the pump (WNEM)

From the outside, the slot where you put in your credit card may look perfectly normal, but on the inside, a device may be stealing your information. When Shirley Rocket-Booker needs to fill up, she, like most, gases up with her bank card. So far she's never been skimmed at the pump.

State conducts card skimmer sweep, several found in west Michigan (WKZO-AM)

The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development found 12 credit card skimmers during a two-week statewide gas pump sweep.

Mosquito-borne encephalitis kills more horses in Southwest Michigan (MLive)

The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development announced two additional cases of Eastern Equine Encephalitis in horses in Calhoun and Van Buren Counties.

Corrections

Appeals court denies 'White Boy Rick' resentencing bid (The Detroit News)

Convicted drug dealer Richard "White Boy Rick" Wershe Jr. lost a bid to have his life sentence reduced, the latest chapter in the case of a teen-aged drug kingpin with a pageboy haircut that has enthralled Metro Detroiters for decades.

MDE

'I Don't Want My Daughter To Fail': Detroit Parents Rally In Lansing For Better Schools (WWJ)

The Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren staged a rally at the State Capitol to push for 24 recommendations to improve Detroit schools.

DEQ

600 gallons of raw sewage spilled at treatment plant (MLive)

About 600 gallons of raw sewage spilled outside of the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority wastewater treatment plant Thursday night between 7:30 and 8 p.m.

Flint mayor to state: Approve plan "as fast as humanly possible" to help keep lead out of water (Michigan Radio)

Flint Mayor Dayne Walling says he wants to put corrosion-control treatment back in place, but he needs state approval first. The state says it's going to take a little while to implement.

High Lead Levels in Michigan Kids After City Switches Water Source (NPR)

Doctors are finding elevated levels of lead in the children in Flint, Mich., and local tap water is the likely cause.

DTMB

Kalamazoo-Portage unemployment falls one percent in August (WKZO-AM)

Unemployment in the Kalamazoo-Portage metropolitan area dipped to 4.2 percent last month. The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget says the rate was at 5.2 percent in July.

MDHHS

Mystery Outbreak: 14 Salmonella Infections Reported at Detroit Hospital (Food Safety News)

Officials with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, MI, are trying to unravel how 14 patients in the same hospital unit were sickened last week with Salmonella.

14 people treated for Salmonella at Henry Ford Hospital, investigation into source underway (WXYZ)
Henry Ford Hospital and the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is confirming that fourteen people have been treated for gastroenteritis symptoms caused by a strain of salmonella.

Holland Hospital recognized for excellence in newborn screening (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and the Michigan Health & Hospital Association recently recognized Holland Hospital for excellence in newborn screening performance.

DNR
Mother bear with cubs killed; DNR seeking charges against hunter (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will seek an arrest warrant for a man who allegedly shot a mother black bear who was accompanied by her three cubs in Oceana County, a conservation officer said Tuesday.

Canton asking state to review hunting rules (Hometown Life)
Fearing a potential threat to public safety, Canton officials are asking the state to review rules that still allow restricted hunting on most of Canton's west side.

DNR's Citizens Advisory Council to meet in Cedarville (TV 6 UP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources' Eastern Upper Peninsula Citizens Advisory Council will meet next month in Mackinac County.

DNR makes Lake Gogebic walleye recommendation (TV 6 UP)
Michigan Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologists have recommended a change in the sportfishing regulations for walleyes in Lake Gogebic in the western Upper Peninsula.

MDOT
Otsego County Drivers Raise Questions on Old 27 Road Repair (9&10 News)
A recent road repair has sparked some criticism in a Northern Michigan community. Michigan Department of Transportation recently re-surfaced a two-mile stretch of road to repair cracks and crumbling.

MDOT Adding 54-thousand Cubic Tons of Mulch to I-696 Slopes (WDET)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is adding 54,000 cubic yards of mulch to a stretch of I-696. The project will cover up ten miles of dead grass between I-94 and I-75. MDOT spokesperson Diane Cross says mulch should better protect freeway slopes.

MSP
Feds give state police $1.5M for heroin crackdown (The Detroit News)
Michigan State Police won a $1.46 million competitive federal grant that will help collaborations with other law enforcement departments statewide cracking down on heroin distribution and trafficking.

Renewed push to deal with heroin and prescription drug abuse (Newschannel 3)
According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention drug overdoses now surpass car accidents as the leading cause of injury related deaths for people between the ages of 25 and 64.

SOS
$6,455 in fines, fees for Grand Rapids campaign in term limits vote (MLive)
A campaign that opposed a 2014 ballot proposal for city term limits has paid $6,455 in fees and fines, according to an agreement with the Michigan Secretary of State.

University Motor Mall license suspended after customers complain (WLNS)
The doors are locked, the lights are off and there aren't any vehicles for sale at University Motor Mall in Lansing because of a suspension and investigation by the Michigan Secretary of State's office.

Supreme Court

Court to open new self-help centers (Lansing State Journal)
This fall, residents in the Detroit region interested in representing themselves in civil legal matters will get a helping hand from the Michigan Supreme Court. The Supreme Court said in a news release Tuesday that it will open new Michigan Legal Self-Help Centers in Macomb County and southwest Detroit this fall, adding to eight other centers in Oscoda, Allegan, Oakland, Wayne, Muskegon, Monroe, Marquette, and Calhoun counties

Michigan's top court won't take right-to-read lawsuit (AP)
The Michigan Supreme Court has rejected an appeal in a lawsuit that blames the state for poor reading skills of students in Highland Park. In a brief order, the justices last week declined to take the case.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Bill nearing OK lets drivers show insurance via phone (AP)
Drivers pulled over by the police could show proof of auto insurance on their mobile device under legislation nearing final approval in Michigan. The state Senate plans to vote on the bill on Wednesday. It won approval in the House in March.

Bills look to address Michigan's controversial forfeiture laws (Newschannel 3)
A new poll shows that many people think Michigan's controversial forfeiture laws need work. Michigan's forfeiture laws allow for police to seize the property of crime suspects without the obligation to ever return that property. The poll was conducted by Public Opinion Strategies. The results were released as the Michigan Senate prepares to take up a package of bills addressing the issue. The poll surveyed 500 Michigan voters and 80 percent of respondents believe the civil asset forfeiture process needs reform.

Are state lawmakers running on your dime? Courser, Gamrat staffs weren't the only ones blurring that line (MLive)
Emails released as part of a House investigation of now-ousted Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat show staff mix political and official work. But an MLive investigation found those blurred lines, far from being isolated to the offices of two members, trace throughout the Michigan House of Representatives.

Michigan lawmakers consider 80MPH highway speed limit (WDIV)
Michigan lawmakers are exploring the possibility of raising the speed limit to 80 miles per hour on rural freeways.

Michigan lawmakers mull tougher poaching penalties (Great Lakes Echo)
A bill package going through the state Legislature would increase penalties for poaching in the form of a steep hike in restitution that poachers must pay to the state.

Immigrant advocates blast bill to ban 'sanctuary cities' in Michigan by withholding state funding (MLive)
A Michigan bill seeking to ban "sanctuary city" policies for immigrants who entered the country illegally could damage police-community relationships and encourage racial profiling, according to critics.

DETROIT

Engineers union: DPS boiler regulations could hurt kids (The Detroit News)
Members of a local engineers union asked a judge Tuesday to reverse a city decision to replace most public school building boiler operators with a remote monitoring system.

Public hearing set on law for medical marijuana shops (The Detroit News)
An October public hearing is set to gain public feedback on a propose ordinance aimed at regulating where and how medical marijuana centers can operate in Detroit.

Council approves land deal to reinvent Herman Kiefer (The Detroit News)

The City Council on Tuesday approved a land deal that clears the way for a development plan to reinvent the vacant Herman Kiefer Hospital complex and a blighted southeast Detroit neighborhood.

Detroit Homecoming kicks off today in the city (WXYZ)
Detroit Homecoming kicks off at the Detroit Opera House tonight, and organizers are expecting an even bigger crowd than last year. They say the three-day event is expected to bring nearly 200-business, sports and innovation leaders back home to the D -this year to invest and lead.

OPINION

Ken Braun: New poll reveals union workers are unhappy workers (MLive)
"Live Better — Work Union" is a slogan that's often easy to find adorning car bumpers near workplaces where Big Labor remains relevant. Press an organized-labor apologist to explain, and the response is likely to be an assertion that union membership creates workplaces where safety, job security, better pay and so forth are a greater priority. Yet throwing ice water on this warm and fuzzy claim is a recent Gallup poll showing union members may be the most disgruntled workers in America.

Lansing promises were made, but roads remain broken (MLive)
Way back before summer began, in the midst of another ill-fated attempt to fix the roads, the Senate GOP leadership proudly announced that the body would work throughout the summer to get this job done

Phil Power: Correcting corrections would save money, but carry risks (MLive)
Trying to come up with better corrections policy for Michigan is tough, because you have to balance two factors — costs versus public safety — where a fact-based comparison is difficult.

Editorial: UAW members must face contract reality (Detroit News)
The UAW rank and file is obviously not pleased with the tentative labor contract President Dennis Williams and FCA US CEO Sergio Marchionne agreed to two weeks ago, even though it provides significant economic rewards for workers.

Glenn: Keep energy choice alive (Detroit News)
Michigan's economy is hindered by an arbitrary law allowing only 10 percent of electricity users to buy from an alternative provider, guaranteeing Consumers Energy and Detroit Edison 90 percent of the market. Utility monopoly-backed legislation to eliminate electricity choice altogether would further damage our economy, schools in particular.

Robinson: Demystify the minimum wage (Detroit News)
One of the most widely discussed but least understood public policy debates essential to the well-being of our economy and every American citizen is the minimum wage.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Sept. 30, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water

Gov. Rick Snyder pledging 'action steps' in response to lead leaching into Flint water (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder is pledging to take action this week or next in response to lead turning up in Flint's water. Snyder told reporters Tuesday that lead is a "serious issue." He says a "large team" is working with Flint officials, and he'll soon announce "public action steps."

Gov. Snyder's office offers muted response to proposed Flint water fix (Metro Times)
Snyder's office was remarkably restrained for an administration facing a problem this serious. A statement from a spokesperson in the article said: "We believe protecting public health is paramount and safe, clean, accessible drinking water is essential. That's what we are focused on helping ensure and deeply share the senator's commitment to helping address the issue."

Governor helped hush-hush delivery of water filters to Flint pastors (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder quietly helped deliver 1,500 water filters to Flint last month -- even as state officials gave assurances that the city's tap water was safe and meeting all regulatory standards. Dave Murray, a spokesman for Snyder, confirmed that the filters, distributed by the Concerned Pastors for Social Action, came from a "corporate donor that does not wish to be recognized but cares deeply about the community."

Snyder Talks About Bringing Refugees To Michigan (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder told the first ever gathering of the Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern Affairs in Lansing that he is looking into the state bringing some refugees from the Middle East to Michigan. The governor says he's actively looking at the situation and wants to know how Michigan can help out. He stops short of saying how many refugees may come to Michigan.

Gov. Snyder says action coming on Flint's water woes (Freep)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday the drinking water situation in Flint is a serious issue and he expects the state to come forward with "action steps" by early next week. Snyder did not answer directly when asked if he thinks the drinking water in Flint is contributing to elevated lead levels in children there.

Gov's office helps get water filters to Flint families (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's office quietly orchestrated the distribution of 1,500 water filters to Flint families this summer while insisting the city's water is safe to drink. In July, Snyder's office worked with an anonymous corporate donor to distribute the faucet filters through a group of Flint pastors, Snyder spokesman Dave Murray said Tuesday. It was unclear who initiated the plan — the donor, the governor's office or someone else.

Middle Eastern American Affairs commission

Snyder in talks on resettling Syrian refugees in Mich. (Detroit News)

Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday his administration is in talks with the federal government about resettling refugees from war-torn Syria in Michigan. Snyder disclosed the discussions are underway Tuesday while addressing the first meeting of the Commission on Middle-Eastern American Affairs the governor created earlier this year.

Snyder: Michigan exploring steps to take in Syria refugees (Freep)

The state is in talks with the federal government to determine the process for accepting refugees from the ongoing crisis in Syria and the Middle East, Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday. "I don't want to overreact to say it's a certain number, or we're going to do this, but I think it's worth exploring and making sure we have a program and do that homework," Snyder told reporters in Lansing.

Snyder Says Michigan Should Take Refugees (WDET)

Governor Rick Snyder says he'd like Michigan to welcome more refugees fleeing war and violence in the Middle East. The governor told the new Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs he's already been in touch with the federal government.

Snyder says Michigan should take refugees (Michigan Radio)

Gov. Rick Snyder says he'd like Michigan to welcome more refugees fleeing war and violence in the Middle East. The governor told the new Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs he's already been in touch with the federal government.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Michigan discussing role it can play in taking more Syrian refugees (AP)

Republican Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday his administration is talking with federal officials on the role the state can play in accepting more refugees from war-torn Syria and the Middle East, building on Michigan's century-plus of Arab immigration and taking a different tone from some GOP presidential candidates.

Governor Says Refugees Won't Take Jobs From Americans (WILX)

Governor Rick Snyder's administration is talking with the federal government about bringing more refugees to Michigan. When News 10 asked the Governor about it on Tuesday, he wouldn't get into numbers. But he did push back against the idea that refugees will take jobs away from American citizens.

Supreme Court appointment

U-M attorney headed to Michigan Supreme Court? (Freep)

Will Gov. Rick Snyder turn to his alma mater to fill a vacancy in the Michigan Supreme Court, in an announcement expected today? Speculation on who will replace Justice Mary Beth Kelly is centering on Joan Larsen, special counsel to the dean for student and graduate activities at the University of Michigan, where Snyder obtained his bachelor's, master's and law degrees.

Snyder expected to name new Michigan Supreme Court justice Wednesday (Mlive)
Republican Gov. Rick Snyder, who has scheduled an 11 a.m. news conference Wednesday, is expected to name his pick for the next justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. Justice Mary Beth Kelly, in a move that surprised many, announced in August she would be stepping down from state's highest court to return to private practice.

Snyder to appoint new justice to Michigan Supreme Court (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder is set to name a new justice on the Michigan Supreme Court. The Republican governor will announce his choice at a late-morning news conference Wednesday in Lansing. Justice Mary Beth Kelly is leaving the bench to return to private practice, effective Thursday.

Gov. Snyder to appoint new justice to Michigan Supreme Court, his 3rd to 7-member panel (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder is set to name a new justice on the Michigan Supreme Court. The Republican governor will announce his choice at a late-morning news conference Wednesday in Lansing. Justice Mary Beth Kelly is leaving the bench to return to private practice, effective Thursday.

Appeals Court appointment
Snyder appoints Oakland County judge to state appeals court (AP)
An Oakland County judge who lost an election to the Michigan Supreme Court is getting a new job. Colleen O'Brien was appointed to the state appeals court Tuesday by Gov. Rick Snyder. There's a vacancy on the court after the resignation of Judge Pat Donofrio.

Snyder makes appointment to Court of Appeals (TV 6 UP)
Colleen O'Brien was appointed to the Michigan Court of Appeals by Gov. Rick Snyder. "Collen has served with distinction in one of the state's largest trial courts for 16 years handling complex civil, criminal, and family law cases," Snyder said. "As the president of the Michigan Judges Association, she is an important leader in our state's judiciary. Her personal integrity, widely respected legal acumen, and substantial judicial experience will be of great benefit to the Court of Appeals and the people of Michigan."

Snyder picks O'Brien for state Court of Appeals (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday he has appointed Oakland County Circuit Judge Colleen O'Brien to fill a vacancy on the Michigan Court of Appeals. O'Brien, an unsuccessful Republican Party-nominated candidate for the Michigan Supreme Court in 2012 and among those speculated under consideration for an opening there now, fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Pat Donofrio.

Governor Tabs O'Brien to Fill Appeals Court Vacancy (WHTC)
Governor Snyder filled a vacancy on the state Court of Appeals by tabbing Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Colleen O'Brien to replace Pat Donofrio, who resigned. The Clarkston jurist has been on that bench for 16 years, primarily handling criminal cases.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Advocates say discipline policies are failing special needs students (WKAR)
Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley recently gathered feedback from thousands of parents of kids with special needs. One of the major concerns raised was the tactics teachers and other school employees used when it came to dealing with disruptive behavior from those students.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Michigan AG Bill Schuette backs civil asset forfeiture reform package (MLive)
Attorney General Bill Schuette, Michigan's top law enforcement officer, is backing legislation that would begin to reform the state's civil asset forfeiture laws, which allow police to seize property linked to a crime even if charges are never filed.

Schuette, Eplings urge anti-bullying measures in East Lansing (Lansing State Journal)
The couple stood beside Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette this morning at East Lansing High School as part of the second year of the state's Okay2Say anti-bullying program. Okay2Say is an online program allowing anyone who witnesses or hears about bullying or other safety concerns to report confidentially to law enforcement and mental health professionals.

MDARD

Michigan ag exports to China skyrocket (Fresh Plaza)
In the past five years, more and more of Michigan's prepared fruits and vegetables have been on their way to China, according to export data from Euromonitor International Ltd. From 2010 to 2014, the dollar value of prepared fruit and vegetable exports, which include dried tart cherries, rose almost four-fold.

'Skimming' scam stealing information at the pump (WNEM)
From the outside, the slot where you put in your credit card may look perfectly normal, but on the inside, a device may be stealing your information. When Shirley Rocket-Booker needs to fill up, she, like most, gases up with her bank card. So far she's never been skimmed at the pump.

State conducts card skimmer sweep, several found in west Michigan (WKZO-AM)
The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development found 12 credit card skimmers during a two-week statewide gas pump sweep.

Mosquito-borne encephalitis kills more horses in Southwest Michigan (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development announced two additional cases of Eastern Equine Encephalitis in horses in Calhoun and Van Buren Counties.

Corrections

Appeals court denies 'White Boy Rick' resentencing bid (The Detroit News)
Convicted drug dealer Richard "White Boy Rick" Wershe Jr. lost a bid to have his life sentence reduced, the latest chapter in the case of a teen-aged drug kingpin with a pageboy haircut that has enthralled Metro Detroiters for decades.

MDE

'I Don't Want My Daughter To Fail': Detroit Parents Rally In Lansing For Better Schools (WWJ)
The Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren staged a rally at the State Capitol to push for 24 recommendations to improve Detroit schools.

DEQ

600 gallons of raw sewage spilled at treatment plant (MLive)
About 600 gallons of raw sewage spilled outside of the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority wastewater treatment plant Thursday night between 7:30 and 8 p.m.

Flint mayor to state: Approve plan "as fast as humanly possible" to help keep lead out of water (Michigan Radio)
Flint Mayor Dayne Walling says he wants to put corrosion-control treatment back in place, but he needs state approval first. The state says it's going to take a little while to implement.

High Lead Levels In Michigan Kids After City Switches Water Source (NPR)
Doctors are finding elevated levels of lead in the children in Flint, Mich., and local tap water is the likely cause.

DTMB
Kalamazoo-Portage unemployment falls one percent in August (WKZO-AM)
Unemployment in the Kalamazoo-Portage metropolitan area dipped to 4.2 percent last month. The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget says the rate was at 5.2 percent in July.

MDHHS
Mystery Outbreak: 14 Salmonella Infections Reported at Detroit Hospital (Food Safety News)
Officials with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, MI, are trying to unravel how 14 patients in the same hospital unit were sickened last week with Salmonella.

14 people treated for Salmonella at Henry Ford Hospital, investigation into source underway (WXYZ)
Henry Ford Hospital and the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is confirming that fourteen people have been treated for gastroenteritis symptoms caused by a strain of salmonella.

Holland Hospital recognized for excellence in newborn screening (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and the Michigan Health & Hospital Association recently recognized Holland Hospital for excellence in newborn screening performance.

DNR
Mother bear with cubs killed; DNR seeking charges against hunter (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will seek an arrest warrant for a man who allegedly shot a mother black bear who was accompanied by her three cubs in Oceana County, a conservation officer said Tuesday.

Canton asking state to review hunting rules (Hometown Life)
Fearing a potential threat to public safety, Canton officials are asking the state to review rules that still allow restricted hunting on most of Canton's west side.

DNR's Citizens Advisory Council to meet in Cedarville (TV 6 UP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources' Eastern Upper Peninsula Citizens Advisory Council will meet next month in Mackinac County.

DNR makes Lake Gogebic walleye recommendation (TV 6 UP)
Michigan Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologists have recommended a change in the sportfishing regulations for walleyes in Lake Gogebic in the western Upper Peninsula.

MDOT
Otsego County Drivers Raise Questions on Old 27 Road Repair (9&10 News)
A recent road repair has sparked some criticism in a Northern Michigan community. Michigan Department of Transportation recently re-surfaced a two-mile stretch of road to repair cracks and crumbling.

MDOT Adding 54-thousand Cubic Tons of Mulch to I-696 Slopes (WDET)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is adding 54,000 cubic yards of mulch to a stretch of I-696. The project will cover up ten miles of dead grass between I-94 and I-75. MDOT spokesperson Diane Cross says mulch should better protect freeway slopes.

MSP
Feds give state police $1.5M for heroin crackdown (The Detroit News)
Michigan State Police won a $1.46 million competitive federal grant that will help collaborations with other law enforcement departments statewide cracking down on heroin distribution and trafficking.

Renewed push to deal with heroin and prescription drug abuse (Newschannel 3)
According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention drug overdoses now surpass car accidents as the leading cause of injury related deaths for people between the ages of 25 and 64.

SOS
$6,455 in fines, fees for Grand Rapids campaign in term limits vote (MLive)
A campaign that opposed a 2014 ballot proposal for city term limits has paid $6,455 in fees and fines, according to an agreement with the Michigan Secretary of State.

University Motor Mall license suspended after customers complain (WLNS)
The doors are locked, the lights are off and there aren't any vehicles for sale at University Motor Mall in Lansing because of a suspension and investigation by the Michigan Secretary of State's office.

Supreme Court
Court to open new self-help centers (Lansing State Journal)
This fall, residents in the Detroit region interested in representing themselves in civil legal matters will get a helping hand from the Michigan Supreme Court. The Supreme Court said in a news release Tuesday that it will open new Michigan Legal Self-Help Centers in Macomb County and southwest Detroit this fall, adding to eight other centers in Oscoda, Allegan, Oakland, Wayne, Muskegon, Monroe, Marquette, and Calhoun counties

Michigan's top court won't take right-to-read lawsuit (AP)
The Michigan Supreme Court has rejected an appeal in a lawsuit that blames the state for poor reading skills of students in Highland Park. In a brief order, the justices last week declined to take the case.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Bill nearing OK lets drivers show insurance via phone (AP)
Drivers pulled over by the police could show proof of auto insurance on their mobile device under legislation nearing final approval in Michigan. The state Senate plans to vote on the bill on Wednesday. It won approval in the House in March.

Bills look to address Michigan's controversial forfeiture laws (Newschannel 3)
A new poll shows that many people think Michigan's controversial forfeiture laws need work. Michigan's forfeiture laws allow for police to seize the property of crime suspects without the obligation to ever return that property. The poll was conducted by Public Opinion Strategies. The results were released as the Michigan Senate prepares to take up a package of bills addressing the issue. The poll surveyed 500 Michigan voters and 80 percent of respondents believe the civil asset forfeiture process needs reform.

Are state lawmakers running on your dime? Courser, Gamrat staffs weren't the only ones blurring that line (MLive)
Emails released as part of a House investigation of now-ousted Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat show staff mix political and official work. But an MLive investigation found those blurred lines, far from being isolated to the offices of two members, trace throughout the Michigan House of Representatives.

Michigan lawmakers consider 80MPH highway speed limit (WDIV)
Michigan lawmakers are exploring the possibility of raising the speed limit to 80 miles per hour on rural freeways.

Michigan lawmakers mull tougher poaching penalties (Great Lakes Echo)
A bill package going through the state Legislature would increase penalties for poaching in the form of a steep hike in restitution that poachers must pay to the state.

Immigrant advocates blast bill to ban 'sanctuary cities' in Michigan by withholding state funding (MLive)
A Michigan bill seeking to ban "sanctuary city" policies for immigrants who entered the country illegally could damage police-community relationships and encourage racial profiling, according to critics.

DETROIT

Engineers union: DPS boiler regulations could hurt kids (The Detroit News)
Members of a local engineers union asked a judge Tuesday to reverse a city decision to replace most public school building boiler operators with a remote monitoring system.

Public hearing set on law for medical marijuana shops (The Detroit News)
An October public hearing is set to gain public feedback on a propose ordinance aimed at regulating where and how medical marijuana centers can operate in Detroit.

Council approves land deal to reinvent Herman Kiefer (The Detroit News)
The City Council on Tuesday approved a land deal that clears the way for a development plan to reinvent the vacant Herman Kiefer Hospital complex and a blighted southeast Detroit neighborhood.

Detroit Homecoming kicks off today in the city (WXYZ)
Detroit Homecoming kicks off at the Detroit Opera House tonight, and organizers are expecting an even bigger crowd than last year. They say the three-day event is expected to bring nearly 200-business, sports and innovation leaders back home to the D -this year to invest and lead.

OPINION

Ken Braun: New poll reveals union workers are unhappy workers (MLive)
"Live Better — Work Union" is a slogan that's often easy to find adorning car bumpers near workplaces where Big Labor remains relevant. Press an organized-labor apologist to explain, and the response is likely to be an assertion that union membership creates workplaces where safety, job security, better pay and so forth are a greater priority. Yet throwing ice water on this warm and fuzzy claim is a recent Gallup poll showing union members may be the most disgruntled workers in America.

Lansing promises were made, but roads remain broken (MLive)

Way back before summer began, in the midst of another ill-fated attempt to fix the roads, the Senate GOP leadership proudly announced that the body would work throughout the summer to get this job done

Phil Power: Correcting corrections would save money, but carry risks (MLive)
Trying to come up with better corrections policy for Michigan is tough, because you have to balance two factors — costs versus public safety — where a fact-based comparison is difficult.

Editorial: UAW members must face contract reality (Detroit News)
The UAW rank and file is obviously not pleased with the tentative labor contract President Dennis Williams and FCA US CEO Sergio Marchionne agreed to two weeks ago, even though it provides significant economic rewards for workers.

Glenn: Keep energy choice alive (Detroit News)
Michigan's economy is hindered by an arbitrary law allowing only 10 percent of electricity users to buy from an alternative provider, guaranteeing Consumers Energy and Detroit Edison 90 percent of the market. Utility monopoly-backed legislation to eliminate electricity choice altogether would further damage our economy, schools in particular.

Robinson: Demystify the minimum wage (Detroit News)
One of the most widely discussed but least understood public policy debates essential to the well-being of our economy and every American citizen is the minimum wage.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, October 01, 2015 10:17 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/1 Newsroom

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Oct. 1, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

New Supreme Court Justice
Snyder appoints Joan Larsen to Supreme Court (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday named to the Michigan Supreme Court University of Michigan attorney and law professor Joan Larsen, a former legal adviser to the administration of President George W. Bush and a former clerk to U.S. Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia.

Gov. Snyder names Joan Larsen to Michigan Supreme Court (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder has named Joan Larsen, currently special counsel to the University of Michigan law school dean, to the state Supreme Court. Snyder announced his choice at a late-morning news conference Wednesday in Lansing. Justice Mary Beth Kelly is leaving the bench to return to private practice, effective Thursday.

Snyder picks UM law professor Larsen for Supreme Court (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder appointed University of Michigan adjunct law professor Joan Larsen on Wednesday in a move that continues the Michigan Supreme Court's 5-2 conservative majority. Larsen, 47, is special counsel to the UM law school dean, and her appointment to replace retiring Justice Mary Beth Kelly means three of the seven justices have no prior judicial experience. She joins a seven-member court that includes Justice Bridget McCormack, also a former University of Michigan law professor, and Justice Richard Bernstein, a former private-practice attorney in Farmington Hills.

Gov. Snyder appoints new MI Supreme Court Justice (Fox 17)
Governor Rick Snyder appointed Joan L. Larsen, a law professor at the University of Michigan, to the Michigan Supreme Court Wednesday morning.

Gov. Snyder names replacement state Supreme Court justice (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder names Joan Larsen, of Scio Township, to Michigan State Supreme Court. Larsen, a University of Michigan professor, will be replacing Mary Beth Kelly who is stepping down on Thursday to return to private law practice.

U-M law professor appointed to Michigan Supreme Court (AP)
A University of Michigan law professor with conservative credentials was appointed Wednesday to the Michigan Supreme Court, filling an opening caused by the early departure of Justice Mary Beth Kelly. Joan Larsen, special counsel to the law school's dean, is Gov. Rick Snyder's third appointment to the court. Through elections and appointments, Republican nominees have a 5-2 majority.

Snyder appoints University law professor to Michigan Supreme Court (Michigan Daily)
Gov. Rick Snyder appointed University Law Prof. Joan Larsen to the Michigan Supreme Court on Wednesday.

Gov. Rick Snyder appoints U-M attorney Joan Larsen to Michigan Supreme Court (Mlive)
University of Michigan attorney and law professor Joan Larsen is heading to the state Supreme Court. Republican Gov. Rick Snyder announced the appointment Wednesday, selecting Larsen to replace outgoing Justice Mary Beth Kelly, who is resigning to return to private practice.

Syrian refugees/immigration
Michigan to 'welcome' Syrian refugees (MI 26 News)
The Governor's administration is talking with federal officials about the role that the state of Michigan can play in taking in more refugees from war-torn Syria and the Middle East. Michigan has one of the nation's largest Middle Eastern populations and the Governor says he would love to see it grow.

Skubick: Snyder wants to open door to immigrants; GOP senator has other idea (WLNS)
Gov. Rick Snyder says he wants to welcome more immigrants to Michigan while some GOP lawmakers want to punish so-called Sanctuary Cities that welcome immigrants into the state.

Michigan in early talks on taking more Syria, Middle East refugees, Snyder says (AP)
Republican Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday his administration is talking with federal officials on the role the state can play in accepting more refugees from war-torn Syria and the Middle East, building on Michigan's century-plus of Arab immigration and taking a different tone from some GOP presidential candidates

Flint water
Gov. Rick Snyder: Consequences of using Flint River water weren't 'fully understood' in 2014 (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder is promising action this week in response to Flint's water crisis and says the consequences of switching to the Flint River in 2014 weren't "fully understood." Blood samples show significant levels of lead in Flint children, likely because corrosive water from the Flint River is agitating lead in old plumbing systems.

Governor says fallout from Flint water switch wasn't fully understood (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder says "There are probably things that weren't as fully understood" as they should have been before the city tapped into the Flint River for drinking water. Snyder, speaking to reporters in Lansing Wednesday, Sept. 30, said the decision to use the river rather than buying Lake Huron water from Detroit was "made with the community" while Flint was run by a state-appointed emergency manager.

Snyder: Things "were not fully understood" in Flint water switch (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder acknowledges the decision to switch the city of Flint's water system was not vetted the way it should have been. The city faces a crisis now that the water going to homes is contaminated by lead. "In terms of a mistake, I would say is there are probably things that were not as fully understood as when that switch was made," he said.

Snyder finally says lead in Flint water may be problem (Freep)
Almost a week after news broke that more Flint kids have been lead poisoned, two weeks after state data confirmed that lead levels in Flint's water had spiked, more than a year after residents first noticed something was hinky with the water coming out of their taps, Gov. Rick Snyder has publicly acknowledged that Flint's water supply "appears" to have problems.

Legislative Black Caucus urges state of emergency for Flint water (Mlive)
The Michigan Legislative Black Caucus is putting pressure on Gov. Rick Snyder to issue a state of emergency for the city of Flint's water problems. The organization announced in a Wednesday, Sept. 30, release that its members are concerned about the residents of Flint and lead exposure from the city's water.

Governor to take action over lead in Flint water supply (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder is pledging to take action this week or next on the concerning amounts of lead turning up in Flint's water. Meanwhile, residents in the city continue to suffer the consequences.

Snyder acknowledges mistakes in city's water troubles (WNEM)
For months, a city's water supply has been plagued with a foul smell, gross discoloration and now, dangerous levels of lead. So TV5 wanted to ask the tough questions of Gov. Rick Snyder – after all, it was his appointed emergency manager who oversaw pulling the plug on Detroit.

Roads
Governor Snyder Says Road Talks Going Well (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder says he met with legislative leaders from both parties on Wednesday over a possible road funding plan.

Rising Tide
Governor Snyder's Rising Tide initiative rolls through Evart (TV 7&4)
Evart is one of ten communities throughout Michigan that was chosen by the Talent and Economic Development Group (TED) to be a part of the Rising Tide initiative. It's something that was envisioned by Governor Rick Snyder. The initiative is based off of the old proverb, 'A rising tide lifts all boats.'

Detroit homecoming
Second 'Detroit Homecoming' aims to score big again (The Detroit News)
The second annual event aimed at wooing a group of successful former Detroiters to become involved in their home town kicked off Wednesday evening. The CEO and founder of Under Armour, Kevin Plank told the "Detroit Homecoming" crowd that the fast-growing Baltimore-based sports apparel and shoemaker is looking for a space to open its first store in the city. The 175 "expats" invited to the Homecoming will be heavily pitched by many Metro Detroit power players who will portray the post-bankruptcy city as an area that's already rebounding.

Detroit expats gather at kickoff event for Detroit Homecoming (Crain's Detroit Business)
With more than 350 Detroit "expats" and guests in attendance, Gov. Rick Snyder kicked off Detroit Homecoming with the message of working together. Detroit Homecoming, an event to re-engage expats, many of whom grew up in the city or Detroit suburbs, through philanthropy, real estate investment or other tangible contributions to their hometown, is about making a difference, Snyder said.

Bill signing
Gov. Rick Snyder signs bills modifying local resource regulations (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder signed three bills Sept. 30 that clarify operations of municipalities, making it easier for counties, cities, townships and villages to file documents and save money at the local government level.

Gov. Snyder signs bills to save resources (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today signed three bills that clarify operations of municipalities, making it easier for counties, cities, townships and villages to file documents and save money at the local government level. "Repealing outdated laws on the books and helping to modernize government at the local level has been a major priority," Snyder said. "These bills allow communities to correct issues that have hindered their operations to help them conserve resources and provide better services to residents."

Amazon in Detroit

Amazon starts acting like believer in Michigan's future (Freep)

Amazon's hour-long press event Monday in downtown Detroit didn't provide much in the way of brand new news. Amazon shared very little new information in its press release Monday or the opening remarks of Peter Faricy, vice president of Amazon Marketplace at Cobo Center.

Flag honors

Gov. Rick Snyder lowers flags in honor of fallen firefighter (Holland Sentinel)

Gov. Rick Snyder ordered U.S. and Michigan flags to be lowered to half-staff Oct. 1 within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings in honor of Casnovia Township firefighter Richard Crosby Sr., who died Sept. 26.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

State employees run Relentless Positive Traction 5K (LSJ)

Some 1,000 state employees participated in the second annual Relentless Positive Traction 5K Run + Walk Wednesday evening at the state Capitol. Led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, the event was birthed in 2014 through an employee engagement effort. Employees designed the event's logo.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Marijuana dispensary case going to trial (Times Herald)

Five people facing charges in a medical marijuana case that was dismissed in 2013 are heading to trial — unless they decide to take plea deals by Oct. 12. Debra, James and Amanda Amsdill and Mark and Terra Sochacki were in Judge Cynthia Lane's courtroom Wednesday for plea hearings.

DEQ

In toxic Lake Erie algae battle, Michigan shows a sign of progress (MLive)

New data indicates that harmful algal bloom-fueling phosphorus in a Lake Erie tributary has been reduced by nearly 50 percent in the past seven years, a drop that state officials are attributing to conservation farming practices.

Muskegon County, Mona Lake Watershed Council celebrate permit approval to address lake's algae blooms, phosphorous (MLive)

Muskegon County has finally received a key document that will help it fight harmful algae blooms in Mona Lake and reestablish the original, marshy condition of the "celery flats" near Black Creek. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which is responsible for developing and maintaining the nation's environmental resources, issued a critical work permit to the Muskegon County Drain Commission on Sept. 17.

Flint water woes seep into city, state politics (Detroit News)

The questionable quality of the city's drinking water made headlines again this week, but not much of it has been news to Ashley Holt. For almost a year, the water from her faucet has looked "like urine," smelled "like the sewer" and, if you're brave enough to sip it, hasn't tasted "normal," the 25-year-old Flint resident said. It's why she's limited for months how often her children — ages 5, 6 and 12 — come in contact with it.

DNR

New grouse enhanced management site dedicated in Iron County (TV 6 UP)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources and several partnering groups recently opened the first Grouse Enhanced Management Site developed on private land in Michigan: the "Gold Mine" GEMS in Iron County.

Salmon population plummeting in Lake Michigan (USA Today)

They are the king of the Great Lakes sport fish, luring thousands of anglers to Michigan waters every year for a chance to try to land them — and helping fuel a multibillion-dollar fishing and boating tourism industry. But the Chinook salmon's numbers are plummeting in Lake Michigan due to a combination of natural forces, unnatural invasive species, and the state Department of Natural Resources' own efforts to dial back the population and prevent a more permanent population crash as happened in Lake Huron about a decade ago.

Archery deer season set to begin (Sault St. Marie Evening News)
When the archery season opens at daybreak on Thursday, those who pursue the white-tailed deer throughout most of the Upper Peninsula will find their options are a bit more limited for the 2015 season. "There was a change," said Wildlife Biologist David Jentoft of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. "Archery hunters can only, for the most part, take an antlered deer this year."

Survey shows yellow perch surviving but not thriving (Arenac County Independent)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wrapped up its annual fisheries survey in the Saginaw Bay in late September, and this year's survey showed slight improvements in the yellow perch population. DNR Fisheries Research Biologist Dave Fielder said the survey data was collected over a roughly three-week period in September and will not be fully analyzed until this winter. However, early indications show some good news for yellow perch in the Bay.

Reclusive rattlesnake may get federal protection (Detroit Free Press)
The eastern massasauga rattlesnake, Michigan's lone venomous viper, is the scariest snake you've probably never seen — except in pictures, perhaps. But the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is proposing that this chicken of a snake needs federal protection as a threatened species under the Endangered Species Act. It probably needs a good public relations agent, too.

DTMB
Great Lakes Crossing Outlets holding seasonal job fair as state reports decreased workforce levels in recent months (Oakland Press)
Auburn Hills resident Darryl Wright, after years in the telecommunications and auto detailing industries, is looking to get into a new field. On Wednesday, Sept. 30, he knew right where to go. More than 90 stores and restaurants set up booths from 1 to 4 p.m. in the food court of the Great Lakes Crossing Outlets during an annual job fair to attract seasonal workers.

MDHHS
Michigan: Rare salmonella infected Henry Ford patients (Free Press)
The salmonella that is believed to have sickened 14 patients at Henry Ford Hospital last week is the "relatively rare" strain called Salmonella Isangi, according to the state health department. It's a strain so rare, state officials have asked the U.S. Centers for Disease Control & Prevention for more information about it, said Jim Collins, director of the communicable diseases division of the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

Public health assessment finalized following 2010 oil spill in Calhoun, Kalamazoo counties (Fox 28)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) has finalized a public health assessment connected to the July 2010 oil spill in Calhoun and Kalamazoo counties. A news release from MDHHS said the public health assessment evaluated the levels of oil-related chemicals in the air following the oil spill. The assessment concluded residents are not expected to experience long-term harm to their health from breathing chemicals released into the air from the spilled oil.

Chemicals in Air from Kalamazoo River Spill Won't Lead to Health Problems, State Says (WMUK)
State officials say that the 2010 oil spill in the Kalamazoo River likely won't lead to long-term problems for residents who breathed in oil-related chemicals. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services today released its final report on potential health problems from chemicals from the spill in the air.

MDOT
Michigan is auto, and MiCHauto aims to keep it that way (MLive)

Michigan is home to a quarter of all U.S. automotive assembly plants.The state has the highest concentration of engineering and architecture talent in the country. Last year, the number of vehicles produced in Michigan hit 2.34 million units, easily eclipsing the next state's total output of about 800,000 cars and trucks.

MDOT covering up dead vegetation with mulch along freeway (Grand Haven Tribune)
That's the cost to have 53,700 cubic yards of mulch placed along I-696 in parts of Oakland and Macomb counties, an area that stretches from I-75 to I-94, the Detroit Free Press reported. "We are remulching all of the beds (basically anywhere where there isn't growth) with mulch," MDOT spokeswoman Diane Cross said in an email.

MPSC
Energy Summit holds discussions for future development (ABC 10 News)
Leaders and state commission members met this morning to discuss the future of energy here in the U.P. Members of the Michigan Public Service Commission, MISO, and other energy representatives gathered today at NMU to discuss local, state and regional developments. The main point of discussion was what to do when the Presque Isle Power Plant becomes defunct in 2020. Their solution is to build a new power plant by then.

Electric hike: UPPCO's proposal to raise rates needs state commission approval (Mining Gazette)
Upper Peninsula Power Company has requested Michigan Public Service Commission approval for a minimum 6.45 percent increase in base electric rates for 2016, but the state won't just be rubber-stamping the hike, Public Service spokeswoman Judy Palnau said Tuesday. Palnau said UPPCO will have to make their case for the increase before an administrative judge, a process that can involve public comment and even legal intervention from customers. That judge will issue a recommendation to the Public Service Commissioners, who make a final decision on a new rate.

MSP
Oakland County employees raise $7,000 for family of fallen Michigan State Police trooper (Oakland Press)
Oakland County government employees have utilized casual Friday to raise money for those in need in the past, but they went a little further to support the family of a Michigan State Police trooper killed in the line of duty. A typical collection yields about $300, but after Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson joked that police officers may not understand the premise of a casual dress day, he handed over a check for $7,000 on behalf of county employees Wednesday, Sept. 30 to the family of trooper Chad Wolf.

SOS
Voter Registration Deadline for Nov. 3 Election Nears (WHTC)
With Election Day five weeks from now, Michigan Secretary of State Ruth Johnson is reminding residents that the voter registration deadline for the November 3rd balloting is next Monday, October 5th. Municipal government seats are primarily up for grabs in this off-year election statewide, including contested races in Holland, Douglas, Hudsonville and Grand Haven. There is also an eight-person GOP primary for most of Allegan County to see who will run against Democrat David Gernant in a March 8th Special Election for filling a state House seat vacated by Cindy Gamrat's expulsion.

Customers who bought from University Motor Mall weigh in on how the dealership did business (WLNS)
There aren't any cars for sale at University Motor Mall in Lansing Tuesday night after an investigation by the state found the dealership was failing to give customers credible titles and registration. State officials started to raise their eyebrows when customers of University Motor Mall weren't being issued credible titles for their newly purchased vehicles, leading them to question 'where were the vehicles coming from?'

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Rep. Tinsley-Talabi linked to Detroit corruption case (The Detroit News)
Federal officials are investigating state Rep. Alberta Tinsley-Talabi in a bribery and kickback scandal stemming from her time as a city councilwoman and a Detroit pension fund trustee, The Detroit News has learned. Tinsley-Talabi's nonprofit group received at least one bribe from a businessman while she sat on a Detroit pension fund, and her City Council campaign got thousands more from businessmen involved in a widespread corruption case, federal prosecutors said.

Michigan lawmakers considering raising speed limit on rural highways (WWMT News 3)
From 70 to 80 miles per hour? For the third time, Michigan lawmakers are considering raising the state's speed limit on rural highways. A bill moving through the State House right now is getting mixed reactions from drivers. It's an issue we can all relate to in one way or another: if you do go the speed limit on the highway, you feel like other cars are zooming past you. This new legislation would aim to raise the speed limit in some spots to what most drivers are already doing.

Lawmakers vote to lift cap on teacher certification test fee (Detroit Free Press)
A bill heading to Gov. Rick Snyder for his signature lifts a cap on teacher certification test fees so they can go up for the first time in 23 years. The Senate voted 33-4 for the legislation Wednesday. The current fee is $50 for a basic skills exam and $75 for an elementary certification or subject-area test. The bill doesn't outline new fees but says the state Education Department cannot implement fees exceeding actual costs.

Bill nearing OK lets drivers show police insurance via phone (AP)
Drivers pulled over by the police could show proof of auto insurance on their mobile device under legislation nearing final approval in Michigan. The state Senate plans to vote on the bill Wednesday. It won approval in the House in March. The legislation would clarify that motorists can demonstrate proof that their car is insured by showing a paper or electronic copy of their insurance certificate.

Michigan motorists can prove auto insurance coverage on cell phone under approved bill (MLive)
Michigan motorists involved in traffic stops or crashes will have the option to show proof of no-fault auto insurance coverage in an electronic form under legislation heading to the desk of Gov. Rick Snyder. House Bill 4193, sponsored by Republican Rep. Aric Nesbitt, of Lawton, and unanimously approved by the Senate on Wednesday, would allow motorists to share insurance documents with police via cell phone or another capable device.

DETROIT

Banksy mural from Detroit sells for $137,500 (Detroit Free Press)
Going once. Going twice. Sold. The Banksy has left Detroit for good. The city's most famous and controversial piece of street art, painted in 2010 amid the ruins of the Packard Plant by the anonymous British celebrity artist known as Banksy, sold Wednesday at Julien's Auctions in Beverly Hills, Calif., for $137,500 including the buyer's premium.

Land deal for Herman Kiefer complex in Detroit approved (MLive)
Upon closing, Ron Castellano and the Herman Kiefer Development LLC will have 90 days to spruce up the vacant houses and lots around the sprawling abandoned hospital complex in Detroit's Virginia Park neighborhood. That's step one. The Detroit News reports that the Detroit City Council on Tuesday passed a land deal allowing New York-based Castellano to acquire the 18-acre site and 526,000-square-foot Herman Kiefer Health Complex for $925,000.

Detroit mayor's dad, Patrick Duggan, retires as judge (The Detroit News)
The father of Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan is retiring as a federal judge. Patrick Duggan's last day on the bench is Wednesday. President Ronald Reagan nominated him in 1986, and he was quickly confirmed by the Senate. Duggan was a Wayne County judge for 10 years before moving to U.S. District Court.

Morouns lose on virtually all counts in bridge lawsuit (Detroit Free Press)
A federal judge on Wednesday dismissed virtually all of the remaining legal counts in a lawsuit against the U.S. government brought by owners of the Ambassador Bridge, rejecting Manuel (Matty) Moroun's contention that his company has an exclusive rights to operate a span to Canada in Detroit without competition. The 57-page opinion filed by U.S. District Judge Rosemary Collyer in Washington represents another victory for proponents of the Gordie Howe International Bridge, a publicly owned span proposed to be built almost entirely at Canada's expense.

OPINION

More Freedom of Information needed in Michigan (Holland Sentinel)
In the aftermath of the sex scandal that rocked Lansing over the course of the past month, there are many lessons to be learned. Chief among them is that our open records laws are an abject failure. The Freedom of Information Act in Michigan is nowhere near free, and the exemptions included for the governor and legislature mean that those at the heart of directing our state and creating our laws are completely concealed from scrutiny.

Our view: Laws taking effect a step toward fairness (Midland Daily News)
Michigan laws that take effect on Thursday might not be popular with online shoppers, but they make a lot of sense in terms of fairness and the state's budget needs. Thursday is the day when online retailers such as Amazon.com and others with some type of connection in Michigan, whether it be employees, office space or repair services, will start collecting the state's 6 percent sales tax.

Editorial: UAW members must face contract reality (The Detroit News)
The UAW rank and file is obviously not pleased with the tentative labor contract President Dennis Williams and FCA US CEO Sergio Marchionne agreed to two weeks ago, even though it provides significant economic rewards for workers.

Robinson: Demystify the minimum wage (The Detroit News)
One of the most widely discussed but least understood public policy debates essential to the well-being of our economy and every American citizen is the minimum wage. Labor unions, civil rights groups, and progressive and working-class Americans of all races, ethnicities, religions and backgrounds have been struggling for years to get our country to establish a fair, livable minimum wage, such as $15 an hour.

Editorial: Another assault on women's rights (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Forcing a woman to have an abortion is plainly wrong, but no more so than forcing her to continue a pregnancy she does not want. If Republican lawmakers were sincere about eliminating coercion in reproductive decision-making, they'd be looking at both issues.

Don't give in to corporate blackmail to pay for roads (Macomb Daily)
When you hit a pothole at 50 m.p.h. in a 20-ton fire truck, the driver struggles to maintain control of the vehicle. Yet firefighters (I was one for 26 years) risk that dangerous jolt every time they race to an emergency down a badly maintained road. That's why I was grateful when I heard that Washington had come up with a way to fund highway and bridge repair.

Editorial: Adding Larsen should make good court better (The Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder is making the case for the appointment of Supreme Court justices look quite appealing. The governor's third pick for an opening on the court, Joan Larsen, reflects his preference for justices with solid legal grounding over those with political connections.

Finley: Keep politics out of taxes (The Detroit News)
If you don't own a home, if you don't have dependent children, if you aren't a senior citizen and if you don't have outstanding college loans, don't bother to check out the "Blueprint for Michigan Families" offered by Democrats this week. It isn't for you.

Campbell: Unregulated prescribing authority wrong move
At the beginning of the summer, Gov. Rick Snyder announced the formation of a "Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force." It was an important move and perhaps an even more important acknowledgment — Michigan is facing a prescription drug abuse crisis.

Firm Picked to Evaluate Education Funding Has Long History of Recommending Spending Hikes

The Snyder administration's preliminary pick for a contractor to do a study on whether Michigan spends an “adequate” amount on public schools has a long history of coming to the same conclusion on similar questions: “Not adequate." The company’s 12 most recent state studies have all concluded that spending on public schools should be increased.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, October 02, 2015 9:47 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/2 Newsroom
Attachments: 151002 Newsroom.docx

Friday, Oct. 2, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Michigan Ambassador Program
Governor in Silicon valley selling Michigan (Detroit Free Press)
While 175 Michigan expatriates returned this week for a three-day Detroit Homecoming 2015 conference to talk about reinvesting in the city, Gov. Rick Snyder and three business leaders traveled to San Francisco today to preach the same gospel to Michigan expats there.

Flint water
Gov. Snyder promising 'action steps' in Flint water crisis (MyTechBits.com)
The Flint River has been Flint's water source since 2014. A new report estimates it will cost the city of Flint $1.5 billion to fix the damage done since the switch to the Flint River as a water source. He went to Flint to advise city officials about their water situation.

Bill signing
Snyder signs Hertel bill on electronic signatures (LSJ)
A bill from state Sen. Curtis Hertel Jr., D-Meridian Township, allowing electronic signatures for property records, has been signed into law. Gov. Rick Snyder announced he'd signed Hertel's bill, making it Public Act 131 of 2015. The bill allows county deed offices to accept electronic signatures for property documents being filed.

Snyder signs bills into law affecting local municipalities (MiNews26)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday signed several bills into law aimed at clarifying the operations of local municipalities.

Misc.
Snyder Bowed Out Prematurely from Presidential Try -- National Media Panelists (Deadline Detroit)
Did Gov. Rick Snyder, who flirted with seeking the presidential nomination in 2016, nix the idea prematurely in May? Two members of the national media, speaking in Detroit Thursday on a panel of expats, seem to think so. They spoke at a Detroit Homecoming panel titled "Detroit's Importance on the National Political Stage."

Bill Ford sees city of future tethered to smartphone (USA Today)
Silicon Valley's delight in challenging convention and calculated risk-taking has inspired the leaders of both the Ford Motor Co.and the state of Michigan, Bill Ford and Gov. Rick Snyder told USA TODAY Thursday.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley to leave Friday for weeklong promotional trade trip to India (Crain's Detroit Business)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley will leave Friday for a weeklong trade trip to India, where he will promote Michigan-made exports and encourage Indian manufacturers to invest in new Michigan products or facilities. The trip, Calley's fifth, will be the first official trade mission to the country by a Michigan delegation. Calley will return Oct. 11.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Confidential student tip line is saving lives, Attorney General says (MLive)
Students and adults were moved to tears Thursday, Oct. 1, at North Rockford Middle School by a video chronicling the suicides of seven Michigan teens who were bullied for everything from their appearance to their sexual orientation.

OK2SAY program already saving teen lives (WOOD TV)
The state of Michigan is stepping up efforts to save students' lives.

Parole overhaul clears state House (Michigan Radio)
Michigan would release more inmates on parole under bills approved by the state House on Thursday.

DEQ
Ferner calls phosphorus reductions misleading (Toledo Blade)
One of Toledo's seven mayoral candidates is accusing Michigan officials of "cooking the books" by playing up decreases in total phosphorus loading into the Detroit River, the River Raisin, and western Lake Erie while downplaying increases in dissolved reactive phosphorus, the type that grows the most algae.

Who's to blame for Flint's water crisis? Virginia Tech researcher points the finger at MDEQ (Michigan Radio)
Yesterday, Gov. Rick Snyder admitted that the decision to switch the city of Flint's water supply from Detroit's system over to the Flint River was not well planned.

Legislators take action to fix Flint water supply (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Legislature is beginning to take notice of the ongoing controversy surrounding Flint's water system, which has been plagued by problems with discoloration and foul smells since the city disconnected from the Detroit water system and began pulling its water supply from the Flint River.

State to announce Flint water action plan Friday at Kettering (MLive)
Local, state and federal officials are set to announce a plan for addressing concerns with lead in Flint's drinking water at a news conference Friday, Oct. 2.

Flint data on lead water lines stored on 45,000 index cards (MLive)
The city knows which homes in Flint have pipes most likely to leach lead into tap water but can't easily access the information because it's kept on about 45,000 index cards.

Michigan's Adventure sewage increase request will go to public hearing (MLive)
In the face of public demand, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality has scheduled a public hearing on a permit request by Michigan's Adventure's amusement park to increase the amount of sewage it treats and releases into the groundwater.

EPA awards CMU $10 million Great Lakes Restoration Initiative Grant to monitor coastal wetlands (Midland Daily News)
The U.S Environmental Protection Agency today announced that Central Michigan University has received a $10 million Great Lakes Restoration Initiative grant to monitor coastal wetlands around the Great Lakes basin over the next five years.

CMU wins $10M grant for wetland monitoring (Detroit News)
The Environmental Protection Agency awarded a $10 million grant to Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant for monitoring coastal wetlands around the Great Lakes basin over the next five years.

Belle River Watershed Plan to guide clean up, restoration, future uses of river (The Voice)
When you look at the cappuccino-colored Belle River moving slowly through Marine City, it's hard to imagine that it flows 73 miles through three counties to arrive at its mouth at the St. Clair River.

New MiWaters system expected to streamline the permit application and tracking process (MSU Extension)
Individuals, businesses and municipalities conducting, or planning to conduct, a regulated activity on or near a Michigan water body will be interested to learn about MiWaters—the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's (MDEQ) new online permit system.

DNR
DNR combats erosion at Little Girl's Point (your Daily Globe)
Michigan Department of Natural Resources employees were busy installing new barriers along a section of the Lake Superior shoreline at Little Girl's Point Thursday in an effort to combat erosion near the mouth of Oman's Creek.

DNR program sees increase in young hunters (Cadillac News)
You're never too young to hunt or fish. Over the last few years, The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has seen an increasing number of young hunters participating in the Mentored Youth Hunt program.

New report checks fishery status (Traverse City Record Eagle)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources posted a two-page document to its website this week with updated information about the Lake Michigan fishery.

Archery deer season begins, bear season going strong (ABC 10)
While today was day one of archery deer season, this morning's first visitor to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources check station in Marquette was a different type of animal altogether.

Endangered Species? Retiring Midwest Snake targets for conservation (Nature World News)
A "docile, secretive" snake that "will try to escape rather than fight" people and other foes--that's how the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service describes the Midwest's Eastern Massasauga Rattlesnake, which was recently proposed as a Threatened Species under the Endangered Species Act, by that agency.

MDOT
Another massive hole opens on Rouge River Bridge (Detroit Free Press)
Another massive hole has opened up on the Rouge River Bridge in Detroit, prompting lane closures tonight as crews try to complete emergency repairs ahead of the Friday morning rush hour.

Pothole closes 2 bridge lanes on NB I-75 in SW Detroit (Detroit News)
Two lanes of the Rouge River Bridge on northbound Interstate 75 in southwest Detroit are expected to be closed at Dearborn Street through early Friday as Wayne County crews work to fill a massive pothole, Michigan Department of Transportation officials said.

Metro area road construction season winds down (Detroit News)
Time for an update on a few of the projects underway in the metro area.

MDOT opens new carpool lot at Stadium and 11th in Kalamazoo (WKZO)
The Michigan Department of Transportation has opened a new parking lot for carpoolers south of Stadium Drive in Kalamazoo.

Work on U.S.10 bridges at I-75 to shift (Midland Daily News)
The westbound U.S. 10 bridge over I-75 will reopen to traffic on Saturday. On Sunday, Michigan Department of Transportation crews will shift eastbound traffic over to the newly constructed westbound bridge, closing the eastbound bridge.

Road improvement? Rough Ostego Avenue resurfacing is 'finished product' (Petoskey News Review)
Motorists who regularly travel South Otsego Avenue between the I-75 interchange and South Wisconsin Avenue/Grandview Boulevard in Gaylord may find the recent paving job hardly an improvement over the old, crumbling roadway, but what is being driven upon is the "finished product," according to a Michigan Department of Transportation official.

MEDC
Downtown Escanaba getting renovations thanks to grant (Upper Michigan's Source)
Six downtown Escanaba businesses will soon be getting a facelift.

Glassource expands in Grand Haven (MiBiz)
Glassource, a Grand Haven-based manufacturer of glass and mirror products, including shower doors, plans to invest $1.6 million to purchase and revamp an aged manufacturing facility on Beechtree Street in Grand Haven.

MPSC
Saginaw Plaza facility celebrated completion of ESPC with an open house (Business Wire)
Ameresco, Inc., (NYSE:AMRC), a leading energy efficiency and renewable energy company, announced the completion of the $437,000 Energy Savings Performance Contract (ESPC) with Saginaw Plaza, LTD. to upgrade their facility in Lansing, MI. The facility is currently leased to the State and houses the Michigan Agency for Energy (MAE) and the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC). MAE/MPSC worked closely with the property owner, Saginaw Plaza, and Ameresco to achieve facility improvements given the MAE/MPSC is Saginaw Plaza's long-term tenant.

Energy summit addresses citizen concerns (WNMU)
Residents had a chance to ask questions about local power generation at the U.P. Energy Summit held at NMU Wednesday.

MSHDA
Abandoned lot in Moores Park Neighborhood to become community green space (City Pulse)
Lansing's Moores Park neighborhood is trading in an abandoned house for a community gathering space — with a little help.

Blighted properties in Albion, Emmett to be torn down (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Some 30 residential buildings will be torn down in Albion and Emmett Township beginning this week.

Hastings City Council appoints new 3rd Ward council member (Hastings Banner)
Hastings City Clerk and Treasurer Tom Emery swears in newly appointed 3rd Ward Council Member Don Smith during the Hastings City Council meeting Monday evening. (Photo courtesy of Jean Gallup, WBCH)by Sandra Ponsetto

SUPREME COURT
Michigan Supreme Court could hear Holland v. Consumers (Holland Sentinel)
A court case possibly heading to the state supreme court boils down to which utility has the right to serve customer Benjamin's Hope, a Park Township nonprofit.

Michigan Supreme Court could make it easier to get new trials (WMUK)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to hear a case that could make it easier for criminal defendants to win new trials.

State Supreme Court to hear Swain appeal (Battle Creek Enquirer)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments that Lorinda Swain of Burlington is entitled to a new trial in her criminal sexual conduct case.

Michigan high court to hear long-running sex abuse case (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to look at the case of a Battle Creek-area woman who was convicted of criminal sexual conduct 13 years ago.

MI Supreme Court to hear Swain case (WWMT)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments that Lorinda Swain of Calhoun County is entitled to a new trial.

Jones to state employees: Put a ring on it for bennies (LSJ)
State Sen. Rick Jones wants to limit state-sponsored employee benefits to the spouses and children of state workers, but a state employee union official said that's an issue outside the Legislature's authority.

TREASURY
Michigan Department of Treasury: Keep your online receipts (Oakland Press)
The Michigan department of Treasury has issued a statement cautioning shoppers to keep receipts on all items purchased via the Internet, mail-order or telephone starting Oct. 1.

Michigan's new internet sales tax laws take effect (WDET)
The state will require more online retailers to charge Michigan's sales tax starting Thursday.

That was fast: Michigan Court of Appeals upholds retroactive repeal of compact (Lexology)
A mere 28 days after oral argument, a three-judge panel of the Michigan Court of Appeals unanimously upheld a Court of Claims decision that sanctioned the Michigan Legislature's retroactive withdrawal from the Multistate Tax Compact in 2014 PA 282, by ruling for the Michigan Department of Treasury in the consolidated appeal.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Bill to end "sanctuary cities" draws opposition from some state lawmakers (Michigan Radio)
A Michigan Senate bill that would ban "sanctuary city" ordinances, which protect people living in the U.S. illegally, is drawing opposition from some lawmakers.

Michigan Senate approves $7.7 million for settlement after fatal crash involving state trooper (AP)
Michigan expects to spend $7.7 million on a legal settlement following a state police car chase that killed a 64-year-old Flint woman and severely injured two others.

Michigan Senate OKs bill targeting deed fee scams (AP)
A bill advancing in Michigan's Legislature targets companies that charge unsuspecting residents 50 to 100 times what a local government charges for a copy of a property deed.

Michigan lawmakers consider tax-free accounts for people with disabilities (AP)
The Michigan Legislature is voting to let residents with disabilities open tax-free savings accounts to pay for long-term needs such as education and housing. The accounts would offer tax advantages similar to 529 college savings plans. The House unanimously approved half of a four-bill package Thursday.

Michigan House bill would ban sky lanterns over fire, environmental concerns (MLive)
A bill was introduced last week in the Michigan Legislature that would ban sky lanterns from lighting up the nighttime sky. But if nothing is done at the state level, one Michigan city wants to start the discussion locally.

House approves bill to parole inmates after minimum sentence (AP)
Michigan lawmakers have approved legislation designed to keep certain prisoners from being locked up beyond their minimum sentence unless the parole board has compelling reasons.

Budget bill add-on awaits future state funds for Flint water (MLive)
A funding mechanism aimed at the state paying for measures to reduce lead levels in Flint's drinking water has been added to a budget bill in the Michigan Senate.

DETROIT

Mayor Duggan updates Detroit expats on city's progress at 2015 Detroit Homecoming (WXYZ)
Mayor Mike Duggan spoke Thursday morning at the 2015 Detroit Homecoming event and provided attendees with a wide-ranging set of updates on everything from development projects to streetlights and the M-1 Rail project.

Duggan: Detroit will 'step up' to host Syrian refugees (The Detroit News)
Mayor Mike Duggan said Thursday Detroit is among the cities willing to "step up" as a host for refugees amid the crisis in war-torn Syria. Duggan said he met with President Barack Obama during a Michigan visit after Labor Day and has been in talks with federal officials for several weeks about the plan and is "very willing" to accept refugees.

Local charities make pitches at Detroit Homecoming (The Detroit News)
Putting the copper crown back on the Belle Isle aquarium, supporting 700 homeless Detroit schoolchildren and taking a stand against animal cruelty are among seven "pitches" made Thursday by Detroit expats on behalf of city-based charities at Detroit Homecoming.

Knight Cities Challenge seeks good ideas for Detroit (The Detroit News)
New ideas that will help Detroit succeed are being sought for the second Knight Cities Challenge, which opened Thursday. The challenge, an initiative of the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, seeks new ideas to make Detroit and the 25 other communities where Knight invests more vibrant places to live and work.

OPINION

Our Editorial: Get Flint residents drinkable water (The Detroit News)
It doesn't matter if official reports say Flint's water is safe to drink. If residents turn on the tap and the water that comes out is oddly colored — or any color but clear — and stinky, they aren't going to drink it. Nor should they have to.

More billboards won't fix Flint's violence problem -- gun control will (MLive)
Flint -- along with four other cities -- is joining the Violence Reduction Network, which, in the words of one federal official, uses "every tool in the Justice Department's toolbox... to get the most bang for our buck."

Michigan energy planning should not be rushed (MLive)
In testimony given on Sept. 17 regarding Senate Bill 437 before the Senate Energy and Technology Committee, David Mengebier, a senior vice president for Consumers Energy, listed a number of potential risks to Michigan's electricity market and stated: "It is imperative that we get a fair Michigan policy in place this fall."

Susan J. Demas: Can Republicans finally knock off Debbie Stabenow in 2018? (MLive)
Every six years, Michigan Republicans get to play their least-favorite game: Who wants to lose to Debbie Stabenow? While they don't have to worry about taking on the state's senior U.S. senator next year, the 2018 election is already upon us. Don't believe me? Even as five GOP presidential hopefuls (real ones, not George Pataki) roamed Mackinac Island last month during the Republicans' biennial shindig, politicos were all atwitter about '18.

Parole reforms promise prison cost savings (The Times Herald)
Michigan spends $14 billion a year on schools but only $2 billion a year on prisons. Transportation spending is more comparable to corrections spending. So how about, “He who closes a prison, paves over a pothole?” Lawmakers have taken up parole reforms in an effort to save money operating the state’s prison system.

Editor's Note: Strike no good for anyone (The Detroit News)
It’s hard to see how a strike by the UAW will help either the union or the domestic auto industry. The union’s Ford division is threatening a walkout at the Kansas City plant that makes the hot-selling F-150 pickup if a local agreement is not reached by Sunday.

Jacques: Plan for Detroit schools shouldn't be delayed (The Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder better act soon on his plans for Detroit schools. Because the momentum surrounding revamping education in the city is deflating. September has come and gone without any sign of the legislation that’s essential to getting the discussion started in Lansing. Snyder had originally wanted the handful of bills introduced by last month. But that deadline keeps getting pushed back.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, Oct. 2, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Michigan Ambassador Program
Governor in Silicon valley selling Michigan (Detroit Free Press)
While 175 Michigan expatriates returned this week for a three-day Detroit Homecoming 2015 conference to talk about reinvesting in the city, Gov. Rick Snyder and three business leaders traveled to San Francisco today to preach the same gospel to Michigan expats there.

Flint water
Gov. Snyder promising 'action steps' in Flint water crisis (MyTechBits.com)
The Flint River has been Flint's water source since 2014. A new report estimates it will cost the city of Flint $1.5 billion to fix the damage done since the switch to the Flint River as a water source. He went to Flint to advise city officials about their water situation.

Bill signing
Snyder signs Hertel bill on electronic signatures (LSJ)
A bill from state Sen. Curtis Hertel Jr., D-Meridian Township, allowing electronic signatures for property records, has been signed into law. Gov. Rick Snyder announced he'd signed Hertel's bill, making it Public Act 131 of 2015. The bill allows county deed offices to accept electronic signatures for property documents being filed.

Snyder signs bills into law affecting local municipalities (MiNews26)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday signed several bills into law aimed at clarifying the operations of local municipalities.

Misc.
Snyder Bowed Out Prematurely from Presidential Try -- National Media Panelists (Deadline Detroit)
Did Gov. Rick Snyder, who flirted with seeking the presidential nomination in 2016, nix the idea prematurely in May? Two members of the national media, speaking in Detroit Thursday on a panel of expats, seem to think so. They spoke at a Detroit Homecoming panel titled "Detroit's Importance on the National Political Stage."

Bill Ford sees city of future tethered to smartphone (USA Today)
Silicon Valley's delight in challenging convention and calculated risk-taking has inspired the leaders of both the Ford Motor Co.and the state of Michigan, Bill Ford and Gov. Rick Snyder told USA TODAY Thursday.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley to leave Friday for weeklong promotional trade trip to India (Crain's Detroit Business)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley will leave Friday for a weeklong trade trip to India, where he will promote Michigan-made exports and encourage Indian manufacturers to invest in new Michigan products or facilities. The trip, Calley's fifth, will be the first official trade mission to the country by a Michigan delegation. Calley will return Oct. 11.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Confidential student tip line is saving lives, Attorney General says (MLive)
Students and adults were moved to tears Thursday, Oct. 1, at North Rockford Middle School by a video chronicling the suicides of seven Michigan teens who were bullied for everything from their appearance to their sexual orientation.

OK2SAY program already saving teen lives (WOOD TV)
The state of Michigan is stepping up efforts to save students' lives.

Parole overhaul clears state House (Michigan Radio)
Michigan would release more inmates on parole under bills approved by the state House on Thursday.

DEQ
Ferner calls phosphorus reductions misleading (Toledo Blade)
One of Toledo's seven mayoral candidates is accusing Michigan officials of "cooking the books" by playing up decreases in total phosphorus loading into the Detroit River, the River Raisin, and western Lake Erie while downplaying increases in dissolved reactive phosphorus, the type that grows the most algae.

Who's to blame for Flint's water crisis? Virginia Tech researcher points the finger at MDEQ (Michigan Radio)
Yesterday, Gov. Rick Snyder admitted that the decision to switch the city of Flint's water supply from Detroit's system over to the Flint River was not well planned.

Legislators take action to fix Flint water supply (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Legislature is beginning to take notice of the ongoing controversy surrounding Flint's water system, which has been plagued by problems with discoloration and foul smells since the city disconnected from the Detroit water system and began pulling its water supply from the Flint River.

State to announce Flint water action plan Friday at Kettering (MLive)
Local, state and federal officials are set to announce a plan for addressing concerns with lead in Flint's drinking water at a news conference Friday, Oct. 2.

Flint data on lead water lines stored on 45,000 index cards (MLive)
The city knows which homes in Flint have pipes most likely to leach lead into tap water but can't easily access the information because it's kept on about 45,000 index cards.

Michigan's Adventure sewage increase request will go to public hearing (MLive)
In the face of public demand, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality has scheduled a public hearing on a permit request by Michigan's Adventure's amusement park to increase the amount of sewage it treats and releases into the groundwater.

EPA awards CMU $10 million Great Lakes Restoration Initiative Grant to monitor coastal wetlands (Midland Daily News)
The U.S Environmental Protection Agency today announced that Central Michigan University has received a $10 million Great Lakes Restoration Initiative grant to monitor coastal wetlands around the Great Lakes basin over the next five years.

CMU wins $10M grant for wetland monitoring (Detroit News)
The Environmental Protection Agency awarded a $10 million grant to Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant for monitoring coastal wetlands around the Great Lakes basin over the next five years.

Belle River Watershed Plan to guide clean up, restoration, future uses of river (The Voice)
When you look at the cappuccino-colored Belle River moving slowly through Marine City, it's hard to imagine that it flows 73 miles through three counties to arrive at its mouth at the St. Clair River.

New MiWaters system expected to streamline the permit application and tracking process (MSU Extension)
Individuals, businesses and municipalities conducting, or planning to conduct, a regulated activity on or near a Michigan water body will be interested to learn about MiWaters—the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's (MDEQ) new online permit system.

DNR
DNR combats erosion at Little Girl's Point (your Daily Globe)
Michigan Department of Natural Resources employees were busy installing new barriers along a section of the Lake Superior shoreline at Little Girl's Point Thursday in an effort to combat erosion near the mouth of Oman's Creek.

DNR program sees increase in young hunters (Cadillac News)
You're never too young to hunt or fish. Over the last few years, The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has seen an increasing number of young hunters participating in the Mentored Youth Hunt program.

New report checks fishery status (Traverse City Record Eagle)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources posted a two-page document to its website this week with updated information about the Lake Michigan fishery.

Archery deer season begins, bear season going strong (ABC 10)
While today was day one of archery deer season, this morning's first visitor to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources check station in Marquette was a different type of animal altogether.

Endangered Species? Retiring Midwest Snake targets for conservation (Nature World News)
A "docile, secretive" snake that "will try to escape rather than fight" people and other foes--that's how the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service describes the Midwest's Eastern Massasauga Rattlesnake, which was recently proposed as a Threatened Species under the Endangered Species Act, by that agency.

MDOT
Another massive hole opens on Rouge River Bridge (Detroit Free Press)
Another massive hole has opened up on the Rouge River Bridge in Detroit, prompting lane closures tonight as crews try to complete emergency repairs ahead of the Friday morning rush hour.

Pothole closes 2 bridge lanes on NB I-75 in SW Detroit (Detroit News)
Two lanes of the Rouge River Bridge on northbound Interstate 75 in southwest Detroit are expected to be closed at Dearborn Street through early Friday as Wayne County crews work to fill a massive pothole, Michigan Department of Transportation officials said.

Metro area road construction season winds down (Detroit News)
Time for an update on a few of the projects underway in the metro area.

MDOT opens new carpool lot at Stadium and 11th in Kalamazoo (WKZO)
The Michigan Department of Transportation has opened a new parking lot for carpoolers south of Stadium Drive in Kalamazoo.

Work on U.S.10 bridges at I-75 to shift (Midland Daily News)
The westbound U.S. 10 bridge over I-75 will reopen to traffic on Saturday. On Sunday, Michigan Department of Transportation crews will shift eastbound traffic over to the newly constructed westbound bridge, closing the eastbound bridge.

Road improvement? Rough Ostego Avenue resurfacing is 'finished product' (Petoskey News Review)
Motorists who regularly travel South Otsego Avenue between the I-75 interchange and South Wisconsin Avenue/Grandview Boulevard in Gaylord may find the recent paving job hardly an improvement over the old, crumbling roadway, but what is being driven upon is the "finished product," according to a Michigan Department of Transportation official.

MEDC
Downtown Escanaba getting renovations thanks to grant (Upper Michigan's Source)
Six downtown Escanaba businesses will soon be getting a facelift.

Glassource expands in Grand Haven (MiBiz)
Glassource, a Grand Haven-based manufacturer of glass and mirror products, including shower doors, plans to invest $1.6 million to purchase and revamp an aged manufacturing facility on Beechtree Street in Grand Haven.

MPSC
Saginaw Plaza facility celebrated completion of ESPC with an open house (Business Wire)
Ameresco, Inc., (NYSE:AMRC), a leading energy efficiency and renewable energy company, announced the completion of the $437,000 Energy Savings Performance Contract (ESPC) with Saginaw Plaza, LTD. to upgrade their facility in Lansing, MI. The facility is currently leased to the State and houses the Michigan Agency for Energy (MAE) and the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC). MAE/MPSC worked closely with the property owner, Saginaw Plaza, and Ameresco to achieve facility improvements given the MAE/MPSC is Saginaw Plaza's long-term tenant.

Energy summit addresses citizen concerns (WNMU)
Residents had a chance to ask questions about local power generation at the U.P. Energy Summit held at NMU Wednesday.

MSHDA
Abandoned lot in Moores Park Neighborhood to become community green space (City Pulse)
Lansing's Moores Park neighborhood is trading in an abandoned house for a community gathering space — with a little help.

Blighted properties in Albion, Emmett to be torn down (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Some 30 residential buildings will be torn down in Albion and Emmett Township beginning this week.

Hastings City Council appoints new 3rd Ward council member (Hastings Banner)
Hastings City Clerk and Treasurer Tom Emery swears in newly appointed 3rd Ward Council Member Don Smith during the Hastings City Council meeting Monday evening. (Photo courtesy of Jean Gallup, WBCH)by Sandra Ponsetto

SUPREME COURT
Michigan Supreme Court could hear Holland v. Consumers (Holland Sentinel)
A court case possibly heading to the state supreme court boils down to which utility has the right to serve customer Benjamin's Hope, a Park Township nonprofit.

Michigan Supreme Court could make it easier to get new trials (WMUK)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to hear a case that could make it easier for criminal defendants to win new trials.

State Supreme Court to hear Swain appeal (Battle Creek Enquirer)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments that Lorinda Swain of Burlington is entitled to a new trial in her criminal sexual conduct case.

Michigan high court to hear long-running sex abuse case (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to look at the case of a Battle Creek-area woman who was convicted of criminal sexual conduct 13 years ago.

MI Supreme Court to hear Swain case (WWMT)
The Michigan Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments that Lorinda Swain of Calhoun County is entitled to a new trial.

Jones to state employees: Put a ring on it for bennies (LSJ)
State Sen. Rick Jones wants to limit state-sponsored employee benefits to the spouses and children of state workers, but a state employee union official said that's an issue outside the Legislature's authority.

TREASURY
Michigan Department of Treasury: Keep your online receipts (Oakland Press)
The Michigan department of Treasury has issued a statement cautioning shoppers to keep receipts on all items purchased via the Internet, mail-order or telephone starting Oct. 1.

Michigan's new internet sales tax laws take effect (WDET)
The state will require more online retailers to charge Michigan's sales tax starting Thursday.

That was fast: Michigan Court of Appeals upholds retroactive repeal of compact (Lexology)
A mere 28 days after oral argument, a three-judge panel of the Michigan Court of Appeals unanimously upheld a Court of Claims decision that sanctioned the Michigan Legislature's retroactive withdrawal from the Multistate Tax Compact in 2014 PA 282, by ruling for the Michigan Department of Treasury in the consolidated appeal.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Bill to end "sanctuary cities" draws opposition from some state lawmakers (Michigan Radio)
A Michigan Senate bill that would ban "sanctuary city" ordinances, which protect people living in the U.S. illegally, is drawing opposition from some lawmakers.

Michigan Senate approves $7.7 million for settlement after fatal crash involving state trooper (AP)
Michigan expects to spend $7.7 million on a legal settlement following a state police car chase that killed a 64-year-old Flint woman and severely injured two others.

Michigan Senate OKs bill targeting deed fee scams (AP)
A bill advancing in Michigan's Legislature targets companies that charge unsuspecting residents 50 to 100 times what a local government charges for a copy of a property deed.

Michigan lawmakers consider tax-free accounts for people with disabilities (AP)
The Michigan Legislature is voting to let residents with disabilities open tax-free savings accounts to pay for long-term needs such as education and housing. The accounts would offer tax advantages similar to 529 college savings plans. The House unanimously approved half of a four-bill package Thursday.

Michigan House bill would ban sky lanterns over fire, environmental concerns (MLive)
A bill was introduced last week in the Michigan Legislature that would ban sky lanterns from lighting up the nighttime sky. But if nothing is done at the state level, one Michigan city wants to start the discussion locally.

House approves bill to parole inmates after minimum sentence (AP)
Michigan lawmakers have approved legislation designed to keep certain prisoners from being locked up beyond their minimum sentence unless the parole board has compelling reasons.

Budget bill add-on awaits future state funds for Flint water (MLive)
A funding mechanism aimed at the state paying for measures to reduce lead levels in Flint's drinking water has been added to a budget bill in the Michigan Senate.

DETROIT

Mayor Duggan updates Detroit expats on city's progress at 2015 Detroit Homecoming (WXYZ)
Mayor Mike Duggan spoke Thursday morning at the 2015 Detroit Homecoming event and provided attendees with a wide-ranging set of updates on everything from development projects to streetlights and the M-1 Rail project.

Duggan: Detroit will 'step up' to host Syrian refugees (The Detroit News)
Mayor Mike Duggan said Thursday Detroit is among the cities willing to "step up" as a host for refugees amid the crisis in war-torn Syria. Duggan said he met with President Barack Obama during a Michigan visit after Labor Day and has been in talks with federal officials for several weeks about the plan and is "very willing" to accept refugees.

Local charities make pitches at Detroit Homecoming (The Detroit News)
Putting the copper crown back on the Belle Isle aquarium, supporting 700 homeless Detroit schoolchildren and taking a stand against animal cruelty are among seven "pitches" made Thursday by Detroit expats on behalf of city-based charities at Detroit Homecoming.

Knight Cities Challenge seeks good ideas for Detroit (The Detroit News)
New ideas that will help Detroit succeed are being sought for the second Knight Cities Challenge, which opened Thursday. The challenge, an initiative of the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, seeks new ideas to make Detroit and the 25 other communities where Knight invests more vibrant places to live and work.

OPINION

Our Editorial: Get Flint residents drinkable water (The Detroit News)
It doesn't matter if official reports say Flint's water is safe to drink. If residents turn on the tap and the water that comes out is oddly colored — or any color but clear — and stinky, they aren't going to drink it. Nor should they have to.

More billboards won't fix Flint's violence problem -- gun control will (MLive)
Flint -- along with four other cities -- is joining the Violence Reduction Network, which, in the words of one federal official, uses "every tool in the Justice Department's toolbox... to get the most bang for our buck."

Michigan energy planning should not be rushed (MLive)
In testimony given on Sept. 17 regarding Senate Bill 437 before the Senate Energy and Technology Committee, David Mengebier, a senior vice president for Consumers Energy, listed a number of potential risks to Michigan's electricity market and stated: "It is imperative that we get a fair Michigan policy in place this fall."

Susan J. Demas: Can Republicans finally knock off Debbie Stabenow in 2018? (MLive)
Every six years, Michigan Republicans get to play their least-favorite game: Who wants to lose to Debbie Stabenow? While they don't have to worry about taking on the state's senior U.S. senator next year, the 2018 election is already upon us. Don't believe me? Even as five GOP presidential hopefuls (real ones, not George Pataki) roamed Mackinac Island last month during the Republicans' biennial shindig, politicos were all atwitter about '18.

Parole reforms promise prison cost savings (The Times Herald)
Michigan spends $14 billion a year on schools but only $2 billion a year on prisons. Transportation spending is more comparable to corrections spending. So how about, "He who closes a prison, paves over a pothole?" Lawmakers have taken up parole reforms in an effort to save money operating the state's prison system.

Editor's Note: Strike no good for anyone (The Detroit News)
It's hard to see how a strike by the UAW will help either the union or the domestic auto industry. The union's Ford division is threatening a walkout at the Kansas City plant that makes the hot-selling F-150 pickup if a local agreement is not reached by Sunday.

Jacques: Plan for Detroit schools shouldn't be delayed (The Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder better act soon on his plans for Detroit schools. Because the momentum surrounding revamping education in the city is deflating. September has come and gone without any sign of the legislation that's essential to getting the discussion started in Lansing. Snyder had originally wanted the handful of bills introduced by last month. But that deadline keeps getting pushed back.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, October 05, 2015 10:03 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/5 Newsroom

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, Oct. 5, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interview
Gov. Snyder talked with Frank Beckmann of WJR on Friday (WJR)
Topics include: Michigan Ambassador Program/Detroit Homecoming, Flint water and welcoming refugees to Michigan

Misc.
Michigan Political Points: Vice presidential speculation begins for Gov. Rick Snyder (Mlive)
Snyder flirted with a presidential run earlier this year, and it was only a matter of time before his name popped up as a possible running mate for the eventual Republican nominee. POLITICO magazine did the honors this week, twice linking Snyder's name to the veepstakes in an article about his push to boost legal immigration in Detroit and whether the state will take in Syrian refugees, which the governor has said is a possibility.

Flint water
Snyder: Flint may get connected to Detroit water system (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's administration is considering hooking Flint back up to Detroit's water system temporarily in an effort to get a handle here on troublesome water quality and lead issues. Officials have identified $1 million in state funding that will be used to buy water filters for residents. The state will also work to expedite construction of a new water line to Lake Huron so a planned water authority that would service Flint could get up and running as soon as possible.

State to tackle unsafe water in Flint with tests, filters (Freep)
State officials released a 10-point plan to address Flint's controversial water system today that includes free testing of water, $1 million for water filters for residents and complete anticorrosion treatment of the city's water system, plagued for the past year by smelly, discolored water and now reports of increased lead levels in pipes.

Governor's plan for lead in Flint water includes free tests, $1M in filters (Mlive)
The state is committing up to $1 million to purchase water filters for Flint, part of an action plan being unveiled today, Oct. 2, to address concerns about lead levels in the city's drinking water. The plan includes immediate testing of water at Flint schools at state expense, expansion of lead exposure testing for individuals and expediting treatment of Flint water to better control corrosion, officials said. The plan is being outlined at a news conference at Kettering University.

Avoiding tap water has become a way of life in Flint (Freep)
It wasn't until last week that Gov. Rick Snyder finally acknowledged the profound problems with Flint's water. Lead, from aging water service pipes, is leaching into the water the city pumps from the Flint River, exacerbated by a local treatment plant's failure to add appropriate chemicals.

Thousands in Flint will be able to get water filters (Rapid News Network)
In his timeline, Edwards says the state failed to require that the city have a corrosion-control program in place when the city switched over to Flint River water. But officials with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality dispute the findings of the draft report. The water is stirring up lead in old pipes in thousands of homes.

Michigan pledges $1M for filters, steps to help city's water (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced the funds for Flint on Friday, a day after local health officials declared a public emergency following studies that showed the elevated blood lead levels. Snyder also said water at local schools would be immediately tested.

State and health officials address Flint water crisis, introduce plan of action (WXYZ)
Michigan will spend $1 million to buy water filters and immediately test water in public schools in Flint after testing showed elevated levels of lead in the city's children, the governor said Friday, a day after local health officials declared a public health emergency.

State leaders lay out plan to fix Flint's water (WOOD TV)
The State of Michigan will be footing the bill for $1 million worth of water filters, and water testing for the city of Flint. The concern is that there are elevated levels of lead in the city's drinking water, after a state appointed emergency manager decided to switch from using Detroit water to using water from the Flint River to save money.

Here is the state's action plan for dealing with Flint's water crisis (Michigan Radio)
Researchers found elevated lead levels in Flint's drinking water, and pediatricians found that the water was likely poisoning some kids in the city. Today, the state revealed that it too had tested kids and their findings seem to be consistent. Dr. Eden Wells, the state's chief medical executive, said that before the city switched to Flint River water, kids' lead levels in two "high risk" zip codes were 2.7 times higher than the rest of Genesee County. Now they're 3.2 times higher - a statistically significant difference.

Who's to blame for Flint's water crisis? Virginia Tech researcher points the finger at MDEQ (Michigan Radio)
Yesterday, Gov. Rick Snyder admitted that the decision to switch the city of Flint's water supply from Detroit's system over to the Flint River was not well planned. "In terms of a mistake, what I would say is, is there are probably things that were not as fully understood as when that switch was made," Snyder said.

Flint data on lead water lines stored on 45,000 index cards (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder said this week the state is preparing to announce its plans for assisting the city with the lead-in-water problem. After months of assurances by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality that Flint water met all requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act, Snyder said Wednesday, Sept. 30, that "it appears that lead levels could be higher or could be increased."

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

MI Hidden Talent Tour makes a stop at WCC (Washtenaw Voice)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Michigan Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein visited Washtenaw Community College on Sept. 24 to promote employment opportunities for people with disabilities through the MI Hidden Talent Tour. They addressed a group of employers, advocates, and observers.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Michigan AG Bill Schuette to unveil new book, share 'Big Lessons from a Small Town'

Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette, a potential 2018 gubernatorial candidate, has penned a new book focused on lessons he learned growing up in Midland and how they influenced him later in life.

DEQ

East Lansing-Meridian water authority receives grant (Lansing State Journal)

The East Lansing-Meridian Water and Sewer Authority will use a recent grant award to help protect drinking water quality. The $22,399 award from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality will be used for a Wellhead Protection Groundwater Audit Tool, authority operations manager Clyde Dugan said.

Residents consider suing over smoldering rail cars on tracks near their homes (MLive)

Residents living near the Michigan Rail and Storage facility say they may have to go to court to stop owner Ron Cordes from leaving rail cars full of smoldering animal feed on a rail siding that produce a stench in their neighborhood.

Michigan officials: Phosphorus levels down in Lake Erie (Detroit Free Press)

State officials in Michigan say voluntary efforts are paying off to cut down the pollutants feeding algae in Lake Erie. Michigan's agriculture director says data shows the amount of phosphorus going into the lake from a tributary in southeast Michigan has been cut in half over the past seven years.

DHHS

County, hospitals collaborate to extend guardianship program (Grand Rapids Business Journal)

The Kent County Board of Commissioners made a commitment to vulnerable adults at a recent meeting. Commissioners on Sept. 24 approved a public-private deal with two area hospitals to ensure the Kent County Public Guardianship Program would survive state budget cuts to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

ARMC And MDHHS Announce Safe Sleep Collaboration (WBKR)

On Friday, October 2nd, the Alpena Regional Medical Center and their partnership with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services announced a safe sleep collaboration.

DNR

Sebewaing approves new budget policy (Huron Daily Tribune)

The Sebewaing Village Council has approved, in a 4-3 vote, a Budget Development and Application Policy that aims to ensure financial accountability.

Michigan pledges $1M for filters, steps to fix city's water after tests show high lead levels (AP)

A cash-strapped Michigan city that broke away from Detroit's water system to save money last year is now getting at least $1 million from the state for home water filters amid complaints that its new system, which taps a local river, is linked to increased lead levels in children's blood.

MDARD

New card skimmer found at Grand Rapids-area gas station (WZZM 13)

State inspectors found a new card skimming device at an area gas station as part of a weekend "blitz" in West Michigan. The device was discovered Saturday morning at the Shell gas station at 28th Street SE and East Paris Avenue, said Jennifer Holton, a spokeswoman for the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Credit card skimmer found at Kentwood gas station (WOOD TV)

Another credit card skimmer has been found inside a pump at a West Michigan gas station. Inspectors with the Michigan Department of Agriculture discovered the skimmer Saturday morning at the Shell station on the corner of 28th Street and East Paris Avenue in Kentwood.

Another gas station 'skimmer' found as state inspectors out in force (MLive)
State Agriculture Department inspectors discovered at least one new "skimming" device in the Grand Rapids area during a concentrated enforcement effort Saturday, Oct. 3.

MDE
Ithaca schools call special meeting to address $1 million state payback (Morning Sun News)
After hearing public comment and meeting with attorneys in closed session, the Ithaca Board of Education has just one action item on the agenda for a special meeting scheduled for Monday evening.

MDOT
MDOT seeks input on massive I-275 closure in 2016 (Detroit Free Press)
MDOT announced Friday that construction will begin in the spring of 2016 on I-275 between 5 Mile Road and the I-96/I-696/M-5 interchange. The project will involve replacing 13 miles of concrete, along with repair work on the entrance and exit ramps at each mile road and with 16 bridges along the route.

Find out which major road projects are on tap in Norton Shores (MLive)
When the construction season gets underway in Norton Shores during the 2016-17 fiscal year, work crews will begin reconstructing Norton Hills Road from Norcrest Drive to Applewood Lane.

MSP
State to pay $7.7M to settle fatal police chase lawsuit (MLive)
The state will pay $7.7 million to settle a lawsuit stemming from a police chase on the city's north side that left an innocent bystander dead. The state Senate voted 30-5 Thursday, Oct. 1, to amend the budget to authorize the additional spending needed to fund the settlement.

Police: OK2SAY program already saving teen lives (WOOD TV)
The state of Michigan is stepping up efforts to save students' lives. Thursday, Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette visited Rockford Middle School to promote the state's OK2SAY program. The initiative allows students to confidentially report potential suicide situations, as well as violent or criminal acts targeting students or schools.

Michigan may soon adopt Blue Alert system (Fox 17)
President Obama signed the Blue Alert Act this past May after two New York City police officers were killed in the line of duty. Since then, 24 states have adopted the law and Michigan could be next. The Blue Alert system is similar to the Amber Alert system. Instead of missing and endangered children, the system is for law enforcement officers who are killed or seriously injured and when the suspect is still on the run.

Treasury
Scholarship plan for Muskegon area moves forward (WZZM 13)
A plan to offer two-year college scholarships to high school graduates through Muskegon Area Promise got the nod from state officials this week.
The Michigan Department of Treasury approved the request by Muskegon Area Promise to offer the scholarships starting with three school districts for the first two years before expanding county-wide in its third year.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Ex-lawmakers sued by former aides alleging retaliation (AP)

Two conservative former Michigan lawmakers who had an extramarital affair and attempted to conceal it have been sued by former aides. The Detroit News and MLive.com report former state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat were sued Friday by Keith Allard and Ben Graham in Ingham County Circuit Court.

Michigan lawmakers to tour U.S. Army's Detroit Arsenal (MLive)
Lawmakers from around the state plan to tour the U.S. Army TACOM (Tank Automotive and Armaments Command) Life Cycle Management Command in Warren on Monday.

Aides sue Courser, Gamrat for wrongful termination (Detroit Free Press)
Two fired aides to former state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat — whose affair and cover-up of the matter led to historic proceedings to expel them from office — are suing their former bosses for wrongful termination and violation of whistle-blower protection laws.

Michigan Senate OKs bill targeting deed fee scams (AP)
A bill advancing in Michigan's Legislature targets companies that charge unsuspecting residents 50 to 100 times what a local government charges for a copy of a property deed.

Lawmakers introduce bills to simplify voter registration (Hometownlife)
State Rep. Julie Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights is among three lawmakers who introduced bills that would make voter registration automatic when a resident receives a driver's license or a Michigan state identification card, if that person meets the necessary qualifications to vote in Michigan.

Bills target property tax cuts for 'big box' stores (Detroit Free Press)
This week, lawmakers from both parties introduced bills aimed at stopping the reduced assessments, which rely on what's known as the "dark store" theory of determining the value of big, purpose-built, owner-occupied stores.

Michigan Legislature: Bills on helmets, puppy mills, more (Detroit Free Press)
Lawmakers want to revisit issues that have stalled in past legislative sessions or have already been decided. Republicans are once again looking at regulating large-scale commercial dog-breeding facilities, better known as puppy mills; looking to repeal a law that provided health benefits to the unmarried partners of state employees, and requiring the state to verify that employees of state contractors are legal residents of the U.S.

Prevailing wage backers push for public vote on repeal (AP)
The best chance advocates have to save a Michigan law that promises better wages on public works projects is if Republican legislators ignore a petition initiative and instead let voters decide the fate of prevailing wage.

Courser, opponents debate gun control at forum (The Detroit News)
One day after a gunman killed nine people in a shooting rampage at an Oregon community college, the issue of gun control once a hotly debate topic at a Lapeer County candidates forum to fill an open seat in the Michigan House.

DETROIT

Online tool to help Detroiters transform vacant lots (The Detroit News)
Detroit has about 23 square miles of vacant land, and as city officials prepare to demolish more blighted homes each month, that number could reach as high as 30 square miles in coming years. Now, there a tool to help Detroiters transform vacant land from neighborhood liabilities to landscaped assets.

Alumni celebrate Highland Park school history (The Detroit News)
Highland Park's shuttered high school sits empty, surrounded by overgrown weeds, crumbling infrastructure and debris. But on Sunday, the school's football field came to life again with alumni and faculty in celebration of the school district's 100-year anniversary and to honor the high school's rich legacy in the community.

Donation boosts Michigan hospice group's work with kids (The Detroit News)
Hospice of Michigan officials say a substantial donation is boosting their efforts to expand end-of-life care for children across the state. The nonprofit said in a news release the financial gift comes from pediatric psychotherapist Jo Elyn Nyman through funds from the Samuel and Jean Frankel Foundation, which her parents established.

'Detroit Homecoming' nabs promises to invest in city (The Detroit News)
The three-day conference aimed at wooing an elite group of successful former Detroiters to invest in their hometown wrapped up Friday with at least one big public vow to set up shop in the Motor City.

Judge rejects Detroit pensioners' bankruptcy appeal (The Detroit News)
A federal judge has rejected an appeal by Detroit pensioners that challenged cuts made under the city's court-approved bankruptcy plan. The retirees had sought to exempt pensions from adjustment under the city's reorganization plan, which allowed the city to shed $7 billion in debt and invest $1.7 billion into restructuring and service improvements over the next decade. They also argued that the treatment of pension claims violated the U.S. Bankruptcy Code.

Capitol Park first residences with fiber-optic Internet (The Detroit News)
A Capitol Park building converted to lofts will be the first residences in Detroit to get fiber optic-based Internet service, which can be 100 times faster than DSL and home cable connections.

Benzinga aims to use new digs to show off Detroit (Detroit Free Press)
Benzinga, the next start-up company to move from the suburbs to downtown Detroit, will soon occupy perhaps the most dramatic office vista in the city's core, with a panoramic view overlooking Campus Martius through a wall of glass from the second floor of the former Compuware Building.

Volunteers fight blight in Detroit neighborhoods (Detroit Free Press)
Hundreds of volunteers fanned out in three areas of Detroit Saturday, braving the breezy chill to board up vacant homes and clear out overgrown brush, debris and trash in neighborhoods that hadn't yet been touched by the city's blight-removal efforts.

OPINION

Avoiding tap water has become a way of life in Flint (Detroit Free Press)
Outside a taco shop on Flint's Fifth Street, Estella Walker balances a gallon jug of water on top of the stroller that holds her 3-month-old son, DeWayne. She's mixing bottles of formula for DeWayne and his 19-month-old sister Vanessa.

The case against term limits in the Michigan Legislature (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan's experiment with term limits stretches back 20 years, and it's hard, in retrospect, to think of when they actually improved government performance.

For Flint, vindication — for Snyder, more questions (Detroit Free Press)
Lead flows through Flint's water system and out of taps in people's homes.

Make college affordable again (Detroit Free Press)
College should be accessible and affordable to everyone regardless of where they live and how much money they have. We have been taught that education is the key to success, that a better education equals a better job. Why is it that not everyone is able to have this chance? Instead, college is becoming limited to those with money or those who can pay off a continuously compounding debt.

Ken Braun: Proposed laws would bring sensible speed limits and phantom student funding (MLive)
The Michigan House is taking another stab at sensible speed limits. Hearings have begun on House Bill 4423, sponsored by Republican Rep. Bradford Jacobsen of Oxford. The bill would allow for a maximum state speed limit of 80 miles per hour on rural freeways.

Rick Haglund: Gov. Snyder working hard to build future trade relationships (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder engaged in some important work recently as part of his goal to enhance Michigan's economic competitiveness long after he leaves office.

Drews and Johnson: Lobbying gone awry in Lansing (Detroit News)
Far too often these days, political debate devolves into exaggerations, misrepresentations, outright lies and "attacks" that make good "sound bites" but sacrifice truth and facts. A perfect example is the current lobbying effort by segments of the physician community to try to stop the state Legislature from passing Senate Bill 320.

Editorial: Finish rape kit tests statewide (Detroit News)
Michigan is steadily moving through its backlog of untested rape kits, and now a new appropriation from the Legislature should help outstate counties bring their testing up to date.

New international bridge to bring more pollution to already polluted neighborhood (Michigan Radio)
When the Gordie Howe International Bridge from Canada to the U.S. is complete, it's expected that thousands of trucks a day will travel through the Detroit neighborhood of Delray. Residents there want the government to keep additional pollution to a minimum.

Lessenberry: Flint's water crisis another example of how Gov. Snyder seems incapable of admitting mistakes (Michigan Radio)
One of the things I most dislike about most politicians is their unwillingness to admit when they've screwed up. Take Dennis Williams, the leader of the United Auto Workers union. He and his lieutenants were so out of touch with the membership that they negotiated a contract that the angry workers rejected by almost two to one.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, October 06, 2015 10:06 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/6 Newsroom
Attachments: 151006 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 6, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Mt. Pleasant visit

Snyder touts progress; vows three more years of work to do (Morning Sun)
Gov. Rick Snyder made the rounds in Mt. Pleasant Monday, with visits at Cental Michigan University's campus and the Soaring Eagle Casino and resort to speak at the 2015 Michigan Works! Annual Conference.

Governor Snyder Addresses Michigan Works Conference (9 &10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder was in the area this evening, speaking at the annual Michigan Works Conference. The governor highlighted ways Michigan Works is helping put people back to work across the state. He also spoke about where he would like to see more work done.

Snyder talks job creation, STEM and auto careers at Michigan Works conference (Mlive)
In the past four years, 420,000 private sector jobs have been created in Michigan. Michigan is No. 1 in manufacturing jobs and No. 5 in total private sector job creation, according to Gov. Rick Snyder. And the state's unemployment rate, which was 11.2 percent in December 2010, is at 5.1 percent today, he said.

Engineering students get a visit from one tough nerd (CM Life)
A team of Central Michigan University engineering students had a visit from one tough nerd today when Gov. Rick Snyder stopped by campus. Snyder was at CMU to talk to students about their Formula 1 cars, including SAE and Chippewa Racing. Both student groups built cars and had the opportunity to show them off to Snyder. Also on Snyder's itinerary is meeting with Dr. George Kikano, the dean of CMU's College of Medicine.

Flag honors

Gov. Snyder orders flags at half-staff to honor Oregon shooting victims (WLNS)
Governor Snyder joined President Obama Monday in the calling for flags to be flown at half-staff through Tuesday. The decision to lower flags was made to honor the victims of the Oregon shooting. The shootings killed nine people on Friday at Umpqua Community College.

Flags at Half Staff to Honor Oregon Shooting Victims (WILX)
Monday in Michigan flags were lowered to half-staff to honor the victims of the Oregon community college shooting. Governor Snyder joined President Obama's call for the lowering of the flags through Tuesday.

Governor calls for flags to be flown at half-staff (WNEM)
Gov. Rick Snyder joined President Barack Obama's call for flags to be lowered to half-staff to honor the victims of the Roseburg, Oregon shooting. "These fatal shootings were a senseless act of violence that claimed the lives of nine innocent U.S. citizens," Snyder said. "The state of Michigan and I join the families of these victims as well as our country in mourning their loss."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Schuette writes 'Big Lessons from a Small Town' (Detroit Free Press)
Ever wonder why that nice young man with the blond hair and immaculate business suit has been pouring your coffee at political gatherings. Well, "Big Lessons from a Small Town," a book written by Attorney General Bill Schuette, will reveal the origins of Schuette as a waiter.

Michigan AG Bill Schuette takes a tip from Taylor Swift in releasing book of life lessons (MLive)
It took Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette four and a half years to write a book of important life lessons, something he knows some people will see as a political move. "There will be some criticism out there, but you know that philosopher Taylor Swift. You've just got to 'Shake It Off,' I guess," Schuette said at a book unveiling Monday, referencing a song by the pop star.

DEQ
Great Lakes face threat from another Enbridge line (Detroit Free Press)
The 62-year-old segment of Canadian oil transport giant Enbridge's Line 5 pipeline underwater, at the bottom of the Straits of Mackinac, has been generating the most buzz and concern lately over how a spill from it would harm the Great Lakes.

Sorting out accountability in Flint water issues is "relatively complex" (Michigan Radio)
In Flint, lead levels in some children's blood have spiked dramatically, and scientists believe a new drinking water source is to blame. They're pointing to lapses in oversight from state regulators, who they say should've seen the problem coming. Flint's water problems began about a year ago, not long after the city stopped drawing water from Detroit's system.

DHHS
State plans Flint water filter giveaway Tuesday (The Detroit News)
Starting Tuesday, free water filters will be available to Flint residents who are worried about lead contamination and other concerns, the state Department of Health and Human Services announced Monday.

DNR
DNR Launches "Dam Management Grant Program" (WDET)
Officials with Michigan's Department of Natural Resources are helping to fund dam removal and maintenance across the state. The agency is providing $350,000 dollars to help communities address aging dams that are falling into disrepair. Program manager Kelly Parker says many of the structures no longer serve an economic purpose, and are becoming a safety concern.

Grants awarded for habitat upgrades on 3 Michigan rivers (AP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says it will distribute $278,000 among five projects designed to boost aquatic habitat and fishing access on three cherished rivers. The recipients of Habitat Improvement Account grants for the 2016 fiscal year were chosen by the Fisheries Division for projects on the Au Sable, Manistee and Muskegon rivers.

Central Michigan University gets $10M wetlands grant (Detroit Free Press)
Central Michigan University has received a $10 million federal grant to evaluate how wetlands are faring under a region-wide program aimed at improving the Great Lakes environment. It follows up on another grant awarded five years ago for collection of data assessing the health of coastal wetlands spanning more than 10,000 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

Newly motherless bear cubs have good chance of surviving, DNR says (MLive)
The three black bear cubs whose accompanying female was killed with an arrow recently in Oceana County have a good chance of surviving, state wildlife biologists said Monday, Oct. 5. The cubs would have been better off had the female accompanied them through the rest of the fall and selection of a winter denning site, but they're probably old enough to survive on their own, according to a Michigan Department of Natural Resources news release.

LARA
Michigan Workers' Comp pure premiums drop second most in nation since 2011 (MLive)
Michigan employers could save money following another downward revision of the Workers' Compensation pure premium, the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs announced Tuesday. The pure premium reflects statewide loss adjustment expenses and is ultimately used by insurers to set their rates.

MDARD
Exotic pest reaches Michigan, threatening some vegetables (AP)
Officials say an exotic insect called the Swede midge has turned up in Michigan for the first time, posing a danger to some vegetable crops. While in the larval stage, the Swede midge feeds on the growing tip of "cruciferous" plants, which include cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower. It causes swelling and distortion of young tissues and severely damages the plants. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the pest has been found in five organic production fields in Sanilac County.

Michigan reaps specialty crop grants (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan's specialty crops from cherries to cucumbers to chestnuts got a boost Monday from more than $12.5 million in federal program funding and research grants. In total, U.S. Department of Agriculture awarded more than $113 million nationwide in program grants to support farmers growing fruits, vegetables, tree nuts, and nursery crops, also known as "specialty crops," through research, agricultural extension activities, and programs.

MDE
Michigan universities see cameras as crime fighters (The Detroit News)
Don't look now. But cameras are filming all over Michigan university campuses. The devices are recording the movements of students, professors and others in public spaces for safety reasons, but also are leading to concerns about privacy. Most of the state's 15 public universities have amassed surveillance systems in recent years that include hundreds of cameras across campus.

MDOT
Michigan's 18th Annual Walk to School Day (MiNews 26)
If you notice groups of children walking down the streets of your community Wednesday morning they may be taking part in Michigan's 18th annual Walk to School Day. Thousands of Michigan students from more than 250 schools all around the state are expected to participate in this year's event. The event is part of the Michigan Department of Transportation's (MDOT) Michigan Safe Routes to School program.

Runners test out new stretch of highway before it opens (AP)
Some runners received the chance to test out a new stretch of highway in western Michigan before it opens to vehicle traffic. About 300 people participated in Saturday's "M23.1k Run." The 14.3-mile event started and ended at Robinson Elementary School in Grand Haven on Michigan highway 231.

MPSC

State Natural Gas Price Comparison Website Introduced (WHTC)
The Michigan Public Service Commission has rolled out a website that will allow natural gas customers in the state to make informed decisions when choosing a provider. The site includes prices currently charged by all alternate gas suppliers, as well as basic terms and conditions, along with the current gas cost recovery factor price charged by the regulated natural gas utilities such as DTE, Consumers Energy and SEMCO.

Treasury
There's a way to help every child in Michigan save for education (Michigan Radio)
Education and wealth are inextricably linked. Not only does educational attainment affect earning potential and capacity to build wealth, but family wealth greatly impacts a student's likelihood of completing postsecondary education. Sadly, measures of family wealth and education attainment in the U.S. show a widening gap between the rich and the poor.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Roads deal 'close,' says Michigan House Speaker, with plan 'on pace' to hit floor in October (Mlive)
Michigan House Speaker Kevin Cotter "may be able to" support a road funding deal that would generate up to $800 million a year in new revenue, likely through some form of increased fuel taxes or other fees. The House remains the biggest hurdle for any road funding deal. The Republican majority has so far balked at tax plans approved by the GOP-led Senate, and Democrats have been unwilling to support plans that rely heavily on reallocating existing budget dollars.

Michigan Legislature: Bills on helmets, puppy mills, more (Detroit Free Press)
Lawmakers want to revisit issues that have stalled in past legislative sessions or have already been decided. Among the new bills reintroduced last week are proposals from Democrats to restore Michigan's tax credits for child care, homestead property tax, a waiver of the state income tax on retiree pensions and a prohibition of setting auto insurance rates based on ZIP codes. Democrats also introduced a bill to reinstate helmet laws for motorcycle riders and require moped drivers under the age of 19 to wear helmets.

Exclusive survey: Are Michigan legislators really working full time? View results! (WXYZ)
In an Exclusive WXYZ Channel 7 Survey of all 146 current Michigan Senators and Representatives, those who replied say they work 50 to 60+ hours a week on the peoples' business. Really? But, we still have no fix for our roads? Many people are now saying.. "Time's up!"

Kowall's Capitol event honoring Vietnam era vets (Hometown Life)
Michigan Senate Majority Floor Leader Mike Kowall is sponsoring an event honoring veterans of the Vietnam War era on the Capitol lawn on Thursday, Oct. 8. Kowall encourages his constituents and all interested Michiganders to attend. "On behalf of the great state of Michigan, we are doing what should have been done decades ago: thanking and honoring our Vietnam veterans and their families for their service and sacrifice," said Kowall, R-White Lake. "May it be a public 'thank you' and 'welcome home' for many who have waited too long to hear it."

Legislators take action to fix Flint water supply (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Legislature is beginning to take notice of the ongoing controversy surrounding Flint's water system, which has been plagued by problems with discoloration and foul smells since the city disconnected from the Detroit water system and began pulling its water supply from the Flint River. The state Senate approved a supplemental appropriations bill that included a $100 placeholder while the state looks for a solution to the water issue.

Mich. House passes bill adopting 'presumptive parole' (Detroit Free Press)
Prisoners who have served their minimum sentences and who score well on behavior and type of crime criteria could be approved for parole faster under a bill that received bipartisan support in the House of Representatives Thursday. The bill would adopt a "presumptive parole" standard in which the state Parole Board would release well-behaving and nonviolent criminals after serving their minimum sentence, unless the board came up with verifiable evidence that the prisoner shouldn't be released.

Prevailing wage backers push for public vote on repeal (Detroit News)
The best chance advocates have to save a Michigan law that promises better wages on public works projects is if Republican legislators ignore a petition initiative and instead let voters decide the fate of prevailing wage. The 50-year-old statute requires workers on state-financed government construction projects to be paid local wage and benefit rates, which are based on union contracts. Republican Gov. Rick Snyder supports the law as a way to address a shortage of skilled tradespeople, prompting nonunion contractors and donors who have pushed for its repeal to finance a citizen-initiated measure.

DETROIT

Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan's plan for Detroit Public Schools differs from state plan (WXYZ)
When Governor Rick Snyder said he wanted Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan to take a leadership role in Detroit Public Schools back in April, the mayor responded saying he has a city to run, he can't run the schools. Duggan now has shared an alternative plan he says he is pitching to state lawmakers. It is quite different from the governor's plan.

Duggan aims for bigger mayoral role in Detroit schools overhaul, calls for end to EAA (Michigan Radio)
As Lansing gears up to debate a radical reorganization of Detroit schools, Mayor Mike Duggan is pushing for a larger role in the city's future education system. Duggan outlined his vision for a complete education overhaul earlier this year. It shares the same basic structure as Gov. Snyder's proposal for Detroit schools, but differs on a few key points. Both call for a bankruptcy-style restructuring — without the actual bankruptcy filing — that would split the Detroit Public Schools into "old" and "new" districts.

Detroit mayor nominates 2 to head city water department (The Detroit News)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan has nominated two officials to head the city's Water and Sewerage Department, officials announced early Tuesday. Duggan nominated Gary Brown, currently the city's group executive of operations, as director and Palencia Mobley, an expert on water infrastructure and environmental engineering, as its deputy director/chief engineer, according to a statement. Brown, would run the administrative side of the operation; Mobley would lead the water side, officials said.

DDOT Leaders Cite Improvements and Say There's Room for More (WDET)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan says the city's bus system was an embarrassment when he took office. "When I started here, there were days where 40 percent of the buses just didn't show up," Duggan says. "We didn't have enough drivers, we couldn't repair the buses, the buses were so old they weren't salvageable. And you had people standing on the corner waiting an hour, hour-and-a-half for a bus. When they showed up, they generally took their frustrations out on the drivers, who were the ones who were showing up for work."

OPINION

New state justice, like it or not, already in the political contest (MLive)
The newest member of the Michigan Supreme Court has a boatload of legal credentials, but by her own admission she knows squat about politics. So it may come as a shock to Justice Joan Larsen that her election campaign started at about 11:05 a.m. last Wednesday, when Gov. Rick Snyder introduced her to the Capitol press corps.

Try again, try harder to get FCA deal for UAW (Detroit Free Press)
The loud voices of FCA Automobiles UAW members have got to be heard — by the union's leadership, which failed to sell a contract that had many spoils but failed to address some key concerns, and by the company's management, which should be fearful that the current trajectory winds up in a devastating strike.

Dramatic transformation of education necessary to keep Michigan top-tier state (MLive)
So much of what we do in life is about giving ourselves and our families the best. Why is that not always the case when it comes to educating our children?

Editorial: Toughen proposed forfeiture reforms (Detroit News)
Innocence until proven guilty should also mean an individual isn't punished until guilt is established in court. But in Michigan and other states, a suspect can lose property and cash without ever even being charged with a crime.

McBroom: Courser, Gamrat expulsions warranted (Detroit News)
The Michigan Constitution, voted on by the people of Michigan, lays out a specific method for protecting the integrity of the Legislature. The House of Representatives' ability to determine its members' qualifications and expel them when necessary is an important check and balance to the possibility of corrupt, deceptive or unqualified members. Such a safety valve is also provided in the federal Constitution and in other states' constitutions.

Forlini: Michigan penalty harms taxpayers (Detroit News)
While our state has made significant progress toward restoring its fiscal health, taxpayers across Michigan continue to pay inflated interest rates on voter-approved bonds. These bonds — referred to as "unlimited tax general obligation bonds" — are used to build schools, pave roadways and repair bridges, and prior to the Detroit bankruptcy case, were considered among the safest investments around.

Moore: Anti-sanctuary bill wrong for Detroit (Detroit News)
The Detroit Police Department has a lot of work on its hands, and this has been the case for many years. A bill in the Michigan Senate, termed the "sanctuary policy prohibition act" would only make matters worse for Detroit. It would strip the Police Department of discretion in terms of how or when to assist the federal government in enforcing immigration law, adding to its overwhelming duty of enforcing state criminal law by adding federal civil law as well.

Putnam: Doctors trump insurance in new model (Lansing State Journal)
Dr. Bill and Dr. Mike make house calls. They say they have the luxury of time with their patients. They're available after hours. Patients visiting the office are greeted by the doctors, who walk them to the exam rooms and conduct the blood pressure or other tests themselves,

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 6, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Mt. Pleasant visit
Snyder touts progress; vows three more years of work to do (Morning Sun)
Gov. Rick Snyder made the rounds in Mt. Pleasant Monday, with visits at Cental Michigan University's campus and the Soaring Eagle Casino and resort to speak at the 2015 Michigan Works! Annual Conference.

Governor Snyder Addresses Michigan Works Conference (9 &10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder was in the area this evening, speaking at the annual Michigan Works Conference. The governor highlighted ways Michigan Works is helping put people back to work across the state. He also spoke about where he would like to see more work done.

Snyder talks job creation, STEM and auto careers at Michigan Works conference (Mlive)
In the past four years, 420,000 private sector jobs have been created in Michigan. Michigan is No. 1 in manufacturing jobs and No. 5 in total private sector job creation, according to Gov. Rick Snyder. And the state's unemployment rate, which was 11.2 percent in December 2010, is at 5.1 percent today, he said.

Engineering students get a visit from one tough nerd (CM Life)
A team of Central Michigan University engineering students had a visit from one tough nerd today when Gov. Rick Snyder stopped by campus. Snyder was at CMU to talk to students about their Formula 1 cars, including SAE and Chippewa Racing. Both student groups built cars and had the opportunity to show them off to Snyder. Also on Snyder's itinerary is meeting with Dr. George Kikano, the dean of CMU's College of Medicine.

Flag honors
Gov. Snyder orders flags at half-staff to honor Oregon shooting victims (WLNS)
Governor Snyder joined President Obama Monday in the calling for flags to be flown at half-staff through Tuesday. The decision to lower flags was made to honor the victims of the Oregon shooting. The shootings killed nine people on Friday at Umpqua Community College.

Flags at Half Staff to Honor Oregon Shooting Victims (WILX)
Monday in Michigan flags were lowered to half-staff to honor the victims of the Oregon community college shooting. Governor Snyder joined President Obama's call for the lowering of the flags through Tuesday.

Governor calls for flags to be flown at half-staff (WNEM)
Gov. Rick Snyder joined President Barack Obama's call for flags to be lowered to half-staff to honor the victims of the Roseburg, Oregon shooting. "These fatal shootings were a senseless act of violence that claimed the lives of nine innocent U.S. citizens," Snyder said. "The state of Michigan and I join the families of these victims as well as our country in mourning their loss."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Schuette writes 'Big Lessons from a Small Town' (Detroit Free Press)
Ever wonder why that nice young man with the blond hair and immaculate business suit has been pouring your coffee at political gatherings. Well, "Big Lessons from a Small Town," a book written by Attorney General Bill Schuette, will reveal the origins of Schuette as a waiter.

Michigan AG Bill Schuette takes a tip from Taylor Swift in releasing book of life lessons (MLive)
It took Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette four and a half years to write a book of important life lessons, something he knows some people will see as a political move. "There will be some criticism out there, but you know that philosopher Taylor Swift. You've just got to 'Shake It Off,' I guess," Schuette said at a book unveiling Monday, referencing a song by the pop star.

DEQ

Great Lakes face threat from another Enbridge line (Detroit Free Press)
The 62-year-old segment of Canadian oil transport giant Enbridge's Line 5 pipeline underwater, at the bottom of the Straits of Mackinac, has been generating the most buzz and concern lately over how a spill from it would harm the Great Lakes.

Sorting out accountability in Flint water issues is "relatively complex" (Michigan Radio)
In Flint, lead levels in some children's blood have spiked dramatically, and scientists believe a new drinking water source is to blame. They're pointing to lapses in oversight from state regulators, who they say should've seen the problem coming. Flint's water problems began about a year ago, not long after the city stopped drawing water from Detroit's system.

DHHS

State plans Flint water filter giveaway Tuesday (The Detroit News)
Starting Tuesday, free water filters will be available to Flint residents who are worried about lead contamination and other concerns, the state Department of Health and Human Services announced Monday.

DNR

DNR Launches "Dam Management Grant Program" (WDET)
Officials with Michigan's Department of Natural Resources are helping to fund dam removal and maintenance across the state. The agency is providing $350,000 dollars to help communities address aging dams that are falling into disrepair. Program manager Kelly Parker says many of the structures no longer serve an economic purpose, and are becoming a safety concern.

Grants awarded for habitat upgrades on 3 Michigan rivers (AP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says it will distribute $278,000 among five projects designed to boost aquatic habitat and fishing access on three cherished rivers. The recipients of Habitat Improvement Account grants for the 2016 fiscal year were chosen by the Fisheries Division for projects on the Au Sable, Manistee and Muskegon rivers.

Central Michigan University gets $10M wetlands grant (Detroit Free Press)
Central Michigan University has received a $10 million federal grant to evaluate how wetlands are faring under a region-wide program aimed at improving the Great Lakes environment. It follows up on another grant awarded five years ago for collection of data assessing the health of coastal wetlands spanning more than 10,000 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

Newly motherless bear cubs have good chance of surviving, DNR says (MLive)
The three black bear cubs whose accompanying female was killed with an arrow recently in Oceana County have a good chance of surviving, state wildlife biologists said Monday, Oct. 5. The cubs would have been better off had the female accompanied them through the rest of the fall and selection of a winter denning site, but they're probably old enough to survive on their own, according to a Michigan Department of Natural Resources news release.

LARA
Michigan Workers' Comp pure premiums drop second most in nation since 2011 (MLive)
Michigan employers could save money following another downward revision of the Workers' Compensation pure premium, the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs announced Tuesday. The pure premium reflects statewide loss adjustment expenses and is ultimately used by insurers to set their rates.

MDARD
Exotic pest reaches Michigan, threatening some vegetables (AP)
Officials say an exotic insect called the Swede midge has turned up in Michigan for the first time, posing a danger to some vegetable crops. While in the larval stage, the Swede midge feeds on the growing tip of "cruciferous" plants, which include cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower. It causes swelling and distortion of young tissues and severely damages the plants. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the pest has been found in five organic production fields in Sanilac County.

Michigan reaps specialty crop grants (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan's specialty crops from cherries to cucumbers to chestnuts got a boost Monday from more than $12.5 million in federal program funding and research grants. In total, U.S. Department of Agriculture awarded more than $113 million nationwide in program grants to support farmers growing fruits, vegetables, tree nuts, and nursery crops, also known as "specialty crops," through research, agricultural extension activities, and programs.

MDE
Michigan universities see cameras as crime fighters (The Detroit News)
Don't look now. But cameras are filming all over Michigan university campuses. The devices are recording the movements of students, professors and others in public spaces for safety reasons, but also are leading to concerns about privacy. Most of the state's 15 public universities have amassed surveillance systems in recent years that include hundreds of cameras across campus.

MDOT
Michigan's 18th Annual Walk to School Day (MiNews 26)
If you notice groups of children walking down the streets of your community Wednesday morning they may be taking part in Michigan's 18th annual Walk to School Day. Thousands of Michigan students from more than 250 schools all around the state are expected to participate in this year's event. The event is part of the Michigan Department of Transportation's (MDOT) Michigan Safe Routes to School program.

Runners test out new stretch of highway before it opens (AP)
Some runners received the chance to test out a new stretch of highway in western Michigan before it opens to vehicle traffic. About 300 people participated in Saturday's "M23.1k Run." The 14.3-mile event started and ended at Robinson Elementary School in Grand Haven on Michigan highway 231.

MPSC

State Natural Gas Price Comparison Website Introduced (WHTC)

The Michigan Public Service Commission has rolled out a website that will allow natural gas customers in the state to make informed decisions when choosing a provider. The site includes prices currently charged by all alternate gas suppliers, as well as basic terms and conditions, along with the current gas cost recovery factor price charged by the regulated natural gas utilities such as DTE, Consumers Energy and SEMCO.

Treasury

There's a way to help every child in Michigan save for education (Michigan Radio)

Education and wealth are inextricably linked. Not only does educational attainment affect earning potential and capacity to build wealth, but family wealth greatly impacts a student's likelihood of completing postsecondary education. Sadly, measures of family wealth and education attainment in the U.S. show a widening gap between the rich and the poor.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Roads deal 'close,' says Michigan House Speaker, with plan 'on pace' to hit floor in October (Mlive)

Michigan House Speaker Kevin Cotter "may be able to" support a road funding deal that would generate up to $800 million a year in new revenue, likely through some form of increased fuel taxes or other fees. The House remains the biggest hurdle for any road funding deal. The Republican majority has so far balked at tax plans approved by the GOP-led Senate, and Democrats have been unwilling to support plans that rely heavily on reallocating existing budget dollars.

Michigan Legislature: Bills on helmets, puppy mills, more (Detroit Free Press)

Lawmakers want to revisit issues that have stalled in past legislative sessions or have already been decided. Among the new bills reintroduced last week are proposals from Democrats to restore Michigan's tax credits for child care, homestead property tax, a waiver of the state income tax on retiree pensions and a prohibition of setting auto insurance rates based on ZIP codes. Democrats also introduced a bill to reinstate helmet laws for motorcycle riders and require moped drivers under the age of 19 to wear helmets.

Exclusive survey: Are Michigan legislators really working full time? View results! (WXYZ)

In an Exclusive WXYZ Channel 7 Survey of all 146 current Michigan Senators and Representatives, those who replied say they work 50 to 60+ hours a week on the peoples' business. Really? But, we still have no fix for our roads? Many people are now saying.. "Time's up!"

Kowall's Capitol event honoring Vietnam era vets (Hometown Life)

Michigan Senate Majority Floor Leader Mike Kowall is sponsoring an event honoring veterans of the Vietnam War era on the Capitol lawn on Thursday, Oct. 8. Kowall encourages his constituents and all interested Michiganders to attend. "On behalf of the great state of Michigan, we are doing what should have been done decades ago: thanking and honoring our Vietnam veterans and their families for their service and sacrifice," said Kowall, R-White Lake. "May it be a public 'thank you' and 'welcome home' for many who have waited too long to hear it."

Legislators take action to fix Flint water supply (Detroit Free Press)

The Michigan Legislature is beginning to take notice of the ongoing controversy surrounding Flint's water system, which has been plagued by problems with discoloration and foul smells since the city disconnected from the Detroit water system and began pulling its water supply from the Flint River. The state Senate approved a supplemental appropriations bill that included a $100 placeholder while the state looks for a solution to the water issue.

Mich. House passes bill adopting 'presumptive parole' (Detroit Free Press)
Prisoners who have served their minimum sentences and who score well on behavior and type of crime criteria could be approved for parole faster under a bill that received bipartisan support in the House of Representatives Thursday. The bill would adopt a "presumptive parole" standard in which the state Parole Board would release well-behaving and nonviolent criminals after serving their minimum sentence, unless the board came up with verifiable evidence that the prisoner shouldn't be released.

Prevailing wage backers push for public vote on repeal (Detroit News)
The best chance advocates have to save a Michigan law that promises better wages on public works projects is if Republican legislators ignore a petition initiative and instead let voters decide the fate of prevailing wage. The 50-year-old statute requires workers on state-financed government construction projects to be paid local wage and benefit rates, which are based on union contracts. Republican Gov. Rick Snyder supports the law as a way to address a shortage of skilled tradespeople, prompting nonunion contractors and donors who have pushed for its repeal to finance a citizen-initiated measure.

DETROIT

Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan's plan for Detroit Public Schools differs from state plan (WXYZ)
When Governor Rick Snyder said he wanted Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan to take a leadership role in Detroit Public Schools back in April, the mayor responded saying he has a city to run, he can't run the schools. Duggan now has shared an alternative plan he says he is pitching to state lawmakers. It is quite different from the governor's plan.

Duggan aims for bigger mayoral role in Detroit schools overhaul, calls for end to EAA (Michigan Radio)
As Lansing gears up to debate a radical reorganization of Detroit schools, Mayor Mike Duggan is pushing for a larger role in the city's future education system. Duggan outlined his vision for a complete education overhaul earlier this year. It shares the same basic structure as Gov. Snyder's proposal for Detroit schools, but differs on a few key points. Both call for a bankruptcy-style restructuring — without the actual bankruptcy filing — that would split the Detroit Public Schools into "old" and "new" districts.

Detroit mayor nominates 2 to head city water department (The Detroit News)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan has nominated two officials to head the city's Water and Sewerage Department, officials announced early Tuesday. Duggan nominated Gary Brown, currently the city's group executive of operations, as director and Palencia Mobley, an expert on water infrastructure and environmental engineering, as its deputy director/chief engineer, according to a statement. Brown, would run the administrative side of the operation; Mobley would lead the water side, officials said.

DDOT Leaders Cite Improvements and Say There's Room for More (WDET)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan says the city's bus system was an embarrassment when he took office. "When I started here, there were days where 40 percent of the buses just didn't show up," Duggan says. "We didn't have enough drivers, we couldn't repair the buses, the buses were so old they weren't salvageable. And you had people standing on the corner waiting an hour, hour-and-a-half for a bus. When they showed up, they generally took their frustrations out on the drivers, who were the ones who were showing up for work."

OPINION

New state justice, like it or not, already in the political contest (MLive)
The newest member of the Michigan Supreme Court has a boatload of legal credentials, but by her own admission she knows squat about politics. So it may come as a shock to Justice Joan Larsen that her election campaign started at about 11:05 a.m. last Wednesday, when Gov. Rick Snyder introduced her to the Capitol press corps.

Try again, try harder to get FCA deal for UAW (Detroit Free Press)
The loud voices of FCA Automobiles UAW members have got to be heard — by the union's leadership, which failed to sell a contract that had many spoils but failed to address some key concerns, and by the company's management, which should be fearful that the current trajectory winds up in a devastating strike.

Dramatic transformation of education necessary to keep Michigan top-tier state (MLive)
So much of what we do in life is about giving ourselves and our families the best. Why is that not always the case when it comes to educating our children?

Editorial: Toughen proposed forfeiture reforms (Detroit News)
Innocence until proven guilty should also mean an individual isn't punished until guilt is established in court. But in Michigan and other states, a suspect can lose property and cash without ever even being charged with a crime.

McBroom: Courser, Gamrat expulsions warranted (Detroit News)
The Michigan Constitution, voted on by the people of Michigan, lays out a specific method for protecting the integrity of the Legislature. The House of Representatives' ability to determine its members' qualifications and expel them when necessary is an important check and balance to the possibility of corrupt, deceptive or unqualified members. Such a safety valve is also provided in the federal Constitution and in other states' constitutions.

Forlini: Michigan penalty harms taxpayers (Detroit News)
While our state has made significant progress toward restoring its fiscal health, taxpayers across Michigan continue to pay inflated interest rates on voter-approved bonds. These bonds — referred to as "unlimited tax general obligation bonds" — are used to build schools, pave roadways and repair bridges, and prior to the Detroit bankruptcy case, were considered among the safest investments around.

Moore: Anti-sanctuary bill wrong for Detroit (Detroit News)
The Detroit Police Department has a lot of work on its hands, and this has been the case for many years. A bill in the Michigan Senate, termed the "sanctuary policy prohibition act" would only make matters worse for Detroit. It would strip the Police Department of discretion in terms of how or when to assist the federal government in enforcing immigration law, adding to its overwhelming duty of enforcing state criminal law by adding federal civil law as well.

Putnam: Doctors trump insurance in new model (Lansing State Journal)
Dr. Bill and Dr. Mike make house calls. They say they have the luxury of time with their patients. They're available after hours. Patients visiting the office are greeted by the doctors, who walk them to the exam rooms and conduct the blood pressure or other tests themselves,

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Tuesday, October 06, 2015 3:09 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - October 6, 2015

NEWS

State of Michigan begins distributing water filters to Flint residents after lead problem

WDIV Detroit

The state is starting to distribute free water filters to Flint residents confronting increased blood lead levels in children after a change in the city's water ...

Flag as irrelevant

5 Rutgers things to know Tuesday: Purdue gives hope vs. Michigan State

NJ.com

With Michigan State set to visit High Point Solutions Stadium on Saturday (8 p.m., BTN), the Scarlet Knights were most keenly interested in the ...

Michigan State vs Purdue: Final grades for the Spartans - Spartan Avenue

It's time for Rutgers to step up against Michigan State - Asbury Park Press

Michigan vs. MSU now a pick 'em in Vegas - The Detroit News

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Rutgers line at disadvantage against Michigan State

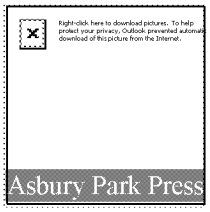
Asbury Park Press

Otherwise known as Rutgers' offensive line against Michigan State's defensive line ... 4 Michigan State opening as a 17-point favorite against Rutgers.

Rutgers draws motivation from blowout loss to Michigan State last year - NJ.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant



Dramatic transformation of education necessary to keep Michigan top-tier state (Guest column)

MLive.com

Michigan can no longer be a top-tier state without dramatically transforming the way we educate our children. Education has become dangerous for ...

Flag as irrelevant

Tom Izzo weighs options at power forward after injury to Michigan State's Marvin Clark

MLive.com

Michigan State's Deyonta Davis reaches to dunk the ball during Michigan State men's basketball practice before they head off to Italy at the Breslin ...

Flag as irrelevant

Rutgers injury report: Receiver John Tsimis out for Michigan State game

NJ.com

Most notably, wide receiver John Tsimis (lower body) has been ruled out for Saturday's home game against Michigan State (8 p.m., BTN).

Flag as irrelevant

MSU offensive line might be getting healthier

Detroit Free Press

EAST LANSING -- If the Michigan State depth chart can be taken as a hint, injured right tackle Kodi Kieler might be close to returning. He's on it this ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State Basketball Recruiting RUMORS: Josh Jackson Leaning Towards The Spartans?

Headlines & Global News

Josh Jackson is one of the top recruits in the nation and he may be leaning towards attending Michigan State as their recruiting class is already ...

Michigan State Recruiting 2016: Miles Bridges Picks Spartans, Could Help Tom Izzo Win Another ... - University Herald

Spartans Legend Says Miles Bridges is Ready for Michigan State - Today's U (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State offense gets added 'dynamic' when Conno Cook runs

MLive.com

Michigan State quarterback Connor Cook was animated after ripping off a career-long 22-yard run against Purdue in Saturday's 24-21 victory at ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State, CalPoly, Virginia Tech Students win Amazing Packaging Race

MMH com

Jill Bickley (Michigan State), Paige Topole (CalPoly) and Kristine Roupas (Virginia Tech) made up the winning team in this year's Amazing Packaging ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 10:02 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/7 Newsroom
Attachments: 151007 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 7, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Gov. Snyder picks ex-energy exec to help set utility rates (Fox 2 Detroit)
When your power company wants to raise your rate, they have to get approval by a special commission who are supposedly looking out for you. So does it make sense to appoint someone who used to work for one of the biggest power companies in the state?

Gov. Snyder addresses Michigan employment at event in Mount Pleasant (Midland Daily News)
Amid an encouraging employment report, Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday took time to call out Michigan employers to be more forthcoming regarding the number of available jobs. "We have a problem with our employers. They need to stop sandbagging. They need to be more honest and open about how many openings they have. And that they are going to have more openings," Snyder said.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Michigan Attorney General Schuette shares lessons in book (AP)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is sharing lessons he has learned throughout his career and personal life in a new book. "Big Lessons from a Small Town" focuses on his hometown of Midland and people who have influenced his life, including football coaches, politicians and family. The Detroit Free Press reports that the Republican says he "learned a lot about leadership and service and I wanted to share that."

DEQ
Lead levels in Mich. city have moms avoiding tap water (USA Today)
For more than a year, Flint residents have been screaming that their water wasn't OK, that it smelled bad, tasted bad, looked bad and was making them sick. Few listened. The state told them, again and again, that the water was safe — that contamination had been handled and that the water was within acceptable levels. Not until the end of September did Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder finally acknowledge the profound problems with Flint's water

Flint water woes put rush on Lake Huron waterline (The Times Herald)
The state's 10-point action plan to fix Flint's water includes expediting construction of a water line tearing up the roadway between St. Clair and Sanilac counties. The state wants to find ways to speed up the construction of the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline.

State to help Adrian wellhead plan costs (Daily Telegram)

The city of Adrian will receive some help from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality in the form of grant dollars to put together its wellhead protection plan. City officials were recently notified the city's wellhead protection plan grant application to the state DEQ was successful. The city will be awarded funds that will cover half the cost of putting a plan together, which will aim to prevent any pollution of the wellhead area. The city applied for the grant earlier this summer.

Southwest Michigan Land Conservancy receives $600,000 DEQ Grant to protect Paw Paw River Watershed (MLive)
Southwest Michigan Land Conservancy (SWMLC) and a partnership of regional conservation organizations have been awarded a three-year $600,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality for the Paw Paw Priority Wetland / Riparian Conservation Project.

DIFS
Free financial programs being offered (Midland Daily News)
Area residents can take advantage of free, non-commercial financial education programs this month. Spearheaded by the Michigan Department of Insurance and Financial Services, the Securing Mi Financial Future initiative is composed of two tracks: The Reinventing Mi Retirement program for residents who are 50 and older and the Building Mi Financial Future program, geared toward 25-49-year-olds.

DNR
Saginaw Conservation District wins $70K wildlife habitat grant (MLive)
The Saginaw Conservation District is one of 18 groups across the state of Michigan to receive funding through a series of Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) grants recently announced.

State offers prizes to waterfowl hunters in Wetland Wonders contest (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is offering more than $1,500 in prizes to waterfowl hunters who hunt in multiple "Wetland Wonders" sites across the state this year.

MEDC
Good ideas come from feasibility study (Hillsdale Daily News)
Representatives from Peter Allen & Associates presented their vision for the County Annex Building during a public presentation Sept. 29, as several members of the community attended a public workshop at the Hillsdale Community Library. The feasibility study, which cost $8,000 — was paid for by the MEDC.

MDARD
New invasive insect found in Michigan, damages crops (MLive)
The tiny midge lays eggs on the stalks of the vegetables. Larvae emerge from the eggs and feed on the stalks and tops of the vegetables. This kills the growing tips of the plants and leaves the plants open to bacterial infections that cause rot. According to Jennifer Holton, communication director for Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development, Michigan grew 77 million pounds of cabbage in 2013. The cabbage crop was worth $11 million dollars.

MDE
The rise and fall of Flint School District enrollment over a century (MLive)
The Flint School District is poised to fall to the third largest district in Genesee County. Wednesday, Oct. 7, is the fall count day across the state. It's when school districts submit their enrollment figures to the Michigan Department of Education to determine how much per pupil funding they'll get from the state. There also is a count day in February.

MDOT
Robinson Cut River Bridge Dedication is This Saturday (St. Ignace News)
A ceremony marking the renaming of the Cut River Bridge to the Heath Michael Robinson Cut River Bridge will take place at the bridge Saturday, October 10, at 10 a.m. The ceremony is open to the public and will include a military honor guard, representatives of the United States Navy and Coast Guard, and Michigan Department of Transportation staff.

MDHHS
Spectrum Health Zeeland Community Hospital recognized for excellence in newborn screening (Holland Sentinel)

Spectrum Health Zeeland Community Hospital recently was recognized by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and the Michigan Health and Hospital Association for exceeding expectations in newborn screening performance at the Newborn Screening Symposium on Sept. 16 in Lansing.

Michigan providing water filters in Flint after high lead readings (Reuters)
Michigan on Tuesday began distributing free water filters to residents of Flint, a week after confirming that some children had elevated levels of lead in their blood since the city began taking water from a nearby river. The filters are being distributed to public assistance recipients and Flint residents through a partnership between the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department.

State plans Flint water filter giveaway Tuesday (The Detroit News)
Starting Tuesday, free water filters will be available to Flint residents who are worried about lead contamination and other concerns, the state Department of Health and Human Services announced Monday.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

How grown up is 17? Bills would stop automatic adult prosecution of 17-year-old offenders (MLive)
Michigan 17-year-olds would stop automatically being prosecuted as adults under bipartisan legislation rolled out with broad support on Tuesday. Michigan is one of only nine states with this law still on the books. The 21-bill package would raise the age of juvenile jurisdiction from 17 to 18.

Michigan Senate votes to increase fines for selling tobacco to minors (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday voted unanimously to increase fines for selling tobacco to minors for the first time since at least 1988. Under current Michigan law, it is a misdemeanor to sell or provide tobacco to anyone under the age of 18, punishable by up to a $50 fine. Senate Bill 340 would double the maximum fine to $100 for an initial violation, and establish a higher fine of up to $500 for a second or subsequent violation.

Road side drug testing project approved by Senate panel (Detroit Free Press)
A bill that would authorize the Michigan State Police to set up a roadside drug testing pilot program in three Michigan counties is on its way to the Senate after getting unanimous support in a Senate committee Tuesday afternoon.

State Senate Recognizes Breast Cancer Awareness Month (WSJM)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday approved a resolution declaring October to be Breast Cancer Awareness Month in the state. The resolution, which was cosponsored by State Senator John Proos, urges women to get regular screenings for the disease, something Proos says is critical.

Bill would get retired teachers back in the classroom (Detroit Free Press)
Arlene Millman retired from education in 2012, but she wasn't quite ready to give up working with kids. That's why she's hoping Michigan lawmakers get moving on legislation that would allow people like her to go back to work — with some restrictions — without risking their retirement benefits or health care.

Prevailing wage backers push for public vote on repeal (AP)
The best chance advocates have to save a Michigan law that promises better wages on public works projects is if Republican legislators ignore a petition initiative and instead let voters decide the fate of prevailing wage.

Michigan rep says gun control bills need evidence (Lansing State Journal)
The chairman of the state House committee overseeing pending gun control legislation said Tuesday he'll take the bills up when he sees evidence they could have saved the lives of 10 people killed last week at an Oregon community college or would prevent future tragedy.

Microbeads in the Great Lakes: Legislators butt heads over whether current legislation would help (MLive)
The flow of tiny plastic pieces known as microbeads into the Great Lakes would be stymied by a House bill, some say, but others think the state should take more meaningful action. HB 4345 would prohibit the manufacture and sale of products that contain non-biodegradable microbeads, tiny plastic items about the size of a ballpoint pen tip sometimes used as an exfoliant in beauty and personal care products.

DETROIT

DPS schools highlight good attendance on Count Day (Michigan Chronicle)
Detroit Public Schools (DPS) students and parents will enjoy a day filled with fun activities and good, nutritious food on Count Day, Wednesday, October 7, 2015. DPS in partnership with the DPS Office of School Nutrition (OSN) and MGM Grand Detroit are helping to encourage high attendance rates on Count Day.

Blight blitz builds up Detroit property values (The Detroit News)
Home property values in Detroit are beginning to increase in areas where blight has been removed, according to a new report. But the development comes at time when money for demolition is drying up.

Kang: Detroit's charter school debate over (The Detroit News)
The charter school versus traditional school debate continues to rage on. Beneath the surface and the noise, however, public schools have been undergoing deep structural changes since as early as the 1960s and 1970s.

Detroit water commissioners may vote on new director (The Detroit News)
The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department's Board of Water Commissioners are scheduled to hold a special meeting Wednesday. During the meeting, which will be held at 10 a.m. on the fifth floor of the Water Board Building on Randolph Street in downtown Detroit, commissioners are expected to vote on Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan's nominations for the water department's top administrators.

OPINION

Kang: Detroit's charter school debate over (The Detroit News)
The charter school versus traditional school debate continues to rage on. Beneath the surface and the noise, however, public schools have been undergoing deep structural changes since as early as the 1960s and 1970s.

Column: Minimum wage hike will hurt restaurants (The Detroit News)
It's been one year since Michigan took its first step toward implementing a 25 percent minimum wage increase. To judge the effects of the policy, it's important to look beyond the state's overall economic growth numbers.

Why the right should support forfeiture reform in Michigan (MLive)
One of the most important features of limited government and economic freedom is the rule of law. In the words of John Adams, we should seek to establish "a government of laws and not of men." These ideas hold that democratically passed laws, not arbitrary decisions by government officials, should govern society. Rule of law and low taxation have put America in a class of its own throughout its history.

We need legislators with both eyes on the road (Detroit Free Press)
The announcement in March that Republican U.S. Representative Candice Miller would not seek re-election in 2016 sent Michigan's politicos abuzz about who might jump into the race for the state's 10th Congressional District.

Do guns belong in Michigan schools? Readers sound off (Detroit Free Press)
Why does a grown man feel the need to display his gun in front of school children? Is he afraid of children? Does he think he is going to meet another man in school who also feels the need to display a weapon? What motivates a man to make a visual statement that he's armed and therefore dangerous?

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 7, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Gov. Snyder picks ex-energy exec to help set utility rates (Fox 2 Detroit)
When your power company wants to raise your rate, they have to get approval by a special commission who are supposedly looking out for you. So does it make sense to appoint someone who used to work for one of the biggest power companies in the state?

Gov. Snyder addresses Michigan employment at event in Mount Pleasant (Midland Daily News)
Amid an encouraging employment report, Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday took time to call out Michigan employers to be more forthcoming regarding the number of available jobs. "We have a problem with our employers. They need to stop sandbagging. They need to be more honest and open about how many openings they have. And that they are going to have more openings," Snyder said.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Michigan Attorney General Schuette shares lessons in book (AP)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is sharing lessons he has learned throughout his career and personal life in a new book. "Big Lessons from a Small Town" focuses on his hometown of Midland and people who have influenced his life, including football coaches, politicians and family. The Detroit Free Press reports that the Republican says he "learned a lot about leadership and service and I wanted to share that."

DEQ
Lead levels in Mich. city have moms avoiding tap water (USA Today)
For more than a year, Flint residents have been screaming that their water wasn't OK, that it smelled bad, tasted bad, looked bad and was making them sick. Few listened. The state told them, again and again, that the water was safe — that contamination had been handled and that the water was within acceptable levels. Not until the end of September did Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder finally acknowledge the profound problems with Flint's water

Flint water woes put rush on Lake Huron waterline (The Times Herald)
The state's 10-point action plan to fix Flint's water includes expediting construction of a water line tearing up the roadway between St. Clair and Sanilac counties. The state wants to find ways to speed up the construction of the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline.

State to help Adrian wellhead plan costs (Daily Telegram)
The city of Adrian will receive some help from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality in the form of grant dollars to put together its wellhead protection plan. City officials were recently notified the city's wellhead protection plan grant application to the state DEQ was successful. The city will be awarded funds that will cover half the cost of putting a plan together, which will aim to prevent any pollution of the wellhead area. The city applied for the grant earlier this summer.

Southwest Michigan Land Conservancy receives $600,000 DEQ Grant to protect Paw Paw River Watershed (MLive)
Southwest Michigan Land Conservancy (SWMLC) and a partnership of regional conservation organizations have been awarded a three-year $600,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality for the Paw Paw Priority Wetland / Riparian Conservation Project.

DIFS
Free financial programs being offered (Midland Daily News)
Area residents can take advantage of free, non-commercial financial education programs this month. Spearheaded by the Michigan Department of Insurance and Financial Services, the Securing Mi Financial Future initiative is composed of two tracks: The Reinventing Mi Retirement program for residents who are 50 and older and the Building Mi Financial Future program, geared toward 25-49-year-olds.

DNR
Saginaw Conservation District wins $70K wildlife habitat grant (MLive)
The Saginaw Conservation District is one of 18 groups across the state of Michigan to receive funding through a series of Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) grants recently announced.

State offers prizes to waterfowl hunters in Wetland Wonders contest (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is offering more than $1,500 in prizes to waterfowl hunters who hunt in multiple "Wetland Wonders" sites across the state this year.

MEDC
Good ideas come from feasibility study (Hillsdale Daily News)
Representatives from Peter Allen & Associates presented their vision for the County Annex Building during a public presentation Sept. 29, as several members of the community attended a public workshop at the Hillsdale Community Library. The feasibility study, which cost $8,000 — was paid for by the MEDC.

MDARD
New invasive insect found in Michigan, damages crops (MLive)
The tiny midge lays eggs on the stalks of the vegetables. Larvae emerge from the eggs and feed on the stalks and tops of the vegetables. This kills the growing tips of the plants and leaves the plants open to bacterial infections that cause rot. According to Jennifer Holton, communication director for Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development, Michigan grew 77 million pounds of cabbage in 2013. The cabbage crop was worth $11 million dollars.

MDE
The rise and fall of Flint School District enrollment over a century (MLive)
The Flint School District is poised to fall to the third largest district in Genesee County. Wednesday, Oct. 7, is the fall count day across the state. It's when school districts submit their enrollment figures to the Michigan Department of Education to determine how much per pupil funding they'll get from the state. There also is a count day in February.

MDOT
Robinson Cut River Bridge Dedication Is This Saturday (St. Ignace News)
A ceremony marking the renaming of the Cut River Bridge to the Heath Michael Robinson Cut River Bridge will take place at the bridge Saturday, October 10, at 10 a.m. The ceremony is open to the public and will include a military honor guard, representatives of the United States Navy and Coast Guard, and Michigan Department of Transportation staff.

MDHHS

Spectrum Health Zeeland Community Hospital recognized for excellence in newborn screening (Holland Sentinel)
Spectrum Health Zeeland Community Hospital recently was recognized by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and the Michigan Health and Hospital Association for exceeding expectations in newborn screening performance at the Newborn Screening Symposium on Sept. 16 in Lansing.

Michigan providing water filters in Flint after high lead readings (Reuters)
Michigan on Tuesday began distributing free water filters to residents of Flint, a week after confirming that some children had elevated levels of lead in their blood since the city began taking water from a nearby river. The filters are being distributed to public assistance recipients and Flint residents through a partnership between the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department.

State plans Flint water filter giveaway Tuesday (The Detroit News)
Starting Tuesday, free water filters will be available to Flint residents who are worried about lead contamination and other concerns, the state Department of Health and Human Services announced Monday.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

How grown up is 17? Bills would stop automatic adult prosecution of 17-year-old offenders (MLive)
Michigan 17-year-olds would stop automatically being prosecuted as adults under bipartisan legislation rolled out with broad support on Tuesday. Michigan is one of only nine states with this law still on the books. The 21-bill package would raise the age of juvenile jurisdiction from 17 to 18.

Michigan Senate votes to increase fines for selling tobacco to minors (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday voted unanimously to increase fines for selling tobacco to minors for the first time since at least 1988. Under current Michigan law, it is a misdemeanor to sell or provide tobacco to anyone under the age of 18, punishable by up to a $50 fine. Senate Bill 340 would double the maximum fine to $100 for an initial violation, and establish a higher fine of up to $500 for a second or subsequent violation.

Road side drug testing project approved by Senate panel (Detroit Free Press)
A bill that would authorize the Michigan State Police to set up a roadside drug testing pilot program in three Michigan counties is on its way to the Senate after getting unanimous support in a Senate committee Tuesday afternoon.

State Senate Recognizes Breast Cancer Awareness Month (WSJM)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday approved a resolution declaring October to be Breast Cancer Awareness Month in the state. The resolution, which was cosponsored by State Senator John Proos, urges women to get regular screenings for the disease, something Proos says is critical.

Bill would get retired teachers back in the classroom (Detroit Free Press)
Arlene Millman retired from education in 2012, but she wasn't quite ready to give up working with kids. That's why she's hoping Michigan lawmakers get moving on legislation that would allow people like her to go back to work — with some restrictions — without risking their retirement benefits or health care.

Prevailing wage backers push for public vote on repeal (AP)
The best chance advocates have to save a Michigan law that promises better wages on public works projects is if Republican legislators ignore a petition initiative and instead let voters decide the fate of prevailing wage.

Michigan rep says gun control bills need evidence (Lansing State Journal)
The chairman of the state House committee overseeing pending gun control legislation said Tuesday he'll take the bills up when he sees evidence they could have saved the lives of 10 people killed last week at an Oregon community college or would prevent future tragedy.

Microbeads in the Great Lakes: Legislators butt heads over whether current legislation would help (MLive)
The flow of tiny plastic pieces known as microbeads into the Great Lakes would be stymied by a House bill, some say, but others think the state should take more meaningful action. HB 4345 would prohibit the manufacture and sale of products that contain non-biodegradable microbeads, tiny plastic items about the size of a ballpoint pen tip sometimes used as an exfoliant in beauty and personal care products.

DETROIT

DPS schools highlight good attendance on Count Day (Michigan Chronicle)
Detroit Public Schools (DPS) students and parents will enjoy a day filled with fun activities and good, nutritious food on Count Day, Wednesday, October 7, 2015. DPS in partnership with the DPS Office of School Nutrition (OSN) and MGM Grand Detroit are helping to encourage high attendance rates on Count Day.

Blight blitz builds up Detroit property values (The Detroit News)
Home property values in Detroit are beginning to increase in areas where blight has been removed, according to a new report. But the development comes at time when money for demolition is drying up.

Kang: Detroit's charter school debate over (The Detroit News)
The charter school versus traditional school debate continues to rage on. Beneath the surface and the noise, however, public schools have been undergoing deep structural changes since as early as the 1960s and 1970s.

Detroit water commissioners may vote on new director (The Detroit News)
The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department's Board of Water Commissioners are scheduled to hold a special meeting Wednesday. During the meeting, which will be held at 10 a.m. on the fifth floor of the Water Board Building on Randolph Street in downtown Detroit, commissioners are expected to vote on Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan's nominations for the water department's top administrators.

OPINION

Kang: Detroit's charter school debate over (The Detroit News)
The charter school versus traditional school debate continues to rage on. Beneath the surface and the noise, however, public schools have been undergoing deep structural changes since as early as the 1960s and 1970s.

Column: Minimum wage hike will hurt restaurants (The Detroit News)

It's been one year since Michigan took its first step toward implementing a 25 percent minimum wage increase. To judge the effects of the policy, it's important to look beyond the state's overall economic growth numbers.

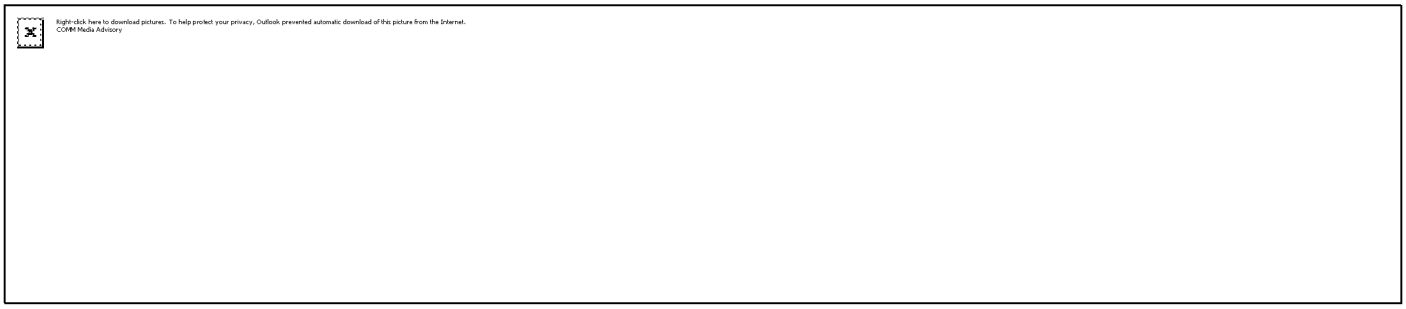
Why the right should support forfeiture reform in Michigan (MLive)
One of the most important features of limited government and economic freedom is the rule of law. In the words of John Adams, we should seek to establish "a government of laws and not of men." These ideas hold that democratically passed laws, not arbitrary decisions by government officials, should govern society. Rule of law and low taxation have put America in a class of its own throughout its history.

We need legislators with both eyes on the road (Detroit Free Press)
The announcement in March that Republican U.S. Representative Candice Miller would not seek re-election in 2016 sent Michigan's politicos abuzz about who might jump into the race for the state's 10th Congressional District.

Do guns belong in Michigan schools? Readers sound off (Detroit Free Press)
Why does a grown man feel the need to display his gun in front of school children? Is he afraid of children? Does he think he is going to meet another man in school who also feels the need to display a weapon? What motivates a man to make a visual statement that he's armed and therefore dangerous?

#####

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 6:13 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Snyder Media Advisory for Thursday, Oct. 8



Wednesday, Oct. 7, 2015
Contact: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
Office: 517-335-6397

Editor's Note: This advisory is for media planning purposes only and not for publication.

Thursday, Oct. 8 at 10 a.m.
Gov. Rick Snyder will make an announcement regarding the Flint water system. He will be joined by Flint Mayor Dayne Walling, Director of Environmental Quality, Dan Wyant, Director of the Department of Health and Human Services, Nick Lyon, Dr. Eden Wells, Chief Medical Executive at DHHS, and Ridgway White of the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation.

A livestream option is also available at www.michigan.gov/snyderlive. If you wish to embed the event please visit http://new.livestream.com/snyderlive for more information.

Media must present valid press credentials on site.

Location:
Mott Foundation/Commerce Center Building – Conference Center, Ground Floor
519 S. Saginaw St.
Flint, MI

Thursday, Oct. 8 at 7 p.m.
Snyder will offer remarks at the Celebration of Life Gala supporting Magen David Adom (Israel's national 911 and emergency services).

Media must present valid press credentials on site.

Location:
Adat Shalom Synagogue
29901 Middlebelt Rd.

Farmington Hills, MI

#####

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to leedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 9:52 AM
Subject: 10/8 Newsroom
Attachments: 151008 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Oct. 8, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water

Governor plans announcement on troubled Flint water system (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder plans an announcement about the water system in Flint, which is facing a public health emergency over lead in its water. A posting on the state's website says Snyder on Thursday morning will be joined for the announcement by officials including Flint Mayor Dayne Walling, state Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant and state Department of Health and Human Services Director Nick Lyon.

Gov. Snyder says he'll make announcement on Flint water Thursday (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder says on Twitter that he will make an announcement about Flint water at 10 a.m. Thursday. The planned announcement comes less than 24 hours after Flint's Technical Advisory Committee recommended the city end its use of the Flint River as its water source.

Gov. Snyder plans announcement on troubled Flint water system (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder plans an announcement about the water system in Flint, which is facing a public health emergency over lead in its water. A posting on the state's website says Snyder on Thursday morning will be joined for the announcement by officials including Flint Mayor Dayne Walling, state Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant and state Department of Health and Human Services Director Nick Lyon.

Governor Snyder to make announcement today about water crisis in Flint (WXYZ)
Governor Snyder is expected to make an announcement today regarding the ongoing water crisis in Flint. It comes amid growing concerns over testing that revealed high levels of lead in children after the city switched it's supply to the Flint River. Other people living there have complained of rashes, hair loss and other health concerns since the switch was made.

Snyder to announce plan for Flint drinking water crisis (WWMT)
Thursday, Governor Snyder will make an announcement about how the state is going to handle the Flint water crisis. This comes less than 24 hours after a committee of local experts in health, water and science recommended that Flint reconnect to Detroit's water system.

Put Flint back on Detroit water ASAP, expert panel tells mayor, governor (Mlive)
The city should end its use of the Flint River as a water source, a blue ribbon advisory committee recommended Wednesday, Oct. 7. Flint's Technical Advisory Committee, appointed earlier this year to make recommendations aimed at improving the safety and quality of Flint water, did not vote.

Bill signing

Snyder signs law to let drivers show insurance on phone (AP)

Michigan drivers pulled over by the police will be able to show proof of their auto insurance on a phone or another mobile device instead of having to provide a hard copy under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law takes effect in three months.

Snyder Signs Bill Allowing Drivers to Show Electronic Proof of Insurance (Michigan Radio)

Michigan drivers will be able to show electronic proof of insurance during traffic stops. That's under a bill Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law on Wednesday. The new law will take effect in 90 days. Until then, drivers are still required to carry a physical copy of their proof of insurance or face court-imposed fines.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill allowing drivers to show proof of insurance on phone during traffic stop (UP Matters/TV 3)

Governor Rick Snyder has signed legislation that will allow drivers on Michigan roads to present proof of auto insurance using their cell phone or other mobile device if asked by a law enforcement officer.

MI drivers can now show proof of auto insurance on phones (WLNS)

Michigan drivers can now show proof of insurance on their phones during traffic stops, instead of having to carry paper proof. Gov. Rick Snyder today signed legislation into law that gives drivers the option of using their cell phones or other mobile devices to show proof of auto insurance when asked by a police officer during a traffic stop.

Higher education summit

Gov. Synder speaks at State University Summit (Grand Valley Lanthorn)

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder spoke at the State University Summit on Oct. 7 at the Charles W. Loosemore Auditorium on the Grand Valley State University Pew Campus. The summit was comprised mostly of presidents and their board of trustees from all 15 public universities in the state.

Gov. Rick Snyder calls on Michigan universities to collaborate (Mlive)

Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday called on leaders of Michigan's public universities to work more closely with K-12 schools, community colleges and the private sector. Snyder, speaking at Grand Valley State University, said a greater community connection would help more students and parents "understand the value of getting a university skill set."

Snyder speaks at State Universities Summit in GR (WOOD-TV)

Gov. Rick Snyder spent the day in Grand Rapids on Wednesday to attend the State Universities Summit. The idea was to bring university leaders from around the state together to exchange ideas and discover how they could engage with the public and businesses to make sure they are preparing students for the future workforce.

Snyder discusses progress of roads deal (WOOD-TV)

With talks continuing in Lansing about how to deal with Michigan's deteriorating roads and infrastructure, many believe a deal could be in the works. A combination of raising taxes and shifting general fund revenues remain the most often repeated possibility.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

DEQ says Flint River safe, corrosion concern (WNEM)

After switching from Detroit water, a city's year-long water troubles have hit a crescendo after a study found elevated levels of lead in the city's children. "We recognize this is a serious situation, lead exposure is the issue," said Michigan Department of Environmental Quality director, Dan Wyant.

Erin Brockovich highlights the Flint water fight (Detroit Metro Times)

Environmental activist Erin Brockovich took to Facebook on Tuesday to slam Michigan authorities regarding Flint's drinking water controversy — and offered a shoutout to Metro Times and contributor Curt Guyette for covering the issue.

DHHS

Brita spokesperson disputes concerns over water filters (WNEM)

A Brita spokesperson is hoping to put concerns to bed over free water filters being handed out in Flint. This follows a video posted on social media. In the video, a woman who claims to be a representative for Brita says the filters, model number SAFF-100, do not reduce lead, despite packaging which might say otherwise.

LARA

Planned Parenthood not mishandling fetal remains in Michigan, state finds (Mlive)
There is no evidence that Planned Parenthood is illegally handling fetal tissue in Michigan, according to two state departments who reviewed practices after lawmakers called for an investigation.

MEDC

Alger Theater Meets Funding Goal, Will Receive $25K Grant (Detroit Curbed)
The Alger Theater's Patronicity crowd-funding campaign reached its $25K goal late last week, making the historic theater eligible for an additional $25K grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation.

Rally for the alleys event will take place tonight (The State News)
Rally for the Alleys, the official crowd-funding kickoff event for the Artist Alleys project in downtown East Lansing, will take place from 4-7 p.m. this evening, Oct. 7 at Ann Street Plaza. The crowdfunding campaign is part of the Michigan Economic Development Corporation's Public Spaces, Community Places program.

MPSC

MPSC Wants Answers on Possible Unsafe Natural Gas Lines (WHTC)
The Michigan Public Service Commission has opened an inquiry into safety issues involving certain natural gas distribution utilities, gas gathering or transmission pipeline operators and gas storage system firms.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Forfeiture package sails through Michigan Legislature, requiring police to disclose profits (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Wednesday voted unanimously to increase civil asset forfeiture reporting requirements for law enforcement agencies and make it harder for the government to keep confiscated property. The seven-bill package represents a first step in a larger effort to reform the state's civil asset forfeiture laws, which allow police agencies to profit from seized property even if the owner is never charged or convicted of a crime.

Medical marijuana dispensaries, taxes and edibles approved by Michigan House (MLive)
The Michigan House on Wednesday signed off on sweeping plans to create a highly-regulated medical marijuana industry and allow patients to purchase the drug at storefront dispensaries, which would be taxed. "These are regulated, inspected facilities where patients can feel safe obtaining their medicine," said Rep.. Mike Callton, R-Nashville, who sponsored the dispensary legislation.

House votes to expand types of medical pot allowed (The Detroit News)
The Michigan House of Representatives approved Wednesday a three-bill package that expands the kinds of medical marijuana patients can ingest and more clearly specifies who can dispense the pot. The legislation represents the latest effort by lawmakers to tweak the state's voter-approved legalization of marijuana for specified medical conditions.

Michigan lawmakers debate banning plastic microbeads in body care products (Crain's Detroit Business)
Lawmakers want to stop companies from making and selling soaps and facial cleansers with plastic microbeads in Michigan. They haven't decided yet how to do it. A bill pending in the state House natural resources committee would ban the use of synthetic plastic microbeads, which are not biodegradable, as exfoliants in personal care products such as shower gels, soaps and toothpastes.

State Senate Committee to Look at Concealed Carry Law for Schools (WHTC)
In the wake of last week's shootings at a community college in Oregon, legislation that would allow properly trained gun owners to carry concealed weapons in Michigan schools will be taken up by the state Senate Judiciary Committee next week.

Tesla test drive: See inside the cars Tesla is using to change Michigan lawmakers' minds (MLive)
Lobbying is commonplace in Lansing, but it doesn't usually take place in high-end electric sports cars. Tesla had three vehicles outside the Michigan Capitol on Tuesday, letting lawmakers and staff take them for speedy spins.

DETROIT

Duggan names new city operations chief (Detroit Free Press)
Mayor Mike Duggan today named longtime associate David Manardo as the city's new group executive for operations to replace outgoing Gary Brown, who was approved today to become the next director of the city's water department. Manardo is executive director of the Detroit Building Authority, a title he will retain but without additional compensation beyond his $250,000 a year salary as he adds to his duties, Duggan's office said.

Detroit's east side beautification effort hits milestone (Detroit Free Press)
After almost six years, an effort to beautify an approximately half-mile string of traffic islands on one of the east side's busier thoroughfares is taking shape in earnest. The Moross Greenway Project, an idea that developed in 2009 among members of the Grosse Pointe Farms Beautification Advisory Commission concerned about the sea of dandelions visible then on the Moross Road traffic islands, is scheduled for its official groundbreaking at 11 a.m. on Wednesday.

Pedestrians dodge cars downtown with traffic lights out (Detroit Free Press)
Pedestrians have had to dodge cars all week with traffic signals out along much of busy Fort Street in downtown Detroit. An underground electrical issue has caused a power outage affecting a handful of traffic signals along Fort Street, according to City of Detroit spokesman John Roach.

OPINION

Our editorial: Good behavior paroles will cut costs (Detroit News)
Fairness alone would argue that, in most cases, an inmate with good behavior should be set free on completing the minimum sentence. That's not always the case in Michigan, and it's helping fuel the state's $2 billion a year in corrections spending.

Waiting for answers, action in Flint water crisis (Freep)
They are still waiting for answers about the water in Flint. And it's hard to say when, or if, those answers are coming. It has been two weeks since a hospital researcher found that more Flint kids had been lead poisoned since the city switched its municipal water supply.

Rep. Greig and Sen. Bieda: Stop flow of microbeads into Great Lakes and break toxic chain (Mlive)
Our Great Lakes are threatened by a dangerous new source of pollution: microplastics, also known as microbeads. Although many who use them every day are unaware, personal care products (including many toothpastes and facial scrubs) contain thousands of minuscule bits of plastic known as microplastics.

Moss: Mich. Supreme Court shuts door on young readers (Detroit News)
Last week the Michigan Supreme Court denied leave to appeal in this state's groundbreaking Right to Read lawsuit. In so doing, the justices slammed shut the courthouse doors to our most vulnerable children — those who cannot read.
Finley: Does the U.S., Obama stand with Israel? (Detroit News)
Does America still have Israel's back? That's the question Israelis are asking now that the nuclear agreement with Iran is a done deal. The pact represents the biggest break in Israel/U.S. relations in decades. Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu lobbied hard and unsuccessfully for its defeat in Congress, rightly worried that it puts Iran on a direct party to a nuclear weapon.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Oct. 8, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water

Governor plans announcement on troubled Flint water system (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder plans an announcement about the water system in Flint, which is facing a public health emergency over lead in its water. A posting on the state's website says Snyder on Thursday morning will be joined for the announcement by officials including Flint Mayor Dayne Walling, state Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant and state Department of Health and Human Services Director Nick Lyon.

Gov. Snyder says he'll make announcement on Flint water Thursday (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder says on Twitter that he will make an announcement about Flint water at 10 a.m. Thursday. The planned announcement comes less than 24 hours after Flint's Technical Advisory Committee recommended the city end its use of the Flint River as its water source.

Gov. Snyder plans announcement on troubled Flint water system (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder plans an announcement about the water system in Flint, which is facing a public health emergency over lead in its water. A posting on the state's website says Snyder on Thursday morning will be joined for the announcement by officials including Flint Mayor Dayne Walling, state Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant and state Department of Health and Human Services Director Nick Lyon.

Governor Snyder to make announcement today about water crisis in Flint (WXYZ)
Governor Snyder is expected to make an announcement today regarding the ongoing water crisis in Flint. It comes amid growing concerns over testing that revealed high levels of lead in children after the city switched it's supply to the Flint River. Other people living there have complained of rashes, hair loss and other health concerns since the switch was made.

Snyder to announce plan for Flint drinking water crisis (WWMT)
Thursday, Governor Snyder will make an announcement about how the state is going to handle the Flint water crisis. This comes less than 24 hours after a committee of local experts in health, water and science recommended that Flint reconnect to Detroit's water system.

Put Flint back on Detroit water ASAP, expert panel tells mayor, governor (Mlive)
The city should end its use of the Flint River as a water source, a blue ribbon advisory committee recommended Wednesday, Oct. 7. Flint's Technical Advisory Committee, appointed earlier this year to make recommendations aimed at improving the safety and quality of Flint water, did not vote.

Bill signing

Snyder signs law to let drivers show insurance on phone (AP)
Michigan drivers pulled over by the police will be able to show proof of their auto insurance on a phone or another mobile device instead of having to provide a hard copy under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law takes effect in three months.

Snyder Signs Bill Allowing Drivers to Show Electronic Proof of Insurance (Michigan Radio)
Michigan drivers will be able to show electronic proof of insurance during traffic stops. That's under a bill Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law on Wednesday. The new law will take effect in 90 days. Until then, drivers are still required to carry a physical copy of their proof of insurance or face court-imposed fines.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill allowing drivers to show proof of insurance on phone during traffic stop (UP Matters/TV 3)
Governor Rick Snyder has signed legislation that will allow drivers on Michigan roads to present proof of auto insurance using their cell phone or other mobile device if asked by a law enforcement officer.

MI drivers can now show proof of auto insurance on phones (WLNS)
Michigan drivers can now show proof of insurance on their phones during traffic stops, instead of having to carry paper proof. Gov. Rick Snyder today signed legislation into law that gives drivers the option of using their cell phones or other mobile devices to show proof of auto insurance when asked by a police officer during a traffic stop.

Higher education summit
Gov. Synder speaks at State University Summit (Grand Valley Lanthorn)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder spoke at the State University Summit on Oct. 7 at the Charles W. Loosemore Auditorium on the Grand Valley State University Pew Campus. The summit was comprised mostly of presidents and their board of trustees from all 15 public universities in the state.

Gov. Rick Snyder calls on Michigan universities to collaborate (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday called on leaders of Michigan's public universities to work more closely with K-12 schools, community colleges and the private sector. Snyder, speaking at Grand Valley State University, said a greater community connection would help more students and parents "understand the value of getting a university skill set."

Snyder speaks at State Universities Summit in GR (WOOD-TV)
Gov. Rick Snyder spent the day in Grand Rapids on Wednesday to attend the State Universities Summit. The idea was to bring university leaders from around the state together to exchange ideas and discover how they could engage with the public and businesses to make sure they are preparing students for the future workforce.

Snyder discusses progress of roads deal (WOOD-TV)
With talks continuing in Lansing about how to deal with Michigan's deteriorating roads and infrastructure, many believe a deal could be in the works. A combination of raising taxes and shifting general fund revenues remain the most often repeated possibility.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
DEQ says Flint River safe, corrosion concern (WNEM)
After switching from Detroit water, a city's year-long water troubles have hit a crescendo after a study found elevated levels of lead in the city's children. "We recognize this is a serious situation, lead exposure is the issue," said Michigan Department of Environmental Quality director, Dan Wyant.

Erin Brockovich highlights the Flint water fight (Detroit Metro Times)
Environmental activist Erin Brockovich took to Facebook on Tuesday to slam Michigan authorities regarding Flint's drinking water controversy — and offered a shoutout to Metro Times and contributor Curt Guyette for covering the issue.

DHHS
Brita spokesperson disputes concerns over water filters (WNEM)
A Brita spokesperson is hoping to put concerns to bed over free water filters being handed out in Flint. This follows a video posted on social media. In the video, a woman who claims to be a representative for Brita says the filters, model number SAFF-100, do not reduce lead, despite packaging which might say otherwise.

LARA
Planned Parenthood not mishandling fetal remains in Michigan, state finds (Mlive)
There is no evidence that Planned Parenthood is illegally handling fetal tissue in Michigan, according to two state departments who reviewed practices after lawmakers called for an investigation.

MEDC
Alger Theater Meets Funding Goal, Will Receive $25K Grant (Detroit Curbed)
The Alger Theater's Patronicity crowd-funding campaign reached its $25K goal late last week, making the historic theater eligible for an additional $25K grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation.

Rally for the alleys event will take place tonight (The State News)
Rally for the Alleys, the official crowd-funding kickoff event for the Artist Alleys project in downtown East Lansing, will take place from 4-7 p.m. this evening, Oct. 7 at Ann Street Plaza. The crowdfunding campaign is part of the Michigan Economic Development Corporation's Public Spaces, Community Places program.

MPSC
MPSC Wants Answers on Possible Unsafe Natural Gas Lines (WHTC)
The Michigan Public Service Commission has opened an inquiry into safety issues involving certain natural gas distribution utilities, gas gathering or transmission pipeline operators and gas storage system firms.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Forfeiture package sails through Michigan Legislature, requiring police to disclose profits (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Wednesday voted unanimously to increase civil asset forfeiture reporting requirements for law enforcement agencies and make it harder for the government to keep confiscated property. The seven-bill package represents a first step in a larger effort to reform the state's civil asset forfeiture laws, which allow police agencies to profit from seized property even if the owner is never charged or convicted of a crime.

Medical marijuana dispensaries, taxes and edibles approved by Michigan House (MLive)
The Michigan House on Wednesday signed off on sweeping plans to create a highly-regulated medical marijuana industry and allow patients to purchase the drug at storefront dispensaries, which would be taxed. "These are regulated, inspected facilities where patients can feel safe obtaining their medicine," said Rep.. Mike Callton, R-Nashville, who sponsored the dispensary legislation.

House votes to expand types of medical pot allowed (The Detroit News)
The Michigan House of Representatives approved Wednesday a three-bill package that expands the kinds of medical marijuana patients can ingest and more clearly specifies who can dispense the pot. The legislation represents the latest effort by lawmakers to tweak the state's voter-approved legalization of marijuana for specified medical conditions.

Michigan lawmakers debate banning plastic microbeads in body care products (Crain's Detroit Business)
Lawmakers want to stop companies from making and selling soaps and facial cleansers with plastic microbeads in Michigan. They haven't decided yet how to do it. A bill pending in the state House natural resources committee would ban the use of synthetic plastic microbeads, which are not biodegradable, as exfoliants in personal care products such as shower gels, soaps and toothpastes.

State Senate Committee to Look at Concealed Carry Law for Schools (WHTC)
In the wake of last week's shootings at a community college in Oregon, legislation that would allow properly trained gun owners to carry concealed weapons in Michigan schools will be taken up by the state Senate Judiciary Committee next week.

Tesla test drive: See inside the cars Tesla is using to change Michigan lawmakers' minds (MLive)
Lobbying is commonplace in Lansing, but it doesn't usually take place in high-end electric sports cars. Tesla had three vehicles outside the Michigan Capitol on Tuesday, letting lawmakers and staff take them for speedy spins.

DETROIT

Duggan names new city operations chief (Detroit Free Press)
Mayor Mike Duggan today named longtime associate David Manardo as the city's new group executive for operations to replace outgoing Gary Brown, who was approved today to become the next director of the city's water department. Manardo is executive director of the Detroit Building Authority, a title he will retain but without additional compensation beyond his $250,000 a year salary as he adds to his duties, Duggan's office said.

Detroit's east side beautification effort hits milestone (Detroit Free Press)
After almost six years, an effort to beautify an approximately half-mile string of traffic islands on one of the east side's busier thoroughfares is taking shape in earnest. The Moross Greenway Project, an idea that developed in 2009 among members of the Grosse Pointe Farms Beautification Advisory Commission concerned about the sea of dandelions visible then on the Moross Road traffic islands, is scheduled for its official groundbreaking at 11 a.m. on Wednesday.

Pedestrians dodge cars downtown with traffic lights out (Detroit Free Press)
Pedestrians have had to dodge cars all week with traffic signals out along much of busy Fort Street in downtown Detroit. An underground electrical issue has caused a power outage affecting a handful of traffic signals along Fort Street, according to City of Detroit spokesman John Roach.

OPINION

Our editorial: Good behavior paroles will cut costs (Detroit News)
Fairness alone would argue that, in most cases, an inmate with good behavior should be set free on completing the minimum sentence. That's not always the case in Michigan, and it's helping fuel the state's $2 billion a year in corrections spending.

Waiting for answers, action in Flint water crisis (Freep)
They are still waiting for answers about the water in Flint. And it's hard to say when, or if, those answers are coming. It has been two weeks since a hospital researcher found that more Flint kids had been lead poisoned since the city switched its municipal water supply.

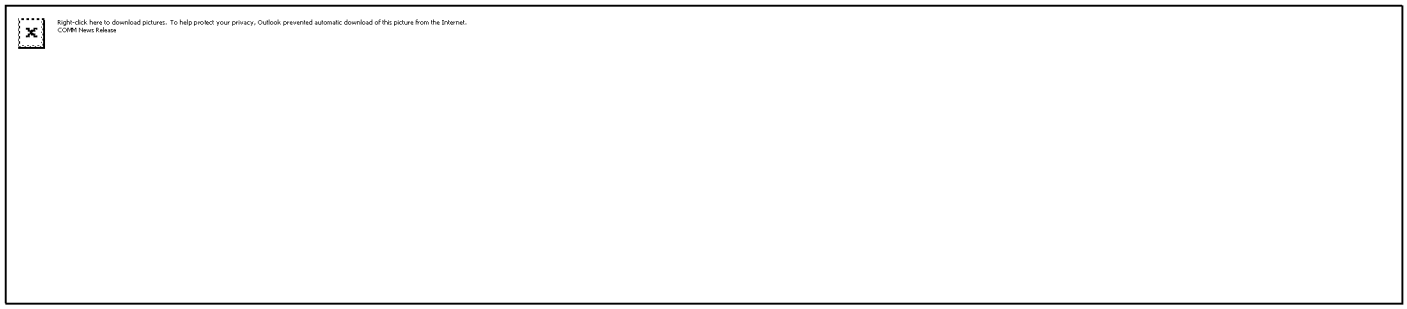
Rep. Greig and Sen. Bieda: Stop flow of microbeads into Great Lakes and break toxic chain (Mlive)
Our Great Lakes are threatened by a dangerous new source of pollution: microplastics, also known as microbeads. Although many who use them every day are unaware, personal care products (including many toothpastes and facial scrubs) contain thousands of minuscule bits of plastic known as microplastics.

Moss: Mich. Supreme Court shuts door on young readers (Detroit News)
Last week the Michigan Supreme Court denied leave to appeal in this state's groundbreaking Right to Read lawsuit. In so doing, the justices slammed shut the courthouse doors to our most vulnerable children — those who cannot read.

Finley: Does the U.S., Obama stand with Israel? (Detroit News)
Does America still have Israel's back? That's the question Israelis are asking now that the nuclear agreement with Iran is a done deal. The pact represents the biggest break in Israel/U.S. relations in decades. Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu lobbied hard and unsuccessfully for its defeat in Congress, rightly worried that it puts Iran on a direct party to a nuclear weapon.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 10:23 AM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint



CONTACTS:

Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray

Governor's Office: 517-335-6397

Brad Wurfel, 517-284-6713

Department of Environmental Quality

Jennifer Eisner, 517-230-9804

Department of Health and Human Services

Kathryn Thomas, 810-766-1734 Mott Foundation

Jason Lorenz, 810-237-2039 City of Flint

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Thursday, Oct. 8, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint

State, city, Mott Foundation, join to fund switch until KWA is ready

FLINT, Mich. – Flint families and children will be better protected by reconnecting with the Great Lakes Water Authority as the source of the city's drinking water until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder said Thursday that he will request the state Legislature to provide half, or $6 million, of the $12 million needed to reconnect with the authority through next summer, when the KWA is expected to be completed. The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

“All Flint residents need clean, safe drinking water,” Snyder said. “The technical experts helping the city on its water advisory all agree this move back to the Great Lakes Water Authority provides the best public health protection for children and families. This effort today is the result of people coming together to solve a problem. I appreciate Detroit’s willingness to reconnect with Flint, the Mott Foundation’s generous commitment, and the dedication of all parties to come together to protect Flint families and children.”

Flint city leaders requested the state’s help to fund the reconnection and to assist with health and infrastructure issues. Flint’s move to the Great Lakes Water Authority is expected to cost about $1.3 million per month until the Karegnondi Water Authority is completed next summer.

“It’s heartening to know so many people are working at so many levels to bring safe, clean water back to Flint,” Mott Foundation President Ridgway White said. “We believe this transitional solution is the right and necessary thing to do, and we’re glad we could help the state and the city make it happen.”

The move to Detroit water, which is expected to carry, carries many public health benefits. As large bodies of water, the Great Lakes are naturally prone to fewer problems from large rain events and other runoff issues that can sometimes be present in shallower rivers. Additionally, the Great Lakes Water Authority water already has additional corrosion control, using phosphates to help coat the insides of pipes and limit lead from leaching into the water.

However, reconnecting with the authority will not completely resolve the city’s problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control. Additionally, some households in the city could experience lead in their drinking water until all lead pipes and plumbing are replaced.

"Reconnecting to Detroit is the fastest way to deliver clean, safe water to Flint and stabilize the infrastructure system,” Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said. “I appreciate the state, the Mott Foundation, Detroit, and the county's participation in a solution for Flint's water problems. The health and safety of Flint's families, children and seniors is my top priority, and reconnecting to Detroit is a major step that the city could not take alone given budget constraints."

To best protect public health, Snyder said state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services today also committed an additional $3.5 million for water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Free filters are available for current MDHHS clients at the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office locations. For residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs, free filters are available at the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation. At the Lippincott location only, extended hours will be offered this weekend, including until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Other good practices for residents concerned about lead include turning on the cold water tap and running the water until it’s as cold as it will go. Additionally, only use cold water for cooking, drinking and especially mixing baby formula.

School test results released; more investigation planned

The state today also released the first results from its lead screening program in schools and homes. Of 37 total samples taken at 13 buildings, four samples spread over three buildings exceeded the federal action level of 15 parts per billion.

However, this sampling provides only an initial screen, and the state is committing to further testing water and inspecting plumbing at these schools. Until testing is complete, schools are advised to continue using bottled water and filtration as a precaution to protect children.

In addition, free testing is still available for any other Flint school, including daycares and Head Starts. Free testing is also available for any Flint resident.

Additional information, including more detailed lead screening results, is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

###

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to leedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 9:44 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/9 Newsroom
Attachments: 151009 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, Oct. 9, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint Water
When did state know about lead in Flint water? 6 takeaways from Snyder plan (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has announced a $16 million plan to reduce lead in the city's drinking water, and he and other key players in carrying it out made several key points to remember on Thursday, Oct. 8.

Michigan gov seeks $6M to help fix city's water (USA Today)
Michigan's governor said Thursday that he would ask the state Legislature for half of the $12 million needed to help this city, struggling with elevated lead levels in its drinking water, reconnect to Detroit's water system.
Snyder: City's lead infrastructure need to be addressed (WNEM)
"I could hardly sleep knowing that our youngest and most vulnerable children would be at greater risk if precautionary steps were not taken," said Flint Mayor Dayne Walling.

Snyder signs law to let drivers show insurance on phone (The Detroit News)
Michigan drivers pulled over by the police will be able to show proof of their auto insurance on a phone or another mobile device instead of having to provide a hard copy under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law takes effect in three months.

State: Flint will reconnect to Detroit water system (The Detroit News)
The City of Flint will reconnect with the Detroit water system in an effort to get safe drinking water to its residents amid widespread concerns over lead contamination. Gov. Rick Snyder made the announcement Thursday that the city would stop getting its water from the Flint River, saying the cost to rehook up with the Detroit Sewerage and Water Department would amount to $12 million. He wants the Legislature to approve a $6 million grant from the state, while the Mott Foundation would donate $4 million and the city of Flint would pay $2 million.

Governor Snyder Supports Switching Troubled Flint Water System Back To Detroit (AP)

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is calling for Flint to get its water from Detroit's system again to address a public health emergency over lead in the water supply. The governor announced Thursday that he will ask state lawmakers for $6 million, half of the $12 million need to reconnect with the Great Lakes Water Authority through next summer. Then Flint would transition to a new regional water authority.

Snyder expected to call for Flint reconnect to Detroit water (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to announce a multi-million dollar plan for reconnecting Flint to the Detroit water system today, Oct. 8, a source familiar with the plan has told The Flint Journal-MLive. Today's announcement, set for 10 a.m. at the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation building, calls for buying nine months of water from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department with at least $6 million coming from the state, $4 million from the foundation, and $2 million from the city, the source said.

Gov. Snyder: Flint to switch water sources, MI will pay half of $12M costs (WLNS)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is calling for Flint to get its water from Detroit's system again to address a public health emergency over lead in the water supply. The governor announced Thursday that he will ask state lawmakers for $6 million, half of the $12 million need to reconnect with the Great Lakes Water Authority through next summer. Then Flint would transition to a new regional water authority.

Snyder seeks $6 million to help fix Flint water (Detroit Free Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder said today he'll ask the Legislature for $6 million of the $12 million needed to help reconnect Flint to the Detroit water system, as a way to address elevated lead levels in its drinking water system. The C.S. Mott Foundation, a Flint-based non-profit founded by auto pioneer Charles Stewart Mott, has pledged $4 million toward the effort and the City of Flint will provide the additional $2 million.

Flint going back to the Detroit water system (WNEM)
The governor announced Thursday that he will ask state lawmakers for $6 million, half of the $12 million need to reconnect with the Great Lakes Water Authority through next summer. Then Flint would transition to a new regional water authority. Click here to see how Gov. Snyder says the switch would be paid for.

Gov. Rick Snyder supports switching Flint water system back to Detroit (Morning Sun)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder called Thursday for Flint to switch back to Detroit's water system to address a public health emergency over the city's water supply. Flint stopped using water from the Detroit system last year as a cost-cutting measure, opting instead for a supply direct from the Flint River. But since the swap, residents have complained of the water's funky smell, taste and appearance, and doctors discovered that the corrosive river water was drawing lead from aging pipes in some homes.

Gov. Snyder moves to come up with $12 million to switch Flint's water back to Detroit's supply (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder this morning held a press conference in which he said he supports reconnecting the city of Flint's water supply back to Detroit's water system. Snyder said he will ask the Legislature to provide half ($6 million) of the $12 million bill to reconnect the system. The city of Flint will pay $2 million, and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation will contribute $4 million.

Snyder supports switching Flint back to Detroit water supply amid health concerns over lead (Minneapolis Star Tribune)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Thursday called for Flint to switch back to Detroit's water system to address a public health emergency and grapple with broader concerns about the effects of the aging pipes distributing the city's water supply. Flint stopped using water from the Detroit system last year as a cost-cutting measure, opting instead for a supply direct from the Flint River. But since the swap, residents have complained of the water's funky smell, taste and appearance, as well as adverse health reactions, and doctors discovered that the corrosive river water was drawing lead from aging pipes in some homes.

Governor calls for $16M plan for Flint water crisis, switch to Detroit (Mlive)

Gov. Rick Snyder has announced a $16-million plan to reduce lead in the city's drinking water, with most of the funding to reconnect Flint to the Detroit water system in as soon as two weeks. "We believe it will be better for the citizens of Flint ... This is the city of Flint making the decision ... We're supporting that fully," said Snyder, who said he would ask the state Legislature for a total of $10 million to address the Flint water crisis.

Snyder announces plan for Flint drinking water crisis (WWMT)
Tuesday morning Michigan Governor Rick Snyder called for the city of Flint to again get its water from Detroit's system. The announcement comes as the state scrambles to address a public health emergency over lead in the Flint water supply.

Gov. Snyder asks lawmakers for $6 M to reconnect Flint to Detroit's water system (Metro Times)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Thursday that he supports Flint's efforts to reconnect to Detroit's water system, following a public health emergency that showed raised levels of lead in Flint's water supply after it decided in 2014 to start drawing water from the Flint River to save costs. The governor is asking state legislators for $6 million to help shoulder the $12 million price tag for reconnecting to the Great Lakes Water Authority — Detroit's regional water system — for the next nine months. The remaining funds will come from the city of Flint ($2 million) and the Flint-based Charles Stewart Mott Foundation ($4 million).

Snyder Calls for Flint to Reconnect to Detroit's Water System (9 & 10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder is calling for Flint to get its water from Detroit's water system. Flint has a public health emergency due to corrosive water leaching lead from old pipes. Local health and water experts recommended that Flint connect to Detroit's water system while it waits for a new pipeline to Lake Huron.

Craigslist post seeks 'high level Cleric or Druid' to purify Flint's water (Metro Times)
Flint's lead-poisoned water crisis is serious stuff, but some activists have found a humorous way of raising awareness about the problem. A Craiglist job ad (posted in Flint>jobs>healthcare) is seeking a "high level Cleric or Druid" to "repeatedly cast the 1st-level transmutation (ritual) spell 'Purify Food and Drink.'" (For all of you readers who were popular in high school, it's a Dungeons & Dragons reference.)

Bill Signing
Snyder signs law to let drivers show insurance on phone (Wood TV)
Michigan drivers pulled over by the police will be able to show proof of their auto insurance on a phone or another mobile device instead of having to provide a hard copy under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. Snyder, who signed it Wednesday, says the goal is to modernize government and make everyday life easier for residents.

Clean Power Plan
Let the Planning Begin, Part 1: States Prepare to Comply with the Clean Power Plan - or Not (The Energy Collective)
Ever since the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) released the final version of the Clean Power Plan (CPP) on August 3, the rule's 1,560 pages of dense text (and an equally daunting pile of Technical Support Documents) have kept legal analysts and policy wonks busy and bleary-eyed. Perhaps the most important group of readers, however, are state regulators, the officials tasked with producing a state plan for implementation.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Toxic lead levels found in water at three Flint schools
Three buildings within the Flint School District have tested above the federal limits for lead in the drinking water. Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant said Thursday, Oct. 8, during a news conference in Flint that water at Eisenhower and Freeman elementary schools, along with Brownell/Holmes STEM academies tested above 15 parts per billion for lead -- the safety standard set by the federal government.

DMVA

State veterans homes have new CEO (Mining Journal)
Leslie Shanlian, deputy director for the Michigan Aging and Adult Services Agency, was recently appointed as the new CEO of the Michigan Veteran Health System, which oversees the state's two veterans homes.

DNR
Bay County man takes photos of bobcat traipsing near property (MLive)
When William Hacker took a gander outside the kitchen window of his Kawkawlin Township home, he saw an unfamiliar sight. Prowling about in a field between his home and the woods north of it was a relatively large wild feline — a bobcat.

ALLEGAN CONSERVATION DISTRICT GETS WILDLIFE HABITAT GRANT (Allegan News)
Allegan Conservation District is the recipient of $34,769 from a 2016 Wildlife Habitat Grant administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. A total of $910,000 was awarded to various conservation organizations, units of government, landowners and nonprofit organizations for projects to be completed by Sept. 30, 2016.

MDARD
Michigan wine industry may suffer after 2 years of bad crops (AP)
Officials say northern Michigan's wine industry may suffer following two consecutive years of disappointing grape crops. MLive.com reports the region's 2015 crop was hit by a long, cold winter that was followed by a late spring frost and capped by August hail damage.

More checking at gas stations to find skimmers (WOOD TV 8)
After a brief lull in the action, credit card skimmers are once an being found in West Michigan gas pumps. Out of the four skimmers found in the state since Sept. 29, one was found in Albion, one in Kentwood and a third at the BP gas station at 2594 Capitol Ave. in Battle Creek on Thursday. The fourth was found at a station in Chelsea, near Ann Arbor.

MDE
Detroit schools reducing district-level testing by 50% (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit Public Schools plan to reduce total district-level mandated testing days by 50 percent, boosting instructional time. The announcement Thursday from Michigan's largest public school district says the change will allow for more real-time assessments in classrooms. The district says it still will be able to meet testing requirements from the Michigan Department of Education.

MDOC
Michigan moves ahead with reopening of Hiawatha prison (AP)
The Michigan Department of Corrections is moving forward with reopening the Hiawatha Correctional Facility after making about $8.9 million in upgrades at the Upper Peninsula facility.

MEDC
MEDC awards grant to Crystal Mountain (Record Eagle)
Crystal Mountain in Benzie County will receive a $463,370 grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation. "It's for the expansion — the eight slopes and triple chairlift and the 31,220-square-foot lodge expansion," said Brian Lawson, the resort's director of public relations.

MSP
Michigan State Police Investigate After Man Shot by Trooper (9&10 News)
A man recovering in the hospital tonight after a Michigan State Trooper shot him. It all happened during a drug bust. The man was trying to escape out a side door as the Michigan State Police were coming in the front.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Senate approves bill banning local dog breed rules (AP)

A bill progressing in the Legislature would ban Michigan municipalities from enforcing regulations based solely on a dog's breed, such as being a pit bull. The Senate voted 25-11 Thursday to send the legislation to the House.

Michigan dog 'breed discrimination' ban would prohibit local ordinances (MLive)
Local communities would be prohibited from banning or otherwise regulating specific dog breeds — including pit bulls — under legislation approved Thursday by the Michigan Senate.

State Rep. Gary Glenn's forfeiture bill heads to governor's desk (MLive)
Since taking office in January, State Rep. Gary Glenn, R-Larkin Township, has introduced 19 bills and two joint resolutions. But Glenn's career in the Michigan Legislature passed a major milestone on Oct. 7 when a bill he introduced earlier this year was approved by both houses of the Legislature. He said he expects the bill to be signed into law soon by Gov. Rick Snyder. The bill — House Bill 4499 of 2015 — is part of a package of bills that seek to reform Michigan's civil asset forfeiture process.

Schuitmaker Legislation On Police Standards Approved (WSJM)
The Michigan Senate this week approved legislation designed to update the standards for law enforcement officers in Michigan.

Bill proposes regulations for textile donation bins (Lansing State Journal)
Textile recycling bins could be regulated by local units of government under a bill that has been introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives. House Bill 4862 would create the Textile Recycling Bin Act and establish a process for counties, cities, townships and villages to regulate bins in the community.

Michigan approves legislation to clarify medical marijuana regulations (JURIST)
The Michigan House of Representatives approved medical marijuana legislation [HB 4209; HB 4827] Wednesday to clarify the legal regulation of the medical marijuana industry. The "medical marihuana facilities licensing act" provides the licensing requirements for businesses to grow, sell and pay taxes on medical marijuana.

DETROIT

Shining Light Award winners honored (Detroit Free Press)
Optimism for the region's future, a belief in partnership and an inspiration to improve the quality of life for Michigan residents resounded, as four metro Detroit leaders were honored Thursday for their exemplary efforts at the ninth annual Shining Light Regional Cooperation Awards.

Duggan names new city operations chief (Detroit Free Press)
Mayor Mike Duggan today named longtime associate David Manardo as the city's new group executive for operations to replace outgoing Gary Brown, who was approved today to become the next director of the city's water department.

TedX conferences help Detroit write new narrative (Detroit News)
"If you're seeking a butt to kick into action, start with your own." So began the 2015 installment of TedX Detroit, with an estimated 2,500 attendees taking in the words of conference organizer Charlie Wollborg.

OPINION

State should pay for its own mistakes in Flint water crisis (MLive)
Today's long overdue announcement that Flint will reconnect to the Detroit system is welcome relief in what has become a deluge of bad news when it comes to Flint water.

Flint water crisis: An obscene failure of government (Detroit Free Press)
There's good news: The City of Flint could soon reconnect to the Detroit Water and Sewer Department, a water source that doesn't leach lead from aging pipes into the municipal water supply.

Frost: Detroit's growth must be inclusive (Detroit News)
In January, I wrote in The Detroit News that "Detroit's growth must be inclusive," arguing that, in the context of both high poverty and ongoing population decline, the idea of "gentrification" in Detroit is premature. And, perhaps most importantly, that Detroit's economic development efforts must be intentional in addressing racial equity and inclusion for the city's long-term prosperity.

Letter: The GOP has hurt Michigan (Detroit News)
The $1.9 million cost to the state of Michigan for fighting same sex marriage shows the stupidity of our Republican party.

Susan J. Demas: GOP gay marriage fight cost Michigan much more than $2M (MLive)
Congratulations, Michigan taxpayers. You've now spent over $2 million so that Republican Attorney General Bill Schuette could have the courage of his convictions in fighting gay marriage.

Electric regulation must move Michigan toward renewables, efficiency (MLive)
Michigan's regulated electric utility market can be significantly improved. An open market should be the goal, but it will require overcoming significant political and economic hurdles. In the meantime, lawmakers should enact legislation that creates incentives for utilities, consumers and entrepreneurs aligned with goals to use less energy, lower costs and transitions the state toward generation from cleaner sources and more efficient sources, including renewables.

Our view: Asset seizure bills provide transparency (Midland Daily News)
Legislation headed to Gov. Rick Snyder's desk today is designed to increase transparency in situations where law enforcement agencies seize assets from suspected criminals.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, Oct. 9, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint Water

When did state know about lead in Flint water? 6 takeaways from Snyder plan (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has announced a $16 million plan to reduce lead in the city's drinking water, and he and other key players in carrying it out made several key points to remember on Thursday, Oct. 8.

Michigan gov seeks $6M to help fix city's water (USA Today)
Michigan's governor said Thursday that he would ask the state Legislature for half of the $12 million needed to help this city, struggling with elevated lead levels in its drinking water, reconnect to Detroit's water system.

Snyder: City's lead infrastructure need to be addressed (WNEM)
"I could hardly sleep knowing that our youngest and most vulnerable children would be at greater risk if precautionary steps were not taken," said Flint Mayor Dayne Walling.

Snyder signs law to let drivers show insurance on phone (The Detroit News)
Michigan drivers pulled over by the police will be able to show proof of their auto insurance on a phone or another mobile device instead of having to provide a hard copy under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law takes effect in three months.

State: Flint will reconnect to Detroit water system (The Detroit News)
The City of Flint will reconnect with the Detroit water system in an effort to get safe drinking water to its residents amid widespread concerns over lead contamination. Gov. Rick Snyder made the announcement Thursday that the city would stop getting its water from the Flint River, saying the cost to rehook up with the Detroit Sewerage and Water Department would amount to $12 million. He wants the Legislature to approve a $6 million grant from the state, while the Mott Foundation would donate $4 million and the city of Flint would pay $2 million.

Governor Snyder Supports Switching Troubled Flint Water System Back To Detroit (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is calling for Flint to get its water from Detroit's system again to address a public health emergency over lead in the water supply. The governor announced Thursday that he will ask state lawmakers for $6 million, half of the $12 million need to reconnect with the Great Lakes Water Authority through next summer. Then Flint would transition to a new regional water authority.

Snyder expected to call for Flint reconnect to Detroit water (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to announce a multi-million dollar plan for reconnecting Flint to the Detroit water system today, Oct. 8, a source familiar with the plan has told The Flint Journal-MLive. Today's announcement, set for 10 a.m. at the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation building, calls for buying nine months of water from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department with at least $6 million coming from the state, $4 million from the foundation, and $2 million from the city, the source said.

Gov. Snyder: Flint to switch water sources, MI will pay half of $12M costs (WLNS)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is calling for Flint to get its water from Detroit's system again to address a public health emergency over lead in the water supply. The governor announced Thursday that he will ask state lawmakers for $6 million, half of the $12 million need to reconnect with the Great Lakes Water Authority through next summer. Then Flint would transition to a new regional water authority.

Snyder seeks $6 million to help fix Flint water (Detroit Free Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder said today he'll ask the Legislature for $6 million of the $12 million needed to help reconnect Flint to the Detroit water system, as a way to address elevated lead levels in its drinking water system. The C.S. Mott Foundation, a Flint-based non-profit founded by auto pioneer Charles Stewart Mott, has pledged $4 million toward the effort and the City of Flint will provide the additional $2 million.

Flint going back to the Detroit water system (WNEM)
The governor announced Thursday that he will ask state lawmakers for $6 million, half of the $12 million need to reconnect with the Great Lakes Water Authority through next summer. Then Flint would transition to a new regional water authority. Click here to see how Gov. Snyder says the switch would be paid for.

Gov. Rick Snyder supports switching Flint water system back to Detroit (Morning Sun)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder called Thursday for Flint to switch back to Detroit's water system to address a public health emergency over the city's water supply. Flint stopped using water from the Detroit system last year as a cost-cutting measure, opting instead for a supply direct from the Flint River. But since the swap, residents have complained of the water's funky smell, taste and appearance, and doctors discovered that the corrosive river water was drawing lead from aging pipes in some homes.

Gov. Snyder moves to come up with $12 million to switch Flint's water back to Detroit's supply (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder this morning held a press conference in which he said he supports reconnecting the city of Flint's water supply back to Detroit's water system. Snyder said he will ask the Legislature to provide half ($6 million) of the $12 million bill to reconnect the system. The city of Flint will pay $2 million, and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation will contribute $4 million.

Snyder supports switching Flint back to Detroit water supply amid health concerns over lead (Minneapolis Star Tribune)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Thursday called for Flint to switch back to Detroit's water system to address a public health emergency and grapple with broader concerns about the effects of the aging pipes distributing the city's water supply. Flint stopped using water from the Detroit system last year as a cost-cutting measure, opting instead for a supply direct from the Flint River. But since the swap, residents have complained of the water's funky smell, taste and appearance, as well as adverse health reactions, and doctors discovered that the corrosive river water was drawing lead from aging pipes in some homes.

Governor calls for $16M plan for Flint water crisis, switch to Detroit (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has announced a $16-million plan to reduce lead in the city's drinking water, with most of the funding to reconnect Flint to the Detroit water system in as soon as two weeks. "We believe it will be better for the citizens of Flint ... This is the city of Flint making the decision ... We're supporting that fully," said Snyder, who said he would ask the state Legislature for a total of $10 million to address the Flint water crisis.

Snyder announces plan for Flint drinking water crisis (WWMT)
Tuesday morning Michigan Governor Rick Snyder called for the city of Flint to again get its water from Detroit's system. The announcement comes as the state scrambles to address a public health emergency over lead in the Flint water supply.

Gov. Snyder asks lawmakers for $6 M to reconnect Flint to Detroit's water system (Metro Times)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Thursday that he supports Flint's efforts to reconnect to Detroit's water system, following a public health emergency that showed raised levels of lead in Flint's water supply after it decided in 2014 to start drawing water from the Flint River to save costs. The governor is asking state legislators for $6 million to help shoulder the $12 million price tag for reconnecting to the Great Lakes Water Authority — Detroit's regional water system — for the next nine months. The remaining funds will come from the city of Flint ($2 million) and the Flint-based Charles Stewart Mott Foundation ($4 million).

Snyder Calls for Flint to Reconnect to Detroit's Water System (9 & 10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder is calling for Flint to get its water from Detroit's water system. Flint has a public health emergency due to corrosive water leaching lead from old pipes. Local health and water experts recommended that Flint connect to Detroit's water system while it waits for a new pipeline to Lake Huron.

Craigslist post seeks 'high level Cleric or Druid' to purify Flint's water (Metro Times)
Flint's lead-poisoned water crisis is serious stuff, but some activists have found a humorous way of raising awareness about the problem. A Craiglist job ad (posted in Flint>jobs>healthcare) is seeking a "high level Cleric or Druid" to "repeatedly cast the 1st-level transmutation (ritual) spell 'Purify Food and Drink.'" (For all of you readers who were popular in high school, it's a Dungeons & Dragons reference.)

Bill Signing
Snyder signs law to let drivers show insurance on phone (Wood TV)
Michigan drivers pulled over by the police will be able to show proof of their auto insurance on a phone or another mobile device instead of having to provide a hard copy under legislation signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. Snyder, who signed it Wednesday, says the goal is to modernize government and make everyday life easier for residents.

Clean Power Plan
Let the Planning Begin, Part 1: States Prepare to Comply with the Clean Power Plan - or Not (The Energy Collective)
Ever since the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) released the final version of the Clean Power Plan (CPP) on August 3, the rule's 1,560 pages of dense text (and an equally daunting pile of Technical Support Documents) have kept legal analysts and policy wonks busy and bleary-eyed. Perhaps the most important group of readers, however, are state regulators, the officials tasked with producing a state plan for implementation.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Toxic lead levels found in water at three Flint schools
Three buildings within the Flint School District have tested above the federal limits for lead in the drinking water. Michigan Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant said Thursday, Oct.

8, during a news conference in Flint that water at Eisenhower and Freeman elementary schools, along with Brownell/Holmes STEM academies tested above 15 parts per billion for lead -- the safety standard set by the federal government.

DMVA

State veterans homes have new CEO (Mining Journal)
Leslie Shanlian, deputy director for the Michigan Aging and Adult Services Agency, was recently appointed as the new CEO of the Michigan Veteran Health System, which oversees the state's two veterans homes.

DNR

Bay County man takes photos of bobcat traipsing near property (MLive)
When William Hacker took a gander outside the kitchen window of his Kawkawlin Township home, he saw an unfamiliar sight. Prowling about in a field between his home and the woods north of it was a relatively large wild feline — a bobcat.

ALLEGAN CONSERVATION DISTRICT GETS WILDLIFE HABITAT GRANT (Allegan News)
Allegan Conservation District is the recipient of $34,769 from a 2016 Wildlife Habitat Grant administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. A total of $910,000 was awarded to various conservation organizations, units of government, landowners and nonprofit organizations for projects to be completed by Sept. 30, 2016.

MDARD

Michigan wine industry may suffer after 2 years of bad crops (AP)
Officials say northern Michigan's wine industry may suffer following two consecutive years of disappointing grape crops. MLive.com reports the region's 2015 crop was hit by a long, cold winter that was followed by a late spring frost and capped by August hail damage.

More checking at gas stations to find skimmers (WOOD TV 8)
After a brief lull in the action, credit card skimmers are once an being found in West Michigan gas pumps. Out of the four skimmers found in the state since Sept. 29, one was found in Albion, one in Kentwood and a third at the BP gas station at 2594 Capitol Ave. in Battle Creek on Thursday. The fourth was found at a station in Chelsea, near Ann Arbor.

MDE

Detroit schools reducing district-level testing by 50% (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit Public Schools plan to reduce total district-level mandated testing days by 50 percent, boosting instructional time. The announcement Thursday from Michigan's largest public school district says the change will allow for more real-time assessments in classrooms. The district says it still will be able to meet testing requirements from the Michigan Department of Education.

MDOC

Michigan moves ahead with reopening of Hiawatha prison (AP)
The Michigan Department of Corrections is moving forward with reopening the Hiawatha Correctional Facility after making about $8.9 million in upgrades at the Upper Peninsula facility.

MEDC

MEDC awards grant to Crystal Mountain (Record Eagle)
Crystal Mountain in Benzie County will receive a $463,370 grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation. "It's for the expansion — the eight slopes and triple chairlift and the 31,220-square-foot lodge expansion," said Brian Lawson, the resort's director of public relations.

MSP

Michigan State Police Investigate After Man Shot by Trooper (9&10 News)
A man recovering in the hospital tonight after a Michigan State Trooper shot him. It all happened during a drug bust. The man was trying to escape out a side door as the Michigan State Police were coming in the front.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Senate approves bill banning local dog breed rules (AP)
A bill progressing in the Legislature would ban Michigan municipalities from enforcing regulations based solely on a dog's breed, such as being a pit bull. The Senate voted 25-11 Thursday to send the legislation to the House.

Michigan dog 'breed discrimination' ban would prohibit local ordinances (MLive)
Local communities would be prohibited from banning or otherwise regulating specific dog breeds — including pit bulls — under legislation approved Thursday by the Michigan Senate.

State Rep. Gary Glenn's forfeiture bill heads to governor's desk (MLive)
Since taking office in January, State Rep. Gary Glenn, R-Larkin Township, has introduced 19 bills and two joint resolutions. But Glenn's career in the Michigan Legislature passed a major milestone on Oct. 7 when a bill he introduced earlier this year was approved by both houses of the Legislature. He said he expects the bill to be signed into law soon by Gov. Rick Snyder. The bill — House Bill 4499 of 2015 — is part of a package of bills that seek to reform Michigan's civil asset forfeiture process.

Schuitmaker Legislation On Police Standards Approved (WSJM)
The Michigan Senate this week approved legislation designed to update the standards for law enforcement officers in Michigan.

Bill proposes regulations for textile donation bins (Lansing State Journal)
Textile recycling bins could be regulated by local units of government under a bill that has been introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives. House Bill 4862 would create the Textile Recycling Bin Act and establish a process for counties, cities, townships and villages to regulate bins in the community.

Michigan approves legislation to clarify medical marijuana regulations (JURIST)
The Michigan House of Representatives approved medical marijuana legislation [HB 4209; HB 4827] Wednesday to clarify the legal regulation of the medical marijuana industry. The "medical marihuana facilities licensing act" provides the licensing requirements for businesses to grow, sell and pay taxes on medical marijuana.

DETROIT

Shining Light Award winners honored (Detroit Free Press)
Optimism for the region's future, a belief in partnership and an inspiration to improve the quality of life for Michigan residents resounded, as four metro Detroit leaders were honored Thursday for their exemplary efforts at the ninth annual Shining Light Regional Cooperation Awards.

Duggan names new city operations chief (Detroit Free Press)

Mayor Mike Duggan today named longtime associate David Manardo as the city's new group executive for operations to replace outgoing Gary Brown, who was approved today to become the next director of the city's water department.

TedX conferences help Detroit write new narrative (Detroit News)
"If you're seeking a butt to kick into action, start with your own." So began the 2015 installment of TedX Detroit, with an estimated 2,500 attendees taking in the words of conference organizer Charlie Wollborg.

OPINION

State should pay for its own mistakes in Flint water crisis (MLive)
Today's long overdue announcement that Flint will reconnect to the Detroit system is welcome relief in what has become a deluge of bad news when it comes to Flint water.

Flint water crisis: An obscene failure of government (Detroit Free Press)
There's good news: The City of Flint could soon reconnect to the Detroit Water and Sewer Department, a water source that doesn't leach lead from aging pipes into the municipal water supply.

Frost: Detroit's growth must be inclusive (Detroit News)
In January, I wrote in The Detroit News that "Detroit's growth must be inclusive," arguing that, in the context of both high poverty and ongoing population decline, the idea of "gentrification" in Detroit is premature. And, perhaps most importantly, that Detroit's economic development efforts must be intentional in addressing racial equity and inclusion for the city's long-term prosperity.

Letter: The GOP has hurt Michigan (Detroit News)
The $1.9 million cost to the state of Michigan for fighting same sex marriage shows the stupidity of our Republican party.

Susan J. Demas: GOP gay marriage fight cost Michigan much more than $2M (MLive)
Congratulations, Michigan taxpayers. You've now spent over $2 million so that Republican Attorney General Bill Schuette could have the courage of his convictions in fighting gay marriage.

Electric regulation must move Michigan toward renewables, efficiency (MLive)
Michigan's regulated electric utility market can be significantly improved. An open market should be the goal, but it will require overcoming significant political and economic hurdles. In the meantime, lawmakers should enact legislation that creates incentives for utilities, consumers and entrepreneurs aligned with goals to use less energy, lower costs and transitions the state toward generation from cleaner sources and more efficient sources, including renewables.

Our view: Asset seizure bills provide transparency (Midland Daily News)
Legislation headed to Gov. Rick Snyder's desk today is designed to increase transparency in situations where law enforcement agencies seize assets from suspected criminals.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, October 12, 2015 9:24 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/12 Newsroom
Attachments: 151012 Newsroom.docx

Monday, Oct. 12, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water
Michigan Gov. Snyder, administration under mounting scrutiny for Flint's water crisis (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder and his administration face mounting scrutiny for Flint's drinking water crisis, which began when a state emergency manager switched the supply source to save money and has culminated with high lead levels in some children.

Proclamation
Snyder proclaims October as Michigan's Cybersecurity Awareness Month (County Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed October as Michigan's Cybersecurity Awareness Month to remind citizens, businesses and governments to protect themselves against cyber attacks.

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

Rx Drug and Opioid Task Force
Snyder officials take on painkiller overdose 'epidemic' (Detroit News)
Later this month, a committee headed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley will make recommendations for addressing Michigan's part in what the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services calls America's "unprecedented drug overdose epidemic."

Recommendations coming on effort to curb Michigan overdoses (AP)
A committee headed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley is expected to make recommendations this month for addressing overdoses in Michigan linked to the abuse of pain and anxiety medications. The Detroit News reports prescription drug and opioid addiction has led to a fivefold increase in drug deaths in Michigan since 1999, a trend Calley says leaders "must come together to reverse ... before more Michiganders are hurt."

Trade mission

MEDC looks to establish relationships in India for small, midsize Michigan businesses (Crain's Detroit Business)
The Snyder administration is working to find new ways for Michigan's small and midsize companies to enter the Indian supply chain, the state said Friday. While on a weeklong trade trip to India, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and the Michigan Economic Development Corp. started to develop new outlets for Michigan- and Indian-based companies to connect as suppliers. The effort is in conjunction with the MEDC's Pure Michigan Business Connect program, which matches companies with in-state vendors.

Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley wraps up weeklong trade trip to India, highlights opportunities (AP)
Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley is wrapping up a weeklong trade trip to India, where he's highlighting investment and partnership opportunities. Calley's office says in a statement Friday that he's emphasizing Michigan's global role in automotive manufacturing and technology. He's been meeting with representatives of companies and is stressing the "competitive operating environment" in Michigan.

Lt. Governor Calley Wraps Up Trade Mission to India (WTVB/WKZO/WHTC)
After Governor Snyder took two separate trips to China, Japan and Germany earlier this summer, it's Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley's turn to leave the country and promote Michigan abroad. The Portland Republican has toured plants and facilities of American car companies in India during his week-long excursion, along with face-to-face meetings with senior executives of Indian firms involved in a variety of industries.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Rick Snyder appoints West Olive resident to Developmental Disabilities Council (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder, R-Michigan, recently announced the appointment of Steve Johnson, of West Olive, to the Developmental Disabilities Council. The 21-member council, housed within the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, advocates for people with disabilities on a statewide level.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Attorney general reaches settlement in scam (AP)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette announced today a settlement with the company, called Division of Corporate Services Inc. Under the agreement, Schuette says the company must reimburse $150 to each of the 105 Michigan entities that paid up.

DEQ
Jackson County gets $1 million loan to help with new runway (WLNS)
Jackson County is getting a $1 million loan to help address brownfield conditions as part of a project to build a new runway at its airport. The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality on Friday announced the funding for the Jackson County Airport, also known as Reynolds Field.

Where does the Line 5 oil pipeline go from here? (Detroit Free Press)
A controversial 62-year-old oil pipeline at the bottom of the Straits of Mackinac has a future that's up in the air. Enbridge officials cite rigorous inspection of the line, and their readiness to react to any spill in the straits pipeline. The company last month conducted a readiness exercise with the U.S. Coast Guard, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, and other federal, state and local agencies in the Straits.

DOC
State nears goal of hiring 1,000 corrections officers (The Detroit News)
The Michigan Department of Corrections is on target to meet its goal of hiring 700 to 1,000 corrections officers this year. With 686 officers who've passed through the department's 16-week training academy, and another class of 300 set to graduate on Nov. 6, that would bring the total to 986 for the year.

DNR

New walleye, perch regulations in effect on Saginaw Bay and river (MLive)

Several new fishing regulations went into effect Friday, Oct. 9, after decisions made during the Michigan Natural Resources Commission's meeting in Cedarville. Those changes include looser regulations for walleye fishing and tighter regulations for perch fishing in the Saginaw River and Saginaw Bay.

Protesters urge Ann Arbor officials to call off 'deer massacre' (MLive)

A few dozen protesters lined Huron Street outside city hall, where the City Council less than two months ago voted 8-1 in favor of a four-year culling program. The city has budgeted $90,000 for deer management this year, including an estimated $25,000 to $35,000 for the first cull and $3,000 for a flyover count, plus funds to manage the program and measure the impacts of deer on natural areas.

MDARD

Michigan finds electronic thieves at the gas pump (The Detroit News)

Remember when $4-a-gallon fuel was the biggest worry drivers had at the gas pump? State officials are tackling a new problem that might put a bigger dent in their wallets: Skimming. Investigators have begun to find electronic machines inside gas pumps around Michigan that allow criminals to gather and store credit card information from unsuspecting drivers.

MDE

In teaching versus testing, teaching must win (Detroit Free Press)

In the continuing debate over teaching versus testing, new State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Brian Whiston, and the Michigan Department of Education recently came down firmly on the side of teaching.

Lansing superintendent declines request for enrollment update (Lansing State Journal)

Lansing School District Superintendent Yvonne Caamal Canul refused to release preliminary enrollment data to a member of the Board of Education during Thursday night's meeting.

MDOS

Michigan, HP in court over $40M program (WOOD)

The Business Application Modernization, or BAM, Program is a new computer system for the Michigan Secretary of State's Office. Tech company Hewlett-Packard was supposed to have it completed five years ago. But 10 years into the project, it's still only partially done and the state is saying that enough is enough.

MDOT

M-134 to become first Pure Michigan Byway (The Detroit News)

On Friday, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced that a section of M-134 running along Lake Huron between Detour Village and Town Center Road, on Drummond Island, has been selected for the new designation.

MSHDA

State Archaeology Day highlights Michigan projects (Midland Daily News)

A free, family-friendly event offers a close-up look at past and present archaeology in Michigan. Archaeologists will exhibit artifacts and talk about recent excavations in Michigan at the Michigan Historical Center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday in celebration of Archaeology Day 2015.

MSP

State police called in on case of the missing property tax payments in Vicksburg (MLive)

The Michigan State Police have been asked to investigate why several residents who paid their property taxes in September 2013 did not have those payments recorded by the village of Vicksburg.

Active shooter training part of security plans at Michigan universities and colleges (AP)

Some of Michigan's larger universities and community colleges say they have plans for police officers to deal with gunmen on their campuses and measures in place to keep students and staff safe. Nine schools surveyed by The Associated Press following the Oct. 1 killing of nine people at Umpqua Community College in Roseburg, Oregon, said campus police officers routinely train for such threats.

Police seized $24M in property through asset forfeiture (Fox 17)
Last year police agencies across the state seized roughly $23.9 million in property through Michigan's civil asset forfeiture law, according to the latest report released by Michigan State Police. The numbers, released through the 2015 Michigan State Police Asset Forfeiture Report, which detail seizures in 2014, are nearly identical to the ones released a year prior in which MSP reported $24.3 million in assets were seized in 2013.

Treasury
Treasury: 'We really goofed this up. We're fixing it.' (Lansing State Journal)
Michigan Treasury will need another 12 weeks to sort through 67,000 taxpayer accounts that may have been erroneously flagged as delinquent, department officials told a legislative oversight panel on Thursday.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan House looks at banning microbeads (Freep)
Since mid-2014, nine states have passed laws that will phase out the manufacture and sale of personal care products, like toothpaste and facial cleansers, that contain plastic microbeads. The microbeads have been found in enormous levels in lakes Erie, Huron and Superior at a rate of 43,000 per kilometer and are ending up in Great Lakes fish.

Veterans service dogs bill headed to Governor's desk (Hometown Life)
With unanimous approval from the Michigan House of Representatives and Michigan Senate, legislation authored by Sen. David Knezek, D-Dearborn Heights, to protect Michigan veterans who use service dogs is on its way to Governor Snyder's desk to be signed into law.

Major reforms afoot for juvenile offenders (Freep)
A bipartisan group of lawmakers in the state House of Representatives introduced a package of bills last week that makes major reforms to how juvenile offenders are treated.

DETROIT

Cushingberry wants changes to weed dispensary rules (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Councilman George Cushingberry Jr. wants to loosen certain aspects of proposed regulations for the city's medical marijuana dispensaries.

Ilitch recognized at Old Newsboys Goodfellow Fund event (The Detroit News)
The Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund of Detroit awarded Christopher Ilitch its Goodfellow of the Year award Friday at Cobo Center.

Improve Detroit App Fields Over 10,000 Complaints In 6 Months (AP)
A smartphone application that allows residents to report maintenance problems in Detroit has helped the city resolve more than 10,000 complaints in the past six months. The Improve Detroit app already has been downloaded more than 6

80 Detroit IRS jobs slated for relocation to Memphis could be saved (Mlive)
Mayor Mike Duggan and U.S. Sen. Gary Peters may have saved 80 Detroit-based IRS jobs. According to a statement issued by Peters' office Friday, IRS Commissioner John Koskinen is reconsidering plans to relocate the jobs from the Detroit printing and correspondence facility to Memphis after meeting with Duggan and Peters, D-Bloomfield Township.

Piles again rise along Detroit River — but not pet coke (Freep)
Those black piles that have recently appeared along the Detroit River are not a reprise of the petroleum coke controversy of two years ago. This time it's something different — coke breeze — a coal-based by-product that city officials say was initially stored without permission.

OPINION

Prison time, forfeiture and medical pot: Lansing is on a bipartisan roll (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature has been on a bipartisan binge lately, passing legislation that not everybody may like, but at least they have found a way to build consensus around three controversial issues.

Why you should vote yes on the $175M GRPS bond proposal (MLive)
Grand Rapids needs a public school system befitting the city's rising reputation. We must, as a community, support efforts to make our city's schools first-rate institutions of learning in any way we reasonably can.

Ken Braun: Soaking the rich doesn't need to be so difficult (MLive)
U.S. Sen. Bernie Sanders of Vermont, the self-avowed socialist running for the Democratic presidential nomination, believes there should be a 90 percent top federal income tax bracket. On the Republican side, regardless of the year, presidential candidates are always talking tax reform. There's an ironic similarity in these messages.

Battle is on for control of Michigan's marijuana market (Detroit Free Press)
Nearly eight years after Michigan voters overwhelmingly concluded that marijuana should be available to patients whose doctors prescribe it, state lawmakers are finally addressing some of the most egregious defects in Michigan's Medical Marihuana Act.

Was Schuette's $2-million lesson a bargain? (Detroit Free Press)
Bill Schuette went to the U.S. Supreme Court, and all Michigan taxpayers got was a bill for $2 million.

Accountability needed in Flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
I can't believe the level of incompetence in handling this by Gov. Rick Snyder and the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

How to get started on gun control (Detroit Free Press)
The explanations, suggestions and demands regarding gun violence are numerous but likely to lead nowhere. Instead, set up a study commission, be it presidential, congressional, or simply citizen-initiated.

Editorial: Detroit's blight progress (Detroit News)
Nearly 6,000 blighted structures in Detroit have been demolished since January 2014, and those demolitions have increased the value of surrounding homes, according to a recent report on the efforts.

Finley: Millennials should love GOP (Detroit News)
It's political gospel that young voters are more inclined to be liberal, and thus aligned with the Democratic Party. The hope for Republicans is that they wise up as they grow older, and that families, careers and perhaps business ownership turn them more conservative.

Michigan utilities want to end renewable energy mandate (Bridge)
Since Michigan's energy law was adopted in 2008, billions of dollars have been spent in the state's emerging renewable energy industry — building infrastructure, adding jobs and lowering costs.

Rochelle Riley: State must stop robbing Detroit schools (Freep)
To understand the Detroit Public Schools budget, you need a calculator, a ouija board and a Bible — because it takes math, magic and a little prayer. But one thing is clear: The State of Michigan has been robbing Detroit children for years.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, Oct. 12, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint water
Michigan Gov. Snyder, administration under mounting scrutiny for Flint's water crisis (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder and his administration face mounting scrutiny for Flint's drinking water crisis, which began when a state emergency manager switched the supply source to save money and has culminated with high lead levels in some children.

Proclamation
Snyder proclaims October as Michigan's Cybersecurity Awareness Month (County Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed October as Michigan's Cybersecurity Awareness Month to remind citizens, businesses and governments to protect themselves against cyber attacks.

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES
Rx Drug and Opioid Task Force
Snyder officials take on painkiller overdose 'epidemic' (Detroit News)
Later this month, a committee headed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley will make recommendations for addressing Michigan's part in what the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services calls America's "unprecedented drug overdose epidemic."

Recommendations coming on effort to curb Michigan overdoses (AP)
A committee headed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley is expected to make recommendations this month for addressing overdoses in Michigan linked to the abuse of pain and anxiety medications. The Detroit News reports prescription drug and opioid addiction has led to a fivefold increase in drug deaths in Michigan since 1999, a trend Calley says leaders "must come together to reverse ... before more Michiganders are hurt."

Trade mission
MEDC looks to establish relationships in India for small, midsize Michigan businesses (Crain's Detroit Business)
The Snyder administration is working to find new ways for Michigan's small and midsize companies to enter the Indian supply chain, the state said Friday. While on a weeklong trade trip to India, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and the Michigan Economic Development Corp. started to develop new outlets for Michigan- and Indian-based companies to connect as suppliers. The effort is in conjunction with the MEDC's Pure Michigan Business Connect program, which matches companies with in-state vendors.

Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley wraps up weeklong trade trip to India, highlights opportunities (AP)
Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley is wrapping up a weeklong trade trip to India, where he's highlighting investment and partnership opportunities. Calley's office says in a statement Friday that he's emphasizing Michigan's global role in automotive manufacturing and technology. He's been meeting with representatives of companies and is stressing the "competitive operating environment" in Michigan.

Lt. Governor Calley Wraps Up Trade Mission to India (WTVB/WKZO/WHTC)
After Governor Snyder took two separate trips to China, Japan and Germany earlier this summer, it's Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley's turn to leave the country and promote Michigan abroad. The Portland Republican has toured plants and facilities of American car companies in India during his week-long excursion, along with face-to-face meetings with senior executives of Indian firms involved in a variety of industries.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Rick Snyder appoints West Olive resident to Developmental Disabilities Council (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder, R-Michigan, recently announced the appointment of Steve Johnson, of West Olive, to the Developmental Disabilities Council. The 21-member council, housed within the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, advocates for people with disabilities on a statewide level.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Attorney general reaches settlement in scam (AP)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette announced today a settlement with the company, called Division of Corporate Services Inc. Under the agreement, Schuette says the company must reimburse $150 to each of the 105 Michigan entities that paid up.

DEQ
Jackson County gets $1 million loan to help with new runway (WLNS)
Jackson County is getting a $1 million loan to help address brownfield conditions as part of a project to build a new runway at its airport. The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality on Friday announced the funding for the Jackson County Airport, also known as Reynolds Field.

Where does the Line 5 oil pipeline go from here? (Detroit Free Press)
A controversial 62-year-old oil pipeline at the bottom of the Straits of Mackinac has a future that's up in the air. Enbridge officials cite rigorous inspection of the line, and their readiness to react to any spill in the straits pipeline. The company last month conducted a readiness exercise with the U.S. Coast Guard, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, and other federal, state and local agencies in the Straits.

DOC
State nears goal of hiring 1,000 corrections officers (The Detroit News)
The Michigan Department of Corrections is on target to meet its goal of hiring 700 to 1,000 corrections officers this year. With 686 officers who've passed through the department's 16-week training academy, and another class of 300 set to graduate on Nov. 6, that would bring the total to 986 for the year.

DNR
New walleye, perch regulations in effect on Saginaw Bay and river (MLive)
Several new fishing regulations went into effect Friday, Oct. 9, after decisions made during the Michigan Natural Resources Commission's meeting in Cedarville. Those changes include looser regulations for walleye fishing and tighter regulations for perch fishing in the Saginaw River and Saginaw Bay.

Protesters urge Ann Arbor officials to call off 'deer massacre' (MLive)

A few dozen protesters lined Huron Street outside city hall, where the City Council less than two months ago voted 8-1 in favor of a four-year culling program. The city has budgeted $90,000 for deer management this year, including an estimated $25,000 to $35,000 for the first cull and $3,000 for a flyover count, plus funds to manage the program and measure the impacts of deer on natural areas.

MDARD

Michigan finds electronic thieves at the gas pump (The Detroit News)

Remember when $4-a-gallon fuel was the biggest worry drivers had at the gas pump? State officials are tackling a new problem that might put a bigger dent in their wallets: Skimming. Investigators have begun to find electronic machines inside gas pumps around Michigan that allow criminals to gather and store credit card information from unsuspecting drivers.

MDE

In teaching versus testing, teaching must win (Detroit Free Press)

In the continuing debate over teaching versus testing, new State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Brian Whiston, and the Michigan Department of Education recently came down firmly on the side of teaching.

Lansing superintendent declines request for enrollment update (Lansing State Journal)

Lansing School District Superintendent Yvonne Caamal Canul refused to release preliminary enrollment data to a member of the Board of Education during Thursday night's meeting.

MDOS

Michigan, HP in court over $40M program (WOOD)

The Business Application Modernization, or BAM, Program is a new computer system for the Michigan Secretary of State's Office. Tech company Hewlett-Packard was supposed to have it completed five years ago. But 10 years into the project, it's still only partially done and the state is saying that enough is enough.

MDOT

M-134 to become first Pure Michigan Byway (The Detroit News)

On Friday, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced that a section of M-134 running along Lake Huron between Detour Village and Town Center Road, on Drummond Island, has been selected for the new designation.

MSHDA

State Archaeology Day highlights Michigan projects (Midland Daily News)

A free, family-friendly event offers a close-up look at past and present archaeology in Michigan. Archaeologists will exhibit artifacts and talk about recent excavations in Michigan at the Michigan Historical Center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday in celebration of Archaeology Day 2015.

MSP

State police called in on case of the missing property tax payments in Vicksburg (MLive)

The Michigan State Police have been asked to investigate why several residents who paid their property taxes in September 2013 did not have those payments recorded by the village of Vicksburg.

Active shooter training part of security plans at Michigan universities and colleges (AP)

Some of Michigan's larger universities and community colleges say they have plans for police officers to deal with gunmen on their campuses and measures in place to keep students and staff safe. Nine schools surveyed by The Associated Press following the Oct. 1 killing of nine people at Umpqua Community College in Roseburg, Oregon, said campus police officers routinely train for such threats.

Police seized $24M in property through asset forfeiture (Fox 17)
Last year police agencies across the state seized roughly $23.9 million in property through Michigan's civil asset forfeiture law, according to the latest report released by Michigan State Police. The numbers, released through the 2015 Michigan State Police Asset Forfeiture Report, which detail seizures in 2014, are nearly identical to the ones released a year prior in which MSP reported $24.3 million in assets were seized in 2013.

Treasury
Treasury: 'We really goofed this up. We're fixing it.' (Lansing State Journal)
Michigan Treasury will need another 12 weeks to sort through 67,000 taxpayer accounts that may have been erroneously flagged as delinquent, department officials told a legislative oversight panel on Thursday.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan House looks at banning microbeads (Freep)
Since mid-2014, nine states have passed laws that will phase out the manufacture and sale of personal care products, like toothpaste and facial cleansers, that contain plastic microbeads. The microbeads have been found in enormous levels in lakes Erie, Huron and Superior at a rate of 43,000 per kilometer and are ending up in Great Lakes fish.

Veterans service dogs bill headed to Governor's desk (Hometown Life)
With unanimous approval from the Michigan House of Representatives and Michigan Senate, legislation authored by Sen. David Knezek, D-Dearborn Heights, to protect Michigan veterans who use service dogs is on its way to Governor Snyder's desk to be signed into law.

Major reforms afoot for juvenile offenders (Freep)
A bipartisan group of lawmakers in the state House of Representatives introduced a package of bills last week that makes major reforms to how juvenile offenders are treated.

DETROIT

Cushingberry wants changes to weed dispensary rules (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Councilman George Cushingberry Jr. wants to loosen certain aspects of proposed regulations for the city's medical marijuana dispensaries.

Ilitch recognized at Old Newsboys Goodfellow Fund event (The Detroit News)
The Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund of Detroit awarded Christopher Ilitch its Goodfellow of the Year award Friday at Cobo Center.

Improve Detroit App Fields Over 10,000 Complaints In 6 Months (AP)
A smartphone application that allows residents to report maintenance problems in Detroit has helped the city resolve more than 10,000 complaints in the past six months. The Improve Detroit app already has been downloaded more than 6

80 Detroit IRS jobs slated for relocation to Memphis could be saved (Mlive)
Mayor Mike Duggan and U.S. Sen. Gary Peters may have saved 80 Detroit-based IRS jobs. According to a statement issued by Peters' office Friday, IRS Commissioner John Koskinen is reconsidering plans to relocate the jobs from the Detroit printing and correspondence facility to Memphis after meeting with Duggan and Peters, D-Bloomfield Township.

Piles again rise along Detroit River — but not pet coke (Freep)
Those black piles that have recently appeared along the Detroit River are not a reprise of the petroleum coke controversy of two years ago. This time it's something different — coke breeze — a coal-based by-product that city officials say was initially stored without permission.

OPINION

Prison time, forfeiture and medical pot: Lansing is on a bipartisan roll (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature has been on a bipartisan binge lately, passing legislation that not everybody may like, but at least they have found a way to build consensus around three controversial issues.

Why you should vote yes on the $175M GRPS bond proposal (MLive)
Grand Rapids needs a public school system befitting the city's rising reputation. We must, as a community, support efforts to make our city's schools first-rate institutions of learning in any way we reasonably can.

Ken Braun: Soaking the rich doesn't need to be so difficult (MLive)
U.S. Sen. Bernie Sanders of Vermont, the self-avowed socialist running for the Democratic presidential nomination, believes there should be a 90 percent top federal income tax bracket. On the Republican side, regardless of the year, presidential candidates are always talking tax reform. There's an ironic similarity in these messages.

Battle is on for control of Michigan's marijuana market (Detroit Free Press)
Nearly eight years after Michigan voters overwhelmingly concluded that marijuana should be available to patients whose doctors prescribe it, state lawmakers are finally addressing some of the most egregious defects in Michigan's Medical Marihuana Act.

Was Schuette's $2-million lesson a bargain? (Detroit Free Press)
Bill Schuette went to the U.S. Supreme Court, and all Michigan taxpayers got was a bill for $2 million.

Accountability needed in Flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
I can't believe the level of incompetence in handling this by Gov. Rick Snyder and the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

How to get started on gun control (Detroit Free Press)
The explanations, suggestions and demands regarding gun violence are numerous but likely to lead nowhere. Instead, set up a study commission, be it presidential, congressional, or simply citizen-initiated.

Editorial: Detroit's blight progress (Detroit News)
Nearly 6,000 blighted structures in Detroit have been demolished since January 2014, and those demolitions have increased the value of surrounding homes, according to a recent report on the efforts.

Finley: Millennials should love GOP (Detroit News)
It's political gospel that young voters are more inclined to be liberal, and thus aligned with the Democratic Party. The hope for Republicans is that they wise up as they grow older, and that families, careers and perhaps business ownership turn them more conservative.

Michigan utilities want to end renewable energy mandate (Bridge)

Since Michigan's energy law was adopted in 2008, billions of dollars have been spent in the state's emerging renewable energy industry — building infrastructure, adding jobs and lowering costs.

Rochelle Riley: State must stop robbing Detroit schools (Freep)
To understand the Detroit Public Schools budget, you need a calculator, a ouija board and a Bible — because it takes math, magic and a little prayer. But one thing is clear: The State of Michigan has been robbing Detroit children for years.

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Monday, October 12, 2015 3:03 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - October 12, 2015

NEWS

State of Michigan under mounting scrutiny for Flint's water crisis

Crain's Detroit Business

LANSING — Gov. Rick Snyder and his administration face mounting scrutiny for Flint's drinking water crisis, which began when a state emergency ...

Flag as irrelevant

USA TODAY

MSU football: What we learned, what to watch

Detroit Free Press

Up next for the Spartans: Michigan. Matchup: No. 7 Michigan State (6-0, 2-0 Big Ten) at No. 12 Michigan (5-1, 2-0). When: 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Michigan vs. MSU betting line jumping in Vegas - Detroit Free Press

Michigan State at No. 7, Michigan at No. 12 in AP poll ahead of Saturday matchup - MLive.com

Rejuvenated Michigan senses pendulum swinging against Michigan State - Chicago Tribune

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Detroit Free Press

Recap: Jim Harbaugh discusses victory over Northwestern, looks ahead to Michigan State

MLive.com

Michigan head football coach Jim Harbaugh celebrates with his team after wider receiver Jehu Chesson returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown ...

Flag as irrelevant

MLive.com

Column: Straight talk for Michigan State fans; how things really are

MLive.com

Michigan State will need a dominating performance from its defensive line to upset Michigan at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday at Michigan Stadium.

Delayed plane ride puts MSU behind for UM preparation - Detroit Free Press

Michigan State's routine interrupted, Mark Dantonio goes into shell - MLive.com

Report: Michigan State faces unexpected challenge in return home - FOXSports.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

AP Top 25 Poll: Michigan State out of top four, Florida in top 10

Sports Illustrated

The AP Top 25 Poll after week six has been released. Utah has moved into the top four, while Michigan State has dropped to No. 7. Florida entered ...

Michigan, Florida continue to climb in Top 25 rankings - FOXSports.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Jim Harbaugh finds inspiration for Michigan State-Michigan preparation from 'Lion King'

FOXSports.com

Michigan football coach Jim Harbaugh furthered his reputation for producing quirky quotes Monday by citing the classic Disney movie "The Ling King" ...

Flag as irrelevant

B1G early look: Week 7 highlighted by huge showdown in state of Michigan

ESPN (blog)

The battle for the state of Michigan: Harbaugh's offseason of making waves has carried right into his first season on the sideline with the Wolverines, ...

Flag as irrelevant

Women's Soccer: Sebo goal at Michigan State snaps two-game skid for Wildcats

Daily Northwestern

No. 22 Northwestern (10-3-2, 4-2-1 Big Ten) downed Michigan State (6-3-4, 2-2-2) 1-0 in East Lansing on Sunday behind an early goal from senior ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State University researchers study space exercise

Washington Times

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) - It may be a while before humans visit Mars, but researchers at Michigan State University are already studying ways to ...

Flag as irrelevant

Flipping the Field: Separating the winners from the non-losers

ESPN

They'd also have some stiff competition from a crowded field: TCU, Ohio State, Michigan State, Utah, Florida State, Florida, LSU -- all of them, whether ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, October 13, 2015 10:00 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/13 Newsroom
Attachments: 151013 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 13, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Gov. Snyder on the big game: 'Go Blue!' (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder could go all "politician" and say he's rooting for both teams Saturday. But he didn't — well, for the most part. "As a proud Michigan alum, I say, 'Go Blue!'" Snyder said in an email to The News. "Though, I do say, 'Go Green' when the Spartans aren't playing the Wolverines."

Michigan governor weighs in on Spartans-Wolverines clash (Fox Sports)
Who will Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder be cheering on Saturday when the two big football powers in the state play each other at Michigan Stadium? He made it clear in an email to the Detroit News he will be sticking with his alma mater.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Detroit-area law enforcement join AG Bill Schuette to oppose parole reform (MLive)
Despite support in the state House of Representatives for a law that would increase paroles issued to low-risk Michigan inmates, many Detroit-area law enforcers, and state Attorney General Bill Schuette, are in opposition. Schuette, joined by officials from Macomb, Wayne, Oakland and Genesee counties, plans to elaborate on his stance during a press conference at 11 a.m. at the Pontiac Oakland County Sheriff's Department Headquarters Monday.

AG Bill Schuette rallies against parole reform, proposes more privatization (Mlive)
Attorney Bill Schuette joined Detroit-area law enforcers Monday to urge the state Senate not to pass a law that Schuette believes puts public safety at risk. He calls the law, which passed through the state House of Representatives 67-39 earlier this month and could come before the Senate this week, "cruise-control parole."

Medical marijuana case moving to trial (Times Herald)
The owners and some employees of Blue Water Compassion Center facilities in St. Clair, Sanilac and Tuscola counties will proceed to trial in January on charges ranging from conducting a criminal enterprise to conspiracy to deliver or manufacture marijuana. Debra, James, and Amanda Amsdill and Mark and Terra Sochacki did not take plea agreements offered to them by the state Attorney General's office, according to court records.

Establishment Republicans seem wary of Bill Schuette's bid for governor (Michigan Radio)
I asked them if Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette would be their next candidate for governor. To my surprise, almost none thought so. Their choice was Candice Miller. They saw her as a practical, down-to-earth, no-nonsense conservative who could get the job done. Nobody doubts that Schuette will go after the Republican nomination. He is one of the most nakedly ambitious politicians I've ever seen. He turns 62 this week, and has been running for office since first elected a precinct delegate when he was 18.

Where is the criminal investigation into Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat? (WXYZ)
They could be running from the law. Instead they're running to get their old jobs back. Remember the all night, historic session of the Michigan House to oust two State Reps? House Republicans finally got the needed two-thirds votes from Democrats when they were promised a full and complete criminal investigation against Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat.

DEQ
What happens to Flint kids poisoned with lead? (Detroit Free Press)
The water crisis in Flint is a national disgrace and an abject failure of leadership. In Michigan — a state surrounded by 80% of our nation's fresh water — communities have every right to believe that their drinking water is clean and safe. Instead, the citizens of one of our oldest urban centers have been poisoned by their tap water and officials in Lansing are responsible.

Flint: The Cheapskate City That Poisoned Its Children (Newsweek)
The city of Flint, Michigan, has just learned a hard and tragic lesson about the value of clean water. In the winter of 2014, after years of escalating prices for the water it was purchasing from the Detroit drinking water system, Flint decided to change its water source to the Flint River.

Public comment period on Detroit toxic waste facility comes to a close (Michigan Radio)
Today is the last day for the public to weigh in on plans to expand a toxic waste facility in an east Detroit neighborhood. US Ecology wants permission to expand its capacity to treat and store hazardous materials to 10 times what it handles now. That includes byproducts from oil and gas fracking.

Gibraltar receives $2 million grant for storm water and sewer infrastructure (News-Herald)
Officials from the city of Gibraltar found out in late September that they were awarded a $2 million grant by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality for maintenance of and improvements to the city's storm water and sewer management system. The city had to promise $350,000 in match funds in order to receive the grant. The grant process was competitive, with a total of 673 applications received and $541 million in application amounts total.

DNR
Michigan announces fishing regulation changes (Detroit Free Press)
Officials have approved a number of changes in Michigan fishing regulations, including rules affecting walleye and perch in Lake Huron's Saginaw Bay. The state Natural Resources Commission approved the revisions during its meeting last week in Cedarville.

MDARD
Two more credit card skimmers found in SW Michigan (Fox 17)
State of Michigan inspectors have found two more credit card skimmers on West Michigan gas pumps. One of the skimmers, devices plugged in to the credit card readers that record the card data for scammers to use, was found at the Marathon station near the Kalamazoo airport on Portage Road in Portage. The second was found at another Marathon station off M-51 in Paw Paw.

Drivers beware: Workers find 2 more gas pump skimmers (Wood TV)
State workers say they've discovered two more credit card skimmers attached to West Michigan gas pumps. Officials with the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development's Weights and Measures Division tell 24 Hour News 8 they were acting on a consumer complaint when they found a skimmer at a gas station near the Kalamazoo airport. The device, which steals credit card information, was located at the Marathon station at 5316 Portage Road in Portage.

Is it legal to cut deer in my garage for others? (Michigan State Extension)
The need for a permit or license depends on what processing activities are being done and what will be done with the meat. If the processor is cleaning and cutting deer for the hunters own use, then no license is required. This scenario is considered "Custom Exempt" meat processing and meat does not enter into commerce. Each package should be marked "Not for Sale". It is also suggested to mark the type of wild game on each package, such as "venison".

MDOC
Police Oppose Bill that Would Put Parole on 'Autopilot' (Royal Oak Patch)

Law enforcement representatives from four metro counties and Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette said at a news conference Monday that proposed legislation that would grant parole to inmates in the state's prison sentence after serving their minimum sentences creates a threat to public safety.

MDOT

Michigan aboard effort to bring traffic deaths to zero (C & G Newspapers)
Since 2012, the state of Michigan has committed to the campaign known as Toward Zero Deaths. The campaign, which goes by #TowardZeroDeaths on Twitter, aspires to one day prevent traffic fatalities altogether. Mark Bott from the Michigan Department of Transportation said Michigan has adopted a Strategic Highway Safety Plan for 2013-2016 that contains a vision of "Toward Zero Deaths on Michigan Roadways."

MSP

Report: Nearly $24 million in suspected drug assets seized (AP)
Law enforcement agencies across Michigan reported seizing nearly $24 million in assets last year from people suspected of dealing drugs.
But the actual amount may be higher, because 56 of 686 agencies contacted failed to respond to the Michigan State Police Asset Forfeiture Report requests, according to The Detroit News.

New Michigan State Police Motor Carrier Officer recruit school begins (WHTC)
The Michigan State Police's 20th Motor Carrier Officer Recruit School began for 21 hopefuls in Lansing. For the next 20 weeks, those who wish to enforce state laws involving trucks and commercial surface transportation will receive instruction in firearms, water safety, defensive tactics, patrol techniques, report writing, ethics, first aid, criminal law, precision driver, commercial vehicle law and vehicle inspection techniques.

Treasury

8 facts about property assessments and tax rates in Michigan (Mlive)
The average property-tax rate in Michigan is at its highest point since the passage of Proposal A in 1994, according to data collected by the Michigan Department of Treasury. But property tax revenue has fallen in recent years as a result of the lingering impact of the Great Recession, which has brought down property values and tax bills since 2008, that data shows.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Midland Business Executives Say Energy Costs Are A Key Factor In Competitiveness In Global Economy (WSGW)
State Representative Gary Glenn has introduced legislation to require competitive bidding instead of letting the state's two major utilities, Consumers Energy and DTE Energy maintain a monopoly on supplying power to customers.

Ousted Rep. Cindy Gamrat, 6 others set for candidates forum (MLive)
A full house is expected to hear former Michigan Rep. Cindy Gamrat and six other candidates for 80th District representative at the Allegan County Republican Party's candidates forum Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Fennville High School. Ousted lawmaker Gamrat is campaigning to regain her seat in the state Legislature by becoming the Republican Party nominee after a sex-and-coverup scandal that attracted national headlines.

Concealed guns in schools? Bill gets hearing this week (MLive)
A bill that would trade open carry weapons for concealed weapons in areas like schools and day care centers is up for a hearing in the Senate Judiciary Committee this week. Right now in Michigan, concealed pistol license holders can openly carry weapons in areas that are off-limits to concealed weapons, like schools, day care centers, sports arenas and bars.

Lawmakers, parents seek 'Wyatt's Law' to protect kids (The Detroit News)
State officials hope to pass legislation creating a "Wyatt's Law" child abuse registry listing individuals with previous convictions for crimes against children. The legislation, which officials Friday called the first of its kind in the country, was prompted by the efforts of St. Clair Shores resident Erica Hammel.

Parole reform legislation spurs debate (WOOD)

A new bill that recently passed the Michigan House of Representatives is designed to ensure more inmates are paroled after serving their minimum sentence. But not everyone supports the legislation, including the state's attorney general. Supporters say that the so-called presumptive parole bill would eventually save the state tens of millions of dollars.

DETROIT

Detroiters, advocates pack medical marijuana hearing (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit City Council is considering a proposal that includes a way to license the city's approximately 150 medical marijuana shops. The proposal also has zoning restrictions on how close they can operate near schools, churches and other dispensaries.

Duggan forms new office on international affairs (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan's office is launching an international affairs division aimed at attracting foreign investment, expanding export opportunities for Detroit companies and prepare the city to become home to refugees from Syria and other countries.

Detroit loses fire chief, gains immigration ally (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan gained a new administrator and lost one Monday as he announced a new director of immigrant affairs while the city's fire chief announced his retirement from the force. Executive Fire Commissioner Edsel Jenkins, appointed to the job by Duggan in April 2014, had been a city firefighter for nearly 30 years.

10 Detroit businesses will get $500,000 in grants through match program (MLive)
Officials plan to announce the winners of 10 grants totaling $500,000 Tuesday in the first round of a competitive program that matches expanding businesses with vacant real estate. Dozens more businesses will be awarded technical assistance in the Motor City Match program, which is funded through the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation.

OPINION

What happens to Flint kids poisoned with lead? (Detroit Free Press)
"Just take little sips." That's what some parents in Flint are telling their kids. The water crisis in Flint is a national disgrace and an abject failure of leadership. In Michigan — a state surrounded by 80% of our nation's fresh water — communities have every right to believe that their drinking water is clean and safe. Instead, the citizens of one of our oldest urban centers have been poisoned by their tap water and officials in Lansing are responsible.

Michigan has no real solution to gun violence (Detroit Free Press)
A slew of Democratic state representatives have introduced a bill that would give schools and other public institutions the ability to ban firearms on their premises; current law allows only individuals, private institutions and public universities to decide who can bring guns onto their premises.

Prison time, forfeiture and medical pot: Lansing is on a bipartisan roll (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Legislature has been on a bipartisan binge lately, passing legislation that not everybody may like, but at least they have found a way to build consensus around three controversial issues. First, there was a strong bipartisan House vote to revamp the way the state keeps crooks behind bars, with an eye toward letting some of them out of the slammer after they have served their minimum sentence.

Our view: Time for an independent redistricting commission? (Midland Daily)
A recent League of Women Voters town hall titled "Redistricting in Michigan: Should Politicians Choose their Voters" drew a fairly big crowd of about 60 people. Evidently, there is some interest in the issue of how lawmakers often gerrymander districts so that their party — whether Democrats and Republicans — benefit.

Rick Haglund: Finding funds for road repair not an easy fix (MLive)
The Michigan state government has budgeted to spend $53.6 billion in the fiscal year that started Oct. 1. Surely lawmakers can scrape up the $1.2 billion Gov. Rick Snyder says Michigan needs annually to fix its deplorable roads, right? That's what some in the Republican-controlled Legislature maintain as it refuses to vote for raising transportation taxes.

Our Editorial: Detroit's blight progress (The Detroit News)

Nearly 6,000 blighted structures in Detroit have been demolished since January 2014, and those demolitions have increased the value of surrounding homes, according to a recent report on the efforts. Other measures to improve quality of life and value of property in the city — code enforcement, sales of public side lots, even the installation of new street lights — have also helped pushed home values higher.

Improvements in college counseling are underway (The Detroit News)
High school seniors who are starting the college application process may be feeling stressed about their futures right now, and according to a recent poll, they aren't alone. The Center for Michigan has just released the results of a yearlong survey of Michigan residents that found 2 out of 3 participants rated college and career counseling as either "lousy" or "terrible."

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 13, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Gov. Snyder on the big game: 'Go Blue!' (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder could go all "politician" and say he's rooting for both teams Saturday. But he didn't — well, for the most part. "As a proud Michigan alum, I say, 'Go Blue!'" Snyder said in an email to The News. "Though, I do say, 'Go Green' when the Spartans aren't playing the Wolverines."

Michigan governor weighs in on Spartans-Wolverines clash (Fox Sports)
Who will Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder be cheering on Saturday when the two big football powers in the state play each other at Michigan Stadium? He made it clear in an email to the Detroit News he will be sticking with his alma mater.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Detroit-area law enforcement join AG Bill Schuette to oppose parole reform (MLive)
Despite support in the state House of Representatives for a law that would increase paroles issued to low-risk Michigan inmates, many Detroit-area law enforcers, and state Attorney General Bill Schuette, are in opposition. Schuette, joined by officials from Macomb, Wayne, Oakland and Genesee counties, plans to elaborate on his stance during a press conference at 11 a.m. at the Pontiac Oakland County Sheriff's Department Headquarters Monday.

AG Bill Schuette rallies against parole reform, proposes more privatization (Mlive)
Attorney Bill Schuette joined Detroit-area law enforcers Monday to urge the state Senate not to pass a law that Schuette believes puts public safety at risk. He calls the law, which passed through the state House of Representatives 67-39 earlier this month and could come before the Senate this week, "cruise-control parole."

Medical marijuana case moving to trial (Times Herald)
The owners and some employees of Blue Water Compassion Center facilities in St. Clair, Sanilac and Tuscola counties will proceed to trial in January on charges ranging from conducting a criminal enterprise to conspiracy to deliver or manufacture marijuana. Debra, James, and Amanda Amsdill and Mark and Terra Sochacki did not take plea agreements offered to them by the state Attorney General's office, according to court records.

Establishment Republicans seem wary of Bill Schuette's bid for governor (Michigan Radio)
I asked them if Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette would be their next candidate for governor. To my surprise, almost none thought so. Their choice was Candice Miller. They saw her as a practical, down-to-earth, no-nonsense conservative who could get the job done. Nobody doubts that Schuette will go after the Republican nomination. He is one of the most nakedly ambitious politicians I've ever seen.

He turns 62 this week, and has been running for office since first elected a precinct delegate when he was 18.

Where is the criminal investigation into Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat? (WXYZ)
They could be running from the law. Instead they're running to get their old jobs back. Remember the all night, historic session of the Michigan House to oust two State Reps? House Republicans finally got the needed two-thirds votes from Democrats when they were promised a full and complete criminal investigation against Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat.

DEQ
What happens to Flint kids poisoned with lead? (Detroit Free Press)
The water crisis in Flint is a national disgrace and an abject failure of leadership. In Michigan — a state surrounded by 80% of our nation's fresh water — communities have every right to believe that their drinking water is clean and safe. Instead, the citizens of one of our oldest urban centers have been poisoned by their tap water and officials in Lansing are responsible.

Flint: The Cheapskate City That Poisoned Its Children (Newsweek)
The city of Flint, Michigan, has just learned a hard and tragic lesson about the value of clean water. In the winter of 2014, after years of escalating prices for the water it was purchasing from the Detroit drinking water system, Flint decided to change its water source to the Flint River.

Public comment period on Detroit toxic waste facility comes to a close (Michigan Radio)
Today is the last day for the public to weigh in on plans to expand a toxic waste facility in an east Detroit neighborhood. US Ecology wants permission to expand its capacity to treat and store hazardous materials to 10 times what it handles now. That includes byproducts from oil and gas fracking.

Gibraltar receives $2 million grant for storm water and sewer infrastructure (News-Herald)
Officials from the city of Gibraltar found out in late September that they were awarded a $2 million grant by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality for maintenance of and improvements to the city's storm water and sewer management system. The city had to promise $350,000 in match funds in order to receive the grant. The grant process was competitive, with a total of 673 applications received and $541 million in application amounts total.

DNR
Michigan announces fishing regulation changes (Detroit Free Press)
Officials have approved a number of changes in Michigan fishing regulations, including rules affecting walleye and perch in Lake Huron's Saginaw Bay. The state Natural Resources Commission approved the revisions during its meeting last week in Cedarville.

MDARD
Two more credit card skimmers found in SW Michigan (Fox 17)
State of Michigan inspectors have found two more credit card skimmers on West Michigan gas pumps. One of the skimmers, devices plugged in to the credit card readers that record the card data for scammers to use, was found at the Marathon station near the Kalamazoo airport on Portage Road in Portage. The second was found at another Marathon station off M-51 in Paw Paw.

Drivers beware: Workers find 2 more gas pump skimmers (Wood TV)
State workers say they've discovered two more credit card skimmers attached to West Michigan gas pumps. Officials with the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development's Weights and Measures Division tell 24 Hour News 8 they were acting on a consumer complaint when they found a skimmer at a gas station near the Kalamazoo airport. The device, which steals credit card information, was located at the Marathon station at 5316 Portage Road in Portage.

Is it legal to cut deer in my garage for others? (Michigan State Extension)
The need for a permit or license depends on what processing activities are being done and what will be done with the meat. If the processor is cleaning and cutting deer for the hunters own use, then no license is required. This scenario is considered "Custom Exempt" meat processing and meat does not enter into commerce. Each package should be marked "Not for Sale". It is also suggested to mark the type of wild game on each package, such as "venison".

MDOC
Police Oppose Bill that Would Put Parole on 'Autopilot' (Royal Oak Patch)
Law enforcement representatives from four metro counties and Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette said at a news conference Monday that proposed legislation that would grant parole to inmates in the state's prison sentence after serving their minimum sentences creates a threat to public safety.

MDOT
Michigan aboard effort to bring traffic deaths to zero (C & G Newspapers)
Since 2012, the state of Michigan has committed to the campaign known as Toward Zero Deaths. The campaign, which goes by #TowardZeroDeaths on Twitter, aspires to one day prevent traffic fatalities altogether. Mark Bott from the Michigan Department of Transportation said Michigan has adopted a Strategic Highway Safety Plan for 2013-2016 that contains a vision of "Toward Zero Deaths on Michigan Roadways."

MSP
Report: Nearly $24 million in suspected drug assets seized (AP)
Law enforcement agencies across Michigan reported seizing nearly $24 million in assets last year from people suspected of dealing drugs.
But the actual amount may be higher, because 56 of 686 agencies contacted failed to respond to the Michigan State Police Asset Forfeiture Report requests, according to The Detroit News.

New Michigan State Police Motor Carrier Officer recruit school begins (WHTC)
The Michigan State Police's 20th Motor Carrier Officer Recruit School began for 21 hopefuls in Lansing. For the next 20 weeks, those who wish to enforce state laws involving trucks and commercial surface transportation will receive instruction in firearms, water safety, defensive tactics, patrol techniques, report writing, ethics, first aid, criminal law, precision driver, commercial vehicle law and vehicle inspection techniques.

Treasury
8 facts about property assessments and tax rates in Michigan (Mlive)
The average property-tax rate in Michigan is at its highest point since the passage of Proposal A in 1994, according to data collected by the Michigan Department of Treasury. But property tax revenue has fallen in recent years as a result of the lingering impact of the Great Recession, which has brought down property values and tax bills since 2008, that data shows.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Midland Business Executives Say Energy Costs Are A Key Factor In Competitiveness In Global Economy (WSGW)

State Representative Gary Glenn has introduced legislation to require competitive bidding instead of letting the state's two major utilities, Consumers Energy and DTE Energy maintain a monopoly on supplying power to customers.

Ousted Rep. Cindy Gamrat, 6 others set for candidates forum (MLive)
A full house is expected to hear former Michigan Rep. Cindy Gamrat and six other candidates for 80th District representative at the Allegan County Republican Party's candidates forum Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Fennville High School. Ousted lawmaker Gamrat is campaigning to regain her seat in the state Legislature by becoming the Republican Party nominee after a sex-and-coverup scandal that attracted national headlines.

Concealed guns in schools? Bill gets hearing this week (MLive)
A bill that would trade open carry weapons for concealed weapons in areas like schools and day care centers is up for a hearing in the Senate Judiciary Committee this week. Right now in Michigan, concealed pistol license holders can openly carry weapons in areas that are off-limits to concealed weapons, like schools, day care centers, sports arenas and bars.

Lawmakers, parents seek 'Wyatt's Law' to protect kids (The Detroit News)
State officials hope to pass legislation creating a "Wyatt's Law" child abuse registry listing individuals with previous convictions for crimes against children. The legislation, which officials Friday called the first of its kind in the country, was prompted by the efforts of St. Clair Shores resident Erica Hammel.

Parole reform legislation spurs debate (WOOD)
A new bill that recently passed the Michigan House of Representatives is designed to ensure more inmates are paroled after serving their minimum sentence. But not everyone supports the legislation, including the state's attorney general. Supporters say that the so-called presumptive parole bill would eventually save the state tens of millions of dollars.

DETROIT

Detroiters, advocates pack medical marijuana hearing (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit City Council is considering a proposal that includes a way to license the city's approximately 150 medical marijuana shops. The proposal also has zoning restrictions on how close they can operate near schools, churches and other dispensaries.

Duggan forms new office on international affairs (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan's office is launching an international affairs division aimed at attracting foreign investment, expanding export opportunities for Detroit companies and prepare the city to become home to refugees from Syria and other countries.

Detroit loses fire chief, gains immigration ally (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan gained a new administrator and lost one Monday as he announced a new director of immigrant affairs while the city's fire chief announced his retirement from the force. Executive Fire Commissioner Edsel Jenkins, appointed to the job by Duggan in April 2014, had been a city firefighter for nearly 30 years.

10 Detroit businesses will get $500,000 in grants through match program (MLive)
Officials plan to announce the winners of 10 grants totaling $500,000 Tuesday in the first round of a competitive program that matches expanding businesses with vacant real estate. Dozens more businesses will be awarded technical assistance in the Motor City Match program, which is funded through the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation.

OPINION

What happens to Flint kids poisoned with lead? (Detroit Free Press)
"Just take little sips." That's what some parents in Flint are telling their kids. The water crisis in Flint is a national disgrace and an abject failure of leadership. In Michigan — a state surrounded by 80% of our nation's fresh water — communities have every right to believe that their drinking water is clean and safe. Instead, the citizens of one of our oldest urban centers have been poisoned by their tap water and officials in Lansing are responsible.

Michigan has no real solution to gun violence (Detroit Free Press)
A slew of Democratic state representatives have introduced a bill that would give schools and other public institutions the ability to ban firearms on their premises; current law allows only individuals, private institutions and public universities to decide who can bring guns onto their premises.

Prison time, forfeiture and medical pot: Lansing is on a bipartisan roll (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Legislature has been on a bipartisan binge lately, passing legislation that not everybody may like, but at least they have found a way to build consensus around three controversial issues. First, there was a strong bipartisan House vote to revamp the way the state keeps crooks behind bars, with an eye toward letting some of them out of the slammer after they have served their minimum sentence.

Our view: Time for an independent redistricting commission? (Midland Daily)
A recent League of Women Voters town hall titled "Redistricting in Michigan: Should Politicians Choose their Voters" drew a fairly big crowd of about 60 people. Evidently, there is some interest in the issue of how lawmakers often gerrymander districts so that their party — whether Democrats and Republicans — benefit.

Rick Haglund: Finding funds for road repair not an easy fix (MLive)
The Michigan state government has budgeted to spend $53.6 billion in the fiscal year that started Oct. 1. Surely lawmakers can scrape up the $1.2 billion Gov. Rick Snyder says Michigan needs annually to fix its deplorable roads, right? That's what some in the Republican-controlled Legislature maintain as it refuses to vote for raising transportation taxes.

Our Editorial: Detroit's blight progress (The Detroit News)
Nearly 6,000 blighted structures in Detroit have been demolished since January 2014, and those demolitions have increased the value of surrounding homes, according to a recent report on the efforts. Other measures to improve quality of life and value of property in the city — code enforcement, sales of public side lots, even the installation of new street lights — have also helped pushed home values higher.

Improvements in college counseling are underway (The Detroit News)
High school seniors who are starting the college application process may be feeling stressed about their futures right now, and according to a recent poll, they aren't alone. The Center for Michigan has just released the results of a yearlong survey of Michigan residents that found 2 out of 3 participants rated college and career counseling as either "lousy" or "terrible."

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, October 14, 2015 10:14 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/14 Newsroom
Attachments: 151014 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 14, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Road funding talks break down over income tax cut (Freep)
Negotiations over a long-sought road funding plan were close to an agreement Tuesday but reached an impasse when Democratic leaders balked at an across-the-board income tax cut proposed by Republican legislative leaders and agreed to in principle by Gov. Rick Snyder, officials said.

Snyder: Road fund talks hit dead end (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declared an impasse Tuesday on how to raise an additional $1.2 billion annually to improve Michigan roads despite months of talks. Republican House Speaker Kevin Cotter of Mount Pleasant said a key sticking point in negotiations was offsetting hikes in the 19-cents-a-gallon state gasoline tax and vehicle registration fees with a broader tax cut.

The latest obstacle in the fight to fix Michigan's roads (Fox 2 Detroit)
The fight to fix Michigan's crumbling highways stalls in Lansing - but is it another speedbump or a major roadblock. Just when it looked like Gov. Rick Snyder and four legislative leaders were inching their way toward a road fix deal, the "i" word came up - impasse.

Snyder: Road funding negotiations have reached 'an impasse' in Michigan Legislature (Mlive)
Long-running talks over a long-term plan to fix Michigan's crumbling roads have hit another speed bump in Lansing, where Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders have been unable to reach agreement on a funding plan. Negotiations reached "an impasse" on Tuesday, Snyder and House Speaker Kevin Cotter told reporters after emerging from a closed-door "quadrant" meeting that featured leaders from both sides of the aisle.

Michigan Gov. Snyder: $1.2 billion road-funding talks are at an impasse (AP)
Months of talks over a $1.2 billion plan to improve Michigan roads plan broke down Tuesday, with Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declaring an impasse.

State road funding plan stalled for now (WLNS)
Michigan roads continue to crumble and lawmakers at the Capitol can't seem to make a decision on how to fix them. It looks like we'll be driving on bumpy roads for a while longer; Governor Rick Snyder said talks with lawmakers over a $1.2 billion road-funding plan are stalled. The discussions broke down during a private meeting earlier today, and while Governor Snyder didn't elaborate on why lawmakers are in a deadlock, Republican House Speaker Kevin Cotter said the biggest issue here is tax relief.

Gov. Snyder: Talks over $1.2 billion road-funding plan are at an impasse in Capitol (WDIV)
Months of talks over a $1.2 billion plan to improve Michigan roads plan broke down Tuesday, with Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declaring an impasse. Republican House Speaker Kevin Cotter said a key sticking point in negotiations was linking a road proposal to a broader tax cut.

Income tax debate at heart of latest Michigan road funding stalemate (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders have reached "an impasse" in long-running road funding talks, but this time around, they aren't arguing over the size of potential tax increases. Instead, Republicans and Democrats are butting heads over a form of tax relief they could pair with any potential bump in fuel taxes or fees.

Snyder: $1.2 billion road-funding talks are at an impasse (WXYZ)
Months of talks over a $1.2 billion plan to improve Michigan roads plan broke down Tuesday, with Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declaring an impasse.

Bill signing
Gov. Snyder signs bill allowing municipalities to maintain electronic property tax rolls (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed legislation that will allow local governments to maintain electronic property tax rolls instead of requiring them to routinely print lengthy paper copies.

Three Bills Signed into Law by Governor Snyder (WHTC)
Three bills were signed into law by Governor Snyder, bringing the total number since the start of the year to 142. Local governments can now use a computerized tax system without the authorization of the Michigan Tax Commission, which will likely results in savings from not printing tax rolls.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley set to recognize disability advocates (WLNS)
You're probably aware by now that October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. What you may not know is that Governor Rick Snyder has also declared it to be Investing in Abilities Month.

County considers spending more to fight drugs, suicide (Huron Daily Tribune)
Huron Behavioral Health is asking the county for $40,000 to help prevent rising drug overdoses and suicides. On Tuesday, county commissioners seemed to welcome the extra spending. Board Chair John Nugent, who also is on the HBH board of directors, asked if HBH should meet with the county's finance committee to allocate the extra sum — on top of the $193,250 it gets each year from county coffers.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Prevent accidental death in infants by sharing a room, not a bed (Coldwater Daily Reporter)
"I'm sure all mothers can agree, it is difficult to imagine the loss of a child, especially a loss that is 100 percent preventable," Sue Snyder, First lady of Michigan said. "It's critical we continue working to reverse the negative trend of unsafe sleep deaths in our state. Together, we can help ensure all caregivers are aware of the proper sleeping environment for baby. It is my hope we reach a day no family has to experience the grief that accompanies the preventable loss of an infant."

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Snyder makes appointments to Michigan Soybean Promotion Committee (County Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Friday announced the appointments of Peter Crawford, of Dansville, and Michael Sahr, of Saginaw, and the reappointment of Dennis Gardner, of Saginaw, to the Michigan Soybean Promotion Committee.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
See something wrong? Tell someone with OK2SAY (Ferris State University)
Tatum and about 950 other students recently got a crash course in the state-run program, which aims to break the silence around bullying and threats of violence in schools. North Middle was the first of all 13 Rockford Public Schools to receive awareness sessions for OK2SAY, letting students know they can report misbehavior without fear of retaliation.

DHHS
Doctors who dismember a fetus during abortion could get prison time under bills (MLive)
A second-trimester abortion procedure that involves dismembering fetuses would be banned in Michigan under bills up in the House Criminal Justice Committee Tuesday morning.

Prevent accidental death in infants by sharing a room, not a bed (Daily Reporter)
Out of 133 infant deaths in Michigan reviewed in 2011 by Michigan Community Based Child Death Review Teams, 47 percent occurred after the infant was placed in an adult bed.

Breast Cancer: What you need to know if you have a family history (WLNS) t's breast cancer awareness month. According to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services 1 in 9 women in the state have a family history of breast cancer

DEQ
Where are the records? Lawmaker wants answers on Flint water switch (Michigan Radio)
A state lawmaker is heading to court to force the city of Flint and a state agency to release documents related to the decision to make the Flint River the city's drinking water source.

Michigan to launch lead education effort statewide (Detroit Free Press)
The state — in the wake of the Flint water crisis — is launching an education campaign soon to help schools statewide learn how to get their water tested to determine whether it contains dangerously high levels of lead.

MDEQ Director: Flint water crisis has shaken faith in government (Michigan Radio)
State and local officials have done an about-face when it comes to Flint's water crisis.

MVAA
New collaboration brings resources to veterans in Northern Michigan (MI News 26)
Veterans in Northern Michigan will now have easier access to comprehensive health, employment, and education opportunities thanks to a collaboration that brings together local, state, and federal resources.

National program aimed at helping vets coming to West Michigan (WWMT-TV)
A national program is expanding into West Michigan, to help those who need it most. It's called VCAT (Veterans Community Action Team), and the program will serve 55,000 veterans and their families in several West Michigan counties.

DOC
MDOC is looking to hire 200 corrections officers in 2016 (Upper Michigan's Source)
One way to recruit potential correctional facility employees is to target the student population.

Job fair gives metro Detroiters returning from prison a second chance (WDIV)
Barbara L. McQuade said it's her office's job to reduce and prevent crime. McQuade said one way of preventing crime is giving former prisoners a job.

Presumptive parole isn't safe for Michigan (Detroit News)
Public safety is the first responsibility of government. Unfortunately, legislation now being debated by the Michigan legislature could put the public's safety at risk. Last week, the House passed legislation that dramatically changes our criminal justice system, and now the Senate is considering this package of bills. We strongly oppose these bills, because they will allow the release of violent offenders back onto our streets.

MDE
Count day helps state with funding (Livingston Daily)
School districts across Livingston County asked students to stand up and be counted this week for Michigan's official County Day.

Education chief unveils teacher evaluation system ahead of possible state House vote (Michigan Radio)
Michigan education officials are moving ahead with plans to improve teacher evaluations statewide.

State's new e-textbooks get harsh words from critics (Michigan Radio)
The first set of online textbooks released under Michigan's Open Book Project is drawing criticism from some educators and experts.

MEDC
New range of employment services available at Pontiac's OLSHA (Oakland Press)
Unemployed people who have a tough time finding transportation, child care or even job uniforms can find help through a new service being offered at OLHSA, the Pontiac-based Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency.

Crystal mountain begins work on an $11 million expansion (Examiner)
Construction is now underway on an $11 million expansion at Crystal Mountain that will add eight new downhill trails, a triple chairlift and transform the village center with a 31,200 square-foot, LEED-certified expansion and surrounding plaza to the Inn at the Mountain.

MDOT
Public weighs in on upcoming I-275 construction project in Wayne and Oakland counties (WXYZ)
After seeking input from the public on an upcoming freeway project, the Michigan Department of Transportation has decided to shut down one direction of I-275 at a time.

Michigan Department of Transportation chooses plan for $80 million I-275 project (Macomb Daily)
After evaluating nearly 3,800 survey responses, the Michigan Department of Transportation has decided how to proceed with a $70-$80 million construction project which will affect many Oakland County motorists next year.

Department of Transportation unveiling Pure Michigan Byway (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is getting ready to unveil its first new Pure Michigan Byway.

Income tax debate at heart of latest Michigan road funding stalemate (MLive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders have reached "an impasse" in long-running road funding talks, but this time around, they aren't arguing over the size of potential tax increases.

MSP
SW Michigan leads state in meth lab seizures (FOX 17)
A new report from the State Police shows just how bad the problem of meth is in Michigan.

No need for more speed on Michigan highways (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Many people like to drive fast, but the government's job is to keep motorists safe. Raising speed limits, even on rural highways, is no way to do that, and we hope the Legislature backs away from the idea.

SUPREME COURT
Michigan Supreme Court opens term with new justice, 11 cases (Crains)
The Michigan Supreme Court opened a new term this week with a new member and arguments in 11 cases.

Michigan Supreme Court to hear FOIA auto insurance case (WMUK)
The state Supreme Court will hear arguments on its opening day about whether Michigan's Freedom of Information Act applies to a fund that was created by the Legislature, but operated by auto insurance companies.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan House OKs powdered alcohol ban bill, headed to governor soon (Reuters)
Michigan would become the 27th state to ban the sale of powdered alcohol under a bill approved by state lawmakers on Tuesday that is one step from being sent to Governor Rick Snyder for his signature. The Michigan House of Representatives voted 102-3 on Tuesday to ban the sale, distribution or possession of powdered alcohol, advancing a bill the state Senate unanimously approved in May.

Crowd of 80th District candidates take GOP questions (Holland Sentinel)
A gaggle of candidates took the Fennville High School stage Tuesday night, Oct. 13, each one hoping to show voters why he or she would be the best person to take over the 80th Michigan House District seat.

Michigan Senate panel OKs concealed weapons in schools (Detroit Free Press)
Over strong objections from educators, a Senate panel approved legislation Tuesday to allow concealed weapons in schools and other places that are now off-limits for hidden weapons. The Senate Judiciary Committee, in 4-1 votes, approved Senate Bills 442 and 561.

Senate panel OKs concealed guns in 'gun-free' zones (AP)
Individuals with special permits would be allowed to bring concealed firearms inside schools and other "gun-free" areas under legislation advanced Tuesday by a Senate committee.

"Presumptive parole" bill would help Michigan reduce its prison population (Michigan Radio)
Earlier this month, the Michigan House of Representatives passed a bill designed to save the state money and allow some people to salvage their lives by making it easier for prisoners who are no longer a threat to society to get out of prison on parole.

Meth lab map shows why Michigan lawmakers are continuing crackdown (MLive)
Michigan lawmakers are continuing to fight the production of methamphetamine, which has proliferated in recent years despite increasing regulations and police attention. The Senate on Tuesday approved legislation designed to make it harder for meth cooks to obtain common ingredients and discourage them from making meth near schools. The House Criminal Justice Committee also advanced related bills.

DETROIT

New $93M Wayne State center to study health disparities (The Detroit News)
Wayne State University on Wednesday is unveiling a center aimed at eliminating health disparities that affect Detroit residents, such as diabetes, obesity and hypertension. The $93 million facility — the Integrative Biosciences Center, or IBo — is the university's largest construction project. It will be home to faculty experts in environmental science, heart disease, diabetes, asthma and more.

Duggan defends city's demolition progress, costs (The Detroit News)

Mayor Mike Duggan on Tuesday defended the city's demolition efforts in the wake of a scathing news report centered on the bid process, costs and true progress of the program. The mayor made the morning presentation to Detroit's City Council amid a call from the panel for an audit of the Detroit Building Authority and land bank's demolition activities.

Detroit Water Dept. layoffs prompt pollution concerns (Detroit Free Press)
The department laid off about 100 people last week, including about 20 chemists who test the water for pollution standards and dozens of others who work in the Wastewater Treatment Plant on the Detroit River. The department was released from federal oversight in 2013 after being monitored for more than 30 years because of violations of the Clean Water Act.

Detroit council passes rules for marijuana shops (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit City Council today approved the first regulations for the city's booming medical marijuana industry. About 150 medical marijuana shops are operating in Detroit. Until now, city officials had no way to track the shops or control who operated them, stoking concerns among many residents about the potential for violence and other nefarious activity near the shops.

Detroit land bank executive director out; interim named (Detroit Free Press)
Kevin Simowski, who served as executive director of the Detroit Land Bank Authority for less than a year, has severed ties with the authority, a spokesman confirmed today. Land bank spokesman Craig Fahle said Simowski is "no longer with the land bank." Fahle would not elaborate, although he did say the departure was "totally unrelated" to concerns about rising costs of home demolitions that Mayor Mike Duggan addressed before the city council this morning.

OPINION

For GOP, bloodying unions comes before fixing roads (Detroit Free Press)
The morning after last May's special election, state lawmakers in both parties agreed on one thing: No one should mistake the defeat of the fatally convoluted Proposal 1 as a sign that voters were satisfied with the dismal state of Michigan's roads and bridges.

Democratic debate: The grown-ups take the state? (Detroit Free Press)
It's tough to resist the characterization of Tuesday night's first=t Democratic presidential debate as the moment the grown-ups enter the room. But that's the fault of the crowded and often comical GOP road show, so far dominated by Donald Trump and Ben Carson, and the inability of more qualified and serious candidates like Jeb Bush and Marco Rubio to gain traction, or cut through the maudlin, ahistorical and extreme rhetoric.

Ken Braun: Fixing the federal debt needs to start at Michigan's Capitol (Detroit News)
During the 130 seconds you may spend reading these words, the federal debt will increase by $1.7 million. It's currently at $18.4 trillion, and the U.S government now owes more than the nation's annual gross domestic product.

Schuette rounds up sheriffs, prosecutors to block 'autopilot paroie' (MLive)
To say that Bill Schuette is not competitive is like saying the Lions are going to win the Super Bowl — neither is true.

Column: Presumptive parole isn't safe for Michigan (Detroit News)
Public safety is the first responsibility of government. Unfortunately, legislation now being debated by the Michigan legislature could put the public's safety at risk. Last week, the House passed legislation that dramatically changes our criminal justice system, and now the Senate is considering this package of bills. We strongly oppose these bills, because they will allow the release of violent offenders back onto our streets.

Editorial: Detroit community policing cutting murders (Detroit News)
It's a dubious distinction, but Detroit is no longer the murder capital of the nation. St. Louis has that title. FBI crime statistics show Detroit had 298 homicides in 2014, down from 316 in 2013. The city's rate of 44 murders per 100,000 people was lower than St. Louis' rate of 50. That city, with a population of 318,000, had 159 murders last year.

Yanez: Prevailing wage good for Michigan (Detroit News)
There is a great deal of pressure in our state Legislature to repeal Michigan's prevailing wage law. My fellow legislators must not cave under the pressure. The reality is that repealing Michigan's prevailing wage law would harm not just those in the skilled trades, but all Michiganders.

Greimel: Dem tax plan would help families (Detroit News)
It's disappointing — and telling — that Finley has chosen to attack our plan providing financial relief for nearly all of Michigan's families who have been hit over the last several years with Republican tax increases. Republicans imposed those tax increases on families in order to pay for a massive tax cut for corporations.

Flint's lessons (Toledo Blade)
Few cities have had as hard a time in recent years as Flint, Mich., which has suffered nearly all the troubles Detroit has, with less national attention. Once a prosperous General Motors company town of nearly 200,000 residents, Flint has been devastated by the downsizing of the auto industry and sent spiraling into emergency management.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 14, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Road funding talks break down over income tax cut (Freep)
Negotiations over a long-sought road funding plan were close to an agreement Tuesday but reached an impasse when Democratic leaders balked at an across-the-board income tax cut proposed by Republican legislative leaders and agreed to in principle by Gov. Rick Snyder, officials said.

Snyder: Road fund talks hit dead end (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declared an impasse Tuesday on how to raise an additional $1.2 billion annually to improve Michigan roads despite months of talks. Republican House Speaker Kevin Cotter of Mount Pleasant said a key sticking point in negotiations was offsetting hikes in the 19-cents-a-gallon state gasoline tax and vehicle registration fees with a broader tax cut.

The latest obstacle in the fight to fix Michigan's roads (Fox 2 Detroit)
The fight to fix Michigan's crumbling highways stalls in Lansing - but is it another speedbump or a major roadblock. Just when it looked like Gov. Rick Snyder and four legislative leaders were inching their way toward a road fix deal, the "i" word came up - impasse.

Snyder: Road funding negotiations have reached 'an impasse' in Michigan Legislature (Mlive)
Long-running talks over a long-term plan to fix Michigan's crumbling roads have hit another speed bump in Lansing, where Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders have been unable to reach agreement on a funding plan. Negotiations reached "an impasse" on Tuesday, Snyder and House Speaker Kevin Cotter told reporters after emerging from a closed-door "quadrant" meeting that featured leaders from both sides of the aisle.

Michigan Gov. Snyder: $1.2 billion road-funding talks are at an impasse (AP)
Months of talks over a $1.2 billion plan to improve Michigan roads plan broke down Tuesday, with Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declaring an impasse.

State road funding plan stalled for now (WLNS)
Michigan roads continue to crumble and lawmakers at the Capitol can't seem to make a decision on how to fix them. It looks like we'll be driving on bumpy roads for a while longer; Governor Rick Snyder said talks with lawmakers over a $1.2 billion road-funding plan are stalled. The discussions broke down during a private meeting earlier today, and while Governor Snyder didn't elaborate on why lawmakers are in a deadlock, Republican House Speaker Kevin Cotter said the biggest issue here is tax relief.

Gov. Snyder: Talks over $1.2 billion road-funding plan are at an impasse in Capitol (WDIV)
Months of talks over a $1.2 billion plan to improve Michigan roads plan broke down Tuesday, with Gov.

Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declaring an impasse. Republican House Speaker Kevin Cotter said a key sticking point in negotiations was linking a road proposal to a broader tax cut.

Income tax debate at heart of latest Michigan road funding stalemate (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders have reached "an impasse" in long-running road funding talks, but this time around, they aren't arguing over the size of potential tax increases. Instead, Republicans and Democrats are butting heads over a form of tax relief they could pair with any potential bump in fuel taxes or fees.

Snyder: $1.2 billion road-funding talks are at an impasse (WXYZ)
Months of talks over a $1.2 billion plan to improve Michigan roads plan broke down Tuesday, with Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders declaring an impasse.

Bill signing
Gov. Snyder signs bill allowing municipalities to maintain electronic property tax rolls (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed legislation that will allow local governments to maintain electronic property tax rolls instead of requiring them to routinely print lengthy paper copies.

Three Bills Signed Into Law by Governor Snyder (WHTC)
Three bills were signed into law by Governor Snyder, bringing the total number since the start of the year to 142. Local governments can now use a computerized tax system without the authorization of the Michigan Tax Commission, which will likely results in savings from not printing tax rolls.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley set to recognize disability advocates (WLNS)
You're probably aware by now that October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. What you may not know is that Governor Rick Snyder has also declared it to be Investing in Abilities Month.

County considers spending more to fight drugs, suicide (Huron Daily Tribune)
Huron Behavioral Health is asking the county for $40,000 to help prevent rising drug overdoses and suicides. On Tuesday, county commissioners seemed to welcome the extra spending. Board Chair John Nugent, who also is on the HBH board of directors, asked if HBH should meet with the county's finance committee to allocate the extra sum — on top of the $193,250 it gets each year from county coffers.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Prevent accidental death in infants by sharing a room, not a bed (Coldwater Daily Reporter)
"I'm sure all mothers can agree, it is difficult to imagine the loss of a child, especially a loss that is 100 percent preventable," Sue Snyder, First lady of Michigan said. "It's critical we continue working to reverse the negative trend of unsafe sleep deaths in our state. Together, we can help ensure all caregivers are aware of the proper sleeping environment for baby. It is my hope we reach a day no family has to experience the grief that accompanies the preventable loss of an infant."

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Snyder makes appointments to Michigan Soybean Promotion Committee (County Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Friday announced the appointments of Peter Crawford, of Dansville, and Michael Sahr, of Saginaw, and the reappointment of Dennis Gardner, of Saginaw, to the Michigan Soybean Promotion Committee.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

See something wrong? Tell someone with OK2SAY (Ferris State University)
Tatum and about 950 other students recently got a crash course in the state-run program, which aims to break the silence around bullying and threats of violence in schools. North Middle was the first of all 13 Rockford Public Schools to receive awareness sessions for OK2SAY, letting students know they can report misbehavior without fear of retaliation.

DHHS

Doctors who dismember a fetus during abortion could get prison time under bills (MLive)
A second-trimester abortion procedure that involves dismembering fetuses would be banned in Michigan under bills up in the House Criminal Justice Committee Tuesday morning.

Prevent accidental death in infants by sharing a room, not a bed (Daily Reporter)
Out of 133 infant deaths in Michigan reviewed in 2011 by Michigan Community Based Child Death Review Teams, 47 percent occurred after the infant was placed in an adult bed.

Breast Cancer: What you need to know if you have a family history (WLNS) t's breast cancer awareness month. According to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services 1 in 9 women in the state have a family history of breast cancer

DEQ

Where are the records? Lawmaker wants answers on Flint water switch (Michigan Radio)
A state lawmaker is heading to court to force the city of Flint and a state agency to release documents related to the decision to make the Flint River the city's drinking water source.

Michigan to launch lead education effort statewide (Detroit Free Press)
The state — in the wake of the Flint water crisis — is launching an education campaign soon to help schools statewide learn how to get their water tested to determine whether it contains dangerously high levels of lead.

MDEQ Director: Flint water crisis has shaken faith in government (Michigan Radio)
State and local officials have done an about-face when it comes to Flint's water crisis.

MVAA

New collaboration brings resources to veterans in Northern Michigan (MI News 26)
Veterans in Northern Michigan will now have easier access to comprehensive health, employment, and education opportunities thanks to a collaboration that brings together local, state, and federal resources.

National program aimed at helping vets coming to West Michigan (WWMT-TV)
A national program is expanding into West Michigan, to help those who need it most. It's called VCAT (Veterans Community Action Team), and the program will serve 55,000 veterans and their families in several West Michigan counties.

DOC

MDOC is looking to hire 200 corrections officers in 2016 (Upper Michigan's Source)
One way to recruit potential correctional facility employees is to target the student population.

Job fair gives metro Detroiters returning from prison a second chance (WDIV)

Barbara L. McQuade said it's her office's job to reduce and prevent crime. McQuade said one way of preventing crime is giving former prisoners a job.

Presumptive parole isn't safe for Michigan (Detroit News)
Public safety is the first responsibility of government. Unfortunately, legislation now being debated by the Michigan legislature could put the public's safety at risk. Last week, the House passed legislation that dramatically changes our criminal justice system, and now the Senate is considering this package of bills. We strongly oppose these bills, because they will allow the release of violent offenders back onto our streets.

MDE
Count day helps state with funding (Livingston Daily)
School districts across Livingston County asked students to stand up and be counted this week for Michigan's official County Day.

Education chief unveils teacher evaluation system ahead of possible state House vote (Michigan Radio)
Michigan education officials are moving ahead with plans to improve teacher evaluations statewide.

State's new e-textbooks get harsh words from critics (Michigan Radio)
The first set of online textbooks released under Michigan's Open Book Project is drawing criticism from some educators and experts.

MEDC
New range of employment services available at Pontiac's OLSHA (Oakland Press)
Unemployed people who have a tough time finding transportation, child care or even job uniforms can find help through a new service being offered at OLHSA, the Pontiac-based Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency.

Crystal mountain begins work on an $11 million expansion (Examiner)
Construction is now underway on an $11 million expansion at Crystal Mountain that will add eight new downhill trails, a triple chairlift and transform the village center with a 31,200 square-foot, LEED-certified expansion and surrounding plaza to the Inn at the Mountain.

MDOT
Public weighs in on upcoming I-275 construction project in Wayne and Oakland counties (WXYZ)
After seeking input from the public on an upcoming freeway project, the Michigan Department of Transportation has decided to shut down one direction of I-275 at a time.

Michigan Department of Transportation chooses plan for $80 million I-275 project (Macomb Daily)
After evaluating nearly 3,800 survey responses, the Michigan Department of Transportation has decided how to proceed with a $70-$80 million construction project which will affect many Oakland County motorists next year.

Department of Transportation unveiling Pure Michigan Byway (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is getting ready to unveil its first new Pure Michigan Byway.

Income tax debate at heart of latest Michigan road funding stalemate (MLive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders have reached "an impasse" in long-running road funding talks, but this time around, they aren't arguing over the size of potential tax increases.

MSP

SW Michigan leads state in meth lab seizures (FOX 17)
A new report from the State Police shows just how bad the problem of meth is in Michigan.

No need for more speed on Michigan highways (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Many people like to drive fast, but the government's job is to keep motorists safe. Raising speed limits, even on rural highways, is no way to do that, and we hope the Legislature backs away from the idea.

SUPREME COURT

Michigan Supreme Court opens term with new justice, 11 cases (Crains)
The Michigan Supreme Court opened a new term this week with a new member and arguments in 11 cases.

Michigan Supreme Court to hear FOIA auto insurance case (WMUK)
The state Supreme Court will hear arguments on its opening day about whether Michigan's Freedom of Information Act applies to a fund that was created by the Legislature, but operated by auto insurance companies.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan House OKs powdered alcohol ban bill, headed to governor soon (Reuters)
Michigan would become the 27th state to ban the sale of powdered alcohol under a bill approved by state lawmakers on Tuesday that is one step from being sent to Governor Rick Snyder for his signature. The Michigan House of Representatives voted 102-3 on Tuesday to ban the sale, distribution or possession of powdered alcohol, advancing a bill the state Senate unanimously approved in May.

Crowd of 80th District candidates take GOP questions (Holland Sentinel)
A gaggle of candidates took the Fennville High School stage Tuesday night, Oct. 13, each one hoping to show voters why he or she would be the best person to take over the 80th Michigan House District seat.

Michigan Senate panel OKs concealed weapons in schools (Detroit Free Press)
Over strong objections from educators, a Senate panel approved legislation Tuesday to allow concealed weapons in schools and other places that are now off-limits for hidden weapons. The Senate Judiciary Committee, in 4-1 votes, approved Senate Bills 442 and 561.

Senate panel OKs concealed guns in 'gun-free' zones (AP)
Individuals with special permits would be allowed to bring concealed firearms inside schools and other "gun-free" areas under legislation advanced Tuesday by a Senate committee.

"Presumptive parole" bill would help Michigan reduce its prison population (Michigan Radio)
Earlier this month, the Michigan House of Representatives passed a bill designed to save the state money and allow some people to salvage their lives by making it easier for prisoners who are no longer a threat to society to get out of prison on parole.

Meth lab map shows why Michigan lawmakers are continuing crackdown (MLive)
Michigan lawmakers are continuing to fight the production of methamphetamine, which has proliferated in recent years despite increasing regulations and police attention. The Senate on Tuesday approved legislation designed to make it harder for meth cooks to obtain common ingredients and discourage them from making meth near schools. The House Criminal Justice Committee also advanced related bills.

DETROIT

New $93M Wayne State center to study health disparities (The Detroit News)
Wayne State University on Wednesday is unveiling a center aimed at eliminating health disparities that affect Detroit residents, such as diabetes, obesity and hypertension. The $93 million facility — the Integrative Biosciences Center, or IBo — is the university's largest construction project. It will be home to faculty experts in environmental science, heart disease, diabetes, asthma and more.

Duggan defends city's demolition progress, costs (The Detroit News)
Mayor Mike Duggan on Tuesday defended the city's demolition efforts in the wake of a scathing news report centered on the bid process, costs and true progress of the program. The mayor made the morning presentation to Detroit's City Council amid a call from the panel for an audit of the Detroit Building Authority and land bank's demolition activities.

Detroit Water Dept. layoffs prompt pollution concerns (Detroit Free Press)
The department laid off about 100 people last week, including about 20 chemists who test the water for pollution standards and dozens of others who work in the Wastewater Treatment Plant on the Detroit River. The department was released from federal oversight in 2013 after being monitored for more than 30 years because of violations of the Clean Water Act.

Detroit council passes rules for marijuana shops (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit City Council today approved the first regulations for the city's booming medical marijuana industry. About 150 medical marijuana shops are operating in Detroit. Until now, city officials had no way to track the shops or control who operated them, stoking concerns among many residents about the potential for violence and other nefarious activity near the shops.

Detroit land bank executive director out; interim named (Detroit Free Press)
Kevin Simowski, who served as executive director of the Detroit Land Bank Authority for less than a year, has severed ties with the authority, a spokesman confirmed today. Land bank spokesman Craig Fahle said Simowski is "no longer with the land bank." Fahle would not elaborate, although he did say the departure was "totally unrelated" to concerns about rising costs of home demolitions that Mayor Mike Duggan addressed before the city council this morning.

OPINION

For GOP, bloodying unions comes before fixing roads (Detroit Free Press)
The morning after last May's special election, state lawmakers in both parties agreed on one thing: No one should mistake the defeat of the fatally convoluted Proposal 1 as a sign that voters were satisfied with the dismal state of Michigan's roads and bridges.

Democratic debate: The grown-ups take the state? (Detroit Free Press)
It's tough to resist the characterization of Tuesday night's first=t Democratic presidential debate as the moment the grown-ups enter the room. But that's the fault of the crowded and often comical GOP road show, so far dominated by Donald Trump and Ben Carson, and the inability of more qualified and serious candidates like Jeb Bush and Marco Rubio to gain traction, or cut through the maudlin, ahistorical and extreme rhetoric.

Ken Braun: Fixing the federal debt needs to start at Michigan's Capitol (Detroit News)
During the 130 seconds you may spend reading these words, the federal debt will increase by $1.7 million. It's currently at $18.4 trillion, and the U.S government now owes more than the nation's annual gross domestic product.

Schuette rounds up sheriffs, prosecutors to block 'autopilot parole' (MLive)
To say that Bill Schuette is not competitive is like saying the Lions are going to win the Super Bowl — neither is true.

Column: Presumptive parole isn't safe for Michigan (Detroit News)
Public safety is the first responsibility of government. Unfortunately, legislation now being debated by the Michigan legislature could put the public's safety at risk. Last week, the House passed legislation that dramatically changes our criminal justice system, and now the Senate is considering this package of bills. We strongly oppose these bills, because they will allow the release of violent offenders back onto our streets.

Editorial: Detroit community policing cutting murders (Detroit News)
It's a dubious distinction, but Detroit is no longer the murder capital of the nation. St. Louis has that title. FBI crime statistics show Detroit had 298 homicides in 2014, down from 316 in 2013. The city's rate of 44 murders per 100,000 people was lower than St. Louis' rate of 50. That city, with a population of 318,000, had 159 murders last year.

Yanez: Prevailing wage good for Michigan (Detroit News)
There is a great deal of pressure in our state Legislature to repeal Michigan's prevailing wage law. My fellow legislators must not cave under the pressure. The reality is that repealing Michigan's prevailing wage law would harm not just those in the skilled trades, but all Michiganders.

Greimel: Dem tax plan would help families (Detroit News)
It's disappointing — and telling — that Finley has chosen to attack our plan providing financial relief for nearly all of Michigan's families who have been hit over the last several years with Republican tax increases. Republicans imposed those tax increases on families in order to pay for a massive tax cut for corporations.

Flint's lessons (Toledo Blade)
Few cities have had as hard a time in recent years as Flint, Mich., which has suffered nearly all the troubles Detroit has, with less national attention. Once a prosperous General Motors company town of nearly 200,000 residents, Flint has been devastated by the downsizing of the auto industry and sent spiraling into emergency management.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 11:13 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/15 Newsroom
Attachments: 151015 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIG
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Oct. 15, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Unemployment rate
NSYNC was big and gas was under $2 the last time Michigan's unemployment did this (Mlive)
"We need to stay focused on our goal, but it also is important to look back to see how far we've come. Michigan's unemployment rate was once the worst in the United States. Today we are below the national average for the first time since August 2000," said Gov. Rick Snyder in a statement. "This means more people in Michigan are able to use their skills and are finding fulfilling jobs to support themselves and their families, making our cities and our communities stronger in a variety of ways."

State jobless rate below national average (Freep)
he state's seasonally adjusted, monthly unemployment level, 5%, is slightly below the national average of 5.1%. It's the first time that has happened since August 2000, when both the state and national unemployment rates were below 5%, Michigan officials said. "We need to stay focused on our goal, but it also is important to look back to see how far we've come," Gov. Rick Snyder said in a statement. "Michigan's unemployment rate was once the worst in the United States."

Michigan unemployment rate dips to 5 percent in September (AP)
Gov. Snyder reacted to the unemployment figures by saying it's important to see how far the state has come since August 2000.

Presumptive Parole
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder backs presumptive parole proposal as AG Bill Schuette leads opposition (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has long supported "smart justice" but came out specifically in favor of presumptive parole legislation this week, something Attorney General Bill Schuette has been leading the charge against.

Roads
Road deal: There may still be hope (Freep)
After a brief flurry of blame and recriminations when discussions hit an impasse Tuesday, legislative leaders from both parties declared a "cooling-off period" in road funding talks Wednesday and expressed confidence a $1.2-billion deal is still within reach.

Game bet

Calley, Snyder bet on UM-MSU outcome (Detroit News)

In anticipation of Saturday's Michigan-Michigan State gridiron showdown in Ann Arbor, Gov. Rick Snyder and Lt. Gov. Brian Calley have a bet going. Calley, a Michigan State University alumnus, has to wear a maize-and-blue UM tie for one day next week if Michigan's 5-1 football team prevails over the undefeated Spartans, according to Snyder's office. If MSU wins, the usually tie-less governor, who earned three degrees from UM by age 23, will have to wrap his neck in Calley's green-and-white tie.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

October is Investing in Abilities Month (WILX)

Rehabilitation programs across the state were honored at the state capitol today. Members of the Michigan Rehabilitation Services received awards for its commitment to hiring people with disabilities in the state. Governor Rick Snyder has declared October as investing in abilities month encouraging people to hire those with disabilities.

Marquette office of Michigan Rehabilitation Services awarded (UP Matters/TV 3)

Michiganders who work to make a difference in the lives of people with disabilities and individuals with disabilities were honored today with Michigan Rehabilitation Services Champion Awards.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DHHS

Controversy brews over Michigan's awarding $42 billion Medicaid HMO contracts (Crain's Detroit Business)

Some Medicaid health plan executives in Michigan are upset with the results of Michigan Department of Health and Human Services' decision this week to designate counties the HMOs will be allowed to serve under a state contract that begins Jan. 1. At stake: $42 billion worth of contracts.

DNR

'Ask the DNR' TV special allows residents to call in with questions (MLive)

Officials from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will be available to answer questions from residents during a one-hour live public television program this week. The "Ask the DNR" program will be aired by CMU Public Broadcasting (WCMU) at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 15. The show will focus on fisheries, wildlife and law enforcement issues in the state.

DNR confirms 31 cougar sightings, puts cougar mounts on display (MLive)

Two cougar mounts have been popular with visitors at exhibits in the Upper Peninsula. The displays feature a captive cougar that died of natural causes and another that was poached, leading to three arrests. Since 2008, there have been 31 confirmed reports of cougars in the U.P., but wildlife officials have failed to find evidence of a breeding population, the state Department of Natural Resources said.

Improvements take shape at Lakeside Park (Times Herald)

Crews are making headway on upwards of $500,000 of improvements to Lakeside Park in Port Huron. Nancy Winzer, director of parks and recreation for the city, said a new restroom and concessions building and a splash pad will be open to the public in May. The restroom and concessions facilities were razed the week of Sept. 14, she said.

DTMB

Michigan picks state Christmas tree from UP (AP)

A 66-foot spruce from the western Upper Peninsula has been chosen as this year's state Christmas tree.

The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget picked the tree and announced the choice on Wednesday.

The spruce is from Wakefield, east of Ironwood, and is being donated by Florence Daniels in memory of her late husband, Jim Daniels. He was a teacher, coach and U.P. Sports Hall of Fame inductee.

MDARD

Ocean's Halo Gluten Free Seaweed Chips recalled (The Detroit News)

A California food producer is voluntarily recalling a recent offering of Ocean's Halo Gluten Free Seaweed Chips due to an undeclared allergen, wheat, at a third party manufacturer, the company announced Wednesday. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development distributed the release from New Frontier Foods Inc.

Dole recalls 33,600 bags of spinach amid salmonella concerns (The Washington Post)
Dole is recalling 33,600 bags of spinach in a voluntary move over possible salmonella contamination, the company announced Tuesday. No illnesses connected to the spinach have been reported, according to the company. But a random sample test conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development came back positive for salmonella, prompting the precautionary recall.

MDE
Free, online textbooks include factual errors, poor grammar (AP)
Some who have reviewed the first batch of free, online textbooks commissioned under a Michigan Department of Education grant say they include factual inaccuracies, poor grammar, overgeneralizations, clumsy word choices and cultural insensitivity.

Dropping to one Flint high school worth exploring, says new superintendent (MLive)
The time may be right to begin a serious discussion about moving to a single high school that would serve the entire Flint School District, said new Flint Superintendent Bilal Tawwab. The Flint School District has had on-again, off-again discussions about consolidating its remaining two high schools as enrollment across the city has steadily declined over the past few years.

Ann Arbor schools chief asks lawmakers to keep concealed guns out of schools (MLive)
The Ann Arbor Public Schools superintendent asked Michigan lawmakers to keep schools safe by preventing concealed carry in schools. However, despite her testimony and the testimony of several other educators, the Senate Judiciary Committee on Tuesday, Oct. 13 voted 4-1 to move the bills to the Senate Floor.

MDOT
Department of Transportation unveiling Pure Michigan Byway (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is getting ready to unveil its first new Pure Michigan Byway. An event is planned for Friday in the Upper Peninsula community of Cedarville to make the designation for Michigan highway 134. The new M-134 North Huron Byway is located in Chippewa and Mackinac counties, following Lake Huron's north shore in the southeastern corner of the Upper Peninsula.

Roadside parks in Upper Peninsula to close for season (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation says its roadside parks in the Upper Peninsula are getting ready to close soon for the season. The agency says most will close Oct. 26. The two parks operated by MDOT in Keweenaw County are scheduled to close this Monday.

MSHDA
Project Connect event to help connect those in need with services that can help them (Huron Daily Tribune)
The Huron County Homeless Coalition, in partnership with the Michigan State Housing Development Authority and the Thumb Area Continuum of Care, will be hosting the seventh Annual Project Connect from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Huron Area Technical Center. Area service agencies, businesses and churches will be providing information and assistance to those families at risk for homelessness or currently in need of housing.

MPSC
Heating bills expected to decline this winter (Macomb Daily)
In just a matter of weeks, the weather most assuredly will turn frightful. But the same is not expected of home-heating bills. That's the word this week from energy companies that provide the fuel that keeps heating systems humming. Those who heat their homes with natural gas, which is most of us, can anticipate monthly heating bills close to 20 percent lower than during the winter of 2014-15.

SUPREME COURT
Michigan Supreme Court appoints chief judges amid effort to improve state's trial courts (AP)

The Michigan Supreme Court has appointed chief judges for circuit, probate, district and municipal courts statewide as part of an effort to improve efficiency and service at the state's trial courts. The state's high court announced the appointment of 50 multi-court chief judges on Wednesday, saying the number of single-court chief judges appointed to lead trial courts has been cut by two-thirds since 2010.

Michigan Supreme Court returns to Capitol for a day (Lansing State Journal)
The Michigan Supreme Court marked the start of its 2015-16 term by hearing the first oral arguments of the year inside the court's ornate former home at the state Capitol. The 19th Century courtroom on the third floor of the statehouse — well-appointed in rich greens, reds, golds and wood tones — was the justices' home until 1970, when they moved to the G. Mennen Williams Building a block west.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Cindy Gamrat says a Republican lock-out would be a slap in the face (Mlive)
Ousted Michigan Rep. Cindy Gamrat said that if she is re-elected, it would be a slap in the face of Allegan County voters for other lawmakers to try to lock her out of the House Republican caucus. "There's a clause in the Constitution that's double-jeopardy and you can't expel you twice so there's a misconception about that," the Plainwell Republican said Tuesday night.

Michigan Senate panel OKs concealed guns in schools, 'gun-free' zones (Macomb Daily)
People with special permits would be allowed to bring concealed firearms inside schools and other "gun-free" areas under legislation advanced Tuesday by a Senate committee. The bills, approved 4-1 along party lines by the Republican-led Senate Judiciary Committee, would let people apply for an exemption to carry their concealed weapon into areas that are currently off limits, including schools, child care centers, sports arenas, large concert halls, bars, places of worship, hospitals, dorms and college classrooms. They would also prohibit people from openly carrying guns in those areas, which permit holders are currently allowed to do under Michigan law.

Breed Discrimination Bill Passes to Michigan's House (Care 2)
Last week, a bill passed through to the Michigan Senate that would make breed discrimination illegal. The bill mandates that local laws cannot regulate a dog "based solely on the breed, perceived breed, or type of dog." Bill sponsor Sen. David B. Robinson (R-Grand Blanc) introduced the legislation in March. "[T]here's nothing about a domesticated breed that is by itself inherently vicious unless an owner trains that animal to be vicious or through abuse and neglect," Sen. Robinson said in a statement.

Mich. Senate panel OKs concealed weapons in schools (USA Today)
Over strong objections from educators, a Michigan Senate panel approved legislation Tuesday to allow concealed weapons in schools and other places that are now off-limits for hidden weapons. The Senate Judiciary Committee, in 4-1 votes, approved Senate Bills 442 and 561. The package of bills is described as compromise legislation that would allow concealed pistol license holders to carry in schools and other areas that are now off-limits to them under state law. But it would prevent, in those same areas, the "open carry" practiced by gun rights enthusiasts that has caused disruption and led to legal action in places such as schools, universities and public libraries.

Senate approves property rights bill (Monroe News)
The Michigan Senate has unanimously approved a bipartisan bill package reforming Michigan's asset forfeiture laws to create clear, reasonable standards for the sanctity of individual rights and lawful seizure of property by authorities. State Rep. Jason Sheppard, R-Temperance, sponsored one of eight bills designed to address ethical and legal concerns with Michigan's civil asset forfeiture laws.

Senate votes to end deadline to petition for DNA test, trial (AP)
The Michigan Senate has voted unanimously to eliminate a deadline for people convicted of felonies to petition a judge for new DNA testing and a new trial. Michigan in 2001 began allowing post-conviction requests for DNA testing, which has resulted in innocent inmates being set free and can identify the true perpetrators. There was a deadline to file, which has been delayed several times.

State Senator's "yes means yes" legislation a step in the right direction for consent education (The State News)
Given the recent statistics on sexual assault in the state of Michigan, Sen. Curtis Hertel Jr. (D-Meridian Township) continues to promote his "yes means yes" bill, SB 0512 within the Michigan Senate. The bill requires Michigan high schools that teach sex education to include affirmative consent education in their curriculum. Although it will promote affirmative consent to teenagers, the bill fails to cure the epidemic on college campuses.

Michigan Could Allow Gun Owners To Conceal Carry In Churches, Hospitals And Schools (Opposing Views)
A Michigan State Senate committee advanced legislation to allow gun owners with special permits to enter "gun-free" areas with their concealed firearms. This proposed law would effectively end "gun-free" zones in Michigan. The Republican-led Senate Judiciary Committee passed the set of bills on Oct. 13 with a vote of 4-1. It will now go to the Michigan Senate floor for a vote. If approved, gun owners would be able to apply for permits that will allow them to carry concealed weapons in schools, child care centers, bars, churches, hospitals and other public spaces, the Oakland Press reports.

Michigan House approves $9.3M to address Flint water crisis (The Toledo Blade)
Michigan lawmakers are allocating $6 million so Flint can reconnect to Detroit's drinking water system due to issues with water from the Flint River. The House approved budget legislation unanimously today. The Senate could sign off Thursday.

House OKs bill shielding youth who report drug overdoses (The Detroit Free Press)
People under age 21 could avoid prescription drug-related criminal charges when reporting a medical emergency under legislation advancing in Michigan. The bill was approved unanimously by the House Wednesday and sent to the Senate. It would exempt minors from prosecution if they call 911 to report an overdose or other prescription drug-related health emergency.

DETROIT

Duggan names former cop to lead Fire Department (Detroit Free Press)
Mayor Mike Duggan named someone from outside the Detroit Fire Department to become the city's new fire commissioner this morning, selecting Eric Jones, a former cop and director of the city's Building Department. Duggan introduced Jones, 46, at a news conference this morning at the Detroit Fire Department's Engine Co. 54 and Ladder No. 26 on Trinity at Grand River in northwest Detroit.

Fed corruption probe targets DPS, EAA officials (The Detroit News)
The FBI has launched a corruption investigation involving Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 reform district and Detroit Public Schools, the latest blemish for districts struggling with low test scores, falling enrollment and funding shortfalls. FBI agents are investigating multiple officials from DPS and the Snyder-created Education Achievement Authority to determine if contracts were awarded to vendors who paid kickbacks, sources told The Detroit News.

Detroit To Operate Largest Fleet Of Propane Autogas Buses (School Transportation News)
Starting this school year, Detroit Public Schools (DPS) will run the largest fleet of propane autogas school buses in the state. The 35 alternative-fueled buses are part of the district's efforts to reduce its carbon footprint and lower costs. James Minnick, executive director of DPS student transportation, reported that the benefit of this green initiative, on top of decreasing vehicle emissions and improving air quality, is that 30 percent of the new fleet will be brand new.

Duggan defends Detroit's skyrocketing house demo cost (Fox 2)
Last week a report by The Americans with Charlie LeDuff asked Mayor Mike Duggan's bigwigs why the cost of demolition is spiraling out of control. They couldn't. On Tuesday Mayor Mike Duggan was called before the city council to explain his management of more than $100 million in federal demolition funds. Charlie LeDuff was there. Maybe the numbers would have added up, if the mayor had offered any numbers to add up. Duggan's explanation seemed to be good enough for the city council, but not for Charlie LeDuff.

Detroit land bank executive director out; interim named (The Detroit Free Press)
Kevin Simowski, who served as executive director of the Detroit Land Bank Authority for less than a year, has severed ties with the authority, a spokesman confirmed today. Land bank spokesman Craig Fahle said Simowski is "no longer with the land bank."

Fahle would not elaborate, although he did say the departure was "totally unrelated" to concerns about rising costs of home demolitions that Mayor Mike Duggan addressed before the city council this morning.

OPINION

Snyder, Schuette must act now to take oil out of straits pipeline (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Attorney General Bill Schuette must act immediately on their legal duty to shut down the oil flowing through the Enbridge Line 5 pipelines in the Straits of Mackinac just west of the Mackinac Bridge.

Gamrat's campaign takes cue from Kardashians (Detroit News)
Cindy Gamrat's having a fundraiser in Lapeer at a bowling alley next week – in the heart of Todd Courser's once-and-he-hopes-future district, more than a hundred miles from her own.

Howes: Roads impasse embarrassing for leaders, GOP (Detroit News)
In Michigan's long-running roads saga, Detroit Democrat Harvey Santana nails it: "People are really starting to look at this Legislature in a negative way because of this issue. It's just embarrassing at this point."

Finley: Road deal too elusive, too long (Detroit News)
Since before Labor Day, the four leaders of Michigan's Legislature and Gov. Rick Snyder have had an agreement in principle for raising $1.2 billion to fix Michigan's roads.

Editorial: UAW's jobs for pay tradeoff (Detroit News)
The UAW and FCA US, or Fiat Chrysler, reached a new tentative agreement following their failed first contract voted down by about 65 percent of the membership several weeks ago.

McNeilly: Will Lansing side with corporations or kids? (Detroit News)
Hey parents. What would you say if I told you politicians in Lansing are poised to pass a pair of bills that would take nearly $24 million each year out of Michigan classrooms? Why? So they could send that money to two massive corporations (and major campaign contributors).

The right recipe for transforming Michigan public education (MLive)
My friend state Rep. Tim Kelly is right: Dramatic transformation of education is necessary to make Michigan a top education state again.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Oct. 15, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Unemployment rate
NSYNC was big and gas was under $2 the last time Michigan's unemployment did this (Mlive)
"We need to stay focused on our goal, but it also is important to look back to see how far we've come. Michigan's unemployment rate was once the worst in the United States. Today we are below the national average for the first time since August 2000," said Gov. Rick Snyder in a statement. "This means more people in Michigan are able to use their skills and are finding fulfilling jobs to support themselves and their families, making our cities and our communities stronger in a variety of ways."

State jobless rate below national average (Freep)
he state's seasonally adjusted, monthly unemployment level, 5%, is slightly below the national average of 5.1%. It's the first time that has happened since August 2000, when both the state and national unemployment rates were below 5%, Michigan officials said. "We need to stay focused on our goal, but it also is important to look back to see how far we've come," Gov. Rick Snyder said in a statement. "Michigan's unemployment rate was once the worst in the United States."

Michigan unemployment rate dips to 5 percent in September (AP)
Gov. Snyder reacted to the unemployment figures by saying it's important to see how far the state has come since August 2000.

Presumptive Parole
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder backs presumptive parole proposal as AG Bill Schuette leads opposition (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has long supported "smart justice" but came out specifically in favor of presumptive parole legislation this week, something Attorney General Bill Schuette has been leading the charge against.

Roads
Road deal: There may still be hope (Freep)
After a brief flurry of blame and recriminations when discussions hit an impasse Tuesday, legislative leaders from both parties declared a "cooling-off period" in road funding talks Wednesday and expressed confidence a $1.2-billion deal is still within reach.

Game bet
Calley, Snyder bet on UM-MSU outcome (Detroit News)
In anticipation of Saturday's Michigan-Michigan State gridiron showdown in Ann Arbor, Gov. Rick Snyder and Lt. Gov. Brian Calley have a bet going. Calley, a Michigan State University alumnus, has to wear a maize-and-blue UM tie for one day next week if Michigan's 5-1 football team prevails over the undefeated Spartans, according to Snyder's office. If MSU wins, the usually tie-less governor, who earned three degrees from UM by age 23, will have to wrap his neck in Calley's green-and-white tie.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

October is Investing In Abilities Month (WILX)
Rehabilitation programs across the state were honored at the state capitol today. Members of the Michigan Rehabilitation Services received awards for its commitment to hiring people with disabilities in the state. Governor Rick Snyder has declared October as investing in abilities month encouraging people to hire those with disabilities.

Marquette office of Michigan Rehabilitation Services awarded (UP Matters/TV 3)
Michiganders who work to make a difference in the lives of people with disabilities and individuals with disabilities were honored today with Michigan Rehabilitation Services Champion Awards.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DHHS
Controversy brews over Michigan's awarding $42 billion Medicaid HMO contracts (Crain's Detroit Business)
Some Medicaid health plan executives in Michigan are upset with the results of Michigan Department of Health and Human Services' decision this week to designate counties the HMOs will be allowed to serve under a state contract that begins Jan. 1. At stake: $42 billion worth of contracts.

DNR
'Ask the DNR' TV special allows residents to call in with questions (MLive)
Officials from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will be available to answer questions from residents during a one-hour live public television program this week. The "Ask the DNR" program will be aired by CMU Public Broadcasting (WCMU) at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 15. The show will focus on fisheries, wildlife and law enforcement issues in the state.

DNR confirms 31 cougar sightings, puts cougar mounts on display (MLive)
Two cougar mounts have been popular with visitors at exhibits in the Upper Peninsula. The displays feature a captive cougar that died of natural causes and another that was poached, leading to three arrests. Since 2008, there have been 31 confirmed reports of cougars in the U.P., but wildlife officials have failed to find evidence of a breeding population, the state Department of Natural Resources said.

Improvements take shape at Lakeside Park (Times Herald)
Crews are making headway on upwards of $500,000 of improvements to Lakeside Park in Port Huron. Nancy Winzer, director of parks and recreation for the city, said a new restroom and concessions building and a splash pad will be open to the public in May. The restroom and concessions facilities were razed the week of Sept. 14, she said.

DTMB
Michigan picks state Christmas tree from UP (AP)
A 66-foot spruce from the western Upper Peninsula has been chosen as this year's state Christmas tree. The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget picked the tree and announced the choice on Wednesday. The spruce is from Wakefield, east of Ironwood, and is being donated by Florence Daniels in memory of her late husband, Jim Daniels. He was a teacher, coach and U.P. Sports Hall of Fame inductee.

MDARD

Ocean's Halo Gluten Free Seaweed Chips recalled (The Detroit News)

A California food producer is voluntarily recalling a recent offering of Ocean's Halo Gluten Free Seaweed Chips due to an undeclared allergen, wheat, at a third party manufacturer, the company announced Wednesday. The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development distributed the release from New Frontier Foods Inc.

Dole recalls 33,600 bags of spinach amid salmonella concerns (The Washington Post)

Dole is recalling 33,600 bags of spinach in a voluntary move over possible salmonella contamination, the company announced Tuesday. No illnesses connected to the spinach have been reported, according to the company. But a random sample test conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development came back positive for salmonella, prompting the precautionary recall.

MDE

Free, online textbooks include factual errors, poor grammar (AP)

Some who have reviewed the first batch of free, online textbooks commissioned under a Michigan Department of Education grant say they include factual inaccuracies, poor grammar, overgeneralizations, clumsy word choices and cultural insensitivity.

Dropping to one Flint high school worth exploring, says new superintendent (MLive)

The time may be right to begin a serious discussion about moving to a single high school that would serve the entire Flint School District, said new Flint Superintendent Bilal Tawwab. The Flint School District has had on-again, off-again discussions about consolidating its remaining two high schools as enrollment across the city has steadily declined over the past few years.

Ann Arbor schools chief asks lawmakers to keep concealed guns out of schools (MLive)

The Ann Arbor Public Schools superintendent asked Michigan lawmakers to keep schools safe by preventing concealed carry in schools. However, despite her testimony and the testimony of several other educators, the Senate Judiciary Committee on Tuesday, Oct. 13 voted 4-1 to move the bills to the Senate Floor.

MDOT

Department of Transportation unveiling Pure Michigan Byway (AP)

The Michigan Department of Transportation is getting ready to unveil its first new Pure Michigan Byway. An event is planned for Friday in the Upper Peninsula community of Cedarville to make the designation for Michigan highway 134. The new M-134 North Huron Byway is located in Chippewa and Mackinac counties, following Lake Huron's north shore in the southeastern corner of the Upper Peninsula.

Roadside parks in Upper Peninsula to close for season (AP)

The Michigan Department of Transportation says its roadside parks in the Upper Peninsula are getting ready to close soon for the season. The agency says most will close Oct. 26. The two parks operated by MDOT in Keweenaw County are scheduled to close this Monday.

MSHDA

Project Connect event to help connect those in need with services that can help them (Huron Daily Tribune)

The Huron County Homeless Coalition, in partnership with the Michigan State Housing Development Authority and the Thumb Area Continuum of Care, will be hosting the seventh Annual Project Connect from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Huron Area Technical Center. Area service agencies, businesses and churches will be providing information and assistance to those families at risk for homelessness or currently in need of housing.

MPSC

Heating bills expected to decline this winter (Macomb Daily)
In just a matter of weeks, the weather most assuredly will turn frightful. But the same is not expected of home-heating bills. That's the word this week from energy companies that provide the fuel that keeps heating systems humming. Those who heat their homes with natural gas, which is most of us, can anticipate monthly heating bills close to 20 percent lower than during the winter of 2014-15.

SUPREME COURT

Michigan Supreme Court appoints chief judges amid effort to improve state's trial courts (AP)
The Michigan Supreme Court has appointed chief judges for circuit, probate, district and municipal courts statewide as part of an effort to improve efficiency and service at the state's trial courts. The state's high court announced the appointment of 50 multi-court chief judges on Wednesday, saying the number of single-court chief judges appointed to lead trial courts has been cut by two-thirds since 2010.

Michigan Supreme Court returns to Capitol for a day (Lansing State Journal)
The Michigan Supreme Court marked the start of its 2015-16 term by hearing the first oral arguments of the year inside the court's ornate former home at the state Capitol. The 19th Century courtroom on the third floor of the statehouse — well-appointed in rich greens, reds, golds and wood tones — was the justices' home until 1970, when they moved to the G. Mennen Williams Building a block west.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Cindy Gamrat says a Republican lock-out would be a slap in the face (Mlive)
Ousted Michigan Rep. Cindy Gamrat said that if she is re-elected, it would be a slap in the face of Allegan County voters for other lawmakers to try to lock her out of the House Republican caucus. "There's a clause in the Constitution that's double-jeopardy and you can't expel you twice so there's a misconception about that," the Plainwell Republican said Tuesday night.

Michigan Senate panel OKs concealed guns in schools, 'gun-free' zones (Macomb Daily)
People with special permits would be allowed to bring concealed firearms inside schools and other "gun-free" areas under legislation advanced Tuesday by a Senate committee. The bills, approved 4-1 along party lines by the Republican-led Senate Judiciary Committee, would let people apply for an exemption to carry their concealed weapon into areas that are currently off limits, including schools, child care centers, sports arenas, large concert halls, bars, places of worship, hospitals, dorms and college classrooms. They would also prohibit people from openly carrying guns in those areas, which permit holders are currently allowed to do under Michigan law.

Breed Discrimination Bill Passes to Michigan's House (Care 2)
Last week, a bill passed through to the Michigan Senate that would make breed discrimination illegal. The bill mandates that local laws cannot regulate a dog "based solely on the breed, perceived breed, or type of dog." Bill sponsor Sen. David B. Robinson (R-Grand Blanc) introduced the legislation in March. "[T]here's nothing about a domesticated breed that is by itself inherently vicious unless an owner trains that animal to be vicious or through abuse and neglect," Sen. Robinson said in a statement.

Mich. Senate panel OKs concealed weapons in schools (USA Today)
Over strong objections from educators, a Michigan Senate panel approved legislation Tuesday to allow concealed weapons in schools and other places that are now off-limits for hidden weapons. The Senate Judiciary Committee, in 4-1 votes, approved Senate Bills 442 and 561. The package of bills is described as compromise legislation that would allow concealed pistol license holders to carry in schools and other areas that are now off-limits to them under state law. But it would prevent, in those same areas, the "open carry" practiced by gun rights enthusiasts that has caused disruption and led to legal action in places such as schools, universities and public libraries.

Senate approves property rights bill (Monroe News)
The Michigan Senate has unanimously approved a bipartisan bill package reforming Michigan's asset forfeiture laws to create clear, reasonable standards for the sanctity of individual rights and lawful seizure of property by authorities. State Rep. Jason Sheppard, R-Temperance, sponsored one of eight bills designed to address ethical and legal concerns with Michigan's civil asset forfeiture laws.

Senate votes to end deadline to petition for DNA test, trial (AP)
The Michigan Senate has voted unanimously to eliminate a deadline for people convicted of felonies to petition a judge for new DNA testing and a new trial. Michigan in 2001 began allowing post-conviction requests for DNA testing, which has resulted in innocent inmates being set free and can identify the true perpetrators. There was a deadline to file, which has been delayed several times.

State Senator's "yes means yes" legislation a step in the right direction for consent education (The State News)
Given the recent statistics on sexual assault in the state of Michigan, Sen. Curtis Hertel Jr. (D-Meridian Township) continues to promote his "yes means yes" bill, SB 0512 within the Michigan Senate. The bill requires Michigan high schools that teach sex education to include affirmative consent education in their curriculum. Although it will promote affirmative consent to teenagers, the bill fails to cure the epidemic on college campuses.

Michigan Could Allow Gun Owners To Conceal Carry In Churches, Hospitals And Schools (Opposing Views)
A Michigan State Senate committee advanced legislation to allow gun owners with special permits to enter "gun-free" areas with their concealed firearms. This proposed law would effectively end "gun-free" zones in Michigan. The Republican-led Senate Judiciary Committee passed the set of bills on Oct. 13 with a vote of 4-1. It will now go to the Michigan Senate floor for a vote. If approved, gun owners would be able to apply for permits that will allow them to carry concealed weapons in schools, child care centers, bars, churches, hospitals and other public spaces, the Oakland Press reports.

Michigan House approves $9.3M to address Flint water crisis (The Toledo Blade)
Michigan lawmakers are allocating $6 million so Flint can reconnect to Detroit's drinking water system due to issues with water from the Flint River. The House approved budget legislation unanimously today. The Senate could sign off Thursday.

House OKs bill shielding youth who report drug overdoses (The Detroit Free Press)
People under age 21 could avoid prescription drug-related criminal charges when reporting a medical emergency under legislation advancing in Michigan. The bill was approved unanimously by the House Wednesday and sent to the Senate. It would exempt minors from prosecution if they call 911 to report an overdose or other prescription drug-related health emergency.

DETROIT

Duggan names former cop to lead Fire Department (Detroit Free Press)
Mayor Mike Duggan named someone from outside the Detroit Fire Department to become the city's new fire commissioner this morning, selecting Eric Jones, a former cop and director of the city's Building

Department. Duggan introduced Jones, 46, at a news conference this morning at the Detroit Fire Department's Engine Co. 54 and Ladder No. 26 on Trinity at Grand River in northwest Detroit.

Fed corruption probe targets DPS, EAA officials (The Detroit News)
The FBI has launched a corruption investigation involving Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 reform district and Detroit Public Schools, the latest blemish for districts struggling with low test scores, falling enrollment and funding shortfalls. FBI agents are investigating multiple officials from DPS and the Snyder-created Education Achievement Authority to determine if contracts were awarded to vendors who paid kickbacks, sources told The Detroit News.

Detroit To Operate Largest Fleet Of Propane Autogas Buses (School Transportation News)
Starting this school year, Detroit Public Schools (DPS) will run the largest fleet of propane autogas school buses in the state. The 35 alternative-fueled buses are part of the district's efforts to reduce its carbon footprint and lower costs. James Minnick, executive director of DPS student transportation, reported that the benefit of this green initiative, on top of decreasing vehicle emissions and improving air quality, is that 30 percent of the new fleet will be brand new.

Duggan defends Detroit's skyrocketing house demo cost (Fox 2)
Last week a report by The Americans with Charlie LeDuff asked Mayor Mike Duggan's bigwigs why the cost of demolition is spiraling out of control. They couldn't. On Tuesday Mayor Mike Duggan was called before the city council to explain his management of more than $100 million in federal demolition funds. Charlie LeDuff was there. Maybe the numbers would have added up, if the mayor had offered any numbers to add up. Duggan's explanation seemed to be good enough for the city council, but not for Charlie LeDuff.

Detroit land bank executive director out; interim named (The Detroit Free Press)
Kevin Simowski, who served as executive director of the Detroit Land Bank Authority for less than a year, has severed ties with the authority, a spokesman confirmed today. Land bank spokesman Craig Fahle said Simowski is "no longer with the land bank." Fahle would not elaborate, although he did say the departure was "totally unrelated" to concerns about rising costs of home demolitions that Mayor Mike Duggan addressed before the city council this morning.

OPINION

Snyder, Schuette must act now to take oil out of straits pipeline (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Attorney General Bill Schuette must act immediately on their legal duty to shut down the oil flowing through the Enbridge Line 5 pipelines in the Straits of Mackinac just west of the Mackinac Bridge.

Gamrat's campaign takes cue from Kardashians (Detroit News)
Cindy Gamrat's having a fundraiser in Lapeer at a bowling alley next week – in the heart of Todd Courser's once-and-he-hopes-future district, more than a hundred miles from her own.

Howes: Roads impasse embarrassing for leaders, GOP (Detroit News)
In Michigan's long-running roads saga, Detroit Democrat Harvey Santana nails it: "People are really starting to look at this Legislature in a negative way because of this issue. It's just embarrassing at this point."

Finley: Road deal too elusive, too long (Detroit News)
Since before Labor Day, the four leaders of Michigan's Legislature and Gov. Rick Snyder have had an agreement in principle for raising $1.2 billion to fix Michigan's roads.

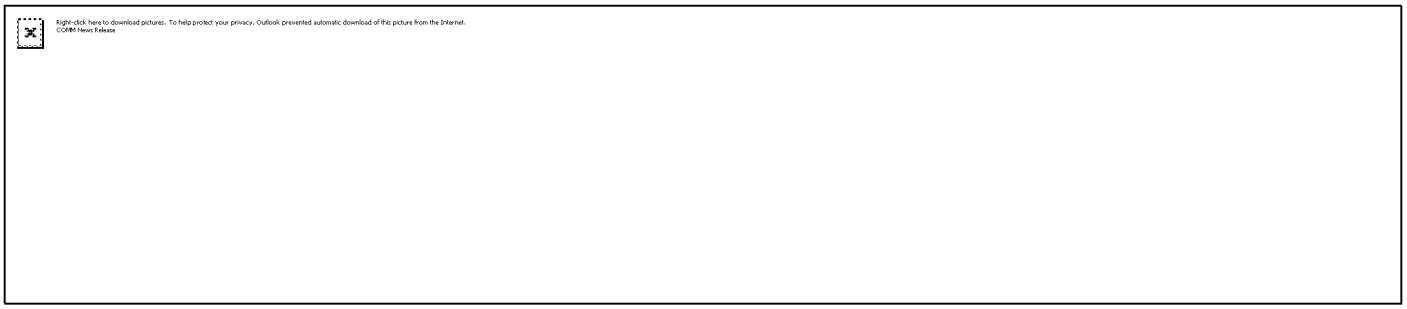
Editorial: UAW's jobs for pay tradeoff (Detroit News)
The UAW and FCA US, or Fiat Chrysler, reached a new tentative agreement following their failed first contract voted down by about 65 percent of the membership several weeks ago.

McNeilly: Will Lansing side with corporations or kids? (Detroit News)
Hey parents. What would you say if I told you politicians in Lansing are poised to pass a pair of bills that would take nearly $24 million each year out of Michigan classrooms? Why? So they could send that money to two massive corporations (and major campaign contributors).

The right recipe for transforming Michigan public education (MLive)
My friend state Rep. Tim Kelly is right: Dramatic transformation of education is necessary to make Michigan a top education state again.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 4:55 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill authorizing funding for Flint to move back to Detroit water system

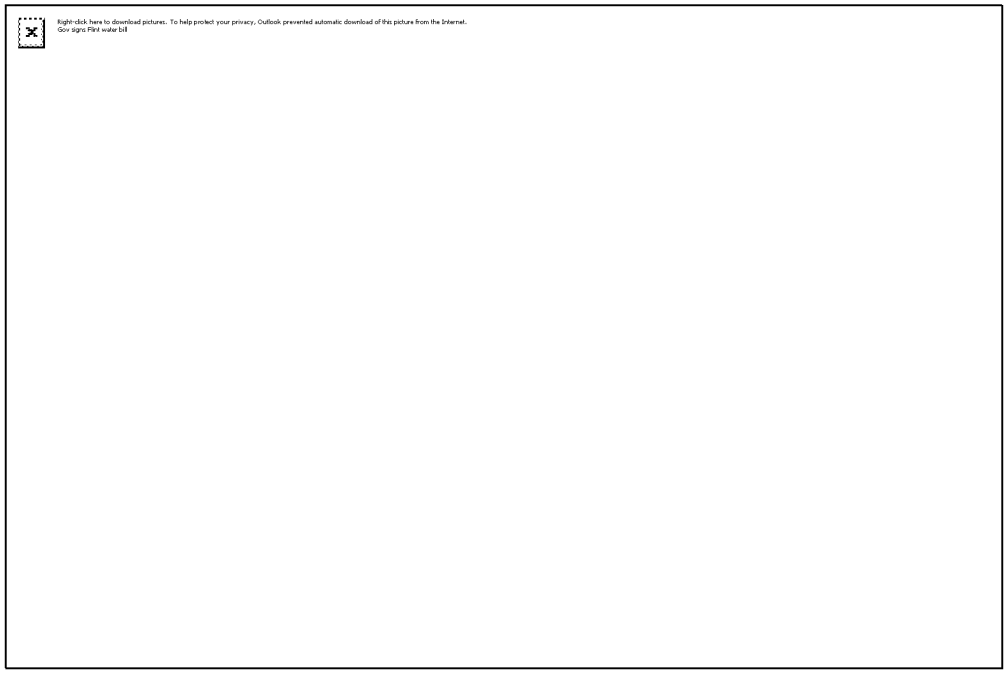


Contacts: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Thursday, Oct. 15, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill authorizing funding for Flint to move back to Detroit water system

Temporary reconnection provides best protection for public health



LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder has signed bipartisan legislation that will direct funding to the City of Flint's emergency water services to reconnect the city's water supply to the Great Lakes

Water Authority until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed.

"This funding is a coordinated response to a serious problem and I'm pleased so many parties came together to help deliver safe drinking water to the city of Flint," Snyder said. "Reconnecting to the Great Lakes Water Authority is only the first step, as the state will continue testing and inspections to ensure Flint families and children have clean water in their homes and schools."

House Bill 4102, sponsored by state Rep. Al Pscholka, authorizes $6 million to move the city back to Detroit's water system until the new pipeline is finished.

In addition to the $6 million:

- $300,000 goes to the Department of Environmental Quality's drinking water and environmental health services;
- $1 million will provide for DEQ to test drinking water samples;
- $1 million allows the Department of Health and Human Services to purchase and distribute water filters to Flint residents;
- $850,000 will aid in follow-up services for children, including testing, investigations, and case management for those with elevated blood lead levels;
- $200,000 will fund state plumbing inspections for schools and health facilities.
- The City of Flint city government will provide $2 million toward reconnecting the water supply and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

The bill was approved unanimously in both the House and Senate and is now Public Act 143 of 2015.

For more information on this and other legislation, please visit www.legislature.mi.gov.

####

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to leedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, October 16, 2015 10:34 AM
Subject: 10/16 Newsroom
Attachments: 151016 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, Oct. 16, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Supplemental bill signing/Flint water

Michigan governor OKs $9.3M to end Flint water crisis (AP)
A Michigan city will receive $6 million in state funding to help switch its drinking water source after lead problems prompted officials to declare a public health emergency.

State's $6M aid for Flint water switch signed into law (Detroit News)
The city of Flint will receive $6 million in state aid to help temporarily switch its drinking water source back to Detroit after the discovery of lead contamination and other problems.

Senate approves, Snyder signs cash for Flint water fix (Detroit Free Press)
The state Senate voted 37-0 Thursday to approve the funds after the House of Representatives unanimously approved the same appropriation Wednesday night. Snyder said Thursday that the swift action by the Legislature was only the first step in dealing with the water crisis.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder signs spending bill with $9.35M for Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Thursday signed a supplemental spending bill that includes $9.35 million to address a public health crisis in Flint linked to high lead levels in drinking water. The governor wasted little time with the bill, signing it just hours after it had won unanimous approval in the Senate and one day after unanimous approval in the House.

Snyder signs $9.3 million water package for Flint (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed legislation sending $9.3 million to Flint, in an effort to bring the city closer to clean water. The package will provide $6 million of the $12 million needed to reconnect the city to Detroit's water system. The rest of the money will be set aside for additional testing and water filters.

State funding for Flint water is just a down payment (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law a measure giving more than $9 million to the City of Flint to fix its water, which has been poisoning its residents, especially its children, for more than year.

APPOINTMENTS

Negaunee man appointed to the Ski Area Safety Board (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today announced the appointments of James Grundstrom, of Negaunee, and Steve Robinson, of Birmingham, to the Ski Area Safety Board. The seven-member board works with the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs to oversee the operation of ski areas, surface and chair lifts, and tow ropes.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

Wamplers Lake water repair is completed (Daily Telegram)

A boil water advisory for customers of the South Shore Water System at Wamplers Lake was lifted Thursday, following a repair project on Monday, announced the Lenawee County Drain Commission. Tests were completed Thursday, following Michigan Department of Environmental Quality standards. The boil advisory was lifted at 7 a.m.

DNR

Heath: Fix drilling royalty collection issues (The Detroit News)

In July, Michigan's auditor general released a report showing that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has a problem collecting all of the revenue owed from oil and gas companies through exploration leases on state land, leading to a decrease in desperately needed revenue for our state. With a lease auction happening this month, we can and must do better and the auditor general points us in the right direction.

6,300 lake sturgeon released into Michigan waters (Detroit Free Press)

State officials say more than 6,300 juvenile lake sturgeon were released into Michigan waterways this summer and fall in a continuing effort to restore the ancient species. The Department of Natural Resources teamed with Native American tribes and other partners on the projects, including Michigan State University and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

MDARD

The U.S. Agriculture Department has sent $1.9 million to Michigan for specialty crop development ventures. (AP)

The U.S. Agriculture Department has sent $1.9 million to Michigan for specialty crop development ventures. The state Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the grants will expand the marketing, research and education of specialty crops. Specialty crops consist of fruits, vegetables, tree nuts and nursery crops. The awards are meant to boost Michigan's food and agriculture industry. The maximum amount awarded is $100,000.

MDOT

Ford airport in Grand Rapids reopening reconstructed runway (AP)

Gerald R. Ford International Airport is reopening one of its runways after a roughly $4 million construction project. The West Michigan Aviation Academy's flight school is scheduled to make the first flight Friday on the east-west runway just north of the airport's terminal.

M-134 becoming first new Pure Michigan Byway (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) invites the public to the announcement of M-134's designation as a Pure Michigan Byway. The celebration will be held on Friday at 11 a.m. at the Clark Township Community Center, 133 E. M-134 in Cedarville (east of M-129 on the north side of the highway).

MSP

New school bus lighting system to launch Monday (WLNS)

Whether the lights are yellow or red on a school bus, Michigan state police say it doesn't seem to matter for drivers who fly past school buses every day. So the department is teaming up with the Michigan association for pupil transportation and some local school districts to see if new technology will remind drivers stopping for a school bus isn't an option.

Arrest warrants issued for 38 sex offenders after Kalamazoo sweep (WKZO-AM)

Arrest warrants have been issued for 38 sex offenders in the Kalamazoo area who failed to report a change of address. The request was made by Michigan State Police after a two-day, multi-agency sweep last week, where officers checked in with 275 people on the registry.

MSP gives safety tips for Cybersecurity Awareness Month (Midland Daily News)

To encourage Michiganders to take an active role in their own cybersecurity, Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed October as Cybersecurity Awareness Month. Cybersecurity Awareness Month is designed to engage and educate residents and organizations about cybersecurity and increase the resiliency of the state in the event of a cyber incident. This month, the Michigan State Police encourages everyone to protect themselves by practicing good cyber hygiene.

SUPREME COURT

Michigan Supreme Court Hears Prevailing Wage Challenge (MPRN)
The Michigan Supreme Court heard arguments for and against local laws that require contractors on public projects to pay union-scale wages.

Michigan Supreme Court Appoints Chief Judges to Improve Trial Courts (9 & 10 News)
Michigan's Supreme Court is trying to improve efficiency and service at the state's trial courts. The court appointed chief judges for circuit, probate, district and municipal courts across the state.

Michigan Supreme Court hears case on whether cities can adopt prevailing wage ordinances (Crain's Detroit Business)
The Michigan Supreme Court today heard oral arguments in a case that will decide whether municipalities have the power to require contractors to pay union-scale wages and benefits on local building projects.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Senate panel OKs concealed guns in schools, 'gun-free' zones (AP)
People with concealed-carry permits could carry guns inside schools and other "pistol-free" areas under legislation advancing in Michigan's Legislature. The bill was approved 4-1 Tuesday by the Republican-led Senate Judiciary Committee.

Proposed bills take on nurse staffing shortages (Lansing State Journal)
Michigan lawmakers pushed nurse staffing bills last term, but they failed to advance. This time, supporters come armed with polling commissioned by the nurses union that shows Michigan voters would broadly support the legislation and any politicians who voted for it.

Senate votes to end deadline to petition for DNA test, trial (AP)
The Michigan Senate has voted unanimously to eliminate a deadline for people convicted of felonies to petition a judge for new DNA testing and a new trial.

Bipartisan domestic violence protection package passes House (Iona Sentinel-Standard)
The Michigan House of Representatives passed a bipartisan bill package that establishes clear and sensible protections for victims or potential victims of domestic violence Thursday.

From the Daily: Microbeads small part of big problem (The Michigan Daily)
Despite poor success within the past year, yet another bill has been proposed in the Michigan House of Representatives to ban the sale of "nonbiodegradable" microbeads in personal care products. As it stands, the legislation is problematic because it does not include a definition of "nonbiodegradable," leaving room for personal care companies to exploit loopholes.

Challenge accepted: Michigan Senators to debate road funding, fuel taxes in public forum (MLive)
Michigan Sen. Curtis Hertel has accepted a public challenge from Sen. Patrick Colbeck, who last week offered to debate "any state elected official" who believes it will be necessary to raise fuel taxes or fees to fix the state's crumbling roads.

Michigan House OKs 3rd grade reading bill to hold back struggling students, boost intervention (MLive)
Struggling readers would receive extra and early attention in school but could be held back a year under controversial legislation approved Thursday by the Michigan House.

DETROIT

Ex-Detroit principal to plead guilty in corruption probe (Detroit Free Press)
A former principal at Detroit's Mumford High School said Thursday she cut a deal to plead guilty to bribery and tax evasion for her role in a wide-ranging FBI investigation of corruption and kickbacks within the Detroit Public Schools and schools run by the Education Achievement Authority.

Debris closes Windsor streets under Ambassador Bridge (The Detroit News)
Windsor city officials closed two more streets beneath the Ambassador Bridge and are keeping another closed after an inspection found debris falling from the span. Visual inspection was performed on the underside of the bridge over all street crossings by structural engineers, according to a news release posted on the city's website Wednesday.

All-day bus service could return on key Detroit routes (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit area's suburban bus service is considering a proposal to restore all-day service along two key routes into Detroit, an effort aimed at returning a seamless public transportation connection between the city and suburbs.

More land buys near new Red Wings arena (The Detroit News)
Owners of the Detroit Red Wings and a holding firm they have used to buy other properties are gobbling up parking lots and buildings around the Masonic Temple, which is two blocks from the hockey team's new arena now under construction.

OPINION

Editorial: Presumptive parole is safe for Michigan (Battle Creek Enquirer)
It's infuriating when politicians, bereft of facts, resort to fear-mongering to get their way in public policy debates. When it's the state's top law enforcement official, it's disgraceful.

The right recipe for transforming Michigan public education (MLive)
My friend state Rep. Tim Kelly is right: Dramatic transformation of education is necessary to make Michigan a top education state again.

Federal probe of state reform district is troubling (Detroit Free Press)
We've applauded Gov. Rick Snyder for stepping in when other politicians have stood by, for working to effect change in the state's most troubled jurisdictions: struggling cities, failing school districts.

Lennox: Presidential politics hangs over Mich. gov race (Detroit News)
The battle for the GOP presidential nomination is turning into a proxy war between Michigan's Republican factions in the nascent 2018 campaign to replace Gov. Rick Snyder.

Editorial: Doctors key in halting painkiller abuse (Detroit News)
Deaths from legal narcotics in Michigan have increased five-fold over the past 15 years, giving the fight against drug abuse a new twist. Gov. Rick Snyder is targeting the misuse of prescription medicine as part of his campaign to reform all aspects of criminal justice.

Editor's note: Big government era back? (Detroit News)
Almost 20 years ago President Bill Clinton declared in a State of the Union address "the era of big government is over."

Sometimes, justice has to take the long route (Port Huron Times Herald)
everyone angry, frustrated and exhausted by the never-ending legal saga of Tia Skinner, a case decided last week by the Michigan Court of Appeals illustrates the value of patience.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, Oct. 16, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Supplemental bill signing/Flint water

Michigan governor OKs $9.3M to end Flint water crisis (AP)
A Michigan city will receive $6 million in state funding to help switch its drinking water source after lead problems prompted officials to declare a public health emergency.

State's $6M aid for Flint water switch signed into law (Detroit News)
The city of Flint will receive $6 million in state aid to help temporarily switch its drinking water source back to Detroit after the discovery of lead contamination and other problems.

Senate approves, Snyder signs cash for Flint water fix (Detroit Free Press)
The state Senate voted 37-0 Thursday to approve the funds after the House of Representatives unanimously approved the same appropriation Wednesday night. Snyder said Thursday that the swift action by the Legislature was only the first step in dealing with the water crisis.

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder signs spending bill with $9.35M for Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Thursday signed a supplemental spending bill that includes $9.35 million to address a public health crisis in Flint linked to high lead levels in drinking water. The governor wasted little time with the bill, signing it just hours after it had won unanimous approval in the Senate and one day after unanimous approval in the House.

Snyder signs $9.3 million water package for Flint (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed legislation sending $9.3 million to Flint, in an effort to bring the city closer to clean water. The package will provide $6 million of the $12 million needed to reconnect the city to Detroit's water system. The rest of the money will be set aside for additional testing and water filters.

State funding for Flint water is just a down payment (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law a measure giving more than $9 million to the City of Flint to fix its water, which has been poisoning its residents, especially its children, for more than year.

APPOINTMENTS

Negaunee man appointed to the Ski Area Safety Board (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today announced the appointments of James Grundstrom, of Negaunee, and Steve Robinson, of Birmingham, to the Ski Area Safety Board. The seven-member board works with the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs to oversee the operation of ski areas, surface and chair lifts, and tow ropes.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

Wamplers Lake water repair is completed (Daily Telegram)

A boil water advisory for customers of the South Shore Water System at Wamplers Lake was lifted Thursday, following a repair project on Monday, announced the Lenawee County Drain Commission. Tests were completed Thursday, following Michigan Department of Environmental Quality standards. The boil advisory was lifted at 7 a.m.

DNR

Heath: Fix drilling royalty collection issues (The Detroit News)

In July, Michigan's auditor general released a report showing that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has a problem collecting all of the revenue owed from oil and gas companies through exploration leases on state land, leading to a decrease in desperately needed revenue for our state. With a lease auction happening this month, we can and must do better and the auditor general points us in the right direction.

6,300 lake sturgeon released into Michigan waters (Detroit Free Press)

State officials say more than 6,300 juvenile lake sturgeon were released into Michigan waterways this summer and fall in a continuing effort to restore the ancient species. The Department of Natural Resources teamed with Native American tribes and other partners on the projects, including Michigan State University and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

MDARD

The U.S. Agriculture Department has sent $1.9 million to Michigan for specialty crop development ventures. (AP)

The U.S. Agriculture Department has sent $1.9 million to Michigan for specialty crop development ventures. The state Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the grants will expand the marketing, research and education of specialty crops. Specialty crops consist of fruits, vegetables, tree nuts and nursery crops. The awards are meant to boost Michigan's food and agriculture industry. The maximum amount awarded is $100,000.

MDOT

Ford airport in Grand Rapids reopening reconstructed runway (AP)

Gerald R. Ford International Airport is reopening one of its runways after a roughly $4 million construction project. The West Michigan Aviation Academy's flight school is scheduled to make the first flight Friday on the east-west runway just north of the airport's terminal.

M-134 becoming first new Pure Michigan Byway (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) invites the public to the announcement of M-134's designation as a Pure Michigan Byway. The celebration will be held on Friday at 11 a.m. at the Clark Township Community Center, 133 E. M-134 in Cedarville (east of M-129 on the north side of the highway).

MSP

New school bus lighting system to launch Monday (WLNS)

Whether the lights are yellow or red on a school bus, Michigan state police say it doesn't seem to matter for drivers who fly past school buses every day. So the department is teaming up with the Michigan association for pupil transportation and some local school districts to see if new technology will remind drivers stopping for a school bus isn't an option.

Arrest warrants issued for 38 sex offenders after Kalamazoo sweep (WKZO-AM)
Arrest warrants have been issued for 38 sex offenders in the Kalamazoo area who failed to report a change of address. The request was made by Michigan State Police after a two-day, multi-agency sweep last week, where officers checked in with 275 people on the registry.

MSP gives safety tips for Cybersecurity Awareness Month (Midland Daily News)
To encourage Michiganders to take an active role in their own cybersecurity, Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed October as Cybersecurity Awareness Month. Cybersecurity Awareness Month is designed to engage and educate residents and organizations about cybersecurity and increase the resiliency of the state in the event of a cyber incident. This month, the Michigan State Police encourages everyone to protect themselves by practicing good cyber hygiene.

SUPREME COURT
Michigan Supreme Court Hears Prevailing Wage Challenge (MPRN)
The Michigan Supreme Court heard arguments for and against local laws that require contractors on public projects to pay union-scale wages.

Michigan Supreme Court Appoints Chief Judges to Improve Trial Courts (9 & 10 News)
Michigan's Supreme Court is trying to improve efficiency and service at the state's trial courts. The court appointed chief judges for circuit, probate, district and municipal courts across the state.

Michigan Supreme Court hears case on whether cities can adopt prevailing wage ordinances (Crain's Detroit Business)
The Michigan Supreme Court today heard oral arguments in a case that will decide whether municipalities have the power to require contractors to pay union-scale wages and benefits on local building projects.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Senate panel OKs concealed guns in schools, 'gun-free' zones (AP)
People with concealed-carry permits could carry guns inside schools and other "pistol-free" areas under legislation advancing in Michigan's Legislature. The bill was approved 4-1 Tuesday by the Republican-led Senate Judiciary Committee.

Proposed bills take on nurse staffing shortages (Lansing State Journal)
Michigan lawmakers pushed nurse staffing bills last term, but they failed to advance. This time, supporters come armed with polling commissioned by the nurses union that shows Michigan voters would broadly support the legislation and any politicians who voted for it.

Senate votes to end deadline to petition for DNA test, trial (AP)
The Michigan Senate has voted unanimously to eliminate a deadline for people convicted of felonies to petition a judge for new DNA testing and a new trial.

Bipartisan domestic violence protection package passes House (Iona Sentinel-Standard)
The Michigan House of Representatives passed a bipartisan bill package that establishes clear and sensible protections for victims or potential victims of domestic violence Thursday.

From the Daily: Microbeads small part of big problem (The Michigan Daily)
Despite poor success within the past year, yet another bill has been proposed in the Michigan House of Representatives to ban the sale of "nonbiodegradable" microbeads in personal care products. As it stands, the legislation is problematic because it does not include a definition of "nonbiodegradable," leaving room for personal care companies to exploit loopholes.

Challenge accepted: Michigan Senators to debate road funding, fuel taxes in public forum (MLive)
Michigan Sen. Curtis Hertel has accepted a public challenge from Sen. Patrick Colbeck, who last week offered to debate "any state elected official" who believes it will be necessary to raise fuel taxes or fees to fix the state's crumbling roads.

Michigan House OKs 3rd grade reading bill to hold back struggling students, boost intervention (MLive)
Struggling readers would receive extra and early attention in school but could be held back a year under controversial legislation approved Thursday by the Michigan House.

DETROIT

Ex-Detroit principal to plead guilty in corruption probe (Detroit Free Press)
A former principal at Detroit's Mumford High School said Thursday she cut a deal to plead guilty to bribery and tax evasion for her role in a wide-ranging FBI investigation of corruption and kickbacks within the Detroit Public Schools and schools run by the Education Achievement Authority.

Debris closes Windsor streets under Ambassador Bridge (The Detroit News)
Windsor city officials closed two more streets beneath the Ambassador Bridge and are keeping another closed after an inspection found debris falling from the span. Visual inspection was performed on the underside of the bridge over all street crossings by structural engineers, according to a news release posted on the city's website Wednesday.

All-day bus service could return on key Detroit routes (Detroit Free Press)
The Detroit area's suburban bus service is considering a proposal to restore all-day service along two key routes into Detroit, an effort aimed at returning a seamless public transportation connection between the city and suburbs.

More land buys near new Red Wings arena (The Detroit News)
Owners of the Detroit Red Wings and a holding firm they have used to buy other properties are gobbling up parking lots and buildings around the Masonic Temple, which is two blocks from the hockey team's new arena now under construction.

OPINION

Editorial: Presumptive parole is safe for Michigan (Battle Creek Enquirer)
It's infuriating when politicians, bereft of facts, resort to fear-mongering to get their way in public policy debates. When it's the state's top law enforcement official, it's disgraceful.

The right recipe for transforming Michigan public education (MLive)
My friend state Rep. Tim Kelly is right: Dramatic transformation of education is necessary to make Michigan a top education state again.

Federal probe of state reform district is troubling (Detroit Free Press)
We've applauded Gov. Rick Snyder for stepping in when other politicians have stood by, for working to effect change in the state's most troubled jurisdictions: struggling cities, failing school districts.

Lennox: Presidential politics hangs over Mich. gov race (Detroit News)

The battle for the GOP presidential nomination is turning into a proxy war between Michigan's Republican factions in the nascent 2018 campaign to replace Gov. Rick Snyder.

Editorial: Doctors key in halting painkiller abuse (Detroit News)
Deaths from legal narcotics in Michigan have increased five-fold over the past 15 years, giving the fight against drug abuse a new twist. Gov. Rick Snyder is targeting the misuse of prescription medicine as part of his campaign to reform all aspects of criminal justice.

Editor's note: Big government era back? (Detroit News)
Almost 20 years ago President Bill Clinton declared in a State of the Union address "the era of big government is over."

Sometimes, justice has to take the long route (Port Huron Times Herald)
everyone angry, frustrated and exhausted by the never-ending legal saga of Tia Skinner, a case decided last week by the Michigan Court of Appeals illustrates the value of patience.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, October 19, 2015 9:52 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/19 Newsroom
Attachments: 151019 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, Oct. 19, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR and LT. GOVERNOR's ACTIVITIES

Special Education task force

Gov. Snyder forms special education task force (Macomb Daily)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder announced the creation of a task force that will suggest reforms for Michigan's special education system, according to a press release from the governor's office. The task force, led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, will head the task force, which address the key findings of Calley's special education listening tour.

Gov. Snyder Announces New Special Education Reform Task Force (9&10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder is creating a task force to improve Michigan's special education system. The task force was announced Friday and is called the Special Education Reform Task Force. It will be led by Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley, who has a daughter with autism.

New task force to target special education reform (TV 7&4)
Governor Rick Snyder is focusing on reforming Michigan's special education system to help special needs children reach their full potential. The creation of the new task force was announced Friday and will be led by Lt. Governor Brian Calley. The task force includes a representative from northern Michigan, Diane Heinzelman, who is the Director of Special Education, Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District and Chair of the Michigan Autism Council.

Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley to lead new task force for special education (Mlive)
A new Michigan task force on special education will recommend policy changes under the direction of Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. Calley recently went on a special education listening tour and presented his findings to the State Board of Education.

Lt. Gov. Calley to lead effort to reform special education (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder has created a task force that will recommend reforms to Michigan's special education system, following a broad set of recommendations made by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley last month.

Task force to recommend changes to special education system (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has created a task force to recommend changes to Michigan's special education system to help special needs children reach their potential. The task force announced Friday will be led by Gov. Brian Calley, who has a daughter with autism.

Governor Creates Special Ed Task Force (WHTC)
A blue ribbon task force headed by Lieutenant Governor Calley will come up with recommended reforms for Michigan's special education system that would help those with special needs "reach their full potential," according to Governor Snyder, who created the 16-member panel.

OPINION

Hiring people with disabilities is good business sense for Michigan employers (Crain's Detroit Business)
Earlier this year, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Michigan Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein launched a partnership to highlight the opportunities for hiring Michiganians with disabilities across the state. The MI Hidden Talent tour was focused on highlighting the skills of people with disabilities who are often overlooked.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Michigan DEQ vows changes in Flint water crisis (The Detroit News)
Dan Wyant, director of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality, said late Sunday that staff members applied the wrong standards of the Lead and Copper Rule that governs testing and monitoring for drinking water. The result was that proper controls regarding corrosion were not put in place when the city began drawing its water from the Flint River in spring 2014.

Federal task force will advise Flint, Michigan DEQ on city water (MLive)
The U.S. EPA Friday, Oct. 16, said it has established the Flint Safe Drinking Water Task Force to provide "technical expertise through regular conversations with designated officials" from the city and state. EPA will advise the state and city on the reconnection of Flint to Lake Huron water, including measures to make Flint's water less corrosive, a key to lowering lead levels.

DNR
More than 6,300 lake sturgeon released into Michigan waters (AP)
State officials say more than 6,300 juvenile lake sturgeon were released into Michigan waterways this summer and fall in a continuing effort to restore the ancient species. The Department of Natural Resources teamed with Native American tribes and other partners on the projects, including Michigan State University and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

MDARD
Michigan gets nearly $2 million for special crop ventures (AP)
The U.S. Agriculture Department has sent $1.9 million to Michigan for specialty crop development ventures. The state Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the grants will expand the marketing, research and education of specialty crops.

MDE
Lights On Afterschool effort to emphasize importance of after-school programs (MLive)
CIS relies heavily on local resources to fund its core work throughout the school day, (such as locating site coordinators within schools to identify needs and connect students to the right resources to remove barriers to school success) and CIS after school programs are available thanks to the support of federal dollars awarded through the Michigan Department of Education (21st Century Community Learning Centers).

MDHHS
Michigan's new Medicaid regions could be costly for Henry Ford Health System (Crain's Detroit Business)

Lansing-based Sparrow Health System, which owns Sparrow PHP, a 20,000-member Medicaid HMO, also could take a hit, though much smaller than what's expected for Henry Ford, based on Medicaid contract recommendations issued last week by the state Department of Health and Human Services.

MDOT

Group presents 'Connecting Lenawee' plan to commissioners (Daily Telegram)
The 22-member task force gathered input from stakeholders in a series of meetings between May and September, according to his presentation to the commission. Stakeholders in future development of non-motorized trails and pathways include the Michigan Department of Transportation, Lenawee County Road Commission, cities, villages, townships, Kiwanis clubs, bicycle and walking clubs, Adrian College, Siena Heights University and the YMCA of Lenawee County.

Department of Transportation unveiling Pure Michigan Byway (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is unveiling its first new Pure Michigan Byway at an event along a scenic route in the Upper Peninsula.

GR's Ford airport reopening reconstructed runway (AP)
Reconstruction work began in June. The total project cost is just over $4 million, with 90 percent covered by the Federal Aviation Administration's Airport Improvement Program. The airport and the Michigan Department of Transportation contributed 5 percent each.

M-231 in Ottawa Co. to open by the end of the month (WZZM)
Friday morning, the Michigan Department of Transportation dedicated the pedestrian and bicycle pathway on M-231's new Grand River bridge to the memory of Sergeant Henry E. Plant. Sergeant Plant was a Civil War soldier and the first service member from Ottawa County to receive the Medal of Honor. Next week, MDOT will dedicate the new highway during a special ceremony at the Grand River bridge.

SECRETARY OF STATE

Legal fight could mean longer lines to renew licenses (Detroit Free Press)
A fight between the Michigan Secretary of State's Office and the contractor who built its Express SOS website could result in much longer lines at branch offices to renew driver licenses, the state has warned in a court filing that asks a judge to order the contractor back to work.

SUPREME COURT

Dispute Over Insurance Fund Records Back at Appeals Court (WOOD News Radio)
The Michigan Supreme Court has ordered a lower court to take another look at a dispute over public access to records of an auto insurance fund.

Judge Herrington appointed to first full term as chief of Huron County courts (Huron Daily Tribune)
The Michigan Supreme Court this week reappointed Huron County District Judge David B. Herrington as chief judge of the county's courts.

DETROIT

Auto supplier to break ground on $30M plant in Detroit (The Detroit News)
Mayor Mike Duggan and officials with India-based auto supplier Sakthi Automotive Group are expected to attend a groundbreaking ceremony Monday for a new multi-million dollar manufacturing facility in southwest Detroit.

Runners, spectators overtake Detroit streets (The Detroit News)
Over 27,000 runners and thousands of spectators paid little attention to frigid temperatures as they overtook downtown Detroit for the 38th Detroit Free Press/Talmer Bank Marathon Sunday.

Gala raises $1.8M for Charles H. Wright Museum (The Detroit News)
Five donors gave $100,000 each to the Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History's gala which raised $1.8 million, making it the most successful fundraiser in the museum's history.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Sports betting could help fix Michigan roads, bill sponsor says (MLive)
Rep. Robert Kosowski, D-Westland, says his bill to legalize sports betting at casinos could help the state fund its crumbling roads.

Michigan bills would ban second-term abortion procedure (Midland Daily)
Michigan anti-abortion advocates are targeting a common second-trimester abortion procedure, pushing bills in the Republican-led Legislature to prohibit what they say is "dismemberment" of a fetus.

Planned Parenthood inspired bill in the Legislature (Freep)
The two-bill package would prohibit the sale of embryos or fetal tissue obtained through an elective abortion. It would also make the sale of the tissue a crime punishable by up to five years in prison.

Lawmakers approve aid for Flint to switch water source (Crain's)
Flint will receive $6 million in state funding to help switch its drinking water source after the discovery of lead and other problems connected to water quality.

4 years after Michigan tenure reform, 'everything in place' for new teacher evaluation law (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature is nearing the finish line on a long-running effort to establish a statewide framework for evaluating teacher effectiveness, a process expected to soon end with final approval by the Senate and signature by the governor.

OPINION

Schuette and Meekhof, top guns in Lansing, trade shots on parole bill (MLive)
The folks pushing for prison sentencing reform did not crack open the champagne bottles, but there was reason to celebrate after the Michigan House, on a strong bipartisan vote, popped a bill allowing some inmates to get out of the slammer after serving their minimum sentence.

Snyder faces 6 big headaches as his second term unfolds (MLive)
The governor may not realize it yet, but he has contracted a severe case of second-term-itis, which may require an extra-heavy booster shot of Relentless Positive Action.

Jacques: What's next for Detroit schools? (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder plans to make rounds on Monday, discussing his vision for reforming Detroit schools.

Column: Boost schools, end prevailing wage (Detroit News)
Here's a multiple-choice question: Michigan's mandated prevailing wage law (A) Benefits only construction unions and no one else, (B) Doesn't allow for best bids on construction projects, (C) Has more than 300,000 possible job classification scenarios that are so onerous most local small businesses can't compete and are shut out of work, or (D) Forces schools to pay millions more for work that can be done for less and without compromising quality.

Editorial: Impasse on roads not an option (Detroit News)
Governing is no picnic sometimes. But when things bog down, leaders can't toss up their hands and walk away. The people who elected them to the offices they sought expect them to get the job done.

Mitchell: We need leadership to solve road challenge (Detroit News)

We have all seen the struggles here in Michigan to find a solution to fix our roads. Late last year the legislature tried to pass the buck to voters by cobbling together the largest tax increase in Michigan in the last 50 years with much of the money generated earmarked for spending that had nothing to do with the roads.

Avoid another Flint disaster, clean out waterways (Detroit Free Press)
It's a shame for the people of Flint and their children, who, like all of us, deserve clean drinking water. But after all the finger-pointing and crying about the lack of foresight and concerns of saving money, no one came close to the root of the problem: pollution of our rivers and lakes.

Repealing prevailing wage a responsible decision (Detroit Free Press)
As Michigan's recovery continues to move forward and our state grows stronger, it is important that the Legislature remain focused on continuing to facilitate that growth.

Why fear-mongers are losing the prison reform fight (Detroit Free Press)
For the last decade or so, smart people in both major parties have been looking for ways to reduce the $2-billion bite the Michigan Department of Corrections takes out of taxpayers' wallets each year.

Time for a new Ambassador bridge? Maybe (Detroit Free Press)
Manuel (Matty) Moroun and his Detroit International Bridge Company can make you mad enough to spit sometimes.

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, Oct. 19, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR and LT. GOVERNOR's ACTIVITIES

Special Education task force

Gov. Snyder forms special education task force (Macomb Daily)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder announced the creation of a task force that will suggest reforms for Michigan's special education system, according to a press release from the governor's office. The task force, led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, will head the task force, which address the key findings of Calley's special education listening tour.

Gov. Snyder Announces New Special Education Reform Task Force (9&10 News)
Governor Rick Snyder is creating a task force to improve Michigan's special education system. The task force was announced Friday and is called the Special Education Reform Task Force. It will be led by Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley, who has a daughter with autism.

New task force to target special education reform (TV 7&4)
Governor Rick Snyder is focusing on reforming Michigan's special education system to help special needs children reach their full potential. The creation of the new task force was announced Friday and will be led by Lt. Governor Brian Calley. The task force includes a representative from northern Michigan, Diane Heinzelman, who is the Director of Special Education, Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District and Chair of the Michigan Autism Council.

Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley to lead new task force for special education (Mlive)
A new Michigan task force on special education will recommend policy changes under the direction of Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. Calley recently went on a special education listening tour and presented his findings to the State Board of Education.

Lt. Gov. Calley to lead effort to reform special education (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder has created a task force that will recommend reforms to Michigan's special education system, following a broad set of recommendations made by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley last month.

Task force to recommend changes to special education system (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has created a task force to recommend changes to Michigan's special education system to help special needs children reach their potential. The task force announced Friday will be led by Gov. Brian Calley, who has a daughter with autism.

Governor Creates Special Ed Task Force (WHTC)
A blue ribbon task force headed by Lieutenant Governor Calley will come up with recommended reforms for Michigan's special education system that would help those with special needs "reach their full potential," according to Governor Snyder, who created the 16-member panel.

OPINION

Hiring people with disabilities is good business sense for Michigan employers (Crain's Detroit Business)
Earlier this year, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Michigan Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein launched a partnership to highlight the opportunities for hiring Michiganians with disabilities across the state. The MI Hidden Talent tour was focused on highlighting the skills of people with disabilities who are often overlooked.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Michigan DEQ vows changes in Flint water crisis (The Detroit News)
Dan Wyant, director of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality, said late Sunday that staff members applied the wrong standards of the Lead and Copper Rule that governs testing and monitoring for drinking water. The result was that proper controls regarding corrosion were not put in place when the city began drawing its water from the Flint River in spring 2014.

Federal task force will advise Flint, Michigan DEQ on city water (MLive)
The U.S. EPA Friday, Oct. 16, said it has established the Flint Safe Drinking Water Task Force to provide "technical expertise through regular conversations with designated officials" from the city and state. EPA will advise the state and city on the reconnection of Flint to Lake Huron water, including measures to make Flint's water less corrosive, a key to lowering lead levels.

DNR
More than 6,300 lake sturgeon released into Michigan waters (AP)
State officials say more than 6,300 juvenile lake sturgeon were released into Michigan waterways this summer and fall in a continuing effort to restore the ancient species. The Department of Natural Resources teamed with Native American tribes and other partners on the projects, including Michigan State University and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

MDARD
Michigan gets nearly $2 million for special crop ventures (AP)
The U.S. Agriculture Department has sent $1.9 million to Michigan for specialty crop development ventures. The state Department of Agriculture and Rural Development says the grants will expand the marketing, research and education of specialty crops.

MDE
Lights On Afterschool effort to emphasize importance of after-school programs (MLive)
CIS relies heavily on local resources to fund its core work throughout the school day, (such as locating site coordinators within schools to identify needs and connect students to the right resources to remove barriers to school success) and CIS after school programs are available thanks to the support of federal dollars awarded through the Michigan Department of Education (21st Century Community Learning Centers).

MDHHS
Michigan's new Medicaid regions could be costly for Henry Ford Health System (Crain's Detroit Business)
Lansing-based Sparrow Health System, which owns Sparrow PHP, a 20,000-member Medicaid HMO, also could take a hit, though much smaller than what's expected for Henry Ford, based on Medicaid contract recommendations issued last week by the state Department of Health and Human Services.

MDOT
Group presents 'Connecting Lenawee' plan to commissioners (Daily Telegram)

The 22-member task force gathered input from stakeholders in a series of meetings between May and September, according to his presentation to the commission. Stakeholders in future development of non-motorized trails and pathways include the Michigan Department of Transportation, Lenawee County Road Commission, cities, villages, townships, Kiwanis clubs, bicycle and walking clubs, Adrian College, Siena Heights University and the YMCA of Lenawee County.

Department of Transportation unveiling Pure Michigan Byway (AP)
The Michigan Department of Transportation is unveiling its first new Pure Michigan Byway at an event along a scenic route in the Upper Peninsula.

GR's Ford airport reopening reconstructed runway (AP)
Reconstruction work began in June. The total project cost is just over $4 million, with 90 percent covered by the Federal Aviation Administration's Airport Improvement Program. The airport and the Michigan Department of Transportation contributed 5 percent each.

M-231 in Ottawa Co. to open by the end of the month (WZZM)
Friday morning, the Michigan Department of Transportation dedicated the pedestrian and bicycle pathway on M-231's new Grand River bridge to the memory of Sergeant Henry E. Plant. Sergeant Plant was a Civil War soldier and the first service member from Ottawa County to receive the Medal of Honor. Next week, MDOT will dedicate the new highway during a special ceremony at the Grand River bridge.

SECRETARY OF STATE
Legal fight could mean longer lines to renew licenses (Detroit Free Press)
A fight between the Michigan Secretary of State's Office and the contractor who built its Express SOS website could result in much longer lines at branch offices to renew driver licenses, the state has warned in a court filing that asks a judge to order the contractor back to work.

SUPREME COURT
Dispute Over Insurance Fund Records Back at Appeals Court (WOOD News Radio)
The Michigan Supreme Court has ordered a lower court to take another look at a dispute over public access to records of an auto insurance fund.

Judge Herrington appointed to first full term as chief of Huron County courts (Huron Daily Tribune)
The Michigan Supreme Court this week reappointed Huron County District Judge David B. Herrington as chief judge of the county's courts.

DETROIT

Auto supplier to break ground on $30M plant in Detroit (The Detroit News)
Mayor Mike Duggan and officials with India-based auto supplier Sakthi Automotive Group are expected to attend a groundbreaking ceremony Monday for a new multi-million dollar manufacturing facility in southwest Detroit.

Runners, spectators overtake Detroit streets (The Detroit News)
Over 27,000 runners and thousands of spectators paid little attention to frigid temperatures as they overtook downtown Detroit for the 38th Detroit Free Press/Talmer Bank Marathon Sunday.

Gala raises $1.8M for Charles H. Wright Museum (The Detroit News)
Five donors gave $100,000 each to the Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History's gala which raised $1.8 million, making it the most successful fundraiser in the museum's history.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Sports betting could help fix Michigan roads, bill sponsor says (MLive)
Rep. Robert Kosowski, D-Westland, says his bill to legalize sports betting at casinos could help the state fund its crumbling roads.

Michigan bills would ban second-term abortion procedure (Midland Daily)
Michigan anti-abortion advocates are targeting a common second-trimester abortion procedure, pushing bills in the Republican-led Legislature to prohibit what they say is "dismemberment" of a fetus.

Planned Parenthood inspired bill in the Legislature (Freep)
The two-bill package would prohibit the sale of embryos or fetal tissue obtained through an elective abortion. It would also make the sale of the tissue a crime punishable by up to five years in prison.

Lawmakers approve aid for Flint to switch water source (Crain's)
Flint will receive $6 million in state funding to help switch its drinking water source after the discovery of lead and other problems connected to water quality.

4 years after Michigan tenure reform, 'everything in place' for new teacher evaluation law (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature is nearing the finish line on a long-running effort to establish a statewide framework for evaluating teacher effectiveness, a process expected to soon end with final approval by the Senate and signature by the governor.

OPINION

Schuette and Meekhof, top guns in Lansing, trade shots on parole bill (MLive)
The folks pushing for prison sentencing reform did not crack open the champagne bottles, but there was reason to celebrate after the Michigan House, on a strong bipartisan vote, popped a bill allowing some inmates to get out of the slammer after serving their minimum sentence.

Snyder faces 6 big headaches as his second term unfolds (MLive)
The governor may not realize it yet, but he has contracted a severe case of second-term-itis, which may require an extra-heavy booster shot of Relentless Positive Action.

Jacques: What's next for Detroit schools? (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder plans to make rounds on Monday, discussing his vision for reforming Detroit schools.

Column: Boost schools, end prevailing wage (Detroit News)
Here's a multiple-choice question: Michigan's mandated prevailing wage law (A) Benefits only construction unions and no one else, (B) Doesn't allow for best bids on construction projects, (C) Has more than 300,000 possible job classification scenarios that are so onerous most local small businesses can't compete and are shut out of work, or (D) Forces schools to pay millions more for work that can be done for less and without compromising quality.

Editorial: Impasse on roads not an option (Detroit News)
Governing is no picnic sometimes. But when things bog down, leaders can't toss up their hands and walk away. The people who elected them to the offices they sought expect them to get the job done.

Mitchell: We need leadership to solve road challenge (Detroit News)
We have all seen the struggles here in Michigan to find a solution to fix our roads. Late last year the legislature tried to pass the buck to voters by cobbling together the largest tax increase in Michigan in the last 50 years with much of the money generated earmarked for spending that had nothing to do with the roads.

Avoid another Flint disaster, clean out waterways (Detroit Free Press)
It's a shame for the people of Flint and their children, who, like all of us, deserve clean drinking water. But after all the finger-pointing and crying about the lack of foresight and concerns of saving money, no one came close to the root of the problem: pollution of our rivers and lakes.

Repealing prevailing wage a responsible decision (Detroit Free Press)
As Michigan's recovery continues to move forward and our state grows stronger, it is important that the Legislature remain focused on continuing to facilitate that growth.

Why fear-mongers are losing the prison reform fight (Detroit Free Press)
For the last decade or so, smart people in both major parties have been looking for ways to reduce the $2-billion bite the Michigan Department of Corrections takes out of taxpayers' wallets each year.

Time for a new Ambassador bridge? Maybe (Detroit Free Press)
Manuel (Matty) Moroun and his Detroit International Bridge Company can make you mad enough to spit sometimes.

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Monday, October 19, 2015 3:03 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - October 19, 2015

NEWS

What a College Football Miracle Looks Like

The Atlantic

On Saturday evening, the University of Michigan's football team stood ten meager seconds away from a major win against undefeated Michigan State, ...

MSU 27, UM 23: Botched punt leads to stunning defeat - Detroit Free Press

Column: The punt that wasn't, and 10 seconds of Michigan football history that will live forever - MLive.com

Raw footage of Michigan State touchdown shows football without the sugarcoating - The Verge

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Rick Haglund: Michigan policymakers are state's biggest mobility hurdle

MLive.com

A Google self-driving car is on exhibit at the Computer History Museum in Mountain View, Calif. The head of self-driving cars for Google on ...

Flag as irrelevant

Did Ohio State almost feel sorry for Michigan? 5 Doug Lesmerises observations

cleveland.com

COLUMBUS, Ohio -- Is is possible that Michigan's downfall was so shocking Saturday that the Ohio State Buckeyes almost felt ... sorry for the ...

Men's Soccer Drops Tough Match at Michigan State, 2-1 - GoPSUsports.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

The College Football Top 25: From a Michigan State miracle to suddenly sexy Stanford

Washington Post

Justifiably, the Michigan State head coach was even more measured than usual after his 82nd and strangest victory across nine Spartan seasons, that ...

The Michigan Punt Blunder ---- 4 Winners, 4 Losers - Houston Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Boise State kicker to Michigan punter: Prepare for 'dark, dark, low place'

CBSSports.com

It's five years later and Kyle Brotzman still hasn't healed. Watching a replay of Michigan State-Michigan Saturday night didn't help. "He's going to be ...

Flag as irrelevant

State admits mistakes in Flint water switch

Detroit Free Press

FLINT ---- The State of Michigan has removed its top drinking water quality official and admitted it botched corrosion control in Flint water pipes, which ...

Flag as irrelevant

Shades of Michigan State with punt block for TD in final seconds for Maryland school

USA TODAY High School Sports

Good Counsel (Olney, Md.) had its own version of the Michigan State-Michigan finish on Saturday. With overtime looming, Keandre Jones blocked a ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's Watts-Jackson has hip surgery after scoring winning TD against Michigan

Minneapolis Star Tribune

Feed Loader Michigan State safety Grayson Miller (44) celebrates as teammates jump on defensive back Jalen Watts-Jackson after Watts-Jackson ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State stands pat in Top 25 poll after miracle win over Michigan

FOXSports.com

Michigan State was feeling good after Saturday's win but it didn't help its Top 25 standing. ... 7 after its miracle against Michigan and Alabama is No.

Flag as irrelevant

Cleveland Cavs owner Dan Gilbert loves Michigan State Spartans football win over Michigan

FOXSports.com

Michigan State's stunning victory over Michigan on Saturday was felt more ... So a regular-season win against Michigan meant more to Gilbert than:.

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.
Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, October 20, 2015 9:47 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/20 Newsroom
Attachments: 151020 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 20, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Detroit schools reform
Snyder: Unpaid bills could tip DPS into financial chaos (Detroit News)
As Gov. Rick Snyder steps up his push for the Legislature to bail out the debt-ridden Detroit Public Schools, his administration is bracing for unpaid vendors to seek court orders that could trigger what he describes as a "chaotic" financial free-fall for Michigan's largest school system.

How Snyder plans to sell his $715 million plan for Detroit schools to Michigan lawmakers (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder will ask lawmakers to facilitate his 10-year, $715 million plan to improve education in the state's largest city and help Detroit Public Schools crawl out from under a mountain of debt. Snyder, speaking Monday morning during a media roundtable in Detroit, outlined pending legislation, saying that improving education in Detroit and paying off debt will provide a long-term benefit to the state.

Snyder's plan to overhaul DPS could cost $715M (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder has renewed his push to overhaul Detroit's troubled education system, announcing today that creating a debt-free city school district will cost the state up to $715 million over 10 years. The crux of the governor's proposal — parts of which were first released in April — involves splitting Detroit Public Schools into two entities, a "new" and "old" district, as a way to pay off DPS' massive debt. It would also add extra oversight in areas like finances, school placement and school performance.

Gov. Snyder: Michigan liable if Detroit schools not fixed (AP)
Michigan should divert $70 million annually to Detroit's school district over a decade to pay off an estimated $715 million in operating debt or else the state-run district could face financial defaults and put the state at risk of owing more later, Gov. Rick Snyder warned Monday.

Snyder details plans to fix Detroit schools; could cost state $715 million (Crain's Detroit Business)
Gov. Rick Snyder today outlined a $715 million plan to split Detroit's troubled public school system into two separate districts to help improve academic performance while paying down more than a half billion dollars in operating debt. The proposed legislative package would phase out the existing Detroit Public Schools district after it pays down the district's remaining debt — about $515 million — while creating the new Detroit Community School District that would be charged with everything else, from teaching students to negotiating teacher contracts.

Gov. Snyder proposes new plan to overhaul Detroit's school system (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Snyder's plan would split the current school district in two. Similar to the GM bankruptcy, there would essentially be an "old" Detroit Public Schools district and a new district. The old district would pay down the school system's debt with the current school millage in Detroit.

Governor Snyder: It'll Take $715 Million to Bail Out Detroit Schools (WHTC)
Governor Snyder said that a package currently in the Legislature aimed at reversing longstanding problems in Detroit Public Schools isn't a quick fix, but admitted that the state would have to provide 715 million dollars over 10 years to pay off the district's over half-billion-dollar operating debt while ensuring that schools stay open for 47 thousand Motor City students.

Michigan governor readies legislation to fix Detroit schools (Reuters)
Detroit's public schools should be split between a new community school district and the current district to raise academic performance and avoid financial collapse, Michigan Governor Rick Snyder said on Monday. The new district would be responsible for operations, while current district would be charged with eliminating a budget deficit.

Skubick: Snyder calls for state tax money to revamp Detroit schools (WLNS)
Governor Snyder has released an ambitious proposal to re-vamp the Detroit school system, using state tax dollars to do it. The package faces a rough road ahead. And you thought fixing the roads was a tough challenge.

Governor Snyder outlines proposed education plan for Detroit (WXYZ)
In a roundtable discussion that was held Monday morning, Governor Rick Snyder outlined his proposed education plan for Detroit. "There is no question that Detroit children need a solid education so they can compete in a global economy but also for their city to accelerate its revitalization," Snyder said. "This is an opportunity to recast a structure that isn't meeting the needs of the city's families for a variety of reasons. Starting with a plan presented by community leaders, we have crafted a new approach that will give families quality public school options while stabilizing district finances."

Snyder reveals $700 million plan to save Detroit Public Schools (Fox 2 Detroit)
About $715 million, that's how many tax dollars it will take to wipe out debt at Detroit Public Schools and start fresh. Gov. Rick Snyder announced details of the massive overhaul Monday. "This is a critically important issue because we're talking about the lives of thousands and thousands of children," Snyder said.

Governor Snyder Faces Uphill Battle for Detroit Schools' Rescue Plan (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder wants the Legislature to adopt an expensive, controversial plan to overhaul Detroit's schools by the end of the year. Snyder outlined his plan in Detroit on Monday. The goal is to rescue Detroit Public Schools (DPS) from crushing debt and dismal academic results. The proposal would split the district in two. A new body would oversee education and normal school operations. The old DPS would exist only to collect taxes and pay down debt.

Gov. Rick Snyder releases details of Detroit education plan (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder will ask lawmakers to direct $70 million more a year over a decade to Detroit's school district to address $715 million in operating debt. Snyder says if nothing is done and the troubled state-run district has "financial defaults," Michigan will be on the hook for more in the future. He warned Monday that every other K-12 district would face higher retirement system bills.

Flint water
Snyder defends environmental director on Flint crisis (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday defended his environmental department director's handling of the Flint water crisis, but said he's asked for a report on how the agency didn't detect lead-leaching corrosion in the city's aging pipelines. Dan

Wyant, director of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality, said late Sunday that staff members applied the wrong standards of the federal Lead and Copper Rule that governs testing and monitoring for drinking water.

Interviews

Gov. Snyder: We need the public to speak up, ask legislators to get roads deal done (WXYZ)

Talks are at an impasse to fix our roads, and we're nearly six months since the failure of Proposal one, with no roads deal in sight. Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder told us he thought that they had a good solution, but politics interjected.

Gov. Snyder: We all win if Middle Eastern refugees come to Michigan (WXYZ)

Last month, Gov. Rick Snyder said he believes Michigan should be a welcoming state to Syrian refugees after The White House announced the U.S. planned to accept 10,000 refugees in fiscal year 2016. Snyder joined The Now Detroit on Monday to talk more about his ideas.

Gov. Snyder: I'm pro-Gordie Howe Bridge, not anti-Ambassador Bridge (WXYZ)

With Canadian inspectors examining the Ambassador Bridge after evidence of crumbling concrete, we wanted to get Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder's thoughts on the issue. According to Snyder, he hasn't spent too much time thinking about it because it is on the Canadian side, and it's between the Canadian government and the bridge company. He did say he hopes they get it resolved.

Gov. Snyder talks Detroit schools with Paul W. Smith (WJR Radio)

Governor Rick Snyder tells Paul W. Smith it's time to take a serious look at Detroit's troubled school district and get it fixed.

Gov. Snyder talks Detroit schools with MPS (Michigan's Big Show)

Special Education task force

State Rep. Liberati appointed by governor to special education task force (Southgate News Herald)

Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed Rep. Frank Liberati (D-Allen Park) to a committee tasked with improving Michigan's special education system. The Special Education Reform Task Force, being led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, will be developing policy recommendations based on findings of a statewide special education listening tour Calley conducted, according to a statement from Liberati's office.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

DEQ chief says state used wrong federal water rules in Flint for 17 months (Mlive)

The city used the wrong federal standards to treat Flint River water for 17 months, the state's chief environmental officer now says. Dan Wyant, director of the state Department of Environmental Quality, said DEQ officials were confused on federal regulations that required the city to make Flint River water less corrosive.

Michigan Official: Federal Water Rules Not Followed In Flint (WILX)

The head of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality says federal rules governing drinking water weren't followed properly in Flint, where problems with lead prompted officials to declare a public health emergency. DEQ Director Dan Wyant on Sunday acknowledged mistakes by the state in its handling of the situation and says "necessary changes" are being made.

Flint wants tougher consequences for MDEQ mistakes (Michigan Radio)

People in Flint say the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality needs to do more than admit mistakes in the handling of the city's tainted water crisis. Last week, Flint switched back to Detroit water after numerous problems with lead and other issues in the city's drinking water. The head of MDEQ admits monitoring errors were made and a top agency official has been reassigned.

Gov's plan to fix DPS: The best we've got (The Detroit Free Press)

We'd all better hope Gov. Rick Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's public schools works, because it's the best option on the table. But neither Detroit Public Schools' profound challenges — nor the district's dearth of options — ensure the plan's success, either in the Michigan Legislature or among Detroiters.

DEQ replaces water official after state acknowledges 'mistake' in Flint (Mlive)
State Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant is replacing his top municipal drinking water official after acknowledging oversight mistakes with the Flint water system in a news release Monday, Oct. 19. Wyant issued a written statement Monday, saying the state enforced the wrong federal standards for treating Flint River water for more than 17 months, failing to require that the city make it less corrosive.

DMVA
Veterans Community Action Team brings collaboration, resources to 30,000 U.P. veterans (UP Matters/TV 3)
More than 30,000 veterans in the Upper Peninsula will have easier access to comprehensive health, employment, education and quality-of-life opportunities thanks to a collaboration that brings together local, state and federal resources and services. The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency is expanding its Veterans Community Action Team program to veterans and their families living in Michigan's Prosperity Region 1, which includes all of the U.P.'s 15 counties.

VA leader: GR Vets Home 'improving' despite citations (Wood TV 8)
There's a big shakeup in leadership happening at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans: Two top administrators are out and a new CEO takes over next week. But why the reason for the change, and what does it mean for veterans? Monday, 24 Hour News 8 sought answers from Jim Dunn, the deputy director of the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA).

MDARD
Threat of Avian Flu Returns (WILX)
Farmers in Michigan are working hard to keep Avian Flu away from our chicken and eggs. "Bio security is very important," said Valerie Vail-Shirey with Michigan Allied Poultry Industries. "Whether you have a flock of 6 birds, 6 hens in your backyard to 50 turkeys, or a commercial flock of 6 million, it is important that you know your'e not transferring from farm to farm."

Tiny cranberry gets big attention this time of year (The Detroit News)
The harvest has begun for what might be one of Michigan's smallest agricultural crops. Cranberries are being collected from their water-flooded beds at the Michigan Cranberry Co., where up to 25 employees don waders and place booms around the floating fruit to be suctioned into containers for processing. "We have 45 beds we harvest," said Sharon Huggett during a recent tour of the cranberry farm. "We sell the cranberries wholesale and up to 67 acres of our 230 acres are sold to Ocean Spray."

MDE
Critics question Michigan's online textbooks (WLNS)
The Michigan Department of Education has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on e-textbooks, hoping to save money for school districts. But critics say many are full of misinformation and errors. The free textbooks were commissioned under a $600,000 grant from the state and were written by Michigan social studies teachers.

MDOC
Plans move ahead for $30M Detroit manufacturing facility (AP)
Plans by India-based Sakthi Automotive Group for a roughly $30 million manufacturing facility on Detroit's southwest side are moving forward.
A groundbreaking is Monday on the project, which was announced in May. Mayor Mike Duggan and Sakthi officials are among those attending. The 180,000-square-foot facility is part of a larger project that includes the redevelopment of the former Southwestern High School.

MDHHS

Disabled residents denied Medicaid could now be eligible, Sen. Stamas says (MLive)
Any disabled Michigan resident denied Medicaid eligibility in the past because of their income level should recheck their eligibility, a state senator advises. State Sen. Jim Stamas, R-Midland, issued a press release reminding constituents of a change to eligibility requirements in Michigan's "Freedom to Work" program that took effect on Oct. 1.

Michigan Department of Health and Human Services offers carbon monoxide warning (Holland Sentinal)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is reminding the community to be mindful of carbon monoxide dangers in the approaching winter months. "Carbon monoxide is difficult to detect; however, carbon monoxide poisoning is completely preventable," said Dr. Eden Wells, chief medical executive at the MDHHS, said in a news release. "Now is the time to ensure that furnaces and water heaters are working properly, and that carbon monoxide detectors are installed and have fresh batteries. If you suspect you have been exposed to carbon monoxide, leave the area immediately and seek medical attention."

MI Foster Kids Are Often Identity Theft Victims (WSJM)
Experts in Michigan say that kids as young as six are becoming victims of Identity theft, and there's an effort to ensure they're better protected. Angelique Day, Director of the Transition to Independence Program at Wayne State University, says that a foster kid's personal information is often visible to many people as they go through the system, which why the thefts occur. Day says that recovering from identity theft itself is a time consuming and costly endeavor, and it's critical to discover fraud before it's too late.

Michigan receives grant to develop behavioral health clinics (AP)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics. Michigan is among 24 states chosen to receive a planning grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration. The state health department will use the funding to develop criteria for certified community behavioral health clinics, establish a payment system and prepare an application to participate in a two-year demonstration program.

MEDC
Indian parts supplier breaks ground on $31 million investment in Southwest Detroit (Mlive)
Imported from Detroit gets fresh meaning as an automotive parts supplier's $31 million investment at an empty school officially gets underway. Sakthi Automotive Group is rehabbing a historic part of Southwestern High School and the former American Mailers Building on Fort Street in Southwest Detroit as part of a 181,000-square-foot facility that will produce tier-1 parts for automakers.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan bills would ban second-term abortion procedure (The Detroit News)
Michigan anti-abortion advocates are targeting a common second-trimester abortion procedure, pushing bills in the Republican-led Legislature to prohibit what they say is "dismemberment" of a fetus. Similar criminal bans have been approved in two other states, Kansas and Oklahoma, where they temporarily are on hold after court rulings. The Michigan legislation was the subject of a House hearing on Tuesday and could advance this fall.

GOP opponents seek to quash Courser comeback (The Detroit News)
Todd Courser is trying to make a special primary election next month a referendum on his eight months in the Michigan House of Representatives, while his Republican opponents say it's more about what Courser didn't do in office. "Obviously this is a referendum on me," Courser said at a recent public forum for the 11 GOP candidates seeking to fill the House seat he abandoned a month ago. His resignation averted an ouster by his legislative colleagues for what he has since nonchalantly called his "first worldwide sex scandal and cover-up."

'Green Tea' Party? Far right Republicans, liberal Democrats aligning on Michigan renewable energy issue (Mlive)
Rep. Jeff Irwin is a proud progressive, and Rep. Gary Glenn is widely considered one of the most conservative Republicans in the Michigan legislature. But they're working together on an energy package that would encourage renewable energy in Michigan. Virtually undiscussed in the House until very recently, net metering — the process of individuals producing their own energy and selling excess back onto the grid — has in some ways dominated the Senate Energy and Technology committee's discussion on energy reform.

Mich. GOP calls on Gilbert to refund spouse's cash (The Detroit News)
The Michigan Republican Party wants Democratic congressional candidate and former "Little House on the Prairie" star Melissa Gilbert to refund her husband's $5,400 campaign contribution and put it toward paying the money she owes in back taxes. Timothy Busfield, an actor and director, made two $2,700 donations to his wife's campaign on Sept. 30, according to campaign finance reports.

DETROIT

Regional water authority names interim CEO to top spot (The Detroit News)
The regional Great Lakes Water Authority's board of directors voted Monday to name Sue McCormick as its CEO. The six-member board voted 5-1 during a special meeting to choose McCormick as the authority's top administrator, pending the successful negotiation of a contract.

Detroit marathon sets record, inspires proposals (The Detroit Free Press)
To his dying godfather, a once-prolific runner, Eric Rhymes promised that he would run this year's Detroit marathon. It was no small commitment. Rhymes, 39, had never tried to run 26.2 miles until he squeezed into the crowd Sunday morning behind the starting line of the 38th Detroit Free Press/Talmer Bank Marathon. His godfather, Earnest Taylor, a runner of 103 marathons, died in August at age 70.

OPINION

Riley: Where's an education plan for Detroit children? (Detroit Free Press)
State Rep. Harvey Santana, whose district includes the west side, took his out-state colleague Rep. Daniela Garcia on a tour of three schools.

Gov's plan to fix DPS: The best we've got (Detroit Free Press)
We'd all better hope Gov. Rick Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's public schools works, because it's the best option on the table.

Editorial: Social security should be top campaign issue (Detroit News)
Democrat Bernie Sanders and Republican Chris Christie may not realize their presidential ambitions, and may never even get their respective party's nomination. But they are performing an important service in the 2016 campaign by keeping the issue of Social Security reform alive.

Lawmakers moved fast to get the lead out of Flint water (MLive)
Nobody knows how many column inches are written every year on the comings and goings at the state Capitol, but we do know that the focus is mainly on all the stuff lawmakers screw up.

Susan J. Demas: Here's how bad things are for Democrats in Michigan (MLive)
Most people — even Republicans — think of Michigan as a blue state.

Column: Teacher evaluation bill lacks mandates experts say are necessary to life student achievement (MLive)
Four years ago, the Legislature embarked on an ambitious and worthy mission to improve teacher effectiveness in Michigan.

Column: Update young offender sentencing (Detroit News)
As legislators, we like to think of Michigan as a forward-thinking state. In many areas of state law, this is true. However, one area that is firmly rooted in outdated ideals and practices is our method of charging and sentencing youthful offenders. Currently, Michigan is one of only nine states that automatically charges and prosecutes 17-year-olds as adults.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 20, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Detroit schools reform

Snyder: Unpaid bills could tip DPS into financial chaos (Detroit News)
As Gov. Rick Snyder steps up his push for the Legislature to bail out the debt-ridden Detroit Public Schools, his administration is bracing for unpaid vendors to seek court orders that could trigger what he describes as a "chaotic" financial free-fall for Michigan's largest school system.

How Snyder plans to sell his $715 million plan for Detroit schools to Michigan lawmakers (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder will ask lawmakers to facilitate his 10-year, $715 million plan to improve education in the state's largest city and help Detroit Public Schools crawl out from under a mountain of debt. Snyder, speaking Monday morning during a media roundtable in Detroit, outlined pending legislation, saying that improving education in Detroit and paying off debt will provide a long-term benefit to the state.

Snyder's plan to overhaul DPS could cost $715M (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder has renewed his push to overhaul Detroit's troubled education system, announcing today that creating a debt-free city school district will cost the state up to $715 million over 10 years. The crux of the governor's proposal — parts of which were first released in April — involves splitting Detroit Public Schools into two entities, a "new" and "old" district, as a way to pay off DPS' massive debt. It would also add extra oversight in areas like finances, school placement and school performance.

Gov. Snyder: Michigan liable if Detroit schools not fixed (AP)
Michigan should divert $70 million annually to Detroit's school district over a decade to pay off an estimated $715 million in operating debt or else the state-run district could face financial defaults and put the state at risk of owing more later, Gov. Rick Snyder warned Monday.

Snyder details plans to fix Detroit schools; could cost state $715 million (Crain's Detroit Business)
Gov. Rick Snyder today outlined a $715 million plan to split Detroit's troubled public school system into two separate districts to help improve academic performance while paying down more than a half billion dollars in operating debt. The proposed legislative package would phase out the existing Detroit Public Schools district after it pays down the district's remaining debt — about $515 million — while creating the new Detroit Community School District that would be charged with everything else, from teaching students to negotiating teacher contracts.

Gov. Snyder proposes new plan to overhaul Detroit's school system (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Snyder's plan would split the current school district in two. Similar to the GM bankruptcy, there would essentially be an "old" Detroit Public Schools district and a new district. The old district would pay down the school system's debt with the current school millage in Detroit.

Governor Snyder: It'll Take $715 Million to Bail Out Detroit Schools (WHTC)
Governor Snyder said that a package currently in the Legislature aimed at reversing longstanding problems in Detroit Public Schools isn't a quick fix, but admitted that the state would have to provide 715 million dollars over 10 years to pay off the district's over half-billion-dollar operating debt while ensuring that schools stay open for 47 thousand Motor City students.

Michigan governor readies legislation to fix Detroit schools (Reuters)
Detroit's public schools should be split between a new community school district and the current district to raise academic performance and avoid financial collapse, Michigan Governor Rick Snyder said on Monday. The new district would be responsible for operations, while current district would be charged with eliminating a budget deficit.

Skubick: Snyder calls for state tax money to revamp Detroit schools (WLNS)
Governor Snyder has released an ambitious proposal to re-vamp the Detroit school system, using state tax dollars to do it. The package faces a rough road ahead. And you thought fixing the roads was a tough challenge.

Governor Snyder outlines proposed education plan for Detroit (WXYZ)
In a roundtable discussion that was held Monday morning, Governor Rick Snyder outlined his proposed education plan for Detroit. "There is no question that Detroit children need a solid education so they can compete in a global economy but also for their city to accelerate its revitalization," Snyder said. "This is an opportunity to recast a structure that isn't meeting the needs of the city's families for a variety of reasons. Starting with a plan presented by community leaders, we have crafted a new approach that will give families quality public school options while stabilizing district finances."

Snyder reveals $700 million plan to save Detroit Public Schools (Fox 2 Detroit)
About $715 million, that's how many tax dollars it will take to wipe out debt at Detroit Public Schools and start fresh. Gov. Rick Snyder announced details of the massive overhaul Monday. "This is a critically important issue because we're talking about the lives of thousands and thousands of children," Snyder said.

Governor Snyder Faces Uphill Battle for Detroit Schools' Rescue Plan (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder wants the Legislature to adopt an expensive, controversial plan to overhaul Detroit's schools by the end of the year. Snyder outlined his plan in Detroit on Monday. The goal is to rescue Detroit Public Schools (DPS) from crushing debt and dismal academic results. The proposal would split the district in two. A new body would oversee education and normal school operations. The old DPS would exist only to collect taxes and pay down debt.

Gov. Rick Snyder releases details of Detroit education plan (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder will ask lawmakers to direct $70 million more a year over a decade to Detroit's school district to address $715 million in operating debt. Snyder says if nothing is done and the troubled state-run district has "financial defaults," Michigan will be on the hook for more in the future. He warned Monday that every other K-12 district would face higher retirement system bills.

Flint water
Snyder defends environmental director on Flint crisis (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Monday defended his environmental department director's handling of the Flint water crisis, but said he's asked for a report on how the agency didn't detect lead-leaching corrosion in the city's aging pipelines. Dan Wyant, director of Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality, said late Sunday that staff members applied the wrong standards of the federal Lead and Copper Rule that governs testing and monitoring for drinking water.

Interviews

Gov. Snyder: We need the public to speak up, ask legislators to get roads deal done (WXYZ)
Talks are at an impasse to fix our roads, and we're nearly six months since the failure of Proposal one, with no roads deal in sight. Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder told us he thought that they had a good solution, but politics interjected.

Gov. Snyder: We all win if Middle Eastern refugees come to Michigan (WXYZ)
Last month, Gov. Rick Snyder said he believes Michigan should be a welcoming state to Syrian refugees after The White House announced the U.S. planned to accept 10,000 refugees in fiscal year 2016. Snyder joined The Now Detroit on Monday to talk more about his ideas.

Gov. Snyder: I'm pro-Gordie Howe Bridge, not anti-Ambassador Bridge (WXYZ)
With Canadian inspectors examining the Ambassador Bridge after evidence of crumbling concrete, we wanted to get Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder's thoughts on the issue. According to Snyder, he hasn't spent too much time thinking about it because it is on the Canadian side, and it's between the Canadian government and the bridge company. He did say he hopes they get it resolved.

Gov. Snyder talks Detroit schools with Paul W. Smith (WJR Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder tells Paul W. Smith it's time to take a serious look at Detroit's troubled school district and get it fixed.

Gov. Snyder talks Detroit schools with MPS (Michigan's Big Show)

Special Education task force

State Rep. Liberati appointed by governor to special education task force (Southgate News Herald)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed Rep. Frank Liberati (D-Allen Park) to a committee tasked with improving Michigan's special education system. The Special Education Reform Task Force, being led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, will be developing policy recommendations based on findings of a statewide special education listening tour Calley conducted, according to a statement from Liberati's office.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

DEQ chief says state used wrong federal water rules in Flint for 17 months (Mlive)
The city used the wrong federal standards to treat Flint River water for 17 months, the state's chief environmental officer now says. Dan Wyant, director of the state Department of Environmental Quality, said DEQ officials were confused on federal regulations that required the city to make Flint River water less corrosive.

Michigan Official: Federal Water Rules Not Followed In Flint (WILX)
The head of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality says federal rules governing drinking water weren't followed properly in Flint, where problems with lead prompted officials to declare a public health emergency. DEQ Director Dan Wyant on Sunday acknowledged mistakes by the state in its handling of the situation and says "necessary changes" are being made.

Flint wants tougher consequences for MDEQ mistakes (Michigan Radio)
People in Flint say the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality needs to do more than admit mistakes in the handling of the city's tainted water crisis. Last week, Flint switched back to Detroit water after numerous problems with lead and other issues in the city's drinking water. The head of MDEQ admits monitoring errors were made and a top agency official has been reassigned.

Gov's plan to fix DPS: The best we've got (The Detroit Free Press)
We'd all better hope Gov. Rick Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's public schools works, because it's the best option on the table. But neither Detroit Public Schools' profound challenges — nor the district's dearth of options — ensure the plan's success, either in the Michigan Legislature or among Detroiters.

DEQ replaces water official after state acknowledges 'mistake' in Flint (Mlive)
State Department of Environmental Quality Director Dan Wyant is replacing his top municipal drinking water official after acknowledging oversight mistakes with the Flint water system in a news release Monday, Oct. 19. Wyant issued a written statement Monday, saying the state enforced the wrong federal standards for treating Flint River water for more than 17 months, failing to require that the city make it less corrosive.

DMVA
Veterans Community Action Team brings collaboration, resources to 30,000 U.P. veterans (UP Matters/TV 3)
More than 30,000 veterans in the Upper Peninsula will have easier access to comprehensive health, employment, education and quality-of-life opportunities thanks to a collaboration that brings together local, state and federal resources and services. The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency is expanding its Veterans Community Action Team program to veterans and their families living in Michigan's Prosperity Region 1, which includes all of the U.P.'s 15 counties.

VA leader: GR Vets Home 'improving' despite citations (Wood TV 8)
There's a big shakeup in leadership happening at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans: Two top administrators are out and a new CEO takes over next week. But why the reason for the change, and what does it mean for veterans? Monday, 24 Hour News 8 sought answers from Jim Dunn, the deputy director of the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA).

MDARD
Threat of Avian Flu Returns (WILX)
Farmers in Michigan are working hard to keep Avian Flu away from our chicken and eggs. "Bio security is very important," said Valerie Vail-Shirey with Michigan Allied Poultry Industries. "Whether you have a flock of 6 birds, 6 hens in your backyard to 50 turkeys, or a commercial flock of 6 million, it is important that you know your'e not transferring from farm to farm."

Tiny cranberry gets big attention this time of year (The Detroit News)
The harvest has begun for what might be one of Michigan's smallest agricultural crops. Cranberries are being collected from their water-flooded beds at the Michigan Cranberry Co., where up to 25 employees don waders and place booms around the floating fruit to be suctioned into containers for processing. "We have 45 beds we harvest," said Sharon Huggett during a recent tour of the cranberry farm. "We sell the cranberries wholesale and up to 67 acres of our 230 acres are sold to Ocean Spray."

MDE
Critics question Michigan's online textbooks (WLNS)
The Michigan Department of Education has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on e-textbooks, hoping to save money for school districts. But critics say many are full of misinformation and errors. The free textbooks were commissioned under a $600,000 grant from the state and were written by Michigan social studies teachers.

MDOC
Plans move ahead for $30M Detroit manufacturing facility (AP)

Plans by India-based Sakthi Automotive Group for a roughly $30 million manufacturing facility on Detroit's southwest side are moving forward.
A groundbreaking is Monday on the project, which was announced in May. Mayor Mike Duggan and Sakthi officials are among those attending. The 180,000-square-foot facility is part of a larger project that includes the redevelopment of the former Southwestern High School.

MDHHS

Disabled residents denied Medicaid could now be eligible, Sen. Stamas says (MLive)
Any disabled Michigan resident denied Medicaid eligibility in the past because of their income level should recheck their eligibility, a state senator advises. State Sen. Jim Stamas, R-Midland, issued a press release reminding constituents of a change to eligibility requirements in Michigan's "Freedom to Work" program that took effect on Oct. 1.

Michigan Department of Health and Human Services offers carbon monoxide warning (Holland Sentinal)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is reminding the community to be mindful of carbon monoxide dangers in the approaching winter months. "Carbon monoxide is difficult to detect; however, carbon monoxide poisoning is completely preventable," said Dr. Eden Wells, chief medical executive at the MDHHS, said in a news release. “Now is the time to ensure that furnaces and water heaters are working properly, and that carbon monoxide detectors are installed and have fresh batteries. If you suspect you have been exposed to carbon monoxide, leave the area immediately and seek medical attention.”

MI Foster Kids Are Often Identity Theft Victims (WSJM)
Experts in Michigan say that kids as young as six are becoming victims of Identity theft, and there’s an effort to ensure they’re better protected. Angelique Day, Director of the Transition to Independence Program at Wayne State University, says that a foster kid’s personal information is often visible to many people as they go through the system, which why the thefts occur. Day says that recovering from identity theft itself is a time consuming and costly endeavor, and it’s critical to discover fraud before it’s too late.

Michigan receives grant to develop behavioral health clinics (AP)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics. Michigan is among 24 states chosen to receive a planning grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration. The state health department will use the funding to develop criteria for certified community behavioral health clinics, establish a payment system and prepare an application to participate in a two-year demonstration program.

MEDC

Indian parts supplier breaks ground on $31 million investment in Southwest Detroit (Mlive)
Imported from Detroit gets fresh meaning as an automotive parts supplier's $31 million investment at an empty school officially gets underway. Sakthi Automotive Group is rehabbing a historic part of Southwestern High School and the former American Mailers Building on Fort Street in Southwest Detroit as part of a 181,000-square-foot facility that will produce tier-1 parts for automakers.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan bills would ban second-term abortion procedure (The Detroit News)
Michigan anti-abortion advocates are targeting a common second-trimester abortion procedure, pushing bills in the Republican-led Legislature to prohibit what they say is “dismemberment” of a fetus. Similar criminal bans have been approved in two other states, Kansas and Oklahoma, where they temporarily are on hold after court rulings. The Michigan legislation was the subject of a House hearing on Tuesday and could advance this fall.

GOP opponents seek to quash Courser comeback (The Detroit News)
Todd Courser is trying to make a special primary election next month a referendum on his eight months in the Michigan House of Representatives, while his Republican opponents say it's more about what Courser didn't do in office. "Obviously this is a referendum on me," Courser said at a recent public forum for the 11 GOP candidates seeking to fill the House seat he abandoned a month ago. His resignation averted an ouster by his legislative colleagues for what he has since nonchalantly called his "first worldwide sex scandal and cover-up."

'Green Tea' Party? Far right Republicans, liberal Democrats aligning on Michigan renewable energy issue (Mlive)
Rep. Jeff Irwin is a proud progressive, and Rep. Gary Glenn is widely considered one of the most conservative Republicans in the Michigan legislature. But they're working together on an energy package that would encourage renewable energy in Michigan. Virtually undiscussed in the House until very recently, net metering — the process of individuals producing their own energy and selling excess back onto the grid — has in some ways dominated the Senate Energy and Technology committee's discussion on energy reform.

Mich. GOP calls on Gilbert to refund spouse's cash (The Detroit News)
The Michigan Republican Party wants Democratic congressional candidate and former "Little House on the Prairie" star Melissa Gilbert to refund her husband's $5,400 campaign contribution and put it toward paying the money she owes in back taxes. Timothy Busfield, an actor and director, made two $2,700 donations to his wife's campaign on Sept. 30, according to campaign finance reports.

DETROIT

Regional water authority names interim CEO to top spot (The Detroit News)
The regional Great Lakes Water Authority's board of directors voted Monday to name Sue McCormick as its CEO. The six-member board voted 5-1 during a special meeting to choose McCormick as the authority's top administrator, pending the successful negotiation of a contract.

Detroit marathon sets record, inspires proposals (The Detroit Free Press)
To his dying godfather, a once-prolific runner, Eric Rhymes promised that he would run this year's Detroit marathon. It was no small commitment. Rhymes, 39, had never tried to run 26.2 miles until he squeezed into the crowd Sunday morning behind the starting line of the 38th Detroit Free Press/Talmer Bank Marathon. His godfather, Earnest Taylor, a runner of 103 marathons, died in August at age 70.

OPINION

Riley: Where's an education plan for Detroit children? (Detroit Free Press)
State Rep. Harvey Santana, whose district includes the west side, took his out-state colleague Rep. Daniela Garcia on a tour of three schools.

Gov's plan to fix DPS: The best we've got (Detroit Free Press)
We'd all better hope Gov. Rick Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's public schools works, because it's the best option on the table.

Editorial: Social security should be top campaign issue (Detroit News)

Democrat Bernie Sanders and Republican Chris Christie may not realize their presidential ambitions, and may never even get their respective party's nomination. But they are performing an important service in the 2016 campaign by keeping the issue of Social Security reform alive.

Lawmakers moved fast to get the lead out of Flint water (MLive)
Nobody knows how many column inches are written every year on the comings and goings at the state Capitol, but we do know that the focus is mainly on all the stuff lawmakers screw up.

Susan J. Demas: Here's how bad things are for Democrats in Michigan (MLive)
Most people — even Republicans — think of Michigan as a blue state.

Column: Teacher evaluation bill lacks mandates experts say are necessary to life student achievement (MLive)
Four years ago, the Legislature embarked on an ambitious and worthy mission to improve teacher effectiveness in Michigan.

Column: Update young offender sentencing (Detroit News)
As legislators, we like to think of Michigan as a forward-thinking state. In many areas of state law, this is true. However, one area that is firmly rooted in outdated ideals and practices is our method of charging and sentencing youthful offenders. Currently, Michigan is one of only nine states that automatically charges and prosecutes 17-year-olds as adults.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, October 21, 2015 10:09 AM
Subject: 10/21 Newsroom
Attachments: 151021 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 21, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Detroit schools reform

Skillman Foundation responds to Governor Snyder's plan for DPS debt (WDET)
Stephen Henderson speaks with Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren co-chair and Skillman Foundation CEO Tonya Allen for a response to Governor Snyders plan to reduce the DPS debt. Allen issued a statement that says "we appreciate Gov. Snyder's good-faith effort to comprehensively address longstanding serious issues that impact the quality of education for Detroit schoolchildren… Detroit is a city on the rise, and its recovery will be less than complete until schoolchildren here have the same quality school choice as kids in other thriving areas of the state"

Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's schools will fall on deaf legislative ears (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder yesterday unveiled his new plan to fix Detroit Public Schools. Actually, it is a variation on one he put forth in April. Like that plan, it seems heavily based on the model General Motors adopted to emerge from bankruptcy.

Snyder renews push for Detroit schools restructuring (Bond Buyer)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder says his $715 million restructuring plan for Detroit's school system is less expensive for the state than doing nothing.

Governor announces plan to replace Detroit Public Schools (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder has a plan to get Detroit Public Schools out of debt, but it will cost the state $715 million over the next 10 years. Snyder's proposal includes creating a new school district and education commission to replace DPS and could be drafted into a series of bills in the next two weeks.

Governor Snyder: DPS needs an overhaul (WDET)
Governor Rick Snyder is asking the Legislature to take bills on Detroit schools overhaul, including creating a new district run by a board that's appointed by him and by Mayor Mike Duggan. State lawmakers will have to approve the plan and funding for the new school system.

Bill Signings

Gov. Snyder signs bills protecting use of service animals (Up North Live)
Michigan residents who use service animals will now have better access to public spaces such as retail stores, restaurants and health care facilities.

Gov. Snyder signs package of bills allowing better access for people using service animals (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has approved a bill package that allows people who use service animals better access to places like restaurants, retail stores and health care facilities.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bipartisan bills protecting use of service animals for Michigan residents (UP Matters)
Michigan residents who use service animals will have better access to public spaces, such as restaurants, retail stores and health care facilities after Gov. Rick Snyder today signed a bill package to modernize state law and advance the use of these animals. The bills were spurred in part by recent incidents of people being turned away from businesses because they were accompanied by service animals.

Gov. Snyder signs civil asset forfeiture reform bills (FOX 17)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed a package of bills aimed at reforming the state's civil asset forfeiture procedures.

Snyder signs changes in police forfeiture of assets (AP)
Law enforcement will have to adhere to new reporting requirements and meet a higher evidentiary standard for seizing and taking ownership of people's property under laws signed by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Governor signs bills reforming civil asset forfeiture (Macomb Daily)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed into law new reforms that will make it harder for law enforcement authorities to retain cars, boats and cash seized as part of criminal investigations that do not result in criminal charges.

Michigan teacher evaluation bill heads to Snyder after final approval in Senate (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday gave final approval to legislation that would create a new framework for teacher evaluations, replacing statewide rules that were set to take effect this school year.

Gordie Howe Bridge
Gov. envisions progress on bridge with Canada's new PM (Detroit News)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said he plans to work with newly elected Canadian Liberal Party leader Justin Trudeau in plans for a new bridge between Windsor and Detroit.

Michigan, Ohio need to work together one economic growth (Monroe News)
Michigan and Ohio need to rely on each other to grow the region. That was the message at a session on economic development and partnerships Oct. 16 at Monroe Bank & Trust headquarters.

Flag Honors
Governor orders flags lowered for Farmington Hills man (Hometown Life)
Gov. Rick Snyder Tuesday ordered U.S. flags within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings to be lowered to half-staff on Thursday, Oct. 22, in honor of Department of Natural Resources conservation officer First Lt. Arthur Green III.

Snyder orders flags lowered for fallen state worker (LSJ)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered U.S. flags at state facilities to be lowered to half-staff Thursday in honor of a Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in an Aug. 9 plane crash.

Gov. Snyder orders flags to be lowered in honor of conservation officer (Up North Live)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered U.S. flags within the State Capitol and all state buildings to lower their flags to half-staff on Thursday in honor of Department of Natural Resources conservation officer First Lt. Arthur Green III.

Flags to be lowered in honor of DNR officer killed in crash (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder says U.S. flags will be lowered to half-staff within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings in honor of a Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in a small plane crash.

Gov. Snyder orders flags lowered to honor DNR officer killed in plane crash (9&10)
U.S. flags will fly at half-staff this Thursday in honor of a Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in a plane crash in Northern Michigan.

Gov. Rick Snyder orders flags lowered to honor former conservation officer (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder released an order Oct. 20 for U.S. flags within the Michigan State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings to be lowered to half-staff Oct. 22 in honor of Department of Natural Resources conservation officer First Lt. Arthur Green III.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley holding fund-raiser in Lansing Thursday (Detroit Free Press)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley has scheduled a fund-raiser in Lansing on Thursday, in the strongest sign to date he is eyeing the governor's office in 2018, when Gov. Rick Snyder must step down because of term limits.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Michigan DEQ Director Dan Wyant acknowledges mistakes by the state in handling Flint water emergency (Austrian Tribune)
n Monday, the leader of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality accepted that critical mistakes were made that resulted into the contamination of drinking water of Flint. DEQ Director Dan Wyant on Sunday admitted the mistakes that the state made in handling of the situation. He said that they are bringing the necessary changes.

Michigan DEQ 'completely failed' Flint residents says Ananich, calling for water investigation (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality "completely failed" to protect Flint residents from contaminated drinking water, according to Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich, who is calling for a formal investigation by the Legislature.

Auditor general looking into state agency responsible for monitoring Flint water (Michigan Radio)
A formal review is underway into the state agency that made mistakes in its monitoring of Flint's drinking water.

DHHS
Michigan receives grant to develop behavioral health clinics (Up North Live)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics.

Michigan receives $980,000 grant to develop behavioral health clinics (Crains)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics.

Northern Michigan Public health Alliance wins award (Petoskey News)
The Northern Michigan Public Health Alliance has received the coveted Michigan Department of Health and Human Services Director's Award for Excellence in Local Public Health. The award was presented Oct. 7 during Michigan's Premier Public Health Conference at Crystal Mountain.

DNR
That's a big fish! State record set for smallmouth bass (Detroit Free Press)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has confirmed a new state-record catch for smallmouth bass.

Giant smallmouth bass caught this past weekend breaks Michigan record that stood since 1906 (WXYZ)
A 9.33-pound fish caught this past Sunday is a pretty big deal. The smallmouth bass breaks a longstanding record for the state's largest catch.

Construction begins on $65 million Orleans Lansing mixed-use development (Crains)
As construction whirred in the background this morning, civic and economic leaders celebrated the start of Orleans Landing on Detroit's east riverfront.

DNR to tear down Ostego Township dam (WOOD TV)
Fishermen and boaters may soon have a new place to play in West Michigan. The Otsego Township Dam on the Kalamazoo River in Allegan County is being removed.

MDARD
MI Dept. of Agriculture & Rural Development honors its outstanding employees for 2015 (EIN Newsdesk)
Commitment to teamwork, leadership, outstanding customer service and excellence are just a few characteristics describing the winners of the 2015 Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development annual employee awards. Winners are both nominated and selected by their fellow MDARD colleagues. "MDARD employees are constantly looking for ways to grow and expand Michigan's food and agriculture businesses while providing the best possible customer service," said Clover Adams. "These awards offer an opportunity to say 'thank you' to staff for their innovation, dedication, and excellence."

Reflections of the 2016 Michigan poultry show ban in 4-H youth programs (MSU Extension)
This has been a challenging year for the over 4,000 Michigan 4-H youth who participate in a poultry 4-H project. On June 1, 2015, the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development announced that a ban on poultry shows and swaps was to be immediately enacted in response to a growing concern about highly pathogenic avian influenza entering the state. Michigan is home to a very large poultry industry, with large scale poultry operations spread across the state. Highly pathogenic avian influenza would be absolutely devastating if it were to affect the Michigan poultry industry.

MEDC
M-134 designated first new Pure Michigan Byway (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
The Pure Michigan campaign hit the road Friday, as a 50-mile stretch of Upper Peninsula highway was officially designated the first new Pure Michigan Byway.

Scenic M-134 designated as state's first Pure Michigan byway (St. Ignace News)
"We're going to get a lot of mileage out of this," said Jeff Hagan about the new designation of M-134 as the North Huron Byway. Mr. Hagan, of the Eastern Upper Peninsula Regional Planning and Development Commission, was part of a panel in Cedarville convened to promote the designation of the road Friday, October 16.

Michigan International Speedway announces new title sponsor for June race (WXYZ)
Michigan International Speedway announced a new three-year sponsorship for the June NASCAR Sprint Cup Series Race on Tuesday.

Firekeepers Casino replaces Quicken Loans in 2016 as NASCAR race title sponsor at MIS (Crains)
Battle Creek-based FireKeepers Casino Hotel has replaced Quicken Loans Inc. as title sponsor of the June NASCAR Sprint Cup race at Michigan International Speedway.

MSP
Troopers handle 7 car vs. deer crashes in 2 days (MLive)
The Michigan State Police Jackson Post provided the following report Tuesday morning, Oct. 20.

MSP crack down on distracted driving (C&G)
Drivers with their heads in the clouds may have met with the law recently.

Michigan State Police conduct sex offender sweep (ABC 10)
Michigan State Police troopers from the Negaunee Post have completed a sex offender sweep of 198 residences in Marquette County.

New forms help police track distracted driving mishaps (WOOD TV)
We all hear about the serious crashes involving distracted drivers.

Pilot program seeks to reduce illegal passing in Michigan (School Transportation News)
A pilot program intended to reduce the illegal passing of stopped school buses through the use of enhanced lights called the Driver Alert System (DAS) started Monday in Michigan at 10 school districts throughout the state.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Senate leader calls for vote on 'last, best' roads deal for Michigan (AP)
The leader of the Michigan Senate called Tuesday for votes on a "last, best" $1.2 billion road-funding plan he said legislative leaders had agreed to before talks stalled last week, saying his Republican counterpart in the House should send the legislation to a conference committee.

Senate calls for fast action on deal to fix state roads (Lansing State Journal)
Instead of cooling off, talks on a fix for Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges heated up on Tuesday when Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof, R-West Olive, challenged the House of Representatives to put up the proposed deal for a vote.

Two state senators publicly debate road funding plans (WLNS)
Two senators gave the public a taste of where lawmakers stand when it comes to fixing Michigan's roads.

Hoadley: Work should resume on Michigan roads package by this week (WTVB)
Rep. Jon Hoadley of Kalamazoo expects discussions to restart this week on a funding package to fix Michigan's crumbling roads.

Michigan teacher evaluation bill heads to Snyder after final approval in Senate (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday gave final approval to legislation that would create a new framework for teacher evaluations, replacing statewide rules that were set to take effect this school year.

Bill to set new standards for teacher evaluations (Detroit Free Press)
A bill setting new standards for teacher evaluations is on its way to Gov. Rick Snyder for his signature after the Senate gave final passage to the bill Tuesday morning.

DETROIT

Feds look at bank records in EAA, DPS corruption probe (The Detroit News)
The FBI and Justice Department subpoenaed personnel files and bank records or email account information for more than a dozen current and former officials at Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 Detroit reform district as part of a wide-ranging corruption investigation, The Detroit News has learned.

Top officials, bank records focus of school probe (Detroit Free Press)
A sweeping federal corruption probe of the Education Achievement Authority began more than 16 months ago and is focused on current and former top officials as well vendor payments, documents show.

US DOJ, FBI investigate education achievement authority, Detroit Public Schools for corruption (International Business Times)

The U.S. Department of Justice and the FBI have sent subpoenas to get personnel files and bank records or email accounts of over a dozen current and former officials at Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 reform district to investigate corruption allegations, according to a report Tuesday. The subpoenas come amid an investigation to probe whether officials from the Education Achievement Authority (EAA) and Detroit Public Schools (DPS) -- both created by Snyder -- received bribes from contractors.

Former American Motors Corp site sells for $600 (The Detroit News)
The former headquarters of American Motors Corp. sold Tuesday afternoon for a lone $600 bid in the county's tax foreclosure auction. The massive complex was a hub of Detroit innovation for more than eight decades, but became a dumping ground in just three years, according to a 2013 Detroit News article that highlighted its plight.

Land bank to sell properties to occupants for $1,000 (The Detroit News)
The Detroit Land Bank has become an unintended landlord, with about 4,500 of its properties estimated to have people living in them. Sometimes it's a former owner who lost the home to foreclosure. Others were renters who were left hanging when their landlords walked away. And still more are squatters who have taken over the vacant homes for their own. On Tuesday, the land bank finalized a pilot program to start selling the homes to those occupying them for $1,000 each.

Major development aims to reclaim state's eastern shore in Detroit (MLive)
Tuesday marked the official ground breaking at Orleans Landing, a $65-million mixed-use development covering about four square blocks on Detroit's east riverfront. It will bring around 270 market-rate apartments and 10,000-square-feet of retail space to a plot of land just a stone's throw from the Detroit river, an area that not long ago was completely taken up by industry and cement silos, according to speakers at Tuesday's ground breaking ceremony.

OPINION
Snyder gets the Boehner treatment (Detroit Free Press)
He doesn't cry in public or smoke in private, and he has no intention of resigning before the end of his current term. But in other ways, Rick Snyder is looking more and more like Michigan's version of John Boehner — and Snyder's second term looks increasingly like the political nightmare the outgoing speaker of the House is leaving behind.

Flint water crisis exposes Michigan's infrastructure funding problem (MLive)
It was great to see the Michigan Legislature come together and put politics aside as they voted unanimously in finding a resolution to the recent Flint drinking water crisis.

Snyder's lead-in-the-water crisis harks back to Milliken's trial by PBBs (MLive)
It seems every governor is tested at some point on issues he or she can't control. It's the kind of stuff that comes out of left field, and they don't prepare you for it in governor school.

Right to Work lawmakers impose their own 'union dues' (MLive)
When Republican legislators pushed through a contentious Right To Work law two years ago, they said they were freeing unionized workers from a system that "confiscated" a portion of employee paychecks through union dues.

Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's schools will fall on deaf legislative ears (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder yesterday unveiled his new plan to fix Detroit Public Schools. Actually, it is a variation on one he put forth in April. Like that plan, it seems heavily based on the model General Motors adopted to emerge from bankruptcy.

Editorial: Fight poverty by curbing teen pregnancy (Detroit News)
Programs to reduce teen pregnancy in Michigan appear to be paying off with a lower rate of expectant teenagers, and that should pay off in a future drop in poverty. Initiatives that work should be supported and expanded.

Heise: Presumptive parole is safe, smart justice (Detroit News)
By now, you've probably read or heard about the notion of presumptive parole, a proposed reform that would give parole boards the directive to — under their supervision and control — grant minimum-sentence parole to low-danger individuals who meet a series of comprehensive requirements for release.

Editor's note: Minimum sentence bill not dangerous (Detroit News)
The law and order crowd is mounting an all-out effort to sink a common sense prison reform bill, fanning fears that it would release dangerous criminals on the streets.

Letter: DPS should focus on attracting teachers (Detroit News)
Year after year we read about appointments of high level administrators who too often are corrupt or incompetent and about attempts to restructure and reorganize the administrative set-up of the DPS. How come we seldom, if ever, hear about efforts to attract the best and brightest teachers to Detroit schools.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 21, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Detroit schools reform

Skillman Foundation responds to Governor Snyder's plan for DPS debt (WDET)
Stephen Henderson speaks with Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren co-chair and Skillman Foundation CEO Tonya Allen for a response to Governor Snyders plan to reduce the DPS debt. Allen issued a statement that says "we appreciate Gov. Snyder's good-faith effort to comprehensively address longstanding serious issues that impact the quality of education for Detroit schoolchildren… Detroit is a city on the rise, and its recovery will be less than complete until schoolchildren here have the same quality school choice as kids in other thriving areas of the state"

Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's schools will fall on deaf legislative ears (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder yesterday unveiled his new plan to fix Detroit Public Schools. Actually, it is a variation on one he put forth in April. Like that plan, it seems heavily based on the model General Motors adopted to emerge from bankruptcy.

Snyder renews push for Detroit schools restructuring (Bond Buyer)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder says his $715 million restructuring plan for Detroit's school system is less expensive for the state than doing nothing.

Governor announces plan to replace Detroit Public Schools (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder has a plan to get Detroit Public Schools out of debt, but it will cost the state $715 million over the next 10 years. Snyder's proposal includes creating a new school district and education commission to replace DPS and could be drafted into a series of bills in the next two weeks.

Governor Snyder: DPS needs an overhaul (WDET)
Governor Rick Snyder is asking the Legislature to take bills on Detroit schools overhaul, including creating a new district run by a board that's appointed by him and by Mayor Mike Duggan. State lawmakers will have to approve the plan and funding for the new school system.

Bill Signings

Gov. Snyder signs bills protecting use of service animals (Up North Live)
Michigan residents who use service animals will now have better access to public spaces such as retail stores, restaurants and health care facilities.

Gov. Snyder signs package of bills allowing better access for people using service animals (AP)

Gov. Rick Snyder has approved a bill package that allows people who use service animals better access to places like restaurants, retail stores and health care facilities.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bipartisan bills protecting use of service animals for Michigan residents (UP Matters)
Michigan residents who use service animals will have better access to public spaces, such as restaurants, retail stores and health care facilities after Gov. Rick Snyder today signed a bill package to modernize state law and advance the use of these animals. The bills were spurred in part by recent incidents of people being turned away from businesses because they were accompanied by service animals.

Gov. Snyder signs civil asset forfeiture reform bills (FOX 17)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed a package of bills aimed at reforming the state's civil asset forfeiture procedures.

Snyder signs changes in police forfeiture of assets (AP)
Law enforcement will have to adhere to new reporting requirements and meet a higher evidentiary standard for seizing and taking ownership of people's property under laws signed by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Governor signs bills reforming civil asset forfeiture (Macomb Daily)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed into law new reforms that will make it harder for law enforcement authorities to retain cars, boats and cash seized as part of criminal investigations that do not result in criminal charges.

Michigan teacher evaluation bill heads to Snyder after final approval in Senate (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday gave final approval to legislation that would create a new framework for teacher evaluations, replacing statewide rules that were set to take effect this school year.

Gordie Howe Bridge
Gov. envisions progress on bridge with Canada's new PM (Detroit News)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said he plans to work with newly elected Canadian Liberal Party leader Justin Trudeau in plans for a new bridge between Windsor and Detroit.

Michigan, Ohio need to work together one economic growth (Monroe News)
Michigan and Ohio need to rely on each other to grow the region. That was the message at a session on economic development and partnerships Oct. 16 at Monroe Bank & Trust headquarters.

Flag Honors
Governor orders flags lowered for Farmington Hills man (Hometown Life)
Gov. Rick Snyder Tuesday ordered U.S. flags within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings to be lowered to half-staff on Thursday, Oct. 22, in honor of Department of Natural Resources conservation officer First Lt. Arthur Green III.

Snyder orders flags lowered for fallen state worker (LSJ)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered U.S. flags at state facilities to be lowered to half-staff Thursday in honor of a Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in an Aug. 9 plane crash.

Gov. Snyder orders flags to be lowered in honor of conservation officer (Up North Live)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered U.S. flags within the State Capitol and all state buildings to lower their flags to half-staff on Thursday in honor of Department of Natural Resources conservation officer First Lt. Arthur Green III.

Flags to be lowered in honor of DNR officer killed in crash (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder says U.S. flags will be lowered to half-staff within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings in honor of a Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in a small plane crash.

Gov. Snyder orders flags lowered to honor DNR officer killed in plane crash (9&10)
U.S. flags will fly at half-staff this Thursday in honor of a Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in a plane crash in Northern Michigan.

Gov. Rick Snyder orders flags lowered to honor former conservation officer (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder released an order Oct. 20 for U.S. flags within the Michigan State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings to be lowered to half-staff Oct. 22 in honor of Department of Natural Resources conservation officer First Lt. Arthur Green III.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley holding fund-raiser in Lansing Thursday (Detroit Free Press)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley has scheduled a fund-raiser in Lansing on Thursday, in the strongest sign to date he is eyeing the governor's office in 2018, when Gov. Rick Snyder must step down because of term limits.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Michigan DEQ Director Dan Wyant acknowledges mistakes by the state in handling Flint water emergency (Austrian Tribune)
n Monday, the leader of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality accepted that critical mistakes were made that resulted into the contamination of drinking water of Flint. DEQ Director Dan Wyant on Sunday admitted the mistakes that the state made in handling of the situation. He said that they are bringing the necessary changes.

Michigan DEQ 'completely failed' Flint residents says Ananich, calling for water investigation (MLive)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality "completely failed" to protect Flint residents from contaminated drinking water, according to Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich, who is calling for a formal investigation by the Legislature.

Auditor general looking into state agency responsible for monitoring Flint water (Michigan Radio)
A formal review is underway into the state agency that made mistakes in its monitoring of Flint's drinking water.

DHHS

Michigan receives grant to develop behavioral health clinics (Up North Live)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics.

Michigan receives $980,000 grant to develop behavioral health clinics (Crains)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics.

Northern Michigan Public health Alliance wins award (Petoskey News)
The Northern Michigan Public Health Alliance has received the coveted Michigan Department of Health and Human Services Director's Award for Excellence in Local Public Health. The award was presented Oct. 7 during Michigan's Premier Public Health Conference at Crystal Mountain.

DNR
That's a big fish! State record set for smallmouth bass (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has confirmed a new state-record catch for smallmouth bass.

Giant smallmouth bass caught this past weekend breaks Michigan record that stood since 1906 (WXYZ)
A 9.33-pound fish caught this past Sunday is a pretty big deal. The smallmouth bass breaks a longstanding record for the state's largest catch.

Construction begins on $65 million Orleans Lansing mixed-use development (Crains)
As construction whirred in the background this morning, civic and economic leaders celebrated the start of Orleans Landing on Detroit's east riverfront.

DNR to tear down Ostego Township dam (WOOD TV)
Fishermen and boaters may soon have a new place to play in West Michigan. The Otsego Township Dam on the Kalamazoo River in Allegan County is being removed.

MDARD
MI Dept. of Agriculture & Rural Development honors its outstanding employees for 2015 (EIN Newsdesk)
Commitment to teamwork, leadership, outstanding customer service and excellence are just a few characteristics describing the winners of the 2015 Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development annual employee awards. Winners are both nominated and selected by their fellow MDARD colleagues. "MDARD employees are constantly looking for ways to grow and expand Michigan's food and agriculture businesses while providing the best possible customer service," said Clover Adams. "These awards offer an opportunity to say 'thank you' to staff for their innovation, dedication, and excellence."

Reflections of the 2016 Michigan poultry show ban in 4-H youth programs (MSU Extension)
This has been a challenging year for the over 4,000 Michigan 4-H youth who participate in a poultry 4-H project. On June 1, 2015, the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development announced that a ban on poultry shows and swaps was to be immediately enacted in response to a growing concern about highly pathogenic avian influenza entering the state. Michigan is home to a very large poultry industry, with large scale poultry operations spread across the state. Highly pathogenic avian influenza would be absolutely devastating if it were to affect the Michigan poultry industry.

MEDC

M-134 designated first new Pure Michigan Byway (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
The Pure Michigan campaign hit the road Friday, as a 50-mile stretch of Upper Peninsula highway was officially designated the first new Pure Michigan Byway.

Scenic M-134 designated as state's first Pure Michigan byway (St. Ignace News)
"We're going to get a lot of mileage out of this," said Jeff Hagan about the new designation of M-134 as the North Huron Byway. Mr. Hagan, of the Eastern Upper Peninsula Regional Planning and Development Commission, was part of a panel in Cedarville convened to promote the designation of the road Friday, October 16.

Michigan International Speedway announces new title sponsor for June race (WXYZ)
Michigan International Speedway announced a new three-year sponsorship for the June NASCAR Sprint Cup Series Race on Tuesday.

Firekeepers Casino replaces Quicken Loans in 2016 as NASCAR race title sponsor at MIS (Crains)
Battle Creek-based FireKeepers Casino Hotel has replaced Quicken Loans Inc. as title sponsor of the June NASCAR Sprint Cup race at Michigan International Speedway.

MSP

Troopers handle 7 car vs. deer crashes in 2 days (MLive)
The Michigan State Police Jackson Post provided the following report Tuesday morning, Oct. 20.

MSP crack down on distracted driving (C&G)
Drivers with their heads in the clouds may have met with the law recently.

Michigan State Police conduct sex offender sweep (ABC 10)
Michigan State Police troopers from the Negaunee Post have completed a sex offender sweep of 198 residences in Marquette County.

New forms help police track distracted driving mishaps (WOOD TV)
We all hear about the serious crashes involving distracted drivers.

Pilot program seeks to reduce illegal passing in Michigan (School Transportation News)
A pilot program intended to reduce the illegal passing of stopped school buses through the use of enhanced lights called the Driver Alert System (DAS) started Monday in Michigan at 10 school districts throughout the state.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Senate leader calls for vote on 'last, best' roads deal for Michigan (AP)
The leader of the Michigan Senate called Tuesday for votes on a "last, best" $1.2 billion road-funding plan he said legislative leaders had agreed to before talks stalled last week, saying his Republican counterpart in the House should send the legislation to a conference committee.

Senate calls for fast action on deal to fix state roads (Lansing State Journal)
Instead of cooling off, talks on a fix for Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges heated up on Tuesday when Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof, R-West Olive, challenged the House of Representatives to put up the proposed deal for a vote.

Two state senators publicly debate road funding plans (WLNS)
Two senators gave the public a taste of where lawmakers stand when it comes to fixing Michigan's roads.

Hoadley: Work should resume on Michigan roads package by this week (WTVB)
Rep. Jon Hoadley of Kalamazoo expects discussions to restart this week on a funding package to fix Michigan's crumbling roads.

Michigan teacher evaluation bill heads to Snyder after final approval in Senate (MLive)
The Michigan Senate on Tuesday gave final approval to legislation that would create a new framework for teacher evaluations, replacing statewide rules that were set to take effect this school year.

Bill to set new standards for teacher evaluations (Detroit Free Press)
A bill setting new standards for teacher evaluations is on its way to Gov. Rick Snyder for his signature after the Senate gave final passage to the bill Tuesday morning.

DETROIT

Feds look at bank records in EAA, DPS corruption probe (The Detroit News)
The FBI and Justice Department subpoenaed personnel files and bank records or email account information for more than a dozen current and former officials at Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 Detroit reform district as part of a wide-ranging corruption investigation, The Detroit News has learned.

Top officials, bank records focus of school probe (Detroit Free Press)
A sweeping federal corruption probe of the Education Achievement Authority began more than 16 months ago and is focused on current and former top officials as well vendor payments, documents show.

US DOJ, FBI investigate education achievement authority, Detroit Public Schools for corruption (International Business Times)
The U.S. Department of Justice and the FBI have sent subpoenas to get personnel files and bank records or email accounts of over a dozen current and former officials at Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 reform district to investigate corruption allegations, according to a report Tuesday. The subpoenas come amid an investigation to probe whether officials from the Education Achievement Authority (EAA) and Detroit Public Schools (DPS) -- both created by Snyder -- received bribes from contractors.

Former American Motors Corp site sells for $600 (The Detroit News)
The former headquarters of American Motors Corp. sold Tuesday afternoon for a lone $600 bid in the county's tax foreclosure auction. The massive complex was a hub of Detroit innovation for more than eight decades, but became a dumping ground in just three years, according to a 2013 Detroit News article that highlighted its plight.

Land bank to sell properties to occupants for $1,000 (The Detroit News)
The Detroit Land Bank has become an unintended landlord, with about 4,500 of its properties estimated to have people living in them. Sometimes it's a former owner who lost the home to foreclosure. Others were renters who were left hanging when their landlords walked away. And still more are squatters who have taken over the vacant homes for their own. On Tuesday, the land bank finalized a pilot program to start selling the homes to those occupying them for $1,000 each.

Major development aims to reclaim state's eastern shore in Detroit (MLive)
Tuesday marked the official ground breaking at Orleans Landing, a $65-million mixed-use development covering about four square blocks on Detroit's east riverfront. It will bring around 270 market-rate apartments and 10,000-square-feet of retail space to a plot of land just a stone's throw from the Detroit river, an area that not long ago was completely taken up by industry and cement silos, according to speakers at Tuesday's ground breaking ceremony.

OPINION

Snyder gets the Boehner treatment (Detroit Free Press)
He doesn't cry in public or smoke in private, and he has no intention of resigning before the end of his current term. But in other ways, Rick Snyder is looking more and more like Michigan's version of John Boehner — and Snyder's second term looks increasingly like the political nightmare the outgoing speaker of the House is leaving behind.

Flint water crisis exposes Michigan's infrastructure funding problem (MLive)
It was great to see the Michigan Legislature come together and put politics aside as they voted unanimously in finding a resolution to the recent Flint drinking water crisis.

Snyder's lead-in-the-water crisis harks back to Milliken's trial by PBBs (MLive)
It seems every governor is tested at some point on issues he or she can't control. It's the kind of stuff that comes out of left field, and they don't prepare you for it in governor school.

Right to Work lawmakers impose their own 'union dues' (MLive)
When Republican legislators pushed through a contentious Right To Work law two years ago, they said they were freeing unionized workers from a system that "confiscated" a portion of employee paychecks through union dues.

Snyder's plan to fix Detroit's schools will fall on deaf legislative ears (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder yesterday unveiled his new plan to fix Detroit Public Schools. Actually, it is a variation on one he put forth in April. Like that plan, it seems heavily based on the model General Motors adopted to emerge from bankruptcy.

Editorial: Fight poverty by curbing teen pregnancy (Detroit News)
Programs to reduce teen pregnancy in Michigan appear to be paying off with a lower rate of expectant teenagers, and that should pay off in a future drop in poverty. Initiatives that work should be supported and expanded.

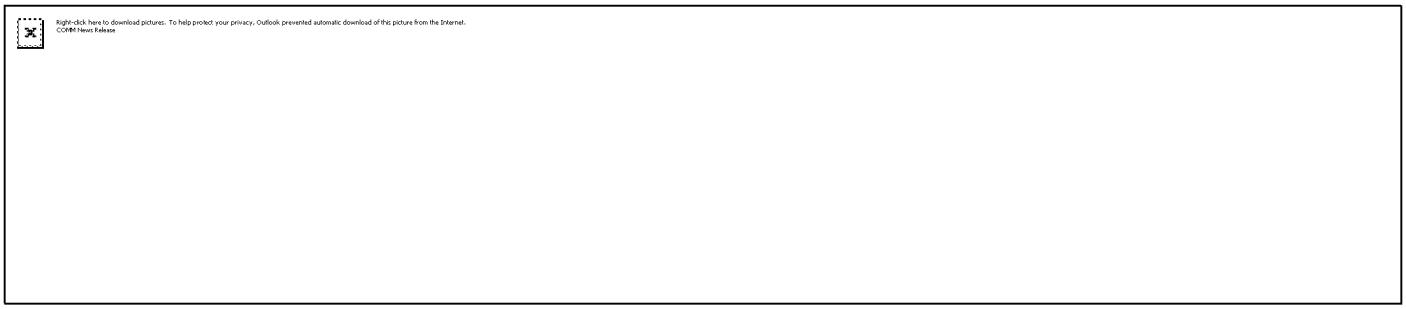
Heise: Presumptive parole is safe, smart justice (Detroit News)
By now, you've probably read or heard about the notion of presumptive parole, a proposed reform that would give parole boards the directive to — under their supervision and control — grant minimum-sentence parole to low-danger individuals who meet a series of comprehensive requirements for release.

Editor's note: Minimum sentence bill not dangerous (Detroit News)
The law and order crowd is mounting an all-out effort to sink a common sense prison reform bill, fanning fears that it would release dangerous criminals on the streets.

Letter: DPS should focus on attracting teachers (Detroit News)
Year after year we read about appointments of high level administrators who too often are corrupt or incompetent and about attempts to restructure and reorganize the administrative set-up of the DPS. How come we seldom, if ever, hear about efforts to attract the best and brightest teachers to Detroit schools.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, October 21, 2015 2:07 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder announces Flint Water Task Force to review state, federal and municipal actions, offer recommendations



Contacts: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Wednesday, Oct. 21, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder announces Flint Water Task Force to review state, federal and municipal actions, offer recommendations

Experts in public health, water management, environmental protection to focus on steps to protect residents

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today announced the creation of an independent advisory task force charged with reviewing actions regarding water use and testing in Flint and offer recommendations for future guidelines to protect the health and safety of all state residents.

Task force members include experts in public health and medicine, water management, and environmental protection from both sides of the aisle, and will be co-chaired by Ken Sikkema of Public Sector Consultants and Chris Kolb, of the Michigan Environmental Council. Also serving will be Dr. Matthew Davis of the University of Michigan Health System, Eric Rothstein, of the Galardi Rothstein Group and Dr. Lawrence Reynolds of Mott Children's Health Center in Flint.

"Transitioning back to the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department-Great Lakes Water Authority is a good first step to protecting public health in Flint, but it's not the last step," Snyder said. "Bringing in outside experts to evaluate our actions and help monitor and advise on potential changes to law, procedures and practices will be key to continuing work on the comprehensive action plan and ensuring safe drinking water for all the residents in Flint and all of Michigan."

Snyder said the administration will fully cooperate with task force members, saying he wants an unbiased report focusing on steps taken in the past and recommendations that could improve practices to ensure all residents have access to safe, clean water.

Ken Sikkema is a senior policy fellow at Public Sector Consultants, where he specializes in public finance, environment, and energy policy. Prior to joining the firm, Sikkema served in both the Michigan House and Senate, culminating with four years as Senate majority leader. He has also served as both an adjunct and visiting professor at Grand Valley State University.

Chris Kolb is president of the Michigan Environmental Council, a statewide coalition of 70 environmental, public health and faith-based nonprofit groups. Before joining the MEC, Kolb represented Ann Arbor in the state House for six years and served six years on the Ann Arbor City Council. He has been president of the MEC for six years.

Matthew Davis, M.D., M.A.P.P., is professor of pediatrics and internal medicine at the University of Michigan Health System and professor of public policy at the Gerald R. Ford School at the University of Michigan, having joined the faculty in 2000. Davis also is a professor of health management and policy at the School of Public Health. He previously served as the chief medical executive of the Michigan Department of Community Health/Department of Health and Human Services.

Eric Rothstein is a national water issues consultant and principal at the Galardi Rothstein Group. He served as an independent advisor on the creation of the Great Lakes Water Authority. Rothstein also has served as Jefferson County, Alabama's rate consultant and municipal adviser for litigation related to the county's bankruptcy and issuance of $1.7 billion in sewer warrants and led strategic financial planning for the City of Atlanta's Department of Watershed Management. He has more than 30 years of experience in water, wastewater and stormwater utility finance and rate-making assessments.

Lawrence Reynolds, M.D., is a pediatrician in Flint who serves as president of the Mott Children's Health Center. He received his medical degree from Howard University College of Medicine and has been in practice for 36 years. He has served as president of the Genesee County Medical Society and the Michigan Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics. He has been honored for his humanitarian and advocacy efforts on behalf of children from the Community Foundation of Greater Flint.

Snyder has said reconnecting with the authority is a critical step to resolving water quality issues and addressing related health concerns. It will not immediately resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control.

To best protect public health, state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services are continuing to provide free water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

####

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to iwedsl@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, October 22, 2015 9:50 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/22 Newsroom
Attachments: 151022 Newsroom.docx

Thursday, Oct. 22, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint task force

Snyder announces task force to review Flint water crisis (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has announced the creation of an independent advisory task force to review Flint's water use and testing. The group includes public health and medicine, water management and environmental protection experts.

Task force appointed to examine Flint water controversy (Freep)
As Gov. Rick Snyder appointed an independent task force to examine the controversy over Flint's tainted water Wednesday, more lawmakers called for investigations into how the problem went unsolved for so long. Snyder's task force will look into the actions that went into water use in the beleaguered city, as well as the testing that took place on the water after the city switched from Detroit's water and sewerage system to pulling water out of the Flint River.

Gov. Snyder names task force to review actions in Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed a task force to review "actions regarding water use and testing in Flint" and to make recommendations for future guidelines. The governor announced creation of the task force in a news release Wednesday, Oct. 21, the same day U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint, and state Sen. Jim Ananich, D-Flint, called for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to carry out a similar review.

Governor Snyder Appoints Task Force to Review Flint Water Crisis (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed a task force to review Flint's water contamination crisis. The task force is made up of medical professionals, environmental experts, and a former Republican state lawmaker.

Gov. Snyder creates task force to investigate actions around the Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced the creation of an "independent advisory task force" that will look into the actions surrounding the management and testing of Flint's drinking water system. The goal, according to a press release from the governor's office, is to investigate what happened and to prevent the kind of problems that occurred with Flint's drinking water system in other systems in the state.

Football bet

Snyder sports Spartans tie after losing bet on Michigan: 'Now let's all root to beat Ohio State' (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder doesn't usually wear neck ties, but he sported a green and white Spartans version on Wednesday after losing a friendly bet with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. Snyder, who graduated from the University of Michigan, had picked the Wolverines to win Saturday's football game against Michigan State — a bet that was looking pretty good for about 59 minutes and 50 seconds.

Gov. Rick Snyder loses bet, wears MSU tie (WZZM)
For Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, it's not easy wearing green. Snyder, a proud graduate of the University of Michigan, sports a Michigan State green and white tie Wednesday -- all because of a lost bet over the weekend rivalry game with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley.

Snyder becomes tied-up as a Spartan (Detroit News)
University of Michigan graduate Rick Snyder, who also is governor of Michigan, made good on his big game bet with Michigan State University grad Brian Calley, his lieutenant governor.

Gov. Rick Snyder wears MSU tie to honor bet with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley (Oakland Press/Morning Sun)
After Saturday's come-from-behind victory in which Michigan State won 27-23 over Michigan, Governor Snyder honored his friendly wager with Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley by showing up to work in a Michigan State University tie for one week. Snyder graduated from the University of Michigan, while Calley is a Michigan State alum.

Gov. Snyder honors bet, wears MSU tie (WNEM)
It's been days since that last-second play that gave Michigan State the win over the University of Michigan. But today, people are still paying off their bets. Governor Rick Snyder is wearing a Michigan State University Spartans tie today to honor the bet he made with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley.

Michigan Governor Pays Off Bet, Wears Michigan State Tie (College Spun)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder attended the University of Michigan, but Wednesday, he's wearing a Michigan State tie to work. Why? He lost a bet, of course. Last week, ahead of the Wolverines vs. Spartans matchup, Snyder made a wager with Lt. Governor Brian Calley, who attended MSU. The loser, clearly, had to wear a tie of the other's alma mater.

Bill signings

Improved public access for Michigan service animals (MI 26 News)
Governor Snyder on Tuesday approved legislation allowing people with service animals better access to public spaces, such as restaurants, retail stores, and health care facilities. The bill package aims to modernize state law and advance the use of service animals.

Proclamation

Gov. Snyder signs proclamation declaring October Dwarfism Awareness Month (WWMT)
A West Michigan fifth grader took his fight to recognize dwarfism all the way to Governor Rick Snyder. Patrick Russon and his friends put together a proclamation to declare October as Dwarfism Awareness Month.

Perrigo

Perrigo Co. holding news conference Thurs. morning (WOOD-TV)
On Tuesday, Gov. Rick Snyder posted a statement on Facebook saying that a "takeover of Perrigo could to devastating results for Allegan, become a serious blow to Southwest Michigan and a significant setback for the State."

Flag honors

Flags being lowered in honor of DNR officer killed in crash (AP)
U.S. flags are being lowered to half-staff within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings in honor of a Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in a small plane crash. Gov. Rick Snyder ordered Thursday's flag-lowering honor for 58-year-old Arthur A. Green III of Farmington Hills.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Governor's visit highlights mental health work at Fresh Start Clubhouse (Mlive)
"The clubhouse gives me stability in my life. It gives me a place to come, a place of purpose," member Marsha Ward told a crowd Wednesday that included Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Ypsilanti mayor Amanda Edmonds.

Jackson National opens $60M facility (Lansing State Journal)
"This is a big part of the diverse economic comeback of Michigan," said Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. "This space is remarkable and a representation of the people and work that's happening here."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

LARA
Detroit contractor DMC Consultants Inc. faces $265,200 in MIOSHA fines (Crain's Detroit Business)
Detroit-based construction firm DMC Consultants Inc. faces fines of $265,200 for allegedly violating worker safety rules, the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration said today. MIOSHA cited DMC Consultants with 14 violations, mostly related to asbestos removal, after health inspections in July and August at two Ypsilanti duplexes the contractor was renovating. Of those, 12 were considered willful or serious violations, the state said.

Self-help center for legal matters opening in Macomb (Detroit Free Press)
Macomb County residents who need information about how to handle civil legal matters but cannot afford an attorney will have a new place for help. The Michigan Legal Help Self-Help Center of Macomb County is to open its doors Thursday in the James C. Daner Law Library on the fifth floor of the Macomb County Circuit Court building in downtown Mt. Clemens.

MDARD
Heartbroken citizens blame Detroit Animal Control for the deaths of the dogs they loved (WXYZ)
Harry Ward, the director of Detroit Animal Control, doesn't apologize for keeping one of his own dogs at the controversial facility where some citizens say their dogs died amid allegations of abuse, neglect and disease. Typically, residents whose dogs have gotten loose, or have been involved in reported bite cases, end up at animal control.

Michigan officials urge poultry owners to watch for bird flu (AP)
State officials are urging Michigan's poultry owners to watch for signs of bird flu during the fall migration season. Migrating birds carry diseases that could spread to poultry operations if the wild birds mingle with domestic ones. Poultry across much of the nation was hit with a bird flu virus this past spring, one of the biggest animal health disasters in U.S. history.

MDE
Report: $1.7M paid to Mich. charters that never opened (The Detroit News)
At least $1.7 million in federal funds was paid to 25 Michigan charter schools that never opened, according to a report released Wednesday by a Wisconsin-based progressive advocacy group. The Center for Media and Democracy said it reviewed federal and state records that show the "ghost schools" were approved for $3.7 million from the federal Charter Schools Program in 2011 and 2012, and received at least $1.7 million.

New Report on Charter Schools Reveals Information Gaps and Lack of Oversight (WDET)
A new report by the Center for Media and Democracy shows $1.7 million going to schools that never opened. The Wisconsin-based Center for Media and Democracy has released a new study on charter schools. The research reveals large gaps in financial accountability throughout charters in a dozen states, including Michigan.

MDHHS
Michigan receives $980,000 grant to develop behavioral health clinics (Crain's Detroit Business)

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics. "Building community-based systems of care is vital to supporting residents with behavioral health needs," said Nick Lyon, director of MDHHS. "This grant is an important first step in developing a more comprehensive way of delivering services throughout our state to best serve our residents."

Michigan launches nation's first Medicaid system on the cloud to reduce costs, improve health care delivery (PR Newswire)
Michigan residents will benefit from improved health care delivery and reduced costs through Medicaid Management Information System technology, a first in the nation program that includes a partnership with another state. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has worked with the State of Illinois, the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget, and CNSI to recently launch the second phase of the nation's first completely automated real-time and cloud-enabled system.

MDOT
Winter is coming: See how the Road Commission will prioritize snow and ice removal (MLive)
On a warm October Tuesday afternoon, the Washtenaw County Road Commission gave approval to this year's winter maintenance guidelines. There were no major changes in plowing priorities or standards, but the commission did give new authority to the superintendents of maintenance in determining whether to use overtime to clear secondary county roads.

MEDC
East Lansing Artist Alleys campaign nears halfway mark (LSJ)
A fundraising campaign to beautify two areas of downtown East Lansing is nearing the halfway point. With 22 days to go, the "Artist Alleys" campaign has collected $21,038, just shy of the halfway point toward the $45,000 goal. If the goal is met by the Nov. 12 deadline, the Michigan Economic Development Corporation will provide a $45,000 match to cover the project's estimated $88,000 cost.

Allegan opens riverfront with Oktoberfest fun (Allegan Co. News)
Perfect weather, flowing beer, sizzling sausages and live music filled the air for a well-attended Oktoberfest at Allegan's new riverfront plaza Saturday, Oct. 10. While the evening kicked off at 4 p.m. with children's activities, the band Joe Johnson and the Bluebacks took advantage of the good acoustics at the new amphitheater stage until it was time for the official ribbon cutting ceremony.

MSP
Michigan State Police Celebrated Back to the Future Day In the Best Way Possible (TIME)
From Toyota to Pepsi, brands and organizations the world over are celebrating Back to the Future Day. But the Michigan State Police may have one-upped them all. In a Facebook post, the troopers reference the iconic scene in 1989's Back to the Future II in which Marty McFly and Doc Brown jump ahead to Oct. 21, 2015 in their time-traveling DeLorean.

Michigan State Police crack down on distracted driving (C&G News)
Drivers with their heads in the clouds may have met with the law recently. According to Lt. Mike Shaw, public information officer for the Michigan State Police, the Second District Special Enforcement Section Motor Unit conducted a distracted driving traffic enforcement detail Oct. 7. Police were in Farmington Hills on I-696, near I-275. Shaw said that in total, 89 traffic stops were made, and officers stopped 18 drivers for distracted driving.

Michigan Supreme Court
Michigan Supreme Court hears arguments on prevailing wage law (Bridge Magazine)
The Michigan Supreme Court heard oral arguments this past week in a case that will decide whether municipalities have the power to require contractors to pay union-scale wages and benefits on local building projects.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan House approves brand new $1.28 road funding plan in late-night session (Mlive)
Michigan House Republicans jumpstarted a stalled road funding debate Wednesday night by unveiling and approving a new $1.2 billion plan, advancing the nine-bill package with little support from Democrats and without assurances that the Senate or governor are on board. House Speaker Kevin Cotter, R-Mt. Pleasant, championed the proposal as a "grand compromise" for his caucus that incorporates key elements of previous plans.

VoteSpotter app downloads increase by 10 times (Midland Daily)
The free mobile app VoteSpotter has seen its downloads increase by 10 times in the last six months, up from 4,000 in February to more than 50,000 in September. VoteSpotter enables citizens to directly engage with their state and federal lawmakers, making their voices immediately heard and holding legislators accountable for their votes.

Senate leader calls for vote on 'last, best' roads deal for Michigan (Jewocity)
Included in the plan are two tax-relief provisions: a gradual rollback in the state income tax rate as long as state-revenue increases exceed the inflation rate and a boost in the homestead property tax credit available to modest-income and low-income Michiganians. The House plan would call for $600 million from general fund or existing revenues to go to roads, versus $400 million as specified in the plan for which Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof, R-West Olive, has advocated. Meekhof said new drafts have been drafted that reflect the "deal.".

Miss Michigan Emily Kieliszewski of Alpena honored at State Capitol (Mlive)
Four months after being crowned Miss Michigan, Emily Kieliszewski was honored for her achievement at the Michigan State Capitol. Kieliszewski, an Alpena native, won the 2015 version of the scholarship competition on June 20. It was her sixth time competing in the pageant. She was welcomed to Lansing by her two state lawmakers — state Sen. Jim Stamas, R-Midland, and state Rep. Peter Pettalia, R-Presque Isle.

Kildee calls for federal probe of Flint water crisis (The Detroit News)
Rep. Dan Kildee has requested an investigation by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency into the Flint water crisis, saying the unacceptable lead levels detected in the city's water "were a failure of government at every level." Kildee, a Democrat from Flint Township, wrote Wednesday to EPA Administrator Gina McCarthy about the need for accountability "to restore confidence and to ensure that these failures never happen again," following revelations that lead levels existed in city water at dangerous levels for months.

Michigan House passes new roads plan with gas tax and fee hikes, bills move to Senate (WXYZ)
There were fireworks in Lansing as the Michigan House of Representatives voted on a roads funding plan. The House has voted to increase vehicle registration costs – and to raise the gas tax. Several members of the House complained that this was being rushed through.

Blue alert bill receives final passage in Legislature (The Detroit Free Press)
First there were Amber Alerts for missing kids. Then came the Silver Alerts to help locate missing senior citizens. On Wednesday, a Blue Alert received final passage in the state Senate to help get information out about suspects who have had violent encounters with police.

Kildee, Ananich call for federal investigation into Flint water crisis (MLive)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is being asked to investigate the cause of water problems in Flint by U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint, and state Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich, D-Flint. In separate letters to Gina McCarthy, administrator of the EPA, today, Oct. 21, the legislators asked for the federal review of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's oversight of water treatment here.

House passes sweeping roads plan raising gas tax, fees (The Detroit Free Press)
In mostly party-line votes, the House of Representatives passed a comprehensive plan to fix the state's roads that includes a gas tax hike, a 40% increase in registration fees and a $600-million shift of money from the state's general fund to roads. The plan faces a challenge in the Senate and with Gov. Rick Snyder who wanted no more than $400 million from the general fund to go to roads.

DETROIT

$2.5M Knight Foundation grant to boost Detroit business (The Detroit News)
The Knight Foundation is pumping $2.5 million into the Detroit business economy with a grant to the Detroit Development Fund. The grant, announced Wednesday, will support early stage retail and creative businesses in the city and advance the fund's mission of revitalizing economically distressed areas in Detroit. It will also have a focus on minority and female entrepreneurs, officials said.

Fitch: Michigan's Statutory Lien Bill Would Raise Recoveries (Business Wire)
If enacted, Michigan's statutory lien bill will significantly improve recovery value if a municipality defaults, compared to other general creditors, including employees, Fitch Ratings says. However, it will not reduce the risk of default. The legislation would also help improve investor views on the state's local credits, which were damaged as a result of the losses bondholders suffered in the Detroit bankruptcy. Detroit's unlimited tax general obligation bondholders recovered 74 cents on the dollar. Had this bill been in place, recoveries could have been higher.

Chancellor says EAA has acted to prevent corruption (The Detroit News)
The leader of Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 Detroit school system responded Wednesday to the federal probe of bank records tied to current and former district officials, saying the Education Achievement Authority "has taken every measure possible" to prevent corruption. "We have placed our trust in our educators and expect them to do everything in their power to improve the situations of the students they serve," EAA Chancellor Veronica Conforme wrote in a statement. "The misuse of funds implied by this investigation is intolerable. If any of those under investigation are found to be guilty, we will take the swiftest possible action against them."

Principal's kickback scheme may signal greater fraud (USA Today)
In a series of conversations with her boss, Kenyetta "KC" Wilbourn laid bare the nature of alleged corruption in a special school district the state created in 2012 to turn around Michigan's lowest performing schools. Wilbourn, then principal of Mumford High School in Detroit, acknowledged in November that she would help vendors score school business by ghost writing their responses to bids. She would take a cut of vendor payments and allow vendors to overbill.

DPS makes state pension payment, vows to pay $100M debt (The Detroit News)
After a lapse of nearly a year, Detroit Public Schools has resumed paying $750,000 a month to the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement System and is pledging to work out a way to repay nearly $100 million it owes the pension plan. The district and the state Office of Retirement Services said Wednesday that DPS paid $750,000 on Oct. 15, under an agreement reached in August between DPS Emergency Manager Darnell Earley and Phil Stoddard, who was director of OPS until Friday.

Key players provide inside look at Detroit bankruptcy (The Michigan Daily)
Key players in Detroit's now-infamous bankruptcy proceedings convened at the Ford School of Public Policy on Wednesday to discuss the city's growth since the city first filed for bankruptcy in 2013. The panel focused on the impact of the Detroit "grand bargain," which decreased the city's $18 billion debt, restored public safety services and increased funding to city infrastructure.

Documents outline probe into Michigan school district (AP)
The federal government has been conducting a corruption investigation into Michigan's turnaround district for low-performing public schools, focusing on current and former top officials as well vendor payments, according to newly released documents. Subpoenas and other records released Tuesday by the district called the Education Achievement Authority show the investigation began more than 16 months ago, the Detroit Free Press reported, and the FBI and U.S. Attorney's Office initially sought email and banking records.

OPINION

MDEQ e-mails show stunning indifference to Flint peril (Detroit Free Press)
Lackadaisical and dismissive -- that's the tone of a Michigan Department of Environmental Quality spokeswoman's response to a July e-mail noting that a member of a second media outlet had made an inquiry about elevated lead levels in Flint's drinking water. And it's a perfectly tone-deaf representation of that agency's response to the public health crisis then brewing in that impoverished town.

Flint, Detroit not only U.S. cities vulnerable to water problems (MLive)
Safe drinking water is essential to public health and to living in a modern society. Over the past century, the remarkable decline in deaths from infectious diseases in the United States and across the world can be largely attributed to the provision of clean water. In 1998, Quentin Young, former president of the American Public Health Association, observed, "Turning on any kitchen faucet for a glass of drinking water without hesitation or peril is a silent homage to public health success, which would not have been possible at the start of the twentieth century."

Editorial: Michigan jobless rate shows economic growth (Detroit News)
At 5 percent, Michigan's unemployment rate has fallen below the national average, currently 5.1 percent, for the first time in a decade and a half. The news is a welcome part of Michigan's effort to recover from the Lost Decade. And although it signals some growth, there's more to do.

Rep. Miller: Fiorina should be next president (Detroit News)
I am convinced Carly Fiorina is the person who is best prepared to protect both our security at home and our vital national interest across the globe as the next president of the United States.

CEO to lead Detroit job development efforts (Detroit News)
Mayor Mike Duggan knows a strong workforce is essential to Detroit's revival. And Friday, he's making public a major overhaul of the city's approach to workforce development.

Pagan: Pay equity still a battle (Hometown Life)
As a young elected official, I am immensely proud of the advances past generations have made toward equality for women. Each day I take to the floor of the Michigan House of Representatives, I am reminded of the shoulders I stand on from the women who have come before me. From earning the right to vote to fighting social injustice to dying on a picket line, we have come a long way.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, Oct. 22, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Flint task force

Snyder announces task force to review Flint water crisis (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has announced the creation of an independent advisory task force to review Flint's water use and testing. The group includes public health and medicine, water management and environmental protection experts.

Task force appointed to examine Flint water controversy (Freep)
As Gov. Rick Snyder appointed an independent task force to examine the controversy over Flint's tainted water Wednesday, more lawmakers called for investigations into how the problem went unsolved for so long. Snyder's task force will look into the actions that went into water use in the beleaguered city, as well as the testing that took place on the water after the city switched from Detroit's water and sewerage system to pulling water out of the Flint River.

Gov. Snyder names task force to review actions in Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed a task force to review "actions regarding water use and testing in Flint" and to make recommendations for future guidelines. The governor announced creation of the task force in a news release Wednesday, Oct. 21, the same day U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint, and state Sen. Jim Ananich, D-Flint, called for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to carry out a similar review.

Governor Snyder Appoints Task Force to Review Flint Water Crisis (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder has appointed a task force to review Flint's water contamination crisis. The task force is made up of medical professionals, environmental experts, and a former Republican state lawmaker.

Gov. Snyder creates task force to investigate actions around the Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced the creation of an "independent advisory task force" that will look into the actions surrounding the management and testing of Flint's drinking water system. The goal, according to a press release from the governor's office, is to investigate what happened and to prevent the kind of problems that occurred with Flint's drinking water system in other systems in the state.

Football bet

Snyder sports Spartans tie after losing bet on Michigan: 'Now let's all root to beat Ohio State' (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder doesn't usually wear neck ties, but he sported a green and white Spartans version on Wednesday after losing a friendly bet with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. Snyder, who graduated from the University of Michigan, had picked the Wolverines to win Saturday's football game against Michigan State — a bet that was looking pretty good for about 59 minutes and 50 seconds.

Gov. Rick Snyder loses bet, wears MSU tie (WZZM)
For Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, it's not easy wearing green. Snyder, a proud graduate of the University of Michigan, sports a Michigan State green and white tie Wednesday -- all because of a lost bet over the weekend rivalry game with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley.

Snyder becomes tied-up as a Spartan (Detroit News)
University of Michigan graduate Rick Snyder, who also is governor of Michigan, made good on his big game bet with Michigan State University grad Brian Calley, his lieutenant governor.

Gov. Rick Snyder wears MSU tie to honor bet with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley (Oakland Press/Morning Sun)
After Saturday's come-from-behind victory in which Michigan State won 27-23 over Michigan, Governor Snyder honored his friendly wager with Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley by showing up to work in a Michigan State University tie for one week. Snyder graduated from the University of Michigan, while Calley is a Michigan State alum.

Gov. Snyder honors bet, wears MSU tie (WNEM)
It's been days since that last-second play that gave Michigan State the win over the University of Michigan. But today, people are still paying off their bets. Governor Rick Snyder is wearing a Michigan State University Spartans tie today to honor the bet he made with Lt. Gov. Brian Calley.

Michigan Governor Pays Off Bet, Wears Michigan State Tie (College Spun)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder attended the University of Michigan, but Wednesday, he's wearing a Michigan State tie to work. Why? He lost a bet, of course. Last week, ahead of the Wolverines vs. Spartans matchup, Snyder made a wager with Lt. Governor Brian Calley, who attended MSU. The loser, clearly, had to wear a tie of the other's alma mater.

Bill signings
Improved public access for Michigan service animals (MI 26 News)
Governor Snyder on Tuesday approved legislation allowing people with service animals better access to public spaces, such as restaurants, retail stores, and health care facilities. The bill package aims to modernize state law and advance the use of service animals.

Proclamation
Gov. Snyder signs proclamation declaring October Dwarfism Awareness Month (WWMT)
A West Michigan fifth grader took his fight to recognize dwarfism all the way to Governor Rick Snyder. Patrick Russon and his friends put together a proclamation to declare October as Dwarfism Awareness Month.

Perrigo
Perrigo Co. holding news conference Thurs. morning (WOOD-TV)
On Tuesday, Gov. Rick Snyder posted a statement on Facebook saying that a "takeover of Perrigo could to devastating results for Allegan, become a serious blow to Southwest Michigan and a significant setback for the State."

Flag honors
Flags being lowered in honor of DNR officer killed in crash (AP)
U.S. flags are being lowered to half-staff within the State Capitol Complex and on all state buildings in honor of a Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officer who died in a small plane crash. Gov. Rick Snyder ordered Thursday's flag-lowering honor for 58-year-old Arthur A. Green III of Farmington Hills.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Governor's visit highlights mental health work at Fresh Start Clubhouse (Mlive)
"The clubhouse gives me stability in my life. It gives me a place to come, a place of purpose," member Marsha Ward told a crowd Wednesday that included Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Ypsilanti mayor Amanda Edmonds.

Jackson National opens $60M facility (Lansing State Journal)
"This is a big part of the diverse economic comeback of Michigan," said Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. "This space is remarkable and a representation of the people and work that's happening here."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

LARA
Detroit contractor DMC Consultants Inc. faces $265,200 in MIOSHA fines (Crain's Detroit Business)
Detroit-based construction firm DMC Consultants Inc. faces fines of $265,200 for allegedly violating worker safety rules, the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration said today. MIOSHA cited DMC Consultants with 14 violations, mostly related to asbestos removal, after health inspections in July and August at two Ypsilanti duplexes the contractor was renovating. Of those, 12 were considered willful or serious violations, the state said.

Self-help center for legal matters opening in Macomb (Detroit Free Press)
Macomb County residents who need information about how to handle civil legal matters but cannot afford an attorney will have a new place for help. The Michigan Legal Help Self-Help Center of Macomb County is to open its doors Thursday in the James C. Daner Law Library on the fifth floor of the Macomb County Circuit Court building in downtown Mt. Clemens.

MDARD
Heartbroken citizens blame Detroit Animal Control for the deaths of the dogs they loved (WXYZ)
Harry Ward, the director of Detroit Animal Control, doesn't apologize for keeping one of his own dogs at the controversial facility where some citizens say their dogs died amid allegations of abuse, neglect and disease. Typically, residents whose dogs have gotten loose, or have been involved in reported bite cases, end up at animal control.

Michigan officials urge poultry owners to watch for bird flu (AP)
State officials are urging Michigan's poultry owners to watch for signs of bird flu during the fall migration season. Migrating birds carry diseases that could spread to poultry operations if the wild birds mingle with domestic ones. Poultry across much of the nation was hit with a bird flu virus this past spring, one of the biggest animal health disasters in U.S. history.

MDE
Report: $1.7M paid to Mich. charters that never opened (The Detroit News)
At least $1.7 million in federal funds was paid to 25 Michigan charter schools that never opened, according to a report released Wednesday by a Wisconsin-based progressive advocacy group. The Center for Media and Democracy said it reviewed federal and state records that show the "ghost schools" were approved for $3.7 million from the federal Charter Schools Program in 2011 and 2012, and received at least $1.7 million.

New Report on Charter Schools Reveals Information Gaps and Lack of Oversight (WDET)
A new report by the Center for Media and Democracy shows $1.7 million going to schools that never opened. The Wisconsin-based Center for Media and Democracy has released a new study on charter schools. The research reveals large gaps in financial accountability throughout charters in a dozen states, including Michigan.

MDHHS

Michigan receives $980,000 grant to develop behavioral health clinics (Crain's Detroit Business)
The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has been awarded more than $980,000 to develop certified community behavioral health clinics. "Building community-based systems of care is vital to supporting residents with behavioral health needs," said Nick Lyon, director of MDHHS. "This grant is an important first step in developing a more comprehensive way of delivering services throughout our state to best serve our residents."

Michigan launches nation's first Medicaid system on the cloud to reduce costs, improve health care delivery (PR Newswire)
Michigan residents will benefit from improved health care delivery and reduced costs through Medicaid Management Information System technology, a first in the nation program that includes a partnership with another state. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has worked with the State of Illinois, the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget, and CNSI to recently launch the second phase of the nation's first completely automated real-time and cloud-enabled system.

MDOT

Winter is coming: See how the Road Commission will prioritize snow and ice removal (MLive)
On a warm October Tuesday afternoon, the Washtenaw County Road Commission gave approval to this year's winter maintenance guidelines. There were no major changes in plowing priorities or standards, but the commission did give new authority to the superintendents of maintenance in determining whether to use overtime to clear secondary county roads.

MEDC

East Lansing Artist Alleys campaign nears halfway mark (LSJ)
A fundraising campaign to beautify two areas of downtown East Lansing is nearing the halfway point. With 22 days to go, the "Artist Alleys" campaign has collected $21,038, just shy of the halfway point toward the $45,000 goal. If the goal is met by the Nov. 12 deadline, the Michigan Economic Development Corporation will provide a $45,000 match to cover the project's estimated $88,000 cost.

Allegan opens riverfront with Oktoberfest fun (Allegan Co. News)
Perfect weather, flowing beer, sizzling sausages and live music filled the air for a well-attended Oktoberfest at Allegan's new riverfront plaza Saturday, Oct. 10. While the evening kicked off at 4 p.m. with children's activities, the band Joe Johnson and the Bluebacks took advantage of the good acoustics at the new amphitheater stage until it was time for the official ribbon cutting ceremony.

MSP

Michigan State Police Celebrated Back to the Future Day In the Best Way Possible (TIME)
From Toyota to Pepsi, brands and organizations the world over are celebrating Back to the Future Day. But the Michigan State Police may have one-upped them all. In a Facebook post, the troopers reference the iconic scene in 1989's Back to the Future II in which Marty McFly and Doc Brown jump ahead to Oct. 21, 2015 in their time-traveling DeLorean.

Michigan State Police crack down on distracted driving (C&G News)
Drivers with their heads in the clouds may have met with the law recently. According to Lt. Mike Shaw, public information officer for the Michigan State Police, the Second District Special Enforcement Section Motor Unit conducted a distracted driving traffic enforcement detail Oct. 7. Police were in Farmington Hills on I-696, near I-275. Shaw said that in total, 89 traffic stops were made, and officers stopped 18 drivers for distracted driving.

Michigan Supreme Court

Michigan Supreme Court hears arguments on prevailing wage law (Bridge Magazine)
The Michigan Supreme Court heard oral arguments this past week in a case that will decide whether municipalities have the power to require contractors to pay union-scale wages and benefits on local building projects.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan House approves brand new $1.2B road funding plan in late-night session (Mlive)
Michigan House Republicans jumpstarted a stalled road funding debate Wednesday night by unveiling and approving a new $1.2 billion plan, advancing the nine-bill package with little support from Democrats and without assurances that the Senate or governor are on board. House Speaker Kevin Cotter, R-Mt. Pleasant, championed the proposal as a "grand compromise" for his caucus that incorporates key elements of previous plans.

VoteSpotter app downloads increase by 10 times (Midland Daily)
The free mobile app VoteSpotter has seen its downloads increase by 10 times in the last six months, up from 4,000 in February to more than 50,000 in September. VoteSpotter enables citizens to directly engage with their state and federal lawmakers, making their voices immediately heard and holding legislators accountable for their votes.

Senate leader calls for vote on 'last, best' roads deal for Michigan (Jewocity)
Included in the plan are two tax-relief provisions: a gradual rollback in the state income tax rate as long as state-revenue increases exceed the inflation rate and a boost in the homestead property tax credit available to modest-income and low-income Michiganians. The House plan would call for $600 million from general fund or existing revenues to go to roads, versus $400 million as specified in the plan for which Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof, R-West Olive, has advocated. Meekhof said new drafts have been drafted that reflect the "deal.".

Miss Michigan Emily Kieliszewski of Alpena honored at State Capitol (Mlive)
Four months after being crowned Miss Michigan, Emily Kieliszewski was honored for her achievement at the Michigan State Capitol. Kieliszewski, an Alpena native, won the 2015 version of the scholarship competition on June 20. It was her sixth time competing in the pageant. She was welcomed to Lansing by her two state lawmakers — state Sen. Jim Stamas, R-Midland, and state Rep. Peter Pettalia, R-Presque Isle.

Kildee calls for federal probe of Flint water crisis (The Detroit News)
Rep. Dan Kildee has requested an investigation by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency into the Flint water crisis, saying the unacceptable lead levels detected in the city's water "were a failure of government at every level." Kildee, a Democrat from Flint Township, wrote Wednesday to EPA Administrator Gina McCarthy about the need for accountability "to restore confidence and to ensure that these failures never happen again," following revelations that lead levels existed in city water at dangerous levels for months.

Michigan House passes new roads plan with gas tax and fee hikes, bills move to Senate (WXYZ)
There were fireworks in Lansing as the Michigan House of Representatives voted on a roads funding plan. The House has voted to increase vehicle registration costs – and to raise the gas tax. Several members of the House complained that this was being rushed through.

Blue alert bill receives final passage in Legislature (The Detroit Free Press)
First there were Amber Alerts for missing kids. Then came the Silver Alerts to help locate missing senior citizens. On Wednesday, a Blue Alert received final passage in the state Senate to help get information out about suspects who have had violent encounters with police.

Kildee, Ananich call for federal investigation into Flint water crisis (MLive)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is being asked to investigate the cause of water problems in Flint by U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint, and state Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich, D-Flint. In separate letters to Gina McCarthy, administrator of the EPA, today, Oct. 21, the legislators asked for the federal review of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's oversight of water treatment here.

House passes sweeping roads plan raising gas tax, fees (The Detroit Free Press)
In mostly party-line votes, the House of Representatives passed a comprehensive plan to fix the state's roads that includes a gas tax hike, a 40% increase in registration fees and a $600-million shift of money from the state's general fund to roads. The plan faces a challenge in the Senate and with Gov. Rick Snyder who wanted no more than $400 million from the general fund to go to roads.

DETROIT

$2.5M Knight Foundation grant to boost Detroit business (The Detroit News)
The Knight Foundation is pumping $2.5 million into the Detroit business economy with a grant to the Detroit Development Fund. The grant, announced Wednesday, will support early stage retail and creative businesses in the city and advance the fund's mission of revitalizing economically distressed areas in Detroit. It will also have a focus on minority and female entrepreneurs, officials said.

Fitch: Michigan's Statutory Lien Bill Would Raise Recoveries (Business Wire)
If enacted, Michigan's statutory lien bill will significantly improve recovery value if a municipality defaults, compared to other general creditors, including employees, Fitch Ratings says. However, it will not reduce the risk of default. The legislation would also help improve investor views on the state's local credits, which were damaged as a result of the losses bondholders suffered in the Detroit bankruptcy. Detroit's unlimited tax general obligation bondholders recovered 74 cents on the dollar. Had this bill been in place, recoveries could have been higher.

Chancellor says EAA has acted to prevent corruption (The Detroit News)
The leader of Gov. Rick Snyder's K-12 Detroit school system responded Wednesday to the federal probe of bank records tied to current and former district officials, saying the Education Achievement Authority "has taken every measure possible" to prevent corruption. "We have placed our trust in our educators and expect them to do everything in their power to improve the situations of the students they serve," EAA Chancellor Veronica Conforme wrote in a statement. "The misuse of funds implied by this investigation is intolerable. If any of those under investigation are found to be guilty, we will take the swiftest possible action against them."

Principal's kickback scheme may signal greater fraud (USA Today)
In a series of conversations with her boss, Kenyetta "KC" Wilbourn laid bare the nature of alleged corruption in a special school district the state created in 2012 to turn around Michigan's lowest performing schools. Wilbourn, then principal of Mumford High School in Detroit, acknowledged in November that she would help vendors score school business by ghost writing their responses to bids. She would take a cut of vendor payments and allow vendors to overbill.

DPS makes state pension payment, vows to pay $100M debt (The Detroit News)

After a lapse of nearly a year, Detroit Public Schools has resumed paying $750,000 a month to the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement System and is pledging to work out a way to repay nearly $100 million it owes the pension plan. The district and the state Office of Retirement Services said Wednesday that DPS paid $750,000 on Oct. 15, under an agreement reached in August between DPS Emergency Manager Darnell Earley and Phil Stoddard, who was director of OPS until Friday.

Key players provide inside look at Detroit bankruptcy (The Michigan Daily)
Key players in Detroit's now-infamous bankruptcy proceedings convened at the Ford School of Public Policy on Wednesday to discuss the city's growth since the city first filed for bankruptcy in 2013. The panel focused on the impact of the Detroit "grand bargain," which decreased the city's $18 billion debt, restored public safety services and increased funding to city infrastructure.

Documents outline probe into Michigan school district (AP)
The federal government has been conducting a corruption investigation into Michigan's turnaround district for low-performing public schools, focusing on current and former top officials as well vendor payments, according to newly released documents. Subpoenas and other records released Tuesday by the district called the Education Achievement Authority show the investigation began more than 16 months ago, the Detroit Free Press reported, and the FBI and U.S. Attorney's Office initially sought email and banking records.

OPINION

MDEQ e-mails show stunning indifference to Flint peril (Detroit Free Press)
Lackadaisical and dismissive -- that's the tone of a Michigan Department of Environmental Quality spokeswoman's response to a July e-mail noting that a member of a second media outlet had made an inquiry about elevated lead levels in Flint's drinking water. And it's a perfectly tone-deaf representation of that agency's response to the public health crisis then brewing in that impoverished town.

Flint, Detroit not only U.S. cities vulnerable to water problems (MLive)
Safe drinking water is essential to public health and to living in a modern society. Over the past century, the remarkable decline in deaths from infectious diseases in the United States and across the world can be largely attributed to the provision of clean water. In 1998, Quentin Young, former president of the American Public Health Association, observed, "Turning on any kitchen faucet for a glass of drinking water without hesitation or peril is a silent homage to public health success, which would not have been possible at the start of the twentieth century."

Editorial: Michigan jobless rate shows economic growth (Detroit News)
At 5 percent, Michigan's unemployment rate has fallen below the national average, currently 5.1 percent, for the first time in a decade and a half. The news is a welcome part of Michigan's effort to recover from the Lost Decade. And although it signals some growth, there's more to do.

Rep. Miller: Fiorina should be next president (Detroit News)
I am convinced Carly Fiorina is the person who is best prepared to protect both our security at home and our vital national interest across the globe as the next president of the United States.

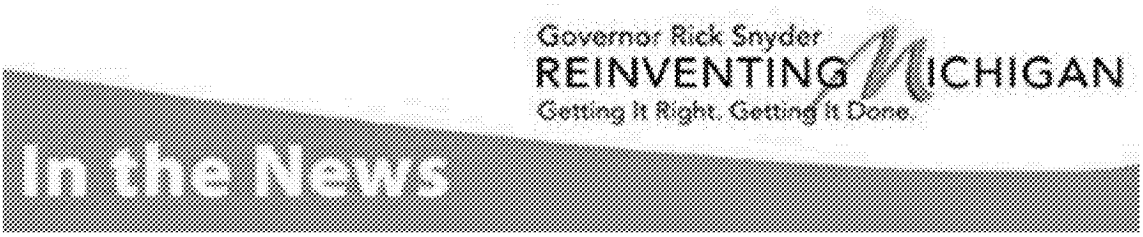
CEO to lead Detroit job development efforts (Detroit News)
Mayor Mike Duggan knows a strong workforce is essential to Detroit's revival. And Friday, he's making public a major overhaul of the city's approach to workforce development.

Pagan: Pay equity still a battle (Hometown Life)

As a young elected official, I am immensely proud of the advances past generations have made toward equality for women. Each day I take to the floor of the Michigan House of Representatives, I am reminded of the shoulders I stand on from the women who have come before me. From earning the right to vote to fighting social injustice to dying on a picket line, we have come a long way.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, October 26, 2015 10:05 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/26 Newsroom
Attachments: 151026 NEWSROOM.docx



Monday, Oct. 26, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Prescription Drug and Opioid press conference
Heroin antidote may become more accessible in Michigan (Detroit News)
A state drug task force is recommending a tweak in Michigan law to allow over-the-counter sales of an injectable drug that can prevent overdose deaths. The Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force, named by Gov. Rick Snyder in June to address an alarming spike in overdoses, wants to make the antidote naloxone readily available for heroin emergencies.

Cybersecurity Summit
State-led summit focuses on range of cybersecurity issues (9&10 News)
Cybersecurity issues affecting business, education, information technology, economic development, law enforcement and individuals are the topic of a gathering in Detroit.

SEMCOG
Gov. Snyder stops by SEMCOG meeting at Schoolcraft (Hometown Life)
Gov. Rick Snyder believes the current number of accurate job openings at the state's talent search website is higher than it actually is. "We actually have 108,000 open jobs on that site today," he said. "There are a lot of awesome jobs in that 108,000. A lot of technical jobs, a lot of skilled trade jobs, a lot of STEM jobs.

Flag honors
Gov. Rick Snyder lowers flags to honor Kalamazoo airman (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered that U.S. and state flags be flown at half-staff in Michigan on Monday, Oct. 26, in honor of Master Sgt. Gregory Kuhse, a Kalamazoo airman killed on Sunday, Oct. 12, in Afghanistan.

Interviews
Flashpoint: Gov. Snyder talks water crisis, Michigan roads (WDIV)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder joins Flashpoint to talk about the Flint water crisis and the ongoing discussions to fix Michigan roads.

Flashpoint: Gov. Snyder talks DPS plan, poverty in Detroit (WDIV)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder joined Flashpoint Sunday morning to talk about some of the issues in metro Detroit, including his plan to help fix Detroit Public Schools. Devin Scillian asked Snyder about his plan and why he thinks it can help DPS get back on track.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Calley: Fight overdoses with tighter drug monitoring (Detroit News)
The Snyder administration wants heightened monitoring of pain killer prescriptions to be the centerpiece of a new strategy for battling the growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely used drugs called opioids, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley says.

Calley, Cotter talk roads and economic recovery at Soaring Eagle legislative breakfast (CM Life)
In Calley's address, he touted Michigan's economic recovery as strong, citing recent debt and unemployment statistics as evidence of growth.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Michigan joins suit to overturn feds' power plant rule (The Detroit News)
Attorney General Bill Schuette "is concerned by yet one more executive action taken by President Obama and the EPA that violates the Clean Air Act and causes the price of electricity to increase, placing jobs and pay checks at risk and costing Michigan families more," Schuette spokeswoman Andrea Bitely said.

DEQ
School water seldom tested in urban Michigan districts (The Detroit News)
"We don't yet have details on the plan to address schools, but the governor has said he wants a review of schools to be part of the state's after-action task force review," said Brad Wurfel, spokesman for Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality. "As he noted previously, it just makes sense to get this done — schools are where the kids are."

DIFS
Staying large: ACA change assures 'business as usual' (MiBiz)
The state will maintain the present definition of what constitutes a small employer for health benefits in Michigan, avoiding the need for businesses with 51 to 100 employees to possibly alter their insurance coverage. The ruling by Michigan Department of Financial and Insurance Services Director Patrick McPharlin came days after Congress passed and President Obama quickly signed bipartisan legislation to amend the federal Affordable Care Act to allow states to decide whether to change the definition of their small group market.

DTMB
State-led summit focuses on range of cybersecurity issues (AP)
The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget says Gov. Rick Snyder is hosting the fourth North American International Cyber Summit starting Monday morning at downtown's Cobo Center. Experts on hand come from the public safety, government and business sectors. U.S. Attorney Barbara McQuade of the Eastern District of Michigan is among the speakers.

MDCR
Officials selects next Michigan civil rights chief (AP)
The Michigan Department of Civil Rights has a former member of its commission in place to lead the agency. The state Civil Rights Commission chose Agustin Arbulu as executive director of the department. He was one of two finalists interviewed Friday in Detroit.

MDHHS
Help is on the way for lead-exposed Flint kids (Detroit Free Press)

With guidance, in part, from a group known as the Flint Lead INnovation Team, the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is expected to send letters this week to families recommending they talk to their child's doctor about immediate lead testing and long-term monitoring for developmental problems, as well as focusing on nutrition, since certain foods can reduce the absorption of lead.

As temperatures drop, experts warn about carbon monoxide poisoning (WWMT)
As the temperatures outside drop, there's a huge increase in gas appliance use nationwide. But the same chemical process that keeps you warm during the winter months may have a killer consequence. According to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, carbon monoxide caused more than thirty-four deaths and hundreds of poisonings in the state in 2013. Most of which were linked to defective devices.

MDOT
M-231 one step closer to opening (Grand Haven Tribune)
The ceremony, held just north of the bridge crossing the Grand River, drew hundreds of people — and nearly a hundred antique tractors and vintage cars — to the new highway, which will officially open to traffic on Oct. 30. The new 7-mile highway connecting M-45 in Robinson Township to M-104/I-96 in Crockery Township was certainly on display in all its grandeur Friday

MEDC
Morenci manufacturer gets $250,000 state grant (Daily Telegram)
A manufacturing facility moving to Morenci has received a $250,000 grant to help with job training for its 60 employees. The Michigan Strategic Fund approved the community development block grant unds for job training needed for a Kamco Industries Inc. expansion project that includes the acquisition of the former Palm Plastics building in Morenci. The project expects to generate $22.7 million in private investment and create 60 jobs, according to a news release. Michigan was chosen by Kamco over other locations in the Midwest, according to the Michigan Economic Development Corp.

MSP
Michigan State Police trains new motor carrier officers (Lansing State Journal)
A State Journal investigation this summer found Michigan motor carriers screened fewer trucks than their counterparts in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, largely because Michigan's force is understaffed. It's stretched thinner now because five officers were pulled from the field to run the recruit school. But, if all 18 of the current recruits make it to graduation, 10 will replace retirees and others leaving the force and Michigan will have eight brand-new officers on the ground.

Changes made after 2 state police dogs died in patrol car (AP)
Michigan State Police publicly confirmed the deaths this week — more than two years later — in response to a WDIV-TV report about a lawsuit related to how troopers are disciplined. Canine patrol vehicles now are equipped with sensors that "automatically roll the windows down, sound the horn and activate the vehicle's flashing lights to alert the handler if temperatures rise to an unsafe level," state police said.

ACLU: Michigan State Police have been tracking cell phones for years (Michigan Radio)
Michigan state police have been using cell phone tracking devices for nearly ten years. That's according to documents the American Civil Liberties Union obtained through a Freedom of Information request. The documents show the devices have been in use since at least 2006 and were first purchased to help fight terrorism.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Another week at the Capitol, two more abortion bills (Freep)
Rarely a week goes by that some sort of legislation regarding abortion — on both sides of the issue — is not introduced in the Michigan Legislature.

Michigan could implement Blue Alert to protect law enforcement (UpNorthLive)
The Blue Alert would release information to the public of suspects who injure or kill law enforcement officers.

Michigan Senate to review new House road plan with tax hikes (AP, Grand Haven Tribune)
Passage of $1.2 billion road-improvement legislation remains in doubt despite the House's narrow approval of a new plan to pair higher vehicle registration fees and fuel taxes with spending cuts and future income tax reductions.

Michigan lawmakers under pressure to let retirees teach, get pension due to shortage of subs (AP)
Michigan lawmakers are under pressure to let retired teachers return to the classroom because of a shortage of substitutes and not enough full-time teachers in special education, pre-kindergarten and certain subjects.

DETROIT

$500 sale of former American Motors Corp. in limbo (The Detroit News)
County officials said they will meet Monday to determine if the $500 auction sale will stand, after a former owner threatened late last week to take the county to court over the foreclosure. The former owner says he wasn't legally notified he was at risk of losing it over $1.25 million in unpaid taxes and fees, said Deputy Treasurer Eric Sabree.

Pass or fail for EAA in Detroit? (Detroit Free Press)
Three years after the Education Achievement Authority debuted as the controversial state-created solution for failing Michigan schools, turmoil exists throughout the district in Detroit, with declining enrollment, high turnover, planned staff cuts and, most recently, a federal corruption probe announced last week that has more than a dozen current and former employees facing grand jury scrutiny.

Is emergency manager law to blame for Flint water crisis? (Detroit Free Press)
There's now universal agreement that the city's switch to Flint River water was a mistake without necessary safeguards, such as adding anticorrosion materials to the water before it was pumped to homes through the lead pipes to help prevent leaching. But there's no consensus about whether the bad choice was one that could have been made by elected leaders in any cash-strapped city, or whether the Flint debacle is an indictment of Public Act 436, which Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law in December 2012, just weeks after voters rejected its earlier incarnation, Public Act 4 of 2011.

Duggan defends housing demolition costs, bids (The Detroit News)
The Duggan administration on Friday defended the bidding process for its large-scale demolition program as the city's anti-blight efforts continue to draw scrutiny over spiraling costs.

Unfinished jobs raise concern over Detroit's plan to reduce blight (WDIV Detroit)
Mayor Mike Duggan's aggressive plan to reduce blight in Detroit by demolishing vacant homes is reaching into the thousands of homes that have been brought down. Each demolition is a mini job site, so there are bound to be problems at some of them. One of those is on the city's northwest side, where a neighbor told Local 4 that he's concerned contractors aren't finishing what they start.

Detroit to take stage at world's top architecture show (Detroit Free Press)
In a cultural coup for Detroit, the U.S. State Department has chosen the Motor City to be the entire focus of the American pavilion at the 2016 Venice Biennale, the world's premier exhibition of architectural innovation.

OPINION

Editorial: Roads plan jammed up behind the barricades (Port Huron Times Herald)
Michigan lawmakers have been staying up late looking for money to pump into road construction.

Michigan's dirty little secret (Livingston Daily)

Michigan has a dirty little secret, and the Michigan fire service does not want it to be a secret any more.

Ken Braun: U.S. corporate taxes put U.S. companies at risk (MLive)
On Monday evening, Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder put up a Facebook post encouraging the stockholders of Perrigo Co. to reject a hostile takeover vote put in motion by would-be purchaser Mylan NV. Both companies are in the pharmaceutical business

Could Snyder help for Detroit schools spread to all Michigan districts? (MLive)
Talk about opening a can of worms. Actually two cans.

In politics, he or she who hesitates might get lost in the shuffle (MLive)
If you are a nonplayer on the Lansing political scene, you have to be scratching your head when you read about this person or that exploring a possible bid for office in 2018

Editorial: Snyder's DPS fix faces several tests (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's latest iteration of a plan to fix Detroit schools calls for sweeping legislative changes, and he's going to have to get buy-in from state leaders and the public to finance the $715 million projected cost over 10 years. That's a tall order.

Let's find a clean water solution for Michigan (Detroit News)
It was great to see the Michigan Legislature come together and put politics aside as they voted unanimously in finding a resolution to the Flint drinking water crisis. However, this single incident also exposed a major flaw in a system that should ensure that all residents of Michigan have access to clean drinking water, not water that is treated from polluted rivers and is brought to them through aging, deteriorating pipes.

Don't make Ohio's energy fumble (Detroit News)
The Michigan-Ohio State football rivalry is fierce and longstanding. Though the Buckeyes were crowned national champions last year in football, Ohio fumbled big time on energy. This year, Michigan has the chance to avoid that blunder.

Editorial: Scrap 'pay or stay' with court rule (Detroit News)
Jailing individuals simply because they can't afford to pay a fine — commonly called pay or stay sentencing — is unconstitutional. Yet judges throughout Michigan have handed out disturbing numbers of these sentences for many years, with several recent cases becoming high profile

Many reasons to dislike latest road-funding bills (Detroit Free Press)
The state House, led by the GOP, on Wednesday passed bills that would, by 2021, devote an extra $1.2 billion to roads, with $600 million coming from the state's general fund, $400 million from a 40% hike in registration fees, and $200 million from higher fuel taxes, while also providing $200 million in tax relief through a sweetened Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Third-grade reading bill leaves out teachers, parents (Detroit Free Press)
The third-grade reading retention bill (HB 4822) and its mandate to retain nonproficient readers strips local control and allows Lansing to decide whether a child moves on to the fourth grade. Teachers and parents (the people who actually know the child) are denied input.

Will Snyder's DPS plan work? (Detroit Free Press)
Last week, Gov. Rick Snyder revealed more details about his plan for Detroit Public Schools. The plan includes splitting the district into two, one to handle DPS's debt and one to educate students.

Follow the money trail in campaign donations (Detroit Free Press)

Money talks in politics. And when it comes to the 2016 presidential contest, Michigan is speaking a slightly different language than the rest of the nation.

Why presumptive parole is a bad idea for Michigan (Detroit Free Press)
As the leading elected law enforcement officials in southeast Michigan, we represent a strong and growing bipartisan coalition vested with a duty to protect the public. We serve on the front lines each day and have lifetimes of experience dealing with violent and repeat offenders. This is why we are working to oppose a threat to public safety known as presumptive parole.

####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, Oct. 26, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Prescription Drug and Opioid press conference
Heroin antidote may become more accessible in Michigan (Detroit News)
A state drug task force is recommending a tweak in Michigan law to allow over-the-counter sales of an injectable drug that can prevent overdose deaths. The Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force, named by Gov. Rick Snyder in June to address an alarming spike in overdoses, wants to make the antidote naloxone readily available for heroin emergencies.

Cybersecurity Summit
State-led summit focuses on range of cybersecurity issues (9&10 News)
Cybersecurity issues affecting business, education, information technology, economic development, law enforcement and individuals are the topic of a gathering in Detroit.

SEMCOG
Gov. Snyder stops by SEMCOG meeting at Schoolcraft (Hometown Life)
Gov. Rick Snyder believes the current number of accurate job openings at the state's talent search website is higher than it actually is. "We actually have 108,000 open jobs on that site today," he said. "There are a lot of awesome jobs in that 108,000. A lot of technical jobs, a lot of skilled trade jobs, a lot of STEM jobs.

Flag honors
Gov. Rick Snyder lowers flags to honor Kalamazoo airman (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered that U.S. and state flags be flown at half-staff in Michigan on Monday, Oct. 26, in honor of Master Sgt. Gregory Kuhse, a Kalamazoo airman killed on Sunday, Oct. 12, in Afghanistan.

Interviews
Flashpoint: Gov. Snyder talks water crisis, Michigan roads (WDIV)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder joins Flashpoint to talk about the Flint water crisis and the ongoing discussions to fix Michigan roads.

Flashpoint: Gov. Snyder talks DPS plan, poverty in Detroit (WDIV)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder joined Flashpoint Sunday morning to talk about some of the issues in metro Detroit, including his plan to help fix Detroit Public Schools. Devin Scillian asked Snyder about his plan and why he thinks it can help DPS get back on track.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Calley: Fight overdoses with tighter drug monitoring (Detroit News)

The Snyder administration wants heightened monitoring of pain killer prescriptions to be the centerpiece of a new strategy for battling the growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely used drugs called opioids, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley says.

Calley, Cotter talk roads and economic recovery at Soaring Eagle legislative breakfast (CM Life)
In Calley's address, he touted Michigan's economic recovery as strong, citing recent debt and unemployment statistics as evidence of growth.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Michigan joins suit to overturn feds' power plant rule (The Detroit News)
Attorney General Bill Schuette "is concerned by yet one more executive action taken by President Obama and the EPA that violates the Clean Air Act and causes the price of electricity to increase, placing jobs and pay checks at risk and costing Michigan families more," Schuette spokeswoman Andrea Bitely said.

DEQ
School water seldom tested in urban Michigan districts (The Detroit News)
"We don't yet have details on the plan to address schools, but the governor has said he wants a review of schools to be part of the state's after-action task force review," said Brad Wurfel, spokesman for Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality. "As he noted previously, it just makes sense to get this done — schools are where the kids are."

DIFS
Staying large: ACA change assures 'business as usual' (MiBiz)
The state will maintain the present definition of what constitutes a small employer for health benefits in Michigan, avoiding the need for businesses with 51 to 100 employees to possibly alter their insurance coverage. The ruling by Michigan Department of Financial and Insurance Services Director Patrick McPharlin came days after Congress passed and President Obama quickly signed bipartisan legislation to amend the federal Affordable Care Act to allow states to decide whether to change the definition of their small group market.

DTMB
State-led summit focuses on range of cybersecurity issues (AP)
The Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget says Gov. Rick Snyder is hosting the fourth North American International Cyber Summit starting Monday morning at downtown's Cobo Center. Experts on hand come from the public safety, government and business sectors. U.S. Attorney Barbara McQuade of the Eastern District of Michigan is among the speakers.

MDCR
Officials selects next Michigan civil rights chief (AP)
The Michigan Department of Civil Rights has a former member of its commission in place to lead the agency. The state Civil Rights Commission chose Agustin Arbulu as executive director of the department. He was one of two finalists interviewed Friday in Detroit.

MDHHS
Help is on the way for lead-exposed Flint kids (Detroit Free Press)
With guidance, in part, from a group known as the Flint Lead INnovation Team, the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is expected to send letters this week to families recommending they talk to their child's doctor about immediate lead testing and long-term monitoring for developmental problems, as well as focusing on nutrition, since certain foods can reduce the absorption of lead.

As temperatures drop, experts warn about carbon monoxide poisoning (WWMT)
As the temperatures outside drop, there's a huge increase in gas appliance use nationwide. But the same chemical process that keeps you warm during the winter months may have a killer consequence. According to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, carbon monoxide caused more than thirty-four deaths and hundreds of poisonings in the state in 2013. Most of which were linked to defective devices.

MDOT
M-231 one step closer to opening (Grand Haven Tribune)
The ceremony, held just north of the bridge crossing the Grand River, drew hundreds of people — and nearly a hundred antique tractors and vintage cars — to the new highway, which will officially open to traffic on Oct. 30. The new 7-mile highway connecting M-45 in Robinson Township to M-104/I-96 in Crockery Township was certainly on display in all its grandeur Friday

MEDC
Morenci manufacturer gets $250,000 state grant (Daily Telegram)
A manufacturing facility moving to Morenci has received a $250,000 grant to help with job training for its 60 employees. The Michigan Strategic Fund approved the community development block grant unds for job training needed for a Kamco Industries Inc. expansion project that includes the acquisition of the former Palm Plastics building in Morenci. The project expects to generate $22.7 million in private investment and create 60 jobs, according to a news release. Michigan was chosen by Kamco over other locations in the Midwest, according to the Michigan Economic Development Corp.

MSP
Michigan State Police trains new motor carrier officers (Lansing State Journal)
A State Journal investigation this summer found Michigan motor carriers screened fewer trucks than their counterparts in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, largely because Michigan's force is understaffed. It's stretched thinner now because five officers were pulled from the field to run the recruit school. But, if all 18 of the current recruits make it to graduation, 10 will replace retirees and others leaving the force and Michigan will have eight brand-new officers on the ground.

Changes made after 2 state police dogs died in patrol car (AP)
Michigan State Police publicly confirmed the deaths this week — more than two years later — in response to a WDIV-TV report about a lawsuit related to how troopers are disciplined. Canine patrol vehicles now are equipped with sensors that "automatically roll the windows down, sound the horn and activate the vehicle's flashing lights to alert the handler if temperatures rise to an unsafe level," state police said.

ACLU: Michigan State Police have been tracking cell phones for years (Michigan Radio)
Michigan state police have been using cell phone tracking devices for nearly ten years. That's according to documents the American Civil Liberties Union obtained through a Freedom of Information request. The documents show the devices have been in use since at least 2006 and were first purchased to help fight terrorism.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Another week at the Capitol, two more abortion bills (Freep)

Rarely a week goes by that some sort of legislation regarding abortion — on both sides of the issue — is not introduced in the Michigan Legislature.

Michigan could implement Blue Alert to protect law enforcement (UpNorthLive)
The Blue Alert would release information to the public of suspects who injure or kill law enforcement officers.

Michigan Senate to review new House road plan with tax hikes (AP, Grand Haven Tribune)
Passage of $1.2 billion road-improvement legislation remains in doubt despite the House's narrow approval of a new plan to pair higher vehicle registration fees and fuel taxes with spending cuts and future income tax reductions.

Michigan lawmakers under pressure to let retirees teach, get pension due to shortage of subs (AP)
Michigan lawmakers are under pressure to let retired teachers return to the classroom because of a shortage of substitutes and not enough full-time teachers in special education, pre-kindergarten and certain subjects.

DETROIT

$500 sale of former American Motors Corp. in limbo (The Detroit News)
County officials said they will meet Monday to determine if the $500 auction sale will stand, after a former owner threatened late last week to take the county to court over the foreclosure. The former owner says he wasn't legally notified he was at risk of losing it over $1.25 million in unpaid taxes and fees, said Deputy Treasurer Eric Sabree.

Pass or fail for EAA in Detroit? (Detroit Free Press)
Three years after the Education Achievement Authority debuted as the controversial state-created solution for failing Michigan schools, turmoil exists throughout the district in Detroit, with declining enrollment, high turnover, planned staff cuts and, most recently, a federal corruption probe announced last week that has more than a dozen current and former employees facing grand jury scrutiny.

Is emergency manager law to blame for Flint water crisis? (Detroit Free Press)
There's now universal agreement that the city's switch to Flint River water was a mistake without necessary safeguards, such as adding anticorrosion materials to the water before it was pumped to homes through the lead pipes to help prevent leaching. But there's no consensus about whether the bad choice was one that could have been made by elected leaders in any cash-strapped city, or whether the Flint debacle is an indictment of Public Act 436, which Gov. Rick Snyder signed into law in December 2012, just weeks after voters rejected its earlier incarnation, Public Act 4 of 2011.

Duggan defends housing demolition costs, bids (The Detroit News)
The Duggan administration on Friday defended the bidding process for its large-scale demolition program as the city's anti-blight efforts continue to draw scrutiny over spiraling costs.

Unfinished jobs raise concern over Detroit's plan to reduce blight (WDIV Detroit)
Mayor Mike Duggan's aggressive plan to reduce blight in Detroit by demolishing vacant homes is reaching into the thousands of homes that have been brought down. Each demolition is a mini job site, so there are bound to be problems at some of them. One of those is on the city's northwest side, where a neighbor told Local 4 that he's concerned contractors aren't finishing what they start.

Detroit to take stage at world's top architecture show (Detroit Free Press)

In a cultural coup for Detroit, the U.S. State Department has chosen the Motor City to be the entire focus of the American pavilion at the 2016 Venice Biennale, the world's premier exhibition of architectural innovation.

OPINION

Editorial: Roads plan jammed up behind the barricades (Port Huron Times Herald)
Michigan lawmakers have been staying up late looking for money to pump into road construction.

Michigan's dirty little secret (Livingston Daily)
Michigan has a dirty little secret, and the Michigan fire service does not want it to be a secret any more.

Ken Braun: U.S. corporate taxes put U.S. companies at risk (MLive)
On Monday evening, Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder put up a Facebook post encouraging the stockholders of Perrigo Co. to reject a hostile takeover vote put in motion by would-be purchaser Mylan NV. Both companies are in the pharmaceutical business

Could Snyder help for Detroit schools spread to all Michigan districts? (MLive)
Talk about opening a can of worms. Actually two cans.

In politics, he or she who hesitates might get lost in the shuffle (MLive)
If you are a nonplayer on the Lansing political scene, you have to be scratching your head when you read about this person or that exploring a possible bid for office in 2018

Editorial: Snyder's DPS fix faces several tests (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's latest iteration of a plan to fix Detroit schools calls for sweeping legislative changes, and he's going to have to get buy-in from state leaders and the public to finance the $715 million projected cost over 10 years. That's a tall order.

Let's find a clean water solution for Michigan (Detroit News)
It was great to see the Michigan Legislature come together and put politics aside as they voted unanimously in finding a resolution to the Flint drinking water crisis. However, this single incident also exposed a major flaw in a system that should ensure that all residents of Michigan have access to clean drinking water, not water that is treated from polluted rivers and is brought to them through aging, deteriorating pipes.

Don't make Ohio's energy fumble (Detroit News)
The Michigan-Ohio State football rivalry is fierce and longstanding. Though the Buckeyes were crowned national champions last year in football, Ohio fumbled big time on energy. This year, Michigan has the chance to avoid that blunder.

Editorial: Scrap 'pay or stay' with court rule (Detroit News)
Jailing individuals simply because they can't afford to pay a fine — commonly called pay or stay sentencing — is unconstitutional. Yet judges throughout Michigan have handed out disturbing numbers of these sentences for many years, with several recent cases becoming high profile

Many reasons to dislike latest road-funding bills (Detroit Free Press)
The state House, led by the GOP, on Wednesday passed bills that would, by 2021, devote an extra $1.2 billion to roads, with $600 million coming from the state's general fund, $400 million from a 40% hike in registration fees, and $200 million from higher fuel taxes, while also providing $200 million in tax relief through a sweetened Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Third-grade reading bill leaves out teachers, parents (Detroit Free Press)
The third-grade reading retention bill (HB 4822) and its mandate to retain nonproficient readers strips local control and allows Lansing to decide whether a child moves on to the fourth grade. Teachers and parents (the people who actually know the child) are denied input.

Will Snyder's DPS plan work? (Detroit Free Press)
Last week, Gov. Rick Snyder revealed more details about his plan for Detroit Public Schools. The plan includes splitting the district into two, one to handle DPS's debt and one to educate students.

Follow the money trail in campaign donations (Detroit Free Press)
Money talks in politics. And when it comes to the 2016 presidential contest, Michigan is speaking a slightly different language than the rest of the nation.

Why presumptive parole is a bad idea for Michigan (Detroit Free Press)
As the leading elected law enforcement officials in southeast Michigan, we represent a strong and growing bipartisan coalition vested with a duty to protect the public. We serve on the front lines each day and have lifetimes of experience dealing with violent and repeat offenders. This is why we are working to oppose a threat to public safety known as presumptive parole.

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, October 27, 2015 9:11 AM
Subject: 10/27 Newsroom
Attachments: 151027 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 27, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Prescription Drug and Opioid Task Force

Gov. Rick Snyder: It's time to address Michigan's pain pill problem (Mlive)
Michigan has a pill problem, says Gov. Rick Snyder. The number of prescribed Schedule II pills quadrupled from 180 million to 745 million in eight years, he said.

Snyder plan combats prescription drug, pain killer addiction (AP)
A task force formed by Gov. Rick Snyder is releasing more than two dozen recommendations to target the worsening problem of prescription drug and painkiller addiction.

Calley: Fight overdoses with tighter drug monitoring (Detroit News)
The Snyder administration wants heightened monitoring of pain killer prescriptions to be the centerpiece of a new strategy for battling the growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely used drugs called opioids, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley says.

Snyder, task force outline plan to tackle state's drug abuse 'crisis' (Fox 17)
Among the list of more than two dozen recommendations announced Monday by Gov. Rick Snyder and the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force, officials say prescriptions need to be better tracked and the overdose antidote drug known as Narcan should become more widely available.

State Prescription Drug & Opioid Task Force Submits Report (WHTC)
The Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented Governor Snyder a "comprehensive" report that includes 25 recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address this growing problem statewide.

Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force releases findings and recommendations (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today announced that the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented him with a comprehensive report of their findings and more than two dozen recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address a growing problem in Michigan. The governor formed the task force in mid-June and appointed Lt. Gov. Brian Calley as the chair with the direction to examine the recent trends, evaluate strategic options, and develop a statewide action plan by fall 2015.

Increase in drug abuse, death prompts state action plan (Freep)
Led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, the task force released recommendations Monday that include: closer scrutiny of people who are prescribing powerful pain killing drugs, like OxyContin, Vicodin and Fentanyl; an update or replacement of Michigan's Automated Prescription System; easier access to drugs like Narcan, which reverse the effects of a heroin overdose; and limited immunity for people who are seeking medical assistance for themselves or others who are overdosing on drugs.

Calley outlines strategy on prescription drug, narcotic abuse (Michigan Radio)
A state task force says it should be more important to get medical care for people who overdose on illegal drugs than it is to prosecute them. "This is a biology issue, not a willpower issue, so the more we can move the discussion into the world of healthcare, I think the better we'll do in identifying, heading off, and the treating addiction," says Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley, who led the panel. Its job was to recommend ways to combat the spiraling rates of prescription painkiller and heroin addiction and a surge in overdose deaths.

Michigan Drug Abuse Task Force sends report (ABC 57)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder created a task force in June responsible for the growing problem of prescription drug and opioid abuse in Michigan. On Monday, members from the task force presented Governor Snyder with a full report addressing the statewide issue.

Cyber security
Gov. Rick Snyder focuses on cyber security for Michigan businesses (WLNS)
According to the FBI, last year hackers got into the servers of 3,000 U.S. companies. To help Michigan companies better protect themselves Governor Rick Snyder is hosting the 2015 North American International Cyber Summit Monday in Downtown Detroit.

Cybersecurity Summit Seeks to Subdue One of Government's Most Cumbersome Beasts (Government Technology)
The event was hosted by Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, who warned that today's world is rife with cyberthreats that range from every room of the home to the most secure government facilities.

Snyder Touts Cybersecurity Measures, Says State Attacked 2.5-Million Times a Day (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder says the state government faces two-point-five million cyber-attacks every day. Snyder spoke at the opening of an international cyber security summit in Detroit on Monday. He says there are a couple reasons the state has seen more attacks in recent years.

DPS
Gov. Snyder: Helping pay off Detroit schools' $750 million debt better than alternative (Mlive)

Flag honors
Flags at half-staff to honor Kalamazoo airman Gregory Kuhse (Mlive)
When Comstock High School Principal Josh Cunningham talked to students late last week about Master Sgt. Gregory Kuhse, he said he talked about being a part of something bigger than themselves. "Ultimately we've seen a lot of people come out of Comstock that we can be proud of and this is one of them," Cunningham said.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

CP 'Swaggar Shipyard' inclusive playground launched at Douglas Road School (Monroe Evening Nes)
The ceremony marked the conclusion of getting an inclusive playground built at the school, which broke ground as part of the Gandee family's second annual Cerebral Palsy Swagger, a walk to raise awareness for cerebral palsy which Braden

Gandee, who is a student at Douglas Road Elementary, was born with. Other guests in attendance included Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Bedford Public Schools Supt. Mark Kleinhans.

Prescription Drug and Opioid Task Force

Gov. Rick Snyder: It's time to address Michigan's pain pill problem (Mlive)
Michigan has a pill problem, says Gov. Rick Snyder. The number of prescribed Schedule II pills quadrupled from 180 million to 745 million in eight years, he said.

Snyder plan combats prescription drug, pain killer addiction (AP)
A task force formed by Gov. Rick Snyder is releasing more than two dozen recommendations to target the worsening problem of prescription drug and painkiller addiction.

Calley: Fight overdoses with tighter drug monitoring (Detroit News)
The Snyder administration wants heightened monitoring of pain killer prescriptions to be the centerpiece of a new strategy for battling the growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely used drugs called opioids, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley says.

Snyder, task force outline plan to tackle state's drug abuse 'crisis' (Fox 17)
Among the list of more than two dozen recommendations announced Monday by Gov. Rick Snyder and the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force, officials say prescriptions need to be better tracked and the overdose antidote drug known as Narcan should become more widely available.

State Prescription Drug & Opioid Task Force Submits Report (WHTC)
The Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented Governor Snyder a "comprehensive" report that includes 25 recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address this growing problem statewide.

Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force releases findings and recommendations (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today announced that the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented him with a comprehensive report of their findings and more than two dozen recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address a growing problem in Michigan. The governor formed the task force in mid-June and appointed Lt. Gov. Brian Calley as the chair with the direction to examine the recent trends, evaluate strategic options, and develop a statewide action plan by fall 2015.

Increase in drug abuse, death prompts state action plan (Freep)
Led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, the task force released recommendations Monday that include: closer scrutiny of people who are prescribing powerful pain killing drugs, like OxyContin, Vicodin and Fentanyl; an update or replacement of Michigan's Automated Prescription System; easier access to drugs like Narcan, which reverse the effects of a heroin overdose; and limited immunity for people who are seeking medical assistance for themselves or others who are overdosing on drugs.

Calley outlines strategy on prescription drug, narcotic abuse (Michigan Radio)
A state task force says it should be more important to get medical care for people who overdose on illegal drugs than it is to prosecute them. "This is a biology issue, not a willpower issue, so the more we can move the discussion into the world of healthcare, I think the better we'll do in identifying, heading off, and the treating addiction," says Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley, who led the panel. Its job was to recommend ways to combat the spiraling rates of prescription painkiller and heroin addiction and a surge in overdose deaths.

Michigan Drug Abuse Task Force sends report (ABC 57)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder created a task force in June responsible for the growing problem of prescription drug and opioid abuse in Michigan. On Monday, members from the task force presented Governor Snyder with a full report addressing the statewide issue.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

Michigan DEQ secures federal dollars to expand Petoskey State Park (EP News)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's (DEQ) Office of the Great Lakes (OGL) announced last week that it will be increasing the area of Emmet County's Petoskey State Park by 6.3 acres The expansion was made possible by a $205,000 federal grant. The funding will go through the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), which will preserve the new land, including 1,400 feet of shoreline. The land also includes a critical dune area, a trout stream called Tannery Creek and a diverse ecosystem.

DNR
Forest Products Summit taking place in East Lansing (AP)
The Governor's 2015 Forest Products Summit is planned this week in East Lansing as part of an effort to encourage growth in the industry. The invitation-only event Wednesday at the Kellogg Hotel & Conference Center brings together industry leaders as well as representatives from government, the financial sector and education. The event follows the Governor's 2013 Forest Products Summit.

State Campgrounds Eclipse Million Mark in Reservations for 2015 (WTVB)
For the first time in three years, the plateau of a million overnight campers at state parks across Michigan was reached. A New Hudson man was honored this past Thursday night at Proud Lake in Oakland County as making the millionth reservation in 2015. DNR officials say that there has been a nearly nine percent increase in those pitching tents or setting up campers from 2014, citing a number of factors for the surge, including the success of the Pure Michigan ad campaign in neighboring states, along with the popularity of the Recreation Passport program for in-state license tab renewals.

MDCR
Officials select next Michigan civil rights chief (AP)
The Michigan Department of Civil Rights has a former member of its commission in place to lead the agency. The state Civil Rights Commission chose Agustin Arbulu as executive director of the department. He was one of two finalists interviewed Friday in Detroit.

MDARD
Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development promotes forest management on private lands (EP Newswire)
The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development (MDARD) is helping the state's landowners through services like personalized forest management plans, the Qualified Forest Program and the Michigan Agriculture Environmental Assurance Program, according to a recent column from the department's director, Jamie Clover Adams.

MDE
Marshall superintendent OK'd for Albion merger talks (Battle Creek Enquirer)
The Marshall Public Schools Board of Education voted Monday to empower Superintendent Randy Davis to enter discussions with Albion Public Schools on the possible consolidation or annexation of Albion's district into Marshall. What that vote means, Davis said, is if the Albion school district decides to ask its voters for approval to annex into a contiguous district and wants to have further discussions on this topic with the Marshall Public Schools, he is now "authorized to sit down officially and represent the district in those conversations."

Language immersion programs in Holland, Zeeland Christian schools draw interest (Holland Sentinel)
A contingent of state-level education policy makers toured Holland West and Zeeland Christian elementary schools Monday to see their language immersion classrooms in action. The language-immersion program at Holland West is improving outcomes for native Spanish-speaking students as they take standardized tests in English, Holland Superintendent Brian Davis said.

MDOC

Technician accused of taking bribes for fake urine tests faces trial (Mlive)

A Saginaw technician accused of accepting bribes from parolees to give negative urine test results is headed to Circuit Court. Ronald L. McKethern, 58, is charged with obstruction of justice, a felony that carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison. Michigan State Police 1st Lt. David Kaiser has said McKethern worked for Auburn-based Bay Technical Staffing, which the Michigan Department of Corrections contracts with to perform drug testing on parolees.

MDOT

MDOT celebrates interchange work completion (Times Herald)

Officials gathered Monday morning to celebrate the completion of the two-year, $85 million reconstruction of the Interstate 94/I-69 interchange.

The Michigan Department of Transportation project that started in 2013 included the re-engineering of the interchange, reconstruction of six freeway ramps and seven bridges, the use of seven million pounds of steel beams and moving a million yards of dirt.

MDHHS

Four U.P. medical agencies receive grant money (UP Matters TV 3)

In Michigan, 41 projects will receive a boost of up to $35,000 in one-time funds to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the delivery of health services thanks to the Health Innovation Grants administered by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. MDHHS will grant funding for 41 projects across the state for a total of $1,163,000. A priority for Governor Snyder and the department, the Health Innovation Grants are intended to bridge the gap between creative, collaborative ideas and their implementation.

MDHHS awards more than $1 million to health projects (Upper Michigan Source)

Forty-one Michigan projects will be receiving up to $35,000 in funds to help improve efficiency and effectiveness of the delivery of health services.

This funding comes from the Health Innovation Grants administered by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. The total grant money given out across the state is $1,163,000.

Michigan Health Officials Scramble to Help Lead-Poisoned Flint (Food World News)

"Help is on the way." Panicked parents in Flint received this message from doctors, university researchers, and public health officials who were on the move to lend a hand to the city that is still beyond shocked and angry about the toxic water. Their main concern at the moment is the safety of the children in the city from the worst effects of lead that flows through the city's water line.

Treasury

GRBJ: State OKs Muskegon Promise (WZZM 13)

Muskegon Area Promise officials received official approval from the Michigan Department of Treasury in late September for its Muskegon Area Intermediate School District's Promise Zone Development Plan. After meeting required state law standards, the Muskegon Area Promise Zone Authority can move forward with providing scholarships for high school graduates to obtain an associate's degree or its equivalent at Muskegon Community College or Baker College of Muskegon.

Slight increase in property taxes coming for Coldwater homeowners (WTVB)

Property taxes for Coldwater city residents are expected to increase three tenths of a percent in 2016. That's the word from Coldwater City manager Jeff Budd in his report to the City Council, which meets tonight in regular session. The .3% hike is based on the recently announced Inflation Rate Multiplier from the Michigan Department of Treasury. According to Budd, this is the second lowest increase since the start of Proposal A in 1995. Budd calls it good news for Coldwater property owners but adds that it does limit resources to provide services to residents.

SOS

Group: Prevailing wage effort has duplicate signatures (The Detroit News)

Petitions from a group seeking the repeal of Michigan's prevailing wage law are "woefully short" of the 352,253 signatures necessary to put the proposal before lawmakers or on the ballot, a coalition of contractors and unions said Monday. The finding is from an analysis by a team headed by election law specialist John Pirich, members of Protect Michigan Jobs said. Pirich said when more than 49,000 invalid duplicate signatures are added to 117,391 disallowed by the state elections bureau, the petitions turned in by the repeal group should fall at least 25,000 short of the required number.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Gamrat goes on offensive in bid to win back House seat (The Detroit News)
Former state Rep. Cindy Gamrat is trying to win back the Michigan House seat from which she was removed last month by campaigning against a familiar political foe: the GOP establishment. The Plainwell Republican, who was expelled for misconduct related to her extramarital affair with former Rep. Todd Courser, R-Lapeer, suggests there's a correlation between the scandal-plagued departures of herself and Courser and a recent House vote to raise $600 million in new taxes for road funding.

Todd Courser pulls no punches in bid to regain seat he just resigned (MLive)
Sitting off an orange-barrel-riddled Main Street in downtown Lapeer is a nondescript law office that local people may have passed by dozens of time without a second thought. But the cozy office with wood floors has become a focal point in recent months, serving as the home away from home of Todd Courser, the former 82nd House District representative who is now in the political battle of his life after resigning from the position following a sex scandal that was in headlines around the globe.

$1.2B House road funding plan set up for swift action in Michigan Senate (MLive)
The Michigan Senate is set to consider a controversial road funding plan approved last week by House Republicans, and supporters are hoping for swift action. "We've said for quite some time we think a $1.2 billion problem needs a $1.2 billion solution, and the House plan gets there," said Rich Studley, president and CEO of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

School starting before Labor Day? Bill to allow it raises alarms with Michigan tourism industry (MLive)
Local school districts could decide to start before Labor Day under Senate legislation which has already met heavy opposition from the state's tourism industry. Sen. Marty Knollenberg, R-Troy, introduced Senate Bill 567 earlier this month after talking with local superintendents. The private schools in his district start before Labor Day, he said, and public school kids involved in things like music or sports are participating in activities before the official start date.

Lots of cash in elections, but not for Courser, Gamrat (Detroit Free Press)
In the race to fill the seats of state Reps. Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser, two Republican lawmakers caught up in a sex and cover-up scandal before leaving office, four candidates have a clear financial advantage. And as for the two lawmakers who are trying to win their seats back, there's not a whole lot of financial support out there for them.

2 Grand Rapids-area restaurateurs seeking Michigan House seats (MLive)
A year after withdrawing from a Michigan Senate ballot, Tommy Brann now is running for state House. Another local restaurateur, Tony Noto, also will campaign for a House seat in one of several area districts with term-limited incumbents. Brann, of Wyoming, wants the Republican nomination to the 77th District House seat now occupied by Tom Hooker, R-Byron Township. Noto, of Kentwood, has filed campaign finance papers indicating he'll put his name on the ballot for the 72nd District seat now held by Ken Yonker, R-Caledonia.

DETROIT

$15M urban-agriculture plan to transform Detroit space (The Detroit News)
A $15 million urban-agriculture project announced Monday is expected to transform 22 blocks of blighted land on Detroit's lower east side into a massive swath of greenhouses and hoop houses. The project's 60-acre footprint — south of Interstate 94, along Chene Street to Forest Avenue — includes 35 acres of vacant land the city wants to lease to RecoveryPark, a nonprofit whose mission is to help ex-offenders and recovering addicts find employment.

East side Chandler Park tennis courts ready for action (The Detroit News)
New tennis courts at Chandler Park were named Monday in honor of the late Ralph C. Wilson Jr. and his wife, Mary, who made an appearance at the park on Detroit's east side. The courts are the first component of the Chandler Park Conservancy's $20 million vision to convert the 200-acre park into a campus for education, conservation and recreation.

OPINION

Many reasons to dislike latest road-funding bills (The Detroit Free Press)
The state House, led by the GOP, on Wednesday passed bills that would, by 2021, devote an extra $1.2 billion to roads, with $600 million coming from the state's general fund, $400 million from a 40% hike in registration fees, and $200 million from higher fuel taxes, while also providing $200 million in tax relief through a sweetened Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Legislature, feds should take on Flint water investigation (Mlive)
Switching to the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department isn't the final solution for Flint — it's the first step on a long road to recovery. Expert assistance is essential. Unfortunately, the Michigan Department of Environment Quality (MDEQ) cannot perform an investigation we can all trust. As such, I've sent a letter to the EPA and to the Auditor General requesting an accurate and thorough investigation to determine whether the misapplication of federal water testing rules was intentional or due to negligence. Their results must be transparent and easy to understand.

Dems learn what's not working for people (Midland Daily News)
What we voted for isn't working. The people of our district went to the polls last year and voted for representatives and senators who would govern our state and country with wisdom, energy and a willingness to work across the aisle. We wondered: "Our state is still coming out of an economic slump. People are still looking for jobs. The roads are a mess. Will these newly elected folks do their job?"

Michigan prevailing wage supporters challenge 'woeful' petition drive signatures (Mlive)
A group seeking to repeal Michigan's prevailing wage law collected more than 100,000 invalid signatures and came up "woefully" short of the standards for certification, according to a challenge filed Monday. "This is an absurdity to see that on every other page in the 50,000-plus sheets turned in there is a duplicate signature," said John Pirich, a high-powered Lansing attorney representing prevailing wage supporters in the Protecting Michigan Jobs (PMJ) coalition.

Column: Don't blame EM for Flint water disaster (The Detroit News)
It is critically important that the record be set straight about the decision-making and approval processes that led to Flint joining the Karegnondi Water Authority (KWA) with the use of Flint River water as the interim water supply. The fact is, the river has served and been used as the back-up supply for decades, and this was the rationale given to me by staff and Mayor Walling, who also serves as chairperson of the KWA board. Contrary to reports in the media and rhetoric being espoused by individuals, the decision was made at the local level, by local civic leaders.

Our Editorial: Weigh value of tax hikes (The Detroit News)
Before Metro Detroit voters consider the school bond issues and municipal tax proposals on next week's ballot, Nov. 3, they should weigh whether the schools and cities have exhausted all other means of cutting expenses, raising revenue and making their operations more efficient. Tax hikes are sometimes the last, best resort to keep services at levels residents need and expect. At other times, they are the easy option for officials who don't want to make hard choices.

Governor's Plans For Detroit Schools Allows Leader to Limit School Choice (Capitol Confidential)
Charter school proponents are criticizing Gov. Rick Snyder's proposal to overhaul Detroit Public Schools, which they fear could put too much power in the hands of a chief education officer for all public schools within the geographical boundaries of the district. This person would have the power to shut down any public school inside the district, including charter schools, many of which are currently not subject to district control.

Vote yes on Schoolcraft millage (The Detroit Free Press)
For voters in November's sparse election, whether to approve a millage request from Schoolcraft College should be an easy-to-answer question.
The Livonia college is asking voters for a 10-year increase of its existing tax levy by 0.6 mill, which would cost the owner of a home worth $200,000 about $60 a year -- that's $5 a month.

School funding strains create a brain drain - and ideas to stop it (Mlive)
Talk about your churn. Lots of misguided folks believe it's the state Legislature that runs the education system in the state, and to be sure it sets a lot of the policy, but it's at the grassroots level that the policy gets translated into reality. That means local school boards and local school superintendents are on the front lines fighting the good fight and sometimes losing it. And so, increasingly, those front lines are being depleted and replaced with less experienced recruits.

In politics, he or she who hesitates might get lost in the shuffle (Mlive)
If you are a nonplayer on the Lansing political scene, you have to be scratching your head when you read about this person or that exploring a possible bid for office in 2018. Yes, 2018. Good grief, that seems light years down the road, and in normal terms it is, except in the political world, normal doesn't apply. Ask state Sen. Mike Kowall, R-Oakland County. With 10 years under his legislative belt, he will be out of job in 2018, thanks to term limits, so he is exploring his next move.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, Oct. 27, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Prescription Drug and Opioid Task Force

Gov. Rick Snyder: It's time to address Michigan's pain pill problem (Mlive)
Michigan has a pill problem, says Gov. Rick Snyder. The number of prescribed Schedule II pills quadrupled from 180 million to 745 million in eight years, he said.

Snyder plan combats prescription drug, pain killer addiction (AP)
A task force formed by Gov. Rick Snyder is releasing more than two dozen recommendations to target the worsening problem of prescription drug and painkiller addiction.

Calley: Fight overdoses with tighter drug monitoring (Detroit News)
The Snyder administration wants heightened monitoring of pain killer prescriptions to be the centerpiece of a new strategy for battling the growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely used drugs called opioids, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley says.

Snyder, task force outline plan to tackle state's drug abuse 'crisis' (Fox 17)
Among the list of more than two dozen recommendations announced Monday by Gov. Rick Snyder and the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force, officials say prescriptions need to be better tracked and the overdose antidote drug known as Narcan should become more widely available.

State Prescription Drug & Opioid Task Force Submits Report (WHTC)
The Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented Governor Snyder a "comprehensive" report that includes 25 recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address this growing problem statewide.

Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force releases findings and recommendations (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today announced that the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented him with a comprehensive report of their findings and more than two dozen recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address a growing problem in Michigan. The governor formed the task force in mid-June and appointed Lt. Gov. Brian Calley as the chair with the direction to examine the recent trends, evaluate strategic options, and develop a statewide action plan by fall 2015.

Increase in drug abuse, death prompts state action plan (Freep)
Led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, the task force released recommendations Monday that include: closer scrutiny of people who are prescribing powerful pain killing drugs, like OxyContin, Vicodin and Fentanyl; an update or replacement of Michigan's Automated Prescription System; easier access to drugs like Narcan, which reverse the effects of a heroin overdose; and limited immunity for people who are seeking medical assistance for themselves or others who are overdosing on drugs.

Calley outlines strategy on prescription drug, narcotic abuse (Michigan Radio)
A state task force says it should be more important to get medical care for people who overdose on illegal drugs than it is to prosecute them. "This is a biology issue, not a willpower issue, so the more we can move the discussion into the world of healthcare, I think the better we'll do in identifying, heading off, and the treating addiction," says Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley, who led the panel. Its job was to recommend ways to combat the spiraling rates of prescription painkiller and heroin addiction and a surge in overdose deaths.

Michigan Drug Abuse Task Force sends report (ABC 57)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder created a task force in June responsible for the growing problem of prescription drug and opioid abuse in Michigan. On Monday, members from the task force presented Governor Snyder with a full report addressing the statewide issue.

Cyber security
Gov. Rick Snyder focuses on cyber security for Michigan businesses (WLNS)
According to the FBI, last year hackers got into the servers of 3,000 U.S. companies. To help Michigan companies better protect themselves Governor Rick Snyder is hosting the 2015 North American International Cyber Summit Monday in Downtown Detroit.

Cybersecurity Summit Seeks to Subdue One of Government's Most Cumbersome Beasts (Government Technology)
The event was hosted by Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, who warned that today's world is rife with cyberthreats that range from every room of the home to the most secure government facilities.

Snyder Touts Cybersecurity Measures, Says State Attacked 2.5-Million Times a Day (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder says the state government faces two-point-five million cyber-attacks every day. Snyder spoke at the opening of an international cyber security summit in Detroit on Monday. He says there are a couple reasons the state has seen more attacks in recent years.

DPS
Gov. Snyder: Helping pay off Detroit schools' $750 million debt better than alternative (Mlive)

Flag honors
Flags at half-staff to honor Kalamazoo airman Gregory Kuhse (Mlive)
When Comstock High School Principal Josh Cunningham talked to students late last week about Master Sgt. Gregory Kuhse, he said he talked about being a part of something bigger than themselves. "Ultimately we've seen a lot of people come out of Comstock that we can be proud of and this is one of them," Cunningham said.

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

CP 'Swaggar Shipyard' inclusive playground launched at Douglas Road School (Monroe Evening Nes)
The ceremony marked the conclusion of getting an inclusive playground built at the school, which broke ground as part of the Gandee family's second annual Cerebral Palsy Swagger, a walk to raise awareness for cerebral palsy which Braden Gandee, who is a student at Douglas Road Elementary, was born with. Other guests in attendance included Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Bedford Public Schools Supt. Mark Kleinhans.

Prescription Drug and Opioid Task Force

Gov. Rick Snyder: It's time to address Michigan's pain pill problem (Mlive)
Michigan has a pill problem, says Gov. Rick Snyder. The number of prescribed Schedule II pills quadrupled from 180 million to 745 million in eight years, he said.

Snyder plan combats prescription drug, pain killer addiction (AP)
A task force formed by Gov. Rick Snyder is releasing more than two dozen recommendations to target the worsening problem of prescription drug and painkiller addiction.

Calley: Fight overdoses with tighter drug monitoring (Detroit News)
The Snyder administration wants heightened monitoring of pain killer prescriptions to be the centerpiece of a new strategy for battling the growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely used drugs called opioids, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley says.

Snyder, task force outline plan to tackle state's drug abuse 'crisis' (Fox 17)
Among the list of more than two dozen recommendations announced Monday by Gov. Rick Snyder and the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force, officials say prescriptions need to be better tracked and the overdose antidote drug known as Narcan should become more widely available.

State Prescription Drug & Opioid Task Force Submits Report (WHTC)
The Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented Governor Snyder a "comprehensive" report that includes 25 recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address this growing problem statewide.

Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force releases findings and recommendations (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder today announced that the Michigan Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force has presented him with a comprehensive report of their findings and more than two dozen recommendations for changes in regulations and practices that could address a growing problem in Michigan. The governor formed the task force in mid-June and appointed Lt. Gov. Brian Calley as the chair with the direction to examine the recent trends, evaluate strategic options, and develop a statewide action plan by fall 2015.

Increase in drug abuse, death prompts state action plan (Freep)
Led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, the task force released recommendations Monday that include: closer scrutiny of people who are prescribing powerful pain killing drugs, like OxyContin, Vicodin and Fentanyl; an update or replacement of Michigan's Automated Prescription System; easier access to drugs like Narcan, which reverse the effects of a heroin overdose; and limited immunity for people who are seeking medical assistance for themselves or others who are overdosing on drugs.

Calley outlines strategy on prescription drug, narcotic abuse (Michigan Radio)
A state task force says it should be more important to get medical care for people who overdose on illegal drugs than it is to prosecute them. "This is a biology issue, not a willpower issue, so the more we can move the discussion into the world of healthcare, I think the better we'll do in identifying, heading off, and the treating addiction," says Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley, who led the panel. Its job was to recommend ways to combat the spiraling rates of prescription painkiller and heroin addiction and a surge in overdose deaths.

Michigan Drug Abuse Task Force sends report (ABC 57)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder created a task force in June responsible for the growing problem of prescription drug and opioid abuse in Michigan. On Monday, members from the task force presented Governor Snyder with a full report addressing the statewide issue.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

Michigan DEQ secures federal dollars to expand Petoskey State Park (EP News)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's (DEQ) Office of the Great Lakes (OGL) announced last week that it will be increasing the area of Emmet County's Petoskey State Park by 6.3 acres The expansion was made possible by a $205,000 federal grant. The funding will go through the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), which will preserve the new land, including 1,400 feet of shoreline. The land also includes a critical dune area, a trout stream called Tannery Creek and a diverse ecosystem.

DNR
Forest Products Summit taking place in East Lansing (AP)
The Governor's 2015 Forest Products Summit is planned this week in East Lansing as part of an effort to encourage growth in the industry. The invitation-only event Wednesday at the Kellogg Hotel & Conference Center brings together industry leaders as well as representatives from government, the financial sector and education. The event follows the Governor's 2013 Forest Products Summit.

State Campgrounds Eclipse Million Mark in Reservations for 2015 (WTVB)
For the first time in three years, the plateau of a million overnight campers at state parks across Michigan was reached. A New Hudson man was honored this past Thursday night at Proud Lake in Oakland County as making the millionth reservation in 2015. DNR officials say that there has been a nearly nine percent increase in those pitching tents or setting up campers from 2014, citing a number of factors for the surge, including the success of the Pure Michigan ad campaign in neighboring states, along with the popularity of the Recreation Passport program for in-state license tab renewals.

MDCR
Officials select next Michigan civil rights chief (AP)
The Michigan Department of Civil Rights has a former member of its commission in place to lead the agency. The state Civil Rights Commission chose Agustin Arbulu as executive director of the department. He was one of two finalists interviewed Friday in Detroit.

MDARD
Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development promotes forest management on private lands (EP Newswire)
The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development (MDARD) is helping the state's landowners through services like personalized forest management plans, the Qualified Forest Program and the Michigan Agriculture Environmental Assurance Program, according to a recent column from the department's director, Jamie Clover Adams.

MDE
Marshall superintendent OK'd for Albion merger talks (Battle Creek Enquirer)
The Marshall Public Schools Board of Education voted Monday to empower Superintendent Randy Davis to enter discussions with Albion Public Schools on the possible consolidation or annexation of Albion's district into Marshall. What that vote means, Davis said, is if the Albion school district decides to ask its voters for approval to annex into a contiguous district and wants to have further discussions on this topic with the Marshall Public Schools, he is now "authorized to sit down officially and represent the district in those conversations."

Language immersion programs in Holland, Zeeland Christian schools draw interest (Holland Sentinel)
A contingent of state-level education policy makers toured Holland West and Zeeland Christian elementary schools Monday to see their language immersion classrooms in action. The language-immersion program at Holland West is improving outcomes for native Spanish-speaking students as they take standardized tests in English, Holland Superintendent Brian Davis said.

MDOC
Technician accused of taking bribes for fake urine tests faces trial (Mlive)
A Saginaw technician accused of accepting bribes from parolees to give negative urine test results is headed to Circuit Court. Ronald L. McKethern, 58, is charged with obstruction of justice, a felony that carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison. Michigan State Police 1st Lt. David Kaiser has said McKethern worked for Auburn-based Bay Technical Staffing, which the Michigan Department of Corrections contracts with to perform drug testing on parolees.

MDOT
MDOT celebrates interchange work completion (Times Herald)
Officials gathered Monday morning to celebrate the completion of the two-year, $85 million reconstruction of the Interstate 94/I-69 interchange.
The Michigan Department of Transportation project that started in 2013 included the re-engineering of the interchange, reconstruction of six freeway ramps and seven bridges, the use of seven million pounds of steel beams and moving a million yards of dirt.

MDHHS
Four U.P. medical agencies receive grant money (UP Matters TV 3)
In Michigan, 41 projects will receive a boost of up to $35,000 in one-time funds to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the delivery of health services thanks to the Health Innovation Grants administered by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. MDHHS will grant funding for 41 projects across the state for a total of $1,163,000. A priority for Governor Snyder and the department, the Health Innovation Grants are intended to bridge the gap between creative, collaborative ideas and their implementation.

MDHHS awards more than $1 million to health projects (Upper Michigan Source)
Forty-one Michigan projects will be receiving up to $35,000 in funds to help improve efficiency and effectiveness of the delivery of health services.
This funding comes from the Health Innovation Grants administered by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. The total grant money given out across the state is $1,163,000.

Michigan Health Officials Scramble to Help Lead-Poisoned Flint (Food World News)
"Help is on the way." Panicked parents in Flint received this message from doctors, university researchers, and public health officials who were on the move to lend a hand to the city that is still beyond shocked and angry about the toxic water. Their main concern at the moment is the safety of the children in the city from the worst effects of lead that flows through the city's water line.

Treasury
GRBJ: State OKs Muskegon Promise (WZZM 13)
Muskegon Area Promise officials received official approval from the Michigan Department of Treasury in late September for its Muskegon Area Intermediate School District's Promise Zone Development Plan. After meeting required state law standards, the Muskegon Area Promise Zone Authority can move forward with providing scholarships for high school graduates to obtain an associate's degree or its equivalent at Muskegon Community College or Baker College of Muskegon.

Slight increase in property taxes coming for Coldwater homeowners (WTVB)
Property taxes for Coldwater city residents are expected to increase three tenths of a percent in 2016. That's the word from Coldwater City manager Jeff Budd in his report to the City Council, which meets tonight in regular session. The .3% hike is based on the recently announced Inflation Rate Multiplier from the Michigan Department of Treasury. According to Budd, this is the second lowest increase since the start of Proposal A in 1995. Budd calls it good news for Coldwater property owners but adds that it does limit resources to provide services to residents.

SOS
Group: Prevailing wage effort has duplicate signatures (The Detroit News)
Petitions from a group seeking the repeal of Michigan's prevailing wage law are "woefully short" of the 352,253 signatures necessary to put the proposal before lawmakers or on the ballot, a coalition of contractors and unions said Monday. The finding is from an analysis by a team headed by election law specialist John Pirich, members of Protect Michigan Jobs said. Pirich said when more than 49,000 invalid duplicate signatures are added to 117,391 disallowed by the state elections bureau, the petitions turned in by the repeal group should fall at least 25,000 short of the required number.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS
Gamrat goes on offensive in bid to win back House seat (The Detroit News)
Former state Rep. Cindy Gamrat is trying to win back the Michigan House seat from which she was removed last month by campaigning against a familiar political foe: the GOP establishment. The Plainwell Republican, who was expelled for misconduct related to her extramarital affair with former Rep. Todd Courser, R-Lapeer, suggests there's a correlation between the scandal-plagued departures of herself and Courser and a recent House vote to raise $600 million in new taxes for road funding.

Todd Courser pulls no punches in bid to regain seat he just resigned (MLive)
Sitting off an orange-barrel-riddled Main Street in downtown Lapeer is a nondescript law office that local people may have passed by dozens of time without a second thought. But the cozy office with wood floors has become a focal point in recent months, serving as the home away from home of Todd Courser, the former 82nd House District representative who is now in the political battle of his life after resigning from the position following a sex scandal that was in headlines around the globe.

$1.2B House road funding plan set up for swift action in Michigan Senate (MLive)
The Michigan Senate is set to consider a controversial road funding plan approved last week by House Republicans, and supporters are hoping for swift action. "We've said for quite some time we think a $1.2 billion problem needs a $1.2 billion solution, and the House plan gets there," said Rich Studley, president and CEO of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

School starting before Labor Day? Bill to allow it raises alarms with Michigan tourism industry (MLive)
Local school districts could decide to start before Labor Day under Senate legislation which has already met heavy opposition from the state's tourism industry. Sen. Marty Knollenberg, R-Troy, introduced Senate Bill 567 earlier this month after talking with local superintendents. The private schools in his district start before Labor Day, he said, and public school kids involved in things like music or sports are participating in activities before the official start date.

Lots of cash in elections, but not for Courser, Gamrat (Detroit Free Press)
In the race to fill the seats of state Reps. Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser, two Republican lawmakers caught up in a sex and cover-up scandal before leaving office, four candidates have a clear financial advantage. And as for the two lawmakers who are trying to win their seats back, there's not a whole lot of financial support out there for them.

2 Grand Rapids-area restaurateurs seeking Michigan House seats (MLive)
A year after withdrawing from a Michigan Senate ballot, Tommy Brann now is running for state House. Another local restaurateur, Tony Noto, also will campaign for a House seat in one of several area districts with term-limited incumbents. Brann, of Wyoming, wants the Republican nomination to the 77th District House seat now occupied by Tom Hooker, R-Byron Township. Noto, of Kentwood, has filed campaign finance papers indicating he'll put his name on the ballot for the 72nd District seat now held by Ken Yonker, R-Caledonia.

DETROIT

$15M urban-agriculture plan to transform Detroit space (The Detroit News)
A $15 million urban-agriculture project announced Monday is expected to transform 22 blocks of blighted land on Detroit's lower east side into a massive swath of greenhouses and hoop houses. The project's 60-acre footprint — south of Interstate 94, along Chene Street to Forest Avenue — includes 35 acres of vacant land the city wants to lease to RecoveryPark, a nonprofit whose mission is to help ex-offenders and recovering addicts find employment.

East side Chandler Park tennis courts ready for action (The Detroit News)
New tennis courts at Chandler Park were named Monday in honor of the late Ralph C. Wilson Jr. and his wife, Mary, who made an appearance at the park on Detroit's east side. The courts are the first component of the Chandler Park Conservancy's $20 million vision to convert the 200-acre park into a campus for education, conservation and recreation.

OPINION

Many reasons to dislike latest road-funding bills (The Detroit Free Press)
The state House, led by the GOP, on Wednesday passed bills that would, by 2021, devote an extra $1.2 billion to roads, with $600 million coming from the state's general fund, $400 million from a 40% hike in registration fees, and $200 million from higher fuel taxes, while also providing $200 million in tax relief through a sweetened Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Legislature, feds should take on Flint water investigation (Mlive)
Switching to the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department isn't the final solution for Flint — it's the first step on a long road to recovery. Expert assistance is essential. Unfortunately, the Michigan Department of Environment Quality (MDEQ) cannot perform an investigation we can all trust. As such, I've sent a letter to the EPA and to the Auditor General requesting an accurate and thorough investigation to determine whether the misapplication of federal water testing rules was intentional or due to negligence. Their results must be transparent and easy to understand.

Dems learn what's not working for people (Midland Daily News)
What we voted for isn't working. The people of our district went to the polls last year and voted for representatives and senators who would govern our state and country with wisdom, energy and a willingness to work across the aisle. We wondered: "Our state is still coming out of an economic slump. People are still looking for jobs. The roads are a mess. Will these newly elected folks do their job?"

Michigan prevailing wage supporters challenge 'woeful' petition drive signatures (Mlive)
A group seeking to repeal Michigan's prevailing wage law collected more than 100,000 invalid signatures and came up "woefully" short of the standards for certification, according to a challenge filed Monday. "This is an absurdity to see that on every other page in the 50,000-plus sheets turned in there is a duplicate signature," said John Pirich, a high-powered Lansing attorney representing prevailing wage supporters in the Protecting Michigan Jobs (PMJ) coalition.

Column: Don't blame EM for Flint water disaster (The Detroit News)
It is critically important that the record be set straight about the decision-making and approval processes that led to Flint joining the Karegnondi Water Authority (KWA) with the use of Flint River water as the interim water supply. The fact is, the river has served and been used as the back-up supply for decades, and this was the rationale given to me by staff and Mayor Walling, who also serves as chairperson of the KWA board. Contrary to reports in the media and rhetoric being espoused by individuals, the decision was made at the local level, by local civic leaders.

Our Editorial: Weigh value of tax hikes (The Detroit News)
Before Metro Detroit voters consider the school bond issues and municipal tax proposals on next week's ballot, Nov. 3, they should weigh whether the schools and cities have exhausted all other means of cutting expenses, raising revenue and making their operations more efficient. Tax hikes are sometimes the last, best resort to keep services at levels residents need and expect. At other times, they are the easy option for officials who don't want to make hard choices.

Governor's Plans For Detroit Schools Allows Leader to Limit School Choice (Capitol Confidential)
Charter school proponents are criticizing Gov. Rick Snyder's proposal to overhaul Detroit Public Schools, which they fear could put too much power in the hands of a chief education officer for all public schools within the geographical boundaries of the district. This person would have the power to shut down any public school inside the district, including charter schools, many of which are currently not subject to district control.

Vote yes on Schoolcraft millage (The Detroit Free Press)
For voters in November's sparse election, whether to approve a millage request from Schoolcraft College should be an easy-to-answer question.
The Livonia college is asking voters for a 10-year increase of its existing tax levy by 0.6 mill, which would cost the owner of a home worth $200,000 about $60 a year -- that's $5 a month.

School funding strains create a brain drain - and ideas to stop it (Mlive)
Talk about your churn. Lots of misguided folks believe it's the state Legislature that runs the education system in the state, and to be sure it sets a lot of the policy, but it's at the grassroots level that the policy gets translated into reality. That means local school boards and local school superintendents are on the front lines fighting the good fight and sometimes losing it. And so, increasingly, those front lines are being depleted and replaced with less experienced recruits.

In politics, he or she who hesitates might get lost in the shuffle (Mlive)
If you are a nonplayer on the Lansing political scene, you have to be scratching your head when you read about this person or that exploring a possible bid for office in 2018. Yes, 2018. Good grief, that seems light years down the road, and in normal terms it is, except in the political world, normal doesn't apply. Ask state Sen. Mike Kowall, R-Oakland County. With 10 years under his legislative belt, he will be out of job in 2018, thanks to term limits, so he is exploring his next move.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, October 28, 2015 10:32 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 10/28 Newsroom
Attachments: 151028 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads
Snyder sees 'strong momentum' for road funding deal despite Senate delay (Mlive)
Four years and one day after he first called for a major increase in road funding, Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday cited "strong momentum" for a deal despite the latest delay. Snyder, in a statement released after the Senate adjourned without a planned vote on a $1.2 billion House roads package, said his optimism was informed by afternoon discussions with Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof and House Speaker Kevin Cotter.

Retirement panel
Governor Establishes New State Employees Retirement Panel (WHTC)
Governor Snyder has issued an executive order creating the State of Michigan Retirement Board. The new nine-member panel, when it is operational on January 1st, will assume the duties done by the State Employees Retirement System Board, the Judges Retirement System Board and the Military Retirement Provisions Board.

Snyder merges retirement system boards (LSJ)
Gov. Rick Snyder has created a new State of Michigan Retirement Board to consolidate administration of retirement systems for state employees, judges and members of the military. Snyder announced the executive order, which takes effect Jan. 1, in a news release Tuesday.

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

LG Calley talks with Guy Gordon about the Prescription Drug and Opioid Task Force recommendations (WJR)
Lt. Governor Brian Calley talks to Guy Gordon about the work of a new state task force on prescription and illegal drugs and he says they are hoping that new recommendations will help combat the deadly problem.

3-year-old Michigan autism fund running out of money, state official tells lawmakers (AP)
A fund created by Michigan lawmakers in 2012 to pay for autism health coverage is running dry and should be depleted in weeks, a state official told lawmakers Tuesday. The fund was initially staked with $15 million but reimbursements were slow as insurers took time to get familiar with the program. Lawmakers subsequently cut funding and spent some money on training medical professionals in autism treatment, MLive.com reported

Michigan's autism fund will run out of money in November, officials say (Mlive)

A fund designed to help insurers pay for autism coverage the legislature mandated in 2012 will run dry by November, according to the Department of Insurance and Financial Services. The 2012 legislation, signed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, mandated that insurance companies operating in Michigan provide coverage for autism diagnosis and treatment.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

State DEQ pulls request for help with image amid Flint water crisis (MLive)
The state Department of Environmental Quality has shelved a proposal to spend up to $100,000 to develop its brand -- a marketing plan that was issued just a few days after the agency admitted it made mistakes in Flint's water crisis.

Michigan oil pipeline safety board to hold first meeting (AP)
The newly established Michigan Pipeline Safety Advisory Board is having its first meeting Wednesday in Lansing. Gov. Rick Snyder issued an executive order last month creating the board. It was among the recommendations in a report produced by a task force that investigated the state's network of pipelines carrying crude oil and other petroleum products, including lines that run beneath the Straits of Mackinac.

Tribe moving forward with West Grand Traverse Bay marina (AP)
A tribe's plan to build a marina on West Grand Traverse Bay will continue without the ferry dock portion of the project. The Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians received approval in 2013 to build a 106-slip marina across from its tribal administration building on M-22. However, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality denied a request last July for a 40-foot-wide pier for vessels that would carry people and vehicles from Peshawbestown to Beaver Island, Petoskey, Charlevoix, Traverse City and East Bay.

Contract on wastewater plant capacity report amended (Daily Telegram)
A contract with Jones and Henry Engineers was amended Monday by the Blissfield Village Council. On a 7-0 vote, the council approved the action covering the Toledo firm's revisions to the wastewater treatment plant's capacity evaluation report required by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

DMVA

The Veterans Community Action Team is looking to assist UP veterans (UpperMichigansSource.com)
The Veterans Community Action Team is working to make sure veterans get the care they deserve. The team is a group under the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency looking to reach out to veterans.

Program helps U.P. veterans get assistance (ABC 10 News NOW)
It's an ongoing struggle connecting veterans with the benefits they've earned. The Veterans Community Action Team (VCAT) was introduced in Lower Michigan as part of Governor Rick Snyder's Regional Prosperity Initiative. It's goal, to help veterans close the gaps that separate them from getting assistance.

MDARD

"Uncle John's Cider Mill" tests positive for Shiga-toxin producing E. coli bacteria (WLNS)
A random sample collected from cider produced by Uncle John's Cider Mill in St. Johns has tested positive for the Shiga-toxin producing E. coli bacteria. According to information from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development, no illnesses have been reported and Uncle John's has stopped selling cider until more testing is completed.

Pesticide manual review sessions in 2016 for Mid-Michigan farmers (Michigan State University Extension)
Michigan State University Extension will be offering two pesticide manual review sessions in 2016 for mid-Michigan farmers. The first will take place in Ionia County on Feb. 25, 2016, at the Clarkesville Research Station in Clarkesville, Michigan, from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m., and the second will take place in Eaton County on March 9, 2016, at the Eaton County MSU Extension office in Charlotte, Michigan, from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Michigan agriculture director impressed by Kalamazoo food highlights (MLive)
The director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development was impressed by the holistic nature of Kalamazoo Valley Community College's Bronson Healthy Living Campus and with the People's Food Co-op's efforts to bring locally grown food to shoppers.

Construction of Grayling Particleboard Mill Expected to Begin in Spring 2016 (9&10 News)
Construction for a new facility in Crawford County that manufactures particleboard is expected to begin in the spring of 2016. The facility will be constructed on a Grayling Township site and create about 250 jobs. According to the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development about 12 to 15 additional logging crews will be needed to supply the plant's raw material needs.

MDE

Tough new state exam stumps Michigan students
The state released results Tuesday from the MEAP replacement exam — known as the Michigan Student Test of Educational Progress — that was taken for the first time in the spring. Fifty percent of third-graders passed the English language arts exam — the best result among the grades. Elsewhere, the results ranged from 45% proficient for sixth-graders to 49% proficient for fifth- and 11th-graders. In math, results ranged from 28% of 11th-graders passing to 49% of third-graders passing.

Michigan students flunk new standardized test (WKZO-AM)
Most Michigan grade school students underachieved on the new state standardized tests that were taken over the spring, but school officials were only surprised they weren't worse. The Michigan Department of Education said that's because the Michigan Student Test of Educational Progress, the replacement for the 40-year-old Michigan Educational Assessment Program, was written with common core standards in mind and had less reliance on multiple-choice questioning.

MDOC

Questions raised about parolees in Delta County (UP Matters)
108th District State Representative Ed McBroom (R-Vulcan) is demanding answers from the Michigan Department of Corrections about the large number of parolees that were settled in Escanaba this month. He told the Radio Results Network that officials with the department have some explaining to do about where they decide to place people once they are released from prison.

MDOC eyes high-tech weapons to head off drone threat (WOOD TV)
"Anti-drone" drones that shoot nets, highly sensitive listening devices and sharpshooters: These are the tools that the state of Michigan is considering as it looks to head off the possibility of drones being used to sneak contraband into prisons.

MDOT

Michigan pushes back start date for M-66/M-55 widening project (TI News Daily)
Officials from the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) said Tuesday that various design and schedule changes have been made in the 2016 plans for the M-66/M-55 widening project near Lake City. The changes are based on suggestions and an internal review following a public meeting held earlier this year. The plan is to widen and reconstruct M-66/M-55 to three lanes in Lake City, from Jennings Road to 1st Street.

Meeting set to discuss I-275 construction project (Hometown Life)
The Michigan Department of Transportation announced Friday it will host a public meeting to inform motorists of more details of the project, scheduled to begin sometime in the spring. The meeting will take place 4-7 p.m. Nov. 10 at Davenport University, 19499 Victor Parkway, in Livonia.

MEDC

World's largest craft distributor announces $33M expansion in Michigan (MLive)
Notions Marketing Corp. is planning to spend up to $33 million to expand its Grand Rapids operations. It will also add 250 new permanent positions to its current 800-person year-around workforce. Michigan Economic Development Corporation is contributing $800,000 through a performance-based grant, and the company is also receiving a $150,633 grant through Michigan Works for workforce training.

MSP

State police share safety tips for cybersecurity awareness month (C&G News)
Col. Kriste Kibbey Etue, director of the Michigan State Police, said people's lives today are more connected than ever before. To encourage Michiganders to take an active role in their own cybersecurity, Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed October as Cybersecurity Awareness Month.

Michigan State Police hold open house at Manistique Post (Upper Michigans Source)

Tuesday afternoon, community members filled the Michigan State Police Manistique Post. They were there for the annual MSP Open House. According to the police, these events allow community members to meet the new troopers. This year, the police want to remind the community that there is still a strong local presence.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Senate will not vote on road funding Tuesday (WNEM)
Last week, the Michigan House of Representatives pushed through a piece of legislation to fund the necessary $1.2 billion to fix Michigan's crumbling roads. On Tuesday, the Michigan Senate was expected to vote on the measure, but no vote will be held today.

Michigan Senate, at standstill, considers changes to House road funding plan (MLive)
The Michigan Senate has been at a standstill so far Tuesday as lawmakers consider a $1.2 billion road funding plan approved last week by the House.

State treasurer tells lawmakers: Detroit schools need help (AP)
The Michigan state treasurer is warning lawmakers that Detroit's public schools could be insolvent by spring if the Legislature doesn't cover millions in debt.

Dire Forecast: Detroit Schools Could Be Broke by Spring (Deadline Detroit)
The financial picture Gov. Rick Snyder's treasurer and Detroit Public Schools' emergency manager painted for state lawmakers on Tuesday isn't a surprise.

Michigan lawmakers spar on export subsidy bank (Detroit News)
A bipartisan coalition of House lawmakers on Tuesday pushed through a bill to reopen the government agency that subsidizes U.S. exports, despite opposition from conservatives.

Official: Michigan autism fund will run dry in a month (AP)
A fund created by Michigan lawmakers in 2012 to pay for autism health coverage is running dry and should be depleted in weeks, a state official told lawmakers Tuesday.

DETROIT

Farming planned for 60 acres of blighted Detroit land (AP)
A big chunk of vacant and blighted land in Detroit is destined for a future in agriculture, and some city residents will receive training in farming.

Ilitch family to give $40M for new WSU business school (Detroit Free Press)
A $40 million donation by the Ilitch family to construct and help fund a new Wayne State University business school near downtown Detroit could be finalized as soon as Friday in a special university board meeting, according to a person familiar with the family's plans.

Detroit Public Schools could run out of cash in six months to a year without bailout (WXYZ)
Detroit schools are running out of cash and a state bailout is needed, according to the Michigan Treasurer and DPS Emergency Manager.

Detroit tennis courts named after Ralph C. Wilson Jr. (Detroit News)
New tennis courts at Chandler Park were named Monday in honor of the late Ralph C. Wilson Jr. and his wife, Mary, who made an appearance at the park on Detroit's east side.

Detroit worst in math, reading scores among big cities (Detroit News)
For a fourth straight time, Detroit students have scored the lowest among big-city districts in math and reading proficiency, according to national test results released Wednesday.

OPINION

House plan for Michigan roads funding is not a solution (MLive)
Unbelievable. That is my view of the new package of bills announced by the state House to deal with the shoddy condition of our roads.

State, emergency managers can't escape blame for Flint water switch (MLive)
Protests by ex-Flint emergency manager Darnell Earley that local leaders are to blame for the Flint River water switch should fall on deaf ears.

Now who needs an emergency manager (Detroit Free Press)
The ongoing fiasco regarding fixing Michigan's roads suggests the need for an "emergency manager" for the Governor's office as well as the Michigan House and Senate. The members of the Senate and House have not only wasted time, they have also wasted the millions spent on their salaries during the past several years.

Ken Braun: 2018 GOP hopefuls for governor gathering ammo, taking shots (MLive)
We're still less than a year removed from the final shots fired in the 2014 Michigan gubernatorial campaign, and some Republicans lining up to replace term-limited GOP Gov. Rick Snyder are already loading (and sometimes firing) ammunition for the 2018 race.

Should Michigan keep the same old judges past 70? Maybe (MLive)
Judges around the state face mandatory retirement once they plop 70 candles on their birthday cake. Given the fact that folks are living longer and more productive lives, some have made the case that they can serve beyond that age.

Editor's note: Miller champions good conduct (Detroit News)
Credit Michigan's Candice Miller with helping to assure her fellow Congress members don't spend taxpayer money as if it were their own.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, Oct. 28, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Snyder sees 'strong momentum' for road funding deal despite Senate delay (Mlive)
Four years and one day after he first called for a major increase in road funding, Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday cited "strong momentum" for a deal despite the latest delay. Snyder, in a statement released after the Senate adjourned without a planned vote on a $1.2 billion House roads package, said his optimism was informed by afternoon discussions with Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof and House Speaker Kevin Cotter.

Retirement panel

Governor Establishes New State Employees Retirement Panel (WHTC)
Governor Snyder has issued an executive order creating the State of Michigan Retirement Board. The new nine-member panel, when it is operational on January 1st, will assume the duties done by the State Employees Retirement System Board, the Judges Retirement System Board and the Military Retirement Provisions Board.

Snyder merges retirement system boards (LSJ)
Gov. Rick Snyder has created a new State of Michigan Retirement Board to consolidate administration of retirement systems for state employees, judges and members of the military. Snyder announced the executive order, which takes effect Jan. 1, in a news release Tuesday.

LT. GOV's ACTIVITIES

LG Calley talks with Guy Gordon about the Prescription Drug and Opioid Task Force recommendations (WJR)
Lt. Governor Brian Calley talks to Guy Gordon about the work of a new state task force on prescription and illegal drugs and he says they are hoping that new recommendations will help combat the deadly problem.

3-year-old Michigan autism fund running out of money, state official tells lawmakers (AP)
A fund created by Michigan lawmakers in 2012 to pay for autism health coverage is running dry and should be depleted in weeks, a state official told lawmakers Tuesday. The fund was initially staked with $15 million but reimbursements were slow as insurers took time to get familiar with the program. Lawmakers subsequently cut funding and spent some money on training medical professionals in autism treatment, MLive.com reported

Michigan's autism fund will run out of money in November, officials say (Mlive)
A fund designed to help insurers pay for autism coverage the legislature mandated in 2012 will run dry by November, according to the Department of Insurance and Financial Services. The 2012 legislation, signed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, mandated that insurance companies operating in Michigan provide coverage for autism diagnosis and treatment.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

State DEQ pulls request for help with image amid Flint water crisis (MLive)
The state Department of Environmental Quality has shelved a proposal to spend up to $100,000 to develop its brand -- a marketing plan that was issued just a few days after the agency admitted it made mistakes in Flint's water crisis.

Michigan oil pipeline safety board to hold first meeting (AP)
The newly established Michigan Pipeline Safety Advisory Board is having its first meeting Wednesday in Lansing. Gov. Rick Snyder issued an executive order last month creating the board. It was among the recommendations in a report produced by a task force that investigated the state's network of pipelines carrying crude oil and other petroleum products, including lines that run beneath the Straits of Mackinac.

Tribe moving forward with West Grand Traverse Bay marina (AP)
A tribe's plan to build a marina on West Grand Traverse Bay will continue without the ferry dock portion of the project. The Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians received approval in 2013 to build a 106-slip marina across from its tribal administration building on M-22. However, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality denied a request last July for a 40-foot-wide pier for vessels that would carry people and vehicles from Peshawbestown to Beaver Island, Petoskey, Charlevoix, Traverse City and East Bay.

Contract on wastewater plant capacity report amended (Daily Telegram)
A contract with Jones and Henry Engineers was amended Monday by the Blissfield Village Council. On a 7-0 vote, the council approved the action covering the Toledo firm's revisions to the wastewater treatment plant's capacity evaluation report required by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

DMVA

The Veterans Community Action Team is looking to assist UP veterans (UpperMichigansSource.com)
The Veterans Community Action Team is working to make sure veterans get the care they deserve. The team is a group under the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency looking to reach out to veterans.

Program helps U.P. veterans get assistance (ABC 10 News NOW)
It's an ongoing struggle connecting veterans with the benefits they've earned. The Veterans Community Action Team (VCAT) was introduced in Lower Michigan as part of Governor Rick Snyder's Regional Prosperity Initiative. It's goal, to help veterans close the gaps that separate them from getting assistance.

MDARD

"Uncle John's Cider Mill" tests positive for Shiga-toxin producing E. coli bacteria (WLNS)
A random sample collected from cider produced by Uncle John's Cider Mill in St. Johns has tested positive for the Shiga-toxin producing E. coli bacteria. According to information from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development, no illnesses have been reported and Uncle John's has stopped selling cider until more testing is completed.

Pesticide manual review sessions in 2016 for Mid-Michigan farmers (Michigan State University Extension)
Michigan State University Extension will be offering two pesticide manual review sessions in 2016 for mid-Michigan farmers. The first will take place in Ionia County on Feb. 25, 2016, at the Clarkesville Research Station in Clarkesville, Michigan, from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m., and the second will take place in Eaton County on March 9, 2016, at the Eaton County MSU Extension office in Charlotte, Michigan, from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Michigan agriculture director impressed by Kalamazoo food highlights (MLive)
The director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development was impressed by the holistic nature of Kalamazoo Valley Community College's Bronson Healthy Living Campus and with the People's Food Co-op's efforts to bring locally grown food to shoppers.

Construction of Grayling Particleboard Mill Expected to Begin in Spring 2016 (9&10 News)
Construction for a new facility in Crawford County that manufactures particleboard is expected to begin in the spring of 2016. The facility will be constructed on a Grayling Township site and create about 250 jobs. According to the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development about 12 to 15 additional logging crews will be needed to supply the plant's raw material needs.

MDE
Tough new state exam stumps Michigan students
The state released results Tuesday from the MEAP replacement exam — known as the Michigan Student Test of Educational Progress — that was taken for the first time in the spring. Fifty percent of third-graders passed the English language arts exam — the best result among the grades. Elsewhere, the results ranged from 45% proficient for sixth-graders to 49% proficient for fifth- and 11th-graders. In math, results ranged from 28% of 11th-graders passing to 49% of third-graders passing.

Michigan students flunk new standardized test (WKZO-AM)
Most Michigan grade school students underachieved on the new state standardized tests that were taken over the spring, but school officials were only surprised they weren't worse. The Michigan Department of Education said that's because the Michigan Student Test of Educational Progress, the replacement for the 40-year-old Michigan Educational Assessment Program, was written with common core standards in mind and had less reliance on multiple-choice questioning.

MDOC
Questions raised about parolees in Delta County (UP Matters)
108th District State Representative Ed McBroom (R-Vulcan) is demanding answers from the Michigan Department of Corrections about the large number of parolees that were settled in Escanaba this month. He told the Radio Results Network that officials with the department have some explaining to do about where they decide to place people once they are released from prison.

MDOC eyes high-tech weapons to head off drone threat (WOOD TV)
"Anti-drone" drones that shoot nets, highly sensitive listening devices and sharpshooters: These are the tools that the state of Michigan is considering as it looks to head off the possibility of drones being used to sneak contraband into prisons.

MDOT
Michigan pushes back start date for M-66/M-55 widening project (TI News Daily)
Officials from the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) said Tuesday that various design and schedule changes have been made in the 2016 plans for the M-66/M-55 widening project near Lake City. The changes are based on suggestions and an internal review following a public meeting held earlier this year. The plan is to widen and reconstruct M-66/M-55 to three lanes in Lake City, from Jennings Road to 1st Street.

Meeting set to discuss I-275 construction project (Hometown Life)
The Michigan Department of Transportation announced Friday it will host a public meeting to inform motorists of more details of the project, scheduled to begin sometime in the spring. The meeting will take place 4-7 p.m. Nov. 10 at Davenport University, 19499 Victor Parkway, in Livonia.

MEDC
World's largest craft distributor announces $33M expansion in Michigan (MLive)
Notions Marketing Corp. is planning to spend up to $33 million to expand its Grand Rapids operations. It will also add 250 new permanent positions to its current 800-person year-around workforce. Michigan Economic Development Corporation is contributing $800,000 through a performance-based grant, and the company is also receiving a $150,633 grant through Michigan Works for workforce training.

MSP
State police share safety tips for cybersecurity awareness month (C&G News)
Col. Kriste Kibbey Etue, director of the Michigan State Police, said people's lives today are more connected than ever before. To encourage Michiganders to take an active role in their own cybersecurity, Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed October as Cybersecurity Awareness Month.

Michigan State Police hold open house at Manistique Post (Upper Michigans Source)
Tuesday afternoon, community members filled the Michigan State Police Manistique Post. They were there for the annual MSP Open House. According to the police, these events allow community members to meet the new troopers. This year, the police want to remind the community that there is still a strong local presence.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Senate will not vote on road funding Tuesday (WNEM)
Last week, the Michigan House of Representatives pushed through a piece of legislation to fund the necessary $1.2 billion to fix Michigan's crumbling roads. On Tuesday, the Michigan Senate was expected to vote on the measure, but no vote will be held today.

Michigan Senate, at standstill, considers changes to House road funding plan (MLive)
The Michigan Senate has been at a standstill so far Tuesday as lawmakers consider a $1.2 billion road funding plan approved last week by the House.

State treasurer tells lawmakers: Detroit schools need help (AP)
The Michigan state treasurer is warning lawmakers that Detroit's public schools could be insolvent by spring if the Legislature doesn't cover millions in debt.

Dire Forecast: Detroit Schools Could Be Broke by Spring (Deadline Detroit)
The financial picture Gov. Rick Snyder's treasurer and Detroit Public Schools' emergency manager painted for state lawmakers on Tuesday isn't a surprise.

Michigan lawmakers spar on export subsidy bank (Detroit News)
A bipartisan coalition of House lawmakers on Tuesday pushed through a bill to reopen the government agency that subsidizes U.S. exports, despite opposition from conservatives.

Official: Michigan autism fund will run dry in a month (AP)

A fund created by Michigan lawmakers in 2012 to pay for autism health coverage is running dry and should be depleted in weeks, a state official told lawmakers Tuesday.

DETROIT

Farming planned for 60 acres of blighted Detroit land (AP)
A big chunk of vacant and blighted land in Detroit is destined for a future in agriculture, and some city residents will receive training in farming.

Ilitch family to give $40M for new WSU business school (Detroit Free Press)
A $40 million donation by the Ilitch family to construct and help fund a new Wayne State University business school near downtown Detroit could be finalized as soon as Friday in a special university board meeting, according to a person familiar with the family's plans.

Detroit Public Schools could run out of cash in six months to a year without bailout (WXYZ)
Detroit schools are running out of cash and a state bailout is needed, according to the Michigan Treasurer and DPS Emergency Manager.

Detroit tennis courts named after Ralph C. Wilson Jr. (Detroit News)
New tennis courts at Chandler Park were named Monday in honor of the late Ralph C. Wilson Jr. and his wife, Mary, who made an appearance at the park on Detroit's east side.

Detroit worst in math, reading scores among big cities (Detroit News)
For a fourth straight time, Detroit students have scored the lowest among big-city districts in math and reading proficiency, according to national test results released Wednesday.

OPINION

House plan for Michigan roads funding is not a solution (MLive)
Unbelievable. That is my view of the new package of bills announced by the state House to deal with the shoddy condition of our roads.

State, emergency managers can't escape blame for Flint water switch (MLive)
Protests by ex-Flint emergency manager Darnell Earley that local leaders are to blame for the Flint River water switch should fall on deaf ears.

Now who needs an emergency manager (Detroit Free Press)
The ongoing fiasco regarding fixing Michigan's roads suggests the need for an "emergency manager" for the Governor's office as well as the Michigan House and Senate. The members of the Senate and House have not only wasted time, they have also wasted the millions spent on their salaries during the past several years.

Ken Braun: 2018 GOP hopefuls for governor gathering ammo, taking shots (MLive)
We're still less than a year removed from the final shots fired in the 2014 Michigan gubernatorial campaign, and some Republicans lining up to replace term-limited GOP Gov. Rick Snyder are already loading (and sometimes firing) ammunition for the 2018 race.

Should Michigan keep the same old judges past 70? Maybe (MLive)
Judges around the state face mandatory retirement once they plop 70 candles on their birthday cake. Given the fact that folks are living longer and more productive lives, some have made the case that they can serve beyond that age.

Editor's note: Miller champions good conduct (Detroit News)
Credit Michigan's Candice Miller with helping to assure her fellow Congress members don't spend taxpayer money as if it were their own.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, October 30, 2015 9:40 AM
Subject: 10/30 Newsroom
Attachments: 151030 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, October 30, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Unions cry foul on Snyder retirement board (LSJ)
State employee unions are calling foul on Gov. Rick Snyder's move to consolidate state retirement boards. While not necessarily opposed to the general premise of the governor's executive order consolidating administrative boards for the state employee, judicial and military retirement systems, union officials told the State Journal they weren't consulted or notified of the pending change and called it concerning that there were no union or frontline worker representatives named to the new, consolidated board.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Bill signing

ABLE Act: help with disability-related expenses (UP Matters/TV 3)
Michigan residents who care for an individual with a disability will soon have access to special savings accounts to help them pay for certain expenses, thanks to legislation signed today by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. Article V, Section 26 of the Michigan Constitution gives authority to the lieutenant governor to sign legislation when the governor is out of state. Gov. Snyder is currently attending the 2015 Ontario Economic Summit.

Michigan approves special savings accounts to care for disabled (AP)
New Michigan laws will let people caring for the disabled open tax-exempt savings accounts to pay for their long-term needs such as housing and transportation.

Fox Topix: Michigan Powdered Alcohol Ban (9&10 News)
Do you think the State of Michigan was right to ban the sale of powdered alcohol? Why or why not? A bill signed into law Wednesday by Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley has made powders that can be used to make alcoholic drinks illegal.

Michigan bans powder product that makes alcoholic drinks (AP)
Michigan is banning a powder product that makes vodka, rum and other alcoholic drinks when mixed with water. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signed legislation Wednesday to prohibit the sale, use or possession of powdered alcohol. The ban takes effect in late January and does not apply to scientific researchers.

Powdered booze dies before it ever flies in Michigan (Mlive)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley on Wednesday signed a bill banning powdered alcohol, shutting down the product before it ever entered the state.

Ban on powdered alcohol signed into law (Freep)
Michiganders won't get the chance to buy, sell or even use powdered alcohol. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signed a preemptive bill on Wednesday banning the product, even though it has never been introduced in the Michigan market.

Michigan bans powdered alcohol (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
Michigan is banning a powder product that makes vodka, rum and other alcoholic drinks when mixed with water. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signed legislation yesterday to prohibit the sale, use and possession of powdered alcohol.

Special Olympics
Special Olympians honored on State Senate floor (WLNS)
Lately we've been hearing a lot about the squabbling at the State Capitol over the plan to fund road repairs. The House of Representatives passed a proposed deal over to the Senate and now lawmakers are taking sides over the issue.

Prescription Drug/Opioid Task force
Livingston County drug overdose deaths climb (Livingston Daily/Freep)
The governor formed the task force, led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, in June to examine the recent trends, evaluate strategic options and develop a statewide action plan by fall.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
Video of Ann Arbor doctor prompts call for Planned Parenthood investigation (MLive)
A group of about 40 people gathered outside an Ann Arbor Planned Parenthood clinic Thursday morning to demand an investigation into the organization by Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette.

21-year-old township deputy treasurer accused of taking taxpayer money to pay bills (MLive)
An Augusta Township deputy treasurer could face up to 10 years in prison after allegedly using taxpayer dollars to pay his own bills. Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette brought embezzlement charges against Brendan Humeniak, 21, who was appointed deputy treasurer in November 2012 by his grandmother—Augusta Township treasurer Lynda Dew.

DMVA/VAA
Michigan offers hotline for veterans to call for help (MLive)
The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency reports nearly 20,000 veterans and their family members have made the call to 800-MICH-VET (800-642-4838) since the launch of the Michigan Veteran Resource Service Center in September 2014.

Wheels For Warriors Program Provides Transportation To Veterans (WEMU)
To help address the transportation needs of veterans in our state, AmeriCorps and the Michigan Region 10 Veterans Community Action Team has started a program called Wheels for Warriors.

Specialized wheelchair will help veteran stay active (WZZM)
A local veteran can now enjoy the outdoors, thanks to a specialized wheelchair. The Police Officers Association of Michigan delivered the Action TrackChair to the Grand Rapids home for veterans on Thursday.

DNR
Michigan DNR to handle some national forest timber sales (MLive)
On Wednesday, Oct. 28, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources signed a "Good Neighbor Authority" (GNA) agreement with the U.S. Forest Service to aid timber work in the Hiawatha, Ottawa and Huron-Manistee National Forests.

DNR says future 'not awesome' for Lake Michigan Chinook salmon fishery (MLive)
The table chart posted on the office window at the Platte River State Fish Hatchery visitor center in Benzie County tells a tale of two salmon runs.
Since Sept. 1, only 122 adult Chinook salmon have passed through the Lower Platte River weir. In the same period, 5,266 adult Coho salmon have transited the weir.

MDE
Why Michigan education officials aren't freaking out over dismal scores on new M-STEP test (MLive)
Michigan students scored poorly on the state's new standardized test, but Department of Education officials are happy with the assessment. That's because the M-STEP, a computer-based test that replaced the pen-and-paper MEAP last year, set a higher bar and has established a new baseline for student growth. As a result, lower scores were expected.

MEDC
Three companies to expand into Michigan thanks to funding (Michigan Chronicle)
Nearly 168 jobs and $20 million in investments are coming to Michigan due to the Michigan Strategic Fund announced the Michigan Economic Development Corporation recently.

State, Detroit Metro airport developing Pure Michigan campaign for international arrivals (Crain's Detroit Business)
Travel Michigan, a division of the Michigan Economic Development Corp. that coordinates the Pure Michigan branding effort, is working with the Romulus airport and federal customs agents to decorate a corridor inside McNamara Terminal used by inbound international passengers with signs, posters and digital boards.

MSHDA
Mt. Morris Twp. happy to see hotel eyesore go (WJRT)
It's been a thorn in the side of one Mid-Michigan community for almost a decade. On Thursday, ABC12 News learned tens of thousands of dollars was found to demolish the former Ramada Inn in Mt. Morris Township.

$11 million coming to Flint for demolition work (WJRT)
$11 million is coming to Flint from the federal government's Hardest Hit Fund. The Land Bank told ABC12 it will help tear down 900 homes. The effort builds upon an aggressive plan that started years ago.

Old Ramada hotel in Mt. Morris Township will be gone by April, officials say (MLive)
The fate of the old Ramada hotel in Mt. Morris Township off I-75 is very clear. Officials say by April 2016, the blighted and abandoned building will no longer be an eyesore in the township.

Plans set for Ramada Inn demolition (NBC 25 News)
Genesee County Treasurer Deb Cherry has seen the Ramada Inn on Pierson Road from the good days...to the bad. But after years of work, several groups have come together to begin a $900,000 demolition project on the hotel.

Detroit's demo disaster: Blame it on the dirt (Fox 2 News)
The city of Detroit has been awarded another $21 million from the federal government to fight blight. Now, the city's got $21 million more reasons to tear down homes.

MSP
Michigan State Police forward Todd Courser text message investigation to prosecutor for review (MLive)
Michigan State Police have concluded an investigation into extortion claims by former state Rep. Todd Courser and forwarded findings to the Lapeer County Prosecutor for review and possible charges.

Activists Cry Foul Over State Police Policy Change Leading to Harsher Pot Charges (MPRN)

A new State Police crime lab policy allows prosecutors to charge cannabis users with felonies they didn't commit. That's according to medical marijuana activists, who uncovered the policy through a public information request and provided the documents to the Michigan Public Radio Network.

Supreme Court

Michigan judicial races most expensive in nation (Detroit Free Press)
Campaign and judicial watchdog groups released a report Thursday saying Michigan ranked highest in the nation in 2014 for election spending on its Supreme Court races.

Public censure sought for Michigan judge in misconduct case (AP)
The Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission is recommending the Michigan Supreme Court publicly censure a Jackson County judge for misconduct.

New sentence hearings follow Mich. Supreme Court ruling (WZZM)
More than 200 state inmates have petitioned the Michigan Supreme Court for new sentence hearings based on its July ruling that guidelines mandating prison terms are unconstitutional.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Are we there yet? The Senate says no (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Legislature may be inching toward a roads funding package. The roughly $1 billion plan would take $600 million from the state's general fund and could include a rollback in the state income tax rate. It would also increase vehicle registration fees by 40%.

Meet the 80th District House candidates (WOOD)
On Tuesday in the 80th District voters will decide whether to return Gamrat to office or select one of six other Republican actively campaigning for that office.

No road-funding vote planned until next week at earliest (AP)
The Michigan Senate's resistance to a proposed 40 percent increase in vehicle registration fees has delayed voting for at least another week on a road-funding plan.

Legislation approved allowing communities to create "promise zones," similar to Kalamazoo (WKZO)
The Michigan State Senate has approved bipartisan legislation designed to give other communities an opportunity to follow in Kalamazoo's footprints with the creation of their own promise zones. The program allows school districts to collect resources and use tax financing to generate funding for college scholarship programs.

Michigan Promise Zone Expansion Bills Clear State Senate (WHTC)
The state Senate has passed a bipartisan, two-bill package that expands and improves Michigan's Promise Zone program.

Lawmakers grill education officials about why test results took so long (Michigan Radio)
Lawmakers are not happy about the time it took for state education officials to release the latest round of standardized test results. Students struggled in all grades and subjects on the new M-STEP test which replaced the MEAP.

DETROIT

Restrictions On Medical Marijuana Dispensaries Addressed Before Detroit Planning Commission (WWJ)
A packed house at the City of Detroit Planning Commission's public hearing on proposed regulations for the growing number of medical marijuana facilities. Several pressing issues facing the commission as they heard from dozens of residents and workers in Detroit regarding medical marijuana dispensary zoning … and owners who are worried they will have to close up shop.

Bing questions rising blight costs under Duggan (Detroit Free Press)
Former Detroit Mayor Dave Bing on Thursday questioned the reasons behind huge increases in the cost of blight removal under his successor, Mike Duggan, and defended his administration's record of demolishing nearly 9,000 houses.

Residents sound off on medical marijuana dispensaries at Detroit Planning Commission hearing (Crain's Detroit Business)
More than 300 showed up at a Detroit Planning Commission public hearing at the Thursday night at the Coleman A. Young Municipal Center to hear about and voice their opinion on a city zoning ordinance that would put tight restrictions on where medical marijuana dispensaries could locate in the city.

Detroit natives wary as recovery threatens to push them out (Crain's Detroit Business)
Residents and business owners who stuck with Detroit through the economic bad times fear they could be priced out during the city's recovery as property values and rents creep up. Detroit is among several large urban communities experiencing a mini-boom as developers see potential where there once was neglect and abandonment

Detroit schools lag behind national average in reading and math, report says (Detroit Metro Times)
The National Assessment of Educational Progress released the Nation's Report Card Wednesday, and it looks like both Detroit and Michigan certainly have "room for improvement." The results come from an NAEP test issued earlier to 279,000 fourth-graders and 273,000 eighth-graders earlier this year, MLive.com reports.

Demolition of Pontiac Silverdome to begin in spring '16 (The Detroit News)
The Pontiac Silverdome, once the home of the Detroit Lions with its innovative inflatable roof, was for decades a destination for pop culture and special events. Now, the hulking stadium, dormant for years and once "sapping the lifeblood of the city," will be demolished after the property failed to sell for its $30 million asking price, the property broker said Thursday.

OPINION

Rothwell: Assessing Michigan's talent future (Detroit News)
The jobs that pay the most and are growing the fastest require more education and training. If we want to add these jobs and boost incomes in Michigan, we need to make sure our students are graduating with the right skills.

Our editorial: Anybody but Courser, Gamrat (Detroit News)
Voters have a chance to put an exclamation point on the end of the political careers of Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat. They should send a very loud message Tuesday to these tone-deaf former lawmakers that there is no room for them in a state Legislature they so thoroughly embarrassed.

Susan J. Demas: HOP roads plan could kill Snyder's signature 2011 tax reform (MLive)
If there's one thing we know about our CPA governor, he's a fiscal nerd.

Are we there yet? The senate says no (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Legislature may be inching toward a roads funding package. The roughly $1 billion plan would take $600 million from the state's general fund and could include a rollback in the state income tax rate. It would also increase vehicle registration fees by 40%. While the House has passed the plan, the Michigan Senate scheduled and then delayed a vote on the plan.

Government messed up in Flint water crisis, what next? (Detroit Free Press)
We know what happened in Flint:

A small victory for regional transit in metro Detroit (Detroit Free Press)

If you're riding a bus up Woodward from Detroit to the suburbs, you shouldn't have to switch or transfer -- but for years in southeast Michigan, during most times of the day, that has been a staple of our dysfunctional transit system. But that may be about to end -- and that change may portend other important improvements in the region's transit system.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, October 30, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Unions cry foul on Snyder retirement board (LSJ)

State employee unions are calling foul on Gov. Rick Snyder's move to consolidate state retirement boards. While not necessarily opposed to the general premise of the governor's executive order consolidating administrative boards for the state employee, judicial and military retirement systems, union officials told the State Journal they weren't consulted or notified of the pending change and called it concerning that there were no union or frontline worker representatives named to the new, consolidated board.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Bill signing

ABLE Act: help with disability-related expenses (UP Matters/TV 3)

Michigan residents who care for an individual with a disability will soon have access to special savings accounts to help them pay for certain expenses, thanks to legislation signed today by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. Article V, Section 26 of the Michigan Constitution gives authority to the lieutenant governor to sign legislation when the governor is out of state. Gov. Snyder is currently attending the 2015 Ontario Economic Summit.

Michigan approves special savings accounts to care for disabled (AP)

New Michigan laws will let people caring for the disabled open tax-exempt savings accounts to pay for their long-term needs such as housing and transportation.

Fox Topix: Michigan Powdered Alcohol Ban (9&10 News)

Do you think the State of Michigan was right to ban the sale of powdered alcohol? Why or why not? A bill signed into law Wednesday by Michigan Lt. Governor Brian Calley has made powders that can be used to make alcoholic drinks illegal.

Michigan bans powder product that makes alcoholic drinks (AP)

Michigan is banning a powder product that makes vodka, rum and other alcoholic drinks when mixed with water. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signed legislation Wednesday to prohibit the sale, use or possession of powdered alcohol. The ban takes effect in late January and does not apply to scientific researchers.

Powdered booze dies before it ever flies in Michigan (Mlive)

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley on Wednesday signed a bill banning powdered alcohol, shutting down the product before it ever entered the state.

Ban on powdered alcohol signed into law (Freep)
Michiganders won't get the chance to buy, sell or even use powdered alcohol. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signed a preemptive bill on Wednesday banning the product, even though it has never been introduced in the Michigan market.

Michigan bans powdered alcohol (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
Michigan is banning a powder product that makes vodka, rum and other alcoholic drinks when mixed with water. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signed legislation yesterday to prohibit the sale, use and possession of powdered alcohol.

Special Olympics

Special Olympians honored on State Senate floor (WLNS)
Lately we've been hearing a lot about the squabbling at the State Capitol over the plan to fund road repairs. The House of Representatives passed a proposed deal over to the Senate and now lawmakers are taking sides over the issue.

Prescription Drug/Opioid Task force

Livingston County drug overdose deaths climb (Livingston Daily/Freep)
The governor formed the task force, led by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, in June to examine the recent trends, evaluate strategic options and develop a statewide action plan by fall.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG

Video of Ann Arbor doctor prompts call for Planned Parenthood investigation (MLive)
A group of about 40 people gathered outside an Ann Arbor Planned Parenthood clinic Thursday morning to demand an investigation into the organization by Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette.

21-year-old township deputy treasurer accused of taking taxpayer money to pay bills (MLive)
An Augusta Township deputy treasurer could face up to 10 years in prison after allegedly using taxpayer dollars to pay his own bills. Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette brought embezzlement charges against Brendan Humeniak, 21, who was appointed deputy treasurer in November 2012 by his grandmother—Augusta Township treasurer Lynda Dew.

DMVA/VAA

Michigan offers hotline for veterans to call for help (MLive)
The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency reports nearly 20,000 veterans and their family members have made the call to 800-MICH-VET (800-642-4838) since the launch of the Michigan Veteran Resource Service Center in September 2014.

Wheels For Warriors Program Provides Transportation To Veterans (WEMU)
To help address the transportation needs of veterans in our state, AmeriCorps and the Michigan Region 10 Veterans Community Action Team has started a program called Wheels for Warriors.

Specialized wheelchair will help veteran stay active (WZZM)
A local veteran can now enjoy the outdoors, thanks to a specialized wheelchair. The Police Officers Association of Michigan delivered the Action TrackChair to the Grand Rapids home for veterans on Thursday.

DNR

Michigan DNR to handle some national forest timber sales (MLive)
On Wednesday, Oct. 28, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources signed a "Good Neighbor Authority" (GNA) agreement with the U.S. Forest Service to aid timber work in the Hiawatha, Ottawa and Huron-Manistee National Forests.

DNR says future 'not awesome' for Lake Michigan Chinook salmon fishery (MLive)
The table chart posted on the office window at the Platte River State Fish Hatchery visitor center in Benzie County tells a tale of two salmon runs.
Since Sept. 1, only 122 adult Chinook salmon have passed through the Lower Platte River weir. In the same period, 5,266 adult Coho salmon have transited the weir.

MDE
Why Michigan education officials aren't freaking out over dismal scores on new M-STEP test (MLive)
Michigan students scored poorly on the state's new standardized test, but Department of Education officials are happy with the assessment. That's because the M-STEP, a computer-based test that replaced the pen-and-paper MEAP last year, set a higher bar and has established a new baseline for student growth. As a result, lower scores were expected.

MEDC
Three companies to expand into Michigan thanks to funding (Michigan Chronicle)
Nearly 168 jobs and $20 million in investments are coming to Michigan due to the Michigan Strategic Fund announced the Michigan Economic Development Corporation recently.

State, Detroit Metro airport developing Pure Michigan campaign for international arrivals (Crain's Detroit Business)
Travel Michigan, a division of the Michigan Economic Development Corp. that coordinates the Pure Michigan branding effort, is working with the Romulus airport and federal customs agents to decorate a corridor inside McNamara Terminal used by inbound international passengers with signs, posters and digital boards.

MSHDA
Mt. Morris Twp. happy to see hotel eyesore go (WJRT)
It's been a thorn in the side of one Mid-Michigan community for almost a decade. On Thursday, ABC12 News learned tens of thousands of dollars was found to demolish the former Ramada Inn in Mt. Morris Township.

$11 million coming to Flint for demolition work (WJRT)
$11 million is coming to Flint from the federal government's Hardest Hit Fund. The Land Bank told ABC12 it will help tear down 900 homes. The effort builds upon an aggressive plan that started years ago.

Old Ramada hotel in Mt. Morris Township will be gone by April, officials say (MLive)
The fate of the old Ramada hotel in Mt. Morris Township off I-75 is very clear. Officials say by April 2016, the blighted and abandoned building will no longer be an eyesore in the township.

Plans set for Ramada Inn demolition (NBC 25 News)
Genesee County Treasurer Deb Cherry has seen the Ramada Inn on Pierson Road from the good days...to the bad. But after years of work, several groups have come together to begin a $900,000 demolition project on the hotel.
Detroit's demo disaster: Blame it on the dirt (Fox 2 News)

The city of Detroit has been awarded another $21 million from the federal government to fight blight. Now, the city's got $21 million more reasons to tear down homes.

MSP

Michigan State Police forward Todd Courser text message investigation to prosecutor for review (MLive)
Michigan State Police have concluded an investigation into extortion claims by former state Rep. Todd Courser and forwarded findings to the Lapeer County Prosecutor for review and possible charges.

Activists Cry Foul Over State Police Policy Change Leading to Harsher Pot Charges (MPRN)
A new State Police crime lab policy allows prosecutors to charge cannabis users with felonies they didn't commit. That's according to medical marijuana activists, who uncovered the policy through a public information request and provided the documents to the Michigan Public Radio Network.

Supreme Court

Michigan judicial races most expensive in nation (Detroit Free Press)
Campaign and judicial watchdog groups released a report Thursday saying Michigan ranked highest in the nation in 2014 for election spending on its Supreme Court races.

Public censure sought for Michigan judge in misconduct case (AP)
The Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission is recommending the Michigan Supreme Court publicly censure a Jackson County judge for misconduct.

New sentence hearings follow Mich. Supreme Court ruling (WZZM)
More than 200 state inmates have petitioned the Michigan Supreme Court for new sentence hearings based on its July ruling that guidelines mandating prison terms are unconstitutional.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Are we there yet? The Senate says no (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Legislature may be inching toward a roads funding package. The roughly $1 billion plan would take $600 million from the state's general fund and could include a rollback in the state income tax rate. It would also increase vehicle registration fees by 40%.

Meet the 80th District House candidates (WOOD)
On Tuesday in the 80th District voters will decide whether to return Gamrat to office or select one of six other Republican actively campaigning for that office.

No road-funding vote planned until next week at earliest (AP)
The Michigan Senate's resistance to a proposed 40 percent increase in vehicle registration fees has delayed voting for at least another week on a road-funding plan.

Legislation approved allowing communities to create "promise zones," similar to Kalamazoo (WKZO)
The Michigan State Senate has approved bipartisan legislation designed to give other communities an opportunity to follow in Kalamazoo's footprints with the creation of their own promise zones. The program allows school districts to collect resources and use tax financing to generate funding for college scholarship programs.

Michigan Promise Zone Expansion Bills Clear State Senate (WHTC)
The state Senate has passed a bipartisan, two-bill package that expands and improves Michigan's Promise Zone program.

Lawmakers grill education officials about why test results took so long (Michigan Radio)
Lawmakers are not happy about the time it took for state education officials to release the latest round of standardized test results. Students struggled in all grades and subjects on the new M-STEP test which replaced the MEAP.

DETROIT

Restrictions On Medical Marijuana Dispensaries Addressed Before Detroit Planning Commission (WWJ)
A packed house at the City of Detroit Planning Commission's public hearing on proposed regulations for the growing number of medical marijuana facilities. Several pressing issues facing the commission as they heard from dozens of residents and workers in Detroit regarding medical marijuana dispensary zoning … and owners who are worried they will have to close up shop.

Bing questions rising blight costs under Duggan (Detroit Free Press)
Former Detroit Mayor Dave Bing on Thursday questioned the reasons behind huge increases in the cost of blight removal under his successor, Mike Duggan, and defended his administration's record of demolishing nearly 9,000 houses.

Residents sound off on medical marijuana dispensaries at Detroit Planning Commission hearing (Crain's Detroit Business)
More than 300 showed up at a Detroit Planning Commission public hearing at the Thursday night at the Coleman A. Young Municipal Center to hear about and voice their opinion on a city zoning ordinance that would put tight restrictions on where medical marijuana dispensaries could locate in the city.

Detroit natives wary as recovery threatens to push them out (Crain's Detroit Business)
Residents and business owners who stuck with Detroit through the economic bad times fear they could be priced out during the city's recovery as property values and rents creep up. Detroit is among several large urban communities experiencing a mini-boom as developers see potential where there once was neglect and abandonment

Detroit schools lag behind national average in reading and math, report says (Detroit Metro Times)
The National Assessment of Educational Progress released the Nation's Report Card Wednesday, and it looks like both Detroit and Michigan certainly have "room for improvement." The results come from an NAEP test issued earlier to 279,000 fourth-graders and 273,000 eighth-graders earlier this year, MLive.com reports.

Demolition of Pontiac Silverdome to begin in spring '16 (The Detroit News)
The Pontiac Silverdome, once the home of the Detroit Lions with its innovative inflatable roof, was for decades a destination for pop culture and special events. Now, the hulking stadium, dormant for years and once "sapping the lifeblood of the city," will be demolished after the property failed to sell for its $30 million asking price, the property broker said Thursday.

OPINION

Rothwell: Assessing Michigan's talent future (Detroit News)
The jobs that pay the most and are growing the fastest require more education and training. If we want to add these jobs and boost incomes in Michigan, we need to make sure our students are graduating with the right skills.

Our editorial: Anybody but Courser, Gamrat (Detroit News)

Voters have a chance to put an exclamation point on the end of the political careers of Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat. They should send a very loud message Tuesday to these tone-deaf former lawmakers that there is no room for them in a state Legislature they so thoroughly embarrassed.

Susan J. Demas: HOP roads plan could kill Snyder's signature 2011 tax reform (MLive)
If there's one thing we know about our CPA governor, he's a fiscal nerd.

Are we there yet? The senate says no (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Legislature may be inching toward a roads funding package. The roughly $1 billion plan would take $600 million from the state's general fund and could include a rollback in the state income tax rate. It would also increase vehicle registration fees by 40%. While the House has passed the plan, the Michigan Senate scheduled and then delayed a vote on the plan.

Government messed up in Flint water crisis, what next? (Detroit Free Press)
We know what happened in Flint:

A small victory for regional transit in metro Detroit (Detroit Free Press)
If you're riding a bus up Woodward from Detroit to the suburbs, you shouldn't have to switch or transfer -- but for years in southeast Michigan, during most times of the day, that has been a staple of our dysfunctional transit system. But that may be about to end -- and that change may portend other important improvements in the region's transit system.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, November 03, 2015 9:15 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/3 Newsroom
Attachments: 151103 Newsroom.docx

Tuesday, November 3, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Center for Michigan event
Snyder to higher ed: Look beyond boosted state funding (Freep)
There are plenty of ways to make college more affordable that don't involve increased state funding, Gov. Rick Snyder told education leaders in Lansing Monday. Snyder, speaking at the Center for Michigan's policy conference on college value and affordability, urged those looking for answers to the high cost of a college education to think outside the box, looking to solutions such as making better use of college and university assets and improving the financial management of higher education institutions.

Snyder: Creative thinking, not just more funding, can make college more affordable (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder wants to continue restoring higher education funding he initially cut, but he's also challenging the education community to embrace "outside the box" thinking to lower college costs.

Governor Snyder talks solutions to costly higher education (WLNS)
For those who want to be successful, many believe education, especially higher education is a valuable asset needed to reach most goals. But the cost of reaching those goals has taken a toll. 6 News' Haley Herzog has what Governor Rick Snyder says we need to do to change that.

Universities want more money. Snyder wants more innovation. (Bridge Magazine)
Speaking first, Gov. Rick Snyder acknowledged that state funding is important, but urged more innovative solutions to help students earn a degree they can afford. The governor's call for innovation was countered presidents of some of the state's largest universities, who contend that after years of university belt-tightening, the state needs to ramp up spending to help make college more affordable.

Roads
Snyder seeks 'fiscally responsible' road funding deal as Michigan Senate tries again this week (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is optimistic that the Republican-led Legislature will settle on a "common sense" road funding plan, perhaps as soon as this week. The Senate is expected to resume road funding talks on Tuesday. The tentative session agenda does not include key bills, but there's a very real possibility of action.

Roads plan possible by Tuesday, Governor's office says (WZZM)
If the state Legislature moves forward as planned, we could see a deal to fix state roads as soon as Tuesday. On Monday, Governor Rick Snyder said he wants to see some sort of compromise between the House and Senate as soon as possible.

Proclamations
Governor Rick Snyder has declared November 1-7 Winter Hazards Awareness Week (UP Matters)
Winter brings opportunities for recreation and some beautiful scenery, but it can also be a dangerous time of year. Matt Zika, a meteorologist at the National Weather Service said, "It's just the time for folks to start thinking ahead and realizing that even though we've been pretty mild so far this fall, winter isn't that far around the corner."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DNR
Michigan rattlesnakes face uncertain future (The Detroit Free Press)
Walking out in the wetlands? If you hear a sound like a loud bee buzzing, look down, not around. It could be Michigan's only venomous snake, the Eastern Massasauga rattlesnake. But the 2- to 3-foot, well-camouflaged reptile is not likely to be a threat to nearby humans.

Michigan DNR looking for denned bears in the northern Lower Peninsula (Fox 28)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is asking people to let them know if they come across a denned black bear during their hunting, trapping or other outdoor adventures. A release from the DNR said biologists with the department are conducting an ongoing bear research project and need additional black bears to be fitted with radio collars.

Michigan DNR wants help finding black bear dens for research (Mlive)
Wildlife officials are asking hunters and trappers to keep a lookout for black bear dens to help the state study the population. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wants to fit more black bears with radio tracking collars for the ongoing research project.

Coast Guard seeks to turn off, replace light at historic Tawas Point Lighthouse (Mlive)
The light at a historic Michigan lighthouse, in operation for more than a century, may soon be turned off and replaced by a more modern signal. The U.S. Coast Guard is gathering the public's input on the matter as part of a proposal to disestablish a 135-year-old aids-to-navigation light in the Tawas Point Lighthouse.

MDE
Michigan college-going rate dips, and 8 other facts on college enrollment (Mlive)
New high school graduates enrolling in college are down both in raw numbers and in percentage of the graduating class, based on state data for the Michigan Class of 2014. An estimated 64,289 students who graduated during the 2013-14 school year enrolled in higher education within six months of graduation, according to the Michigan Department of Education's data on post-secondary outcomes.

State awards Oakland with $380K grant for autism spectrum studies, services (Oakland University)
Oakland University has received a $380,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) as part of a statewide effort to better treat and understand autism spectrum disorder (ASD). This is the third year that Oakland has received funding to further research and supports for this population. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), ASD is the fastest growing developmental disability in the country, with approximately one in 68 children diagnosed nationwide. During the 2014-15 school year, the Michigan Department of Education reported 17,986 children with ASD in special education statewide – the annual growth rate has been 7 to 8 percent in the last five years.

Program helps 16 Mich. high schools leave Priority List (The Detroit News)
Sixteen of 22 low-performing Michigan high schools moved off the state Priority List after being included in an improvement program funded by a five-year federal grant, the Michigan Department of Education said Monday. Schools in Metro Detroit taken off the list were Clintondale High School, Clinton Township; Fitzgerald High School, Warren; Harper Woods High School; Harry S. Truman High School, Taylor; New Haven High School; River Rouge High School, and Robichaud High School, Dearborn Heights.

MDHHS

Flint Families to Receive New Guidelines On Reducing Lead Exposure (9&10 News)
Health officials say they have new guidelines for Flint families dealing with the emergency with the city's water supply. The Genesee County Health Department and Michigan Department of Health and Human Services will be sending out letters this week on how to reduce lead exposure. The response comes after elevated blood lead levels were found in some children in Flint.

Lack of mental health services in UP is troubling (Mining Gazette)
The U.P. and northeast Lower Peninsula face the most serious shortages of trained mental health professionals available in the state, according to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. Among 15 U.P. counties, 13 are designated as shortage areas. Ten of the 11 northeast Michigan counties have the same designation. An assessment conducted in 2012 by the Western Upper Peninsula Health Department found an estimated 24.2 percent of Western U.P. adults have at some point in their lives been told they had a depression disorder. The local estimated lifetime depression diagnosis rates were higher among adults younger than 65.

MDOC

Banning drones from flying near Michigan prisons (Michigan Radio)
Drones have many uses. But Michigan lawmakers want to discourage one in particular: delivering contraband to state prison inmates. Across the country in recent months, people trying to smuggle all kinds of things into prisons have turned to drones.

MDOT

New fund plan would take road designs away from MDOT (Detroit Free Press)
The design of highway construction projects would be mostly taken away from the Michigan Department of Transportation and delegated to road builders under the latest road funding proposal being considered by the Michigan Senate, the Republican majority floor leader said Monday.

MEDC

Coworking office center planned for former Pub 13 expected to be ready in February (Mlive)
Progress on the renovation of downtown Ypsilanti's former Pub 13 building is slow as its new ownership group seeks funding, but the project is expected to be complete by February. A shared office and coworking space called The Back Office Studio is planned for the former nightspot.

Official: Steelcase pyramid project 'great for ... Michigan' (WZZM)
Local lawmaker Rep. Ken Yonker, R-Gaines Twp., told the 13 Watchdog team Monday afternoon that the project slated for the former Steelcase pyramid is "great for Kent County and great for the State of Michigan." He says it will be a matter of a couple of weeks before the legislation comes before lawmakers to make a necessary change to enable this project to move forward.

State signs off on Grand Rapids SmartZone district expanding to Holland (Mlive)
Holland will get a Smart Zone technology park after the project received approval from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation on Monday, Nov. 2. The economic development zone, approved as a satellite of the Grand Rapids Smart Zone, allows startup businesses to tap into certain pre-seed microloan and other business accelerator funds.

MSP

Michigan State Police receiving high volume of calls regarding IRS scams (Up Matters/TV 3)
The Michigan State Police say U.P. residents have been reporting receiving a high volume of 'scam' calls. Residents report that callers claiming to be from the IRS are leaving messages or instructing people to contact them regarding unpaid tax bills. Many of these calls are urgent sounding, automated and leave call back numbers. Troopers want you to be clear: the IRS does not call citizens and use fear and intimidation tactics or threats of arrest to obtain credit card or bank account information, or request immediate payments.

Michigan State Police To Take Part In Crash-Reduction Operation (WHMI 93.5)
Michigan State Police will participate in a two-day operation that will focus on crash reduction as part of a statewide initiative. On November 3rd and 4th, a multi-state effort including state police from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, will look at improving traffic safety.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Democrats to fight hike in Mich. car registration fees (The Detroit News)
Top Democrats said Monday they oppose and will campaign against a proposed increase in vehicle registration fees, further complicating lawmakers' efforts to fix Michigan's road repair shortfall. House Democratic Leader Tim Greimel charged that a proposed 40 percent registration fee increase included in a roads plan passed in late October by the House Republican majority "puts the burden squarely on everyday families, but lets corporations off the hook."

Ex-Reps. Courser, Gamrat face voter judgment day (The Detroit News)
It's judgment day for former state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat as voters in Lapeer and Allegan county will decide Tuesday whether the scandal-plagued former lawmakers get a second chance to represent them in the Legislature. Voters in both counties will decide who should advance to the March 8 special general election to fill two seats in the Michigan House of Representatives left vacant by Courser's Sept. 11 resignation and Gamrat's expulsion.

Lawmakers want to ditch Daylight Saving Time (Michigan Radio)
Two state lawmakers have forged a bipartisan effort to take Michigan off Daylight Saving Time. If they get their way, Sunday would be the final time Michiganders have to re-set their clocks to accommodate the time change. State Representatives Jeff Irwin, D-Ann Arbor, and Peter Lucido, R-Shelby Township, say the twice-a-year time change is inconvenient, confusing, and can even be dangerous to people's health and safety.

Movement on Michigan roads deal this week? (WOOD)
The Michigan legislature may take another look at a plan to fix the state's shoddy roads on Tuesday.
The options to fund road repair are growing fewer for the state Senate and House of Representatives. Some ideas have passed one chamber and then stalled in the other, and nothing seems to have changed enough to suggest another run at any of them is viable.

Banning drones from flying near Michigan prisons (Michigan Radio)
Drones have many uses. But Michigan lawmakers want to discourage one in particular: delivering contraband to state prison inmates. Across the country in recent months, people trying to smuggle all kinds of things into prisons have turned to drones. Last week, a drone carrying hacksaw blades, cigars and drugs got tangled up in a razor wire fence at an Oklahoma prison.

DETROIT

Idea to Hike Detroit Teacher Pay Could Cost $462 Million (Capitol Confidential)
A Detroit businessman's idea to attract talent to the city's public schools by paying teachers between $125,000 to $150,000 could cost close to half a billion dollars every year. If superimposed on the school district's current salaries and the state's pension system, it would add up to $462 million to the Detroit school district's $642 million annual operating budget, a 72 percent increase.

Detroit's other blight crisis: Commercial decay (Detroit Free Press)
They're easy to find and hard to ignore. In Detroit, many residents live and shop near hulking vacant buildings that have been abandoned for years, places that attract crime, vagrants, graffiti and scrappers. Many of these blighted buildings line well-traveled corridors throughout Detroit's neighborhoods. But exactly who owns them and why they remain in terrible condition for so long remains a mystery to many.

Pugh to skip sordid sex trial in Detroit (The Detroit News)
Former City Council President Charles Pugh is skipping a civil trial starting Tuesday that will consider whether he offered a Detroit Public Schools student cash for sex. The former politician and TV personality said his attendance at trial is irrelevant and that jurors can watch a videotaped deposition while considering a case filed by a former student, who is suing Pugh and DPS in federal court.

Emergency Mgr Darnell Earley defends Flint role, Detroit schools plan (WKAR)
Twice, Delta Township resident Darnell Earley has been appointed as an Emergency Manager in Michigan: once in Flint and currently in the Detroit Public Schools. Current State talks with Earley about the Flint water switch and why he thinks the legislature should pass the Governor's Detroit schools funding plan. As the former Emergency Manager of the city of Flint, our first guest has come under fire recently. Many are blaming Darnell Earley for not stopping the city's decision to switch its water source to the Flint river. The move led to dangerously high lead levels in drinking water.

Group calls for Mayor Mike Duggan investigation in response to demolition cost spike (MLive)
While Mayor Mike Duggan's administration says there're logical reasons for the increase in demolitions costs, others are calling it a "scandal" that needs a deeper look. Amid reporting from WJBK's Charlie LeDuff on the rise in demolition spending from around $10,000 to, in some cases, $20,000 per house under Duggan, the mayor said it's the high volume, fast pace and added demolition requirements, such as curb repairs and asbestos removal, that caused the cost to skyrocket.

OPINION

Tom Watkins: The UAW built the middle class (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Built in Detroit — now, headed to Hollywood. Great talent comes in all sizes, shapes, genders, sexual orientations, colors, and political persuasions. One man of strength, competence, and wisdom is Bob Morris. Perhaps not a household name, Bob was never elected to public office nor did he head a major department of state government. But Bob Morris and his family have contributed to this city, region and state in multiple ways.

The fight for teacher evaluation reform (Bridge)
The complicated process by which policy makes its way into law is often referred to as "insider baseball". It might be confusing and often boring, and it certainly won't get big headlines, but it shouldn't ever be overlooked. Effective insider baseball wins lots of ball games.

Dobbelstein: Clean Water Rule a big step forward (Lansing State Journal)
The Clean Water Act turned 43 last month, so now would be an excellent time for Michigan's own attorney general, Bill Schuette, to give the Great Lakes an anniversary present.

Pro-gay rights groups at odds over how to add LGBT protections to Michigan's constitution (Michigan Radio)
It's the upstarts versus the Establishment. Again. And, this time, we don't mean the Tea Party versus the Republicans. Rather, we're talking about the gay rights movement in Michigan. Last Friday, a new ballot committee, "Fair Michigan," filed with the state. The group wants to add the words "gender," "gender identity," and "sexual orientation" to the equal protection clause of the state constitution.

Election 2015: Vote today for huge school bonds, state House primary and city leaders (Mlive)
Voters in four Kent County school districts will decide whether to spend a combined $300 million on capital improvements today, and voters in three cities will consider contested mayoral races. Plus, there's a special Michigan House vote, a library tax and several positions of municipal leadership on area ballots this Election Day.

Susan J. Demas: We need LGBT rights now, not when GOP lawmakers get around to it (Mlive)
Gay marriage is the law of the land. But in Michigan — as in most states — you can still be fired for being gay. It was clear to me last year that this was going to be a problem. It's a huge legal inequity for the LGBT community. Equality activists have been playing "Waiting for Godot" with the Legislature for years on adding LGBTs to the state's Elliott-Larsen nondiscrimination law.

DeVore: Literacy program targets Detroit youth (The Detroit News)
Parents across the socio-economic spectrum want their children to receive a quality education because they understand that a good education can lead to a better life and a successful career. All children deserve a strong start. But in far too many communities, children in poverty miss out. Without access to high-quality early learning programs, they fall behind. Many never catch up.

Editorial: Lawmakers should stay all night to fix roads (The Detroit News)
Michigan lawmakers are scheduled to take up a long stalled road funding proposal when they convene today for the start of their three-day work week. They should not leave until they've passed a bill. This impasse has dragged on long enough. Michigan motorists are as fed up with the inability of lawmakers to work together to reach a practical solution as they are with the disastrous condition of the roads.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, November 3, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Center for Michigan event
Snyder to higher ed: Look beyond boosted state funding (Freep)
There are plenty of ways to make college more affordable that don't involve increased state funding, Gov. Rick Snyder told education leaders in Lansing Monday. Snyder, speaking at the Center for Michigan's policy conference on college value and affordability, urged those looking for answers to the high cost of a college education to think outside the box, looking to solutions such as making better use of college and university assets and improving the financial management of higher education institutions.

Snyder: Creative thinking, not just more funding, can make college more affordable (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder wants to continue restoring higher education funding he initially cut, but he's also challenging the education community to embrace "outside the box" thinking to lower college costs.

Governor Snyder talks solutions to costly higher education (WLNS)
For those who want to be successful, many believe education, especially higher education is a valuable asset needed to reach most goals. But the cost of reaching those goals has taken a toll. 6 News' Haley Herzog has what Governor Rick Snyder says we need to do to change that.

Universities want more money. Snyder wants more innovation. (Bridge Magazine)
Speaking first, Gov. Rick Snyder acknowledged that state funding is important, but urged more innovative solutions to help students earn a degree they can afford. The governor's call for innovation was countered presidents of some of the state's largest universities, who contend that after years of university belt-tightening, the state needs to ramp up spending to help make college more affordable.

Roads
Snyder seeks 'fiscally responsible' road funding deal as Michigan Senate tries again this week (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is optimistic that the Republican-led Legislature will settle on a "common sense" road funding plan, perhaps as soon as this week. The Senate is expected to resume road funding talks on Tuesday. The tentative session agenda does not include key bills, but there's a very real possibility of action.

Roads plan possible by Tuesday, Governor's office says (WZZM)
If the state Legislature moves forward as planned, we could see a deal to fix state roads as soon as Tuesday. On Monday, Governor Rick Snyder said he wants to see some sort of compromise between the House and Senate as soon as possible.

Proclamations

Governor Rick Snyder has declared November 1-7 Winter Hazards Awareness Week (UP Matters)
Winter brings opportunities for recreation and some beautiful scenery, but it can also be a dangerous time of year. Matt Zika, a meteorologist at the National Weather Service said, "It's just the time for folks to start thinking ahead and realizing that even though we've been pretty mild so far this fall, winter isn't that far around the corner."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DNR

Michigan rattlesnakes face uncertain future (The Detroit Free Press)
Walking out in the wetlands? If you hear a sound like a loud bee buzzing, look down, not around. It could be Michigan's only venomous snake, the Eastern Massasauga rattlesnake. But the 2- to 3-foot, well-camouflaged reptile is not likely to be a threat to nearby humans.

Michigan DNR looking for denned bears in the northern Lower Peninsula (Fox 28)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is asking people to let them know if they come across a denned black bear during their hunting, trapping or other outdoor adventures. A release from the DNR said biologists with the department are conducting an ongoing bear research project and need additional black bears to be fitted with radio collars.

Michigan DNR wants help finding black bear dens for research (Mlive)
Wildlife officials are asking hunters and trappers to keep a lookout for black bear dens to help the state study the population. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources wants to fit more black bears with radio tracking collars for the ongoing research project.

Coast Guard seeks to turn off, replace light at historic Tawas Point Lighthouse (Mlive)
The light at a historic Michigan lighthouse, in operation for more than a century, may soon be turned off and replaced by a more modern signal. The U.S. Coast Guard is gathering the public's input on the matter as part of a proposal to disestablish a 135-year-old aids-to-navigation light in the Tawas Point Lighthouse.

MDE

Michigan college-going rate dips, and 8 other facts on college enrollment (Mlive)
New high school graduates enrolling in college are down both in raw numbers and in percentage of the graduating class, based on state data for the Michigan Class of 2014. An estimated 64,289 students who graduated during the 2013-14 school year enrolled in higher education within six months of graduation, according to the Michigan Department of Education's data on post-secondary outcomes.

State awards Oakland with $380K grant for autism spectrum studies, services (Oakland University)
Oakland University has received a $380,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) as part of a statewide effort to better treat and understand autism spectrum disorder (ASD). This is the third year that Oakland has received funding to further research and supports for this population. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), ASD is the fastest growing developmental disability in the country, with approximately one in 68 children diagnosed nationwide. During the 2014-15 school year, the Michigan Department of Education reported 17,986 children with ASD in special education statewide – the annual growth rate has been 7 to 8 percent in the last five years.

Program helps 16 Mich. high schools leave Priority List (The Detroit News)
Sixteen of 22 low-performing Michigan high schools moved off the state Priority List after being included in an improvement program funded by a five-year federal grant, the Michigan Department of Education said Monday. Schools in Metro Detroit taken off the list were Clintondale High School, Clinton Township; Fitzgerald High School, Warren; Harper Woods High School; Harry S. Truman High School, Taylor; New Haven High School; River Rouge High School, and Robichaud High School, Dearborn Heights.

MDHHS

Flint Families to Receive New Guidelines On Reducing Lead Exposure (9&10 News)
Health officials say they have new guidelines for Flint families dealing with the emergency with the city's water supply. The Genesee County Health Department and Michigan Department of Health and Human Services will be sending out letters this week on how to reduce lead exposure. The response comes after elevated blood lead levels were found in some children in Flint.

Lack of mental health services in UP is troubling (Mining Gazette)
The U.P. and northeast Lower Peninsula face the most serious shortages of trained mental health professionals available in the state, according to the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services. Among 15 U.P. counties, 13 are designated as shortage areas. Ten of the 11 northeast Michigan counties have the same designation. An assessment conducted in 2012 by the Western Upper Peninsula Health Department found an estimated 24.2 percent of Western U.P. adults have at some point in their lives been told they had a depression disorder. The local estimated lifetime depression diagnosis rates were higher among adults younger than 65.

MDOC

Banning drones from flying near Michigan prisons (Michigan Radio)
Drones have many uses. But Michigan lawmakers want to discourage one in particular: delivering contraband to state prison inmates. Across the country in recent months, people trying to smuggle all kinds of things into prisons have turned to drones.

MDOT

New fund plan would take road designs away from MDOT (Detroit Free Press)
The design of highway construction projects would be mostly taken away from the Michigan Department of Transportation and delegated to road builders under the latest road funding proposal being considered by the Michigan Senate, the Republican majority floor leader said Monday.

MEDC

Coworking office center planned for former Pub 13 expected to be ready in February (Mlive)
Progress on the renovation of downtown Ypsilanti's former Pub 13 building is slow as its new ownership group seeks funding, but the project is expected to be complete by February. A shared office and coworking space called The Back Office Studio is planned for the former nightspot.

Official: Steelcase pyramid project 'great for ... Michigan' (WZZM)
Local lawmaker Rep. Ken Yonker, R-Gaines Twp., told the 13 Watchdog team Monday afternoon that the project slated for the former Steelcase pyramid is "great for Kent County and great for the State of Michigan." He says it will be a matter of a couple of weeks before the legislation comes before lawmakers to make a necessary change to enable this project to move forward.

State signs off on Grand Rapids SmartZone district expanding to Holland (Mlive)
Holland will get a Smart Zone technology park after the project received approval from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation on Monday, Nov. 2. The economic development zone, approved as a satellite of the Grand Rapids Smart Zone, allows startup businesses to tap into certain pre-seed microloan and other business accelerator funds.

MSP

Michigan State Police receiving high volume of calls regarding IRS scams (Up Matters/TV 3)
The Michigan State Police say U.P. residents have been reporting receiving a high volume of 'scam' calls. Residents report that callers claiming to be from the IRS are leaving messages or instructing people to contact them regarding unpaid tax bills. Many of these calls are urgent sounding, automated and leave call back numbers. Troopers want you to be clear: the IRS does not call citizens and use fear and intimidation tactics or threats of arrest to obtain credit card or bank account information, or request immediate payments.

Michigan State Police To Take Part In Crash-Reduction Operation (WHMI 93.5)
Michigan State Police will participate in a two-day operation that will focus on crash reduction as part of a statewide initiative. On November 3rd and 4th, a multi-state effort including state police from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, will look at improving traffic safety.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Democrats to fight hike in Mich. car registration fees (The Detroit News)
Top Democrats said Monday they oppose and will campaign against a proposed increase in vehicle registration fees, further complicating lawmakers' efforts to fix Michigan's road repair shortfall. House Democratic Leader Tim Greimel charged that a proposed 40 percent registration fee increase included in a roads plan passed in late October by the House Republican majority "puts the burden squarely on everyday families, but lets corporations off the hook."

Ex-Reps. Courser, Gamrat face voter judgment day (The Detroit News)
It's judgment day for former state Reps. Todd Courser and Cindy Gamrat as voters in Lapeer and Allegan county will decide Tuesday whether the scandal-plagued former lawmakers get a second chance to represent them in the Legislature. Voters in both counties will decide who should advance to the March 8 special general election to fill two seats in the Michigan House of Representatives left vacant by Courser's Sept. 11 resignation and Gamrat's expulsion.

Lawmakers want to ditch Daylight Saving Time (Michigan Radio)
Two state lawmakers have forged a bipartisan effort to take Michigan off Daylight Saving Time. If they get their way, Sunday would be the final time Michiganders have to re-set their clocks to accommodate the time change. State Representatives Jeff Irwin, D-Ann Arbor, and Peter Lucido, R-Shelby Township, say the twice-a-year time change is inconvenient, confusing, and can even be dangerous to people's health and safety.

Movement on Michigan roads deal this week? (WOOD)
The Michigan legislature may take another look at a plan to fix the state's shoddy roads on Tuesday. The options to fund road repair are growing fewer for the state Senate and House of Representatives. Some ideas have passed one chamber and then stalled in the other, and nothing seems to have changed enough to suggest another run at any of them is viable.

Banning drones from flying near Michigan prisons (Michigan Radio)
Drones have many uses. But Michigan lawmakers want to discourage one in particular: delivering contraband to state prison inmates. Across the country in recent months, people trying to smuggle all kinds of things into prisons have turned to drones. Last week, a drone carrying hacksaw blades, cigars and drugs got tangled up in a razor wire fence at an Oklahoma prison.

DETROIT

Idea to Hike Detroit Teacher Pay Could Cost $462 Million (Capitol Confidential)

A Detroit businessman's idea to attract talent to the city's public schools by paying teachers between $125,000 to $150,000 could cost close to half a billion dollars every year. If superimposed on the school district's current salaries and the state's pension system, it would add up to $462 million to the Detroit school district's $642 million annual operating budget, a 72 percent increase.

Detroit's other blight crisis: Commercial decay (Detroit Free Press)
They're easy to find and hard to ignore. In Detroit, many residents live and shop near hulking vacant buildings that have been abandoned for years, places that attract crime, vagrants, graffiti and scrappers. Many of these blighted buildings line well-traveled corridors throughout Detroit's neighborhoods. But exactly who owns them and why they remain in terrible condition for so long remains a mystery to many.

Pugh to skip sordid sex trial in Detroit (The Detroit News)
Former City Council President Charles Pugh is skipping a civil trial starting Tuesday that will consider whether he offered a Detroit Public Schools student cash for sex. The former politician and TV personality said his attendance at trial is irrelevant and that jurors can watch a videotaped deposition while considering a case filed by a former student, who is suing Pugh and DPS in federal court.

Emergency Mgr Darnell Earley defends Flint role, Detroit schools plan (WKAR)
Twice, Delta Township resident Darnell Earley has been appointed as an Emergency Manager in Michigan: once in Flint and currently in the Detroit Public Schools. Current State talks with Earley about the Flint water switch and why he thinks the legislature should pass the Governor's Detroit schools funding plan. As the former Emergency Manager of the city of Flint, our first guest has come under fire recently. Many are blaming Darnell Earley for not stopping the city's decision to switch its water source to the Flint river. The move led to dangerously high lead levels in drinking water.

Group calls for Mayor Mike Duggan investigation in response to demolition cost spike (MLive)
While Mayor Mike Duggan's administration says there're logical reasons for the increase in demolitions costs, others are calling it a "scandal" that needs a deeper look. Amid reporting from WJBK's Charlie LeDuff on the rise in demolition spending from around $10,000 to, in some cases, $20,000 per house under Duggan, the mayor said it's the high volume, fast pace and added demolition requirements, such as curb repairs and asbestos removal, that caused the cost to skyrocket.

OPINION

Tom Watkins: The UAW built the middle class (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Built in Detroit — now, headed to Hollywood. Great talent comes in all sizes, shapes, genders, sexual orientations, colors, and political persuasions. One man of strength, competence, and wisdom is Bob Morris. Perhaps not a household name, Bob was never elected to public office nor did he head a major department of state government. But Bob Morris and his family have contributed to this city, region and state in multiple ways.

The fight for teacher evaluation reform (Bridge)
The complicated process by which policy makes its way into law is often referred to as "insider baseball". It might be confusing and often boring, and it certainly won't get big headlines, but it shouldn't ever be overlooked. Effective insider baseball wins lots of ball games.

Dobbelstein: Clean Water Rule a big step forward (Lansing State Journal)
The Clean Water Act turned 43 last month, so now would be an excellent time for Michigan's own attorney general, Bill Schuette, to give the Great Lakes an anniversary present.

Pro-gay rights groups at odds over how to add LGBT protections to Michigan's constitution (Michigan Radio)
It's the upstarts versus the Establishment. Again. And, this time, we don't mean the Tea Party versus the Republicans. Rather, we're talking about the gay rights movement in Michigan. Last Friday, a new ballot committee, "Fair Michigan," filed with the state. The group wants to add the words "gender," "gender identity," and "sexual orientation" to the equal protection clause of the state constitution.

Election 2015: Vote today for huge school bonds, state House primary and city leaders (Mlive)
Voters in four Kent County school districts will decide whether to spend a combined $300 million on capital improvements today, and voters in three cities will consider contested mayoral races. Plus, there's a special Michigan House vote, a library tax and several positions of municipal leadership on area ballots this Election Day.

Susan J. Demas: We need LGBT rights now, not when GOP lawmakers get around to it (Mlive)
Gay marriage is the law of the land. But in Michigan — as in most states — you can still be fired for being gay. It was clear to me last year that this was going to be a problem. It's a huge legal inequity for the LGBT community. Equality activists have been playing "Waiting for Godot" with the Legislature for years on adding LGBTs to the state's Elliott-Larsen nondiscrimination law.

DeVore: Literacy program targets Detroit youth (The Detroit News)
Parents across the socio-economic spectrum want their children to receive a quality education because they understand that a good education can lead to a better life and a successful career. All children deserve a strong start. But in far too many communities, children in poverty miss out. Without access to high-quality early learning programs, they fall behind. Many never catch up.

Editorial: Lawmakers should stay all night to fix roads (The Detroit News)
Michigan lawmakers are scheduled to take up a long stalled road funding proposal when they convene today for the start of their three-day work week. They should not leave until they've passed a bill. This impasse has dragged on long enough. Michigan motorists are as fed up with the inability of lawmakers to work together to reach a practical solution as they are with the disastrous condition of the roads.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, November 04, 2015 10:36 AM
Subject: 11/4 Newsroom
Attachments: 151104 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, November 4, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Gov. Snyder says he will sign 'outstanding' plan that fixes Michigan's deteriorating roads (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder is applauding a road-funding plan passed by the Legislature that he calls comprehensive, fiscally responsible and "outstanding."

Gov. Rick Snyder Praises New Roads Plan Live On WWJ (WWJ)
A jubilant Rick Snyder spoke live on WWJ Newsradio Wednesday morning after the Michigan Legislature finally approved a plan to boost road spending late Tuesday and fix Michigan's long-lamented and crumbling roads.

Road funding bills pass Michigan House, Senate finally (Freep)
Michigan motorists would typically pay about $20 more for their vehicle registration fees and spend about $1.17 more for a 15-gallon fill-up under fee and tax increases passed by the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives Tuesday, as part of a $1.2-billion road-funding plan. Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to sign the bills into law.

Everything we know about the Michigan roads plan (Freep)
Michigan motorists would typically pay about $20 more for their vehicle registration fees and spend about $1.17 more for a 15-gallon fill-up under fee and tax increases passed Tuesday by the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives, as part of a $1.2-billion road-funding plan.

Snyder says he's ready to sign $1.2B road fund package (Detroit News)
Barring any issues that come up during a technical review, Gov. Rick Snyder said Wednesday he intends to sign the new $1.2 billion road funding package put forth by the Legislature.

Deal: $1.2B road funding plan heads to Michigan Gov. Snyder's desk after legislative approval (Mlive)
our years after Gov. Rick Snyder first called for a major funding bump to combat crumbling roads, Michigan's Republican-led Legislature has sent a long-term plan to his desk. The state House and Senate on Tuesday approved a seven-bill package designed to pump an additional $1.2 billion a year into crumbling infrastructure by 2021 through a combination of higher taxes and spending re-prioritization.

Gov. Rick Snyder says he will sign roads deal (WDIV)
Michigan lawmakers have approved a new plan to boost road spending that includes a 20 percent hike in vehicle registration fees and a 7.3-cent gasoline tax increase. The Republican-controlled chamber voted 20-18 Tuesday for key pieces of the legislation. The House narrowly approved the gas tax and vehicle registration hikes from the Senate plan late Tuesday evening.

Governor Snyder says he's ready to sign road plan with gas, fee hikes (WLNS)
During a news conference Tuesday night, Governor Rick Snyder said he's ready to sign the road funding plan. Governor Snyder said, it takes some time to go through the bills, but "I'm ready."

Michigan House passes package of road funding bills; Will head to Gov. Snyder next (WXYZ)
The Michigan Legislature has narrowly approved a plan to boost road spending, which includes a 20 percent hike in vehicle registration fees and a 7.3-cent gasoline tax increase.

$1.2B road funding plan heads to Gov. Snyder for approval (Fox 17)
Nearly 1,500 days ago, Gov. Rick Snyder called on state lawmakers to come up with a plan to invest in roads. Tuesday, lawmakers in both the House and Senate finally agreed on a plan to raise the necessary $1.2 billion needed to fund road fixes, sending it to Snyder for final approval.

UPDATE: Snyder makes statement about road funding bills (ABC 10)
Governor Rick Snyder has released a statement in support of the road funding plan passed by the Michigan Legislature Tuesday night.

Governor Snyder Set To Sign Road Funding Plan (WILX)
After years of debate at the state capitol, a road funding plan is finally headed to Governor Snyder's desk.

Roads plan sent to Governor Snyder for signature (Michigan Radio)
After years of gridlock, state lawmakers have sent Governor Rick Snyder legislation to boost road funding. The legislation would increase the state's gas tax by seven cents a gallon and boost vehicle registration fees by twenty percent starting in 2017. It raises taxes by 600 million dollars starting in 2017. It also eventually shifts 600 million dollars from other areas of the state budget.

Interview: Gov. Snyder talks roads with Paul W. Smith (WJR)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder talks to Paul W. Smith about the plan to fix Michigan roads without jeopardizing other priorities. Governor Snyder says road work will get underway immediately because there is already money set aside to start the repairs.

Bill signings
Gov. Rick Snyder signs law to get the word out when a suspect kills or injures an officer (AP)
Michigan State Police will be required to notify the public about a search for suspects who have injured or killed a police officer. Gov. Rick Snyder signed a law Tuesday that calls for a "blue alert" to be issued to radio and TV stations if a dangerous suspect is on the run.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs law to help dozens of state police retirees getting less than $16,000 (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has a signed a law to ensure that certain Michigan State Police retirees get at least $16,000 a year. The bill affects about 100 people, or their beneficiaries, who retired from the state police before October 1986 and collect less than $16,000.

Snyder Signs Bill Raising Pensions for Some State Troopers (WILX)
Gov. Rick Snyder has a signed a law to ensure that certain Michigan State Police retirees get at least $16,000 a year. The bill affects about 100 people, or their beneficiaries, who retired from the state police before October 1986 and collect less than $16,000.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill creating state Blue Alert (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed legislation to create a program to track at-large suspects who have injured or killed a police officer. Senate Bill 336 creates the Michigan Blue Alert Act, requiring the Michigan State Police to establish and maintain a notification system to rapidly disseminate information about the name, physical description and vehicle type of a suspect believed to have harmed or killed a law enforcement officer and who is a threat to public safety.

Gov. Snyder signs Blue Alert bill (UP Matters)
A federal program designed to track at large suspects who have injured or killed a police officer will be created in Michigan, under bipartisan legislation signed today by Gov. Rick Snyder.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

Mich. plan to cut algae relies on past measures (The Detroit News)

Michigan has rolled out its plan for cutting the amount of phosphorus that reaches Lake Erie and helps generate harmful algal blooms. That plan will require little new action for the state to meet its goals. "We've made a tremendous reduction in phosphorus with DWSD," said Bill Creal, chief of the water resources division at Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality. "That is the biggest point source of phosphorus contamination for Lake Erie."

U.S. EPA will conduct 'full review' of Flint water crisis (Mlive)

Flint's water crisis is getting a review by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the results are expected to be known by the end of this week. Kildee also requested that the agency answer questions, including whether the EPA was aware that the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality was enforcing the wrong guidelines for water quality in Flint and whether the EPA notified MDEQ that the city should have treated water from the Flint River to make it less corrosive.

DNR

Shotgun blank blasts considered to scare Canada geese from Saginaw pond (Mlive)

Saginaw officials are working with police to push a group of Canada geese landing on what must look like an inviting body of water on their way south for the winter. Saginaw Water Treatment Plant officials are considering working with the Saginaw Police Department to employ shotguns loaded with blanks to scare away the Canada geese that have congregated on the pond outside the plant at 522 Ezra Rust. There was no time set, and some other options were still under review as of Nov. 3 as officials work with the Department of Natural Resources to decide what to do, Mason said.

MDOT

Hands-on learning promotes careers in civil engineering (Hillsdale Daily News)

A group of 10 science teachers from five of the county schools spent the day Monday outside of the classroom learning lessons in civil engineering and transportation. The program, held at the Hillsdale Intermediate School District administrative offices, was part of the Michigan Department of Transportation's Civil Engineering (TRAC) Program. The program, started in 2004, gives teachers hand-on tools that are designed to enhance math, science and civics curriculum.

MSHDA

Report: Water Street site too contaminated to build $12M affordable housing (Mlive)

A new investigation by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority found that high levels of contamination, including PCBs and metals like lead and arsenic, appear to remain on Ypsilanti's Water Street property.

MSP

Michigan State Police to participate in a multi-state initiative aimed at reducing commercial vehicle accidents (MI News 26)

MSP motor carrier officers and troopers are participating in a two-day coordinated enforcement operation focusing on commercial vehicle crash reduction, along with law enforcement officers from the states of Ohio and Indiana on November 3rd through November 4th.

Michigan State Police working with out-of-state officers to protect drivers (Up North Live)

Michigan State Police are teaming up with law enforcement from out of state this week to protect drivers. State Police are working with officers from Indiana and Ohio for a commercial vehicle enforcement operation that will include the I-75 corridor in Michigan and Ohio, along with the I-70 corridor in Ohio and Indiana.

'Blue alert' will notify Michigan residents about attacks on police (AP)

Michigan State Police will be required to notify the public about a search for suspects who have injured or killed a police officer.

State police retirees from decades ago to get financial help (AP)

Gov. Rick Snyder has a signed a law to ensure that certain Michigan State Police retirees get at least $16,000 a year. The bill affects about 100 people, or their beneficiaries, who retired from the state police before October 1986 and collect less than $16,000.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Former Reps. Courser, Gamrat defeated in comeback tries (Detroit Free Press)

Two former Republican state representatives who lost their seats in September amid a sex and cover-up scandal were soundly defeated Tuesday in their special primary bids to regain their seats.

Michigan joins other Great Lakes states in considering microbead products ban (MLive)
Michigan lawmakers are taking another stab at banning the sale of products that contain tiny plastic particles which environmental groups and university researchers say are polluting the Great Lakes.

DETROIT

Detroit teachers protest school district reorganization plan (Michigan Radio)
Several hundred demonstrators chanted "enough is enough" at a state Capitol rally opposing Governor Rick Snyder's proposed reorganization of the Detroit Public Schools.

Ex-DPS official 'steered' $40M deal, feds say (The Detroit News)
A former Detroit Public Schools administrator worked to "fraudulently steer" a $40 million contract from the district to a textbook publisher where she once worked, an FBI agent alleged in a federal court filing.

Detroit casino workers support strike option (The Detroit News)
More than 1,300 union employees from Detroit's three casinos voted Monday night to go on strike if their wage, health care and benefit demands aren't met.

New Detroit arena will have $95 million in 'fan enhancements' (WDIV)
Gondola seating, a video wall and on-site practice ice are part of $95 million in "fan enhancements" for the new Detroit arena that were announced Wednesday by Olympia Entertainment.

OPINION

Fixing our roads, at the expense of everything else (Detroit Free Press)
Irresponsible, reckless, shortsighted, ill-advised, wrongheaded ... we're running out of adjectives to describe Lansing's latest plan to fix our terrible roads.

Lawmakers fail LGBT in Mich., who deserve civil rights (Detroit Free Press)
It's a conundrum: Same-sex couples can now get married in Michigan, but only at the risk that prospective employers or landlords will punish them for exercising that hard-won right — or even for acknowledging an attraction to others of the same sex.

Michigan road funding bill: How we got to a bad deal (Detroit Free Press)
"When we elect politicians who hate the government we end up with a government that we hate."

Michigan continues its dark money streak (Detroit Free Press)
Well, Michigan, we did it again. A new report from the Brennan Center, Justice at Stake and the National Institute for Money in State Politics reveals that the 2014 Michigan Supreme Court election campaign was the most expensive and least transparent in the nation. This is the third election cycle in a row that we've had that distinction and that's a hat-trick that shouldn't be a point of pride.

Ken Braun: Michigan needs a taxpayer bill of rights (MLive)
Michigan should have Colorado's problems.

Old Michigan Senate rivals do a little R&D on campaign 2018 (MLive)
Here's a new twist on the old "he said, she said" story. It will leave you scratching your collective heads.

Our Editorial: Cybersecurity bill threatens privacy (Detroit News)
The U.S. Senate voted last week to further enable the government's efforts to collect the personal data of its citizens.

Editor's note: New business openings surge in Detroit (Detroit News)
For most of my years in Detroit, every day the city became something less. Another restaurant closed, another business shuttered.

Berman: UAW is neglecting workers (Detroit News)

The United Auto Workers (UAW) has been negotiating new labor contracts with the Detroit Big Three since July. In that time, much has been made of what's on the table: a $17 starting hourly wage for entry-level workers, $3,000 signing bonuses, and a revamped benefits structure.

Michigan brings transparency to civil forfeiture (Detroit News)
Here's a $270 million question: When will Michigan stop seizing private property from individuals who have done nothing wrong? With Gov. Rick Snyder's signature on a package of bills, the answer may be "soon."

How to begin to stop the decline of Detroit's schools (Detroit Free Press)
The bleak news announced last week about student performance in Detroit Public Schools has become an all-too-familiar and numbing element of the season, and something that Detroiters dread.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, November 4, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Gov. Snyder says he will sign 'outstanding' plan that fixes Michigan's deteriorating roads (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder is applauding a road-funding plan passed by the Legislature that he calls comprehensive, fiscally responsible and "outstanding."

Gov. Rick Snyder Praises New Roads Plan Live On WWJ (WWJ)
A jubilant Rick Snyder spoke live on WWJ Newsradio Wednesday morning after the Michigan Legislature finally approved a plan to boost road spending late Tuesday and fix Michigan's long-lamented and crumbling roads.

Road funding bills pass Michigan House, Senate finally (Freep)
Michigan motorists would typically pay about $20 more for their vehicle registration fees and spend about $1.17 more for a 15-gallon fill-up under fee and tax increases passed by the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives Tuesday, as part of a $1.2-billion road-funding plan. Gov. Rick Snyder is expected to sign the bills into law.

Everything we know about the Michigan roads plan (Freep)
Michigan motorists would typically pay about $20 more for their vehicle registration fees and spend about $1.17 more for a 15-gallon fill-up under fee and tax increases passed Tuesday by the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives, as part of a $1.2-billion road-funding plan.

Snyder says he's ready to sign $1.2B road fund package (Detroit News)
Barring any issues that come up during a technical review, Gov. Rick Snyder said Wednesday he intends to sign the new $1.2 billion road funding package put forth by the Legislature.

Deal: $1.2B road funding plan heads to Michigan Gov. Snyder's desk after legislative approval (Mlive)
our years after Gov. Rick Snyder first called for a major funding bump to combat crumbling roads, Michigan's Republican-led Legislature has sent a long-term plan to his desk. The state House and Senate on Tuesday approved a seven-bill package designed to pump an additional $1.2 billion a year into crumbling infrastructure by 2021 through a combination of higher taxes and spending re-prioritization.

Gov. Rick Snyder says he will sign roads deal (WDIV)
Michigan lawmakers have approved a new plan to boost road spending that includes a 20 percent hike in vehicle registration fees and a 7.3-cent gasoline tax increase. The Republican-controlled chamber voted 20-18 Tuesday for key pieces of the legislation. The House narrowly approved the gas tax and vehicle registration hikes from the Senate plan late Tuesday evening.

Governor Snyder says he's ready to sign road plan with gas, fee hikes (WLNS)
During a news conference Tuesday night, Governor Rick Snyder said he's ready to sign the road funding plan. Governor Snyder said, it takes some time to go through the bills, but "I'm ready."

Michigan House passes package of road funding bills; Will head to Gov. Snyder next (WXYZ)
The Michigan Legislature has narrowly approved a plan to boost road spending, which includes a 20 percent hike in vehicle registration fees and a 7.3-cent gasoline tax increase.

$1.2B road funding plan heads to Gov. Snyder for approval (Fox 17)
Nearly 1,500 days ago, Gov. Rick Snyder called on state lawmakers to come up with a plan to invest in roads. Tuesday, lawmakers in both the House and Senate finally agreed on a plan to raise the necessary $1.2 billion needed to fund road fixes, sending it to Snyder for final approval.

UPDATE: Snyder makes statement about road funding bills (ABC 10)
Governor Rick Snyder has released a statement in support of the road funding plan passed by the Michigan Legislature Tuesday night.

Governor Snyder Set To Sign Road Funding Plan (WILX)
After years of debate at the state capitol, a road funding plan is finally headed to Governor Snyder's desk.

Roads plan sent to Governor Snyder for signature (Michigan Radio)
After years of gridlock, state lawmakers have sent Governor Rick Snyder legislation to boost road funding. The legislation would increase the state's gas tax by seven cents a gallon and boost vehicle registration fees by twenty percent starting in 2017. It raises taxes by 600 million dollars starting in 2017. It also eventually shifts 600 million dollars from other areas of the state budget.

Interview: Gov. Snyder talks roads with Paul W. Smith (WJR)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder talks to Paul W. Smith about the plan to fix Michigan roads without jeopardizing other priorities. Governor Snyder says road work will get underway immediately because there is already money set aside to start the repairs.

Bill signings
Gov. Rick Snyder signs law to get the word out when a suspect kills or injures an officer (AP)
Michigan State Police will be required to notify the public about a search for suspects who have injured or killed a police officer. Gov. Rick Snyder signed a law Tuesday that calls for a "blue alert" to be issued to radio and TV stations if a dangerous suspect is on the run.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs law to help dozens of state police retirees getting less than $16,000 (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has a signed a law to ensure that certain Michigan State Police retirees get at least $16,000 a year. The bill affects about 100 people, or their beneficiaries, who retired from the state police before October 1986 and collect less than $16,000.

Snyder Signs Bill Raising Pensions for Some State Troopers (WILX)
Gov. Rick Snyder has a signed a law to ensure that certain Michigan State Police retirees get at least $16,000 a year. The bill affects about 100 people, or their beneficiaries, who retired from the state police before October 1986 and collect less than $16,000.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill creating state Blue Alert (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed legislation to create a program to track at-large suspects who have injured or killed a police officer. Senate Bill 336 creates the Michigan Blue Alert Act, requiring the Michigan State Police to establish and maintain a notification system to rapidly disseminate information about the name, physical description and vehicle type of a suspect believed to have harmed or killed a law enforcement officer and who is a threat to public safety.

Gov. Snyder signs Blue Alert bill (UP Matters)
A federal program designed to track at large suspects who have injured or killed a police officer will be created in Michigan, under bipartisan legislation signed today by Gov. Rick Snyder.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Mich. plan to cut algae relies on past measures (The Detroit News)
Michigan has rolled out its plan for cutting the amount of phosphorus that reaches Lake Erie and helps generate harmful algal blooms. That plan will require little new action for the state to meet its goals. "We've made a tremendous reduction in phosphorus with DWSD," said Bill Creal, chief of the water resources division at Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality. "That is the biggest point source of phosphorus contamination for Lake Erie."

U.S. EPA will conduct 'full review' of Flint water crisis (Mlive)
Flint's water crisis is getting a review by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the results are expected to be known by the end of this week. Kildee also requested that the agency answer questions, including whether the EPA was aware that the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality was enforcing the wrong guidelines for water quality in Flint and whether the EPA notified MDEQ that the city should have treated water from the Flint River to make it less corrosive.

DNR
Shotgun blank blasts considered to scare Canada geese from Saginaw pond (Mlive)
Saginaw officials are working with police to push a group of Canada geese landing on what must look like an inviting body of water on their way south for the winter. Saginaw Water Treatment Plant officials are considering working with the Saginaw Police Department to employ shotguns loaded with blanks to scare away the Canada geese that have congregated on the pond outside the plant at 522 Ezra Rust. There was no time set, and some other options were still under review as of Nov. 3 as officials work with the Department of Natural Resources to decide what to do, Mason said.

MDOT
Hands-on learning promotes careers in civil engineering (Hillsdale Daily News)
A group of 10 science teachers from five of the county schools spent the day Monday outside of the classroom learning lessons in civil engineering and transportation. The program, held at the Hillsdale Intermediate School District administrative offices, was part of the Michigan Department of Transportation's Civil Engineering (TRAC) Program. The program, started in 2004, gives teachers hand-on tools that are designed to enhance math, science and civics curriculum.

MSHDA
Report: Water Street site too contaminated to build $12M affordable housing (Mlive)
A new investigation by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority found that high levels of contamination, including PCBs and metals like lead and arsenic, appear to remain on Ypsilanti's Water Street property.

MSP

Michigan State Police to participate in a multi-state initiative aimed at reducing commercial vehicle accidents (MI News 26)
MSP motor carrier officers and troopers are participating in a two-day coordinated enforcement operation focusing on commercial vehicle crash reduction, along with law enforcement officers from the states of Ohio and Indiana on November 3rd through November 4th.

Michigan State Police working with out-of-state officers to protect drivers (Up North Live)
Michigan State Police are teaming up with law enforcement from out of state this week to protect drivers. State Police are working with officers from Indiana and Ohio for a commercial vehicle enforcement operation that will include the I-75 corridor in Michigan and Ohio, along with the I-70 corridor in Ohio and Indiana.

'Blue alert' will notify Michigan residents about attacks on police (AP)
Michigan State Police will be required to notify the public about a search for suspects who have injured or killed a police officer.

State police retirees from decades ago to get financial help (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has a signed a law to ensure that certain Michigan State Police retirees get at least $16,000 a year. The bill affects about 100 people, or their beneficiaries, who retired from the state police before October 1986 and collect less than $16,000.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Former Reps. Courser, Gamrat defeated in comeback tries (Detroit Free Press)
Two former Republican state representatives who lost their seats in September amid a sex and cover-up scandal were soundly defeated Tuesday in their special primary bids to regain their seats.

Michigan joins other Great Lakes states in considering microbead products ban (MLive)
Michigan lawmakers are taking another stab at banning the sale of products that contain tiny plastic particles which environmental groups and university researchers say are polluting the Great Lakes.

DETROIT

Detroit teachers protest school district reorganization plan (Michigan Radio)
Several hundred demonstrators chanted “enough is enough” at a state Capitol rally opposing Governor Rick Snyder’s proposed reorganization of the Detroit Public Schools.

Ex-DPS official ‘steered’ $40M deal, feds say (The Detroit News)
A former Detroit Public Schools administrator worked to “fraudulently steer” a $40 million contract from the district to a textbook publisher where she once worked, an FBI agent alleged in a federal court filing.

Detroit casino workers support strike option (The Detroit News)
More than 1,300 union employees from Detroit’s three casinos voted Monday night to go on strike if their wage, health care and benefit demands aren’t met.

New Detroit arena will have $95 million in 'fan enhancements' (WDIV)
Gondola seating, a video wall and on-site practice ice are part of $95 million in "fan enhancements" for the new Detroit arena that were announced Wednesday by Olympia Entertainment.

OPINION

Fixing our roads, at the expense of everything else (Detroit Free Press)

Irresponsible, reckless, shortsighted, ill-advised, wrongheaded ... we're running out of adjectives to describe Lansing's latest plan to fix our terrible roads.

Lawmakers fail LGBT in Mich., who deserve civil rights (Detroit Free Press)
It's a conundrum: Same-sex couples can now get married in Michigan, but only at the risk that prospective employers or landlords will punish them for exercising that hard-won right — or even for acknowledging an attraction to others of the same sex.

Michigan road funding bill: How we got to a bad deal (Detroit Free Press)
"When we elect politicians who hate the government we end up with a government that we hate."

Michigan continues its dark money streak (Detroit Free Press)
Well, Michigan, we did it again. A new report from the Brennan Center, Justice at Stake and the National Institute for Money in State Politics reveals that the 2014 Michigan Supreme Court election campaign was the most expensive and least transparent in the nation. This is the third election cycle in a row that we've had that distinction and that's a hat-trick that shouldn't be a point of pride.

Ken Braun: Michigan needs a taxpayer bill of rights (MLive)
Michigan should have Colorado's problems.

Old Michigan Senate rivals do a little R&D on campaign 2018 (MLive)
Here's a new twist on the old "he said, she said" story. It will leave you scratching your collective heads.

Our Editorial: Cybersecurity bill threatens privacy (Detroit News)
The U.S. Senate voted last week to further enable the government's efforts to collect the personal data of its citizens.

Editor's note: New business openings surge in Detroit (Detroit News)
For most of my years in Detroit, every day the city became something less. Another restaurant closed, another business shuttered.

Berman: UAW is neglecting workers (Detroit News)
The United Auto Workers (UAW) has been negotiating new labor contracts with the Detroit Big Three since July. In that time, much has been made of what's on the table: a $17 starting hourly wage for entry-level workers, $3,000 signing bonuses, and a revamped benefits structure.

Michigan brings transparency to civil forfeiture (Detroit News)
Here's a $270 million question: When will Michigan stop seizing private property from individuals who have done nothing wrong? With Gov. Rick Snyder's signature on a package of bills, the answer may be "soon."

How to begin to stop the decline of Detroit's schools (Detroit Free Press)
The bleak news announced last week about student performance in Detroit Public Schools has become an all-too-familiar and numbing element of the season, and something that Detroiters dread.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, November 05, 2015 9:21 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/5 Newsroom
Attachments: 151105 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, November 5, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Gov. Snyder Expected to Sign Road-Funding Plan (9&10 News)
Governor Snyder is expected to sign what he's calling an outstanding plan to fix Michigan's roads. In a late session Tuesday night, members of the House approved the road-funding plan the Senate passed earlier in the day.

Snyder: Roads deal was practical compromise (WOOD-TV)
It was years in the making and in the end not exactly what many legislators or taxpayers may have wanted, but the deal to fund Michigan's roads is the one that Lansing finally decided upon because it was the one that could pass.

What it may cost for better Michigan roads (AP)
Republicans call it a monumental plan that will finally patch deteriorating roads and make transportation funding a long-term budget priority after years of neglect. Democrats say the legislation Gov. Rick Snyder is eager to sign is a sham that puts at risk other government services and, despite raising taxes and fees, does not pump enough money into infrastructure for five years.

Snyder Praises Roads Deal (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder believes it will be a while before lawmakers have to address road funding in the state again. He tells the Michigan Radio Network a part of the funding plan approved by the House and Senate Tuesday calls for the gas tax to go up as inflation does.

Drivers shouldn't expect big road gains in a hurry (Detroit News)
Michigan's drivers are not expected to see a significant increase in road and bridge repairs during the next few years from the road aid package that is awaiting Gov. Rick Snyder's signature.

Roads deal: mission accomplished or can kicked? (Michigan Radio)
A late-night deal to fund road repair, construction and other transportation issues barely passed the Michigan House on Tuesday. After years of stalled debate, deals gone nowhere and a voter-rejected referendum, Governor Snyder is now reviewing a bill that partly solves the road funding question in Michigan.

Inside Michigan's new road funding deal: fuel taxes, registration fees, tax relief and more (Mlive)
It took four years to plan and over 12 hours to execute, but Michigan's Republican-led Legislature on Tuesday night sent a long-term road funding plan to Gov. Rick Snyder's desk. The long-sought deal will pump $1.2 billion a year into Michigan's crumbling infrastructure by 2021 through a combination of dedicated tax increases and re-prioritized spending.

Snyder cautious about borrowing against new road money (Freep)
In order to get to work more quickly on Michigan's crumbling roads, Gov. Rick Snyder said Wednesday the state will carefully examine whether to borrow against $600 million in new transportation revenue that is part of a $1.2-billion road-funding plan approved by the Legislature.

Roads plan sent to Governor Snyder for signature (Michigan Radio)
After years of gridlock, state lawmakers have sent Governor Rick Snyder legislation to boost road funding. The legislation would increase the state's gas tax by seven cents a gallon and boost vehicle registration fees by twenty percent starting in 2017. It raises taxes by 600 million dollars starting in 2017. It also eventually shifts 600 million dollars from other areas of the state budget.

Governor talks with Frank Beckmann about roads (WJR)

Flag honors
Gov. Snyder orders flags lowered for former Michigan Senate Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered U.S. and Michigan flags lowered in honor of former Senate Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan. Snyder's office said the flags will be lowered to half-staff on Thursday, the same day as VanderLaan's funeral at Millbrook Christian Reformed Church in Grand Rapids. He died Sunday at the age of 85.

New roles
Governor names new Press Secretary (UP Matters/TV 3)
Press Secretary Sara Wurfel, who played a pivotal role in key initiatives and telling the Michigan comeback story since the start of the administration, is leaving the Governor's Office at the end of the month, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder's press secretary to leave for Lansing-based PR firm Truscott Rossman (Crain's Detroit Business)
Sara Wurfel, Gov. Rick Snyder's press secretary since 2011, is leaving at the end of the month to work for Lansing-based public relations firm Truscott Rossman.

Snyder hits Carson's political inexperience/Staff shake-up for governor (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder, a one-time political novice, said Wednesday it would be a "quantum leap" for Dr. Ben Carson to go from pediatric brain surgery to presidential politics. Snyder his "huge leap" from corporate CEO and venture capitalist to chief executive of Michigan was eased by his background in tax accounting and his familiarity with state government after previously chairing the state's economic development board.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Campus Sexual Assault Prevention Grants
State grants help combat campus sexual assaults (Free Press)
A drink coaster that can tell if someone has spiked your drink is among nearly two dozen projects at Michigan's colleges and universities to get funding in an effort to fight sexual assault.

Michigan awards $500k in campus sexual assault prevention grants; See which colleges got funding (MLive)

Michigan is awarding $500,000 in grant money to help 22 universities, colleges and community colleges implement new strategies to fight campus sexual assault, First Lady Sue Snyder announced Wednesday.

22 Michigan schools given sex assault prevention grants (AP)
The state will fund sexual assault prevention programs at 22 Michigan universities and colleges as part of an effort spearheaded by first lady Sue Snyder.

MSU creating bystander network to combat sexual assault (MSU Today)
As part of an initiative led by First Lady Sue Snyder to find new strategies to fight campus sexual assault, Michigan State University is receiving $12,000 to create a bystander intervention network in the campus community, focusing on employees at East Lansing bars and restaurants and taxi cab drivers.

Grant to offer bars bystander training (The Michigan Daily)
Gov. Rick Snyder's administration awarded $500,000 on Thursday to fund sexual assault prevention initiatives at universities across the state. The University will receive $20,000 to fund "Raise the Bar," a new program to train staff at Ann Arbor bars to intervene in situations that may result in sexual assault.

Grants awarded to 22 Michigan colleges, universities for sexual assault prevention programs (WDIV)
The state will fund sexual assault prevention programs at 22 Michigan universities and colleges as part of an effort spearheaded by first lady Sue Snyder.

U.P. colleges receive grant money for sexual assault prevention (ABC 10)
Universities, colleges and community colleges across the state will begin implementing new campus sexual assault prevention strategies using funds from a new $500,000 grant program, First Lady Sue Snyder said.

Western Michigan University to receive $25,000 for sexual assault prevention (WKZO)
Western Michigan University will be sharing a $500,000 allocation to prevent sexual assaults among college students.

Michigan awards $500,000 to prevent campus sexual assaults (WILX)
Michigan State University and 21 other colleges and universities in Michigan are getting money to help prevent sexual assaults.

Grant opens up funds for schools to use in raising awareness about sexual assault (MI News 26)
In an effort to help reduce sexual assaults on university and college campuses in Michigan a new grant program is being created.

State awards sex assault prevention grants to universities, colleges (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
The state will fund sexual assault prevention programs at 22 Michigan universities and colleges as part of an effort spearheaded by first lady Sue Snyder.

New campus sexual assault awareness initiative underway in Michigan (WHTC)
A 500 thousand-dollar grant for new campus sexual assault prevention strategies will be shared by 22 colleges and universities across Michigan. The Campus Sexual Assault Grant Program, established by the state Legislature at the recommendation of Governor Snyder, aims to cut down on, and change the overall culture of, sexual assault among Michigan's college-age population.

22 Michigan schools get $500K to fight sexual assault (Rochester Patch)
Oakland University and the University of Michigan-Dearborn are among nearly two dozen Michigan colleges and universities receiving $500,000 in grants to fight sexual assaults under a program announced Wednesday by Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder, who has made the issue one of her top priorities.

Raise Your Voice at WMU

First Lady coming to West Michigan (WKZO)
The First Lady of Michigan has taken a lead role in the effort to curb sexual assaults on campus.

Snyder to visit WMU for address on campus sexual assaults (WKZO)
The First Lady of Michigan will be visiting Western Michigan University on Nov. 9 to give an address on campus sexual assaults.

Cancer Consortium
New plan seeks to decrease cancer deaths across Michigan (AP)
A new plan from Michigan health officials seeks to decrease the number of cancer deaths across the state.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Lake Erie algae plan targets Detroit River sewage discharges (MLive)
Michigan environmental officials plan to modify pollution permit limits for a Metro Detroit sewage plant as part of an effort to reduce harmful algal bloom-fueling phosphorus in the Western Lake Erie basin.

EPA will conduct review of Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will conduct a full review of the actions taken to address drinking water quality issues in Flint. It is expected to be completed by the end of this week, with results released next week. EPA regional administrator Susan Hedman said in a Nov. 3 letter to U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint, that she was asked by the head of the federal agency to carry out the review.

MDE
Michigan PTA President: 'Guns have no place in our schools' (MLive)
Michigan Parent Teacher Association President Ruthann Jaquette and Lansing Mayor Virg Bernero voice opposition to state Senate legislation that would allow permit holders to carry concealed guns in schools but ban openly carried weapons. They spoke at the Michigan Capitol during an event organized by Moms Demand Action and Everytown for Gun Safety, two gun control groups backed by former New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg.

MDOC
MDOC investigating attempted escape at Michigan Reformatory (WOOD)
An officer on routine patrol at the Michigan Reformatory found the two inmates around 11 p.m. in a small yard, located in the middle of the prison grounds — according to a Michigan Department of Corrections official.

MSP
GOP ready to 'move forward' after Courser, Gamrat crushed in Michigan primaries (MLive)
Michigan State Police and Attorney General Bill Schuette's office continue to investigate whether the former legislators broke any laws in attempting to cover up their affair.

Jurors watch dashcam video of police beating a motorist (Detroit Free Press)
Floyd Dent's arrest was captured on video, but attorneys in the case gave two very different versions of what happened during the January traffic stop in a Detroit courtroom today.

MSHDA
Detroit's demo disaster: A Land Bank Peyton's Place? (Fox 2)
For the past few weeks, Charlie LeDuff has dug deep. Real deep, into the scandal that just keeps going. Full of fuzzy contracts and finger pointing, the demolition numbers from Mayor Mike Duggan don't add up. In a bizarre turn, the Detroit Land Bank Authority has become a regular Peyton's Place of stalking and suicide threats.

DNR
Asian carp recommendations could take 4 more years (Detroit Free Press)

Nearly two years after the release of a landmark report on alternatives for keeping Asian carp out of the Great Lakes, federal officials told members of Congress on Wednesday it could be another four years before recommendations for stopping the invasive species at a key chokepoint outside Chicago are ready.

MVAA

Veterans coalition zeroes in on addressing challenges (Petoskey News-Review)
The recently-created Northern Michigan Veterans Coalition is off and running. A group of 75 area veterans, including state veterans officials, held a kickoff meeting at the Gaylord E-Free Church Tuesday to discuss the new, concerted effort to better serve the estimated 22,850 veterans living in Michigan's Region 3 Service Area. An estimated 650,000 veterans reside in Michigan, including 55,000 women.

Veteran Expo in Flint this weekend (Burtonview)
Every service a veteran could possibly need can be found Friday and Saturday at the Flint Veteran Expo. From 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m.-noon on Saturday at the Dort Federal Credit Union Event Center, anyone who served in the U.S. Armed Forces – reserves, recently discharged or served many years ago – will find assistance in breaking down barriers to employment, education, health care and quality of life. The Flint Veteran Expo brings together service providers, veteran community organizations, employers, colleges and universities, allows veterans to talk to them face-to-face.

Flint Veteran Expo (NBC 25)
Kristina Leonardi from Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency stopped by NBC 25 Today to talk about the Flint Veteran Expo.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Bill to expand Michigan promise zones (The Michigan Daily)
Michigan state legislators are pushing to expand a program that currently provides free undergraduate college tuition to certain students in 10 of the state's school districts. Senate Bill 0539, which passed the state Senate last week, would allow for the establishment of more "promise zones" in the state of Michigan. The zones are modeled after the Kalamazoo Promise, which guarantees scholarships at in-state public colleges to students in Kalamazoo who have been enrolled in the school district for a set number of years.

4 new things in the House bill to overhaul Michigan's energy policy, slated for a committee vote (Mlive)
The House Energy Policy Committee could vote to change the mainframe of Michigan's energy policy as soon as Wednesday, worrying advocates, as well as legislators, who say they haven't had time to read the latest version of the legislation.

How legislators voted on the two main road-funding bills (Freep)
See how legislators voted on two key bills that are part of the road-funding package that passed the state House and Senate on Tuesday and are now on Gov. Rick Snyder's desk.

DETROIT

Red Wings arena cost at $627M, could go higher (The Detroit News)
The cost of the new Red Wings arena being built now has gone up to $627 million, $177 million more than the original estimate, as the Wings' owner continues to add major upgrades to the state-of-the-art venue. Some of the upgrades to 20,000 seat arena include a large LED screen in the outdoor public space, a practice and amateur hockey ice, and additional video and sound capabilities, according to Olympia Entertainment, a unit of Wings owner' Ilitch Holdings Inc.

Detroit's Book Tower lights up night sky (Detroit News)
Visitors to downtown Detroit noticed a remarkable sight when gazing up at the skyline Wednesday night: the top of the historic Book Tower illuminated in light for the first time.

OPINION

Streams leading into Great Lakes need protection, too (Detroit Free Press)
The Great Lakes can only be clean if we safeguard the streams that feed it and the wetlands that help keep pollutants out of it. That's why EPA's new Clean Water Rule is so important: it finally restored protections of the Clean Water Act to 48% of Michigan's streams. These streams not only feed lakes like the Great Lakes but also help provide drinking water to 1.4 million Michiganders.

Editorial: Road deal not great but good enough (Detroit News)
The road bill passed by the Legislature this week is the least possible deal they could have crafted, but at least, after four years of struggle, they finally found a majority.

Finley: Why Michigan can't fix its schools (Detroit News)
Michigan is a bottom 10 state in education performance, according to one key recent measure.

Roads deal: mission accomplished or can kicked? (Michigan Radio)
A late-night deal to fund road repair, construction and other transportation issues barely passed the Michigan House on Tuesday. After years of stalled debate, deals gone nowhere and a voter-rejected referendum, Governor Snyder is now reviewing a bill that partly solves the road funding question in Michigan.

Supporting education for all (Livingston Daily)
Have you been to the polls yet? If not, you'd best hustle. Today is Election Day.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, November 5, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Gov. Snyder Expected to Sign Road-Funding Plan (9&10 News)
Governor Snyder is expected to sign what he's calling an outstanding plan to fix Michigan's roads. In a late session Tuesday night, members of the House approved the road-funding plan the Senate passed earlier in the day.

Snyder: Roads deal was practical compromise (WOOD-TV)
It was years in the making and in the end not exactly what many legislators or taxpayers may have wanted, but the deal to fund Michigan's roads is the one that Lansing finally decided upon because it was the one that could pass.

What it may cost for better Michigan roads (AP)
Republicans call it a monumental plan that will finally patch deteriorating roads and make transportation funding a long-term budget priority after years of neglect. Democrats say the legislation Gov. Rick Snyder is eager to sign is a sham that puts at risk other government services and, despite raising taxes and fees, does not pump enough money into infrastructure for five years.

Snyder Praises Roads Deal (WSJM)
Governor Rick Snyder believes it will be a while before lawmakers have to address road funding in the state again. He tells the Michigan Radio Network a part of the funding plan approved by the House and Senate Tuesday calls for the gas tax to go up as inflation does.

Drivers shouldn't expect big road gains in a hurry (Detroit News)
Michigan's drivers are not expected to see a significant increase in road and bridge repairs during the next few years from the road aid package that is awaiting Gov. Rick Snyder's signature.

Roads deal: mission accomplished or can kicked? (Michigan Radio)
A late-night deal to fund road repair, construction and other transportation issues barely passed the Michigan House on Tuesday. After years of stalled debate, deals gone nowhere and a voter-rejected referendum, Governor Snyder is now reviewing a bill that partly solves the road funding question in Michigan.

Inside Michigan's new road funding deal: fuel taxes, registration fees, tax relief and more (Mlive)
It took four years to plan and over 12 hours to execute, but Michigan's Republican-led Legislature on Tuesday night sent a long-term road funding plan to Gov. Rick Snyder's desk. The long-sought deal will pump $1.2 billion a year into Michigan's crumbling infrastructure by 2021 through a combination of dedicated tax increases and re-prioritized spending.

Snyder cautious about borrowing against new road money (Freep)
In order to get to work more quickly on Michigan's crumbling roads, Gov. Rick Snyder said Wednesday the state will carefully examine whether to borrow against $600 million in new transportation revenue that is part of a $1.2-billion road-funding plan approved by the Legislature.

Roads plan sent to Governor Snyder for signature (Michigan Radio)
After years of gridlock, state lawmakers have sent Governor Rick Snyder legislation to boost road funding. The legislation would increase the state's gas tax by seven cents a gallon and boost vehicle registration fees by twenty percent starting in 2017. It raises taxes by 600 million dollars starting in 2017. It also eventually shifts 600 million dollars from other areas of the state budget.

Governor talks with Frank Beckmann about roads (WJR)

Flag honors
Gov. Snyder orders flags lowered for former Michigan Senate Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has ordered U.S. and Michigan flags lowered in honor of former Senate Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan. Snyder's office said the flags will be lowered to half-staff on Thursday, the same day as VanderLaan's funeral at Millbrook Christian Reformed Church in Grand Rapids. He died Sunday at the age of 85.

New roles
Governor names new Press Secretary (UP Matters/TV 3)
Press Secretary Sara Wurfel, who played a pivotal role in key initiatives and telling the Michigan comeback story since the start of the administration, is leaving the Governor's Office at the end of the month, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder's press secretary to leave for Lansing-based PR firm Truscott Rossman (Crain's Detroit Business)
Sara Wurfel, Gov. Rick Snyder's press secretary since 2011, is leaving at the end of the month to work for Lansing-based public relations firm Truscott Rossman.

Snyder hits Carson's political inexperience/Staff shake-up for governor (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder, a one-time political novice, said Wednesday it would be a "quantum leap" for Dr. Ben Carson to go from pediatric brain surgery to presidential politics. Snyder his "huge leap" from corporate CEO and venture capitalist to chief executive of Michigan was eased by his background in tax accounting and his familiarity with state government after previously chairing the state's economic development board.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Campus Sexual Assault Prevention Grants
State grants help combat campus sexual assaults (Free Press)
A drink coaster that can tell if someone has spiked your drink is among nearly two dozen projects at Michigan's colleges and universities to get funding in an effort to fight sexual assault.

Michigan awards $500k in campus sexual assault prevention grants; See which colleges got funding (MLive)
Michigan is awarding $500,000 in grant money to help 22 universities, colleges and community colleges implement new strategies to fight campus sexual assault, First Lady Sue Snyder announced Wednesday.

22 Michigan schools given sex assault prevention grants (AP)
The state will fund sexual assault prevention programs at 22 Michigan universities and colleges as part of an effort spearheaded by first lady Sue Snyder.

MSU creating bystander network to combat sexual assault (MSU Today)
As part of an initiative led by First Lady Sue Snyder to find new strategies to fight campus sexual assault, Michigan State University is receiving $12,000 to create a bystander intervention network in the campus community, focusing on employees at East Lansing bars and restaurants and taxi cab drivers.

Grant to offer bars bystander training (The Michigan Daily)
Gov. Rick Snyder's administration awarded $500,000 on Thursday to fund sexual assault prevention initiatives at universities across the state. The University will receive $20,000 to fund "Raise the Bar," a new program to train staff at Ann Arbor bars to intervene in situations that may result in sexual assault.

Grants awarded to 22 Michigan colleges, universities for sexual assault prevention programs (WDIV)
The state will fund sexual assault prevention programs at 22 Michigan universities and colleges as part of an effort spearheaded by first lady Sue Snyder.

U.P. colleges receive grant money for sexual assault prevention (ABC 10)
Universities, colleges and community colleges across the state will begin implementing new campus sexual assault prevention strategies using funds from a new $500,000 grant program, First Lady Sue Snyder said.

Western Michigan University to receive $25,000 for sexual assault prevention (WKZO)
Western Michigan University will be sharing a $500,000 allocation to prevent sexual assaults among college students.

Michigan awards $500,000 to prevent campus sexual assaults (WILX)
Michigan State University and 21 other colleges and universities in Michigan are getting money to help prevent sexual assaults.

Grant opens up funds for schools to use in raising awareness about sexual assault (MI News 26)
In an effort to help reduce sexual assaults on university and college campuses in Michigan a new grant program is being created.

State awards sex assault prevention grants to universities, colleges (Sault Ste. Marie Evening News)
The state will fund sexual assault prevention programs at 22 Michigan universities and colleges as part of an effort spearheaded by first lady Sue Snyder.

New campus sexual assault awareness initiative underway in Michigan (WHTC)
A 500 thousand-dollar grant for new campus sexual assault prevention strategies will be shared by 22 colleges and universities across Michigan. The Campus Sexual Assault Grant Program, established by the state Legislature at the recommendation of Governor Snyder, aims to cut down on, and change the overall culture of, sexual assault among Michigan's college-age population.

22 Michigan schools get $500K to fight sexual assault (Rochester Patch)
Oakland University and the University of Michigan-Dearborn are among nearly two dozen Michigan colleges and universities receiving $500,000 in grants to fight sexual assaults under a program announced Wednesday by Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder, who has made the issue one of her top priorities.

Raise Your Voice at WMU

First Lady coming to West Michigan (WKZO)

The First Lady of Michigan has taken a lead role in the effort to curb sexual assaults on campus.

Snyder to visit WMU for address on campus sexual assaults (WKZO)

The First Lady of Michigan will be visiting Western Michigan University on Nov. 9 to give an address on campus sexual assaults.

Cancer Consortium

New plan seeks to decrease cancer deaths across Michigan (AP)

A new plan from Michigan health officials seeks to decrease the number of cancer deaths across the state.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

Lake Erie algae plan targets Detroit River sewage discharges (MLive)

Michigan environmental officials plan to modify pollution permit limits for a Metro Detroit sewage plant as part of an effort to reduce harmful algal bloom-fueling phosphorus in the Western Lake Erie basin.

EPA will conduct review of Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will conduct a full review of the actions taken to address drinking water quality issues in Flint. It is expected to be completed by the end of this week, with results released next week. EPA regional administrator Susan Hedman said in a Nov. 3 letter to U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint, that she was asked by the head of the federal agency to carry out the review.

MDE

Michigan PTA President: 'Guns have no place in our schools' (MLive)

Michigan Parent Teacher Association President Ruthann Jaquette and Lansing Mayor Virg Bernero voice opposition to state Senate legislation that would allow permit holders to carry concealed guns in schools but ban openly carried weapons. They spoke at the Michigan Capitol during an event organized by Moms Demand Action and Everytown for Gun Safety, two gun control groups backed by former New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg.

MDOC

MDOC investigating attempted escape at Michigan Reformatory (WOOD)

An officer on routine patrol at the Michigan Reformatory found the two inmates around 11 p.m. in a small yard, located in the middle of the prison grounds — according to a Michigan Department of Corrections official.

MSP

GOP ready to 'move forward' after Courser, Gamrat crushed in Michigan primaries (MLive)

Michigan State Police and Attorney General Bill Schuette's office continue to investigate whether the former legislators broke any laws in attempting to cover up their affair.

Jurors watch dashcam video of police beating a motorist (Detroit Free Press)

Floyd Dent's arrest was captured on video, but attorneys in the case gave two very different versions of what happened during the January traffic stop in a Detroit courtroom today.

MSHDA

Detroit's demo disaster: A Land Bank Peyton's Place? (Fox 2)

For the past few weeks, Charlie LeDuff has dug deep. Real deep, into the scandal that just keeps going. Full of fuzzy contracts and finger pointing, the demolition numbers from Mayor Mike Duggan don't add up. In a bizarre turn, the Detroit Land Bank Authority has become a regular Peyton's Place of stalking and suicide threats.

DNR

Asian carp recommendations could take 4 more years (Detroit Free Press)
Nearly two years after the release of a landmark report on alternatives for keeping Asian carp out of the Great Lakes, federal officials told members of Congress on Wednesday it could be another four years before recommendations for stopping the invasive species at a key chokepoint outside Chicago are ready.

MVAA

Veterans coalition zeroes in on addressing challenges (Petoskey News-Review)
The recently-created Northern Michigan Veterans Coalition is off and running. A group of 75 area veterans, including state veterans officials, held a kickoff meeting at the Gaylord E-Free Church Tuesday to discuss the new, concerted effort to better serve the estimated 22,850 veterans living in Michigan's Region 3 Service Area. An estimated 650,000 veterans reside in Michigan, including 55,000 women.

Veteran Expo in Flint this weekend (Burtonview)
Every service a veteran could possibly need can be found Friday and Saturday at the Flint Veteran Expo. From 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m.-noon on Saturday at the Dort Federal Credit Union Event Center, anyone who served in the U.S. Armed Forces – reserves, recently discharged or served many years ago – will find assistance in breaking down barriers to employment, education, health care and quality of life. The Flint Veteran Expo brings together service providers, veteran community organizations, employers, colleges and universities, allows veterans to talk to them face-to-face.

Flint Veteran Expo (NBC 25)
Kristina Leonardi from Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency stopped by NBC 25 Today to talk about the Flint Veteran Expo.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Bill to expand Michigan promise zones (The Michigan Daily)
Michigan state legislators are pushing to expand a program that currently provides free undergraduate college tuition to certain students in 10 of the state's school districts. Senate Bill 0539, which passed the state Senate last week, would allow for the establishment of more "promise zones" in the state of Michigan. The zones are modeled after the Kalamazoo Promise, which guarantees scholarships at in-state public colleges to students in Kalamazoo who have been enrolled in the school district for a set number of years.

4 new things in the House bill to overhaul Michigan's energy policy, slated for a committee vote (Mlive)
The House Energy Policy Committee could vote to change the mainframe of Michigan's energy policy as soon as Wednesday, worrying advocates, as well as legislators, who say they haven't had time to read the latest version of the legislation.

How legislators voted on the two main road-funding bills (Freep)
See how legislators voted on two key bills that are part of the road-funding package that passed the state House and Senate on Tuesday and are now on Gov. Rick Snyder's desk.

DETROIT

Red Wings arena cost at $627M, could go higher (The Detroit News)
The cost of the new Red Wings arena being built now has gone up to $627 million, $177 million more than the original estimate, as the Wings' owner continues to add major upgrades to the state-of-the-art venue. Some of the upgrades to 20,000 seat arena include a large LED screen in the outdoor public space, a practice and amateur hockey ice, and additional video and sound capabilities, according to Olympia Entertainment, a unit of Wings owner' Ilitch Holdings Inc.

Detroit's Book Tower lights up night sky (Detroit News)
Visitors to downtown Detroit noticed a remarkable sight when gazing up at the skyline Wednesday night: the top of the historic Book Tower illuminated in light for the first time.

OPINION

Streams leading into Great Lakes need protection, too (Detroit Free Press)
The Great Lakes can only be clean if we safeguard the streams that feed it and the wetlands that help keep pollutants out of it. That's why EPA's new Clean Water Rule is so important: it finally restored protections of the Clean Water Act to 48% of Michigan's streams. These streams not only feed lakes like the Great Lakes but also help provide drinking water to 1.4 million Michiganders.

Editorial: Road deal not great but good enough (Detroit News)
The road bill passed by the Legislature this week is the least possible deal they could have crafted, but at least, after four years of struggle, they finally found a majority.

Finley: Why Michigan can't fix its schools (Detroit News)
Michigan is a bottom 10 state in education performance, according to one key recent measure.

Roads deal: mission accomplished or can kicked? (Michigan Radio)
A late-night deal to fund road repair, construction and other transportation issues barely passed the Michigan House on Tuesday. After years of stalled debate, deals gone nowhere and a voter-rejected referendum, Governor Snyder is now reviewing a bill that partly solves the road funding question in Michigan.

Supporting education for all (Livingston Daily)
Have you been to the polls yet? If not, you'd best hustle. Today is Election Day.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, November 06, 2015 9:57 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/6 Newsroom
Attachments: 151106 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, November 6, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)
GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads
Michigan governor eyes bonds for $1.2 billion road plan (Reuters)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder is considering the use of bonds to speed up road and bridge projects under a $1.2 billion funding plan passed by state lawmakers on Tuesday, a spokeswoman for the governor said on Thursday.

Skubick: State could sell bonds for road money (WLNS)
Governor Snyder says he may sell bonds to raise money to fix the roads next year. That would come while he waits for the newly enacted "road package" to deliver new revenue after 2017.

Bill signing
Snyder signs Michigan teacher evaluation overhaul into law (Mlive)
Michigan school districts will have new rules for evaluating teacher performance under a new law signed Thursday by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law modifies teacher evaluation requirements that had been scheduled to take effect this school year, de-emphasizing student test scores and allowing districts more flexibility to choose their own evaluation tools.

Snyder signs law with new teacher evaluation standards (AP)
A new state framework for evaluating Michigan's teachers and schools administrators has been signed into law by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Gov. Snyder signs law outlining new evaluation framework for teachers, administrators (WDIV)
A new state framework for evaluating Michigan's teachers and schools administrators has been signed into law by Gov. Rick Snyder. School districts and charter schools will have to base at least 25 percent of a teacher's evaluation on assessment and student growth data. The component will rise to 40 percent in the 2018-19 academic year.

Governor Snyder Signs Education Evaluation Bill into Law (WHTC)
An evaluation program for state K-12 teachers is now law in Michigan. Governor Snyder signed the measure that requires districts to set in place performance measuring systems for all educators and administrators that take into account student growth and assessment data.

Snyder signs law with new teacher evaluation standards (WWMT)
A new state framework for evaluating Michigan's teachers and schools administrators has been signed into law by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Snyder signs new teacher evaluation standards into law (Michigan Radio)
Schools districts across Michigan will have to adhere to new standards for evaluating teachers and administrators. Gov. Rick Snyder signed a bill on Thursday meant to improve teacher evaluation practices across the state.

New roles
Wurfel leaving Snyder's office (LSJ)
Sara Wurfel, who has been Gov. Rick Snyder's press secretary since the beginning of his first term, is leaving the administration to join the Lansing public relations firm Truscott Rossman. Wurfel will leave the administration Nov. 30 to serve as vice president for public affairs at Truscott Rossman.

Event preview
Gov. Snyder taking note of Hamtramck's growing Bangladeshi immigrant population (Mlive)
At 8:30 a.m. Friday, Snyder will celebrate the opening of the Bangladeshi American Public Affairs Committee office on Conant in Hamtramck, "the commercial main street of the vibrant Banglatown neighborhood."

Snyder to speak, flip pancakes at annual parade breakfast Friday in Detroit (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder will offer remarks and serve as a pancake flipper at the Parade Company's 16th annual pancake breakfast Friday morning, which raises awareness and support for America's Thanksgiving Day Parade held annually in Detroit.

Muslim-majority city council may be 1st in USA (Freep)
On Friday, Gov. Rick Snyder is to attend the opening of Bangla Town, an area that will celebrate Bangladeshi-American culture in Hamtramck and bordering Detroit neighborhoods.

Bangladeshi community organization office to open (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder will join local officials in celebrating the opening of a Bangladeshi community organization office in the Detroit area. A ribbon-cutting is scheduled Friday for the Bangladeshi American Public Affairs Committee office in Hamtramck.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

MSU receives $12,000 for Sure Snyders' initiative to combat sexual assault (State News)
MSU is receiving $12,000 to organize a bystander intervention network in the community as part of an initiative by Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder to better combat sexual assault on campus, according to MSU Today.

MSU creating bystander network to combat sexual assault (FOX 47)
As part of an initiative led by First Lady Sue Snyder to find new strategies to fight campus sexual assault, Michigan State University is receiving $12,000 to create a bystander intervention network in the campus community, focusing on employees at East Lansing bars and restaurants and taxi cab drivers.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DIFS
Popular Medigap plans could see price hike (Detroit Free Press)
A five-year rate freeze on two popular, heavily subsidized Medicare plans known as Legacy Medigap that expires next year is raising fears among the plans' more than 205,000 customers that they could face price hikes mid-year.

DNR

Trail connecting Van Buren State Park with South Haven opens (AP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says the 10-foot-wide trail offers a link to the South Haven Trail system. The southwestern Michigan city maintains a marked route that connects to a downtown trailhead, businesses, beaches and Kal-Haven Trail State Park.

Ann Arbor officials approve winter deer cull (AP)
Ann Arbor officials have decided to allow sharpshooters to cull deer on public land this winter. WXYZ-TV reports that the Ann Arbor City Council on Thursday night voted 8-1 in favor of hiring sharpshooters to lure and kill 100 deer at night in city-owned parks and natural areas.

MEDC
$5.2 million redevelopment of over 100-year-old buildings continues in Milan (MLive)
The East Main project, a $5.2 million project to redevelop four buildings and eight storefronts, has moved along with very few setbacks, according to developer Dave Snyder.

MDE
Michigan tribe awarded $300,000 federal education grant (AP)
A Michigan-based American Indian tribe is among eight that will receive federal grants to boost their educational programs and develop initiatives for achieving self-determination.

Lansing School District denies liability in abuse case (Lansing State Journal)
Lansing School District officials are denying any liability in an incident that prompted a federal civil lawsuit against district officials and a former teacher over alleged abuse of a student with special needs.

Kalamazoo state-of-schools talk focuses on new efforts to improve (MLive)
Expanding mentorships. Better teaching of problem-solving skills. Improving cultural expectations. Making education relevant, especially for low-income children.

MDEQ
Oil company seeks permit for drilling at Detroit-area church (AP)
An oil and gas exploration company is seeking permit to drill an exploratory well on the grounds of a suburban Detroit church. Jordan Development of Traverse City has applied for a permit with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to put in an oil well at the Word of Faith International Christian Center in Southfield.

Feds warn of new threat in Flint water that may pose "immediate and acute health hazards" (Michigan Radio)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says people living in Flint should be warned of the potential for "high lead release" into their tap water if road work or other physical disturbances to lead and even non-lead service lines occur.

Flint water problems may not be over: DEQ under review (The Detroit News)
The EPA's warning on Flint water comes as the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality faces increased scrutiny over how the agency handled Flint's switch to Flint River water in early 2014.

Expert says Michigan officials changed a Flint lead report to avoid federal action (Michigan Radio)
For more than a year, state officials assured city residents their water was safe. Those assurances turned out to be wrong. And it wasn't until some residents got outside experts involved -- who not only found elevated lead levels in the drinking water, but that blood lead levels were also rising in Flint kids – that the state admitted there was a problem.

Michigan DEQ Plans to Lower Phosphorus Levels in Lake Erie (WDET)
Officials with Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality have devised a plan to reduce harmful chemicals in Lake Erie. The state, in collaboration with agencies in Ohio, Indiana, and Ontario, have drawn up a strategy to lower the lake's phosphorus levels by 40 percent before 2025.

MDOT

Michigan Department of Transportation to hold public webinar on transportation plan (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Transportation will host a webinar from 6 to 8 p.m. Nov. 12 to discuss the information, forecasts and strategies contained in the current 2005-35 plan and revisions to extend the planning horizon to 2040.

MSHDA

Ypsilanti officials respond to 'overreaching and absurd' Water Street contamination report (MLive)
Ypsilanti officials are upset over a Michigan State Housing Development Authority report that says high levels of contamination, including PCBs and metals like lead and arsenic, appear to remain on Ypsilanti's Water Street property. The report says the contamination presents a threat to future residents of the proposed Riverwalk Commons affordable housing project.

$22M affordable housing project opens downtown (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
The project began in the spring of 2014. Nearby, the two companies helped transform the Baker Furniture Building into 87 residential units in 2013.
Funding for the project was through the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, Chase Bank and RBC Royal Bank.

Supreme Court

Appeal denied: Medical marijuana firings get jobless pay (Associated Press)
People fired in Michigan for using medical marijuana can collect unemployment benefits after the state Supreme Court turned down appeals in two cases.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Politics at the pump: Will Michigan road funding deal help or hurt House Republicans in 2016? (Mlive)
Senate and House Republicans got the deal done on their own after bipartisan talks broke down last month, and they're championing the action as another example of the GOP's ability to take on and tackle big challenges.

30 percent renewable energy goal by 2025: Dems insert efficiency, renewables into energy overhaul legislation (Mlive)
Democratic lawmakers won amendments adding more energy efficiency and a renewable goal to the energy overhaul package passed out of the House Energy Policy Committee on Thursday night. The bill package includes house bill 4297 and HB 4298, which together amend broad energy policy including that surrounding renewables, energy choice, energy efficiency and rate processes that happen through the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Michigan Senate bill restoring 1,000-foot sex offender-free zone around schools clears judiciary committee (WTVB)
Legislation restoring a one thousand-foot zone around public schools where registered sex offenders cannot work or live has cleared the Senate Judiciary Committee. Committee chairperson Rick Jones, R-Grand Ledge, authored the bill in response to a federal judicial ruling that tossed out the law as unconstitutionally vague.

Michigan Senate OKs bill to let noncertified teach more subjects (AP)
Noncertified teachers could teach more subjects and would no longer be required to have a degree in the subject they teach if they instead have relevant work experience under legislation advancing in Michigan's Legislature.

Bills to protect K-12 student data advance in Lansing (Michigan Radio)
Legislation to safeguard the privacy of student information has passed the Michigan Senate.

Legislators call for investigation into altered Flint lead report (Mlive)
Two state representatives are pushing for a federal investigation into the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ). State Reps. Phil Phelps (D-Flushing) and Sheldon Neeley (D-Flint) are calling for the federal investigation into the DEQ, according to a news release from Phelps' office.

Mich. lawmakers want Canada nuke waste facility blocked (The Detroit News)
Twelve members of Michigan's congressional delegation have written to the new Canadian prime minister urging him to block plans for an underground storage facility for nuclear waste near Lake Huron in Ontario.

DETROIT

Detroit school rescue plan hits resistance (The Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's quest for a $715 million state rescue of Detroit Public Schools is running into trouble in the Legislature even before the legislation has been introduced. Top legislative leaders are questioning not only where the money should come from but the kind of reforms the financially troubled district should be required to adopt as part of the aid package.

Detroiters sue city over seized dogs, animal care (The Detroit News)
A group of Detroiters sued the city Wednesday in federal court, claiming animal control officers seized dogs, imprisoned the animals in filthy conditions and charged exorbitant fees.

OPINION

Cotter: Michigan roads plan gets the job done right (Detroit Free Press)
The people of Michigan want a long-term plan to fix our state's crumbling roads and bridges. They want it to be fair, they want it to be affordable, and they want it to result in higher-quality roads. On Tuesday night, your state Legislature delivered that plan.

Try every way to get to bottom of Flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
There's that old parable about a group of blind men trying to describe an elephant: One touches the tusk, one the trunk, another the legs. Each account differs; no one could ever imagine an elephant was the subject of such disparate descriptions.

Immigration reform would help Detroit (Detroit News)
As the pressure mounts on the United States to aid refugees worldwide, Gov. Rick Snyder and Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan are busy preparing Michigan to step up with resettlement efforts. Except for Germany, few European countries are recognizing the economic benefits that refugees and migrants can add to society. In Detroit, immigrants can jumpstart an underpopulated city's economy with new skills and resources. Political hurdles, however, are keeping the welcome mat form being rolled out.

Editorial: OK Keystone delay (Detroit News)
TransCanada has formally requested the Obama administration postpone making a final decision on their application for the embattled Keystone XL Pipeline, and now the U.S. State Department has rejected that request. That's some chutzpah.

Jacques: In Detroit schools debate, listen to parents (Detroit News)
Francie Kennedy chose to send her child to University Prep Academy in Detroit for several reasons, most notably safety and small class sizes

Finley: Detroit was 45 minutes short of a good week (Detroit News)
Detroit came within 45 minutes this week of achieving a minor symbolic victory in its war against violent crime.

Immigration reform would help Detroit (Detroit News)
As the pressure mounts on the United States to aid refugees worldwide, Gov. Rick Snyder and Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan are busy preparing Michigan to step up with resettlement efforts. Except for Germany, few European countries are recognizing the economic benefits that refugees and migrants can add to society. In Detroit, immigrants can jumpstart an underpopulated city's economy with new skills and resources. Political hurdles, however, are keeping the welcome mat form being rolled out.

Susan J. Demas: Angry Michigan voters will hate the GOP roads plan (MLive)
Gov. Snyder, call your office. Your brand is in crisis.

How Flint's water crisis pushed road funding plan ahead (Michigan Radio)
I heard from several puzzled people yesterday, after Governor Rick Snyder proclaimed he would sign the road fund package the legislature narrowly passed on election night.

Michigan's bad road bills (Toledo Blade)
This week, the Michigan Legislature finally, narrowly passed a package of road-repair bills, which Gov. Rick Snyder said he is ready to sign. That's the bad news.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, November 6, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads

Michigan governor eyes bonds for $1.2 billion road plan (Reuters)
Michigan Governor Rick Snyder is considering the use of bonds to speed up road and bridge projects under a $1.2 billion funding plan passed by state lawmakers on Tuesday, a spokeswoman for the governor said on Thursday.

Skubick: State could sell bonds for road money (WLNS)
Governor Snyder says he may sell bonds to raise money to fix the roads next year. That would come while he waits for the newly enacted "road package" to deliver new revenue after 2017.

Bill signing

Snyder signs Michigan teacher evaluation overhaul into law (Mlive)
Michigan school districts will have new rules for evaluating teacher performance under a new law signed Thursday by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law modifies teacher evaluation requirements that had been scheduled to take effect this school year, de-emphasizing student test scores and allowing districts more flexibility to choose their own evaluation tools.

Snyder signs law with new teacher evaluation standards (AP)
A new state framework for evaluating Michigan's teachers and schools administrators has been signed into law by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Gov. Snyder signs law outlining new evaluation framework for teachers, administrators (WDIV)
A new state framework for evaluating Michigan's teachers and schools administrators has been signed into law by Gov. Rick Snyder. School districts and charter schools will have to base at least 25 percent of a teacher's evaluation on assessment and student growth data. The component will rise to 40 percent in the 2018-19 academic year.

Governor Snyder Signs Education Evaluation Bill into Law (WHTC)
An evaluation program for state K-12 teachers is now law in Michigan. Governor Snyder signed the measure that requires districts to set in place performance measuring systems for all educators and administrators that take into account student growth and assessment data.

Snyder signs law with new teacher evaluation standards (WWMT)
A new state framework for evaluating Michigan's teachers and schools administrators has been signed into law by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Snyder signs new teacher evaluation standards into law (Michigan Radio)
Schools districts across Michigan will have to adhere to new standards for evaluating teachers and administrators. Gov. Rick Snyder signed a bill on Thursday meant to improve teacher evaluation practices across the state.

New roles

Wurfel leaving Snyder's office (LSJ)
Sara Wurfel, who has been Gov. Rick Snyder's press secretary since the beginning of his first term, is leaving the administration to join the Lansing public relations firm Truscott Rossman. Wurfel will leave the administration Nov. 30 to serve as vice president for public affairs at Truscott Rossman.

Event preview

Gov. Snyder taking note of Hamtramck's growing Bangladeshi immigrant population (Mlive)
At 8:30 a.m. Friday, Snyder will celebrate the opening of the Bangladeshi American Public Affairs Committee office on Conant in Hamtramck, "the commercial main street of the vibrant Banglatown neighborhood."

Snyder to speak, flip pancakes at annual parade breakfast Friday in Detroit (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder will offer remarks and serve as a pancake flipper at the Parade Company's 16th annual pancake breakfast Friday morning, which raises awareness and support for America's Thanksgiving Day Parade held annually in Detroit.

Muslim-majority city council may be 1st in USA (Freep)
On Friday, Gov. Rick Snyder is to attend the opening of Bangla Town, an area that will celebrate Bangladeshi-American culture in Hamtramck and bordering Detroit neighborhoods.

Bangladeshi community organization office to open (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder will join local officials in celebrating the opening of a Bangladeshi community organization office in the Detroit area. A ribbon-cutting is scheduled Friday for the Bangladeshi American Public Affairs Committee office in Hamtramck.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

MSU receives $12,000 for Sure Snyders' initiative to combat sexual assault (State News)
MSU is receiving $12,000 to organize a bystander intervention network in the community as part of an initiative by Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder to better combat sexual assault on campus, according to MSU Today.

MSU creating bystander network to combat sexual assault (FOX 47)
As part of an initiative led by First Lady Sue Snyder to find new strategies to fight campus sexual assault, Michigan State University is receiving $12,000 to create a bystander intervention network in the campus community, focusing on employees at East Lansing bars and restaurants and taxi cab drivers.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DIFS

Popular Medigap plans could see price hike (Detroit Free Press)
A five-year rate freeze on two popular, heavily subsidized Medicare plans known as Legacy Medigap that expires next year is raising fears among the plans' more than 205,000 customers that they could face price hikes mid-year.

DNR

Trail connecting Van Buren State Park with South Haven opens (AP)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says the 10-foot-wide trail offers a link to the South Haven Trail system. The southwestern Michigan city maintains a marked route that connects to a downtown trailhead, businesses, beaches and Kal-Haven Trail State Park.

Ann Arbor officials approve winter deer cull (AP)
Ann Arbor officials have decided to allow sharpshooters to cull deer on public land this winter. WXYZ-TV reports that the Ann Arbor City Council on Thursday night voted 8-1 in favor of hiring sharpshooters to lure and kill 100 deer at night in city-owned parks and natural areas.

MEDC
$5.2 million redevelopment of over 100-year-old buildings continues in Milan (MLive)
The East Main project, a $5.2 million project to redevelop four buildings and eight storefronts, has moved along with very few setbacks, according to developer Dave Snyder.

MDE
Michigan tribe awarded $300,000 federal education grant (AP)
A Michigan-based American Indian tribe is among eight that will receive federal grants to boost their educational programs and develop initiatives for achieving self-determination.

Lansing School District denies liability in abuse case (Lansing State Journal)
Lansing School District officials are denying any liability in an incident that prompted a federal civil lawsuit against district officials and a former teacher over alleged abuse of a student with special needs.

Kalamazoo state-of-schools talk focuses on new efforts to improve (MLive)
Expanding mentorships. Better teaching of problem-solving skills. Improving cultural expectations. Making education relevant, especially for low-income children.

MDEQ
Oil company seeks permit for drilling at Detroit-area church (AP)
An oil and gas exploration company is seeking permit to drill an exploratory well on the grounds of a suburban Detroit church. Jordan Development of Traverse City has applied for a permit with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to put in an oil well at the Word of Faith International Christian Center in Southfield.

Feds warn of new threat in Flint water that may pose "immediate and acute health hazards" (Michigan Radio)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says people living in Flint should be warned of the potential for "high lead release" into their tap water if road work or other physical disturbances to lead and even non-lead service lines occur.

Flint water problems may not be over; DEQ under review (The Detroit News)
The EPA's warning on Flint water comes as the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality faces increased scrutiny over how the agency handled Flint's switch to Flint River water in early 2014.

Expert says Michigan officials changed a Flint lead report to avoid federal action (Michigan Radio)
For more than a year, state officials assured city residents their water was safe. Those assurances turned out to be wrong. And it wasn't until some residents got outside experts involved -- who not only found elevated lead levels in the drinking water, but that blood lead levels were also rising in Flint kids – that the state admitted there was a problem.

Michigan DEQ Plans to Lower Phosphorus Levels in Lake Erie (WDET)

Officials with Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality have devised a plan to reduce harmful chemicals in Lake Erie. The state, in collaboration with agencies in Ohio, Indiana, and Ontario, have drawn up a strategy to lower the lake's phosphorus levels by 40 percent before 2025.

MDOT

Michigan Department of Transportation to hold public webinar on transportation plan (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Transportation will host a webinar from 6 to 8 p.m. Nov. 12 to discuss the information, forecasts and strategies contained in the current 2005-35 plan and revisions to extend the planning horizon to 2040.

MSHDA

Ypsilanti officials respond to 'overreaching and absurd' Water Street contamination report (MLive)
Ypsilanti officials are upset over a Michigan State Housing Development Authority report that says high levels of contamination, including PCBs and metals like lead and arsenic, appear to remain on Ypsilanti's Water Street property. The report says the contamination presents a threat to future residents of the proposed Riverwalk Commons affordable housing project.

$22M affordable housing project opens downtown (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
The project began in the spring of 2014. Nearby, the two companies helped transform the Baker Furniture Building into 87 residential units in 2013.
Funding for the project was through the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, Chase Bank and RBC Royal Bank.

Supreme Court

Appeal denied: Medical marijuana firings get jobless pay (Associated Press)
People fired in Michigan for using medical marijuana can collect unemployment benefits after the state Supreme Court turned down appeals in two cases.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Politics at the pump: Will Michigan road funding deal help or hurt House Republicans in 2016? (Mlive)
Senate and House Republicans got the deal done on their own after bipartisan talks broke down last month, and they're championing the action as another example of the GOP's ability to take on and tackle big challenges.

30 percent renewable energy goal by 2025: Dems insert efficiency, renewables into energy overhaul legislation (Mlive)
Democratic lawmakers won amendments adding more energy efficiency and a renewable goal to the energy overhaul package passed out of the House Energy Policy Committee on Thursday night. The bill package includes house bill 4297 and HB 4298, which together amend broad energy policy including that surrounding renewables, energy choice, energy efficiency and rate processes that happen through the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Michigan Senate bill restoring 1,000-foot sex offender-free zone around schools clears judiciary committee (WTVB)
Legislation restoring a one thousand-foot zone around public schools where registered sex offenders cannot work or live has cleared the Senate Judiciary Committee. Committee chairperson Rick Jones, R-Grand Ledge, authored the bill in response to a federal judicial ruling that tossed out the law as unconstitutionally vague.

Michigan Senate OKs bill to let noncertified teach more subjects (AP)

Noncertified teachers could teach more subjects and would no longer be required to have a degree in the subject they teach if they instead have relevant work experience under legislation advancing in Michigan's Legislature.

Bills to protect K-12 student data advance in Lansing (Michigan Radio)
Legislation to safeguard the privacy of student information has passed the Michigan Senate.

Legislators call for investigation into altered Flint lead report (Mlive)
Two state representatives are pushing for a federal investigation into the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ). State Reps. Phil Phelps (D-Flushing) and Sheldon Neeley (D-Flint) are calling for the federal investigation into the DEQ, according to a news release from Phelps' office.

Mich. lawmakers want Canada nuke waste facility blocked (The Detroit News)
Twelve members of Michigan's congressional delegation have written to the new Canadian prime minister urging him to block plans for an underground storage facility for nuclear waste near Lake Huron in Ontario.

DETROIT

Detroit school rescue plan hits resistance (The Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder's quest for a $715 million state rescue of Detroit Public Schools is running into trouble in the Legislature even before the legislation has been introduced. Top legislative leaders are questioning not only where the money should come from but the kind of reforms the financially troubled district should be required to adopt as part of the aid package.

Detroiters sue city over seized dogs, animal care (The Detroit News)
A group of Detroiters sued the city Wednesday in federal court, claiming animal control officers seized dogs, imprisoned the animals in filthy conditions and charged exorbitant fees.

OPINION

Cotter: Michigan roads plan gets the job done right (Detroit Free Press)
The people of Michigan want a long-term plan to fix our state's crumbling roads and bridges. They want it to be fair, they want it to be affordable, and they want it to result in higher-quality roads. On Tuesday night, your state Legislature delivered that plan.

Try every way to get to bottom of Flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
There's that old parable about a group of blind men trying to describe an elephant: One touches the tusk, one the trunk, another the legs. Each account differs; no one could ever imagine an elephant was the subject of such disparate descriptions.

Immigration reform would help Detroit (Detroit News)
As the pressure mounts on the United States to aid refugees worldwide, Gov. Rick Snyder and Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan are busy preparing Michigan to step up with resettlement efforts. Except for Germany, few European countries are recognizing the economic benefits that refugees and migrants can add to society. In Detroit, immigrants can jumpstart an underpopulated city's economy with new skills and resources. Political hurdles, however, are keeping the welcome mat form being rolled out.

Editorial: OK Keystone delay (Detroit News)

TransCanada has formally requested the Obama administration postpone making a final decision on their application for the embattled Keystone XL Pipeline, and now the U.S. State Department has rejected that request. That's some chutzpah.

Jacques: In Detroit schools debate, listen to parents (Detroit News)
Francie Kennedy chose to send her child to University Prep Academy in Detroit for several reasons, most notably safety and small class sizes

Finley: Detroit was 45 minutes short of a good week (Detroit News)
Detroit came within 45 minutes this week of achieving a minor symbolic victory in its war against violent crime.

Immigration reform would help Detroit (Detroit News)
As the pressure mounts on the United States to aid refugees worldwide, Gov. Rick Snyder and Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan are busy preparing Michigan to step up with resettlement efforts. Except for Germany, few European countries are recognizing the economic benefits that refugees and migrants can add to society. In Detroit, immigrants can jumpstart an underpopulated city's economy with new skills and resources. Political hurdles, however, are keeping the welcome mat form being rolled out.

Susan J. Demas: Angry Michigan voters will hate the GOP roads plan (MLive)
Gov. Snyder, call your office. Your brand is in crisis.

How Flint's water crisis pushed road funding plan ahead (Michigan Radio)
I heard from several puzzled people yesterday, after Governor Rick Snyder proclaimed he would sign the road fund package the legislature narrowly passed on election night.

Michigan's bad road bills (Toledo Blade)
This week, the Michigan Legislature finally, narrowly passed a package of road-repair bills, which Gov. Rick Snyder said he is ready to sign. That's the bad news.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, November 09, 2015 9:28 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/9 Newsroom
Attachments: 151109 Newsroom.docx

Monday, November 9, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Pancake breakfast
At a pancake breakfast, Metro Detroit rings in holidays (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan helped kick off the holiday season Friday at a pancake breakfast at the Detroit Parade Co. Snyder, in brief remarks to kick off the event, hailed the spirit of Detroiters. Their positivity, he said, is part of what makes Detroit "America's comeback city."

Gov. Snyder on rising Detroit demo costs: I'm not running the city (Mlive)
While Duggan says the state oversees all of the demolition bids awarded to contractors, Snyder's administration says the control is with Duggan.

Bangladesh event
Gov. Snyder joins Bangladeshis in opening BanglaTown (Freep)
Greektown and Mexicantown have been well known to metro Detroiters for decades. Now, the Bangladeshi-American community is working to promote BanglaTown — an area in Hamtramck and Detroit where their population is growing.

Energy plan
Gov. Rick Snyder backs committee-approved House energy plan for Michigan (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Friday issued a statement in support of the House energy plan approved by the House Energy Policy Committee this week, saying the bills would be a victory for Michiganders.

Gov. Rick Snyder: House energy legislation would help Michigan meet its needs long into future (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder issued the following statement regarding the state House Energy Policy Committee's approval of a package of legislation that will help Michigan meet its energy needs long into the future:

Event preview
Governor Snyder advocates for skill-based jobs (WLNS)
There are more than 8,300 skilled trade jobs currently available in Michigan and Monday Governor Rick Snyder will be busy in Grand Rapids raising awareness for those professions. Governor Snyder will be speaking at the Kent Career Technical Center. The governor says skill trade workers represent exactly the types of skills employers are looking for and pay between 12 and 34 dollars per hour.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Spartans vs. Chippewas in Special Olympics unified game (WZZM)
Michigan's Lt. Governor Brian Calley and House Speaker Kevin Cotter traded their suits for basketball jerseys on Friday. They played in a Unified Basketball Game with Special Olympics athletes at Central Michigan University. The athletes were from Lansing and Mount Pleasant. They played alongside members of CMU and Michigan State's basketball teams.

Central Michigan University Hosts Special Olympics Basketball Game (9&10 News)
Amateur athletes from around the state gathered for a special basketball game Friday afternoon. They took the court at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant. It was the Chips versus the Spartans. Lieutenant governor Brian Calley, an MSU grad played, with students and Special Olympics athletes from the Lansing area. Speaker of the House Kevin Cotter, a CMU grad, played with students and Special Olympics athletes from the Mount Pleasant area.

House speaker, lieutenant governor take part in Special Olympics game (Morning Sun)
In the end, it just wasn't meant to be. Even though Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley outscored his on-court nemesis, Speaker of the House Kevin Cotter, his Michigan State University team failed, losing to Cotter's Central Michigan University team in a hard-fought battle at the CMU Student Activity Center Friday.

Calley and Bernstein to speak in Howell (Livingston Daily)
Less than two weeks after crossing the New York Marathon finish line together, Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and state Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein will team up again, this time in Howell, for a cause near and dear to their hearts.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Sue Snyder visiting Western Michigan University on Monday (WKZO-AM)
Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder will be on the Western Michigan University campus tonight with an expert on the issue of preventing sexual assaults on campus.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
PAC ad knocks Schuette for opposing clean energy plan (The Detroit News)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette will be targeted in a new ad campaign for his opposition to the Obama administration's efforts to move the nation toward clean energy. Independence USA, the Michael Bloomberg-backed super political action committee, is set to launch television ads in the coming weeks that criticize Schuette for joining a lawsuit that challenges the Clean Power Plan, which calls for reductions in greenhouse gases.

Michigan AG Bill Schuette targeted by national PAC for Clean Power Plan lawsuit (Mlive)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is fighting the federal Clean Power Plan in court, something that will be highlighted as part of a four-state, eight-figure advertising buy from former New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg's Independence USA PAC.

DEQ
River restoration project marks a decade, with three dams ahead (Traverse City Record Eagle)
The 121-year-old Boardman Dam, located beneath the Cass Road bridge at the north end of Keystone Pond, is slated for removal beginning in 2017. The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality considers it a deficient structure and mandated the county either fix or destroy it.

DMVA

Vietnam Veterans Traveling Memorial comes to Auburn Hills (Daily Tribune)

A memorial wall carrying the names of 2,654 Michigan Vietnam veterans who were killed in action or still missing was on display at the Auburn Hills Community Center on Saturday. The event was organized in partnership with City of Auburn Hills, Crittenton Hospital, American House, Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency and POW-MIA.

DNR

Logging planned for Mio Pond campground, fishing site (9&10 News)

Portions of the Mio Pond State Forest Campground and fishing site in Oscoda County will be cut down over the next several months. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says the logging operations are expected to begin early next week. The DNR says all aspen trees within the areas will be removed because they've reached an age where they are a hazard to visitors, often snapping off during storms.

MDHHS

New program gives expanded care for low-income people (Detroit Free Press)

The state's experimental program, MI Health Link, is an effort to coordinate care for more than 230,000 Michiganders whose health care is paid by both Medicare and Medicaid, a confusing tangle of fee-for-service coverage. Dick Miles, director of the bureau of Medicaid policy bureau with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, acknowledged that MI Health Link has proved "a very complicated and very difficult program to implement."

MDOC

Michigan revising rates for inmate calls after FCC decision (AP)

The Michigan Department of Corrections is revising rates for inmate phone calls after the Federal Communications Commission decided to reduce the cost of jail and prison phone calls.

Prison call rate cuts help inmates, hurts jail budgets (The Detroit News)

The Michigan Department of Corrections last year generated $11.5 million from inmate calls. The money flows into a “special equipment fund” used in recent years for security upgrades and counseling programs such as violence prevention and sex-offender treatment.

MDOT

Ice cream flavor helps fix Michigan roads (Up North Live)

There's a flavor of ice cream created by Ashby's Sterling Ice Cream that is helping to fix Michigan roads. Michigan Pot Hole Ice Cream is a newer flavor that was introduced in the beginning of March. Ashby's Sterling Ice Cream has donated one percent of its revenue to help fix Michigan roads. The one percent was signed over during an event in Lansing on Saturday. The check was presented to the director of the Michigan Department of Transportation, Kirk Steudle.

Mergers, acquisitions and new contracts across metro Detroit (Crain’s Detroit Business)

G2 Consulting Group, Troy, a geo-technical, environmental and construction engineering services firm, has been selected by RS Engineering LLC, Lansing, to work on the upcoming Michigan Department of Transportation's I-94 reconstruction project in Detroit. RSE and G2 will be responsible for time-critical aspects of design and construction services for the Cadillac bridge, one of eight to be reconstructed in preparation of the 20-year, $3 billion I-94 project.

Madison Heights city officials concerned about I-75 expansion (C&G News)

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is planning to widen and improve Interstate 75 from Hazel Park to Auburn Hills, and city officials in Madison Heights are very concerned about the project’s accelerated schedule and the way it’s being funded.

MSHDA

Demand for affordable housing builds interest in income-restricted tax credit (MiBiz)

According to MSHDA's standards, a developer receives the credits based on a percentage of units being offered as rent-restricted and income-restricted for a period of at least 18 years. The agency's most widely-used incentive is a roughly 9 percent credit based on construction or rehabilitation costs, according to MSHDA officials. MSHDA received requests for more than $193 million in LIHTC funds since August 2012 and awarded about $75.5 million over the same period.

$365,800 to revamp Sanilac County homes (The Times Herald)
A $365,800 community development block grant is going to help more than a dozen low-income property owners in Sanilac County fix up their homes. The Michigan State Housing Development Authority, administering federal Housing and Urban Development funds, awarded the block grants to help with repairs and rehabilitative work in three targeted communities in three counties, also including Huron and Tuscola.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan roads need talent as much as a funding deal (Detroit Free Press)
The long slog to get a road-funding bill through the Michigan Legislature could lull us into thinking that fixing Michigan's roads is just a matter of finding enough money. If only it were that easy.

Michigan road-fix plan becomes 2016 campaign issue (AP)
No-new-tax Republicans banded together to narrowly pass Michigan's first fuel tax and vehicle registration fee increases in decades, a move Democrats eagerly hope voters will remember in 2016 and after.

Michigan Political Points: Tough-vote fatigue, buyers remorse in wake of road funding deal (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature finally got a roads deal done, which could clear the deck for other big action — if Republicans aren't too worn out from putting up tough votes that could come back to bite them in future elections.

Lawmakers, Snyder pivot to energy, Detroit schools (The Detroit News)
Lawmakers and Gov. Rick Snyder have pivoted to try to make sweeping changes in state energy policy and craft a state financial rescue of the Detroit Public Schools by year's end after cementing last week a five-year road funding plan.

Senate leader opposes bonds to accelerate road fixes (The Detroit News)
The leader of Michigan's Senate opposes pledging future increases in fuel taxes and vehicle fees toward bonds to accelerate road construction projects next summer.

House wants tougher penalties for abuse of elderly (Detroit Free Press)
Penalties for abusing vulnerable adults, including senior citizens, would increase under a package of four bills introduced in the Michigan Legislature last week.

Michigan ranks last in laws on ethics, transparency (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan ranks last in a national study of state ethics and transparency laws and safeguards, set for release today, partly due to its weak public records law and an absence of laws requiring personal financial disclosures by lawmakers and top state officials.

Bill would give some state workers police powers (Lansing State Journal)
State Sen. Peter MacGregor's Senate Bill 384 would give arrest powers to employees of the Department of Health & Human Service's Office of Inspector General. That agency investigates welfare fraud, such as when food stamps are sold for cash or used for ineligible items such as cigarettes.

DETROIT

Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan responds to turmoil in the Detroit Land Bank Authority (WXYZ)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan is responding to questions regarding the recent turmoil with the top leadership at the Detroit Land Bank Authority.

In their own words: Life after Detroit's bankruptcy (Detroit Free Press)
Was Detroit's bankruptcy successful? The Free Press asked some of the major players who designed Detroit's bankruptcy exit plan to share their perspective of the city's status one year later.

Knight Foundation re-ups, invests $9M in Detroit arts (Detroit Free Press)
The initial $9 million for the Knight Arts Challenge came bundled in a $19-million arts package that also funded major anchor institutions like the DIA, DSO, Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History and others.

The Story of Detroit's Bankruptcy: A "Takeover" or an Inevitable Financial Crisis? (WDET)
Detroit is approaching its one-year anniversary of emerging from the nation's largest-ever municipal bankruptcy, and the city has changed. Perhaps nowhere is that difference more apparent than in the roles of, and the relationship between, Detroit's elected leadership.

$1.7M EAA contract went to new firm with low-ranked bid (Detroit Free Press)
The district running Michigan's lowest-performing schools awarded a $1.7-million training contract to a company that scored 8th out of 10 companies seeking the work, according to documents reviewed by the Free Press.

Detroit's firefighting downgrade fuels insurance hikes (The Detroit News)
Chronic problems at the Detroit Fire Department are catching up to homeowners in the form of higher insurance rates. Detroit already has the highest rates in the state. Now, they're rising again for many, after a group that analyzes communities' fire protection for insurance companies downgraded the city.

OPINION

Arellan: Strong evaluations can boost teaching (Detroit News)
Think about five people who have made a difference in your life. Chances are, at least one is a teacher. Every student deserves a great teacher every year. And we know from research and personal experience that great teachers make all the difference. Indeed, research shows the quality of classroom instruction is the most significant in-school factor for improving learning.

Tedder: Problems of blight and oversight (Detroit News)
We all want to help Detroit. The restoration of this once-powerful, vibrant and prosperous city is a concern for residents statewide because, as many have said, the fate of that city is tied to the fate of Michigan.

Finley: Politics of road deal are baffling (Detroit News)
Set aside the debate over whether the road bill passed last week by the Legislature is more good than bad. It's the politics of the deal that don't make sense to me.

Editorial: Blight program needs diligent watchdogs (Detroit News)
Questions are rightly being raised about the skyrocketing cost of tearing down blighted structures in Detroit. With perhaps 40,000 homes and buildings waiting to be razed, the city must get the maximum benefit from its blight remediation dollars.

Year before water change, state knew of risks in Flint (Detroit Free Press)
State and local officials knew in 2013 that without proper treatment of water drawn from the Flint River, they risked subjecting the people of Flint to lead-contaminated drinking water.

Is Michigan on the road to ruin? (Detroit Free Press)
House Speaker Kevin Cotter was ebullient: Nearly four years after Gov. Rick Snyder warned (in his 2012 State of the State address) that Michigan's roads and bridges were in a dangerous state of disrepair, state legislators had at last agreed on a plan to increase funding for long overdue maintenance and reconstruction.

How self-driving cars will upend everything (Detroit Free Press)
There's an emerging consensus that America's cities are poised for revitalization and repopulation. Arguments vary as to why this is the case: Higher gasoline prices will make suburban and exurban living too expensive, today's young people prefer urban amenities, and older, retired people seek the convenience of large cities.

Who will take the lead on climate change? (Detroit Free Press)
Nearly everyone gets it about climate change.

Readers aren't sold on roads plan Snyder is ready to sign (Detroit Free Press)
The state House and Senate passed road-funding legislation last week that would raise the gas tax and registration fees to raise $600 million and earmark another $600 million in the general fund, in an effort to raise $1.2 billion for roads by 2021. Gov. Rick Snyder has said he plans to sign the legislation. Here's what readers had to say about the plan.

Snyder's road plan part B—for bonds—gets a F from both sides (MLive)
It's a good thing the governor doesn't play for his favorite coach, Jim What's-His-Name, because Mr. Snyder would be bounced from the team for aiding and abetting the enemy.

How to thank this veteran (and others): Support prevailing wage (MLive)
As we near Veterans Day, we will hear from many political leaders how grateful they are for our service. Some will express concern about veterans who return home and their opportunity to find a good job to support their families.

Road-fix deal gets rolling, but will it hit potholes along the way? (MLive)
Let's have a show of hands. Everyone who read the headlines that the Legislature passed a $1.2 billion road fix plan, raise your hand.

Full investigation needed at every level in Flint water crisis (MLive)
It's clear that the Flint water crisis was a failure of government. Residents are rightfully angry, and I'm angry over the lack of immediate action to address unsafe lead levels in the city's water.

Robert Erwin: Republican roads fix unfair, unrealistic (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Here we go again! Last spring, the Republicans tried to foist Proposal 1 on us. It was overwhelmingly rejected by about 80 percent of the voters because it put the burden of fixing the roads squarely on the backs of the middle class while corporations that just received a $2 billion tax cut weren't asked to contribute anything.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, November 9, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Pancake breakfast
At a pancake breakfast, Metro Detroit rings in holidays (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan helped kick off the holiday season Friday at a pancake breakfast at the Detroit Parade Co. Snyder, in brief remarks to kick off the event, hailed the spirit of Detroiters. Their positivity, he said, is part of what makes Detroit "America's comeback city."

Gov. Snyder on rising Detroit demo costs: I'm not running the city (Mlive)
While Duggan says the state oversees all of the demolition bids awarded to contractors, Snyder's administration says the control is with Duggan.

Bangladesh event
Gov. Snyder joins Bangladeshis in opening BanglaTown (Freep)
Greektown and Mexicantown have been well known to metro Detroiters for decades. Now, the Bangladeshi-American community is working to promote BanglaTown — an area in Hamtramck and Detroit where their population is growing.

Energy plan
Gov. Rick Snyder backs committee-approved House energy plan for Michigan (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Friday issued a statement in support of the House energy plan approved by the House Energy Policy Committee this week, saying the bills would be a victory for Michiganders.

Gov. Rick Snyder: House energy legislation would help Michigan meet its needs long into future (UP Matters/TV 3)
Gov. Rick Snyder issued the following statement regarding the state House Energy Policy Committee's approval of a package of legislation that will help Michigan meet its energy needs long into the future:

Event preview
Governor Snyder advocates for skill-based jobs (WLNS)
There are more than 8,300 skilled trade jobs currently available in Michigan and Monday Governor Rick Snyder will be busy in Grand Rapids raising awareness for those professions. Governor Snyder will be speaking at the Kent Career Technical Center. The governor says skill trade workers represent exactly the types of skills employers are looking for and pay between 12 and 34 dollars per hour.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Spartans vs. Chippewas in Special Olympics unified game (WZZM)
Michigan's Lt. Governor Brian Calley and House Speaker Kevin Cotter traded their suits for basketball jerseys on Friday. They played in a Unified Basketball Game with Special Olympics athletes at Central Michigan University. The athletes were from Lansing and Mount Pleasant. They played alongside members of CMU and Michigan State's basketball teams.

Central Michigan University Hosts Special Olympics Basketball Game (9&10 News)
Amateur athletes from around the state gathered for a special basketball game Friday afternoon. They took the court at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant. It was the Chips versus the Spartans. Lieutenant governor Brian Calley, an MSU grad played, with students and Special Olympics athletes from the Lansing area. Speaker of the House Kevin Cotter, a CMU grad, played with students and Special Olympics athletes from the Mount Pleasant area.

House speaker, lieutenant governor take part in Special Olympics game (Morning Sun)
In the end, it just wasn't meant to be. Even though Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley outscored his on-court nemesis, Speaker of the House Kevin Cotter, his Michigan State University team failed, losing to Cotter's Central Michigan University team in a hard-fought battle at the CMU Student Activity Center Friday.

Calley and Bernstein to speak in Howell (Livingston Daily)
Less than two weeks after crossing the New York Marathon finish line together, Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and state Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein will team up again, this time in Howell, for a cause near and dear to their hearts.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES

Sue Snyder visiting Western Michigan University on Monday (WKZO-AM)
Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder will be on the Western Michigan University campus tonight with an expert on the issue of preventing sexual assaults on campus.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

AG
PAC ad knocks Schuette for opposing clean energy plan (The Detroit News)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette will be targeted in a new ad campaign for his opposition to the Obama administration's efforts to move the nation toward clean energy. Independence USA, the Michael Bloomberg-backed super political action committee, is set to launch television ads in the coming weeks that criticize Schuette for joining a lawsuit that challenges the Clean Power Plan, which calls for reductions in greenhouse gases.

Michigan AG Bill Schuette targeted by national PAC for Clean Power Plan lawsuit (Mlive)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette is fighting the federal Clean Power Plan in court, something that will be highlighted as part of a four-state, eight-figure advertising buy from former New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg's Independence USA PAC.

DEQ
River restoration project marks a decade, with three dams ahead (Traverse City Record Eagle)
The 121-year-old Boardman Dam, located beneath the Cass Road bridge at the north end of Keystone Pond, is slated for removal beginning in 2017. The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality considers it a deficient structure and mandated the county either fix or destroy it.

DMVA
Vietnam Veterans Traveling Memorial comes to Auburn Hills (Daily Tribune)

A memorial wall carrying the names of 2,654 Michigan Vietnam veterans who were killed in action or still missing was on display at the Auburn Hills Community Center on Saturday. The event was organized in partnership with City of Auburn Hills, Crittenton Hospital, American House, Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency and POW-MIA.

DNR

Logging planned for Mio Pond campground, fishing site (9&10 News)

Portions of the Mio Pond State Forest Campground and fishing site in Oscoda County will be cut down over the next several months. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says the logging operations are expected to begin early next week. The DNR says all aspen trees within the areas will be removed because they've reached an age where they are a hazard to visitors, often snapping off during storms.

MDHHS

New program gives expanded care for low-income people (Detroit Free Press)

The state's experimental program, MI Health Link, is an effort to coordinate care for more than 230,000 Michiganders whose health care is paid by both Medicare and Medicaid, a confusing tangle of fee-for-service coverage. Dick Miles, director of the bureau of Medicaid policy bureau with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, acknowledged that MI Health Link has proved "a very complicated and very difficult program to implement."

MDOC

Michigan revising rates for inmate calls after FCC decision (AP)

The Michigan Department of Corrections is revising rates for inmate phone calls after the Federal Communications Commission decided to reduce the cost of jail and prison phone calls.

Prison call rate cuts help inmates, hurts jail budgets (The Detroit News)

The Michigan Department of Corrections last year generated $11.5 million from inmate calls. The money flows into a “special equipment fund” used in recent years for security upgrades and counseling programs such as violence prevention and sex-offender treatment.

MDOT

Ice cream flavor helps fix Michigan roads (Up North Live)

There's a flavor of ice cream created by Ashby's Sterling Ice Cream that is helping to fix Michigan roads. Michigan Pot Hole Ice Cream is a newer flavor that was introduced in the beginning of March. Ashby's Sterling Ice Cream has donated one percent of its revenue to help fix Michigan roads. The one percent was signed over during an event in Lansing on Saturday. The check was presented to the director of the Michigan Department of Transportation, Kirk Steudle.

Mergers, acquisitions and new contracts across metro Detroit (Crain’s Detroit Business)

G2 Consulting Group, Troy, a geo-technical, environmental and construction engineering services firm, has been selected by RS Engineering LLC, Lansing, to work on the upcoming Michigan Department of Transportation's I-94 reconstruction project in Detroit. RSE and G2 will be responsible for time-critical aspects of design and construction services for the Cadillac bridge, one of eight to be reconstructed in preparation of the 20-year, $3 billion I-94 project.

Madison Heights city officials concerned about I-75 expansion (C&G News)

The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is planning to widen and improve Interstate 75 from Hazel Park to Auburn Hills, and city officials in Madison Heights are very concerned about the project’s accelerated schedule and the way it’s being funded.

MSHDA

Demand for affordable housing builds interest in income-restricted tax credit (MiBiz)
According to MSHDA's standards, a developer receives the credits based on a percentage of units being offered as rent-restricted and income-restricted for a period of at least 18 years. The agency's most widely-used incentive is a roughly 9 percent credit based on construction or rehabilitation costs, according to MSHDA officials. MSHDA received requests for more than $193 million in LIHTC funds since August 2012 and awarded about $75.5 million over the same period.

$365,800 to revamp Sanilac County homes (The Times Herald)
A $365,800 community development block grant is going to help more than a dozen low-income property owners in Sanilac County fix up their homes. The Michigan State Housing Development Authority, administering federal Housing and Urban Development funds, awarded the block grants to help with repairs and rehabilitative work in three targeted communities in three counties, also including Huron and Tuscola.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan roads need talent as much as a funding deal (Detroit Free Press)
The long slog to get a road-funding bill through the Michigan Legislature could lull us into thinking that fixing Michigan's roads is just a matter of finding enough money. If only it were that easy.

Michigan road-fix plan becomes 2016 campaign issue (AP)
No-new-tax Republicans banded together to narrowly pass Michigan's first fuel tax and vehicle registration fee increases in decades, a move Democrats eagerly hope voters will remember in 2016 and after.

Michigan Political Points: Tough-vote fatigue, buyers remorse in wake of road funding deal (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature finally got a roads deal done, which could clear the deck for other big action — if Republicans aren't too worn out from putting up tough votes that could come back to bite them in future elections.

Lawmakers, Snyder pivot to energy, Detroit schools (The Detroit News)
Lawmakers and Gov. Rick Snyder have pivoted to try to make sweeping changes in state energy policy and craft a state financial rescue of the Detroit Public Schools by year's end after cementing last week a five-year road funding plan.

Senate leader opposes bonds to accelerate road fixes (The Detroit News)
The leader of Michigan's Senate opposes pledging future increases in fuel taxes and vehicle fees toward bonds to accelerate road construction projects next summer.

House wants tougher penalties for abuse of elderly (Detroit Free Press)
Penalties for abusing vulnerable adults, including senior citizens, would increase under a package of four bills introduced in the Michigan Legislature last week.

Michigan ranks last in laws on ethics, transparency (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan ranks last in a national study of state ethics and transparency laws and safeguards, set for release today, partly due to its weak public records law and an absence of laws requiring personal financial disclosures by lawmakers and top state officials.

Bill would give some state workers police powers (Lansing State Journal)

State Sen. Peter MacGregor's Senate Bill 384 would give arrest powers to employees of the Department of Health & Human Service's Office of Inspector General. That agency investigates welfare fraud, such as when food stamps are sold for cash or used for ineligible items such as cigarettes.

DETROIT

Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan responds to turmoil in the Detroit Land Bank Authority (WXYZ)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan is responding to questions regarding the recent turmoil with the top leadership at the Detroit Land Bank Authority.

In their own words: Life after Detroit's bankruptcy (Detroit Free Press)
Was Detroit's bankruptcy successful? The Free Press asked some of the major players who designed Detroit's bankruptcy exit plan to share their perspective of the city's status one year later.

Knight Foundation re-ups, invests $9M in Detroit arts (Detroit Free Press)
The initial $9 million for the Knight Arts Challenge came bundled in a $19-million arts package that also funded major anchor institutions like the DIA, DSO, Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History and others.

The Story of Detroit's Bankruptcy: A "Takeover" or an Inevitable Financial Crisis? (WDET)
Detroit is approaching its one-year anniversary of emerging from the nation's largest-ever municipal bankruptcy, and the city has changed. Perhaps nowhere is that difference more apparent than in the roles of, and the relationship between, Detroit's elected leadership.

$1.7M EAA contract went to new firm with low-ranked bid (Detroit Free Press)
The district running Michigan's lowest-performing schools awarded a $1.7-million training contract to a company that scored 8th out of 10 companies seeking the work, according to documents reviewed by the Free Press.

Detroit's firefighting downgrade fuels insurance hikes (The Detroit News)
Chronic problems at the Detroit Fire Department are catching up to homeowners in the form of higher insurance rates. Detroit already has the highest rates in the state. Now, they're rising again for many, after a group that analyzes communities' fire protection for insurance companies downgraded the city.

OPINION

Arellan: Strong evaluations can boost teaching (Detroit News)
Think about five people who have made a difference in your life. Chances are, at least one is a teacher. Every student deserves a great teacher every year. And we know from research and personal experience that great teachers make all the difference. Indeed, research shows the quality of classroom instruction is the most significant in-school factor for improving learning.

Tedder: Problems of blight and oversight (Detroit News)
We all want to help Detroit. The restoration of this once-powerful, vibrant and prosperous city is a concern for residents statewide because, as many have said, the fate of that city is tied to the fate of Michigan.

Finley: Politics of road deal are baffling (Detroit News)
Set aside the debate over whether the road bill passed last week by the Legislature is more good than bad. It's the politics of the deal that don't make sense to me.

Editorial: Blight program needs diligent watchdogs (Detroit News)
Questions are rightly being raised about the skyrocketing cost of tearing down blighted structures in Detroit. With perhaps 40,000 homes and buildings waiting to be razed, the city must get the maximum benefit from its blight remediation dollars.

Year before water change, state knew of risks in Flint (Detroit Free Press)
State and local officials knew in 2013 that without proper treatment of water drawn from the Flint River, they risked subjecting the people of Flint to lead-contaminated drinking water.

Is Michigan on the road to ruin? (Detroit Free Press)
House Speaker Kevin Cotter was ebullient: Nearly four years after Gov. Rick Snyder warned (in his 2012 State of the State address) that Michigan's roads and bridges were in a dangerous state of disrepair, state legislators had at last agreed on a plan to increase funding for long overdue maintenance and reconstruction.

How self-driving cars will upend everything (Detroit Free Press)
There's an emerging consensus that America's cities are poised for revitalization and repopulation. Arguments vary as to why this is the case: Higher gasoline prices will make suburban and exurban living too expensive, today's young people prefer urban amenities, and older, retired people seek the convenience of large cities.

Who will take the lead on climate change? (Detroit Free Press)
Nearly everyone gets it about climate change.

Readers aren't sold on roads plan Snyder is ready to sign (Detroit Free Press)
The state House and Senate passed road-funding legislation last week that would raise the gas tax and registration fees to raise $600 million and earmark another $600 million in the general fund, in an effort to raise $1.2 billion for roads by 2021. Gov. Rick Snyder has said he plans to sign the legislation. Here's what readers had to say about the plan.

Snyder's road plan part B—for bonds—gets a F from both sides (MLive)
It's a good thing the governor doesn't play for his favorite coach, Jim What's-His-Name, because Mr. Snyder would be bounced from the team for aiding and abetting the enemy.

How to thank this veteran (and others): Support prevailing wage (MLive)
As we near Veterans Day, we will hear from many political leaders how grateful they are for our service. Some will express concern about veterans who return home and their opportunity to find a good job to support their families.

Road-fix deal gets rolling, but will it hit potholes along the way? (MLive)
Let's have a show of hands. Everyone who read the headlines that the Legislature passed a $1.2 billion road fix plan, raise your hand.

Full investigation needed at every level in Flint water crisis (MLive)
It's clear that the Flint water crisis was a failure of government. Residents are rightfully angry, and I'm angry over the lack of immediate action to address unsafe lead levels in the city's water.

Robert Erwin: Republican roads fix unfair, unrealistic (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Here we go again! Last spring, the Republicans tried to foist Proposal 1 on us. It was overwhelmingly rejected by about 80 percent of the voters because it put the burden of fixing the roads squarely on the backs of the middle class while corporations that just received a $2 billion tax cut weren't asked to contribute anything.

#####

From: Brown, Jessica (GOV)
Sent: Tuesday, November 10, 2015 9:56 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/10 Newsroom

Tuesday, Nov. 10, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Roads Signing Preview

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder to sign road funding plan into law today (MLive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder will sign a long-term road funding package into law on Tuesday afternoon, ending a years-long legislative battle over how best to address the state's crumbling infrastructure.

Snyder to sign road funding package Tuesday (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is to sign into law a controversial $1.2-billion road funding package on Tuesday.

Snyder to sign road-spending bills with tax hikes (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder planned Tuesday to sign legislation calling for a long-term increase in Michigan road repair financing through budget earmarks and increased motorist fees and taxes.

Gov. Rick Snyder to sign road funding bill today (WXYZ)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder will sign the road funding bill this afternoon at the Michigan Infrastructure and Transportation Association in Okemos.

Governor Snyder will sign new road funding package on Tuesday (9&10)
Governor Rick Snyder plans to sign the road funding package.

Snyder to sign Michigan roads funding bills package Tuesday (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder will sign off Tuesday on a new plan to boost road spending that includes a 20 percent hike in vehicle registration fees and a 7.3-cent gasoline tax increase.

Governor Snyder signing roads bills Tuesday (WILX)
Gov. Rick Snyder will sign a road-funding package into law on Tuesday afternoon near Lansing.

Gov. Rick Snyder to sign roads bill Tuesday afternoon (FOX 2)
The office of Governor Rick Snyder announced Monday that the governor will sign the road funding package approved by the house and senate last week.

Snyder to sign road bills Tuesday; plan has tax, fee hikes (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder will sign a road-funding package into law on Tuesday afternoon near Lansing.

Snyder: Road funding bill 'a good balance' (WOOD)
Gov. Rick Snyder will sign the long-awaited $1.2 billion road funding bill into law this week.

Governor to sign road funding legislation (WWMT)
Tuesday morning, Governor Snyder will sign a deal to fix Michigan's roads.

Skilled Trades Road Show
Gov. Rick Snyder launches statewide tour to promote skilled trades (MLive)
Gov. Rick Snyder gazed out into an audience of around 250 Kent Career Tech Center students Monday, Nov. 9, and said he was looking at Michigan's economic future and it is bright.

DPS
Gov. Snyder's new plan would split Detroit Public Schools in two (Michigan Radio)
Now that state lawmakers have cobbled together a roads package, the spotlight can turn to fresh priorities.

Lansing plan for DPS could involve EM firing (FOX 2)
The battle over Governor Snyder's plan to save Detroit Public Schools has been heating up in Lansin

Governor has lonely struggle pushing state aid to Detroit schools (WLNS)
Governor Rick Snyder wants state lawmakers to send state aid to the Detroit Schools to eliminate the $700 million deficit.

FIRST LADY'S ACTIVITIES
Raise Your Voice at WMU
First Lady Snyder to visit WMU, highlight campus assault prevention initiative (WKZO)
Podcast: Jim welcomes First Lady Sue Snyder

First Lady Sue Snyder tackles on campus sexual assault in Kalamazoo (WWMT)
Michigan's First Lady Sue Snyder says it's time to speak-up when it comes to on-campus sexual assault.

Michigan's First Lady visits WMU to talk about sexual assault prevention (MLive)
Michigan first lady Sue Snyder will visit Western Michigan University at 7 p.m. tonight, Monday, Nov. 9, to highlight the "Inform. Empower. Prevent. Let's End Campus Sexual Assault" initiative and grant program.

Michigan's First Lady visiting WMU to speak about campus sex assaults (WMMT)
Michigan's First Lady will be at WMU Monday, talking about the latest efforts to fight campus sex assaults.

DEPARTMENT NEWS
DEQ
Source of high lead levels in drinking water at one Flint school identified (Michigan Radio)
New tests suggest high lead levels in the drinking water at one Flint school may have a simple and inexpensive solution.

Flint students can be tested for lead after toxic levels found in schools (MLive)
Parents in Flint can get their children tested for lead during an education program hosted by the Flint School District after toxic levels of lead were found at three elementary schools in the district.

A top EPA official is meeting with a top critic of its handling of Flint's water woes (Michigan Radio)

A meeting this week may help produce an update into a possible federal probe of Flint's water problems.

DNR

Michigan DNR seeks public input on future improvements to Belle Isle's athletic complex (Click on Detroit)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is seeking input from the public on future improvements at Belle Isle's athletic complex. An open house is planned from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday at the Belle Isle casino. The DNR is in the beginning stages of planning improvements to the complex, scheduled to be phased in over the next few years. The event will include roundtable discussions about ideas for the athletic fields and courts on the island park in the Detroit River.

Logging planned for Mio Pond campground, fishing site (AP)
Portions of the Mio Pond State Forest Campground and fishing site in Oscoda County will be cut down over the next several months. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says the logging operations are expected to begin early next week. The DNR says all aspen trees within the areas will be removed because they've reached an age where they are a hazard to visitors, often snapping off during storms.

Wayne County OKs deal to build pier at wildlife refuge (The Detroit News)
Wayne County commissioners have approved a $1 million deal with a coalition of Downriver communities to build a boat dock and fishing pier at a wildlife refuge.The 15-member county commission voted unanimously to OK the agreement with the Downriver Community Conference for the project at the Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge Gateway in Trenton and Gibraltar. Based in Southgate, the Downriver Community Conference is an alliance of 20 Wayne County cities and townships.

Lake Huron commercial trial ends 1st year (The Times Herald)
The first year of a three-year experiment allowing commercial fishing for whitefish in southern Lake Huron is wrapping up. Tom Goniea, the administrator for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' commercial fishing program, said commercial fisherman Dana Serafin of Pinconning had collapsed his trap nets before pulling them. "He's done for the season now," Goniea said. "I was out on his boat (Oct. 26) when he did his last set of the year."

Deer hunters, don't forget to apply for Pure Michigan Hunt (Petoskey News)
The Department of Natural Resources reminds deer hunters, while buying their deer licenses this year, to take a moment to purchase Pure Michigan Hunt applications, because there is still plenty of time to make 2016 the hunt of a lifetime. Applications are on sale until Dec. 31, and three winners will be randomly drawn in January 2016. Applications are $5 each, in unlimited quantities, and can be purchased at any license agent or online at E-License. Pure Michigan Hunt winners receive licenses including elk, bear, spring and fall turkey, and antlerless deer and first pick at a managed waterfowl hunt area, all to be used in the 2016 hunting season. Along with the hunting licenses, each winner will receive a hunting prize package valued at more than $4,000.

MDARD

Scam Week: Looking at skimmers (WWMT)
The Newschannel 3 I-Team is digging into what's behind the high tech scam of "skimming," which is exploding in West Michigan.

Credit card information stolen with 'skimmer' at gas station (Up North Live)
Thieves are stealing credit card information at the pump and they've made their way to northern Michigan.

Roseville woman accused of food law violations (Macomb Daily)
A 35-year-old Roseville woman accused of selling canned food products with improper labels and without a license at farm markets was formally charged last month and faces a pretrial later this month.

MDE

From the Daily: Testing Action Plan a good (M-)STEP (Michigan Daily)

A solution to fix standardized testing practices has recently bubbled up. On Oct. 24, the Obama administration admitted it had pushed too far in holding state schools accountable based on their students' standardized test scores. In light of this acknowledgment, the administration called on Congress to include specific measures that address the overemphasis on standardized testing in the Elementary and Secondary Education Act — a bill previously termed No Child Left Behind. Two different versions of the ESEA were reauthorized in July by both the House and the Senate, and the fate of the bill lies in the two chambers' ability to compromise.

MDOC

Michigan revising rates for inmate calls after FCC decision (AP)

The Michigan Department of Corrections is revising rates for inmate phone calls after the Federal Communications Commission decided to reduce the cost of jail and prison phone calls. Corrections Department spokesman Chris Gautz tells The Detroit News (http://detne.ws/1QdBreL) officials are working to determine how the change will impact revenue. The department last year generated $11.5 million from inmate calls. The money flows into a "special equipment fund" used in recent years for security upgrades and counseling programs such as violence prevention and sex-offender treatment.

MDOT

FPS superintendent makes grade recommendation Tuesday (Farmington Voice)

Farmington Public Schools Superintendent George Heitsch will present a recommendation for grade reconfiguration during a special school board meeting held Tuesday at 7 p.m., in the North Farmington High School Auditorium. Officials will discuss the recommendation, which is expected to drive the conversation around a Building and Site Utilization Committee report on the impact of closing and/or repurposing school buildings. The board will host another special meeting at 7 p.m. on November 30, at Harrison High School, to hear public comment on tonight's recommendations.

MSP

State police reminding everyone to move over or slow down for emergency vehicles (MI News 26)

The Michigan State Police would like to remind everyone that state law requires motorists to move over for stationary emergency vehicles that have their lights activated. If it's possible you should safely change lanes to give a wide berth for the officers or to at least slow down and pass with caution. MSP released this photo of a patrol vehicle of what can happen when you don't exercise caution.

SOS

Where does Michigan rank in a "State Integrity Investigation"? Dead last (Michigan Radio)

Fiftieth out of fifty states. That's where Michigan ranks in a report released today by the Center for Public Integrity. The last time we wrote about this, Michigan ranked 43rd out of 50. In his piece on Michigan for the Center for Public Integrity, Chad Selweski details just why Michigan is at the bottom of the barrel: A significant factor in Michigan's 2015 ranking is its lack of effective disclosure rules for officials in nearly all facets of state government. Conflicts of interest and potential public corruption remain buried in an honor system with no honor.

Thanks to loopholes created by the legislature, big spenders representing special interests can dramatically influence an election without leaving a trace.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Integrity Report ranks Michigan worst in nation for government transparency, accountability (MLive)

Michigan has the worst government transparency and accountability laws and practices in the country, according a new corruptibility report card from the Center for Public Integrity. Michigan received a failing grade — and the lowest overall score — from CPI, which measured each state on 250 specific "indicators" related to ethics enforcement, lobbying disclosure, political financing, legislative accountability and more.

Bill would give some state workers police powers (Detroit Free Press)

Critics say a bill giving new police powers to certain state workers would create "welfare police" to punish the poor, but supporters say it's a stride toward efficiency and protecting taxpayer dollars. State Sen. Peter MacGregor's Senate Bill 384 would give arrest powers to employees of the Department of Health & Human Service's Office of Inspector General. That agency investigates welfare fraud, such as when food stamps are sold for cash or used for ineligible items such as cigarettes.

Hoadley: Legislators reviewing proposed Michigan energy bill package (WTVB)
Rep. Jon Hoadley says Michigan legislators have begun reviewing the details of a proposed state energy bill package. Hoadley, a Democrat from Kalamazoo, said it left committee last Thursday night, and votes on elements of the package could come as early as Tuesday in the House. "There's, like, four big pieces of it," Hoadley said. "How much is renewable? How much is energy-efficiency? How much our rate-payers going to pay? Then there's some other issues around monopoly and choice."

A bill aims to more fairly split purses at state's last two racetracks (Bridge Magazine)
An update to Michigan's 20-year-old horse racing statute pending in the state Senate could reconfigure the way purse money is paid out to the state's two remaining racing tracks. Senate Bill 504, introduced by Sen. David Robertson, R-Grand Blanc Township, would update a 1995 state law that deals with everything from revenue distribution to the number of days of live racing (Robertson did not return messages seeking comment).

New virtual tour of Michigan Capitol building unveiled (Crain's Detroit Business)
The state over the weekend rolled out an interactive virtual tour of Michigan's Capitol building, meaning it now takes just a computer and an Internet connection to visit the historic building. The Michigan Capitol Commission, the Capitol's governing board, formally unveiled the feature today. The group calls it the only such tour of a statehouse anywhere in the country.

DETROIT

What Mayor Mike Duggan called 'No. 1 risk to Detroit's recovery' (MLive)
Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan thanked Grand Rapids Mayor George Heartwell for a good working relationship and congratulated mayor-elect Rosalynn Bliss during an Economic Club luncheon this afternoon. Then, after the second-year mayor of Michigan's largest city illustrated several positive developments, Duggan highlighted something Detroit and Grand Rapids share when he was asked to identify his city's biggest challenge.

Jurors award $250,000 to Pugh accuser (The Detroit News)
Jurors on Monday awarded $250,000 to a former Detroit Public Schools student who claimed former City Council President Charles Pugh offered him money in exchange for a sex video. In a split verdict, the jury dismissed a sexual harassment claim brought by the former student against Pugh, but found Pugh liable for battery and intentional infliction of emotional distress in the civil case.

After bankruptcy, Detroit's second shot (Lansing State Journal)
The city of Detroit has more than enough cash to pay its daily bills. Thousands of busted streetlights have been replaced. City retirees still receive pension checks and valuable paintings remain ensconced in the gilded halls of the Detroit Institute of Arts. That's the good news. But a year after a federal judge approved a cost-cutting and reinvestment plan in the nation's largest-ever municipal bankruptcy case, Detroit's financial future still hangs in the balance.
Detroit's firefighting downgrade fuels insurance hikes (The Detroit News)
Chronic problems at the Detroit Fire Department are catching up to homeowners in the form of higher insurance rates. Detroit already has the highest rates in the state. Now, they're rising again for many, after a group that analyzes communities' fire protection for insurance companies downgraded the city. It's the first time the firm, New Jersey-based Insurance Services Office, has changed Detroit's rating in at least 25 years.

Nonprofit opens Ideas Box for Detroit recreation center (The Detroit News)

A nonprofit group committed to boosting educational efforts around the world unwrapped a gift of sorts Monday in Detroit. Libraries Without Borders "opened" the Ideas Box, a portable media center that provides the Internet, books, tablets, cameras and tools to access information for use in the city's Farwell Recreation Center, officials announced.

OPINION

Michigan roads need talent as much as a funding deal (Detroit Free Press)
The long slog to get a road-funding bill through the Michigan Legislature could lull us into thinking that fixing Michigan's roads is just a matter of finding enough money. If only it were that easy.

Michigan Legislature, heal thyself (Detroit Free Press)
Since convening 10 months ago, the current Michigan Legislature has cracked down on local minimum wage requirements, authorized commercial quadricycles to serve alcohol, and even addressed (however inadequately) the chronic underfunding of state roads.

Bensten: Why the Common Core tests are collapsing (Detroit News)
Common Core is the latest in a series of failed federal education reforms. The goal was for individual states to adopt these national academic standards and tests.

Our editorial: Keep momentum on rape kit testing (Detroit News)
Wayne County will give $1 million to the ongoing testing and investigation of backlogged rape kits discovered six years ago in a Detroit police facility. It's the right move for the county, past mismanagement of which no doubt contributed to the kits' neglect.

M-STEP scores may shock, but don't shoot the messenger (MLive)
Five long years ago, Michigan and more than 40 other states adopted tough new standards in reading and math, setting dramatically higher expectations for students in elementary and secondary schools. Now we've reached a critical milestone in this effort, as the public just got to see for the first time the scores on the new tests aligned to the standards. The news was sobering.

Our view: A long time coming (Midland Daily News)
After years of debating a solution to Michigan's road funding shortfall, the state legislature last week finally found the willpower to narrowly pass legislation that, over time, will provided needed funding for infrastructure projects.

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Wednesday, November 11, 2015 2:03 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - November 11, 2015

NEWS

Michigan State No. 13, Michigan No. 14 in College Football Playoff rankings

MLive.com

Michigan State stands at No. 13 and Michigan is No. 14 in the most recent College Football Playoff rankings released on ESPN on Tuesday night.

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State prepares to sign No. 2-ranked recruiting class in country, best of Tom Izzo era

MLive.com

Miles Bridges, five star basketball recruit and Flint native, talks with members of the media after signing with Michigan State University on Saturday, ...

MSU's entire hoops recruiting class signs on first day - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Izzo wants more defense out of MSU entering season

Detroit Free Press

EAST LANSING -- The state of the Michigan State basketball team entering its first game can be summed up in these words from senior center Matt ...

Jamie: MSU game proves replay review must go further - Detroit Free Press (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Secondary's struggles finally catch up to Michigan State

USA TODAY

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Before the controversial touchdown that ended Michigan State's hopes of an undefeated season, the Spartans' biggest ...

Michigan State coach Mark Dantonio 'not worried about the style points' - MLive.com

MSU players, coaches express need to persevere after letdown - Detroit Free Press

UM aware it needs Ohio State's help to win Big Ten - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

5 things to watch. Michigan State looks for authoritative win over Maryland

MLive.com

Michigan State coach Mark Dantonio, who has led the Spartans to wins in 34 of their last 38 games, looks to have MSU walking tall again.

Michigan State Spartans 2015–16 team preview - Sports Illustrated

Michigan State Spartans vs. Nebraska Cornhuskers: Betting odds, point spread - Financial Company Voices

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State vs. Maryland Prediction, Game Preview

Campus Insiders

Can Michigan State (8-1) bounceback and become a player in the Big Ten title chase again? It still has almost everything on the table, but it can't blow ...

Terps Set to Face #14 Michigan State - UMTerps.com

Maryland WR sees 'great opportunity' for upset vs. MSU - Detroit Free Press

Maryland expecting to face resilient Michigan State team this weekend - Carroll County Times

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's Jack Conklin puts his foot down on 'lucky play' finishes

MLive.com

Michigan State Outland Trophy candidate Jack Conklin, a former walk-on from Plainwell who has grown into one of the finest offensive tackles in the ...

Flag as irrelevant

Four-star DL Naquan Jones decommits from Michigan State

MLive.com

Jones becomes a rare player to decommit from Michigan State under Mark Dantonio, and the first player in the class of 2016. He announced his ...

Naquan Jones Decommits from Michigan State: Latest Details, Comments, Reaction - Bleacher Report

Top247 DT decommits from Michigan State - 247Sports

Four-star DT Naquan Jones decommits from MSU - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

EPA to audit Michigan drinking water program following Flint lead crisis

MLive.com

Dan Kildee, D-Flint, and state Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich, D-Flint. Brad Wurfel, a spokesman for the DEQ, issued a statement today, pledging ...

State urges water tests at Flint homes, businesses - The Detroit News

EPA to audit Michigan's oversight of water safety - Detroit Free Press
Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State ties school record with 5 already invited to Senior Bowl

MLive.com

Michigan State product Jeremy Langford shined at the Senior Bowl last season before being drafted by the Chicago Bears in the 2015 NFL draft.

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.
Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, November 12, 2015 9:40 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/12 Newsroom
Attachments: 151112 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, November 12, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Road Bills Signing
Gov. Snyder to sign road-spending bills with tax hikes (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder will sign a road-spending package into law that includes the state's first fuel tax and vehicle registration fee increases in decades.The long-elusive legislation to be enacted on Tuesday raises the gasoline tax hike by 7.3 cents and vehicle registration fees by 20 percent in 2017. It also permanently shifts existing state funds toward road work starting in three years.

Gov. Snyder signs $1.2B road funding package (Detroit Free Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder capped a four-year effort Tuesday when he signed into law a $1.2-billion road funding package that will hike fuel taxes and registration fees and also take $600 million a year from the state's general fund to fix and maintain Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges. The package, narrowly passed by the Legislature on Nov. 3, has drawn praise from the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, which says better roads will help the state's business climate, and the Michigan Infrastructure & Transportation Association, which represents the road building industry and hosted Snyder's bill-signing ceremony.

Gov. Snyder to sign road plan into law on Tuesday (WWMT)
The road funding plan passed by state lawmakers just last week will soon become law. Governor Rick Snyder is expected to sign the $1.2 billion plan on Tuesday. That plan includes increases to vehicle registration fees and taxes on gasoline. Governor Snyder will be joined by the managing director of the Road Commission of Kalamazoo County, among others, as he signs that plan into law.

Skilled Trades Road Show
Gov. Praises Tech Center Programs, Encourages Students (School News Network)
To make a device to help a girl with cerebral palsy open her locker was cool enough. To be able to demonstrate it to Gov. Rick Snyder? "Amazing," said Trevor Corrigan. "It was just an unthinkable opportunity," said Trevor, an engineering student at the Kent Career Tech Center, after taking part in Snyder's tour on Monday. The Northview High School senior showed the governor how his eight-member team designed and 3-D-printed a plastic mechanism that will make it easier for sixth-grader Brin DeVries to open her locker at Excel Charter Academy.

DPS

Will Governor Fire Detroit Public Schools' Emergency Manager? (Deadline Detroit)
State Senate Democratic leader Jim Ananich wants to help Gov. Rick Snyder push a plan that would pump $700 million in state support into the Detroit school district to eradicate the deficit. But he wants one thing: He wants Snyder to fire the district's emergency manager, Darnell Earley, reports Fox 2's Tim Skubick.

MISCELLANEOUS

Gov. Rick Snyder honors Michigan's veterans (UPMatters)
Gov. Rick Snyder issued the following statement in honor of Veterans Day.

Gov. Snyder champions the Kalamazoo Promise, challenges other locales to take the city's lead (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder was in Kalamazoo on Wednesday to applaud the 10-year anniversary of the Kalamazoo Promise.

Gov. Rick Snyder talks shipping, energy, casino in Muskegon visit (MLive)
Hours after the Port of Muskegon received its last shipment of coal to the closing B.C. Cobb plant, Gov. Rick Snyder was in town talking about the future of shipping and energy.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Political Opposites Run 26.2—Together (Runner's World)
Michigan Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein and Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley don't agree on much. After all, Bernstein is a progressive Democrat, Calley a conservative Republican.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ

EPA to audit Michigan drinking water program following Flint lead crisis (Mlive)
In the wake of a public health crisis over high lead levels in water in some Flint homes, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has announced it will audit the state's drinking water program. A Nov. 10 news release from the EPA says it will examine the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's "implementation of the Safe Drinking Water Act and related rules on lead and copper, total coliform, nitrates and ground water."

EPA to audit Michigan's oversight of water safety (Detroit Free Press)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will audit the state of Michigan's drinking water safety program in the wake of Flint's water crisis, which found lead in the city's water system. The audit comes after the Michigan Department of Environment Quality admitted last month that it used the wrong protocols after it approved Flint's switch to the Flint River as its primary source of drinking water last year.

DNR

National Guard helps DNR construct UP multi-use trails (Your Daily Globe)
On Veterans Day, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources points out the trail-making efforts of the 1432nd Engineer Company of the Michigan Army National Guard. The unit, based in Kingsford with a detachment in Iron River, has conducted heavy equipment training exercises that have improved state and local multi-use trails in Iron County.

MDE

Watch Ann Arbor schools earn awards at 2015 National Blue Ribbon ceremony (Mlive)
Two Ann Arbor Public Schools elementaries earned 2015 National Blue Ribbon School awards, and all of Ann Arbor can have a front-row seat to the recognition ceremony. The U.S. Department of Education named Angell and Wines elementary schools to its list of 335 schools that earned the prestigious award for academic excellence and work on closing the achievement gap. Of those 335 schools in the nation, 13 are from Michigan.

Tougher science standards OK'd, social studies delayed (Detroit Free Press)
The State Board of Education approved new science standards today that will alter the way students are taught the subject, while the Michigan Department of Education put changes to social studies standards on hold. The change in the science standards means there will be greater emphasis on thinking and acting like a scientist and less emphasis on memorizing basic facts. The idea is for students to have a deeper knowledge of the subject.

Group says Clarkston teacher forced to pay union fees in right-to-work violation (Mlive)
A national group that advocates against mandatory union membership claims a Michigan teacher's union and school district have violated the state's right-to-work law. Ron Conwell, a computer science teacher at Clarkston Community Schools, filed a complaint Monday with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission against the district and the Clarkston Education Association, according to the National Right to Work Foundation.

Michigan Has New Science Standards for K-12 Students (WMUK)
Michigan school districts will implement new science standards over the next seven years. The State Board of Education overwhelmingly adopted the new standards on Tuesday. Supporters say the standards will increase interest in science by applying lessons to real-life scenarios.

MDOC
Appeals court: State worker not disabled (Lansing State Journal)
A Michigan Department of Corrections nurse was not totally disabled by post-traumatic stress disorder after she was attacked by an inmate, the Michigan Court of Appeals has ruled. The nurse, Valerie Hammond, was attacked in February 2007 by a prisoner at the Marquette Branch Prison while performing an examination.

MDOT
MDOT revokes Dearborn Heights-based limo rental's operating authority (Crain's Business Detroit)
Dearborn Heights-based Entertainment Express Limousine and Party Bus has lost its operating license after incurring 36 violations over the past year, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced Tuesday. This is the first time MDOT has revoked a company's operating license following legal action, according to Jean Rustman, administrator of MDOT's Program Administration Section.

Michigan DOT holds public webinar on long-range transportation plan revisions (Equipment World)
The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is holding a public webinar Nov. 12 to discuss "forecasts and strategies" in the state's "MI Transportation Plan: Moving Michigan Forward." The current plan covers the years 2005 to 2035 and MDOT is looking to add plans continuing to 2040.

MDHHS
November is Michigan Diabetes Awareness Month (UP Matter/TV 3)
An estimated 10.4 percent of Michigan adults 18 years and older have been diagnosed with diabetes. That's why the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is highlighting Michigan Diabetes Awareness Month with an event at the Michigan Capitol Building on Thursday, November 12 at 9:30 a.m. at the State Capitol Rotunda. The event is jointly sponsored by the American Diabetes Association and the Diabetes Partners in Action Coalition.

'Dismemberment abortion' ban advances from House committee (Mlive)
A bill to ban what pro-life advocates refer to as "dismemberment abortion" advanced from the House Criminal Justice Committee on Tuesday without the support of Democratic members. House Bill 4833 seeks to ban any abortion procedure that uses a device to "dismember a living fetus by disarticulating limbs or decapitating the head from the fetal torso and removing the dismembered fetal body parts from the uterus." These are sometimes referred to as D&E abortions, short for dilation and evacuation, and are usually performed during the second trimester.

MVAA

Veterans comprise more of DTE Energy employee ranks (PR Newswire)
When Sgt. Glen Williams returned home from Iraq during the Gulf War, he felt honored to have served his country for eight years. "On the plane with my fellow soldiers, there was such a sense of pride in America, and a feeling of being blessed to have served," he said. But Williams had doubts, too. Doubts such as what he would do next.

General Motors Awarded 'Gold-Level Employer' Certification By Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (GM Authority)
The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA) has recognized General Motors' ongoing efforts to hire and train U.S. military veterans with Gold-Level Veteran Employer Certification, the first time an automaker has received the award. The Veteran Employer Certification recognizes companies committed to military veteran recruitment, training, and retention practices, with the Gold level standing above silver and bronze to represent the highest echelon of MVAA's awards.

'Buddy To Buddy' program offers peer support for veterans (Click on Detroit)
Stephanie Zarb, an Air Force veteran originally from Redford, recalls how she felt when she first returned home. "I really struggled for a long time," Zarb said. "It was about six months after I came home, I couldn't find a job, I really didn't know what to do and like most veterans, I called my buddies and said, 'Hey what do I do?'"

MSU war veterans honored at Veterans Day breakfast (The State News)
Today is Veterans Day, a holiday dedicated to appreciating the labors and sacrifices of those who have served in America's military, as well as honoring the memory of those lost in the nation's conflicts. In honor of veterans who are either current students or Alumni at MSU, the MSU Student Veterans of America chapter held a Veterans Day Breakfast in the Huntington Club at Spartan Stadium this morning. The event — the first of its kind held by the chapter — featured a catered meal and guest appearances by MSU President Lou Anna K. Simon and Ret. Brigadier General Michael C.H. McDaniel, former Assistant Adjutant General for Homeland Security for the Michigan National Guard.

MPSC

Michigan Agency for Energy/Michigan Public Service Commission and Saginaw Plaza Receive the 2015 Energy Services Coalition, MI Chapter Award for Economic Leadership in Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy (Businesswire)
a leading energy efficiency and renewable energy company, announced today that the Michigan Agency for Energy/Michigan Public Service Commission (MAE/MPSC) were awarded the 2015 Energy Services Coalition (ESC) Award for Economic Leadership in Energy Efficiency. "Ameresco congratulates MAE/MPSC for being recognized with this award"

MSP

Michigan police propose changes to medical pot dispensary bill, end of caregiver model (Mlive)
Michigan law enforcement officials are not fully backing plans to overhaul the state's medical marijuana system, but unlike last year, they aren't standing in the way of proposed legislation. "While law enforcement cannot support any legislation that by definition is illegal under federal law due to the classification of marijuana, what we can do is find a position not to oppose having a tough and tight regulatory framework," said Howell Police Chief George Basar, legislative chairman for the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Senate votes to move Oakland executive election (AP)
The election of Oakland County's executive would be switched to midterm instead of presidential years under legislation approved by the Michigan Senate. Supporters of the bill passed Tuesday say it makes sense for the suburban Detroit county to elect its top leader when neighboring Wayne and Macomb counties do. Democrats say the bill is a politically motivated bid to help Republicans retain power in Oakland whenever longtime Executive L. Brooks Patterson retires.

Senates nixes paid union release time for public workers (AP)

A divided Michigan Senate has narrowly voted to prohibit public employers from authorizing paid release time for unionized employees to conduct union business. Republicans approved the bill Tuesday 20-17 and sent it to the House, with Democrats and some Republicans in opposition.

Michigan Senate committee votes to eliminate straight-ticket voting in elections (Click on Detroit)
Michigan voters could no longer cast a straight ticket for a slate of candidates representing the party of their choice under legislation sent to the floor of the state Senate. Republicans on the Senate Elections and Government Reform Committee passed the bill along party lines Tuesday.

Straight-ticket voting ban speeds through Michigan Senate with shield against repeal (Mlive)
Michigan voters would lose the ability to cast a straight-ticket ballot for candidates of a single political party under fast-tracked legislation approved Tuesday evening in the state Senate. The Republican-backed bill advanced through committee earlier the same day before reaching the floor, where it was amended to include a $1 million appropriation that would make it immune to referendum.

What Michigan's new road funding rules mean for you, your taxes and your roads (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed into law a series of new road funding laws that will raise taxes by $600 million a year and eventually re-prioritize another $600 million in state spending. The Republican-crafted plan represents Michigan's largest transportation funding increase in more than 50 years, according to Snyder, but it's faced criticism for various tax changes, a delayed phase in and the potential effect on other government services.

Lansing set to ignore '02 voting referendum (The Times Herald)
Michigan lawmakers, after getting an 'F' for transparency and accountability from the Center for Public Integrity, mean to protect that accomplishment by ignoring one of your past votes and making your future votes more time-consuming. The state Senate on Wednesday passed a bill that would eliminate straight-ticket voting in Michigan. The bill now goes to the House.

Senate votes to end straight-ticket voting, union employee leave time (Crain's Business Detroit)
The Republican-controlled Michigan Senate flexed its political muscle Tuesday, voting to end straight-ticket voting and paid union leave for public workers and to switch the date for electing a suburban Detroit county's executive. The bills, which Democrats decried as blatantly partisan, were sent to the GOP-led House mostly along party lines, with some Republicans in opposition.

Why Michigan's proposed 30 percent clean energy goal may not be as impressive as it sounds (Mlive)
Democrats won a clean energy amendment to a package to overhaul Michigan energy policy as it advanced from committee last week, but advocates say 30 percent by 2025 isn't as impressive as it sounds. If you drill down into the numbers, advocates say 30 percent may be more like 5 percent in actual new renewable energy.

Michigan Democrats run 'birthday tax' ads blasting Republican road funding plan (Mlive)
While Gov. Rick Snyder was signing a long-term road funding plan into law Tuesday, the Michigan Democratic Party was launching a series of ads targeting Republican lawmakers who voted for it. Four of them, anyway, who just happen to represent highly competitive districts.

DETROIT

County school leaders cautious on DPS rescue plan (The Detroit News)
The leaders of intermediate school districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties said Tuesday they don't want a rescue of Detroit Public Schools to come at the expense of other districts. During a meeting with The Detroit News Editorial Board, the superintendents of the Macomb ISD, Oakland Schools and Wayne RESA said they understand the need to pay off DPS' debt and create a new, debt-free Detroit district, as did officials from the Tri-County Alliance for Public Education, which represents superintendents in the three Metro Detroit counties.

Detroit Schools: Financial audit shows budget deficit for 2014-15 smaller than projected (Click on Detroit)
A report shows the Detroit Public Schools deficit is smaller than originally projected. The district said Tuesday that officials expected a deficit of about $70 million during the 2014-15 fiscal year, but an audit filed Nov. 2 with the state puts it at $46.5 million.

Detroit Public Schools shows $1.66 billion net deficit under new accounting requirement (Crain's Business Detroit)
Now that the Detroit Public Schools has to count pension obligations, the district's balance sheet is looking its worst ever. In the first set of annual financial statements since the city emerged from bankruptcy, Detroit Public Schools reported a $1.66 billion net deficit, a 118 percent increase from the year prior. The change was almost entirely led by a new line on the balance sheet: $858 million of unfunded pension liabilities, thanks to the implementation of a new accounting law that requires shortfalls to be counted against an entity's assets on its annual balance sheet, according to financial documents published Tuesday.

Detroit comeback story to be featured in 2016 Pure Michigan campaign (Crain's Business Detroit)
Detroit's post-bankruptcy story will be a highlight of the Pure Michigan marketing campaign in 2016, as the state tries to redirect its image from a city in transition to an outright tourist destination. The city will be the star of a 30-second national television commercial, expected to hit screens next spring. Actor and Michigan native Tim Allen again will provide the narration.

Volunteers who want to help Detroit kids read say system they signed up to help is 'broken' (WXYZ)
In 2009 Detroit Public Schools put out a call for action. It wanted 100,000 volunteers to help make sure every kid in the district learned how to read. Carol Caya responded. She went through a background check, training, and volunteering for a time with the DPS Volunteer Reading Corps. She was waiting for her next assignment.

Wayne State gets grant to prepare math teachers for Detroit classrooms (Michigan Radio)
Wayne State University is getting a $1.4 million grant to prepare elementary and middle school math teachers to teach in Detroit. The grant from the National Science Foundation's Robert Noyce Teacher Scholarship Program will help WSU recruit and train 56 new math teachers to teach in Detroit classrooms.

OPINION

Jacques: Lawmakers reluctant on fixing Detroit schools (Detroit News)
The Legislature finally got a road funding proposal finished. But even with that hurdle behind it, lawmakers are showing great reluctance to take up the next major project: fixing Detroit schools.

Editorial: Auto pacts place pay over jobs (Detroit News)
The UAW made remarkable economic gains in this year's negotiations with the Big Three automakers, largely by gradually eliminating the second wage tier imposed on them eight years ago. The two-tier system helped then-struggling automakers save on labor costs, but drastically reduced the earnings expectation of newly hired autoworkers.

Editor's note: State improving, still must grow (Detroit News)
Michigan's business climate continues to rebound strongly from its Lost Decade at the start of this century. A new report from Business Leaders for Michigan confirms the state is becoming more competitive in a number of key areas

Thompson: Flint mayor sees hope, challenges ahead (Detroit News)
Karen Weaver, the newly elected mayor of Flint, speaks with pride and confidence about the city that raised her, giving the impression her job is going to be easy. She beams as she talks about her heritage: how her mother, Marion Coates Williams, was the first African-American teacher in Flint; her father, the late T. Wendell Williams, the first black elected to the Flint Board of Education.
Editor's note: Michiganians reflect Detroit's spirit (Detroit News)
Wednesday night, The Detroit News presents its annual Michiganians of the Year awards, honoring those in our state who worked to make Michigan a better place to live. This year, we have themed the awards around Detroit's rescue and revival. The nine honorees either played key roles in moving Detroit through bankruptcy, or have dedicated themselves to the city's ongoing recovery. These individuals are representative of the spirit of Detroit, and it's determination to survive and thrive.

On parole reform, evidence says the sky won't fall (MLive)
It turns out the "tough on crime" movement was built on a lot of false premises: Locking up small-time drug offenders fills prisons and undermines communities but has little impact on drug dealing or use.

Road deal made by politicians who won't face the consequences (Bridge MI)
Nearly a quarter of a century ago, the Michigan Constitution was amended to impose term limits on those elected to govern our state. A governor may now only serve two four-year terms.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, November 12, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Road Bills Signing

Gov. Snyder to sign road-spending bills with tax hikes (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder will sign a road-spending package into law that includes the state's first fuel tax and vehicle registration fee increases in decades.The long-elusive legislation to be enacted on Tuesday raises the gasoline tax hike by 7.3 cents and vehicle registration fees by 20 percent in 2017. It also permanently shifts existing state funds toward road work starting in three years.

Gov. Snyder signs $1.2B road funding package (Detroit Free Press)
Gov. Rick Snyder capped a four-year effort Tuesday when he signed into law a $1.2-billion road funding package that will hike fuel taxes and registration fees and also take $600 million a year from the state's general fund to fix and maintain Michigan's crumbling roads and bridges. The package, narrowly passed by the Legislature on Nov. 3, has drawn praise from the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, which says better roads will help the state's business climate, and the Michigan Infrastructure & Transportation Association, which represents the road building industry and hosted Snyder's bill-signing ceremony.

Gov. Snyder to sign road plan into law on Tuesday (WWMT)
The road funding plan passed by state lawmakers just last week will soon become law. Governor Rick Snyder is expected to sign the $1.2 billion plan on Tuesday. That plan includes increases to vehicle registration fees and taxes on gasoline. Governor Snyder will be joined by the managing director of the Road Commission of Kalamazoo County, among others, as he signs that plan into law.

Skilled Trades Road Show

Gov. Praises Tech Center Programs, Encourages Students (School News Network)
To make a device to help a girl with cerebral palsy open her locker was cool enough. To be able to demonstrate it to Gov. Rick Snyder? "Amazing," said Trevor Corrigan. "It was just an unthinkable opportunity," said Trevor, an engineering student at the Kent Career Tech Center, after taking part in Snyder's tour on Monday. The Northview High School senior showed the governor how his eight-member team designed and 3-D-printed a plastic mechanism that will make it easier for sixth-grader Brin DeVries to open her locker at Excel Charter Academy.

DPS

Will Governor Fire Detroit Public Schools' Emergency Manager? (Deadline Detroit)
State Senate Democratic leader Jim Ananich wants to help Gov. Rick Snyder push a plan that would pump $700 million in state support into the Detroit school district to eradicate the deficit. But he wants one thing: He wants Snyder to fire the district's emergency manager, Darnell Earley, reports Fox 2's Tim Skubick.

MISCELLANEOUS

Gov. Rick Snyder honors Michigan's veterans (UPMatters)

Gov. Rick Snyder issued the following statement in honor of Veterans Day.

Gov. Snyder champions the Kalamazoo Promise, challenges other locales to take the city's lead (WKZO)
Gov. Rick Snyder was in Kalamazoo on Wednesday to applaud the 10-year anniversary of the Kalamazoo Promise.

Gov. Rick Snyder talks shipping, energy, casino in Muskegon visit (MLive)
Hours after the Port of Muskegon received its last shipment of coal to the closing B.C. Cobb plant, Gov. Rick Snyder was in town talking about the future of shipping and energy.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Political Opposites Run 26.2—Together (Runner's World)
Michigan Supreme Court Justice Richard Bernstein and Michigan Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley don't agree on much. After all, Bernstein is a progressive Democrat, Calley a conservative Republican.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
EPA to audit Michigan drinking water program following Flint lead crisis (Mlive)
In the wake of a public health crisis over high lead levels in water in some Flint homes, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has announced it will audit the state's drinking water program. A Nov. 10 news release from the EPA says it will examine the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's "implementation of the Safe Drinking Water Act and related rules on lead and copper, total coliform, nitrates and ground water."

EPA to audit Michigan's oversight of water safety (Detroit Free Press)
The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will audit the state of Michigan's drinking water safety program in the wake of Flint's water crisis, which found lead in the city's water system. The audit comes after the Michigan Department of Environment Quality admitted last month that it used the wrong protocols after it approved Flint's switch to the Flint River as its primary source of drinking water last year.

DNR
National Guard helps DNR construct UP multi-use trails (Your Daily Globe)
On Veterans Day, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources points out the trail-making efforts of the 1432nd Engineer Company of the Michigan Army National Guard. The unit, based in Kingsford with a detachment in Iron River, has conducted heavy equipment training exercises that have improved state and local multi-use trails in Iron County.

MDE
Watch Ann Arbor schools earn awards at 2015 National Blue Ribbon ceremony (Mlive)
Two Ann Arbor Public Schools elementaries earned 2015 National Blue Ribbon School awards, and all of Ann Arbor can have a front-row seat to the recognition ceremony. The U.S. Department of Education named Angell and Wines elementary schools to its list of 335 schools that earned the prestigious award for academic excellence and work on closing the achievement gap. Of those 335 schools in the nation, 13 are from Michigan.

Tougher science standards OK'd, social studies delayed (Detroit Free Press)
The State Board of Education approved new science standards today that will alter the way students are taught the subject, while the Michigan Department of Education put changes to social studies standards on hold. The change in the science standards means there will be greater emphasis on thinking and acting like a scientist and less emphasis on memorizing basic facts. The idea is for students to have a deeper knowledge of the subject.

Group says Clarkston teacher forced to pay union fees in right-to-work violation (Mlive)
A national group that advocates against mandatory union membership claims a Michigan teacher's union and school district have violated the state's right-to-work law. Ron Conwell, a computer science teacher at Clarkston Community Schools, filed a complaint Monday with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission against the district and the Clarkston Education Association, according to the National Right to Work Foundation.

Michigan Has New Science Standards for K-12 Students (WMUK)
Michigan school districts will implement new science standards over the next seven years. The State Board of Education overwhelmingly adopted the new standards on Tuesday. Supporters say the standards will increase interest in science by applying lessons to real-life scenarios.

MDOC
Appeals court: State worker not disabled (Lansing State Journal)
A Michigan Department of Corrections nurse was not totally disabled by post-traumatic stress disorder after she was attacked by an inmate, the Michigan Court of Appeals has ruled. The nurse, Valerie Hammond, was attacked in February 2007 by a prisoner at the Marquette Branch Prison while performing an examination.

MDOT
MDOT revokes Dearborn Heights-based limo rental's operating authority (Crain's Business Detroit)
Dearborn Heights-based Entertainment Express Limousine and Party Bus has lost its operating license after incurring 36 violations over the past year, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced Tuesday. This is the first time MDOT has revoked a company's operating license following legal action, according to Jean Rustman, administrator of MDOT's Program Administration Section.

Michigan DOT holds public webinar on long-range transportation plan revisions (Equipment World)
The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is holding a public webinar Nov. 12 to discuss "forecasts and strategies" in the state's "MI Transportation Plan: Moving Michigan Forward." The current plan covers the years 2005 to 2035 and MDOT is looking to add plans continuing to 2040.

MDHHS
November is Michigan Diabetes Awareness Month (UP Matter/TV 3)
An estimated 10.4 percent of Michigan adults 18 years and older have been diagnosed with diabetes. That's why the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is highlighting Michigan Diabetes Awareness Month with an event at the Michigan Capitol Building on Thursday, November 12 at 9:30 a.m. at the State Capitol Rotunda. The event is jointly sponsored by the American Diabetes Association and the Diabetes Partners in Action Coalition.

'Dismemberment abortion' ban advances from House committee (Mlive)
A bill to ban what pro-life advocates refer to as "dismemberment abortion" advanced from the House Criminal Justice Committee on Tuesday without the support of Democratic members. House Bill 4833 seeks to ban any abortion procedure that uses a device to "dismember a living fetus by disarticulating limbs or decapitating the head from the fetal torso and removing the dismembered fetal body parts from the uterus." These are sometimes referred to as D&E abortions, short for dilation and evacuation, and are usually performed during the second trimester.

MVAA

Veterans comprise more of DTE Energy employee ranks (PR Newswire)
When Sgt. Glen Williams returned home from Iraq during the Gulf War, he felt honored to have served his country for eight years. "On the plane with my fellow soldiers, there was such a sense of pride in America, and a feeling of being blessed to have served," he said. But Williams had doubts, too. Doubts such as what he would do next.

General Motors Awarded 'Gold-Level Employer' Certification By Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (GM Authority)
The Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency (MVAA) has recognized General Motors' ongoing efforts to hire and train U.S. military veterans with Gold-Level Veteran Employer Certification, the first time an automaker has received the award. The Veteran Employer Certification recognizes companies committed to military veteran recruitment, training, and retention practices, with the Gold level standing above silver and bronze to represent the highest echelon of MVAA's awards.

'Buddy To Buddy' program offers peer support for veterans (Click on Detroit)
Stephanie Zarb, an Air Force veteran originally from Redford, recalls how she felt when she first returned home. "I really struggled for a long time," Zarb said. "It was about six months after I came home, I couldn't find a job, I really didn't know what to do and like most veterans, I called my buddies and said, 'Hey what do I do?'"

MSU war veterans honored at Veterans Day breakfast (The State News)
Today is Veterans Day, a holiday dedicated to appreciating the labors and sacrifices of those who have served in America's military, as well as honoring the memory of those lost in the nation's conflicts. In honor of veterans who are either current students or Alumni at MSU, the MSU Student Veterans of America chapter held a Veterans Day Breakfast in the Huntington Club at Spartan Stadium this morning. The event — the first of its kind held by the chapter — featured a catered meal and guest appearances by MSU President Lou Anna K. Simon and Ret. Brigadier General Michael C.H. McDaniel, former Assistant Adjutant General for Homeland Security for the Michigan National Guard.

MPSC

Michigan Agency for Energy/Michigan Public Service Commission and Saginaw Plaza Receive the 2015 Energy Services Coalition, MI Chapter Award for Economic Leadership in Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy (Businesswire)
a leading energy efficiency and renewable energy company, announced today that the Michigan Agency for Energy/Michigan Public Service Commission (MAE/MPSC) were awarded the 2015 Energy Services Coalition (ESC) Award for Economic Leadership in Energy Efficiency. "Ameresco congratulates MAE/MPSC for being recognized with this award"

MSP

Michigan police propose changes to medical pot dispensary bill, end of caregiver model (Mlive)
Michigan law enforcement officials are not fully backing plans to overhaul the state's medical marijuana system, but unlike last year, they aren't standing in the way of proposed legislation. "While law enforcement cannot support any legislation that by definition is illegal under federal law due to the classification of marijuana, what we can do is find a position not to oppose having a tough and tight regulatory framework," said Howell Police Chief George Basar, legislative chairman for the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Michigan Senate votes to move Oakland executive election (AP)

The election of Oakland County's executive would be switched to midterm instead of presidential years under legislation approved by the Michigan Senate. Supporters of the bill passed Tuesday say it makes sense for the suburban Detroit county to elect its top leader when neighboring Wayne and Macomb counties do. Democrats say the bill is a politically motivated bid to help Republicans retain power in Oakland whenever longtime Executive L. Brooks Patterson retires.

Senates nixes paid union release time for public workers (AP)
A divided Michigan Senate has narrowly voted to prohibit public employers from authorizing paid release time for unionized employees to conduct union business. Republicans approved the bill Tuesday 20-17 and sent it to the House, with Democrats and some Republicans in opposition.

Michigan Senate committee votes to eliminate straight-ticket voting in elections (Click on Detroit)
Michigan voters could no longer cast a straight ticket for a slate of candidates representing the party of their choice under legislation sent to the floor of the state Senate. Republicans on the Senate Elections and Government Reform Committee passed the bill along party lines Tuesday.

Straight-ticket voting ban speeds through Michigan Senate with shield against repeal (Mlive)
Michigan voters would lose the ability to cast a straight-ticket ballot for candidates of a single political party under fast-tracked legislation approved Tuesday evening in the state Senate. The Republican-backed bill advanced through committee earlier the same day before reaching the floor, where it was amended to include a $1 million appropriation that would make it immune to referendum.

What Michigan's new road funding rules mean for you, your taxes and your roads (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday signed into law a series of new road funding laws that will raise taxes by $600 million a year and eventually re-prioritize another $600 million in state spending. The Republican-crafted plan represents Michigan's largest transportation funding increase in more than 50 years, according to Snyder, but it's faced criticism for various tax changes, a delayed phase in and the potential effect on other government services.

Lansing set to ignore '02 voting referendum (The Times Herald)
Michigan lawmakers, after getting an 'F' for transparency and accountability from the Center for Public Integrity, mean to protect that accomplishment by ignoring one of your past votes and making your future votes more time-consuming. The state Senate on Wednesday passed a bill that would eliminate straight-ticket voting in Michigan. The bill now goes to the House.

Senate votes to end straight-ticket voting, union employee leave time (Crain's Business Detroit)
The Republican-controlled Michigan Senate flexed its political muscle Tuesday, voting to end straight-ticket voting and paid union leave for public workers and to switch the date for electing a suburban Detroit county's executive. The bills, which Democrats decried as blatantly partisan, were sent to the GOP-led House mostly along party lines, with some Republicans in opposition.

Why Michigan's proposed 30 percent clean energy goal may not be as impressive as it sounds (Mlive)
Democrats won a clean energy amendment to a package to overhaul Michigan energy policy as it advanced from committee last week, but advocates say 30 percent by 2025 isn't as impressive as it sounds. If you drill down into the numbers, advocates say 30 percent may be more like 5 percent in actual new renewable energy.

Michigan Democrats run 'birthday tax' ads blasting Republican road funding plan (Mlive)
While Gov. Rick Snyder was signing a long-term road funding plan into law Tuesday, the Michigan Democratic Party was launching a series of ads targeting Republican lawmakers who voted for it. Four of them, anyway, who just happen to represent highly competitive districts.

DETROIT

County school leaders cautious on DPS rescue plan (The Detroit News)
The leaders of intermediate school districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties said Tuesday they don't want a rescue of Detroit Public Schools to come at the expense of other districts. During a meeting with The Detroit News Editorial Board, the superintendents of the Macomb ISD, Oakland Schools and Wayne RESA said they understand the need to pay off DPS' debt and create a new, debt-free Detroit district, as did officials from the Tri-County Alliance for Public Education, which represents superintendents in the three Metro Detroit counties.

Detroit Schools: Financial audit shows budget deficit for 2014-15 smaller than projected (Click on Detroit)
A report shows the Detroit Public Schools deficit is smaller than originally projected. The district said Tuesday that officials expected a deficit of about $70 million during the 2014-15 fiscal year, but an audit filed Nov. 2 with the state puts it at $46.5 million.

Detroit Public Schools shows $1.66 billion net deficit under new accounting requirement (Crain's Business Detroit)
Now that the Detroit Public Schools has to count pension obligations, the district's balance sheet is looking its worst ever. In the first set of annual financial statements since the city emerged from bankruptcy, Detroit Public Schools reported a $1.66 billion net deficit, a 118 percent increase from the year prior. The change was almost entirely led by a new line on the balance sheet: $858 million of unfunded pension liabilities, thanks to the implementation of a new accounting law that requires shortfalls to be counted against an entity's assets on its annual balance sheet, according to financial documents published Tuesday.

Detroit comeback story to be featured in 2016 Pure Michigan campaign (Crain's Business Detroit)
Detroit's post-bankruptcy story will be a highlight of the Pure Michigan marketing campaign in 2016, as the state tries to redirect its image from a city in transition to an outright tourist destination. The city will be the star of a 30-second national television commercial, expected to hit screens next spring. Actor and Michigan native Tim Allen again will provide the narration.

Volunteers who want to help Detroit kids read say system they signed up to help is 'broken' (WXYZ)
In 2009 Detroit Public Schools put out a call for action. It wanted 100,000 volunteers to help make sure every kid in the district learned how to read. Carol Caya responded. She went through a background check, training, and volunteering for a time with the DPS Volunteer Reading Corps. She was waiting for her next assignment.

Wayne State gets grant to prepare math teachers for Detroit classrooms (Michigan Radio)
Wayne State University is getting a $1.4 million grant to prepare elementary and middle school math teachers to teach in Detroit. The grant from the National Science Foundation's Robert Noyce Teacher Scholarship Program will help WSU recruit and train 56 new math teachers to teach in Detroit classrooms.

OPINION

Jacques: Lawmakers reluctant on fixing Detroit schools (Detroit News)
The Legislature finally got a road funding proposal finished. But even with that hurdle behind it, lawmakers are showing great reluctance to take up the next major project: fixing Detroit schools.

Editorial: Auto pacts place pay over jobs (Detroit News)
The UAW made remarkable economic gains in this year's negotiations with the Big Three automakers, largely by gradually eliminating the second wage tier imposed on them eight years ago. The two-tier system helped then-struggling automakers save on labor costs, but drastically reduced the earnings expectation of newly hired autoworkers.

Editor's note: State improving, still must grow (Detroit News)
Michigan's business climate continues to rebound strongly from its Lost Decade at the start of this century. A new report from Business Leaders for Michigan confirms the state is becoming more competitive in a number of key areas

Thompson: Flint mayor sees hope, challenges ahead (Detroit News)
Karen Weaver, the newly elected mayor of Flint, speaks with pride and confidence about the city that raised her, giving the impression her job is going to be easy. She beams as she talks about her heritage: how her mother, Marion Coates Williams, was the first African-American teacher in Flint; her father, the late T. Wendell Williams, the first black elected to the Flint Board of Education.
Editor's note: Michiganians reflect Detroit's spirit (Detroit News)
Wednesday night, The Detroit News presents its annual Michiganians of the Year awards, honoring those in our state who worked to make Michigan a better place to live. This year, we have themed the awards around Detroit's rescue and revival. The nine honorees either played key roles in moving Detroit through bankruptcy, or have dedicated themselves to the city's ongoing recovery. These individuals are representative of the spirit of Detroit, and it's determination to survive and thrive.

On parole reform, evidence says the sky won't fall (MLive)
It turns out the "tough on crime" movement was built on a lot of false premises: Locking up small-time drug offenders fills prisons and undermines communities but has little impact on drug dealing or use.

Road deal made by politicians who won't face the consequences (Bridge MI)
Nearly a quarter of a century ago, the Michigan Constitution was amended to impose term limits on those elected to govern our state. A governor may now only serve two four-year terms.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, November 13, 2015 9:57 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/13 Newsroom

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, November 13, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Michigan announces net reduction of 2,100 rules since 2011 (AP)
An office created by Gov. Rick Snyder to make government more efficient reports hitting a milestone — the net reduction of more than 2,000 state rules and regulations over four years, including a requirement that child care workers smile.

MISC
State board to consider Gov. Snyder recall petition (Detroit Free Press)
The Board of State Canvassers is to consider proposed language for a recall of Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, when it meets at the Capitol this morning.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Michigan, neighboring governments work to reduce Lake Erie pollution (Crain's Detroit Business)
Toxic algae bloomed in Lake Erie in huge numbers in August 2014, causing the city of Toledo to issue a "do not drink" advisory. Fears that this was only the beginning of similar occurrences were realized this summer, when the 2015 algal bloom was worse, closing beaches and threatening water supplies. Actions proposed by the state include: Monitoring and studying the causes of harmful algal blooms because (according to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality) they are "not well understood."

'Water is a human right,' Democrats say with new bills addressing Flint crisis, Detroit shutoffs (Mlive)
"There's a moral goal here," said Rep. Sheldon Neeley, D-Flint, urging the Snyder administration to consider the package. Neeley plans to introduce legislation that would require the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to collect water samples using federally-approved procedures. His bill would prohibit a sampling procedure known as "pre-flushing," which can lower lead level readings.

Flint may have failed to follow US water testing rules (The Detroit News)
Drinking water testing protocols call for cities to target neighborhoods most likely to have homes with lead connections and plumbing — called Tier 1 areas — since they run a higher risk of having contaminated water. A letter sent to Flint on Nov. 9 by Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality indicates state officials are unsure if the city did so in samples taken over the first half of 2015.

DHHS
DHHS improving technology for caseworkers (Lansing State Journal)

Nick Lyon, director of the Michigan Department of Health & Human Services formed this spring through the merger of the departments of Community Health and Human Services, told a legislative panel Thursday that a shared case management system was one of "five key infrastructure advancements" he was pushing as he continued work on fully integrating the two departments.

DNR

DNR launches campaign to keep chronic wasting disease from U.P. (Up North Live)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has launched a campaign to keep chronic wasting disease (CWD) from reaching the Upper Peninsula. CWD affects the central nervous system and is fatal to white-tailed deer, mule deer, elk and moose.

State urges hunters to help keep deer disease out of UP (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has launched an education campaign to try to keep chronic wasting disease from spreading to the Upper Peninsula. The disease affects the central nervous system and is always fatal to white-tailed deer, mule deer, elk, and moose, according to the DNR. And there is no known treatment.

LARA

Michigan announces net reduction of 2,100 rules since 2011 (AP)
Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs Director Mike Zimmer said he was "extremely thrilled" to have 2,000 fewer rules, saying that revisiting thousands of regulations — many of which had not been reviewed in decades — is part of a broader effort to alleviate barriers to business without risking citizens' health and safety. Of the state's 16 departments, LARA had the most net rule reductions, 642, because it has the most regulations due to its role

MDOC

Inmates may pay less to phone home (Ionia Sentinel-Standard)
A new mandate by the FCC may make it cheaper for prison and jail inmates to call their loved ones. According to Michigan Department of Corrections Communications Representative Holly Kramer, phones calls for inmates currently cost between 18 to 23 cents a minute, which can add up to $3.45 for a standard 15 minute call.

MDOT

MDOT Open House Seeks Community Input On US-23 Project (WHMI)
An open house showcased aesthetic options for the upcoming US-23 corridor improvement project and took public feedback. The Michigan Department of Transportation held the open house at the Northfield Township Hall on Thursday and drew in a crowd of interested residents, commuters and community members.

M-DOT holding webinar on changes to existing 25-year-plan (WWMT)
Just days after Governor Rick Snyder signed a $1.2 billion road funding bill into law, the Michigan Department of Transportation is changing its existing 25 year plan. The plan--called MI Transportation Plan: Moving Michigan Forward, was created 10 years ago to forecast transportation challenges from 2005 to 2035.

Meeting slated for U.S. 31 bridge project in Michigan (TI News Daily)
The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) has scheduled an informational public meeting on Nov. 24 to discuss a upgrade project for the U.S. 31 bascule bridge in Charlevoix in northern Michigan. The project, scheduled to start in late 2016, will involve painting the bridge's steel superstructure, repairing mechanical and electrical systems and performing other improvements to the bridge. The work is estimated be finished by June 2017.

Public invited to meeting to discuss work on Charlevoix bridge (Mi News 26)
Michigan Department of Transportation is holding an informational meeting to discuss the bridge work with members from the Gaylord Transportation Service Center on hand to present schedules and to listen to comments and suggestions from the public.

MDOT finishes project to solve crash problems at Tulip City Truck Stop on M-40 (WXMI)
A project meant strictly to solve a safety problem has been completed on M-40 south of I-196. Several solutions for the problem were floated over the years, including roundabouts, which nobody liked, said Michigan Department of Transportation spokesperson Nick Shirripa. Aside the high cost, the idea required some backtracking for drivers leaving the truck stop.

MSHDA

MSHDA awards $83,448 to help eliminate blight (Up Matters)

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority awarded a $83,448 Community Development Block Grant to Marquette County and Houghton County that will help demolish four to five blighted residential structures.

MSP

Trooper Chad Wolf honored with memorial at Genesys hospital (Mlive)
Thursday, Nov. 12, more than a dozen police officers gathered with Bikes on the Bricks officials and family members of fallen Michigan State Trooper Chad Wolf to unveil a granite, laser-etched bench that honors Wolf's life.

MVAA

MVAA Spreads Information to Vets Regarding Benefits (WBKB)
The community was joined in celebrating and honoring our vets Wednesday by a representative from the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency. The MVAA decided to send advisors around the state today after Governor Snyder instructed the Department of Veteran Affairs to use this day to coordinate and streamline military benefits for veterans.

SOS

Initial List Puts 14 Republicans, 3 Democrats on Michigan Primary Ballot (Michigan Radio)
The Michigan Secretary of State has released the initial list of Republican and Democratic candidates who will appear on the March 8 presidential primary ballot.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

'Water is a human right,' Democrats say with new bills addressing Flint crisis, Detroit shutoffs (MLive)
Flint mom Melissa Mays believes her three sons are starting to struggle in school because they drank contaminated city water, and she's worried the full effect of lead poisoning, which can cause irreversible brain damage, will not be known for years.

Bills seek to assure clean, affordable water for all (Detroit Free Press)
Lead contamination of drinking water in Flint and large-scale shutoffs of tap water in Detroit have prompted a package of bills that lawmakers say will ensure clean and affordable drinking water for all Michigan residents.

Lawmakers mull role in halting college sexual assaults (Detroit Free Press)
Even as they heard reports about how universities across Michigan intend to use $500,000 in grant funds to help combat sexual assault, Michigan lawmakers wondered if they should be doing more.

State board to consider Gov. Snyder recall petition (Detroit Free Press)
The Board of State Canvassers is to consider proposed language for a recall of Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, when it meets at the Capitol this morning.

DETROIT

Detroit school overhaul unlikely by end of year (Detroit News)
House School Aid Subcommittee Chairman Tim Kelly said Thursday it's unlikely state lawmakers can approve by the end of this year the overhaul Gov. Rick Snyder wants for the troubled Detroit Public Schools.

Parents ask DPS: Why don't our kids have teachers or textbooks? (WXYZ)
Some classes have no teachers, others have no textbooks. How are kids supposed to learn?
That's the question parents say Detroit Public School leaders weren't answering, so they called on 7 Action News to help them fix their schools.

Detroit casinos, labor at impasse on health care (Detroit News)
Negotiations between Detroit's three casinos and the Detroit Casino Council, the umbrella organization for four employee unions, are stalled over health care. According to a Nov. 4 post on the website of Unite Here Local 24, casino workers have voted to authorize a strike.

OPINION

Williamson: Let's transform Detroit schools (Detroit News)
Sometimes it is just confounding to read the news about schools and education. Currently we are reading about the governor's efforts regarding the Detroit Public Schools. We are also reading about the FBI investigation of corruption in the Education Achievement Authority (EAA) and the plea bargain agreements of some of the education reform fraudsters involved.

Editorial: Michigan growing, but not fast enough (Detroit News)
Michigan has regained 400,000 jobs over the past five years, roughly half what was lost during the Lost Decade at the start of this century. Its economy is growing along with employment, and its business climate ranking has strengthened.

Dickens: Enforce Detroit pot laws with care (Detroit News)
Seven years after the passage of the Michigan Medical Marihuana Act (MMMA), the Detroit City Council is currently considering regulation of medical marijuana facilities within its city limits.

Don't slow Detroit's blight fight (Detroit Free Press)
As a lifelong Detroiter and someone who for the last 27 years has been working to eradicate blight in Detroit, I have learned a few things. First and foremost, blight is a cancer in our city. Without swift and aggressive treatment, it will spread, destroying Detroit neighborhoods. Without a clear strategy and a sense of great urgency, blight will continue to spread faster than it is removed.

Susan J. Demas: What Snyder gets wrong about welders and higher education (MLive)
I've interviewed Gov. Rick Snyder a number of times, but one moment has always struck me.

Is the state to blame for local financial distress? (Michigan Radio)
There is a lot of controversy surrounding Michigan's use of emergency managers. The Flint water fiasco, the decline of the Detroit Public School system – that all happened under the watch of state-appointed emergency managers.

Anderson: Road funding fix needs to be fixed (Lansing State Journal)
After five years of total control, State Representative Tom Barrett and his Republican colleagues finally got around to dealing with our crumbling roads. Sadly, the plan passed by the Legislature crumbles under the weight of scrutiny. This poorly thought out plan will eventually commit $1.2 billion in new road funding by asking more from average Michiganders and slashing critical services to the tune of $600 million from Michigan's general fund.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, November 16, 2015 10:42 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/16 Newsroom
Attachments: 151116 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, November 16, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees
Snyder suspends Syrian refugee effort in Michigan (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder's decision to suspend efforts to bring Syrian refugees to Michigan in light of the deadly terrorist attacks in Paris on Friday has sparked controversy and launched the state into the national debate of how to protect U.S. citizens while providing a haven for those who desperately need help.

Gov. Snyder puts refugee acceptance efforts on hold (AP)
Michigan's Republican governor, who has bucked many party leaders for welcoming Syrian refugees, is putting efforts on hold following the deadly attacks in Paris.

Snyder puts Syrian refugee efforts on hold (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder is halting his administration's efforts to bring refugees from war-torn Syria to Michigan following the deadly terrorist attacks in Paris.

Appointments
Gov. Rick Snyder appoints Weber to 96th District Court in Marquette County (UPMatters)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Friday the appointment of Karl Weber, of Marquette, to the96th District Court in Marquette County.

Gov. Rick Snyder reappoints Michigan Health Endowment Fund board members (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced the reappointment of Michigan Health Endowment Fund board members on Nov. 12.

Gov. Snyder appoints Dearborn man to Middle-Eastern American affairs advisory committee (Press & Guide)
On Thursday, Nov. 12, Gov. Rick Snyder announced the appointment of Adel Mozip of Dearborn to the Commission on Middle-Eastern American Affairs.

Miscellaneous
Veteran friendly employers get recognition (WLNS)
On Monday, Governor Rick Snyder will be honoring several Michigan businesses for being committed to hiring war veterans.

Monday Morning Job-seeker: Jobs event this week; Gov. Snyder talks local jobs (MLive)
West Michigan Works! Will hold a hiring event 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 17 at its Holland service center, 121 Clover St.

Nearly 100 apply but no pardons yet in 2015 from gov (Detroit News)
After years without a driver's license, a Bay City man asked Gov. Rick Snyder if he would wipe clean his drunken-driving offenses with a pardon. Joe Lamblin insists he's been without alcohol since 2008 and says it's tough to work in construction while relying on others for rides.

Board rejects Snyder recall petition (Michigan Radio)
A state elections board has rejected a petition seeking to recall Governor Rick Snyder over the Flint water crisis.

Michigan board rejects recall petition targeting Snyder (LSJ)
The Board of State Canvassers voted 4-0 Friday to reject a recall petition aimed at Gov. Rick Snyder, saying the offenses alleged in the petition didn't happen in the governor's current term and the petition is not clear and factual, as required by state law.

Gov. Snyder says he'd veto bill allowing concealed weapons in schools (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder would veto legislation allowing concealed weapons in schools if it doesn't give districts a choice.

Gov. Snyder would veto current gun bill (WNEM)
Governor Snyder told Lansing-based radio talk show host Steve Gruber he will veto the so-called guns everywhere bill as it is currently written if it gets to his desk.

Class-action suit filed against Gov. Snyder claims damages resulting from lead in Flint's water (Crain's Detroit Business)
A group of residents has filed a class-action lawsuit against Gov. Rick Snyder, the State of Michigan and the City of Flint, as well as state and Flint municipal employees on claims related to lead contamination of drinking water in Flint.

FIRST LADY

Upper Peninsula institutes join forces to combat campus sexual assault (Sault Ste. Marie)
Lake Superior State University, and other higher education institutions throughout the Upper Peninsula, are collaborating on a series of events designed to raise awareness regarding sexual assault.

Sexual assault 'no big deal' survey response baffles those addressing it on Michigan campuses (MLive)
When a University of Michigan researcher surveyed 3,000 students about sexual assault, he found only 3.6 percent of sexual assault victims told an official resource. When he asked why, he was unprepared for the most common write-in response.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
State recommends all schools test water for lead — but no system exists to do so (Holland Sentinel)
In light of the crisis in Flint, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality said this fall every school should be testing its water if the school has lead infrastructure. But no clear system exists to make that possible.

DNR
Michigan deer hunters enjoy mild opening day (WOOD)
At the DNR check station in Belding Sunday morning, successful hunters stopped by with their prize bucks. The DNR is reminding all hunters to be safe during the season. That means making sure everyone wears their hunter orange, which is required by law. DNR officers are also stressing that people be aware of their surroundings.

DNR reminds hunters to follow off-road vehicle laws (Up North Live)
With firearm deer hunting season starting, conservation officers at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are reminding hunters using an off-road vehicle (ORV) to follow ORV land-use regulations.

MDNR concerned over spread of deadly deer disease (Up North Live)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources launched a new public information campaign this week to stop Chronic Wasting Disease from reaching the Upper Peninsula. DNR agents have already discovered several cases of the disease downstate and in Wisconsin.

DNR: Deer killed in DeWitt Township may have chronic wasting disease (Lansing State Journal)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources on Friday said a 1 1/2 year old buck suspected of carrying chronic wasting disease was killed in DeWitt Township. More detailed tests are pending.

Chronic Wasting Disease changes the game of hunting (WLNS)
The Department of Natural Resources strongly believes they have found a deer in Eaton County, with CWD. If tested positive, this will be the 4th deer to have CWD in the state including others in Ingham County.

MDOT
Hurdle cleared in effort to build Gordie Howe bridge (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Department of Transportation has cleared a hurdle as it moves to acquire property for construction of the Gordie Howe International Bridge. Billionaire Manuel (Matty) Moroun's companies have granted permission, after initially refusing, for MDOT to access property the Morouns control in southwest Detroit so the agency can survey and conduct other work.

Real-Time Look at Your Morning Commute (Patch)
The Michigan Department of Transportation says it plans to overhaul one of the busiest stretches of freeway in Metro Detroit next year, and the work will have a huge effect on commuters. MDOT says about 200,000 vehicles a day travel Interstate 275 between Five Mile Road and the Interstate 96 / Interstate 696 / M-5 interchange, and beginning next spring, those motorists will need to find alternate routes.

US 131 at 28th Street reopens after semi flips (WZZM)
U.S. 131 has reopened to traffic. A semi-truck overturned just after 4:30 p.m. Saturday on southbound U.S. 131 at 28th Street, according to police dispatch reports. The Michigan Department of Transportation reported the highway had closed because of the accident.

MDE
Michigan Department of Education adopts new standards for science education (Macomb Daily)
With a goal of providing Michigan students a better understanding of science and how it impacts the world around them, state education officials this week adopted new standards for teaching the subject. After three years of development, which included public information sessions, the State Board of Education adopted this week the new Michigan K-12 Science Standards. The guidelines replace those in use since 2006.

MEDC
Pure Michigan sells its return on investment in new campaign (Bridge Magazine)
With bankruptcy issues behind it, and lots of economic development news in the making, the ad campaign is meant to sell potential visitors on the city's opportunity. And a strategy of talking about the campaign now is all part of pushing a more compelling business case, and showing an example of return on investment of state tax dollars, for the Michigan Economic Development Corp. "We're showing our cards to our competition," said Dave Lorenz, the new vice president of Travel Michigan, the arm of the MEDC that manages the tourism campaign.

Supreme Court
Fired Saginaw nurse wins $1.2 million case argued at Supreme Court (Mlive)
A former Saginaw nurse has won the wrongful termination lawsuit against HealthSource Saginaw he has fought since 2008. The Michigan Supreme Court on Friday, Nov. 13, denied HealthSource's request to appeal a judgment upholding a jury's verdict that awarded $1.2 million to Roberto Landin.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Big issues left for Legislature: DPS and energy reform (Detroit Free Press)
With a road funding deal out of the way and only two, perhaps three weeks of legislative session left in the year, lawmakers are hoping to wrap up work on some big issues.

No charges forthcoming in extortion claim by ex-state Rep. Todd Courser (MLive)
Todd Courser said the decision by Lapeer County Prosecutor Tim Turkelson closed a chapter for him that's gone back months and led to the former 82nd House District representative stepping down from his seat and a fellow lawmaker expelled from office.

Michigan Political Points: Senate Republicans flex muscle following road funding deal (MLive)

With tough road funding votes behind them, Senate Republicans stepped on the gas this week, passing a series of partisan bills that Democrats could do little to stop.

DETROIT

$195M pension payment might derail Detroit's recovery (Detroit Free Press)
Post-bankruptcy Detroit is obligated to pay little to nothing into employee pensions over the next nine years. But then, an enormous bill comes due that has caught city and pensions officials off-guard, raising doubt about the data used in bankruptcy to calculate the city's obligations.

The Detroit Bankruptcy and the Regional Water Authority (WDET)
Detroit's bankruptcy case produced the Great Lakes Water Authority, a new regional organization that oversees water and sewer services to much of southeast Michigan. Supporters say it means more regional cooperation, and better management of its huge water system. But the Authority also has plenty of skeptics.

For Detroit Retirees, Bankruptcy Still Part of Daily Life (WDET)
For City of Detroit retirees, the changes brought by bankruptcy are measured in the cuts they've taken to monthly pension checks and health care benefits. Nearly a year after the case's resolution, some of them are recalling the bankruptcy proceedings and what the case has meant to their lives.

Detroit police on heightened alert after Paris attacks (AP)
Detroit law enforcement officials have called more officers to duty and moved some to locations deemed higher priorities following the deadly attacks in Paris.

Detroit casinos, labor unresolved over health care (The Detroit News)
Negotiations between Detroit's three casinos and the Detroit Casino Council, the umbrella organization for four employee unions, remain unresolved over health care. The two sides met on Wednesday evening but were unable to reach an agreement. They are scheduled to meet again Sunday through Tuesday.

OPINION

Is a gay rights petition drive in Michigan's future? (Mlive)
The strangest things happen in this business when a usually reliable source suggests one thing, but once you check it out, you discover quite another. Which is why LGBT advocate and lawyer Dana Nessel is wondering if some are trying to "sabotage" a proposed statewide petition drive to expand the state's civil rights act to include the gay community.

Who gets hurt when lawmakers put cost before value? (Detroit Free Press)
In a conversation with Michigan House Speaker Kevin Cotter a few weeks ago, I challenged him to defend the fact that the state's Department of Health and Human Services is so under-funded that it employs just 67 inspectors to oversee compliance in 10,000 child care centers.

Our Editorial: DPS deal needs realistic funding (The Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder decided last week to delay the introduction of legislation to rescue the Detroit Public Schools until next month. That assures it won't be passed by the end of the year, as the governor had hoped. Before he does send the bills to the Legislature, he'll have to come up with a more realistic funding plan.

Snyder's Detroit schools plan falls short on leadership (Detroit Free Press)
While there are commendable aspects of Gov. Rick Snyder's plan for Detroit Public Schools, I have significant reservations about its viability and the long-term effects it will have on the city and the school system. The creation of a seven-member school board along with the creation of a five-member Detroit Education Commission, both appointed by the mayor and the governor, are problematic

State not so transparent and voters should do something (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan ranked last in the U.S. in a national study of state ethics and transparency laws. The study, released Monday, cites weak public record laws and the state's lack of laws requiring personal financial disclosures by lawmakers and top state officials.

Rubin: The Michigan Senate thinks you're an idiot (The Detroit News)
We expect a little chicanery from our beloved legislature. A touch of duplicity. Extended periods of befuddlement and bickering, punctuated by a few needless years of potholes. Those things barely get anyone's attention, except for the potholes. But nobody likes being treated like an idiot, especially by people radiating hypocrisy.

Export-Import Bank should be revived to aid Michigan industries (Mlive)
In Michigan we have come through difficult economic times with many of our businesses, big and small, selling to new customers overseas. With over 95 percent of potential buyers outside the United States, the need for strong exports has never been greater.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, November 13, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees

Snyder suspends Syrian refugee effort in Michigan (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder's decision to suspend efforts to bring Syrian refugees to Michigan in light of the deadly terrorist attacks in Paris on Friday has sparked controversy and launched the state into the national debate of how to protect U.S. citizens while providing a haven for those who desperately need help.

Gov. Snyder puts refugee acceptance efforts on hold (AP)
Michigan's Republican governor, who has bucked many party leaders for welcoming Syrian refugees, is putting efforts on hold following the deadly attacks in Paris.

Snyder puts Syrian refugee efforts on hold (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder is halting his administration's efforts to bring refugees from war-torn Syria to Michigan following the deadly terrorist attacks in Paris.

Appointments

Gov. Rick Snyder appoints Weber to 96th District Court in Marquette County (UPMatters)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced Friday the appointment of Karl Weber, of Marquette, to the96th District Court in Marquette County.

Gov. Rick Snyder reappoints Michigan Health Endowment Fund board members (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder announced the reappointment of Michigan Health Endowment Fund board members on Nov. 12.

Gov. Snyder appoints Dearborn man to Middle-Eastern American affairs advisory committee (Press & Guide)
On Thursday, Nov. 12, Gov. Rick Snyder announced the appointment of Adel Mozip of Dearborn to the Commission on Middle-Eastern American Affairs.

Miscellaneous

Veteran friendly employers get recognition (WLNS)
On Monday, Governor Rick Snyder will be honoring several Michigan businesses for being committed to hiring war veterans.

Monday Morning Job-seeker: Jobs event this week; Gov. Snyder talks local jobs (MLive)
West Michigan Works! Will hold a hiring event 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 17 at its Holland service center, 121 Clover St.

Nearly 100 apply but no pardons yet in 2015 from gov (Detroit News)
After years without a driver's license, a Bay City man asked Gov. Rick Snyder if he would wipe clean his drunken-driving offenses with a pardon. Joe Lamblin insists he's been without alcohol since 2008 and says it's tough to work in construction while relying on others for rides.

Board rejects Snyder recall petition (Michigan Radio)
A state elections board has rejected a petition seeking to recall Governor Rick Snyder over the Flint water crisis.

Michigan board rejects recall petition targeting Snyder (LSJ)
The Board of State Canvassers voted 4-0 Friday to reject a recall petition aimed at Gov. Rick Snyder, saying the offenses alleged in the petition didn't happen in the governor's current term and the petition is not clear and factual, as required by state law.

Gov. Snyder says he'd veto bill allowing concealed weapons in schools (Michigan Radio)
Gov. Rick Snyder would veto legislation allowing concealed weapons in schools if it doesn't give districts a choice.

Gov. Snyder would veto current gun bill (WNEM)
Governor Snyder told Lansing-based radio talk show host Steve Gruber he will veto the so-called guns everywhere bill as it is currently written if it gets to his desk.

Class-action suit filed against Gov. Snyder claims damages resulting from lead in Flint's water (Crain's Detroit Business)
A group of residents has filed a class-action lawsuit against Gov. Rick Snyder, the State of Michigan and the City of Flint, as well as state and Flint municipal employees on claims related to lead contamination of drinking water in Flint.

FIRST LADY

Upper Peninsula institutes join forces to combat campus sexual assault (Sault Ste. Marie)
Lake Superior State University, and other higher education institutions throughout the Upper Peninsula, are collaborating on a series of events designed to raise awareness regarding sexual assault.

Sexual assault 'no big deal' survey response baffles those addressing it on Michigan campuses (MLive)
When a University of Michigan researcher surveyed 3,000 students about sexual assault, he found only 3.6 percent of sexual assault victims told an official resource. When he asked why, he was unprepared for the most common write-in response.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
State recommends all schools test water for lead — but no system exists to do so (Holland Sentinel)
In light of the crisis in Flint, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality said this fall every school should be testing its water if the school has lead infrastructure. But no clear system exists to make that possible.

DNR
Michigan deer hunters enjoy mild opening day (WOOD)

At the DNR check station in Belding Sunday morning, successful hunters stopped by with their prize bucks. The DNR is reminding all hunters to be safe during the season. That means making sure everyone wears their hunter orange, which is required by law. DNR officers are also stressing that people be aware of their surroundings.

DNR reminds hunters to follow off-road vehicle laws (Up North Live)
With firearm deer hunting season starting, conservation officers at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are reminding hunters using an off-road vehicle (ORV) to follow ORV land-use regulations.

MDNR concerned over spread of deadly deer disease (Up North Live)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources launched a new public information campaign this week to stop Chronic Wasting Disease from reaching the Upper Peninsula. DNR agents have already discovered several cases of the disease downstate and in Wisconsin.

DNR: Deer killed in DeWitt Township may have chronic wasting disease (Lansing State Journal)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources on Friday said a 1 1/2 year old buck suspected of carrying chronic wasting disease was killed in DeWitt Township. More detailed tests are pending.

Chronic Wasting Disease changes the game of hunting (WLNS)
The Department of Natural Resources strongly believes they have found a deer in Eaton County, with CWD. If tested positive, this will be the 4th deer to have CWD in the state including others in Ingham County.

MDOT
Hurdle cleared in effort to build Gordie Howe bridge (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Department of Transportation has cleared a hurdle as it moves to acquire property for construction of the Gordie Howe International Bridge. Billionaire Manuel (Matty) Moroun's companies have granted permission, after initially refusing, for MDOT to access property the Morouns control in southwest Detroit so the agency can survey and conduct other work.

Real-Time Look at Your Morning Commute (Patch)
The Michigan Department of Transportation says it plans to overhaul one of the busiest stretches of freeway in Metro Detroit next year, and the work will have a huge effect on commuters. MDOT says about 200,000 vehicles a day travel Interstate 275 between Five Mile Road and the Interstate 96 / Interstate 696 / M-5 interchange, and beginning next spring, those motorists will need to find alternate routes.

US 131 at 28th Street reopens after semi flips (WZZM)
U.S. 131 has reopened to traffic. A semi-truck overturned just after 4:30 p.m. Saturday on southbound U.S. 131 at 28th Street, according to police dispatch reports. The Michigan Department of Transportation reported the highway had closed because of the accident.

MDE
Michigan Department of Education adopts new standards for science education (Macomb Daily)
With a goal of providing Michigan students a better understanding of science and how it impacts the world around them, state education officials this week adopted new standards for teaching the subject. After three years of development, which included public information sessions, the State Board of Education adopted this week the new Michigan K-12 Science Standards. The guidelines replace those in use since 2006.

MEDC

Pure Michigan sells its return on investment in new campaign (Bridge Magazine)
With bankruptcy issues behind it, and lots of economic development news in the making, the ad campaign is meant to sell potential visitors on the city's opportunity. And a strategy of talking about the campaign now is all part of pushing a more compelling business case, and showing an example of return on investment of state tax dollars, for the Michigan Economic Development Corp. "We're showing our cards to our competition," said Dave Lorenz, the new vice president of Travel Michigan, the arm of the MEDC that manages the tourism campaign.

Supreme Court
Fired Saginaw nurse wins $1.2 million case argued at Supreme Court (Mlive)
A former Saginaw nurse has won the wrongful termination lawsuit against HealthSource Saginaw he has fought since 2008. The Michigan Supreme Court on Friday, Nov. 13, denied HealthSource's request to appeal a judgment upholding a jury's verdict that awarded $1.2 million to Roberto Landin.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Big issues left for Legislature: DPS and energy reform (Detroit Free Press)
With a road funding deal out of the way and only two, perhaps three weeks of legislative session left in the year, lawmakers are hoping to wrap up work on some big issues.

No charges forthcoming in extortion claim by ex-state Rep. Todd Courser (MLive)
Todd Courser said the decision by Lapeer County Prosecutor Tim Turkelson closed a chapter for him that's gone back months and led to the former 82nd House District representative stepping down from his seat and a fellow lawmaker expelled from office.

Michigan Political Points: Senate Republicans flex muscle following road funding deal (MLive)
With tough road funding votes behind them, Senate Republicans stepped on the gas this week, passing a series of partisan bills that Democrats could do little to stop.

DETROIT

$195M pension payment might derail Detroit's recovery (Detroit Free Press)
Post-bankruptcy Detroit is obligated to pay little to nothing into employee pensions over the next nine years. But then, an enormous bill comes due that has caught city and pensions officials off-guard, raising doubt about the data used in bankruptcy to calculate the city's obligations.

The Detroit Bankruptcy and the Regional Water Authority (WDET)
Detroit's bankruptcy case produced the Great Lakes Water Authority, a new regional organization that oversees water and sewer services to much of southeast Michigan. Supporters say it means more regional cooperation, and better management of its huge water system. But the Authority also has plenty of skeptics.

For Detroit Retirees, Bankruptcy Still Part of Daily Life (WDET)
For City of Detroit retirees, the changes brought by bankruptcy are measured in the cuts they've taken to monthly pension checks and health care benefits. Nearly a year after the case's resolution, some of them are recalling the bankruptcy proceedings and what the case has meant to their lives.

Detroit police on heightened alert after Paris attacks (AP)
Detroit law enforcement officials have called more officers to duty and moved some to locations deemed higher priorities following the deadly attacks in Paris.

Detroit casinos, labor unresolved over health care (The Detroit News)
Negotiations between Detroit's three casinos and the Detroit Casino Council, the umbrella organization for four employee unions, remain unresolved over health care. The two sides met on Wednesday evening but were unable to reach an agreement. They are scheduled to meet again Sunday through Tuesday.

OPINION

Is a gay rights petition drive in Michigan's future? (Mlive)
The strangest things happen in this business when a usually reliable source suggests one thing, but once you check it out, you discover quite another. Which is why LGBT advocate and lawyer Dana Nessel is wondering if some are trying to "sabotage" a proposed statewide petition drive to expand the state's civil rights act to include the gay community.

Who gets hurt when lawmakers put cost before value? (Detroit Free Press)
In a conversation with Michigan House Speaker Kevin Cotter a few weeks ago, I challenged him to defend the fact that the state's Department of Health and Human Services is so under-funded that it employs just 67 inspectors to oversee compliance in 10,000 child care centers.

Our Editorial: DPS deal needs realistic funding (The Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder decided last week to delay the introduction of legislation to rescue the Detroit Public Schools until next month. That assures it won't be passed by the end of the year, as the governor had hoped. Before he does send the bills to the Legislature, he'll have to come up with a more realistic funding plan.

Snyder's Detroit schools plan falls short on leadership (Detroit Free Press)
While there are commendable aspects of Gov. Rick Snyder's plan for Detroit Public Schools, I have significant reservations about its viability and the long-term effects it will have on the city and the school system. The creation of a seven-member school board along with the creation of a five-member Detroit Education Commission, both appointed by the mayor and the governor, are problematic

State not so transparent and voters should do something (Detroit Free Press)
Michigan ranked last in the U.S. in a national study of state ethics and transparency laws. The study, released Monday, cites weak public record laws and the state's lack of laws requiring personal financial disclosures by lawmakers and top state officials.

Rubin: The Michigan Senate thinks you're an idiot (The Detroit News)
We expect a little chicanery from our beloved legislature. A touch of duplicity. Extended periods of befuddlement and bickering, punctuated by a few needless years of potholes. Those things barely get anyone's attention, except for the potholes. But nobody likes being treated like an idiot, especially by people radiating hypocrisy.

Export-Import Bank should be revived to aid Michigan industries (Mlive)
In Michigan we have come through difficult economic times with many of our businesses, big and small, selling to new customers overseas. With over 95 percent of potential buyers outside the United States, the need for strong exports has never been greater.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Tuesday, November 17, 2015 10:19 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/17 Newsroom

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Tuesday, November 17, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees

Snyder change on Syrian refugees leads more opposition (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder's announcement Sunday that he would back off — at least temporarily — from an effort to relocate Syrian refugees in Michigan set off a wave of even stronger opposition by governors across the U.S. on Monday, with several saying they would reject outright any attempts to resettle Syrians in their states.

Snyder suspends Syrian refugee effort in Michigan (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder's decision to suspend efforts to bring Syrian refugees to Michigan in light of the deadly terrorist attacks in Paris on Friday has sparked controversy and launched the state into the national debate of how to protect U.S. citizens while providing a haven for those who desperately need help.

Snyder urges 'full review' of refugees, says safety is key (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is asking the Obama administration for a "full review" of security clearances for refugees who could be placed in Michigan. Snyder's office released a letter that was sent Monday to Secretary of State John Kerry and the head of Homeland Security after the attacks in Paris and Beirut. The governor says he's "unwavering" in welcoming refugees to Michigan but adds that his first priority is keeping people safe.

Governors Who Want To Ban Syrian Refugees Have Something In Common (FiveThirtyEight)
"Michigan is a welcoming state and we are proud of our rich history of immigration," Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder said in a statement Sunday announcing his position on refugees. "But our first priority is protecting the safety of our residents."

Michigan among those states not welcoming refugees (WWMT)
In the wake of the deadly terror attacks in Paris on Friday, the state of Michigan is one of 11 across the country that has announced it will not take in Syrian refugees. U.S. governors--including Michigan's Governor Rick Snyder, are saying no to Syrian refugees. The news comes with concern that terrorists may enter the United States under the cover of a refugee to cause us harm.

Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs: "We support the governor" (WLNS)
We support the governor's step that is designed to ensure the safety and security of all Michiganders. We also ask our fellow citizens to stay away from stereotyping and racially-charged comments at this sensitive time. In unity, we will uphold the values that have served America well and made us the great society we are today.

Governor Snyder's decision to suspend Syrian refugee relocation to Michigan criticized by some (WXYZ)
Governor Rick Snyder is defending his decision to suspend the state's program to accept Syrian refugees following recent terrorist attacks in Paris and Lebanon.

Snyder's action on refugees receives tepid response from local leaders (Macomb Daily)
Snyder was one of several governors who expressed concern over the prospect of terrorists slipping into the United States as part of the refugee process.

Ohio, Michigan governors take stance on Syrian refugee resettlement (WTOL-TV Ohio)
Friday's terror attacks in Paris have prompted governors of several states to close their borders to Syrian refugees, including Ohio Gov. John Kasich and Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder.

Snyder's change on Syrian refugees leads wave of opposition (WZZM)
Gov. Rick Snyder's announcement on Sunday that he would at least temporarily back off an effort to relocate Syrian refugees in Michigan set off a wave of even stronger opposition by governors across the U.S. on Monday, with several saying they would reject outright any attempts to resettle Syrians in their states.

For Syrians in Michigan, call to block refugees is a gut punch (Washington Post)
Among the first and most surprising was Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder (R), who until this weekend had enthusiastically embraced the idea of resettling refugees in a depopulated Detroit.

Gov. Snyder suspends acceptance of refugees in Michigan (UP Matters/TV 3)
No Syrian refugees will be allowed into Michigan in the near future. Governor Rick Snyder has suspended the state's acceptance of those refugees until the U.S. Department of Homeland Security reviews its procedures for allowing them into our country.

Advocates urge Gov. Snyder to reconsider "hasty" decision on Syrian refugees (Michigan Radio)
Michigan's Syrian American community and its supporters are urging Governor Snyder to resume efforts to re-settle refugees in the state.

Snyder says hold on Syrian refugees is temporary (WOOD-TV)
Gov. Rick Snyder said that the hold he placed on allowing Syrian refugees into Michigan is a temporary precautionary decision. Two days after a group of Islamic extremists killed more than 100 people in Paris, Snyder made the move out of concern for the safety of Michigan residents, he said.

Snyder Says Suspending Acceptance of Syrian Refugees is "Prudent" and Temporary (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder stresses that he's only pausing, not ending, plans to welcome refugees from Syria and other Middle East countries to Michigan. Governor Snyder has a very pro-immigration record, and says there are humanitarian and practical reasons for Michigan to welcome refugees.

Border Not Closed: Snyder Clarifies Refugee Situation (WSJM)
Governor Snyder is clarifying his stance on allowing Syrian refugees into the state. On Sunday, Snyder said he was temporarily halting efforts to relocate refugees into the state pending a review by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security on the procedures for allowing them into the country. He also said yesterday that the borders aren't being closed.

Snyder Temporarily Blocks Refugees (WILX)
Governor Snyder says he's blocking more refugees from coming to Michigan for now in order to keep our state safe. "Most people are not terrorists," said Gov. Rick Snyder. "We need to be thoughtful about helping people around the world. This is just to be prudent to make sure that some terrorist element is not entering our country."

Snyder clarifies Syrian refugees already headed to Michigan OK (Fox 17)
In a bid to clarify a decision he announced Sunday, Gov. Rick Snyder says Syrian refugees already in the pipeline or who recently arrived or are expected to arrive in Michigan soon will not be stopped.

Bill signing

Snyder signs legislation to promote financial education (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder says financial literacy courses will help Michigan high school students be better equipped to understand and manage their personal finances.

Snyder signs 11 bills, including increased penalties for poaching (UP Matters)
Michigan high school students will be better equipped to understand and manage their personal finances by earning credit for financial literacy courses, under bipartisan legislation signed today by Gov. Rick Snyder.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
Boil water advisory in Shelby lifted after follow-up tests negative (MLive)
A boil water alert for the Village of Shelby has been lifted. The alert was issued late Thursday after coliform bacteria was discovered in the water distribution system. The alert, which was lifted around noon Sunday, advised people to boil water or use bottled water for cooking, drinking, washing dishes, making ice and brushing teeth.

Flint water crisis prompts more scrutiny of federal drinking water rules (Michigan Radio)
The Flint water crisis will be part of a public meeting this week in Virginia about federal rules on lead. The National Drinking Water Advisory Council is holding meetings tomorrow through Thursday to develop recommendations for the Environmental Protection Agency.

DNR
Firearm deer opener provides plenty to check at St. Charles DNR (MLive)
Officials at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources office in St. Charles saw nearly twice as many deer checked this firearms deer opener, as last year.

Fourth case of CWD confirmed in Michigan (UP Source)
A fourth case of chronic wasting disease has been confirmed in a deer downstate. Locally, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources is taking steps to keep chronic wasting disease out of the Upper Peninsula. The disease is a neurological disorder that is fatal.

DOC
Midland County Board of Commissioners approves 2016 budget (Midland Daily News)
The Midland County Board of Commissioners recently approved the 2016 administrator/controller's recommended budget. But it didn't happen until commissioners had debated whether to include a request from Sheriff Scott Stephenson for an additional eight corrections officers.

Attorneys discuss a Flint water class action lawsuit (Michigan Radio)
Attorneys are hoping to sign up tens of thousands of Flint water customers for a class action lawsuit against the city and state. The suit was filed Friday on behalf of four families.

MDE
LCC to interview finalists for board vacancy (Lansing State Journal)
The Lansing Community College Board of Trustees will interview three candidates to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of one of its members last month. Alex Azima, Ronald Gillum and Todd Heywood were selected as finalists for the position from a pool of 18 applicants, according to a news release.

MDOT
MDOT Earns Honors for Rumble Strip Idea (WHTC)
The rumble strip concept that the Michigan Department of Transportation has implemented on rural highways has earned a national honor. The Roadway Safety Foundation and the Federal Highway Administration recognized MDOT's initiative with a 2015 National Roadway Safety Award for its effectiveness, innovation and efficient use of resources.

MEDC
Switch confirms plans for $5B investment, 1,000 jobs at West Michigan data center (MLive)

Switch has confirmed it intends to build a new $5 billion data center on the site of the former Steelcase Inc. Corporate Development Center, commonly known as the Steelcase pyramid. The new 2 million-square-foot data center, dubbed Supernap Michigan, would be the largest data center in the eastern United States, the company said in a press release on Monday, Nov. 16.

MVAA

Gov. Snyder honors businesses for veteran hiring efforts (WWMT-TV)
Nearly 1,000 good paying jobs are ready to be filled by veterans in West Michigan. Governor Rick Snyder joined the Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency on Monday at Michigan State University to recognize 37 employers for their veteran hiring efforts.

One thousand jobs targeted for veterans through MVAA's Veteran (UPMatters.com)
Nearly 1,000 good-paying jobs are ready to be filled by veterans at companies throughout Michigan that recognize and respect their military skills, training and experience. Gov. Rick Snyder joined Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency Director Jeff Barnes Monday during MVAA's Veteran-Friendly Employer Awards and Recognition Breakfast, held at Michigan State University.

SOS

Judge: HP must turn over computer code to Mich. SOS (The Detroit News)
A Kent County judge has ordered Hewlett-Packard to turn over the computer source code for vehicle registrations online to the state of Michigan, according to the Michigan Secretary of State's Office. The state terminated its contract with the global information technology company in August and sued HP in Kent County Circuit Court in September after the company failed to deliver on a $49 million contract over 10 years.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Should Michigan change tax law to lure $5B data center? (Free Press)
A vacant Grand Rapids site could become the largest data center in the eastern half of the United States but only if the Michigan legislature grants the company a tax break potentially worth millions of dollars.

Switch confirms plans for $5B investment, 1,000 jobs at West Michigan data center (MLive)
Switch has confirmed it intends to build a new $5 billion data center on the site of the former Steelcase Inc. Corporate Development Center, commonly known as the Steelcase pyramid.

$5B data center for Steelcase pyramid is 'an incredibly game-changing project' (MLive)
About two months ago, Birgit Klohs, president and CEO of Right Place Inc., was invited to meet with a Nevada entrepreneur with the dashing name of Rob Roy and Roger Norman, the new owner of the former Steelcase pyramid.

Michigan State Senator wants to repeal Self-Defense Act (Ammoland)
On Tuesday, November 10, state Senator Rebekah Warren (D-18) implicitly made a bold statement that violent criminals deserve more legal protection than their law-abiding victims when she introduced Senate Bill 611.

OPINION

Why collective bargaining still works (Detroit Free Press)
The recently concluded negotiations between the Detroit 3 and the UAW shows the benefits of collective bargaining in a democratic society.

The long road to peace and the end of terror (Detroit Free Press)
It will be months before Paris, Beirut, Nairobi and the rest of the world recover from the loss of life and shaken sense of security wrought by the cowardly terrorist acts of the past week.

Gov. Snyder's decision on Syrian refugees plays into what ISIS wants (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder bowed to pressure yesterday and made a decision that was politically easy.

Initiative petition process cries for reform (Detroit News)

We are about one year away from the 2016 general election and efforts are in full swing to qualify initiated statutes and constitutional amendments for that statewide ballot. Already we're seeing evidence with those efforts of the dysfunction that we've come to associate with the law/amendment drafting, petition circulation process, and voter information that comes with ballot questions.

Editorial: Roads funding plan is a start (Lansing State Journal)
When Gov. Snyder put pen to paper last week, he finally gave us a roads funding plan.

Candice Miller: Gov. Snyder's prior willingness to accept Syrian refugees was 'off the mark' (MLive)
U.S. Rep. Candice Miller, R-Harrison Twp., joined WJR 760 AM host Paul W. Smith on Monday to make clear her concerns regarding the U.S. accepting Syrian refugees in the wake of Friday's terrorist bombings in Paris.

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Tuesday, November 17, 2015 2:05 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - November 17, 2015

NEWS

Ohio State is wary of Michigan State

The Detroit News

"The most prepared team," Meyer said Monday of Michigan State. ... In 2012, Ohio State came to Michigan State and escaped with a 17-16 victory.

It's "Do or Die" Time for Ohio State vs. Michigan State - Bleacher Report

Ohio State's Urban Meyer says Michigan State 'the top of our conference' - MLive.com

Can Spartans-Buckeyes maintain marquee status? - ESPN (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

8 state governors oppose Syrian refugee relocation

CNBC

In recent days, Republican governors of nine states — Texas, Michigan, Florida, Illinois, Louisiana, Indiana, Arkansas, Alabama and Massachusetts ...

Texas, Alabama, Michigan, Indiana Tell Obama: We Won't Accept Any Syrian Refugees - Breitbart News

More Than Half Of US Governors Say Syrian Refugees Not Welcome Now - BuzzFeed News

Alabama, Michigan Governors Vow to Bar Syrian Refugees From Their States - Slate Magazine (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

After plenty of March success, Michigan State players looking for some more in November

MLive.com

Michigan State guard Denzel Valentine (45) celebrates a 3-pointer in the first half of their NCAA basketball game against Florida Atlantic at the Breslin ...

Michigan State vs. Kansas: Game info, TV, radio, etc. - Detroit Free Press

Kansas vs. Michigan State: Champions Classic 2015 Time, TV Schedule, Prediction - Bleacher Report

Kansas' Self and Michigan State's Izzo prepare to meet again at Champions Classic - Kansas City Star

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Flint, Michigan residents sue city, state over tap water

Yahoo News

(Reuters) - Residents of Flint, Michigan have filed a lawsuit accusing the city and state of endangering their health by exposing them to dangerous ...

Flint, Michigan residents sue city, state over tap water - Thomson Reuters Foundation

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State QB Connor Cook says his 'shoulder is great,' won't elaborate

MLive.com

Michigan State QB Connor Cook was examined by head athletic trainer Dr. Sally Nogle and spoke with his father, Chris Cook, after taking two hard ...

Ohio State football: Buckeyes expecting to face Michigan State QB Connor Cook on Saturday - cleveland.com

MSU's Cook upbeat, not specific, on shoulder injury - Detroit Free Press

Video: Buckeyes Prepare For Michigan State - Scout

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Spartans And Jayhawks Meet In Champions Classic

Michigan State Athletics

Michigan State and Kansas will meet in the fifth-annual Champions Classic. The Spartans defeated the Jayhawks, 67-64, in the 2012 Champions ...

Michigan State remains at No. 13, Michigan moves up to No. 24 in AP basketball poll - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Malik McDowell says 'on point' Michigan State O-line will assert itself

MLive.com

Michigan State sophomore Malik McDowell is as athletic as he is big and strong, shown here making a diving tackle on Purdue tailback Markell Jones ...

Flag as irrelevant

Should Michigan change tax law to lure $5B data center?

Detroit Free Press

The investment for the Switch's Michigan project is estimated by the ... Michigan is in competition with only one other state - New York - for the new ...

Switch confirms plans for $5B investment, 1000 jobs at West Michigan data center - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Clear bag policy will be enforced at Ohio State vs. Michigan State

Sports Illustrated

Only clear bags will be allowed inside of the stadium for Ohio State's home game against the Michigan State Spartans on Saturday, the school ...

College football | Ohio State announces clear-bag policy for Michigan State game - Columbus Dispatch

Ohio State implements "clear bag" policy for Michigan State game - Dayton Daily News

Full Coverage

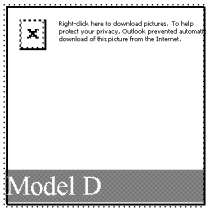
Flag as irrelevant

The state of the creative economy in Michigan

Model D

The presentations and panel discussions were wide-ranging, but all centered on the state of Michigan's creative economy and where it is going.

Flag as irrelevant



See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Wednesday, November 18, 2015 10:20 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/18 Newsroom
Attachments: 151118 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, November 18, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees

Gov. Rick Snyder: We Must Welcome Refugees—After Screening Them (TIME)
I've paused efforts to bring more refugees to Michigan until the U.S. reviews its security procedures. Throughout its history, Michigan has been a welcoming place for immigrants to come and build new lives. That spirit is reflected across our state, but especially in the vibrant Middle Eastern community that has congregated in and around Detroit.

White House briefs governors on refugee screening (WDIV)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder was one of the first to say it is time to stand down on allowing Syrian refugees into the country. It's was a remarkable about-face from the usually pro-immigration governor. However, Snyder, like governors across the country, is worried about screening procedures to make sure Islamic terrorists don't get a free pass to come into the United States.

Governor Snyder Takes Part in White House Conference Call About Refugees (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder was on the phone with the White House Tuesday, taking part in a conference call about plans to bring more refugees into the United States.

Michigan can't bar refugees; it's up to feds (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and state lawmakers can do little to stop the flow of refugees from war-torn Syria into Michigan, though they could make it tougher for the immigrants once they arrive, legal experts say.

Michigan could potentially see more Syrian refugees (Freep)
Senior Obama administration officials said Tuesday they would not typically resettle refugees in communities where they're not welcomed, but stopped short of promising not to send individuals and families fleeing war-torn Syria to states where governors have raised concerns — meaning more could potentially be headed to Michigan, which has already received more refugees than all but two other states.

White House holds call with governors on Syrian refugees (AP)
The White House held a 90-minute conference call with governors about plans to increase the number of refugees accepted in the United States after governors raised concerns related to last week's attacks in Paris. A spokeswoman for Michigan Republican Gov. Rick Snyder says he appreciated the discussion and told officials he'd like "more robust data" on the refugee system.

Obama Administration Briefs Governors On Refugee Screening (NPR)
A spokesperson for Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, one of the governors who asked the federal government not to bring refugees into his state until security procedures were reviewed by the Department of Homeland Security, tells NPR's Don Gonyea that Snyder "thought it was helpful to hear in much greater detail the work on screening and security procedures."

After Syrian refugee stance, is Michigan's Rick Snyder still the most pro-immigration governor? (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder calls himself the most pro-immigration governor in the nation, but he ended up on a forefront of a national wave of governors questioning or opposing the relocation of Syrian refugees.

Bethany Christian Services: Snyder's halt on accepting refugees a temporary measure, won't affect Holland placement (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder's decision to postpone Michigan's efforts to accept refugees in response to the recent attacks in Paris and Beirut will likely have little impact on placement of refugees in the Holland area. This is mostly because of timing, as it was unlikely for many reasons any would be placed locally until the spring.

Flint water
Refund Flint $2 million for cost of Detroit water, Kildee tells Gov. Snyder (Mlive)
The state of Michigan should repair damage to Flint's water lines, create a fund for ongoing assistance here, and reimburse the city for the $2 million it's spending to temporarily reconnect to the Detroit water system, U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee says. The Flint Democrat outlined his requests in a Nov. 13 letter to Gov. Rick Snyder, saying "the state -- not Flint -- created this water crisis, and the state needs to fix it."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
State's instructions for sampling drinking water for lead "not best practice" (Michigan Radio)
The Flint water crisis has uncovered all kinds of details about how cities test the safety of their drinking water. In particular, critics say the state is giving bad advice on testing drinking water for lead.

Outdated system leaves city guessing where lead pipes are (WNEM)
Experts said homes with lead pipes have a dramatically higher risk of lead poisoning from their drinking water. Under federal rules, those homes need to be sampled.

DHHS
Sparrow PHP to lose 21K patients, cut 40 jobs (Lansing State Journal)
Sparrow's Physicians Health Plan will lose 21,000 Medicaid patients in the tri-county area as of Jan. 1, after losing a bid to provide coverage through the state's Medicaid program.

Michigan board denies Medicaid HMO contract appeals (Crain's Detroit Business)
Despite last-minute pleas this morning by a handful of Medicaid HMOs, the Michigan State Administrative Board held firm and upheld state joint evaluation committee recommendations that denied the appeals of five of six health plans, state officials told Crain's.

DNR
Deer opener sees improvement in Michigan's U.P. (AP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says this year's opening day of the firearm deer hunting season improved in some parts of the Upper Peninsula compared with last year.

Hunters find success on opening day of firearm deer season (Holland Sentinel)
The beginning of firearm deer season is considered a state holiday by most, and that meant plenty of area hunters took to the woods on the first day of the season on Sunday, Nov. 15, in hopes of bagging a big buck.

Hunters Reminded to Abide by ORV Regulations (WBKB)
As you know, hunting season kicked off Sunday, and conservation officers at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are reminding hunters using an off–road vehicle to follow ORV land–use regulations.

Some U.P. waters receive new fishing regulations (ABC 10 News)
The Michigan Natural Resources Commission recently approved some changes to fishing regulations on the Tahquamenon and Ontonagon Rivers. Anglers can now keep muskies as small as thirty–eight inches on the Tahquamenon, and those on the Ontonagon will be limited to only one walleye daily that's bigger than twenty–five inches.

MDE

Did Michigan waste $3.5 million on charter schools with questionable futures? (Detroit Metro Times)

Up until a month ago, if you searched for "Bertha B. Williams Academy" online, you would have been directed to an undated, three-page PDF spotlighting the vision statement for a K-2 charter school with intentions of opening on Detroit's east side.

MDOS

Transgender driver lawsuit to move forward in Michigan (AP)

A judge has denied a motion to dismiss a lawsuit filed by a group of transgender people against Michigan Secretary of State Ruth Johnson. Six transgender people living in Michigan filed the lawsuit in May with the help of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Judge: HP must hand over source code for flawed Michigan SOS computer system (WKZO)

A judge is now ordering Hewlett Packard to hand over the source code for the computer system that is used by the Michigan Secretary of State's office by the end of the week.

MDOT

Michigan Dept. of Transportation wins national recognition for rumble strip initiative (MI News 26)

The Michigan Department of Transportation was honored by the Roadway Safety Foundation and the Federal Highway Administration(FHA) for its efforts to reduce run-off-the-road and fatal crashes caused by motorists straying out of their lane.

MSHDA

Ypsilanti approves $50K for Water Street contamination testing, record review (MLive)

Ypsilanti is taking the next step in answering questions about remaining contamination on the 38-acre Water Street property. The city will pay its environmental consultant, AKT Peerless, $50,000 to test the site's soil and analyze 20 years of existing environmental records to determine what cleanup is still needed.

Foreclosure assistance available through the end of the year for Branch County residents (WTVB)

Families in Branch County struggling financially are being urged to apply for assistance to stay in their homes before it's too late. On December 31, 2015, the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) will close the Step Forward Michigan foreclosure prevention program to new applicants.

MSP

Fight against cybercrime for Michigan State Police will be centered in Coldwater (WTVB)

Police agencies fighting cybercrime in Branch County are in line for a major improvement in their battle against computer hackers and identity thieves. Beginning next year, the State Police Post in Coldwater will be the location for an MSP Cybercrime Unit serving southwest Michigan.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Lawmakers push to expand Promise scholarship in Michigan (Michigan Radio)

A pair of bills moving through the state Legislature would increase the number of "promise zones" in Michigan. The Promise scholarship program lets certain high poverty communities use a combination of private and state money to guarantee college tuition or other post-secondary education funding for local students.

What a data center is, and why it's needed in West Michigan (WZZM)

The Michigan Legislature still has to approve new legislation to convince a communications company to build a data center in West Michigan, but that isn't stopping people from talking about what the $5-billion project could mean for Michigan. The Michigan Legislature is expected to take it up after the Thanksgiving break.

DETROIT

Urban farming group hopes to work out deal for 10 year lease on land owned by city of Detroit (WXYZ)

The Detroit Land Bank, in consultation with the city's planning department, offered the Georgia Street Community Collective a three-year lease with the option for two renewals for these properties at a rate of $25 per lot per year. The reason for the lease, as opposed to a sale, is that this area is undergoing a land study by the city's planning department to determine the best long-term use of this city-owned land.

Detroit wants input on farm animals proposal (WDIV)
Whether or not people living in Detroit can have farm animals on their property will be up for debate Wednesday. The City Planning Commission is considering a new ordinance that would legalize certain farm animals (likes goats and chickens) and honeybees.

Planned move by veterans group in Detroit faces resistance (AP)
Plans for a nonprofit that serves military veterans to relocate to a Detroit neighborhood are being met with resistance by some residents amid concerns it won't fit with the character of the area.

OPINION

Bieber: Shine a light on state contracts (Detroit News)
When it comes to transparency and ethics in state government, Michigan is 50 out of 50. Dead last. That's according to a new report from the nonpartisan Center for Public Integrity.

Editorial: Reject short-sighted child abuse list bills (Detroit News)
Michigan made a big mistake in adopting a broad sex offender registry, one that can't distinguish between a bona fide predator and a teenager who had consensual relations with his girlfriend. It should not compound that error by adopting a similar permanent list of those convicted of child abuse.

Bill a step toward fair, secure energy for Michigan (Detroit News)
The recent vote by the House Energy and Technology Committee was an important step toward securing an affordable, reliable and clean energy future for Michigan. Bills — passed with strong bi-partisan support — also help assure that Michigan maintains control over its own energy future and does not give up control to the federal government or out-of-state interests.

Snyder talks tough on refugees, flunks social studies (Detroit Free Press)
For the record, I don't for a minute believe Rick Snyder is an Islamaphobic bigot.

Snyder pulls back the welcome mat for Syrian refugees (MLive)
The governor has hit the pause button but not the delete button as he ponders what to do about opening the doors to refugees from Syria.

Gov. Rick Snyder: We must welcome refugees—after screening them (TIME)
Throughout its history, Michigan has been a welcoming place for immigrants to come and build new lives. That spirit is reflected across our state, but especially in the vibrant Middle Eastern community that has congregated in and around Detroit.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Wednesday, November 18, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees

Gov. Rick Snyder: We Must Welcome Refugees—After Screening Them (TIME)
I've paused efforts to bring more refugees to Michigan until the U.S. reviews its security procedures. Throughout its history, Michigan has been a welcoming place for immigrants to come and build new lives. That spirit is reflected across our state, but especially in the vibrant Middle Eastern community that has congregated in and around Detroit.

White House briefs governors on refugee screening (WDIV)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder was one of the first to say it is time to stand down on allowing Syrian refugees into the country. It's was a remarkable about-face from the usually pro-immigration governor. However, Snyder, like governors across the country, is worried about screening procedures to make sure Islamic terrorists don't get a free pass to come into the United States.

Governor Snyder Takes Part in White House Conference Call About Refugees (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder was on the phone with the White House Tuesday, taking part in a conference call about plans to bring more refugees into the United States.

Michigan can't bar refugees; it's up to feds (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder and state lawmakers can do little to stop the flow of refugees from war-torn Syria into Michigan, though they could make it tougher for the immigrants once they arrive, legal experts say.

Michigan could potentially see more Syrian refugees (Freep)
Senior Obama administration officials said Tuesday they would not typically resettle refugees in communities where they're not welcomed, but stopped short of promising not to send individuals and families fleeing war-torn Syria to states where governors have raised concerns — meaning more could potentially be headed to Michigan, which has already received more refugees than all but two other states.

White House holds call with governors on Syrian refugees (AP)
The White House held a 90-minute conference call with governors about plans to increase the number of refugees accepted in the United States after governors raised concerns related to last week's attacks in Paris. A spokeswoman for Michigan Republican Gov. Rick Snyder says he appreciated the discussion and told officials he'd like "more robust data" on the refugee system.

Obama Administration Briefs Governors On Refugee Screening (NPR)
A spokesperson for Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, one of the governors who asked the federal government not to bring refugees into his state until security procedures were reviewed by the Department of Homeland Security, tells NPR's Don Gonyea that Snyder "thought it was helpful to hear in much greater detail the work on screening and security procedures."

After Syrian refugee stance, is Michigan's Rick Snyder still the most pro-immigration governor? (Mlive)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder calls himself the most pro-immigration governor in the nation, but he ended up on a forefront of a national wave of governors questioning or opposing the relocation of Syrian refugees.

Bethany Christian Services: Snyder's halt on accepting refugees a temporary measure, won't affect Holland placement (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder's decision to postpone Michigan's efforts to accept refugees in response to the recent attacks in Paris and Beirut will likely have little impact on placement of refugees in the Holland area. This is mostly because of timing, as it was unlikely for many reasons any would be placed locally until the spring.

Flint water
Refund Flint $2 million for cost of Detroit water, Kildee tells Gov. Snyder (Mlive)
The state of Michigan should repair damage to Flint's water lines, create a fund for ongoing assistance here, and reimburse the city for the $2 million it's spending to temporarily reconnect to the Detroit water system, U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee says. The Flint Democrat outlined his requests in a Nov. 13 letter to Gov. Rick Snyder, saying "the state -- not Flint -- created this water crisis, and the state needs to fix it."

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DEQ
State's instructions for sampling drinking water for lead "not best practice" (Michigan Radio)
The Flint water crisis has uncovered all kinds of details about how cities test the safety of their drinking water. In particular, critics say the state is giving bad advice on testing drinking water for lead.

Outdated system leaves city guessing where lead pipes are (WNEM)
Experts said homes with lead pipes have a dramatically higher risk of lead poisoning from their drinking water. Under federal rules, those homes need to be sampled.

DHHS
Sparrow PHP to lose 21K patients, cut 40 jobs (Lansing State Journal)
Sparrow's Physicians Health Plan will lose 21,000 Medicaid patients in the tri-county area as of Jan. 1, after losing a bid to provide coverage through the state's Medicaid program.

Michigan board denies Medicaid HMO contract appeals (Crain's Detroit Business)
Despite last-minute pleas this morning by a handful of Medicaid HMOs, the Michigan State Administrative Board held firm and upheld state joint evaluation committee recommendations that denied the appeals of five of six health plans, state officials told Crain's.

DNR
Deer opener sees improvement in Michigan's U.P. (AP)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources says this year's opening day of the firearm deer hunting season improved in some parts of the Upper Peninsula compared with last year.

Hunters find success on opening day of firearm deer season (Holland Sentinel)
The beginning of firearm deer season is considered a state holiday by most, and that meant plenty of area hunters took to the woods on the first day of the season on Sunday, Nov. 15, in hopes of bagging a big buck.

Hunters Reminded to Abide by ORV Regulations (WBKB)
As you know, hunting season kicked off Sunday, and conservation officers at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are reminding hunters using an off–road vehicle to follow ORV land–use regulations.

Some U.P. waters receive new fishing regulations (ABC 10 News)
The Michigan Natural Resources Commission recently approved some changes to fishing regulations on the Tahquamenon and Ontonagon Rivers. Anglers can now keep muskies as small as thirty–eight inches on the Tahquamenon, and those on the Ontonagon will be limited to only one walleye daily that's bigger than twenty–five inches.

MDE
Did Michigan waste $3.5 million on charter schools with questionable futures? (Detroit Metro Times)
Up until a month ago, if you searched for "Bertha B. Williams Academy" online, you would have been directed to an undated, three-page PDF spotlighting the vision statement for a K-2 charter school with intentions of opening on Detroit's east side.

MDOS
Transgender driver lawsuit to move forward in Michigan (AP)
A judge has denied a motion to dismiss a lawsuit filed by a group of transgender people against Michigan Secretary of State Ruth Johnson. Six transgender people living in Michigan filed the lawsuit in May with the help of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Judge: HP must hand over source code for flawed Michigan SOS computer system (WKZO)
A judge is now ordering Hewlett Packard to hand over the source code for the computer system that is used by the Michigan Secretary of State's office by the end of the week.

MDOT
Michigan Dept. of Transportation wins national recognition for rumble strip initiative (MI News 26)
The Michigan Department of Transportation was honored by the Roadway Safety Foundation and the Federal Highway Administration(FHA) for its efforts to reduce run-off-the-road and fatal crashes caused by motorists straying out of their lane.

MSHDA
Ypsilanti approves $50K for Water Street contamination testing, record review (MLive)
Ypsilanti is taking the next step in answering questions about remaining contamination on the 38-acre Water Street property. The city will pay its environmental consultant, AKT Peerless, $50,000 to test the site's soil and analyze 20 years of existing environmental records to determine what cleanup is still needed.

Foreclosure assistance available through the end of the year for Branch County residents (WTVB)
Families in Branch County struggling financially are being urged to apply for assistance to stay in their homes before it's too late. On December 31, 2015, the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) will close the Step Forward Michigan foreclosure prevention program to new applicants.

MSP
Fight against cybercrime for Michigan State Police will be centered in Coldwater (WTVB)
Police agencies fighting cybercrime in Branch County are in line for a major improvement in their battle against computer hackers and identity thieves. Beginning next year, the State Police Post in Coldwater will be the location for an MSP Cybercrime Unit serving southwest Michigan.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Lawmakers push to expand Promise scholarship in Michigan (Michigan Radio)
A pair of bills moving through the state Legislature would increase the number of "promise zones" in Michigan. The Promise scholarship program lets certain high poverty communities use a combination of private and state money to guarantee college tuition or other post-secondary education funding for local students.

What a data center is, and why it's needed in West Michigan (WZZM)
The Michigan Legislature still has to approve new legislation to convince a communications company to build a data center in West Michigan, but that isn't stopping people from talking about what the $5-billion project could mean for Michigan. The Michigan Legislature is expected to take it up after the Thanksgiving break.

DETROIT

Urban farming group hopes to work out deal for 10 year lease on land owned by city of Detroit (WXYZ)
The Detroit Land Bank, in consultation with the city's planning department, offered the Georgia Street Community Collective a three-year lease with the option for two renewals for these properties at a rate of $25 per lot per year. The reason for the lease, as opposed to a sale, is that this area is undergoing a land study by the city's planning department to determine the best long-term use of this city-owned land.

Detroit wants input on farm animals proposal (WDIV)
Whether or not people living in Detroit can have farm animals on their property will be up for debate Wednesday. The City Planning Commission is considering a new ordinance that would legalize certain farm animals (likes goats and chickens) and honeybees.

Planned move by veterans group in Detroit faces resistance (AP)
Plans for a nonprofit that serves military veterans to relocate to a Detroit neighborhood are being met with resistance by some residents amid concerns it won't fit with the character of the area.

OPINION

Bieber: Shine a light on state contracts (Detroit News)
When it comes to transparency and ethics in state government, Michigan is 50 out of 50. Dead last. That's according to a new report from the nonpartisan Center for Public Integrity.

Editorial: Reject short-sighted child abuse list bills (Detroit News)
Michigan made a big mistake in adopting a broad sex offender registry, one that can't distinguish between a bona fide predator and a teenager who had consensual relations with his girlfriend. It should not compound that error by adopting a similar permanent list of those convicted of child abuse.

Bill a step toward fair, secure energy for Michigan (Detroit News)
The recent vote by the House Energy and Technology Committee was an important step toward securing an affordable, reliable and clean energy future for Michigan. Bills — passed with strong bi-partisan support — also help assure that Michigan maintains control over its own energy future and does not give up control to the federal government or out-of-state interests.

Snyder talks tough on refugees, flunks social studies (Detroit Free Press)
For the record, I don't for a minute believe Rick Snyder is an Islamaphobic bigot.

Snyder pulls back the welcome mat for Syrian refugees (MLive)
The governor has hit the pause button but not the delete button as he ponders what to do about opening the doors to refugees from Syria.

Gov. Rick Snyder: We must welcome refugees—after screening them (TIME)
Throughout its history, Michigan has been a welcoming place for immigrants to come and build new lives. That spirit is reflected across our state, but especially in the vibrant Middle Eastern community that has congregated in and around Detroit.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, November 20, 2015 10:09 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/20 Newsroom
Attachments: 151120 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, November 20, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees
Governor Who Started Stampede On Refugees Says He Only Wants Answers (NPR)
Michigan's Rick Snyder was the first governor to urge a pause in admitting Syrian refugees into the United States. He triggered a national debate about refugee resettlement, and insists now that he only wants answers. The Republican has described himself as "the most pro-immigration governor in the country," but he argues the caution he wants the U.S. to show doesn't conflict with the compassion thinks should be shown to refugees.

Activists demand Snyder accept Syrian refugees (Detroit News)
A small group of activists brought 4,700 petitions to Gov. Rick Snyder demanding Thursday that he welcome Syrian refugees to Michigan.

4,700 pro-Syrian refugee signatures delivered to Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder spokesperson Dave Murray said he met with the group and more thoroughly explained the governor's stance.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley Working to Expand Job Opportunities for People With Disabilities (9&10 News)
Michigan's Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley is trying to expand job opportunities for people with disabilities. Lieutenant Gov. Calley says, "Michiganders of all abilities deserve to live independent, self-determined lives." Under the executive order, state departments and agencies will enact "Employment First".

Michigan seeks to expand jobs for those with disabilities (AP)
Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley has signed an executive order that's designed to bring increased job opportunities for people with disabilities. The order signed Wednesday establishes Employment First in Michigan and seeks to create competitive employment opportunities for people of working age.

Lt. Gov. Signs Order To Create Job Opportunities For The Disabled (WHMI)
A week after speaking in Livingston County on ways to assist the state's disabled workforce, Lt. Governor Brian Calley signed an executive order that will lead to more job opportunities for people with disabilities. The executive order establishes Employment First in Michigan, which helps build an inclusive work environment that creates employment opportunities for working-age individuals with disabilities.

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signs executive order for workers with disabilities (Holland Sentinel)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, R-Michigan, recently signed Executive Order 2015-15, which aims to improve access to workplace support and services for people with disabilities.

Lt. Governor signs order to increase job opportunities for those with disabilities (MI 26 News)
Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley signed an executive order that hopes to increase job opportunities for Michiganders with disabilities on Thursday. The Order establishes Employment First in Michigan and helps foster an inclusive environment that will create competitive employment opportunities for working-age individuals.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DNR
DNR's 'Novembeard' tourney promotes men's health (Mlive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has brought the two together in a recent campaign to promote men's health issues. The DNR launched a "Novembeard" tournament featuring 16 DNR employees from the Forest Resources, Fisheries, Wildlife and Parks and Recreation departments at the beginning of this month, said Maia Turek, DNR promotional specialist.

Grants available for trail work (AP)
State officials said a second round of grant funding is available for communities and organizations working on parts of Michigan's two Iron Belle Trail routes. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources said proposals are due Jan. 8.

DTMB
Michigan unemployment rate steady at 5 percent in October (AP)
The state says Michigan's seasonally adjusted unemployment is remaining steady. The Michigan Department of Technology, Management & Budget announced Wednesday that it was 5 percent in October, unchanged from September and equal to the national rate.

MDARD
Another credit card skimmer found at Mid-Michigan gas station (ABC 12)
Another credit card skimmer was found at a popular gas station in Mid Michigan.

MDE
New Michigan Science Standards adopted (Michigan State University Extension)
On November 10, 2015, the Michigan State Board of Education approved the new Michigan Science Standards, which are aligned with the Next Generation Science Standards. According to the Michigan Department of Education, "The effort to revise science standards comes from a vision for science education that is based on over thirty years of research on how students best learn science, as well as the ever changing needs in our workplaces and communities for scientific understanding."

MDOT
MDOT Awarded for Center Lane Rumble Strips (WDET)
The Michigan Department of Transportation's "Rumble Strip Initiative" has received a National Roadway Safety Award. The strips were placed under the center line of all non-freeway, high-speed, rural roads across the state to prevent accidents.

Southfield Freeway Pedestrian Bridge Complete (WDET)
A pedestrian bridge over the Southfield Freeway has reopened. The walkway at Cathedral Avenue was rebuilt after a truck pulled it down last year. Michigan Department of Transportation spokesperson Diane Cross says the overpass is now also compliant with the American with Disabilities Act.

MEDC
Micro-Grants Awarded to Michigan Businesses (WDET)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation and Citizens Bank are awarding more than $175,000 through the "Growing Communities" initiative. Randall Fogelman is the Vice President of Business Development for Eastern Market Corporation. He says the grants serve entrepreneurs that would find it hard to secure a traditional loan.

Davison gets $155,556 state grant for downtown improvements (Mlive)

The city of Davison is receiving some help from the state to beautify storefronts in its in its downtown business area. State Rep. Pam Faris, D-Clio, announced Thursday, Nov. 19, the city has been awarded a $153,556 in community development block grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corp. for its façade project.

MPSC

Michigan Public Service Commission approves increased electricity rates at Consumers Energy (AP)
The Michigan Public Service Commission Thursday authorized Consumers to raise power rates by $130 million annually, effective Dec. 1, less than $199 million the utility sought.

MSP

No More 3 Member Concealed Weapons Licensing Board (WBKB)
Effective December 1st there will no longer be a three member Concealed Weapons Licensing Board and everything will be approved by the Michigan State Police. The County Clerk's Office will be accepting concealed pistol license applications, putting them in the portal and submitting the information to MSP in Lansing.

Changes coming to Michigan concealed pistol licenses (WBUP)
A state law effective on December 1st will eliminate county gun boards in the state of Michigan. While Michigan State Police has always been a part of the gun board in every county, the process will now go in its entirety to a new unit of 13 people in Lansing. Applicants should expect very few changes. The goal and intention is to provide consistency state–wide.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Cotter: Private cash would help Detroit school deal (Detroit News)
House Speaker Kevin Cotter said Thursday that an infusion of private cash into a rescue of Detroit Public Schools would make a $715 million plan to fix the district's balance sheets "more palatable" to wary lawmakers.

Cotter, panelists talk legitimizing ridesharing companies in Michigan (CM Life)
A panel hosted by Generation Opportunity Nov. 17 discussed ridesharing companies potentially running taxis out of business in Michigan. At the same time, lobbyists are attempting to run companies like Uber and Lyft out of the state.

DETROIT

Detroit Public Schools May Get Debt Relief From State Funds (WEMU)
Gov. Rick Snyder's proposal would tap the state's School Aid Fund to pay for the measure. School leaders outside Detroit have balked at that idea – saying the plan shouldn't come at the expense of every other Michigan student. But some say they could support the plan if it also protects that fund from being used for things other than K-12 education. "If the School Aid Fund isn't being diverted for universities, I would support," said Saginaw Intermediate School District Superintendent Kathy Stewart.

Detroit Council may crack down on booming pot industry (Freep)
The Detroit City Council is expected take up a second ordinance to regulate the city's booming medical marijuana industry on Tuesday, although final approval of the measure may not come until January.

Detroit's crackdown on garbage cans spurs $100 fines (Detroit News)
Leaving your garbage can in the wrong spot could cost you in Detroit. Residents in some city neighborhoods are crying foul over $100 fines being levied in an apparent effort to step up code enforcement.

Metro Airport shuttle service contract to be rebid (Detroit News)
Regional Transit Authority officials plan to rebid the express airport shuttle service from Detroit and the suburbs to Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Buyer seeks $200M redevelopment of Lee Plaza (Detroit News)
The abandoned 17-story Lee Plaza Residential Hotel will be renovated into a building boasting around 200 units of luxury, market-rate apartments slated to open in fall 2017, according to buyer and Detroit native Craig Sasser.

Gilbert firm could buy parking garage for Hudson's site (Detroit News)

A city-owned parking garage could be acquired by a Dan Gilbert firm as part of a development deal for the former Hudson's site on Woodward.

OPINION

Snyder's political pandering on refugees shames us all (Detroit Free Press)
One of the worst things about terrorism is it works. Last week's deadly terrorist attacks in Paris did exactly what its perpetrators intended: killed innocent Parisians, surely, but caused people across the globe to worry that they'd be next, to fear sudden death or torment at the hands of anonymous, implacable attackers.

Grade retention harms students rather than helps them with reading proficiency (Mlive)
There is a reading crisis in the state of Michigan. Some studies have indicated that as few as 40 percent of our third-graders are proficient readers. While the Smart Promotion Bill (House Bill 4822) attempts to address this crisis, it is tragically flawed. This bill institutes mandatory retention for any third-grader who does not test proficient in reading.

Runestad: Give communities say on refugees resettlement (The Detroit News)
The heinous attack in Paris by Islamic State terrorists is an example of how this group of extremists continues to infiltrate peaceful communities worldwide and wreak havoc. As a result of the unprovoked attack by ISIS in France, many governors in America including Gov. Rick Snyder, suspended relocation of Syrian refugees to communities in their states. I commend Snyder for his decisive action to protect Michigan residents.

Finley: Hold a refugee summit in Michigan (The Detroit News)
Rather than allow the resettlement of Syrian refugees to fester into another divisive partisan issue, the nation's governors and the federal agencies involved should convene an emergency summit to discuss the concerns. Gov. Rick Snyder would be the perfect host.

Room for balance on 'dark stores' tax issue (The Detroit News)
Local governments across Michigan say they are losing millions of dollars in taxes and facing cuts in services because big box retailers such as Target and Home Depot are arguing a "dark store" theory of retail property assessment before the Michigan Tax Tribunal to cut their costs.

Howes: Memory, fantasy collide in UAW contract drama (The Detroit News)
What do you get when you combine short memories with social media? Answer: the trainwreck that is the United Auto Workers ratification votes this fall. Rarely in the course of this town's epic labor-management history have such objectively rich contracts encountered such stiff resistance.

Other States Divulge What Michigan's Corporate Welfare Arm Keeps Secret (Michigan Capitol Confidential)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation — the state's corporate welfare arm — won't disclose the companies to which it hands out public money. In other states, this type of information is routinely made available, which strongly suggests the barriers to doing so in Michigan are strictly homegrown.

Amid Flint's water crisis, a quiet success story (Bridge Magazine)
Over the past year, as Detroit officials came under fire for fluctuating demolition costs and the Flint water contamination crisis was widely publicized, Flint has been making quiet progress on another front. The Genesee County Land Bank Authority has demolished more than 1,766 blighted houses in Flint since 2014 using federal grant money

Legislature must close 'dark stores' tax loophole (Bridge Magazine)
Michigan's local governments and schools are losing millions of dollars that otherwise would go to libraries, classrooms and police, fire and senior services through a gaping tax loophole large retailers across the state are quietly exploiting to lower their local property taxes.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, November 20, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees

Governor Who Started Stampede On Refugees Says He Only Wants Answers (NPR)
Michigan's Rick Snyder was the first governor to urge a pause in admitting Syrian refugees into the United States. He triggered a national debate about refugee resettlement, and insists now that he only wants answers. The Republican has described himself as "the most pro-immigration governor in the country," but he argues the caution he wants the U.S. to show doesn't conflict with the compassion thinks should be shown to refugees.

Activists demand Snyder accept Syrian refugees (Detroit News)
A small group of activists brought 4,700 petitions to Gov. Rick Snyder demanding Thursday that he welcome Syrian refugees to Michigan.

4,700 pro-Syrian refugee signatures delivered to Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder spokesperson Dave Murray said he met with the group and more thoroughly explained the governor's stance.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Lt. Gov. Calley Working to Expand Job Opportunities for People With Disabilities (9&10 News)
Michigan's Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley is trying to expand job opportunities for people with disabilities. Lieutenant Gov. Calley says, "Michiganders of all abilities deserve to live independent, self-determined lives." Under the executive order, state departments and agencies will enact "Employment First".

Michigan seeks to expand jobs for those with disabilities (AP)
Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley has signed an executive order that's designed to bring increased job opportunities for people with disabilities. The order signed Wednesday establishes Employment First in Michigan and seeks to create competitive employment opportunities for people of working age.

Lt. Gov. Signs Order To Create Job Opportunities For The Disabled (WHMI)
A week after speaking in Livingston County on ways to assist the state's disabled workforce, Lt. Governor Brian Calley signed an executive order that will lead to more job opportunities for people with disabilities. The executive order establishes Employment First in Michigan, which helps build an inclusive work environment that creates employment opportunities for working-age individuals with disabilities.

Lt. Gov. Brian Calley signs executive order for workers with disabilities (Holland Sentinel)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, R-Michigan, recently signed Executive Order 2015-15, which aims to improve access to workplace support and services for people with disabilities.

Lt. Governor signs order to increase job opportunities for those with disabilities (MI 26 News)
Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley signed an executive order that hopes to increase job opportunities for Michiganders with disabilities on Thursday. The Order establishes Employment First in Michigan and helps foster an inclusive environment that will create competitive employment opportunities for working-age individuals.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

DNR
DNR's 'Novembeard' tourney promotes men's health (Mlive)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has brought the two together in a recent campaign to promote men's health issues.
The DNR launched a "Novembeard" tournament featuring 16 DNR employees from the Forest Resources, Fisheries, Wildlife and Parks and Recreation departments at the beginning of this month, said Maia Turek, DNR promotional specialist.

Grants available for trail work (AP)
State officials said a second round of grant funding is available for communities and organizations working on parts of Michigan's two Iron Belle Trail routes. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources said proposals are due Jan. 8.

DTMB
Michigan unemployment rate steady at 5 percent in October (AP)
The state says Michigan's seasonally adjusted unemployment is remaining steady. The Michigan Department of Technology, Management & Budget announced Wednesday that it was 5 percent in October, unchanged from September and equal to the national rate.

MDARD
Another credit card skimmer found at Mid-Michigan gas station (ABC 12)
Another credit card skimmer was found at a popular gas station in Mid Michigan.

MDE
New Michigan Science Standards adopted (Michigan State University Extension)
On November 10, 2015, the Michigan State Board of Education approved the new Michigan Science Standards, which are aligned with the Next Generation Science Standards. According to the Michigan Department of Education, "The effort to revise science standards comes from a vision for science education that is based on over thirty years of research on how students best learn science, as well as the ever changing needs in our workplaces and communities for scientific understanding."

MDOT
MDOT Awarded for Center Lane Rumble Strips (WDET)
The Michigan Department of Transportation's "Rumble Strip Initiative" has received a National Roadway Safety Award. The strips were placed under the center line of all non-freeway, high-speed, rural roads across the state to prevent accidents.

Southfield Freeway Pedestrian Bridge Complete (WDET)
A pedestrian bridge over the Southfield Freeway has reopened. The walkway at Cathedral Avenue was rebuilt after a truck pulled it down last year. Michigan Department of Transportation spokesperson Diane Cross says the overpass is now also compliant with the American with Disabilities Act.

MEDC

Micro-Grants Awarded to Michigan Businesses (WDET)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation and Citizens Bank are awarding more than $175,000 through the "Growing Communities" initiative. Randall Fogelman is the Vice President of Business Development for Eastern Market Corporation. He says the grants serve entrepreneurs that would find it hard to secure a traditional loan.

Davison gets $155,556 state grant for downtown improvements (Mlive)
The city of Davison is receiving some help from the state to beautify storefronts in its in its downtown business area. State Rep. Pam Faris, D-Clio, announced Thursday, Nov. 19, the city has been awarded a $153,556 in community development block grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corp. for its façade project.

MPSC
Michigan Public Service Commission approves increased electricity rates at Consumers Energy (AP)
The Michigan Public Service Commission Thursday authorized Consumers to raise power rates by $130 million annually, effective Dec. 1, less than $199 million the utility sought.

MSP
No More 3 Member Concealed Weapons Licensing Board (WBKB)
Effective December 1st there will no longer be a three member Concealed Weapons Licensing Board and everything will be approved by the Michigan State Police. The County Clerk's Office will be accepting concealed pistol license applications, putting them in the portal and submitting the information to MSP in Lansing.

Changes coming to Michigan concealed pistol licenses (WBUP)
A state law effective on December 1st will eliminate county gun boards in the state of Michigan. While Michigan State Police has always been a part of the gun board in every county, the process will now go in its entirety to a new unit of 13 people in Lansing. Applicants should expect very few changes. The goal and intention is to provide consistency state–wide.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Cotter: Private cash would help Detroit school deal (Detroit News)
House Speaker Kevin Cotter said Thursday that an infusion of private cash into a rescue of Detroit Public Schools would make a $715 million plan to fix the district's balance sheets "more palatable" to wary lawmakers.

Cotter, panelists talk legitimizing ridesharing companies in Michigan (CM Life)
A panel hosted by Generation Opportunity Nov. 17 discussed ridesharing companies potentially running taxis out of business in Michigan. At the same time, lobbyists are attempting to run companies like Uber and Lyft out of the state.

DETROIT

Detroit Public Schools May Get Debt Relief From State Funds (WEMU)
Gov. Rick Snyder's proposal would tap the state's School Aid Fund to pay for the measure. School leaders outside Detroit have balked at that idea – saying the plan shouldn't come at the expense of every other Michigan student. But some say they could support the plan if it also protects that fund from being used for things other than K-12 education. "If the School Aid Fund isn't being diverted for universities, I would support," said Saginaw Intermediate School District Superintendent Kathy Stewart.

Detroit Council may crack down on booming pot industry (Freep)
The Detroit City Council is expected take up a second ordinance to regulate the city's booming medical marijuana industry on Tuesday, although final approval of the measure may not come until January.

Detroit's crackdown on garbage cans spurs $100 fines (Detroit News)
Leaving your garbage can in the wrong spot could cost you in Detroit. Residents in some city neighborhoods are crying foul over $100 fines being levied in an apparent effort to step up code enforcement.

Metro Airport shuttle service contract to be rebid (Detroit News)
Regional Transit Authority officials plan to rebid the express airport shuttle service from Detroit and the suburbs to Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Buyer seeks $200M redevelopment of Lee Plaza (Detroit News)
The abandoned 17-story Lee Plaza Residential Hotel will be renovated into a building boasting around 200 units of luxury, market-rate apartments slated to open in fall 2017, according to buyer and Detroit native Craig Sasser.

Gilbert firm could buy parking garage for Hudson's site (Detroit News)
A city-owned parking garage could be acquired by a Dan Gilbert firm as part of a development deal for the former Hudson's site on Woodward.

OPINION

Snyder's political pandering on refugees shames us all (Detroit Free Press)
One of the worst things about terrorism is it works. Last week's deadly terrorist attacks in Paris did exactly what its perpetrators intended: killed innocent Parisians, surely, but caused people across the globe to worry that they'd be next, to fear sudden death or torment at the hands of anonymous, implacable attackers.

Grade retention harms students rather than helps them with reading proficiency (Mlive)
There is a reading crisis in the state of Michigan. Some studies have indicated that as few as 40 percent of our third-graders are proficient readers. While the Smart Promotion Bill (House Bill 4822) attempts to address this crisis, it is tragically flawed. This bill institutes mandatory retention for any third-grader who does not test proficient in reading.

Runestad: Give communities say on refugees resettlement (The Detroit News)
The heinous attack in Paris by Islamic State terrorists is an example of how this group of extremists continues to infiltrate peaceful communities worldwide and wreak havoc. As a result of the unprovoked attack by ISIS in France, many governors in America including Gov. Rick Snyder, suspended relocation of Syrian refugees to communities in their states. I commend Snyder for his decisive action to protect Michigan residents.

Finley: Hold a refugee summit in Michigan (The Detroit News)
Rather than allow the resettlement of Syrian refugees to fester into another divisive partisan issue, the nation's governors and the federal agencies involved should convene an emergency summit to discuss the concerns. Gov. Rick Snyder would be the perfect host.

Room for balance on 'dark stores' tax issue (The Detroit News)

Local governments across Michigan say they are losing millions of dollars in taxes and facing cuts in services because big box retailers such as Target and Home Depot are arguing a "dark store" theory of retail property assessment before the Michigan Tax Tribunal to cut their costs.

Howes: Memory, fantasy collide in UAW contract drama (The Detroit News)
What do you get when you combine short memories with social media? Answer: the trainwreck that is the United Auto Workers ratification votes this fall. Rarely in the course of this town's epic labor-management history have such objectively rich contracts encountered such stiff resistance.

Other States Divulge What Michigan's Corporate Welfare Arm Keeps Secret (Michigan Capitol Confidential)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation — the state's corporate welfare arm — won't disclose the companies to which it hands out public money. In other states, this type of information is routinely made available, which strongly suggests the barriers to doing so in Michigan are strictly homegrown.

Amid Flint's water crisis, a quiet success story (Bridge Magazine)
Over the past year, as Detroit officials came under fire for fluctuating demolition costs and the Flint water contamination crisis was widely publicized, Flint has been making quiet progress on another front. The Genesee County Land Bank Authority has demolished more than 1,766 blighted houses in Flint since 2014 using federal grant money

Legislature must close 'dark stores' tax loophole (Bridge Magazine)
Michigan's local governments and schools are losing millions of dollars that otherwise would go to libraries, classrooms and police, fire and senior services through a gaping tax loophole large retailers across the state are quietly exploiting to lower their local property taxes.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, November 23, 2015 10:06 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 11/23 Newsroom
Attachments: 151123 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, November 23, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees
Governor Who Started Stampede Against Refugees Says He Only Wants Answers (NPR)
Michigan's Rick Snyder was the first governor to urge a pause in admitting Syrian refugees into the United States. He triggered a national debate about refugee resettlement, and insists now that he only wants answers. The Republican has described himself as "the most pro-immigration governor in the country," but he argues the caution he wants the U.S. to show doesn't conflict with the compassion thinks should be shown to refugees.

Administration assures govs refugee vetting is rigorous (Detroit News)
The Obama administration is assuring governors that refugees who come to the United States in its resettlement program undergo a "rigorous security vetting process," particularly if they are fleeing from Syria.

Syrian refugee family arrives in Detroit area (Freep)
Three days after Gov. Rick Snyder called for a halt on new Syrian refugees, a Syrian couple and their 9-year-old son arrived Wednesday at Metro Airport from Jordan, said refugee advocate Rasha Basha of Bloomfield Hills.

Michael Moore: I'll house Syrian refugees in Traverse City (Freep)
Michigan documentary filmmaker Michael Moore and Gov. Rick Snyder's administration continue to spar over the issue of Syrian refugees.

Daimler/Detroit Diesel event
Daimler Trucks to invest $475M, add 330 jobs in Detroit (Freep)
"Michigan has long been the world's automotive leader and we are proud that Daimler will continue to play a big role in our state's reinvention moving forward," said Gov. Rick Snyder who unveiled one of the medium-duty engines by towing it with a cart as he drove in front of the crowd. "This is an investment in Detroit and the hardworking people of Michigan."

Daimler Trucks to invest $375 million for engine production (AP)
Daimler Trucks plans to invest $375 million to bring production of medium-duty engines to its manufacturing facility in the Detroit area.

Daimler to bring medium engine production to Detroit (Detroit News)
Former Detroit Red Wing and color commentator Mickey Redmond kicked off the "Built in Detroit" event Friday, welcoming Bernhard, Gov. Rick Snyder, Daimler Trucks North America CEO Martin Daum, Roger Penske and others.

Reaching the next milestone of its platform strategy: Daimler Trucks expands production of powertrain components in the US (Automotive World)
Under the theme "Built in Detroit", Michigan's Governor Rick Snyder and Daimler Trucks honored the production launch in the North American industrial metropolis. Daimler Trucks has invested $100 million in the new production of the DT12 automated manual transmission in Detroit. For this, Daimler Trucks is creating around 170 new jobs in the local area, making a major contribution to the revitalization of Detroit. For the development and production of the new DD5 and DD8 engines, Daimler Trucks will additionally invest over $375 million, creating approximately 160 more jobs locally.

Daimler Trucks Invests $375 Million To Expand Redford, Michigan, Assembly Plant (Area Development News)
Governor Rick Snyder said, "Michigan has long-been the world's automotive leader and we are proud that Daimler will continue to play a big role in our state's reinvention moving forward. This is an investment in Detroit and the hardworking people of Michigan."

Detroit schools reform
Skubick: Gov. Snyder changes proposal to revamp Detroit Public Schools (Fox 2 Detroit)
Governor Rick Snyder has made some major compromises on his plans to revamp the Detroit Public Schools. FOX 2's Political Correspondant Tim Skubick joins us with details.

Comms staff changes
Longtime journalist Meegan Holland to become Snyder's communications director (Crain's Detroit Business)
Longtime Michigan journalist Meegan Holland will become Gov. Rick Snyder's communications director next month. Current communications staff members Laura Biehl and Anna Heaton will become deputy press secretaries, Snyder said.

Flint water
Flint water mystery: How was decision made? (Freep)
On March 25, 2013, then-state Treasurer Andy Dillon and Gov. Rick Snyder's chief of staff, Dennis Muchmore, held a telephone conversation about "Flint water supply alternatives," according to records obtained by the Free Press under FOIA.

Bill signings
Fix for roads leads new bills signed into law by Snyder (Freep)
With the state Legislature on a two-week break for hunting season and Thanksgiving, there were no new bills introduced last week. But Gov. Rick Snyder signed 29 bills into law.

Energy plan
Energy efficiency in Michigan: what you need to know (AP)
A centerpiece of Gov. Rick Snyder's long-range energy plan derives from a simple premise — using less. How Michigan can best require or incentivize utilities and their customers to cut electricity and natural gas "waste" through efficiency programs is a big issue for lawmakers looking to rewrite energy laws, potentially yet this year.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Michigan urged to overhaul Rx monitoring system (Detroit News)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, chairman of the governor's opioid task force, told The News that MAPS "needs to be updated or replaced in order to achieve its actual goals."

Lt. Gov. Calley Leads Mental-Health Conversation in Michigan (WDET)
Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley began his journey as an advocate for mental health issues in Michigan while he was a lawmaker in the state House. Now with the Snyder administration he has continued to lead the conversation about mental health in the state. Calley helped push for health coverage for autism treatment in Michigan, a subject he understands well as his young daughter has the condition.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

Budget
State workers hold steady in '15 budget (LSJ)
Despite a year of downer headlines, the budgetary bottom line for state workers held steady throughout Michigan's 2014-15 fiscal year, new data shows.

DEQ
Holland receives $500,000 grant to scope out storm sewers (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's Stormwater Asset Management and Wastewater program grant $450,000 with a $50,000 match.

Answers prompt more questions in Flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
The City of Flint, under the watchful eye of a state-appointed emergency manager, joined a new regional water authority in 2013, a decision that was supposed to save money.

DHHS
County receives $10K to help parents of special needs children (Midland Daily News)
Midland County Board of Commissioners approved a $10,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services to provide training services for parents of special needs children.

Henry Ford: Contract loss won't hurt growth (Crain's Detroit Business)
Executives of Henry Ford Health System told Crain's last week that the five-hospital system's growth plans will not be affected by the loss of a lucrative regional Medicaid contract by its HAP Midwest Health Plan.

MDARD
State inspectors find another credit card skimmer; here's how to stay safe (MLive)
Since late August, the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development has found 22 credit card skimmers in gas pumps around the state.
The most recent skimmer was found by agriculture department Weights and Measures inspectors at a gas station in Grand Blanc Township.

Detroit eyes adding livestock to urban farms (Detroit Free Press)
In Detroit, city laws technically don't allow for the raising of livestock. But Covington said his neighbors have never complained since he started raising some animals six years ago. It's complaints from neighbors that usually bring law enforcement.

Credit card skimmers a growing problem at gas pumps (The Detroit News)
It''s becoming clear the small electronic devices — called skimmers — that steal credit card information from consumers at gas pumps are a wider problem in Michigan than previously suspected.

Credit card thieves hit gas pumps with card skimmers across metro Detroit (WDIV)

Drivers in metro Detroit and across the state are getting ripped off at the pump… by credit card thieves. The state of Michigan has its first influx of credit card skimmers on gas pumps. There have been 22 cases since August. Scammers are unlocking gas pumps and are installing credit card skimmers from the inside.

Skimmer discovered, removed from pump (WNEM)
State inspectors discovered a skimmer at a local gas station. A skimmer is a device that collects credit card information for use by thieves.

Holiday feast can be treat for deadly bacteria, too. (Detroit Free Press)
It's that time of year for friends, feasts and — if you're not careful — doubled-over abdominal cramping, vomiting and a host of other agonies that come with food poisoning.

MDE
Bay City Academy charter school $1.3 million in debt, according to financial audit (MLive)
Bay City Academy, the embattled charter school that was tarnished earlier this year after its founder was convicted of tax fraud, is more than $1.3 million in debt, according to its latest financial audit.

MDOC
State's women inmates housed in offices, TV rooms (Freep)
The population of Women's Huron Valley Correctional Facility near Ypsilanti has jumped about 16%, from 1,900 in 2011 to about 2,200 this October, officials say. The department has responded by converting four former TV rooms to cell areas that now house a total of 56 prisoners, and 44 former offices that now house 306 inmates, spokesman Chris Gautz said.

MDOS
Lawsuit over Michigan IDs for transgender people moves forward (WKAR)
A group of transgender individuals is suing Michigan Secretary of State Ruth Johnson over how the state handles changing someone's sex on a driver's license or state ID. We talk to plaintiff Tina Seitz and Jay Kaplan, the staff attorney for ACLU Michigan's LGBT Project.

MDOT
Depot Town business owners to city: Think through Amtrak train stop plans (MLive)
Several Depot Town business owners and stakeholders are raising concerns over issues related to a proposed train stop in Ypsilanti. Those business owners said they weren't entirely confident in the city's ability to plan large projects and questioned where travelers using the train would leave their cars.

MDOT Offering Info On Plows Online (WSJM)
The Michigan Department of Transportation has equipped all their plow trucks with GPS and made it possible to track them at their website. You may be able to tell if they are plowing or spreading salt by using the site.

MSHDA
Buyer seeks $200M redevelopment of Lee Plaza (The Detroit News)
The abandoned 17-story Lee Plaza Residential Hotel will be renovated into a building boasting around 200 units of luxury, market-rate apartments slated to open in fall 2017, according to buyer and Detroit native Craig Sasser.

Two U.P. communities selected for blight elimination (ABC 10)
Over $83,000 in grant money will go toward blight elimination in Republic Township and the Village of Calumet. The grant comes from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority. The money allows for four and potentially five residential structures considered beyond repair to be demolished.

MSP
State Police accepting toys for Toys for Tots (Livingston Daily)

The Michigan State Police is once again working with the U.S. Marine Corps for the annual Toys for Tots toy drive throughout the state. Area residents are asked to drop off donated new, unwrapped toys at the post. Great gift ideas can include coloring books for small children and can range from Barbie dolls and baby dolls to electronic gadgets.

Concealed pistol permit changes (UP Matters.com)
Changes are coming for people who want to get a concealed pistol permit in Michigan. All of the local gun boards are being dissolved across the state. Delta County Clerk Nancy Kolich explains how the new procedure will work, starting December 1st.

Are Michigan roads any safer after 5 years of 'super drunk' law? (Mlive)
Alcohol-related crashes have gone down slightly across the state since implementation of the law, which imposes stiffer penalties on those caught driving with blood-alcohol levels above .17 percent than on those who have a lower percentage of alcohol in their system.

FAA OKs Michigan State Police aerial drone use (Detroit Free Press)
The Federal Aviation Administration has granted Michigan State Police permission to fly a drone anywhere in the state for law enforcement purposes. The FAA gave the greenlight after a two-day visit to Michigan last month to review the program and safety procedures.

Michigan State Police receive federal authorization to fly drones on law enforcement missions (MLive)
Michigan State Police have become one of the first law enforcement agencies in the nation to receive authorization from the Federal Aviation Authority to use unmanned aerial systems, commonly referred to as drones, in police operations.

Supreme Court
Sylvan Lake residents owe DTE Energy more than $400,000 after losing lawsuit over service center (WXYZ)
A group of neighbors took DTE Energy to court over what they say is excessive noise coming from a service center. The case has been in the court system for years and now, not only have they not gotten any relief from the noise, those neighbors are now facing hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines.

Supreme Court justice Zahra performs inauguration for Southgate officials (The News Herald)
It's the start of a new term for all of Southgate's elected offices, but not much has change. Phillip Rauch and Christopher Rollet are the only two new officials, but both have served multiple terms on the City Council in the past.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

New Bill Would Repeal Michigan's "Stand Your Ground" Law (MPRN)
A Democratic state Senator hopes to repeal Michigan's "stand-your-ground" law. Under that law, a person can use deadly force against someone else with no requirement to retreat. That's as long as the person isn't engaged in a crime, is somewhere they're legally allowed to be, and feels deadly force is the only way to defend themselves.

Michigan Roll Call: New legislation of interest (Holland Sentinel)
The Legislature is on a two-weeks break with no voting. Therefore, this report contains several recently introduced bills of interest.

Glenn wants to free market your electric bill (Midland Daily News)
Recently State Rep. Gary Glenn hosted his very first monthly Town Hall meeting in the community room at the Grace A Dow Library. The incumbent state representative for Michigan's 98th House district informed approximately two dozen attendees he plans to hold similar community get-togethers on the first Monday of every month. At least, that is, until the election next November.

DETROIT

Detroit casinos, unions report progress in talks (The Detroit News)
The Detroit casinos and their unions reported making progress this week in contract talks as they searched for ways to cut health costs without significantly affecting employees' insurance coverage. Negotiations between the Detroit Casino Council, the umbrella organization for four employee unions, and MGM Grand, MotorCity and Greektown casinos had bogged down over health care costs.

Detroit's Blight Problem...and Solutions (WDET)
Mayor Mike Duggan has made blight removal one of his top priorities since taking office. Before he was elected, the city was tearing down about 25 vacant houses a week—a faster pace than any city in the nation, but not fast enough for Duggan. Duggan says they realized that ramping up demolition would drive up costs. And it has—from an average of $10,000 per house to more than $14,000, according to the mayor's office. A recent Detroit Free Press analysis pegged the cost at more than $16,000 per demolition.

Detroit eyes adding livestock to urban farms (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit city officials are working on at least one ordinance that would allow some residents and urban farmers to raise egg-laying chickens, ducks, rabbits and goats legally. Few details about the effort are finalized — Tate said the council may vote on the issue by March. But the goal is to allow homeowners and urban farmers to raise their own livestock safely while also making sure that neighbors aren't upset.

Tommy Hearns eyes Packard site for new gym (Freep)
A most unlikely duo bumped fists and dreamed big last week at the Packard Plant in Detroit. Boxing champ Tommy (Hitman) Hearns (61-5-1 with 48 knockouts) visited the old factory site to meet with Fernando Palazuelo, the charismatic Spaniard who bought the property two years ago and is attempting an ambitious redevelopment.

Unique yoga program helps Detroit kids manage stress (Freep)
When Taurean Camel is feeling mad or worried, he knows exactly what to do: strike a yoga pose. "I just breathe in and breathe out, slowly," the 9-year-old said, "and all the stress and negativity just comes out of my system."

MISCELLANEOUS

U-M economists predict Michigan will add 126,000 jobs in the next 2 years (Mlive)
The state of Michigan has added roughly 460,000 jobs since 2009, when the state began to recover from the economic depression of 2008, and that trend of adding jobs will continue to trend upward.

GOP hopeful Kasich plans visit to Sterling Heights (Detroit News)
Ohio Gov. John Kasich is returning to Michigan Monday for a business incubator tour in Macomb County, according to his campaign, as well as a fundraiser in downtown Detroit.

OPINION

Editorial: FDA right to approve 'frankenfish' (Detroit News)
The left prides itself on its allegiance to science — until it bumps against its own superstitions and political agenda. Take, for example, genetically modified salmon, which got the Obama administration's stamp of approval last week.

Column: Terrorism is common enemy, not refugees (Detroit News)
The rise of terrorism as a global challenge and universal threat to all free and peace-loving people and the shared values they hold is not new. A few factors contributed to the escalation of this scourge, such as wars, sectarian divide, poverty, despair, hopelessness, etc. It appears in the midst of other ongoing problems. There are festering problems in Syria and Iraq that are breeding grounds for terrorism and are inspiring terrorism everywhere.

Letter: State needs child abuse registry (Detroit News)

Re: The Detroit News' Nov. 18 editorial, "Reject short-sighted child abuse list bills": As sponsors of Wyatt's Law, which creates a child abuse registry to protect children, we felt the need to respond and clarify what this bill package actually does.

Erickson: Get rid of policing for profit in Michigan (Detroit News)
Without so much as charging someone with a crime, Michigan law enforcement agencies can use civil forfeiture to seize property and then fund themselves with the proceeds. A reform package signed last month by Gov. Rick Snyder is a step in the right direction, but Michigan's civil forfeiture laws still need serious improvement. Even after reform, its laws only scored a "D-" in Policing for Profit, a new report from the Institute for Justice.

Cities show state's problem with cost vs. value (Detroit Free Press)
State government tells cities in Michigan that they'd better balance their budgets, keep debt under control and not promise more to retirees than can be paid.

Answers prompt more questions in flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
Figuring out what happened in the City of Flint — how hundreds of kids were exposed to lead-contaminated water — is like playing accountability whack-a-mole: Answer one question, and another pops up.

Snyder's political pandering on refugees shames us all (Detroit Free Press)
One of the worst things about terrorism is it works. Last week's deadly terrorist attacks in Paris did exactly what its perpetrators intended: killed innocent Parisians, surely, but caused people across the globe to worry that they'd be next, to fear sudden death or torment at the hands of anonymous, implacable attackers.

On Snyder and refugees, GOP contest, Hoekstra keeps a hand in politics (MLive)
Not much has changed since the last time Pete Hoekstra crossed paths with the Capitol scribes.

Will Snyder hand off his legacy to Calley? Can't rule it out (MLive)
Everybody sing along: 'Tis the season for spec-u-la-tion, fa, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, November 23, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Syrian refugees

Governor Who Started Stampede Against Refugees Says He Only Wants Answers (NPR)
Michigan's Rick Snyder was the first governor to urge a pause in admitting Syrian refugees into the United States. He triggered a national debate about refugee resettlement, and insists now that he only wants answers. The Republican has described himself as "the most pro-immigration governor in the country," but he argues the caution he wants the U.S. to show doesn't conflict with the compassion thinks should be shown to refugees.

Administration assures govs refugee vetting is rigorous (Detroit News)
The Obama administration is assuring governors that refugees who come to the United States in its resettlement program undergo a "rigorous security vetting process," particularly if they are fleeing from Syria.

Syrian refugee family arrives in Detroit area (Freep)
Three days after Gov. Rick Snyder called for a halt on new Syrian refugees, a Syrian couple and their 9-year-old son arrived Wednesday at Metro Airport from Jordan, said refugee advocate Rasha Basha of Bloomfield Hills.

Michael Moore: I'll house Syrian refugees in Traverse City (Freep)
Michigan documentary filmmaker Michael Moore and Gov. Rick Snyder's administration continue to spar over the issue of Syrian refugees.

Daimler/Detroit Diesel event

Daimler Trucks to invest $475M, add 330 jobs in Detroit (Freep)
"Michigan has long been the world's automotive leader and we are proud that Daimler will continue to play a big role in our state's reinvention moving forward," said Gov. Rick Snyder who unveiled one of the medium-duty engines by towing it with a cart as he drove in front of the crowd. "This is an investment in Detroit and the hardworking people of Michigan."

Daimler Trucks to invest $375 million for engine production (AP)
Daimler Trucks plans to invest $375 million to bring production of medium-duty engines to its manufacturing facility in the Detroit area.

Daimler to bring medium engine production to Detroit (Detroit News)
Former Detroit Red Wing and color commentator Mickey Redmond kicked off the "Built in Detroit" event Friday, welcoming Bernhard, Gov. Rick Snyder, Daimler Trucks North America CEO Martin Daum, Roger Penske and others.

Reaching the next milestone of its platform strategy: Daimler Trucks expands production of powertrain components in the US (Automotive World)
Under the theme "Built in Detroit", Michigan's Governor Rick Snyder and Daimler Trucks honored the production launch in the North American industrial metropolis. Daimler Trucks has invested $100 million in the new production of the DT12 automated manual transmission in Detroit. For this, Daimler Trucks is creating around 170 new jobs in the local area, making a major contribution to the revitalization of Detroit. For the development and production of the new DD5 and DD8 engines, Daimler Trucks will additionally invest over $375 million, creating approximately 160 more jobs locally.

Daimler Trucks Invests $375 Million To Expand Redford, Michigan, Assembly Plant (Area Development News)
Governor Rick Snyder said, "Michigan has long-been the world's automotive leader and we are proud that Daimler will continue to play a big role in our state's reinvention moving forward. This is an investment in Detroit and the hardworking people of Michigan."

Detroit schools reform
Skubick: Gov. Snyder changes proposal to revamp Detroit Public Schools (Fox 2 Detroit)
Governor Rick Snyder has made some major compromises on his plans to revamp the Detroit Public Schools. FOX 2's Political Correspondant Tim Skubick joins us with details.

Comms staff changes
Longtime journalist Meegan Holland to become Snyder's communications director (Crain's Detroit Business)
Longtime Michigan journalist Meegan Holland will become Gov. Rick Snyder's communications director next month. Current communications staff members Laura Biehl and Anna Heaton will become deputy press secretaries, Snyder said.

Flint water
Flint water mystery: How was decision made? (Freep)
On March 25, 2013, then-state Treasurer Andy Dillon and Gov. Rick Snyder's chief of staff, Dennis Muchmore, held a telephone conversation about "Flint water supply alternatives," according to records obtained by the Free Press under FOIA.

Bill signings
Fix for roads leads new bills signed into law by Snyder (Freep)
With the state Legislature on a two-week break for hunting season and Thanksgiving, there were no new bills introduced last week. But Gov. Rick Snyder signed 29 bills into law.

Energy plan
Energy efficiency in Michigan: what you need to know (AP)
A centerpiece of Gov. Rick Snyder's long-range energy plan derives from a simple premise — using less. How Michigan can best require or incentivize utilities and their customers to cut electricity and natural gas "waste" through efficiency programs is a big issue for lawmakers looking to rewrite energy laws, potentially yet this year.

LT. GOV'S ACTIVITIES

Michigan urged to overhaul Rx monitoring system (Detroit News)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, chairman of the governor's opioid task force, told The News that MAPS "needs to be updated or replaced in order to achieve its actual goals."

Lt. Gov. Calley Leads Mental-Health Conversation in Michigan (WDET)
Lieutenant Governor Brian Calley began his journey as an advocate for mental health issues in Michigan while he was a lawmaker in the state House. Now with the Snyder administration he has continued to lead the conversation about mental health in the state. Calley helped push for health coverage for autism treatment in Michigan, a subject he understands well as his young daughter has the condition.

DEPARTMENT NEWS

Budget
State workers hold steady in '15 budget (LSJ)
Despite a year of downer headlines, the budgetary bottom line for state workers held steady throughout Michigan's 2014-15 fiscal year, new data shows.

DEQ
Holland receives $500,000 grant to scope out storm sewers (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's Stormwater Asset Management and Wastewater program grant $450,000 with a $50,000 match.

Answers prompt more questions in Flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
The City of Flint, under the watchful eye of a state-appointed emergency manager, joined a new regional water authority in 2013, a decision that was supposed to save money.

DHHS
County receives $10K to help parents of special needs children (Midland Daily News)
Midland County Board of Commissioners approved a $10,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services to provide training services for parents of special needs children.

Henry Ford: Contract loss won't hurt growth (Crain's Detroit Business)
Executives of Henry Ford Health System told Crain's last week that the five-hospital system's growth plans will not be affected by the loss of a lucrative regional Medicaid contract by its HAP Midwest Health Plan.

MDARD
State inspectors find another credit card skimmer; here's how to stay safe (MLive)
Since late August, the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development has found 22 credit card skimmers in gas pumps around the state.
The most recent skimmer was found by agriculture department Weights and Measures inspectors at a gas station in Grand Blanc Township.

Detroit eyes adding livestock to urban farms (Detroit Free Press)
In Detroit, city laws technically don't allow for the raising of livestock. But Covington said his neighbors have never complained since he started raising some animals six years ago. It's complaints from neighbors that usually bring law enforcement.

Credit card skimmers a growing problem at gas pumps (The Detroit News)
It''s becoming clear the small electronic devices — called skimmers — that steal credit card information from consumers at gas pumps are a wider problem in Michigan than previously suspected.

Credit card thieves hit gas pumps with card skimmers across metro Detroit (WDIV)
Drivers in metro Detroit and across the state are getting ripped off at the pump... by credit card thieves. The state of Michigan has its first influx of credit card skimmers on gas pumps. There have been 22 cases since August. Scammers are unlocking gas pumps and are installing credit card skimmers from the inside.

Skimmer discovered, removed from pump (WNEM)
State inspectors discovered a skimmer at a local gas station. A skimmer is a device that collects credit card information for use by thieves.

Holiday feast can be treat for deadly bacteria, too. (Detroit Free Press)
It's that time of year for friends, feasts and — if you're not careful — doubled-over abdominal cramping, vomiting and a host of other agonies that come with food poisoning.

MDE
Bay City Academy charter school $1.3 million in debt, according to financial audit (MLive)
Bay City Academy, the embattled charter school that was tarnished earlier this year after its founder was convicted of tax fraud, is more than $1.3 million in debt, according to its latest financial audit.

MDOC
State's women inmates housed in offices, TV rooms (Freep)
The population of Women's Huron Valley Correctional Facility near Ypsilanti has jumped about 16%, from 1,900 in 2011 to about 2,200 this October, officials say. The department has responded by converting four former TV rooms to cell areas that now house a total of 56 prisoners, and 44 former offices that now house 306 inmates, spokesman Chris Gautz said.

MDOS
Lawsuit over Michigan IDs for transgender people moves forward (WKAR)
A group of transgender individuals is suing Michigan Secretary of State Ruth Johnson over how the state handles changing someone's sex on a driver's license or state ID. We talk to plaintiff Tina Seitz and Jay Kaplan, the staff attorney for ACLU Michigan's LGBT Project.

MDOT
Depot Town business owners to city: Think through Amtrak train stop plans (MLive)
Several Depot Town business owners and stakeholders are raising concerns over issues related to a proposed train stop in Ypsilanti. Those business owners said they weren't entirely confident in the city's ability to plan large projects and questioned where travelers using the train would leave their cars.

MDOT Offering Info On Plows Online (WSJM)
The Michigan Department of Transportation has equipped all their plow trucks with GPS and made it possible to track them at their website. You may be able to tell if they are plowing or spreading salt by using the site.

MSHDA
Buyer seeks $200M redevelopment of Lee Plaza (The Detroit News)
The abandoned 17-story Lee Plaza Residential Hotel will be renovated into a building boasting around 200 units of luxury, market-rate apartments slated to open in fall 2017, according to buyer and Detroit native Craig Sasser.

Two U.P. communities selected for blight elimination (ABC 10)
Over $83,000 in grant money will go toward blight elimination in Republic Township and the Village of Calumet. The grant comes from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority. The money allows for four and potentially five residential structures considered beyond repair to be demolished.

MSP

State Police accepting toys for Toys for Tots (Livingston Daily)
The Michigan State Police is once again working with the U.S. Marine Corps for the annual Toys for Tots toy drive throughout the state. Area residents are asked to drop off donated new, unwrapped toys at the post. Great gift ideas can include coloring books for small children and can range from Barbie dolls and baby dolls to electronic gadgets.

Concealed pistol permit changes (UP Matters.com)
Changes are coming for people who want to get a concealed pistol permit in Michigan. All of the local gun boards are being dissolved across the state. Delta County Clerk Nancy Kolich explains how the new procedure will work, starting December 1st.

Are Michigan roads any safer after 5 years of 'super drunk' law? (Mlive)
Alcohol-related crashes have gone down slightly across the state since implementation of the law, which imposes stiffer penalties on those caught driving with blood-alcohol levels above .17 percent than on those who have a lower percentage of alcohol in their system.

FAA OKs Michigan State Police aerial drone use (Detroit Free Press)
The Federal Aviation Administration has granted Michigan State Police permission to fly a drone anywhere in the state for law enforcement purposes. The FAA gave the greenlight after a two-day visit to Michigan last month to review the program and safety procedures.

Michigan State Police receive federal authorization to fly drones on law enforcement missions (MLive)
Michigan State Police have become one of the first law enforcement agencies in the nation to receive authorization from the Federal Aviation Authority to use unmanned aerial systems, commonly referred to as drones, in police operations.

Supreme Court

Sylvan Lake residents owe DTE Energy more than $400,000 after losing lawsuit over service center (WXYZ)
A group of neighbors took DTE Energy to court over what they say is excessive noise coming from a service center. The case has been in the court system for years and now, not only have they not gotten any relief from the noise, those neighbors are now facing hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines.

Supreme Court justice Zahra performs inauguration for Southgate officials (The News Herald)
It's the start of a new term for all of Southgate's elected offices, but not much has change. Phillip Rauch and Christopher Rollet are the only two new officials, but both have served multiple terms on the City Council in the past.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

New Bill Would Repeal Michigan's "Stand Your Ground" Law (MPRN)
A Democratic state Senator hopes to repeal Michigan's "stand-your-ground" law. Under that law, a person can use deadly force against someone else with no requirement to retreat. That's as long as the person isn't engaged in a crime, is somewhere they're legally allowed to be, and feels deadly force is the only way to defend themselves.

Michigan Roll Call: New legislation of interest (Holland Sentinel)
The Legislature is on a two-weeks break with no voting. Therefore, this report contains several recently introduced bills of interest.

Glenn wants to free market your electric bill (Midland Daily News)
Recently State Rep. Gary Glenn hosted his very first monthly Town Hall meeting in the community room at the Grace A Dow Library. The incumbent state representative for Michigan's 98th House district informed approximately two dozen attendees he plans to hold similar community get-togethers on the first Monday of every month. At least, that is, until the election next November.

DETROIT

Detroit casinos, unions report progress in talks (The Detroit News)
The Detroit casinos and their unions reported making progress this week in contract talks as they searched for ways to cut health costs without significantly affecting employees' insurance coverage. Negotiations between the Detroit Casino Council, the umbrella organization for four employee unions, and MGM Grand, MotorCity and Greektown casinos had bogged down over health care costs.

Detroit's Blight Problem...and Solutions (WDET)
Mayor Mike Duggan has made blight removal one of his top priorities since taking office. Before he was elected, the city was tearing down about 25 vacant houses a week—a faster pace than any city in the nation, but not fast enough for Duggan. Duggan says they realized that ramping up demolition would drive up costs. And it has—from an average of $10,000 per house to more than $14,000, according to the mayor's office. A recent Detroit Free Press analysis pegged the cost at more than $16,000 per demolition.

Detroit eyes adding livestock to urban farms (Detroit Free Press)
Detroit city officials are working on at least one ordinance that would allow some residents and urban farmers to raise egg-laying chickens, ducks, rabbits and goats legally. Few details about the effort are finalized — Tate said the council may vote on the issue by March. But the goal is to allow homeowners and urban farmers to raise their own livestock safely while also making sure that neighbors aren't upset.

Tommy Hearns eyes Packard site for new gym (Freep)
A most unlikely duo bumped fists and dreamed big last week at the Packard Plant in Detroit. Boxing champ Tommy (Hitman) Hearns (61-5-1 with 48 knockouts) visited the old factory site to meet with Fernando Palazuelo, the charismatic Spaniard who bought the property two years ago and is attempting an ambitious redevelopment.

Unique yoga program helps Detroit kids manage stress (Freep)
When Taurean Camel is feeling mad or worried, he knows exactly what to do: strike a yoga pose. "I just breathe in and breathe out, slowly," the 9-year-old said, "and all the stress and negativity just comes out of my system."

MISCELLANEOUS

U-M economists predict Michigan will add 126,000 jobs in the next 2 years (Mlive)
The state of Michigan has added roughly 460,000 jobs since 2009, when the state began to recover from the economic depression of 2008, and that trend of adding jobs will continue to trend upward.

GOP hopeful Kasich plans visit to Sterling Heights (Detroit News)
Ohio Gov. John Kasich is returning to Michigan Monday for a business incubator tour in Macomb County, according to his campaign, as well as a fundraiser in downtown Detroit.

OPINION

Editorial: FDA right to approve 'frankenfish' (Detroit News)
The left prides itself on its allegiance to science — until it bumps against its own superstitions and political agenda. Take, for example, genetically modified salmon, which got the Obama administration's stamp of approval last week.

Column: Terrorism is common enemy, not refugees (Detroit News)
The rise of terrorism as a global challenge and universal threat to all free and peace-loving people and the shared values they hold is not new. A few factors contributed to the escalation of this scourge, such as wars, sectarian divide, poverty, despair, hopelessness, etc. It appears in the midst of other ongoing problems. There are festering problems in Syria and Iraq that are breeding grounds for terrorism and are inspiring terrorism everywhere.

Letter: State needs child abuse registry (Detroit News)
Re: The Detroit News' Nov. 18 editorial, "Reject short-sighted child abuse list bills": As sponsors of Wyatt's Law, which creates a child abuse registry to protect children, we felt the need to respond and clarify what this bill package actually does.

Erickson: Get rid of policing for profit in Michigan (Detroit News)
Without so much as charging someone with a crime, Michigan law enforcement agencies can use civil forfeiture to seize property and then fund themselves with the proceeds. A reform package signed last month by Gov. Rick Snyder is a step in the right direction, but Michigan's civil forfeiture laws still need serious improvement. Even after reform, its laws only scored a "D-" in Policing for Profit, a new report from the Institute for Justice.

Cities show state's problem with cost vs. value (Detroit Free Press)
State government tells cities in Michigan that they'd better balance their budgets, keep debt under control and not promise more to retirees than can be paid.

Answers prompt more questions in flint water crisis (Detroit Free Press)
Figuring out what happened in the City of Flint — how hundreds of kids were exposed to lead-contaminated water — is like playing accountability whack-a-mole: Answer one question, and another pops up.

Snyder's political pandering on refugees shames us all (Detroit Free Press)
One of the worst things about terrorism is it works. Last week's deadly terrorist attacks in Paris did exactly what its perpetrators intended: killed innocent Parisians, surely, but caused people across the globe to worry that they'd be next, to fear sudden death or torment at the hands of anonymous, implacable attackers.

On Snyder and refugees, GOP contest, Hoekstra keeps a hand in politics (MLive)
Not much has changed since the last time Pete Hoekstra crossed paths with the Capitol scribes.

Will Snyder hand off his legacy to Calley? Can't rule it out (MLive)
Everybody sing along: 'Tis the season for spec-u-la-tion, fa, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, December 04, 2015 9:44 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/4 Newsroom
Attachments: 151204 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, December 4, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Spartan Green Day
Gov. Snyder proclaims Friday 'Spartan Green Day' (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed Friday as "Spartan Green Day" in the state, in honor of the No. 5 Michigan State football team. The celebratory day is one day before the Spartans play No. 4 Iowa in the Big Ten championship in Indianapolis. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, a Michigan State graduate, this week presented the proclamation to Michigan State coach Mark Dantonio and the team in East Lansing.

Gov. Snyder declares Friday 'Spartan Green Day' (State News)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, a self-professed fan of MSU Football and a graduate of U-M, used his legislative power to declare Friday, Dec. 4 'Spartan Green Day' in honor of the No. 5 MSU football team.

Gov. Snyder proclaims Friday 'Spartan Green Day' (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed Friday, Dec. 4, as "Spartan Green Day" in support of the Michigan State football team. Snyder in his proclamation encouraged Michigan residents to wear green on Friday ahead of Saturday's Big Ten championship game against No. 4-ranked Iowa in Indianapolis. Michigan State is No. 5 in the College Football Playoff rankings.

Friday is "Spartan Green Day" in Michigan, per Calley-delivered proclamation (WKZO)
Michiganders are being asked to dress themselves in green Friday in honor of the Michigan State University football team winning the Big Ten Conference's East Division crown last week. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, an MSU alumnus, delivered a proclamation to Spartans head coach Mark Dantonio on Thursday, declaring Dec. 4 "Spartan Green Day" in Michigan.

Board of Canvassers meeting
Petition language to recall Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder flops again at Board of State Canvassers (Mlive)
A Detroit resident attempting to recall Gov. Rick Snyder over the city's water crisis saw his third attempt at petition language fail this morning.

Event preview
Gov. Snyder, Detroit Mayor Duggan join at Wayne State for post-bankruptcy talk (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder, Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan and retired U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Stephen Rhodes will convene at Wayne State University to talk about Detroit a year out of bankruptcy. "Detroit Bankruptcy: One Year Later" will be held Dec. 9 from 6 - 8 p.m. in the university's Community Arts Auditorium.

Flag honors

Governor Snyder lowers flags for victims in California (UP Matters)

Gov. Rick Snyder joins President Barack Obama's call to lower Michigan and U.S. flags to half-staff today through sunset on Monday, December 7, in honor of the victims of the December 2 shootings in San Bernardino, Calif.

DEPARTMENTS

DHHS

Preliminary state data shows drop in rate of elevated lead levels in Flint (MLive)

Preliminary data shows 30 of 1,361 adults and children tested since Oct. 1 in Flint had elevated blood lead levels, according to a new state report.

State says blood-levels in Flint kids have dropped (Detroit Free Press)

Fewer of Flint's children have tested positive for elevated blood-lead levels since Oct. 1, with the rate falling to 3% of children under 6, according to new state data.

Some Flint residents showing elevated lead levels (WWMT)

he state says a small percentage of more than 1,300 Flint residents are showing elevated lead levels in their blood since tests taken October 1st.

First tests conducted in Wake of Flint water scandal (WTVB)

he state Department of Health and Human Services reports that 30 out of over 13 hundred Flint residents tested since October 1st had elevated blood lead levels.

State: 30 Flint residents have elevated lead levels (Detroit News)

Thirty Flint children and adults have tested positive for elevated levels of lead in their blood, according to preliminary data released Thursday by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

Dow Chemical a step closer to disposing sediment from dioxin cleanup in Midland landfill (Midland Daily News)

The Dow Chemical Co. is one step closer to being able to dispose of more than 200,000 tons of river sediment and flood plain soils from the Tittabawassee River dioxin clean-up.

DNR

From sand mine to parklands (Livingston Daily)

A mining operation got the green light to extract sand from a southern portion of Island Lake State Recreation Area that was a former mining site. After it is completed all of the parkland will be reclaimed by nature as meadowlands.

DNR needs help finding persons involved in elk poaching (Up North Live)

A large bull elk carcass was found in Otsego County and now the Michigan Department of Natural Resources is asking for your help finding the person(s) involved.

DNR seeks information on Ostego County elk poaching (Petoskey)

Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officers are seeking information on an elk poaching in southwest Otsego County.

MEDC

Olga Stella to head Detroit Creative Corridor Center (Detroit Free Press)

Olga Stella, a prominent small-business advocate with the Detroit Economic Growth Corp., will become the new executive director of the Detroit Creative Corridor Center (DC3).

MEDC's Pure Michigan puffery: Part 1 (Mackinac Center for Public Policy)

The Michigan Economic Development Corporation, the state agency in charge of corporate welfare programs, is lobbying for its Pure Michigan tourism promotion campaign (and itself in general) with claims of a high return on investment.

MDOC

Former Aramark supervisor convicted in "Assault for-Hire" plot (Upper Michigans Source)

Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette today announced that former Aramark Supervisor Michael Robert Young, 27, of Kincheloe, was convicted on one felony charge of Solicitation to Commit Assault with Intent to Cause Great Bodily Harm for recruiting an inmate to orchestrate the assault of another inmate. Young was an Aramark employee at Kinross Correctional Facility at the time of the crime.

MVAA

Veterans Affairs program brings assistance, recognition (Hastings Banner)
Tuesday's approval by the Barry County Board of Commissioners to recommend renewal of another one-year contract with Barry County United Way for Veterans Affairs Services lacked only a 21-gun salute to pay tribute to a program that is bringing statewide accolades to the county.

LEGISLATIVE

Data Center Tax Breaks Win Approval From Michigan Senate (AP)
Michigan lawmakers are approving tax breaks to land a major data center project in the state.
The Republican-led Senate on Thursday narrowly passed its version of the legislation, 21-15. The House could vote later in the day on similar bills, with talks expected to continue.

Michigan Senate Approves Tax Breaks To Land Major Data Center Project (9&10 News)
A major data center project is a step closer to happening after Michigan lawmakers gave their approval Thursday.

Lawmakers blast alleged plan to charter Detroit schools (Freep)
Democratic state lawmakers from Detroit on Thursday blasted the governor's office and other officials over what they say is a secret plan to turn more than two dozen schools in the city into charters.

State bill would outlaw local bans on pit bulls (Freep)
Even if Detroit were to pass a ban on pit bulls, the city — and 14 others that have passed such prohibitions — could be preempted by legislation now pending in Lansing.

DETROIT

Detroit among 50 best places to travel in 2016 (Freep)
Detroit's comeback is getting noticed!Travel + Leisure magazine just named the city one of the 50 "Best Places to Travel in 2016." It ranked 27th.

Detroiters can get free emergency alert notifications (Freep)
A day after a mass shooting in San Bernardino, Calif., the Detroit Homeland Security and Emergency Management showed off its free electronic emergency alert notifications, by way of Nixle.

More retail, housing planned for Corktown (Detroit News)
Metro Detroit businessman Anthony Soave plans to build a blocks-long retail and residential development near the old Tiger Stadium site.

OPINION

Moss: State Dems favor expansion of FOIA (Detroit News)
Re: Greg McNeilly's Nov. 18 op-ed in The Detroit News, "Lawmakers need workplace oversight": I thank McNeilly for his support. When I was elected to serve the people of my district and Michigan in the House of Representatives, I knew I was charged with introducing bills that would make a change for the better for the people of our state.

Gun control inaction makes mass shootings a way of life (Freep)
My son spends his days in the classroom of a warm, lovely woman who has, in less than four months, taught him to read, count forward and backward, to play nicely at recess and to be a good citizen. I don't know what she's paid, but it's surely not enough for the Herculean task of cramming — with patience and kindness — reams of information into the heads of two dozen unruly 5-year-olds.

Editorial: Put priority on fixing Detroit tax system (Detroit News)
Despite the progress Mayor Mike Duggan has made in fixing some of Detroit's property tax issues, problems with tax policies and practices persist, hindering the full revitalization of neighborhoods and preventing the city from capturing revenue needed to support public services.

Don't deny voters the right to vote a straight ticket (Freep)
While the Legislature seems unable to find time or political space to pass legislation that truly fixes Michigan's roads, embraces a sorely-needed plan by Gov. Rick Snyder to reboot Detroit's schools, or passes a clean energy plan that actually makes Michigan a leader in clean energy and new jobs, it may still find the time to check another box on their right-wing, anti-democracy "to-do" list: elimination of straight-ticket voting.

Specialty courts cut costs, improve lives (Freep)
Regionalism in government is a wonderful concept that is sometimes difficult to implement. Wayne County alone has 20 separate district courts and four municipal courts, each with its own judge or judges, funding source, court administrator and probation department. Many of these courts were created in times when government in general was expanding, not shrinking as it is now.

Susan J. Demas: Rubio has 'momentum,' but there's no clear path to victory – yet (Mlive)
Marco Rubio has the "big mo" in Michigan. In the past week, he's been endorsed by U.S. Rep. Bill Huizenga, R-Zeeland, and big GOP donor John Rakolta, a former Mitt Romney backer. Rubio also announced a campaign rally next week in Waterford.

Editorial: Bring Switch to Michigan, but be smart with data center tax breaks (Grand Rapids Press/Mlive)
Michigan cannot afford to let Switch take its proposal to build a $5 billion data center elsewhere. Now it must decide whether it can literally afford to bring the Nevada-based company to the state.

Detroit education reforms also must address 'school-to-prison pipeline' (Mlive)
My organization, StudentsFirst Michigan, recently began partnering with other youth advocacy groups to host screenings of a Tavis Smiley documentary that examines the school-to-prison pipeline. In doing research for these events, I came across a statistic that resonated with me:

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, December 4, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Spartan Green Day
Gov. Snyder proclaims Friday 'Spartan Green Day' (AP)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed Friday as "Spartan Green Day" in the state, in honor of the No. 5 Michigan State football team. The celebratory day is one day before the Spartans play No. 4 Iowa in the Big Ten championship in Indianapolis. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, a Michigan State graduate, this week presented the proclamation to Michigan State coach Mark Dantonio and the team in East Lansing.

Gov. Snyder declares Friday 'Spartan Green Day' (State News)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, a self-professed fan of MSU Football and a graduate of U-M, used his legislative power to declare Friday, Dec. 4 'Spartan Green Day' in honor of the No. 5 MSU football team.

Gov. Snyder proclaims Friday 'Spartan Green Day' (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder has proclaimed Friday, Dec. 4, as "Spartan Green Day" in support of the Michigan State football team. Snyder in his proclamation encouraged Michigan residents to wear green on Friday ahead of Saturday's Big Ten championship game against No. 4-ranked Iowa in Indianapolis. Michigan State is No. 5 in the College Football Playoff rankings.

Friday is "Spartan Green Day" in Michigan, per Calley-delivered proclamation (WKZO)
Michiganders are being asked to dress themselves in green Friday in honor of the Michigan State University football team winning the Big Ten Conference's East Division crown last week. Lt. Gov. Brian Calley, an MSU alumnus, delivered a proclamation to Spartans head coach Mark Dantonio on Thursday, declaring Dec. 4 "Spartan Green Day" in Michigan.

Board of Canvassers meeting
Petition language to recall Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder flops again at Board of State Canvassers (Mlive)
A Detroit resident attempting to recall Gov. Rick Snyder over the city's water crisis saw his third attempt at petition language fail this morning.

Event preview
Gov. Snyder, Detroit Mayor Duggan join at Wayne State for post-bankruptcy talk (Mlive)
Gov. Rick Snyder, Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan and retired U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Stephen Rhodes will convene at Wayne State University to talk about Detroit a year out of bankruptcy. "Detroit Bankruptcy: One Year Later" will be held Dec. 9 from 6 - 8 p.m. in the university's Community Arts Auditorium.

Flag honors
Governor Snyder lowers flags for victims in California (UP Matters)
Gov. Rick Snyder joins President Barack Obama's call to lower Michigan and U.S. flags to half-staff today through sunset on Monday, December 7, in honor of the victims of the December 2 shootings in San Bernardino, Calif.

DEPARTMENTS

DHHS

Preliminary state data shows drop in rate of elevated lead levels in Flint (MLive)
Preliminary data shows 30 of 1,361 adults and children tested since Oct. 1 in Flint had elevated blood lead levels, according to a new state report.

State says blood-levels in Flint kids have dropped (Detroit Free Press)
Fewer of Flint's children have tested positive for elevated blood-lead levels since Oct. 1, with the rate falling to 3% of children under 6, according to new state data.

Some Flint residents showing elevated lead levels (WWMT)
he state says a small percentage of more than 1,300 Flint residents are showing elevated lead levels in their blood since tests taken October 1st.

First tests conducted in Wake of Flint water scandal (WTVB)
he state Department of Health and Human Services reports that 30 out of over 13 hundred Flint residents tested since October 1st had elevated blood lead levels.

State: 30 Flint residents have elevated lead levels (Detroit News)
Thirty Flint children and adults have tested positive for elevated levels of lead in their blood, according to preliminary data released Thursday by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

Dow Chemical a step closer to disposing sediment from dioxin cleanup in Midland landfill (Midland Daily News)
The Dow Chemical Co. is one step closer to being able to dispose of more than 200,000 tons of river sediment and flood plain soils from the Tittabawassee River dioxin clean-up.

DNR

From sand mine to parklands (Livingston Daily)
A mining operation got the green light to extract sand from a southern portion of Island Lake State Recreation Area that was a former mining site. After it is completed all of the parkland will be reclaimed by nature as meadowlands.

DNR needs help finding persons involved in elk poaching (Up North Live)
A large bull elk carcass was found in Otsego County and now the Michigan Department of Natural Resources is asking for your help finding the person(s) involved.

DNR seeks information on Ostego County elk poaching (Petoskey)
Michigan Department of Natural Resources conservation officers are seeking information on an elk poaching in southwest Otsego County.

MEDC

Olga Stella to head Detroit Creative Corridor Center (Detroit Free Press)
Olga Stella, a prominent small-business advocate with the Detroit Economic Growth Corp., will become the new executive director of the Detroit Creative Corridor Center (DC3).

MEDC's Pure Michigan puffery: Part 1 (Mackinac Center for Public Policy)
The Michigan Economic Development Corporation, the state agency in charge of corporate welfare programs, is lobbying for its Pure Michigan tourism promotion campaign (and itself in general) with claims of a high return on investment.

MDOC

Former Aramark supervisor convicted in "Assault for-Hire" plot (Upper Michigans Source)
Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette today announced that former Aramark Supervisor Michael Robert Young, 27, of Kincheloe, was convicted on one felony charge of Solicitation to Commit Assault with Intent to Cause Great Bodily Harm for recruiting an inmate to orchestrate the assault of another inmate. Young was an Aramark employee at Kinross Correctional Facility at the time of the crime.

MVAA

Veterans Affairs program brings assistance, recognition (Hastings Banner)
Tuesday's approval by the Barry County Board of Commissioners to recommend renewal of another one-year contract with Barry County United Way for Veterans Affairs Services lacked only a 21-gun salute to pay tribute to a program that is bringing statewide accolades to the county.

LEGISLATIVE

Data Center Tax Breaks Win Approval From Michigan Senate (AP)
Michigan lawmakers are approving tax breaks to land a major data center project in the state.
The Republican-led Senate on Thursday narrowly passed its version of the legislation, 21-15. The House could vote later in the day on similar bills, with talks expected to continue.

Michigan Senate Approves Tax Breaks To Land Major Data Center Project (9&10 News)
A major data center project is a step closer to happening after Michigan lawmakers gave their approval Thursday.

Lawmakers blast alleged plan to charter Detroit schools (Freep)
Democratic state lawmakers from Detroit on Thursday blasted the governor's office and other officials over what they say is a secret plan to turn more than two dozen schools in the city into charters.

State bill would outlaw local bans on pit bulls (Freep)
Even if Detroit were to pass a ban on pit bulls, the city — and 14 others that have passed such prohibitions — could be preempted by legislation now pending in Lansing.

DETROIT

Detroit among 50 best places to travel in 2016 (Freep)
Detroit's comeback is getting noticed!Travel + Leisure magazine just named the city one of the 50 "Best Places to Travel in 2016." It ranked 27th.

Detroiters can get free emergency alert notifications (Freep)
A day after a mass shooting in San Bernardino, Calif., the Detroit Homeland Security and Emergency Management showed off its free electronic emergency alert notifications, by way of Nixle.

More retail, housing planned for Corktown (Detroit News)
Metro Detroit businessman Anthony Soave plans to build a blocks-long retail and residential development near the old Tiger Stadium site.

OPINION

Moss: State Dems favor expansion of FOIA (Detroit News)
Re: Greg McNeilly's Nov. 18 op-ed in The Detroit News, "Lawmakers need workplace oversight": I thank McNeilly for his support. When I was elected to serve the people of my district and Michigan in the House of Representatives, I knew I was charged with introducing bills that would make a change for the better for the people of our state.

Gun control inaction makes mass shootings a way of life (Freep)
My son spends his days in the classroom of a warm, lovely woman who has, in less than four months, taught him to read, count forward and backward, to play nicely at recess and to be a good citizen. I don't know what she's paid, but it's surely not enough for the Herculean task of cramming — with patience and kindness — reams of information into the heads of two dozen unruly 5-year-olds.

Editorial: Put priority on fixing Detroit tax system (Detroit News)
Despite the progress Mayor Mike Duggan has made in fixing some of Detroit's property tax issues, problems with tax policies and practices persist, hindering the full revitalization of neighborhoods and preventing the city from capturing revenue needed to support public services.

Don't deny voters the right to vote a straight ticket (Freep)
While the Legislature seems unable to find time or political space to pass legislation that truly fixes Michigan's roads, embraces a sorely- needed plan by Gov. Rick Snyder to reboot Detroit's schools, or passes a clean energy plan that actually makes Michigan a leader in clean energy and new jobs, it may still find the time to check another box on their right-wing, anti-democracy "to-do" list: elimination of straight-ticket voting.

Specialty courts cut costs, improve lives (Freep)
Regionalism in government is a wonderful concept that is sometimes difficult to implement. Wayne County alone has 20 separate district courts and four municipal courts, each with its own judge or judges, funding source, court administrator and probation department. Many of these courts were created in times when government in general was expanding, not shrinking as it is now.

Susan J. Demas: Rubio has 'momentum,' but there's no clear path to victory – yet (Mlive)
Marco Rubio has the "big mo" in Michigan. In the past week, he's been endorsed by U.S. Rep. Bill Huizenga, R-Zeeland, and big GOP donor John Rakolta, a former Mitt Romney backer. Rubio also announced a campaign rally next week in Waterford.

Editorial: Bring Switch to Michigan, but be smart with data center tax breaks (Grand Rapids Press/Mlive)
Michigan cannot afford to let Switch take its proposal to build a $5 billion data center elsewhere. Now it must decide whether it can literally afford to bring the Nevada-based company to the state.

Detroit education reforms also must address 'school-to-prison pipeline' (Mlive)
My organization, StudentsFirst Michigan, recently began partnering with other youth advocacy groups to host screenings of a Tavis Smiley documentary that examines the school-to-prison pipeline. In doing research for these events, I came across a statistic that resonated with me:

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, December 07, 2015 9:22 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/7 Newsroom
Attachments: 151207 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, December 7, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Cyber security guest op
The Gravity of the Cyber Threats We Face (Governing Magazine)
We need to be better prepared for the attacks that are happening every day. Above all, that means we need to collaborate.

Selfridge event
Airmen from 127th Wing at Selfridge Air National Guard Base honored with welcome home celebration (WXYZ)
Hundreds of National Guard Airmen from the 127th Wing in Selfridge got a heroes welcome home on Sunday morning. They were honored in a ceremony Sunday with guest speakers including Gov. Rick Snyder, Sen. Gary Peters, and Congresswoman Candice Miller.

Selfridge airmen return from deployment to warm welcome (Freep)
Several officials attended the ceremony, including Gov. Rick Snyder, U.S. Sen. Gary Peters, and U.S. Rep. Candice Miller, who all made brief remarks.

Governor, dignitaries welcome back Selfridge pilots, support crew (Macomb Daily)
Several hundred airmen from the 127th Wing at Selfridge Air National Guard Base in Harrison Township were welcomed back by Gov. Rick Snyder and other dignitaries Sunday following the longest deployment of base personnel since the Korean War.

Dignitaries welcome back 500 National Guard pilots, others (AP)
Dignitaries have welcomed back to Michigan roughly 500 National Guard pilots and support crew members from Middle East missions. Republican Gov. Rick Snyder, Democratic U.S. Sen. Gary Peters and others spoke Sunday morning at Selfridge Air National Guard Base in Macomb County's Harrison Township.

Airmen honored, recognized for service (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Sen. Rick Peters were part of festivities Sunday where nearly 500 airmen were honored.

Data center
Michigan data center tax breaks show rift over strategy (AP)
A major Internet data center developer's decision to expand into Michigan as long as it receives lucrative tax breaks is testing the economic development strategy of Gov. Rick Snyder, who has called them the "heroin drip of government."

Abate, then Switch: Las Vegas tech firm asks legislators to change Michigan tax law to benefit data center industry (MI Biz)
"Gov. Snyder's approach to economic development has been in a way that is fiscally responsible over the long term," Snyder Press

Secretary David Murray wrote in an email to MiBiz. “The legislation linked to this project has only recently been submitted, and we are still very early in the process. We expect there will be a lot of discussion about this project as we move forward.”

EAA

Is Tuesday the start of the end for the EAA? (Freep)

"Gov. Snyder is working on a plan to improve academics and finances in Detroit Public Schools, and work is ongoing with city and community leaders and our partners in the Legislature," Snyder spokesman Dave Murray said in an e-mail to the Free Press."The EAA’s role in a restructured Detroit public school plan is still to be determined."

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ

Raw sewage erupts from manhole in Kalamazoo (Mlive)

Solidifying kitchen grease blocked a sanitary sewer Saturday night, causing raw sewage to come up through an opening in a manhole at the corner of Ravine Road and Douglas Avenue and spill onto the pavement. As required by law, Water Reclamation Plant personnel notified the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality at the Kalamazoo District Office and the Kalamazoo County Environmental Health and Community Services of the spill.

Loan forgiveness sought for Flint to replace lead pipes (The Detroit News)

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality is in talks with Flint officials about financing forgivable loans to replace lead-leaching water pipes while U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee is pursuing federal forgiveness for the city’s nearly $21 million in past loans for drinking water infrastructure improvements.

DNR

Michigan DNR to continue testing after 4th CWD case (Detroit Free Press)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is encouraging hunters to have their deer checked for chronic wasting disease after a fourth case was confirmed in the state today. CWD is a contagious neurological disease that affects deer, elk and moose.

U.P. hunters bag fewer deer, more mature bucks (Detroit Free Press)

Hunters in the Upper Peninsula bagged fewer deer during firearm season but came away with high-quality bucks, state officials said. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources said Friday that preliminary deer check station data showed a drop of about 13.5 percent through the season that ended Monday. Wildlife officials predicted a drop after three consecutive severe winters in the region.

MDOT

MDOT releases new research report (TI News Daily)

Leaders from the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) recently published a new research report entitled “Research on Evaluation and Standardization of Accelerated Bridge Construction Techniques." There is now a full listing of research reports that MDOT has published between 1940 and 2015 available on the MDOT website. All of the reports between those years are online in the form of PDFs.

MI unveils online help for aging drivers, their families (WOOD TV)

Against that backdrop, state leaders on Monday unveiled a new website full of resources to help aging drivers stay on the road as long as safely possible. Among its features, the website, www.michigan.gov/agingdriver, shows elderly drivers how to assess their own driving skills, identify problems that might impact their driving ability, find classes designed to help senior drivers and develop strategies to allow them to continue driving safely as long as possible. The website was developed over two years by a coalition that included MDOT, the Secretary of State’s Office, Michigan State Police and several private organizations.

MSP

Spectrum-Holland Hospital JV now includes $12.1 million surgical center in Grand Haven (MiBiz)

Spectrum Health in November filed a letter of intent with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services indicating it planned to seek certificate-of-need approval for a $12.1 million, 17,400-square-foot outpatient surgical center at the Health Pointe campus. The campus will allow the Spectrum Health Medical Group to consolidate physician practices in the area into a single location.

MSP participates in multi-state commercial vehicle enforcement operation (Mi News 26)

Michigan State Police motor carrier officers will be joining officers from the Indiana State Police and Ohio Highway Patrol in focusing their enforcement on I-94 this next week as part of a week-long 'Eyes on 94' commercial vehicle crash reduction effort.

LEGISLATIVE

Senate approves tax cuts for proposed $5 billion Grand Rapids data center (WKZO)
The Michigan Senate made quick work of a set of bills approving massive tax breaks for a firm that wants to put a $5 billion server farm in Kent County.

Michigan Senate approves tax breaks for data center campus (AP)
The state Senate approved yesterday lucrative tax breaks designed to guarantee that a major Internet data center developer chooses Caledonia as the site of its first mega-campus in the eastern half of the U.S.

Election law front and center in newly introduced bills (Detroit Free Press)
A Grand Blanc Republican wants to make it harder for people to vote by absentee ballot and has introduced legislation toward that end. State Sen. David Robertson, R-Grand Blanc, wants to prohibit clerks from opening their offices on weekends in the four weeks leading up to elections to hand out, process and accept absentee ballots.

Lawmakers blast alleged plan to charter Detroit schools (Detroit Free Press)
Democratic state lawmakers from Detroit on Thursday issued a stern warning against trying to turn more than two dozen Detroit schools including all the EAA schools, into charters.

Michigan may dump cities' bans on pit bulls (The Detroit News)
Two mauling deaths by pit bulls in two days in Michigan come as state lawmakers consider legislation that would make it illegal for communities to ban specific dog breeds. In October, the state Senate approved legislation to prohibit communities from banning or regulating specific breeds such as pit bulls.

DETROIT

State of Michigan explores EAA changes (WDIV)
The state of Michigan is putting out requests for proposals to find a company or companies to take over Education Achievement Authority (EAA) schools. According to two state representatives, 31 schools are involved under this proposal. This is not Gov. Rick Snyder's plan. The Detroit Delegation in Lansing said they fell completely back-doored by this.

Detroit lawmakers claim EMU eyes EAA expansion (The Detroit News)
The House Democratic Detroit Caucus is claiming Eastern Michigan University is considering adding 16 schools to the 15-school Education Achievement Authority that is being investigated for possible financial improprieties in educating its 4,500 students in Detroit.

Effort to provide jobs for young Detroiters expands, adds mayor's son as recruitment officer (Crain's Detroit Business)
Grow Detroit's Young Talent, a public-private effort to provide summer jobs, has set a goal to get 8,000 youth into jobs next summer. And it's looking for commitments from 1,000 local companies to hire them.

Detroit water chief Gary Brown: Real work just starting (The Detroit News)
Gary Brown has been a Detroit cop, a city councilman, an aide to the city's emergency manager and one of the mayor's top lieutenants. In October, he added director of Michigan's largest water utility and one of the biggest in the country — the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department — to his resume. He'll earn $175,000 as head of the department, according to city officials.

OPINION

What's your take: straight-party voting (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Republicans in the Michigan House of Representative are weighing a compromise bill to mollify critics of their effort to ban straight-party voting. Whether the bill answers those critics is debatable.

All the risk, none of the rewards for Michigan cities (Detroit Free Press)

Lincoln Park's financial emergency, declared in 2014, inspired some serious rewrites of employee contracts and outsourcing of some city services. Retirees had their health coverage yanked.

Anders: The house the Gary built (Midland Daily News)
This is a continuation of the fairy tale about the fantasy house that Midland lawmaker Gary Glenn has been building during his now year-long re-election campaign.

Let local laws determine how to reduce dog attacks, restrict breeds (MLive)
Americans value individual freedoms that allow us to choose what house to buy, what pet to own and what car to drive. However, there are many situations when individual freedom is not the best choice for society. Drinking and driving, or texting while driving the cars of our choice, both come to mind. Similarly, enabling the proliferation of dogs well known to be dangerous and even fatal to people and other animals should not be in the best interest of any community.
Detroit education reforms also must address school-to-prison pipeline (MLive)
My organization, StudentsFirst Michigan, recently began partnering with other youth advocacy groups to host screenings of a Tavis Smiley documentary that examines the school-to-prison pipeline. In doing research for these events, I came across a statistic that resonated with me:

The Gravity of the Cyber Threats we face (Governing)
It is very likely that the next devastating attack on the United States won't be like any other we've experienced. It will come through the computers on our desks at work, the laptops we set on the kitchen table, or even the mobile phones and tablets we scroll through while standing in line at the coffee shop. And most of the time, people won't even realize they're being attacked.

Editorial: Raise juvenile age in Michigan (Detroit News)
Legislators are studying a package of more than 20 bills that would raise the age of juveniles who are treated as adults when they commit certain crimes. This is an important step in the quest to reform Michigan's criminal justice system.

Finley: Gun laws won't stop terror (Detroit News)
More gun control laws won't stop terrorism.

EAA chairwoman: Schools key to city's rebirth (Detroit News)
With the resurgence of Detroit shocking those outside the city limits, those within are adjusting to a renewed sense of hope — we are hopeful for a comeback, hopeful for a rise from nationwide criticism and driving the hope of retaining the newest generation of Detroiters.

Editorial: Detroit must get rid of deadly dogs (Detroit News)
Detroit can not lay claim to being a comeback city, nor can it hope to attract large numbers of new residents to its neighborhoods, as long as children are at risk of being mauled to death by vicious dogs on its streets.

Hit the books, Michigan, and get smart about economic growth (Bridge MI)
Our work at Michigan Future, Inc. is focused on understanding the changes occurring in the American economy and how to be successful in that economy. Our interest is in the long-term structural changes in the economy, rather than year-to -year, largely cyclical changes.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, December 7, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Cyber security guest op
The Gravity of the Cyber Threats We Face (Governing Magazine)
We need to be better prepared for the attacks that are happening every day. Above all, that means we need to collaborate.

Selfridge event
Airmen from 127th Wing at Selfridge Air National Guard Base honored with welcome home celebration (WXYZ)
Hundreds of National Guard Airmen from the 127th Wing in Selfridge got a heroes welcome home on Sunday morning. They were honored in a ceremony Sunday with guest speakers including Gov. Rick Snyder, Sen. Gary Peters, and Congresswoman Candice Miller.

Selfridge airmen return from deployment to warm welcome (Freep)
Several officials attended the ceremony, including Gov. Rick Snyder, U.S. Sen. Gary Peters, and U.S. Rep. Candice Miller, who all made brief remarks.

Governor, dignitaries welcome back Selfridge pilots, support crew (Macomb Daily)
Several hundred airmen from the 127th Wing at Selfridge Air National Guard Base in Harrison Township were welcomed back by Gov. Rick Snyder and other dignitaries Sunday following the longest deployment of base personnel since the Korean War.

Dignitaries welcome back 500 National Guard pilots, others (AP)
Dignitaries have welcomed back to Michigan roughly 500 National Guard pilots and support crew members from Middle East missions. Republican Gov. Rick Snyder, Democratic U.S. Sen. Gary Peters and others spoke Sunday morning at Selfridge Air National Guard Base in Macomb County's Harrison Township.

Airmen honored, recognized for service (WDIV)
Gov. Rick Snyder and Sen. Rick Peters were part of festivities Sunday where nearly 500 airmen were honored.

Data center
Michigan data center tax breaks show rift over strategy (AP)
A major Internet data center developer's decision to expand into Michigan as long as it receives lucrative tax breaks is testing the economic development strategy of Gov. Rick Snyder, who has called them the "heroin drip of government."

Abate, then Switch: Las Vegas tech firm asks legislators to change Michigan tax law to benefit data center industry (MI Biz)

"Gov. Snyder's approach to economic development has been in a way that is fiscally responsible over the long term," Snyder Press Secretary David Murray wrote in an email to MiBiz. "The legislation linked to this project has only recently been submitted, and we are still very early in the process. We expect there will be a lot of discussion about this project as we move forward."

EAA

Is Tuesday the start of the end for the EAA? (Freep)

"Gov. Snyder is working on a plan to improve academics and finances in Detroit Public Schools, and work is ongoing with city and community leaders and our partners in the Legislature," Snyder spokesman Dave Murray said in an e-mail to the Free Press."The EAA's role in a restructured Detroit public school plan is still to be determined."

DEPARTMENTS

DEQ

Raw sewage erupts from manhole in Kalamazoo (Mlive)

Solidifying kitchen grease blocked a sanitary sewer Saturday night, causing raw sewage to come up through an opening in a manhole at the corner of Ravine Road and Douglas Avenue and spill onto the pavement. As required by law, Water Reclamation Plant personnel notified the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality at the Kalamazoo District Office and the Kalamazoo County Environmental Health and Community Services of the spill.

Loan forgiveness sought for Flint to replace lead pipes (The Detroit News)

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality is in talks with Flint officials about financing forgivable loans to replace lead-leaching water pipes while U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee is pursuing federal forgiveness for the city's nearly $21 million in past loans for drinking water infrastructure improvements.

DNR

Michigan DNR to continue testing after 4th CWD case (Detroit Free Press)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is encouraging hunters to have their deer checked for chronic wasting disease after a fourth case was confirmed in the state today. CWD is a contagious neurological disease that affects deer, elk and moose.

U.P. hunters bag fewer deer, more mature bucks (Detroit Free Press)

Hunters in the Upper Peninsula bagged fewer deer during firearm season but came away with high-quality bucks, state officials said. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources said Friday that preliminary deer check station data showed a drop of about 13.5 percent through the season that ended Monday. Wildlife officials predicted a drop after three consecutive severe winters in the region.

MDOT

MDOT releases new research report (TI News Daily)

Leaders from the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) recently published a new research report entitled "Research on Evaluation and Standardization of Accelerated Bridge Construction Techniques." There is now a full listing of research reports that MDOT has published between 1940 and 2015 available on the MDOT website. All of the reports between those years are online in the form of PDFs.

MI unveils online help for aging drivers, their families (WOOD TV)

Against that backdrop, state leaders on Monday unveiled a new website full of resources to help aging drivers stay on the road as long as safely possible. Among its features, the website, www.michigan.gov/agingdriver, shows elderly drivers how to assess their own driving skills, identify problems that might impact their driving ability, find classes designed to help senior drivers and develop strategies to allow them to continue driving safely as long as possible. The website was developed over two years by a coalition that included MDOT, the Secretary of State's Office, Michigan State Police and several private organizations.

MSP

Spectrum-Holland Hospital JV now includes $12.1 million surgical center in Grand Haven (MiBiz)
Spectrum Health in November filed a letter of intent with the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services indicating it planned to seek certificate-of-need approval for a $12.1 million, 17,400-square-foot outpatient surgical center at the Health Pointe campus. The campus will allow the Spectrum Health Medical Group to consolidate physician practices in the area into a single location.

MSP participates in multi-state commercial vehicle enforcement operation (Mi News 26)
Michigan State Police motor carrier officers will be joining officers from the Indiana State Police and Ohio Highway Patrol in focusing their enforcement on I-94 this next week as part of a week-long 'Eyes on 94' commercial vehicle crash reduction effort.

LEGISLATIVE

Senate approves tax cuts for proposed $5 billion Grand Rapids data center (WKZO)
The Michigan Senate made quick work of a set of bills approving massive tax breaks for a firm that wants to put a $5 billion server farm in Kent County.

Michigan Senate approves tax breaks for data center campus (AP)
The state Senate approved yesterday lucrative tax breaks designed to guarantee that a major Internet data center developer chooses Caledonia as the site of its first mega-campus in the eastern half of the U.S.

Election law front and center in newly introduced bills (Detroit Free Press)
A Grand Blanc Republican wants to make it harder for people to vote by absentee ballot and has introduced legislation toward that end. State Sen. David Robertson, R-Grand Blanc, wants to prohibit clerks from opening their offices on weekends in the four weeks leading up to elections to hand out, process and accept absentee ballots.

Lawmakers blast alleged plan to charter Detroit schools (Detroit Free Press)
Democratic state lawmakers from Detroit on Thursday issued a stern warning against trying to turn more than two dozen Detroit schools, including all the EAA schools, into charters.

Michigan may dump cities' bans on pit bulls (The Detroit News)
Two mauling deaths by pit bulls in two days in Michigan come as state lawmakers consider legislation that would make it illegal for communities to ban specific dog breeds. In October, the state Senate approved legislation to prohibit communities from banning or regulating specific breeds such as pit bulls.

DETROIT

State of Michigan explores EAA changes (WDIV)
The state of Michigan is putting out requests for proposals to find a company or companies to take over Education Achievement Authority (EAA) schools. According to two state representatives, 31 schools are involved under this proposal. This is not Gov. Rick Snyder's plan. The Detroit Delegation in Lansing said they fell completely back-doored by this.

Detroit lawmakers claim EMU eyes EAA expansion (The Detroit News)
The House Democratic Detroit Caucus is claiming Eastern Michigan University is considering adding 16 schools to the 15-school Education Achievement Authority that is being investigated for possible financial improprieties in educating its 4,500 students in Detroit.

Effort to provide jobs for young Detroiters expands, adds mayor's son as recruitment officer (Crain's Detroit Business)
Grow Detroit's Young Talent, a public-private effort to provide summer jobs, has set a goal to get 8,000 youth into jobs next summer. And it's looking for commitments from 1,000 local companies to hire them.

Detroit water chief Gary Brown: Real work just starting (The Detroit News)
Gary Brown has been a Detroit cop, a city councilman, an aide to the city's emergency manager and one of the mayor's top lieutenants. In October, he added director of Michigan's largest water utility and one of the biggest in the country — the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department — to his resume. He'll earn $175,000 as head of the department, according to city officials.

OPINION

What's your take: straight-party voting (Battle Creek Enquirer)
Republicans in the Michigan House of Representative are weighing a compromise bill to mollify critics of their effort to ban straight-party voting. Whether the bill answers those critics is debatable.

All the risk, none of the rewards for Michigan cities (Detroit Free Press)
Lincoln Park's financial emergency, declared in 2014, inspired some serious rewrites of employee contracts and outsourcing of some city services. Retirees had their health coverage yanked.

Anders: The house the Gary built (Midland Daily News)
This is a continuation of the fairy tale about the fantasy house that Midland lawmaker Gary Glenn has been building during his now year-long re-election campaign.

Let local laws determine how to reduce dog attacks, restrict breeds (MLive)
Americans value individual freedoms that allow us to choose what house to buy, what pet to own and what car to drive. However, there are many situations when individual freedom is not the best choice for society. Drinking and driving, or texting while driving the cars of our choice, both come to mind. Similarly, enabling the proliferation of dogs well known to be dangerous and even fatal to people and other animals should not be in the best interest of any community.
Detroit education reforms also must address school-to-prison pipeline (MLive)
My organization, StudentsFirst Michigan, recently began partnering with other youth advocacy groups to host screenings of a Tavis Smiley documentary that examines the school-to-prison pipeline. In doing research for these events, I came across a statistic that resonated with me:

The Gravity of the Cyber Threats we face (Governing)
It is very likely that the next devastating attack on the United States won't be like any other we've experienced. It will come through the computers on our desks at work, the laptops we set on the kitchen table, or even the mobile phones and tablets we scroll through while standing in line at the coffee shop. And most of the time, people won't even realize they're being attacked.

Editorial: Raise juvenile age in Michigan (Detroit News)

Legislators are studying a package of more than 20 bills that would raise the age of juveniles who are treated as adults when they commit certain crimes. This is an important step in the quest to reform Michigan's criminal justice system.

Finley: Gun laws won't stop terror (Detroit News)
More gun control laws won't stop terrorism.

EAA chairwoman: Schools key to city's rebirth (Detroit News)
With the resurgence of Detroit shocking those outside the city limits, those within are adjusting to a renewed sense of hope — we are hopeful for a comeback, hopeful for a rise from nationwide criticism and driving the hope of retaining the newest generation of Detroiters.

Editorial: Detroit must get rid of deadly dogs (Detroit News)
Detroit can not lay claim to being a comeback city, nor can it hope to attract large numbers of new residents to its neighborhoods, as long as children are at risk of being mauled to death by vicious dogs on its streets.

Hit the books, Michigan, and get smart about economic growth (Bridge MI)
Our work at Michigan Future, Inc. is focused on understanding the changes occurring in the American economy and how to be successful in that economy. Our interest is in the long-term structural changes in the economy, rather than year-to -year, largely cyclical changes.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Monday, December 14, 2015 9:31 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/14 Newsroom
Attachments: 151214 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, December 14, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Freep op-ed
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder: Donald Trump does not speak for me (Freep)
Just as terrorists who betray cherished values in the name of Islam do not speak for the 1.6 billion Muslims in the world, Donald Trump does not speak for me, the state of Michigan, nor the entire Republican Party. To say that Michigan is on the same path that Trump proposes is a great injustice to those who are working hard to make our state welcoming and successful. But the Free Press Editorial Board has tied my request for a review of immigration and visa processes to Trump's recent inappropriate comments.

Syrian refugees
Will Gov. Rick Snyder hit the "un-pause" button on efforts to take in more Syrian refugees? (Michigan Radio)
The federally-created Council of Governors has a meeting scheduled for tomorrow. This is the group of 10 governors (always five Republicans and five Democrats) that gives the federal government the states' perspectives on national security issues. This is also the group that Governor Snyder said he wanted to conduct a review of federal security policies after the self-proclaimed most pro-immigration governor called for a "pause" in resettling refugees from Syria and other Middle Eastern countries after last month's terrorist attacks in Paris, Beirut, and Egypt.

State of the State contest
Contest to design cover of 2016 State of the State program, winning student meets governor, attends January event (Fenton Tri-County Times)
Students in the 51st House District have a chance to compete for a chance to meet Gov. Rick Snyder and attend the State of the State address on Jan. 19. Rep. Joseph Graves (R-Argentine Township) encourages the students of his district (Fenton, Lake Fenton and Linden) to take part in a contest to design the cover art for the 2016 State of the State program.

Students Encouraged To Enter State of the State Program Cover Contest (WHMI Radio)
Area students have a chance to show off their creativity and imagination in a State of the State program cover contest.

State Representative Joe Graves is encouraging students in grades K-12 in the 51st House District to send in artwork for the cover of the 2016 State of the State Address program.

Bill signing

New law eases hiring firefighters across state lines (Daily Telegram)
State Sen. Dale Zorn, R-Ida, sponsored Senate Bill 372 that was signed into law as Public Act 203 of 2015.

Midland County treasurer, staff at bill signing (Midland Daily News)
Midland County Treasurer Cathy Lunsford and staff members Libby Varner and Ann Townsend joined Sen. Jim Stamas, R-Midland, for Gov. Rick Snyder's formal bill signing of Stamas' legislation to revise the timeframe in which county treasurers may send delinquent property tax notices.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

117 schools joining statewide health and wellness program (Mlive/GR Press)
There are 117 Michigan schools that will receive tools and resources to improve student health while creating a healthier school environment, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Blue Cross Blue Shield announced Friday, Dec. 11.

Calley touts school health program in GR (WOOD-TV)
Michigan's No. 2 in command visited Grand Rapids Friday to celebrate a new program at Ridge Park Charter Academy. Lt. Governor Brian Calley joined state health leaders to celebrate the school's new involvement in the Michigan's Building Healthy Communities initiative.

Nearly 1,000 Grand Valley State graduates walk across stage (Mlive)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley was the keynote speaker to the winter Grand Valley State University commencement ceremony on Saturday, Dec. 12. Nearly 1,000 graduates walked across the main stage at Van Andel Arena to accept their diplomas.

GVSU welcomes nearly 1,000 new alumni (GV Lanthorn)
The keynote speaker, Brian Calley, lieutenant governor of Michigan, spoke to students on how to "be great" in today's challenging world. Calley, elected in 2010, is the youngest lieutenant governor in the country. "You're standing on the verge of entering a world of opportunities," he said, "with an endorsement of your dedication to learning and knowledge, from a university that has become one of the most interesting, diverse and exciting regions in the nation."

MISCELLANEOUS

Michael Finney is fighting Michigan poverty with jobs (Freep)
With Census numbers showing more people in Michigan slipping deeper into poverty and with increased crime and unemployment as a result, Michael Finney left his job in state government to help.

DEPARTMENTS

DHHS

In Flint and beyond, lead remains irreversible scourge among Michigan's children (MLive)
Across Michigan, in cities large and small, lead poisoning continues to plague children, limiting them in school and on the playground. Although much of the state's focus has been on lead-poisoned water in Flint, the metal continues to turn up annually in the bodies of thousands of children across the state, at percentages well above the numbers that raised red flags in Flint.

Making it work for workers: Employers aim to retain low-income employees, improve bottom line (Crain's Detroit Business)

At a car wash this past summer, a young man noticed Tanya Allen's hat bearing the LongHorn Steakhouse logo and asked her if she knew anyone who worked at the restaurant chain.She told him she owned one. Allen is a partner with a joint venture between Atlanta-based Hojeij Branded Foods and its Detroit partner, AP United LLC.

DNR

Michigan DNR finds fourth case of chronic wasting disease (WMMT)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has found a fourth case of chronic wasting disease in a mid-Michigan deer. During firearm deer season, a hunter from DeWitt Township, in Clinton County, brought in a buck that tested positive for CWD.

93-pound Petoskey stone confiscated by Michigan DNR (AP)
State wildlife officials have confiscated a 93-pound Petoskey boulder from a man who pulled it out of Lake Michigan. The Grand Rapids Press reports Department of Natural Resources officers went to Tim O'Brien's home in the Manistee County community of Copemish on Wednesday.

Wildlife researchers not so sure about drones (Great Lakes Echo)
Perhaps drones could track feral swine to help oust the invasive critter from Michigan.

$300K grant to fund universal-access playground at Gallup Park (MLive)
The city of Ann Arbor's parks department, along with the Rotary Club of Ann Arbor, announced the city is getting a $300,000 grant for construction of a universal-access playground at Gallup Park.

SH park projects get state boost (Herald Palladium) outh Haven will see a lot of hammers fly in 2016 after the city landed four grants for park improvements.

MDARD

Michigan Department of Agriculture warns against Lock Stock & Barrel Ranch products (Holland Sentinel)The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development warns consumers that may have purchased any of the products listed below produced by Lock Stock & Barrel Ranch of Onaway to dispose of all products immediately because they were manufactured without using the required controls for the safe production of processed foods.

Invasive bug found in Birmingham smells when crushed (Detroit News)
A smelly, invasive species first found in North America in 2012 has been found in Michigan for the first time.

Botulism concerns prompt recall of Michigan-made food products (MLive)
Consumers who have purchased products from an Onaway food producer are being advised to throw the items away due to concerns of botulism.

Warning about food sold at some Michigan Farmers' Markets (WILX)
State officials are warning consumers to discard some food items sold at a number of northern Michigan farm markets.

Forestry Assistance Program provides local forester for area (Gaylord Herald Times)
The Otsego Conservation District currently employs a forester to provide free technical assistance to private landowners in Otsego, Crawford, and Roscommon counties. The forester position is part of the Forestry Assistance Program, which provides grant money from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development to conservation districts so that they can employ forestry professionals.

MDOC

Prison ministry program gives prisoners a chance to be a dad again for a day (ABC Nightline)
ABC News' "Nightline" was given access to go behind prison walls at Earnest C. Brooks Correctional Facility in Muskegon, Michigan, as Arkinya met her dad for the first time.

MDE

Debate delays new social studies standards (Michigan Radio)
There's a civil rights debate brewing in Michigan. It's about whether schools have too much civil rights education or too little. This controversy has prompted the State Board of Education to delay voting on new social studies standards.

Study: Higher education is key to Michigan's future but comes with $500M annual price tag (MLive)
Michigan needs an additional 779,000 students to earn an education or training credential beyond high school by 2025 to meet the needs of employers and place Michigan among the nation's 10 best educated states, according to a report issued by a coalition of business, education, labor and government leaders.

Better career and college advice is a phone call away (Huffington Post)
It looks like things are starting to turn around for Michigan's school counselors. Saddled with the fifth largest caseload in the country (with 704 students per school counselor), the counselors in our state are used to being overworked and under appreciated, but they've been hoping things might change that would make their work easier.

MDOT
State updating 20-year transportation plan (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
The long-range transportation plan for Michigan is ready for public opinion. As required by federal law, the Michigan Department of Transportation is requesting public feedback to help revise its long-range transportation plan, or SLRP.

MDOT seeks input on 5-year road plan (The Detroit News)
Drivers on Interstate 96 will have another headache to deal with next year if the Michigan Department of Transportation moves ahead with its list of road projects.

MSHDA
Insider's e-mails shed light on Detroit demolitions (Detroit Free Press)
A consultant tapped by the state to help Detroit with its blight demolition program refused to attend meetings where city officials and handpicked companies agreed to a contract price for a massive project before others could submit bids.

Agency helps record number with housing (Huron Daily Tribune)
Almost 70 individuals and families either homeless or at risk of homelessness in Huron County got help this year from a growing, local nonprofit.

MPSC
MPSC approves increased electricity rates at DTE Energy (AP)
The average residential customer of DTE Energy will pay $8.22 a month more for electricity under a rate increase.

DTE Energy gets OK to raise rates an average of 5.3% (Crain's Detroit Business)
DTE Electric Co. has received approval from the Michigan Public Service Commission to raise its overall electric rates by 5.3 percent, or $238.2 million annually, but 36 percent below the $370 million it had requested earlier this year.

DTE to raise electric rates by more than $8 per month next week (MLive)
DTE Electric Company will increase its electric rates by an average of $8.22 per month under an order approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission on Friday

MSP
FBI, area police conduct numerous raids in Detroit to curb heroin flowing into Oakland, Macomb counties (Oakland Press)
The FBI and several local law enforcement agencies conducted numerous raids targeting heroin dealers in Detroit, hoping to disrupt the flow of narcotics into Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

DTE to raise electric rates by more than $8 per month next week (MLive)
DTE Electric Company will increase its electric rates by an average of $8.22 per month under an order approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission on Friday.

DTE Energy gets OK to raise rates an average of 5.3% (Crains)
DTE Electric Co. has received approval from the Michigan Public Service Commission to raise its overall electric rates by 5.3 percent, or $238.2 million annually, but 36 percent below the $370 million it had requested earlier this year.

Supreme Court
Michigan Supreme Court lets stand Grand Rapids law easing prosecution of marijuana cases (AP)
A Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana an offense similar to a traffic ticket has survived a challenge in the Michigan Supreme Court after the justices declined to take an appeal from a prosecutor.

Gr. Rapids pot laws stands after high court takes a pass (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Supreme Court won't intervene in a dispute over a Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana a civil offense similar to a traffic ticket.

Michigan Supreme Court allows Grand Rapids marijuana law to stand (WMUK)
The Michigan Supreme Court has let stand an amendment to the Grand Rapids city charter that decriminalizes marijuana.

Supreme Court won't intervene in Grand Rapids marijuana dispute (AP)
The Michigan Supreme Court won't intervene in a dispute over a Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana a civil offense similar to a traffic ticket.
In an order released Saturday, the court declined to take an appeal from the Kent County prosecutor.

Grand Rapids pot law will stand after court declines case (Holland Sentinel)
A Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana an offense similar to a traffic ticket has survived a challenge in the Michigan Supreme Court after the justices declined to take an appeal from a prosecutor.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan lawmakers seek assurances surgical conditions safe at VA hospital in Ann Arbor (AP)
Two members of Michigan's congressional delegation have sought assurances from a Veterans Affairs hospital director that surgeries are being conducted safely.

Lawmakers remove property tax break from data center bills (AP)
Michigan lawmakers plan to scale back tax break legislation designed to land a mega-Internet data center in the state. The House's Tax Policy Committee chairman said Thursday the chamber will not pass a Senate-approved bill that would fully exempt data centers from Michigan's personal property tax owed on business equipment.

Michigan Senate Approves Bill That Will Help Local School Districts (News 9 and 10)
The Michigan senate approved a bill that could help the statewide shortage of substitute teachers. It allows teachers who've retired after mid-2010 to teach as substitute teachers without losing their pension.

Senate OKs bill to codify super PACS in Michigan law; committees can spend unlimited funds (AP)
A split state Senate voted Wednesday to codify into Michigan law unfettered political spending by independent committees that is legal under the U.S. Supreme Court's Citizens United decision and other federal rulings.

State of Michigan explores EAA changes (WDIV)
The state of Michigan is putting out requests for proposals to find a company or companies to take over Education Achievement Authority (EAA) schools. According to two state representatives, 31 schools are involved under this proposal.

DETROIT

Administrator appointed to Detroit Federation of Teachers (AP)
An administrator has been appointed to the Detroit Federation of Teachers. American Federation of Teachers President Randi Weingarten announced Thursday that Ann Mitchell will begin her new position in Detroit on Tuesday. Weingarten said the administrator position is meant to create a sense of stability and to help the union strengthen its voice.

Metro Detroit casino workers OK contracts (The Detroit News)
Workers at Detroit's casinos Sunday ratified labor contracts that include a $4,250 signing bonus and hourly wage increases of 2 percent and 3 percent in the fourth and fifth years, respectively, according an announcement on the union's website.

Detroit-Wayne mental health board suspends CEO's decision to terminate contract with Integrated Care Alliance (Crain's Business Detroit)
The board of Detroit-Wayne Mental Health Authority voted 7-5 today to temporarily suspend a decision earlier this month by CEO Tom Watkins to terminate a contract with Integrated Care Alliance, a Detroit-based developmental disability services provider.

Exclusive Detroit poll: 69% say city headed in right direction (Detroit Free Press)
A year after Detroit exited the nation's largest bankruptcy, a solid majority of residents polled - 69% - say city is heading in the right direction. In a wide-ranging poll of opinions commissioned by the Free Press, Detroit residents gave high marks to Mayor Mike Duggan and an even higher approval rating to Police Chief James Craig a year after a federal judge approved the city's exit plan.

OPINION

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder Donald Trump does not speak for me (Detroit Free Press)
Just as terrorists who betray cherished values in the name of Islam do not speak for the 1.6 billion Muslims in the world, Donald Trump does not speak for me, the state of Michigan, nor the entire Republican Party.

Attitude changing for the better in Detroit (Detroit Free Press)
Things are changing in Detroit. And we're not talking about more streetlights or the pace of blight demolition.

New bills boost legislator's attack on democracy (Detroit Free Press)
It's beginning to look a lot like open season on our democracy.

Editorial: Slow down on tax hike (Detroit News)
Lawmakers are rushing to extend a bill that levies a tax on Michigan businesses that promises to grow exponentially over the next few years. There is no need for such haste.

Warren: Any data-center tax breaks need accountability (Detroit News)
A Nevada-based multibillion-dollar company wants to take over the Steelcase pyramid in Grand Rapids and develop a data center. The company, Switch, promises 1,000 well-paying jobs over the course of its development, as well as a $5 billion investment in our state.

GOP debate a chance to address American workers (Detroit News)
Nearing the Iowa caucuses, Democratic presidential candidates are setting their sights on labor policy. Frontrunner Hillary Clinton routinely rails against income inequality, vowing "to strengthen workers' voices" and protect them from "exploitation." Sen. Bernie Sanders recently introduced a labor-backed bill "(making) it easier for workers to join unions."

Finley: Big GOP bucks won't go to Trump (Detroit News)

It's the second Sunday in December and Donald Trump hasn't gone away. The Republican money is starting to plan what it will do if he never does.

Editorial: Limit militarization of police (Detroit News)
The image has become all too familiar: military-grade tanks driving through American neighborhoods as they respond to emergency situations.

In Courser-Gamrat matter, will we ever know who knew what and when? (MLive)
The Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser saga is the story that keeps on giving.

Whistleblowers shine light on lack of transparency and accountability in Lansing (MLive)
Nowhere is transparency more important than in government, where elected decision-makers must be held to the highest standard of accountability. Unfortunately, that standard has gone missing from the halls of Michigan's Capitol. The lack of accountability among the Republicans who control our state government is so severe, that it's taken the courageous actions of two whistleblowing staff members to bring the truth to light.

As Legislature considers medical marijuana proposals, facts must overcome fiction, myths (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature is poised to provide much-needed clarity to our state's medical marijuana law. By approving a framework of strong regulations that hold people accountable, policymakers can end seven years of confusion that has harmed patients, local communities and responsible businesses eager to follow the rules.

Editorial: Schools are no place for open carry (Battle Creek Enquirer)
It's one thing to have a principled debate over the regulation of firearms in public spaces; it's another entirely to put everybody's children in the middle of it simply to make a point.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Monday, December 14, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Freep op-ed
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder: Donald Trump does not speak for me (Freep)
Just as terrorists who betray cherished values in the name of Islam do not speak for the 1.6 billion Muslims in the world, Donald Trump does not speak for me, the state of Michigan, nor the entire Republican Party. To say that Michigan is on the same path that Trump proposes is a great injustice to those who are working hard to make our state welcoming and successful. But the Free Press Editorial Board has tied my request for a review of immigration and visa processes to Trump's recent inappropriate comments.

Syrian refugees
Will Gov. Rick Snyder hit the "un-pause" button on efforts to take in more Syrian refugees? (Michigan Radio)
The federally-created Council of Governors has a meeting scheduled for tomorrow. This is the group of 10 governors (always five Republicans and five Democrats) that gives the federal government the states' perspectives on national security issues. This is also the group that Governor Snyder said he wanted to conduct a review of federal security policies after the self-proclaimed most pro-immigration governor called for a "pause" in resettling refugees from Syria and other Middle Eastern countries after last month's terrorist attacks in Paris, Beirut, and Egypt.

State of the State contest
Contest to design cover of 2016 State of the State program, winning student meets governor, attends January event (Fenton Tri-County Times)
Students in the 51st House District have a chance to compete for a chance to meet Gov. Rick Snyder and attend the State of the State address on Jan. 19. Rep. Joseph Graves (R-Argentine Township) encourages the students of his district (Fenton, Lake Fenton and Linden) to take part in a contest to design the cover art for the 2016 State of the State program.

Students Encouraged To Enter State of the State Program Cover Contest (WHMI Radio)
Area students have a chance to show off their creativity and imagination in a State of the State program cover contest. State Representative Joe Graves is encouraging students in grades K-12 in the 51st House District to send in artwork for the cover of the 2016 State of the State Address program.

Bill signing
New law eases hiring firefighters across state lines (Daily Telegram)
State Sen. Dale Zorn, R-Ida, sponsored Senate Bill 372 that was signed into law as Public Act 203 of 2015.

Midland County treasurer, staff at bill signing (Midland Daily News)
Midland County Treasurer Cathy Lunsford and staff members Libby Varner and Ann Townsend joined

Sen. Jim Stamas, R-Midland, for Gov. Rick Snyder's formal bill signing of Stamas' legislation to revise the timeframe in which county treasurers may send delinquent property tax notices.

LT. GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

117 schools joining statewide health and wellness program (Mlive/GR Press)
There are 117 Michigan schools that will receive tools and resources to improve student health while creating a healthier school environment, Lt. Gov. Brian Calley and Blue Cross Blue Shield announced Friday, Dec. 11.

Calley touts school health program in GR (WOOD-TV)
Michigan's No. 2 in command visited Grand Rapids Friday to celebrate a new program at Ridge Park Charter Academy. Lt. Governor Brian Calley joined state health leaders to celebrate the school's new involvement in the Michigan's Building Healthy Communities initiative.

Nearly 1,000 Grand Valley State graduates walk across stage (Mlive)
Lt. Gov. Brian Calley was the keynote speaker to the winter Grand Valley State University commencement ceremony on Saturday, Dec. 12. Nearly 1,000 graduates walked across the main stage at Van Andel Arena to accept their diplomas.

GVSU welcomes nearly 1,000 new alumni (GV Lanthorn)
The keynote speaker, Brian Calley, lieutenant governor of Michigan, spoke to students on how to "be great" in today's challenging world. Calley, elected in 2010, is the youngest lieutenant governor in the country. "You're standing on the verge of entering a world of opportunities," he said, "with an endorsement of your dedication to learning and knowledge, from a university that has become one of the most interesting, diverse and exciting regions in the nation."

MISCELLANEOUS

Michael Finney is fighting Michigan poverty with jobs (Freep)
With Census numbers showing more people in Michigan slipping deeper into poverty and with increased crime and unemployment as a result, Michael Finney left his job in state government to help.

DEPARTMENTS

DHHS
In Flint and beyond, lead remains irreversible scourge among Michigan's children (MLive)
Across Michigan, in cities large and small, lead poisoning continues to plague children, limiting them in school and on the playground. Although much of the state's focus has been on lead-poisoned water in Flint, the metal continues to turn up annually in the bodies of thousands of children across the state, at percentages well above the numbers that raised red flags in Flint.

Making it work for workers: Employers aim to retain low-income employees, improve bottom line (Crain's Detroit Business)
At a car wash this past summer, a young man noticed Tanya Allen's hat bearing the LongHorn Steakhouse logo and asked her if she knew anyone who worked at the restaurant chain.She told him she owned one. Allen is a partner with a joint venture between Atlanta-based Hojeij Branded Foods and its Detroit partner, AP United LLC.

DNR
Michigan DNR finds fourth case of chronic wasting disease (WMMT)

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has found a fourth case of chronic wasting disease in a mid-Michigan deer. During firearm deer season, a hunter from DeWitt Township, in Clinton County, brought in a buck that tested positive for CWD.

93-pound Petoskey stone confiscated by Michigan DNR (AP)
State wildlife officials have confiscated a 93-pound Petoskey boulder from a man who pulled it out of Lake Michigan. The Grand Rapids Press reports Department of Natural Resources officers went to Tim O'Brien's home in the Manistee County community of Copemish on Wednesday.

Wildlife researchers not so sure about drones (Great Lakes Echo)
Perhaps drones could track feral swine to help oust the invasive critter from Michigan.

$300K grant to fund universal-access playground at Gallup Park (MLive)
The city of Ann Arbor's parks department, along with the Rotary Club of Ann Arbor, announced the city is getting a $300,000 grant for construction of a universal-access playground at Gallup Park.

SH park projects get state boost (Herald Palladium)
outh Haven will see a lot of hammers fly in 2016 after the city landed four grants for park improvements.

MDARD
Michigan Department of Agriculture warns against Lock Stock & Barrel Ranch products (Holland Sentinel)The Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development warns consumers that may have purchased any of the products listed below produced by Lock Stock & Barrel Ranch of Onaway to dispose of all products immediately because they were manufactured without using the required controls for the safe production of processed foods.

Invasive bug found in Birmingham smells when crushed (Detroit News)
A smelly, invasive species first found in North America in 2012 has been found in Michigan for the first time.

Botulism concerns prompt recall of Michigan-made food products (MLive)
Consumers who have purchased products from an Onaway food producer are being advised to throw the items away due to concerns of botulism.

Warning about food sold at some Michigan Farmers' Markets (WILX)
State officials are warning consumers to discard some food items sold at a number of northern Michigan farm markets.

Forestry Assistance Program provides local forester for area (Gaylord Herald Times)
The Otsego Conservation District currently employs a forester to provide free technical assistance to private landowners in Otsego, Crawford, and Roscommon counties. The forester position is part of the Forestry Assistance Program, which provides grant money from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development to conservation districts so that they can employ forestry professionals.

MDOC
Prison ministry program gives prisoners a chance to be a dad again for a day (ABC Nightline)
ABC News' "Nightline" was given access to go behind prison walls at Earnest C. Brooks Correctional Facility in Muskegon, Michigan, as Arkinya met her dad for the first time.

MDE

Debate delays new social studies standards (Michigan Radio)
There's a civil rights debate brewing in Michigan. It's about whether schools have too much civil rights education or too little. This controversy has prompted the State Board of Education to delay voting on new social studies standards.

Study: Higher education is key to Michigan's future but comes with $500M annual price tag (MLive)
Michigan needs an additional 779,000 students to earn an education or training credential beyond high school by 2025 to meet the needs of employers and place Michigan among the nation's 10 best educated states, according to a report issued by a coalition of business, education, labor and government leaders.

Better career and college advice is a phone call away (Huffington Post)
It looks like things are starting to turn around for Michigan's school counselors. Saddled with the fifth largest caseload in the country (with 704 students per school counselor), the counselors in our state are used to being overworked and under appreciated, but they've been hoping things might change that would make their work easier.

MDOT
State updating 20-year transportation plan (Grand Rapids Business Journal)
The long-range transportation plan for Michigan is ready for public opinion. As required by federal law, the Michigan Department of Transportation is requesting public feedback to help revise its long-range transportation plan, or SLRP.

MDOT seeks input on 5-year road plan (The Detroit News)
Drivers on Interstate 96 will have another headache to deal with next year if the Michigan Department of Transportation moves ahead with its list of road projects.

MSHDA
Insider's e-mails shed light on Detroit demolitions (Detroit Free Press)
A consultant tapped by the state to help Detroit with its blight demolition program refused to attend meetings where city officials and handpicked companies agreed to a contract price for a massive project before others could submit bids.

Agency helps record number with housing (Huron Daily Tribune)
Almost 70 individuals and families either homeless or at risk of homelessness in Huron County got help this year from a growing, local nonprofit.

MPSC
MPSC approves increased electricity rates at DTE Energy (AP)
The average residential customer of DTE Energy will pay $8.22 a month more for electricity under a rate increase.

DTE Energy gets OK to raise rates an average of 5.3% (Crain's Detroit Business)
DTE Electric Co. has received approval from the Michigan Public Service Commission to raise its overall electric rates by 5.3 percent, or $238.2 million annually, but 36 percent below the $370 million it had requested earlier this year.

DTE to raise electric rates by more than $8 per month next week (MLive)
DTE Electric Company will increase its electric rates by an average of $8.22 per month under an order approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission on Friday

MSP

FBI, area police conduct numerous raids in Detroit to curb heroin flowing into Oakland, Macomb counties (Oakland Press)
The FBI and several local law enforcement agencies conducted numerous raids targeting heroin dealers in Detroit, hoping to disrupt the flow of narcotics into Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

DTE to raise electric rates by more than $8 per month next week (MLive)
DTE Electric Company will increase its electric rates by an average of $8.22 per month under an order approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission on Friday.

DTE Energy gets OK to raise rates an average of 5.3% (Crains)
DTE Electric Co. has received approval from the Michigan Public Service Commission to raise its overall electric rates by 5.3 percent, or $238.2 million annually, but 36 percent below the $370 million it had requested earlier this year.

Supreme Court

Michigan Supreme Court lets stand Grand Rapids law easing prosecution of marijuana cases (AP)
A Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana an offense similar to a traffic ticket has survived a challenge in the Michigan Supreme Court after the justices declined to take an appeal from a prosecutor.

Gr. Rapids pot laws stands after high court takes a pass (Detroit Free Press)
The Michigan Supreme Court won't intervene in a dispute over a Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana a civil offense similar to a traffic ticket.

Michigan Supreme Court allows Grand Rapids marijuana law to stand (WMUK)
The Michigan Supreme Court has let stand an amendment to the Grand Rapids city charter that decriminalizes marijuana.

Supreme Court won't intervene in Grand Rapids marijuana dispute (AP)
The Michigan Supreme Court won't intervene in a dispute over a Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana a civil offense similar to a traffic ticket.
In an order released Saturday, the court declined to take an appeal from the Kent County prosecutor.

Grand Rapids pot law will stand after court declines case (Holland Sentinel)
A Grand Rapids law that makes possession of small amounts of marijuana an offense similar to a traffic ticket has survived a challenge in the Michigan Supreme Court after the justices declined to take an appeal from a prosecutor.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan lawmakers seek assurances surgical conditions safe at VA hospital in Ann Arbor (AP)
Two members of Michigan's congressional delegation have sought assurances from a Veterans Affairs hospital director that surgeries are being conducted safely.

Lawmakers remove property tax break from data center bills (AP)
Michigan lawmakers plan to scale back tax break legislation designed to land a mega-Internet data center in the state. The House's Tax Policy Committee chairman said Thursday the chamber will not pass a Senate-approved bill that would fully exempt data centers from Michigan's personal property tax owed on business equipment.

Michigan Senate Approves Bill That Will Help Local School Districts (News 9 and 10)
The Michigan senate approved a bill that could help the statewide shortage of substitute teachers. It allows teachers who've retired after mid-2010 to teach as substitute teachers without losing their pension.

Senate OKs bill to codify super PACS in Michigan law; committees can spend unlimited funds (AP)
A split state Senate voted Wednesday to codify into Michigan law unfettered political spending by independent committees that is legal under the U.S. Supreme Court's Citizens United decision and other federal rulings.

State of Michigan explores EAA changes (WDIV)
The state of Michigan is putting out requests for proposals to find a company or companies to take over Education Achievement Authority (EAA) schools. According to two state representatives, 31 schools are involved under this proposal.

DETROIT

Administrator appointed to Detroit Federation of Teachers (AP)
An administrator has been appointed to the Detroit Federation of Teachers. American Federation of Teachers President Randi Weingarten announced Thursday that Ann Mitchell will begin her new position in Detroit on Tuesday. Weingarten said the administrator position is meant to create a sense of stability and to help the union strengthen its voice.

Metro Detroit casino workers OK contracts (The Detroit News)
Workers at Detroit's casinos Sunday ratified labor contracts that include a $4,250 signing bonus and hourly wage increases of 2 percent and 3 percent in the fourth and fifth years, respectively, according an announcement on the union's website.

Detroit-Wayne mental health board suspends CEO's decision to terminate contract with Integrated Care Alliance (Crain's Business Detroit)
The board of Detroit-Wayne Mental Health Authority voted 7-5 today to temporarily suspend a decision earlier this month by CEO Tom Watkins to terminate a contract with Integrated Care Alliance, a Detroit-based developmental disability services provider.

Exclusive Detroit poll: 69% say city headed in right direction (Detroit Free Press)
A year after Detroit exited the nation's largest bankruptcy, a solid majority of residents polled - 69% - say city is heading in the right direction. In a wide-ranging poll of opinions commissioned by the Free Press, Detroit residents gave high marks to Mayor Mike Duggan and an even higher approval rating to Police Chief James Craig a year after a federal judge approved the city's exit plan.

OPINION

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder Donald Trump does not speak for me (Detroit Free Press)
Just as terrorists who betray cherished values in the name of Islam do not speak for the 1.6 billion Muslims in the world, Donald Trump does not speak for me, the state of Michigan, nor the entire Republican Party.

Attitude changing for the better in Detroit (Detroit Free Press)
Things are changing in Detroit. And we're not talking about more streetlights or the pace of blight demolition.

New bills boost legislator's attack on democracy (Detroit Free Press)
It's beginning to look a lot like open season on our democracy.

Editorial: Slow down on tax hike (Detroit News)
Lawmakers are rushing to extend a bill that levies a tax on Michigan businesses that promises to grow exponentially over the next few years. There is no need for such haste.

Warren: Any data-center tax breaks need accountability (Detroit News)
A Nevada-based multibillion-dollar company wants to take over the Steelcase pyramid in Grand Rapids and develop a data center. The company, Switch, promises 1,000 well-paying jobs over the course of its development, as well as a $5 billion investment in our state.

GOP debate a chance to address American workers (Detroit News)
Nearing the Iowa caucuses, Democratic presidential candidates are setting their sights on labor policy. Frontrunner Hillary Clinton routinely rails against income inequality, vowing "to strengthen workers' voices" and protect them from "exploitation." Sen. Bernie Sanders recently introduced a labor-backed bill "(making) it easier for workers to join unions."

Finley: Big GOP bucks won't go to Trump (Detroit News)
It's the second Sunday in December and Donald Trump hasn't gone away. The Republican money is starting to plan what it will do if he never does.

Editorial: Limit militarization of police (Detroit News)
The image has become all too familiar: military-grade tanks driving through American neighborhoods as they respond to emergency situations.

In Courser-Gamrat matter, will we ever know who knew what and when? (MLive)
The Cindy Gamrat and Todd Courser saga is the story that keeps on giving.

Whistleblowers shine light on lack of transparency and accountability in Lansing (MLive)
Nowhere is transparency more important than in government, where elected decision-makers must be held to the highest standard of accountability. Unfortunately, that standard has gone missing from the halls of Michigan's Capitol. The lack of accountability among the Republicans who control our state government is so severe, that it's taken the courageous actions of two whistleblowing staff members to bring the truth to light.

As Legislature considers medical marijuana proposals, facts must overcome fiction, myths (MLive)
The Michigan Legislature is poised to provide much-needed clarity to our state's medical marijuana law. By approving a framework of strong regulations that hold people accountable, policymakers can end seven years of confusion that has harmed patients, local communities and responsible businesses eager to follow the rules.

Editorial: Schools are no place for open carry (Battle Creek Enquirer)
It's one thing to have a principled debate over the regulation of firearms in public spaces; it's another entirely to put everybody's children in the middle of it simply to make a point.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Thursday, December 17, 2015 9:36 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/17 Newsroom
Attachments: 151217 Newsroom.docx

Thursday, December 17, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Bill signings
Snyder signs law letting school retirees return with pension (AP)
Certain retired teachers can return to work in critical shortage subjects without sacrificing their pension and health care benefits under a law signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law enacted Wednesday is designed to address shortages of full-time teachers in some subjects and substitute teachers.

Snyder OKs immunity for reporting prescription drug overdose (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed a law letting people under age 21 report a prescription drug overdose without having to worry about facing criminal charges. The "Good Samaritan" exemption is similar to a Michigan law already on the books for minors who help someone in danger from alcohol intoxication.

Gov. Snyder analyzes old laws that don't apply to the 21st Century (WLNS)
Go ahead and trample a blackberry bush or accept a challenge to a duel. Believe it or not, those laws were still on the books 24 hours ago but not anymore.

New law exempts young adults if they report drug abuse (Detroit News)
People under 21 who call for help during life-threatening emergencies as the result of abusing prescription drugs will be exempt from drug-related charges under a bill signed into law Wednesday. Good Samaritan criminal law provisions are among the recommendations in an October 27 report issued by a state task force headed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. The report is part of a state-led battle against a growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely-used drugs called opioids.

Student takes 'selfie' with Gov. Snyder after bill signing (WZZM)
Gov. Rick Snyder doesn't usually take "selfies," but Evan Dean managed to get one following a bill signing ceremony Wednesday morning at the Romney Building in Lansing.

Good Samaritan Act Signed By Governor (WSJM)
State Representative Al Pscholka's Good Samaritan legislation has now been signed by Governor Rick Snyder. The law will now allow for exemptions from prosecution to minors who report someone having a medical emergency due to the abuse of a prescription medication. It was inspired by the overdose death of 16 year old Mason Mizwicki, of Watervliet, last year. His mother, Lori, says it's important now to spread the message to teens.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs Blue Alert legislation (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed into law Public Act 167 of 2015, which is legislation aimed to protect the public and law enforcement after an attack on an officer. The legislation, sponsored by State Sen. Tonya Schuitmaker, R-26th District, will create the Blue Alert system in Michigan.

Retired teachers can return to classroom in some areas (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed legislation that will give retired teachers more flexibility to return to the classroom without risking their retirement benefits or health care.

W. Mich. mother who inspired 'good Samaritan' law speaks out on its passage (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder has signed a so-called "Good Samaritan" law, designed to give teens life-saving help. The new law exempts people under the age of 21 from being prosecuted for illegally using prescription drugs if a medical emergency is reported.

Interviews
Snyder: More Work to Be Done on Refugees (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder says more work needs to be done, but there is now a timeline to plan for re-settling refugees from the Middle East in Michigan.

Governor Snyder Says Talks Are Productive on Refugees (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder says he's had productive talks with U.S. Secretary of Homeland Security Jeh Johnson about welcoming refugees from Syria and the Middle East.

Snyder: Data center tax breaks different from type he hates (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday tried to distinguish between tax incentives that the Legislature approved for a tech company to expand into Michigan and another type he has long railed against, contending in part that the legislation would help an industry instead of just one business.

Gov. Snyder chats with Michael Patrick Shiels about 2015 accomplishments (Michigan's Big Show)

Gov. Snyder chats with Jay Morris about 2015 accomplishments (WKZO)

DEPARTMENTS

DNR
Parjana, Lawrence Tech collaborate on drainage project (Crain's Detroit Business)
Parjana Distribution LLC in Detroit and Lawrence Technological University are breaking ground Thursday on an innovative drainage system to reduce dirty stormwater runoff at a parking lot at the university's campus in Southfield. The immediate goal of the project is to reduce the amount of water pollution from parking lot D in front of the new Taubman Complex that flows from a drainage system into the Evans Creek drain, the Rouge River and ultimately into the Detroit River.

Delhi, Charlotte targeted for parks improvement grants (Lansing State Journal)
Parks in Charlotte and Delhi Township are among 12 in Michigan in line to benefit from more than $1.2 million in state Land and Water Conservation Fund grants. Delhi has been recommended for a $100,000 grant to improve the restroom facility at Kiwanis Park. The $75,000 tentatively going to Charlotte will help fund development of recreation facilities in that community.

DNR awards more than $1.3 million in Recreation Passport grants (Upper Michigan Source)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources today announced that 33 communities across the state will share $1,348,700 in Recreation Passport grants. Funding for this program is derived from sales of the Recreation Passport, the $11 annual pass that grants residents vehicle entry at state parks and recreation areas throughout Michigan.

MPSC
Cities successfully challenge DTE Energy over LED streetlight costs (Michigan Radio)
A group of cities has successfully challenged DTE Energy's plan to charge it more for LED streetlights. A coalition of cities took its case against DTE's proposed rate change to the Michigan Public Service Commission.

MSHDA
Congress set to give Detroit demolitions a huge boost (Detroit Free Press)
A massive federal spending bill expected to be passed this week includes a provision allowing the U.S. Treasury to transfer billions of dollars into a fund which has already sent or promised $130 million to Detroit to tear down thousands of blighted buildings and is expected to provide at least tens of millions more.

MCSC
New contracts approved: State employees to get 1% raise, 1.5% lump sum payment (MLive)
State employees will get a 1 percent raise and a 1.5 percent lump sum payment under new contracts approved by the Michigan Civil Service Commission on Wednesday. The 1 percent raise goes into effect with the state's next fiscal year starting Oct. 1, 2016.

Michigan Civil Service Commission Approves Contracts With Five Unions (9&10 News)
The union contracts of more than 33,000 state workers have been approved by the state Civil Service Commission. The contracts include a 1 percent pay increase, a 1.5 percent lump-sum payment this fall and flat health care costs and benefits.

MVAA
New Chief at Grand Rapids Vets Home Appointed (WHTC)
The Grand Rapids Home for Veterans has a new Chief Operating Officer. Starting next Monday, Scott Blakeney takes over the helm of that facility's operations, working closely with state Veteran Health System CEO Leslie Shanlian and Jacobetti Home for Veterans COO Brad Slagle "to ensure both state veterans' homes continue to offer modern, quality care for residents," says state Veterans Affairs Agency Director Jeff Barnes.

DEQ
Michigan In State Of Emergency After Contaminated Water Causes High Levels Of Lead In Kids (Medical Daily)
The city of Flint, Mich., made the decision to break away from Detroit's water system last year, and the city's residents have been struggling to find clean drinking water ever since. Mayor Karen Weaver declared a State of Emergency on Monday over the dangerously high levels of lead in the city's drinking water supply.

Flint's Water Crisis Just Became A Double Emergency (Huffington Post)
JeCorey Hawkins had a scary moment with the water in Flint, Michigan, in September. The 22-year-old psychology student had stopped at a drinking fountain at his university when the water took on a grainy texture in his mouth. "I was very creeped out because I didn't know if I would be sick," Hawkins told The Huffington Post on Tuesday.

Great Lakes program would get $300M under compromise (Detroit Free Press)
A wide-ranging Great Lakes cleanup program would escape President Barack Obama's proposal to cut its funding under a compromise federal spending plan, members of Congress said Wednesday. Obama established the Great Lakes Restoration Initiative in 2009 to make progress on some of the freshwater seas' biggest environmental problems, including invasive species, industrial pollution, loss of wildlife habitat and nutrient runoff that causes harmful algae blooms.

DHHS

Chicken Pox Vaccine Debate: Amid Michigan Outbreaks, State Officials Beg Parents To Keep Children Healthy (International Business Times)

Amid a national debate on vaccines for children, Michigan health officials implored parents this week to keep children's vaccinations up to date following recent chickenpox outbreaks. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services said Tuesday that outbreaks have been reported in multiple counties involving mainly unvaccinated children in school settings.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan Senate GOP plans to pass straight-ticket voting ban, ditch absentee voting bill (Mlive)

Michigan will ban straight-ticket voting without expanding absentee ballot options -- if Senate Republicans have their way. Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof, R-West Olive, said the upper chamber will move Wednesday to separate elections bills linked and approved last week by the House.

LMC gets big boost (The Herald Palladium)

The Michigan Senate on Tuesday passed legislation proposed by Rep. Al Pscholka that will bring a $17 million dollar renovation project to Lake Michigan College in Benton Township. Since 2006, Lake Michigan College has pushed for the funding to restore and upgrade the 307,997-square-foot Napier Avenue Campus Academic Facility, a 45-year-old building.

Legislature approves tax breaks for data center campus (Grand Rapids Business Journal)

Both the Michigan House and Senate had a late Tuesday night as they approved tax-exemption bills that were deemed necessary to bring a major data center campus to the Grand Rapids area. The two bills, exempting data centers from use and sales tax, are on their way to Gov. Rick Snyder to be signed. The House approved the amended bills, 61-45, and then the Senate approved those versions, 26-12, after initially passing them last week.

Senate passes bill allowing termination of rapist's parental rights (Michigan Radio)

A new law would protect rape victims from a custody battle with their rapists when a child is conceived. The Michigan Senate unanimously passed legislation this week that would allow courts to terminate a rapist's parental rights to a child conceived by the rape of the mother.

Michigan Senate votes to end straight-ticket voting option (AP)

The Republican-led Senate late Wednesday voted to eliminate the straight-party voting option from Michigan ballots after uncoupling the legislation from a House measure that would let voters cast an absentee ballot without having to meet specific criteria. The straight-ticket bill was sent back across the Capitol on a 24-13 vote, more than a month after the Senate passed an earlier version. The House, also controlled by Republicans, may vote later Wednesday to send the legislation to Gov. Rick Snyder.

Michigan Senate bills pit cherries against blueberries (WZZM 13)

It's a debate that's pitted cherry growers against Blueberry farmers. And now it's playing out in the state Senate. Ann Arbor Democrat Rebekah Warren introduced a bill Wednesday designating the cherry as Michigan's official fruit. But what about the blueberry? Michigan is, after all, the nation's top producer of highbush blueberries, harvesting more than 100 million pounds of blueberries a year.

DETROIT

Detroit honored in UNESCO's Creative Cities Network (Detroit Free Press)

In recognition of its innovative work in design, Detroit has been named a part of UNESCO's Creative Cities Network, along with dozens of new member cities from 33 countries. The international agency announced that Detroit and the other cities were "committed to investing in creativity as a driver for sustainable urban development, social inclusion and cultural vibrancy." The network is immensely geographically diverse, and includes cities like Austin, Barcelona, Rome, Singapore and Kinshasa in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

OPINION

For Detroit students, don't go back to status quo (Detroit Free Press)
When it comes to reforming education for students stuck in under-performing and failing schools, it's far past time to set aside our ideological differences and put our collective focus on the kids in the classroom.

When did state know kids in Flint were lead poisoned? (Detroit Free Press)
When did the State of Michigan first learn that kids in Flint had been poisoned by lead in the city's drinking water?

Reading bill focuses on advancing students to proficiency (MLive)
House Bill 4822, which I sponsored and which passed the House in October, was the subject of a recent op-ed. The writer, psychologist Michael Ryan, is a longtime advocate for children and I commend him for his passion and contributions to improving literacy. However, a number of mischaracterizations and omissions warrant a response.

Young voters—where are they now? Not very close to the polling place (MLive)
Seniors vote. Young adults not so much.

Senate absentee-voting bill takes away more than it gives (MLive)
While much of the rest of the country has brought voting into the 21st century, Michigan has kept its badly outdated election laws. It is one of a minority of states that offers a limited number of options for hard-working Americans to register to vote and cast a ballot before Election Day. A Michigan voter cannot vote before Election Day without a valid excuse, must register nearly a month before the election without exception and cannot register online as voters in more than half the country now can.

Without guidelines for Michigan teacher evaluations, everyone is awesome (MLive)
Just 19 of the nearly 96,000 teachers statewide have met the official threshold for being terminated due to poor evaluations since the passage of teacher tenure reforms four years ago, state data show.

Durant: Give Michigan schools more freedom to innovate (Detroit News)
We have a public school crisis in Detroit and in Michigan. It is about outcomes, money and the need for new schools.

Editorial: Deal to cap GM should be public (Detroit News)
General Motors Co. will invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030, part of a new deal the company reached with the state to reconfigure and cap the automakers' tax credits under a program that gives companies credits for keeping jobs and other investments in the state.

Letter: Time, dollars needed for juvenile justice (Detroit News)
Re: The Detroit News' Dec. 7 editorial, "Raise juvenile age in Michigan": I agree that Michigan's juvenile justice system is in disrepair. But the solution the News is pushing, and which is under consideration in Lansing, misses the mark.

When it comes to talent, Michigan needs more of everything (Bridge)
When it comes to building a brighter future for Michigan, no factor is more important than providing our state's residents the education and training they need to be successful. Children and adults become poised for success when they have the knowledge and skills they need to grow, thrive and contribute to Michigan's overall prosperity.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Thursday, December 17, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Bill signings

Snyder signs law letting school retirees return with pension (AP)
Certain retired teachers can return to work in critical shortage subjects without sacrificing their pension and health care benefits under a law signed by Gov. Rick Snyder. The law enacted Wednesday is designed to address shortages of full-time teachers in some subjects and substitute teachers.

Snyder OKs immunity for reporting prescription drug overdose (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed a law letting people under age 21 report a prescription drug overdose without having to worry about facing criminal charges. The "Good Samaritan" exemption is similar to a Michigan law already on the books for minors who help someone in danger from alcohol intoxication.

Gov. Snyder analyzes old laws that don't apply to the 21st Century (WLNS)
Go ahead and trample a blackberry bush or accept a challenge to a duel. Believe it or not, those laws were still on the books 24 hours ago but not anymore.

New law exempts young adults if they report drug abuse (Detroit News)
People under 21 who call for help during life-threatening emergencies as the result of abusing prescription drugs will be exempt from drug-related charges under a bill signed into law Wednesday. Good Samaritan criminal law provisions are among the recommendations in an October 27 report issued by a state task force headed by Lt. Gov. Brian Calley. The report is part of a state-led battle against a growing number of addictions and deaths in Michigan linked to widely-used drugs called opioids.

Student takes 'selfie' with Gov. Snyder after bill signing (WZZM)
Gov. Rick Snyder doesn't usually take "selfies," but Evan Dean managed to get one following a bill signing ceremony Wednesday morning at the Romney Building in Lansing.

Good Samaritan Act Signed By Governor (WSJM)
State Representative Al Pscholka's Good Samaritan legislation has now been signed by Governor Rick Snyder. The law will now allow for exemptions from prosecution to minors who report someone having a medical emergency due to the abuse of a prescription medication. It was inspired by the overdose death of 16 year old Mason Mizwicki, of Watervliet, last year. His mother, Lori, says it's important now to spread the message to teens.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs Blue Alert legislation (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed into law Public Act 167 of 2015, which is legislation aimed to protect the public and law enforcement after an attack on an officer. The legislation, sponsored by State Sen. Tonya Schuitmaker, R-26th District, will create the Blue Alert system in Michigan.

Retired teachers can return to classroom in some areas (Freep)
Gov. Rick Snyder has signed legislation that will give retired teachers more flexibility to return to the classroom without risking their retirement benefits or health care.

W. Mich. mother who inspired 'good Samaritan' law speaks out on its passage (WWMT)
Governor Rick Snyder has signed a so-called "Good Samaritan" law, designed to give teens life-saving help. The new law exempts people under the age of 21 from being prosecuted for illegally using prescription drugs if a medical emergency is reported.

Interviews
Snyder: More Work to Be Done on Refugees (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder says more work needs to be done, but there is now a timeline to plan for re-settling refugees from the Middle East in Michigan.

Governor Snyder Says Talks Are Productive on Refugees (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder says he's had productive talks with U.S. Secretary of Homeland Security Jeh Johnson about welcoming refugees from Syria and the Middle East.

Snyder: Data center tax breaks different from type he hates (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday tried to distinguish between tax incentives that the Legislature approved for a tech company to expand into Michigan and another type he has long railed against, contending in part that the legislation would help an industry instead of just one business.

Gov. Snyder chats with Michael Patrick Shiels about 2015 accomplishments (Michigan's Big Show)

Gov. Snyder chats with Jay Morris about 2015 accomplishments (WKZO)

DEPARTMENTS

DNR
Parjana, Lawrence Tech collaborate on drainage project (Crain's Detroit Business)
Parjana Distribution LLC in Detroit and Lawrence Technological University are breaking ground Thursday on an innovative drainage system to reduce dirty stormwater runoff at a parking lot at the university's campus in Southfield. The immediate goal of the project is to reduce the amount of water pollution from parking lot D in front of the new Taubman Complex that flows from a drainage system into the Evans Creek drain, the Rouge River and ultimately into the Detroit River.

Delhi, Charlotte targeted for parks improvement grants (Lansing State Journal)
Parks in Charlotte and Delhi Township are among 12 in Michigan in line to benefit from more than $1.2 million in state Land and Water Conservation Fund grants. Delhi has been recommended for a $100,000 grant to improve the restroom facility at Kiwanis Park. The $75,000 tentatively going to Charlotte will help fund development of recreation facilities in that community.

DNR awards more than $1.3 million in Recreation Passport grants (Upper Michigan Source)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources today announced that 33 communities across the state will share $1,348,700 in Recreation Passport grants. Funding for this program is derived from sales of the Recreation Passport, the $11 annual pass that grants residents vehicle entry at state parks and recreation areas throughout Michigan.

MPSC
Cities successfully challenge DTE Energy over LED streetlight costs (Michigan Radio)

A group of cities has successfully challenged DTE Energy's plan to charge it more for LED streetlights. A coalition of cities took its case against DTE's proposed rate change to the Michigan Public Service Commission.

MSHDA

Congress set to give Detroit demolitions a huge boost (Detroit Free Press)

A massive federal spending bill expected to be passed this week includes a provision allowing the U.S. Treasury to transfer billions of dollars into a fund which has already sent or promised $130 million to Detroit to tear down thousands of blighted buildings and is expected to provide at least tens of millions more.

MCSC

New contracts approved: State employees to get 1% raise, 1.5% lump sum payment (MLive)

State employees will get a 1 percent raise and a 1.5 percent lump sum payment under new contracts approved by the Michigan Civil Service Commission on Wednesday. The 1 percent raise goes into effect with the state's next fiscal year starting Oct. 1, 2016.

Michigan Civil Service Commission Approves Contracts With Five Unions (9&10 News)

The union contracts of more than 33,000 state workers have been approved by the state Civil Service Commission. The contracts include a 1 percent pay increase, a 1.5 percent lump-sum payment this fall and flat health care costs and benefits.

MVAA

New Chief at Grand Rapids Vets Home Appointed (WHTC)

The Grand Rapids Home for Veterans has a new Chief Operating Officer. Starting next Monday, Scott Blakeney takes over the helm of that facility's operations, working closely with state Veteran Health System CEO Leslie Shanlian and Jacobetti Home for Veterans COO Brad Slagle "to ensure both state veterans' homes continue to offer modern, quality care for residents," says state Veterans Affairs Agency Director Jeff Barnes.

DEQ

Michigan In State Of Emergency After Contaminated Water Causes High Levels Of Lead In Kids (Medical Daily)

The city of Flint, Mich., made the decision to break away from Detroit's water system last year, and the city's residents have been struggling to find clean drinking water ever since. Mayor Karen Weaver declared a State of Emergency on Monday over the dangerously high levels of lead in the city's drinking water supply.

Flint's Water Crisis Just Became A Double Emergency (Huffington Post)

JeCorey Hawkins had a scary moment with the water in Flint, Michigan, in September. The 22-year-old psychology student had stopped at a drinking fountain at his university when the water took on a grainy texture in his mouth. "I was very creeped out because I didn't know if I would be sick," Hawkins told The Huffington Post on Tuesday.

Great Lakes program would get $300M under compromise (Detroit Free Press)

A wide-ranging Great Lakes cleanup program would escape President Barack Obama's proposal to cut its funding under a compromise federal spending plan, members of Congress said Wednesday. Obama established the Great Lakes Restoration Initiative in 2009 to make progress on some of the freshwater seas' biggest environmental problems, including invasive species, industrial pollution, loss of wildlife habitat and nutrient runoff that causes harmful algae blooms.

DHHS

Chicken Pox Vaccine Debate: Amid Michigan Outbreaks, State Officials Beg Parents To Keep Children Healthy (International Business Times)

Amid a national debate on vaccines for children, Michigan health officials implored parents this week to keep children's vaccinations up to date following recent chickenpox outbreaks. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services said Tuesday that outbreaks have been reported in multiple counties involving mainly unvaccinated children in school settings.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan Senate GOP plans to pass straight-ticket voting ban, ditch absentee voting bill (Mlive)

Michigan will ban straight-ticket voting without expanding absentee ballot options -- if Senate Republicans have their way. Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof, R-West Olive, said the upper chamber will move Wednesday to separate elections bills linked and approved last week by the House.

LMC gets big boost (The Herald Palladium)

The Michigan Senate on Tuesday passed legislation proposed by Rep. Al Pscholka that will bring a $17 million dollar renovation project to Lake Michigan College in Benton Township. Since 2006, Lake Michigan College has pushed for the funding to restore and upgrade the 307,997-square-foot Napier Avenue Campus Academic Facility, a 45-year-old building.

Legislature approves tax breaks for data center campus (Grand Rapids Business Journal)

Both the Michigan House and Senate had a late Tuesday night as they approved tax-exemption bills that were deemed necessary to bring a major data center campus to the Grand Rapids area. The two bills, exempting data centers from use and sales tax, are on their way to Gov. Rick Snyder to be signed. The House approved the amended bills, 61-45, and then the Senate approved those versions, 26-12, after initially passing them last week.

Senate passes bill allowing termination of rapist's parental rights (Michigan Radio)

A new law would protect rape victims from a custody battle with their rapists when a child is conceived. The Michigan Senate unanimously passed legislation this week that would allow courts to terminate a rapist's parental rights to a child conceived by the rape of the mother.

Michigan Senate votes to end straight-ticket voting option (AP)

The Republican-led Senate late Wednesday voted to eliminate the straight-party voting option from Michigan ballots after uncoupling the legislation from a House measure that would let voters cast an absentee ballot without having to meet specific criteria. The straight-ticket bill was sent back across the Capitol on a 24-13 vote, more than a month after the Senate passed an earlier version. The House, also controlled by Republicans, may vote later Wednesday to send the legislation to Gov. Rick Snyder.

Michigan Senate bills pit cherries against blueberries (WZZM 13)

It's a debate that's pitted cherry growers against Blueberry farmers. And now it's playing out in the state Senate. Ann Arbor Democrat Rebekah Warren introduced a bill Wednesday designating the cherry as Michigan's official fruit. But what about the blueberry? Michigan is, after all, the nation's top producer of highbush blueberries, harvesting more than 100 million pounds of blueberries a year.

DETROIT

Detroit honored in UNESCO's Creative Cities Network (Detroit Free Press)

In recognition of its innovative work in design, Detroit has been named a part of UNESCO's Creative Cities Network, along with dozens of new member cities from 33 countries. The international agency announced that Detroit and the other cities were "committed to investing in creativity as a driver for sustainable urban development, social inclusion and cultural vibrancy." The network is immensely geographically diverse, and includes cities like Austin, Barcelona, Rome, Singapore and Kinshasa in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

OPINION

For Detroit students, don't go back to status quo (Detroit Free Press)
When it comes to reforming education for students stuck in under-performing and failing schools, it's far past time to set aside our ideological differences and put our collective focus on the kids in the classroom.

When did state know kids in Flint were lead poisoned? (Detroit Free Press)
When did the State of Michigan first learn that kids in Flint had been poisoned by lead in the city's drinking water?

Reading bill focuses on advancing students to proficiency (MLive)
House Bill 4822, which I sponsored and which passed the House in October, was the subject of a recent op-ed. The writer, psychologist Michael Ryan, is a longtime advocate for children and I commend him for his passion and contributions to improving literacy. However, a number of mischaracterizations and omissions warrant a response.

Young voters—where are they now? Not very close to the polling place (MLive)
Seniors vote. Young adults not so much.

Senate absentee-voting bill takes away more than it gives (MLive)
While much of the rest of the country has brought voting into the 21st century, Michigan has kept its badly outdated election laws. It is one of a minority of states that offers a limited number of options for hard-working Americans to register to vote and cast a ballot before Election Day. A Michigan voter cannot vote before Election Day without a valid excuse, must register nearly a month before the election without exception and cannot register online as voters in more than half the country now can.

Without guidelines for Michigan teacher evaluations, everyone is awesome (MLive)
Just 19 of the nearly 96,000 teachers statewide have met the official threshold for being terminated due to poor evaluations since the passage of teacher tenure reforms four years ago, state data show.

Durant: Give Michigan schools more freedom to innovate (Detroit News)
We have a public school crisis in Detroit and in Michigan. It is about outcomes, money and the need for new schools.

Editorial: Deal to cap GM should be public (Detroit News)
General Motors Co. will invest $1 billion in Michigan by 2030, part of a new deal the company reached with the state to reconfigure and cap the automakers' tax credits under a program that gives companies credits for keeping jobs and other investments in the state.

Letter: Time, dollars needed for juvenile justice (Detroit News)
Re: The Detroit News' Dec. 7 editorial, "Raise juvenile age in Michigan": I agree that Michigan's juvenile justice system is in disrepair. But the solution the News is pushing, and which is under consideration in Lansing, misses the mark.

When it comes to talent, Michigan needs more of everything (Bridge)

When it comes to building a brighter future for Michigan, no factor is more important than providing our state's residents the education and training they need to be successful. Children and adults become poised for success when they have the knowledge and skills they need to grow, thrive and contribute to Michigan's overall prosperity.

#####

From: GOV Newsroom
Sent: Friday, December 18, 2015 11:00 AM
To: GOV Newsroom
Subject: 12/18 Newsroom
Attachments: 151218 Newsroom.docx

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICH
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, December 18, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews

WATCH NOW: Evening with the Governor 2015 (WKAR)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder discusses the challenging past year in office. It's a rare opportunity in a relaxed format to discuss his fifth year in office with Off The Record anchor Tim Skubick. They are later joined by Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder.

Governor Snyder Reflects On Year Of Change As 2015 Comes To End (9&10 News)
Michigan's governor is reflecting on a year of change as 2015 comes to an end. Northern Michigan's News Leader sat down with Governor Rick Snyder Thursday. Turns out he has a lot to say about the year. Gov. Snyder says he's most proud of the number of jobs created across the board and about the future of Michigan's roads.

Snyder Scales Back Proposed Overhaul of Detroit Schools (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder says he's slowing down his plans to fix Detroit's schools in order to the process moving. In the face of resistance from Republicans and Democrats in the Legislature, the governor says he wants to break up the work, focusing first on retiring the district's massive debt.

Governor Rick Snyder: "We need to be louder and prouder..." (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder is beaming with pride about Michigan these days. As 2015 comes to a close, he's proud of many accomplishments including a road funding plan, lower unemployment rate and a resurgence of life in Detroit.

Bankruptcy could be option for ailing DPS (Detroit News)
Each month the Legislature fails to act on Gov. Rick Snyder's proposals for fixing Detroit Public Schools brings the district a step nearer to a Chapter 9 bankruptcy filing, which now even the governor is calling an option.

When did state know kids in Flint were lead poisoned? (Freep)
When did the State of Michigan first learn that kids in Flint had been poisoned by lead in the city's drinking water? This is one of the most critical questions to answer in the aftermath of a public health crisis that's still unfolding in one of the state's largest cities. And it shouldn't be a hard question to answer. But when I asked Gov. Rick Snyder this week, he said he couldn't recall.

Governor Snyder talks about the successes and failures of 2015 in Michigan (WWMT)
From finding a way to fund our crumbling roads, to boosting business and bringing jobs to the state, it's been a big year for Michigan. Newschannel 3's Andy Dominianni sat down one-on-one with Governor Rick Snyder on Thursday to talk about the big successes and failures of the year, along with projects that impact West Michigan.

Gov. Snyder on Michigan: "The forecast for our future is good" (WLNS)
Job creation, a completed road funding plan, and a balanced budget. Those are just some of the self-proclaimed accomplishments of 2015 under the leadership of Governor Rick Snyder.

Governor sits down in a one-on-one interview with TV5, answers tough questions (WNEM)
Governor Rick Snyder talked about some of his highlights of the year in his sit-down interview with TV5. He said he is proud the unemployment numbers are down to the lowest they've been in a while and legislature passed a package of bills to fund our roads. But this year, there have certainly been some low-lights. Governor Snyder said the Flint water crisis is one of those low-points.

Governor Snyder on Flint Water Crisis and Detroit Public Schools (DPTV)
Governor Rick Snyder joined host Christy McDonald and contributor Nolan Finley to discuss the stalled plan for Detroit Public Schools, the Flint water crisis, his priorities for next year, and more

Flint water
Gov. Snyder names state point-man for Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)
One man will lead the state's efforts to deal with Flint's water crisis. Harvey Hollins is the director of the Office of Urban Initiatives. Gov. Snyder has appointed Hollins to oversee the state agencies responding to Flint's water crisis.

Governor Snyder names Flint water coordinator after concerns raised (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has named a point person to coordinate the state's response to the Flint water crisis after members of an independent task force that he created raised concerns.

Harvey Hollins tapped to lead Flint water effort (Freep)
Harvey Hollins, a former vice president of Wayne State University, has been tapped by Gov. Rick Snyder to coordinate the state's response to the Flint water crisis. Snyder named Hollins this week after a task force recommended a single person or entity to lead the follow-up needed after lead was found in Flint's drinking water system.

Governor's task force on Flint water crisis releases early recommendations (Mlive)
Current actions to protect the public from lead in water appear to be taking place without a system to measure results and delineate responsibilities, according to a task force charged with reviewing Flint's lead-in-water crisis. In a letter to Gov. Rick Snyder, who appointed the Flint Water Advisory Task Force in October, the group acknowledged steps, including distribution of free water filters, that have been taken to carry out the governor's plan to address lead levels in the city's drinking water.

Snyder taps two advisers to help on Flint water crisis (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder has tapped two of his advisers to coordinate the state's health, environmental and public relations response to Flint's water crisis. Snyder has appointed Harvey Hollins, director of the governor's Office of Urban Initiatives, to be the point person between state agencies and Flint as they work to address elevated levels of lead in the city's water system.

Healthy MI waiver
Michigan secures waiver to continue Medicaid expansion (AP)
Michigan secured a federal waiver Thursday that it needed to ensure that 600,000 low-income adults continue qualifying for Medicaid coverage beyond April.

Michigan wins crucial federal waiver to continue expanded Medicaid coverage program (Mlive)
The Obama administration has approved a key waiver that will allow Michigan to continue its unique program for expanded Medicaid coverage under the Affordable Care Act, Gov. Rick Snyder announced Thursday. Nearly 600,000 residents have signed up for Healthy Michigan since early 2014, but without a federal waiver by the end of the year, state law would have required the program to end by the spring.

Feds approve Medicaid waiver for Michigan (Detroit News)
More than a half million Michigan residents will get to keep their expanded Medicaid health insurance next year and beyond after the federal government Thursday approved the final waiver required under state law.

Federal government approves waiver for Healthy Michigan (Freep)
The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services has given Michigan a waiver for its Healthy Michigan plan, allowing nearly 600,000 low-income residents to continue with health care coverage.

Bill signings
Gov. Snyder signs bill making allergy pens more accessible for emergencies (UP Matters/TV 3)
Epi-Pens and other auto-injectibles of epinephrine will be available in more public places to address severe allergic reactions, under legislation signed Thursday by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs allergy pen accessibility, liquid industrial byproduct bills (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed legislation that will make EpiPens and other auto-injectables of epinephrine available in more public places to address severe allergic reactions. House Bill 4438 will allow pharmacists to dispense EpiPens to authorized entities with a prescription, such as recreation camps, youth sports leagues, amusement parks and similar locations/events. The bill was approved unanimously and is now Public Act 221 of 2015.

Governor Snyder Signs Bill Allowing Stadiums, Amusement Parks to Stock EpiPens (WILX))
EpiPens and other injectable forms of Epinephrine will be on hand in more public places. Governor Snyder signed a bill Thursday that would allow stadiums, amusement parks, recreation camps and other similar locations to stock the injectors.

New law aims to make allergy pens more available (WZZM)
Governor Snyder has signed legislation intended to make allergy pens available in more public places. The injection device is used when a person has a severe allergic reaction. The new law allows pharmacists to dispense EpiPens to authorized organizations like sports and summer camps, amusement parks, and other similar locations.

Refugee vetting
Michigan's Middle Eastern Commission backs Snyder's refugee pause (Arab American News)
When Gov. Rick Snyder announced a pause in efforts to bring in new Syrian refugees to Michigan after the terrorist attacks in Paris, major Arab, Muslim, immigration advocacy and civil rights organization criticized him. But days after the governor's decision, the Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs (CMEAA) published a statement in support of the step.

DEPARTMENTS

AG
Skubick: AG Schuette opens up in 2015 review (WLNS)
Michigan's attorney general has ruled out using oil tankers on the Great Lakes to ship oil that now flows underneath the Straits of Mackinac. That's just one of the topics Bill Schuette touched on in his review of 2015.

DEQ
Harvey Hollins tapped to lead Flint water effort (Detroit Free Press)

Harvey Hollins, a former vice president of Wayne State University, has been tapped by Gov. Rick Snyder to coordinate the state's response to the Flint water crisis.

Gov. Snyder names state point-man for Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)
One man will lead the state's efforts to deal with Flint's water crisis. Harvey Hollins is the director of the Office of Urban Initiatives. Gov. Snyder has appointed Hollins to oversee the state agencies responding to Flint's water crisis.

Some state officials still in denial or misinformed over Flint River decision (Michigan Radio)
I don't blame the governor's press secretary for not understanding exactly who made the decision to have Flint pump its drinking water from the Flint River. It was a complicated-decision making process with multiple key players that lasted at least a few months.

CWD scary, but not enough to quit hunting (Port Huron Times Herald)
Brewer is an avid and accomplished hunter who says his family of four lives on wild game. With his two children, ages 9 and 11, along on the hunt, he took what looks like a nice 8-point buck on a friend's ranch on Nov. 1. After dressing the animal, he took it to a state check station and then he took it home.

DNR
DNR awards communities $1.3 million in passport grants (ABC 10)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources today announced that 33 communities across the state will share $1,348,700 in Recreation Passport grants. Funding for this program is derived from sales of the Recreation Passport, the $11 annual pass that grants residents vehicle entry at state parks and recreation areas throughout Michigan.

Kivela bill would help protect U.P. deer herd from CWD (Upper Michigan's)
State Representative John Kivela recently introduced legislation to increase the penalties for illegally bringing a deer carcass into Michigan from another state that is known to have deer with Chronic Wasting Disease.

MDNR honors hunter education instructor of the year (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources recently named Timothy Pifher, of Davidson, its 2015 Hunter Education Volunteer Instructor of the Year.

MDARD
MDARD warns of potential food problem (Alpena News)
Consumers are warned to throw away any of 22 products by Lock Stock & Barrel Ranch of Onaway, according to a food safety advisory from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development. MDARD inspectors conducting a routine food safety inspection discovered a potential problem with the required safety controls in the manufacturing process.

MEDC
Holland-area businesses to invest in employees through state program (Holland Sentinel)
ight businesses in Holland and Zeeland have funds to develop their workforce after receiving grants totalling $385,000 from the Michigan Skilled Trades Training Fund.

Despite politics, strides made in 2015 to break Michigan's status quo (Michigan Radio)
It's that time of year to reflect on what worked and what didn't this past year here in the Great Lakes State, and to give due consideration to potential adjustments to improve our situation.

MDE
Many Detroit area schools lag statewide M-STEP results (Detroit News)
Just half of Michigan third-graders achieved proficiency in English on the state's new M-STEP exam, and newly released data show that more than two-thirds of Metro Detroit districts and charters missed that mark.

Ann Arbor M-STEP results show achievement gap persists (MLive)

New testing data shows the Ann Arbor school district still struggles with an achievement gap between between black and white students and wealthy and poor students.

Michigan releases more detailed breakdown of school tests (AP)
The Michigan Department of Education released a more detailed breakdown of results of the state's new, more rigorous standardized tests, highlighting some of the challenges facing educators in Detroit.

MSP
Michigan State Police raid Dearborn city clerk's office (Press & Guide)
Michigan State Police raided the office of Dearborn City Clerk Kathy Buda on Wednesday morning in connection with an embezzlement investigation.

Michigan State Police: Troopers make warrant, drug arrests (MLive)
Troopers stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation in Springport Township. The driver, identified as a 19-year-old man from Albion, was driving with a suspended license and wanted on a misdemeanor warrant out of Hillsdale County. He posted bond on the misdemeanor warrant and was given a notice to appear for the charge of driving while license suspended.

MPSC
Business group, utilities, clash over rate hikes, electric choice (Capitol Confidential)
A business group is asking the Michigan Court of Appeals to overturn a rate hike it claims would give Consumers Energy the highest profits granted by regulators this year in the U.S. The lawsuit comes while Michigan customers face the highest electricity rates in the region and the state's two largest utilities, Consumers Energy and Detroit Edison, lobby the Legislature to return them to the status of full monopolies.

TREASURY
Adrian's school board approves bond financial paperwork, moves to state (LenConnect)
Adrian Public Schools moved one step closer Wednesday to putting a $29.5 million ballot proposal before voters in May, after the Michigan Department of Treasury approved the district's preliminary bond paperwork.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan Legislature OKs end of straight-party voting (AP)
A sharply divided Legislature late Wednesday voted to eliminate the straight-party voting option from ballots, a step majority Republicans said would bring Michigan in line with 40 other states and Democrats denounced as a partisan maneuver to help the GOP win elections.

Tax breaks for data storage centers passed by House, Senate (Free Press)
Tax breaks for data centers in Michigan cleared the House and Senate Tuesday , but the sales and use tax exemptions still face significant opposition from some in the business community, local governments and the administration of Gov. Rick Snyder.

Mich. lawmakers need to do more for Detroit's public schools (The Blade)
As the clock ticked down the last days of this year's legislative session, majority Republicans mounted a full-court press to give their party more partisan advantage in coming elections.

DETROIT

Many Detroit area schools lag statewide M-STEP results (Detroit News)
Just half of Michigan third-graders achieved proficiency in English on the state's new M-STEP exam, and newly released data show that more than two-thirds of Metro Detroit districts and charters missed that mark.

M-STEP results: Just 1 EAA 4th-grader passed math (Free Press)

Detailed results from Michigan's tough new standardized exam paint a worrisome picture for many schools in Detroit and will likely boost state efforts to fix what many see as a broken educational system in the city.

Snyder Scales Back Proposed Overhaul of Detroit Schools (WDET)
Governor Rick Snyder says he's slowing down his plans to fix Detroit's schools in order to the process moving. In the face of resistance from Republicans and Democrats in the Legislature, the governor says he wants to break up the work, focusing first on retiring the district's massive debt.

Detroit demolitions likely to get big boost from Congress (Free Press)
A massive federal spending bill expected to be passed this week includes a provision allowing the U.S. Treasury to transfer billions of dollars into a fund which has already sent or promised $130 million to Detroit to tear down thousands of blighted buildings and is expected to provide at least tens of millions more.

Detroit-led blight fight may spur demolitions across U.S. (Free Press)
A Michigan-led effort to get $2 billion more put into a federal neighborhood stabilization fund could touch off one of the biggest initiatives to demolish abandoned, derelict buildings in older urban centers ever seen, with cities across the Midwest — Detroit first and foremost among them — standing to benefit.

Paying water bills in Detroit is a test of good will (Detroit News)
Even Good Samaritans have trouble paying water bills in Detroit. It's not because they don't have the money. It's because the city makes it difficult to pay.

OPINION

Don't punish a breed of dogs for actions of bad owners (Detroit Free Press)
When tragic incidents with pit bulls happen, as they have recently, many are quick to blame the breed, without seeing where the true responsibility lies: the dog's owner. We share in the sadness of these tragedies, and it is understandable that, in the immediate aftermath, some try to find a simple solution to ensure similar incidents never happen again. The problem, however, is much broader and complex than one fix-all solution.

Bankruptcy could be option for ailing DPS (Detroit News)
Each month the Legislature fails to act on Gov. Rick Snyder's proposals for fixing Detroit Public Schools brings the district a step nearer to a Chapter 9 bankruptcy filing, which now even the governor is calling an option.

Editorial: Protect access to medical marijuana (Detroit News)
The Senate failed to pass legislation again this year that would legalize non-smokable forms of marijuana under the state's medical pot program. That means nearly 180,000 medical marijuana patients in Michigan remain in limbo, as do their caregivers and suppliers.

Wolfram: Data center bill consistent with tax policy (Detroit News)
The state Senate recently passed bills that deal with exempting data centers from the sales and use taxes as well as the personal property tax. While most of the discussion has been about the effect on economic activity, in particular whether the tax reductions will advance economic activity in Michigan, it is useful to examine the fundamental theory of the sales taxes and whether the property tax exemption is consistent with current policy.

Susan J. Demas: Anti-vaccination bills will harm Michigan children (MLive)
When it comes to keeping kids healthy in Michigan, it seems we always take one step forward and two steps back.

#####

Governor Rick Snyder
REINVENTING MICHIGAN
Getting It Right. Getting It Done.

In the News

Friday, December 18, 2015
NEWS (Click the link to read the full article)

GOVERNOR'S ACTIVITIES

Interviews

WATCH NOW: Evening with the Governor 2015 (WKAR)
Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder discusses the challenging past year in office. It's a rare opportunity in a relaxed format to discuss his fifth year in office with Off The Record anchor Tim Skubick. They are later joined by Michigan First Lady Sue Snyder.

Governor Snyder Reflects On Year Of Change As 2015 Comes To End (9&10 News)
Michigan's governor is reflecting on a year of change as 2015 comes to an end. Northern Michigan's News Leader sat down with Governor Rick Snyder Thursday. Turns out he has a lot to say about the year. Gov. Snyder says he's most proud of the number of jobs created across the board and about the future of Michigan's roads.

Snyder Scales Back Proposed Overhaul of Detroit Schools (Michigan Radio)
Governor Rick Snyder says he's slowing down his plans to fix Detroit's schools in order to the process moving. In the face of resistance from Republicans and Democrats in the Legislature, the governor says he wants to break up the work, focusing first on retiring the district's massive debt.

Governor Rick Snyder: "We need to be louder and prouder..." (WILX)
Governor Rick Snyder is beaming with pride about Michigan these days. As 2015 comes to a close, he's proud of many accomplishments including a road funding plan, lower unemployment rate and a resurgence of life in Detroit.

Bankruptcy could be option for ailing DPS (Detroit News)
Each month the Legislature fails to act on Gov. Rick Snyder's proposals for fixing Detroit Public Schools brings the district a step nearer to a Chapter 9 bankruptcy filing, which now even the governor is calling an option.

When did state know kids in Flint were lead poisoned? (Freep)
When did the State of Michigan first learn that kids in Flint had been poisoned by lead in the city's drinking water? This is one of the most critical questions to answer in the aftermath of a public health crisis that's still unfolding in one of the state's largest cities. And it shouldn't be a hard question to answer. But when I asked Gov. Rick Snyder this week, he said he couldn't recall.

Governor Snyder talks about the successes and failures of 2015 in Michigan (WWMT)
From finding a way to fund our crumbling roads, to boosting business and bringing jobs to the state, it's been a big year for Michigan. Newschannel 3's Andy Dominianni sat down one-on-one with Governor Rick Snyder on Thursday to talk about the big successes and failures of the year, along with projects that impact West Michigan.

Gov. Snyder on Michigan: "The forecast for our future is good" (WLNS)
Job creation, a completed road funding plan, and a balanced budget. Those are just some of the self-proclaimed accomplishments of 2015 under the leadership of Governor Rick Snyder.

Governor sits down in a one-on-one interview with TV5, answers tough questions (WNEM)
Governor Rick Snyder talked about some of his highlights of the year in his sit-down interview with TV5. He said he is proud the unemployment numbers are down to the lowest they've been in a while and legislature passed a package of bills to fund our roads. But this year, there have certainly been some low-lights. Governor Snyder said the Flint water crisis is one of those low-points.

Governor Snyder on Flint Water Crisis and Detroit Public Schools (DPTV)
Governor Rick Snyder joined host Christy McDonald and contributor Nolan Finley to discuss the stalled plan for Detroit Public Schools, the Flint water crisis, his priorities for next year, and more

Flint water
Gov. Snyder names state point-man for Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)
One man will lead the state's efforts to deal with Flint's water crisis. Harvey Hollins is the director of the Office of Urban Initiatives. Gov. Snyder has appointed Hollins to oversee the state agencies responding to Flint's water crisis.

Governor Snyder names Flint water coordinator after concerns raised (AP)
Gov. Rick Snyder has named a point person to coordinate the state's response to the Flint water crisis after members of an independent task force that he created raised concerns.

Harvey Hollins tapped to lead Flint water effort (Freep)
Harvey Hollins, a former vice president of Wayne State University, has been tapped by Gov. Rick Snyder to coordinate the state's response to the Flint water crisis. Snyder named Hollins this week after a task force recommended a single person or entity to lead the follow-up needed after lead was found in Flint's drinking water system.

Governor's task force on Flint water crisis releases early recommendations (Mlive)
Current actions to protect the public from lead in water appear to be taking place without a system to measure results and delineate responsibilities, according to a task force charged with reviewing Flint's lead-in-water crisis. In a letter to Gov. Rick Snyder, who appointed the Flint Water Advisory Task Force in October, the group acknowledged steps, including distribution of free water filters, that have been taken to carry out the governor's plan to address lead levels in the city's drinking water.

Snyder taps two advisers to help on Flint water crisis (Detroit News)
Gov. Rick Snyder has tapped two of his advisers to coordinate the state's health, environmental and public relations response to Flint's water crisis. Snyder has appointed Harvey Hollins, director of the governor's Office of Urban Initiatives, to be the point person between state agencies and Flint as they work to address elevated levels of lead in the city's water system.

Healthy MI waiver
Michigan secures waiver to continue Medicaid expansion (AP)
Michigan secured a federal waiver Thursday that it needed to ensure that 600,000 low-income adults continue qualifying for Medicaid coverage beyond April.

Michigan wins crucial federal waiver to continue expanded Medicaid coverage program (Mlive)
The Obama administration has approved a key waiver that will allow Michigan to continue its unique program for expanded Medicaid coverage under the Affordable Care Act, Gov. Rick Snyder announced Thursday. Nearly 600,000 residents have signed up for Healthy Michigan since early 2014, but without a federal waiver by the end of the year, state law would have required the program to end by the spring.

Feds approve Medicaid waiver for Michigan (Detroit News)
More than a half million Michigan residents will get to keep their expanded Medicaid health insurance next year and beyond after the federal government Thursday approved the final waiver required under state law.

Federal government approves waiver for Healthy Michigan (Freep)
The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services has given Michigan a waiver for its Healthy Michigan plan, allowing nearly 600,000 low-income residents to continue with health care coverage.

Bill signings
Gov. Snyder signs bill making allergy pens more accessible for emergencies (UP Matters/TV 3)
Epi-Pens and other auto-injectibles of epinephrine will be available in more public places to address severe allergic reactions, under legislation signed Thursday by Gov. Rick Snyder.

Gov. Rick Snyder signs allergy pen accessibility, liquid industrial byproduct bills (Holland Sentinel)
Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed legislation that will make EpiPens and other auto-injectables of epinephrine available in more public places to address severe allergic reactions. House Bill 4438 will allow pharmacists to dispense EpiPens to authorized entities with a prescription, such as recreation camps, youth sports leagues, amusement parks and similar locations/events. The bill was approved unanimously and is now Public Act 221 of 2015.

Governor Snyder Signs Bill Allowing Stadiums, Amusement Parks to Stock EpiPens (WILX))
EpiPens and other injectable forms of Epinephrine will be on hand in more public places. Governor Snyder signed a bill Thursday that would allow stadiums, amusement parks, recreation camps and other similar locations to stock the injectors.

New law aims to make allergy pens more available (WZZM)
Governor Snyder has signed legislation intended to make allergy pens available in more public places. The injection device is used when a person has a severe allergic reaction. The new law allows pharmacists to dispense EpiPens to authorized organizations like sports and summer camps, amusement parks, and other similar locations.

Refugee vetting
Michigan's Middle Eastern Commission backs Snyder's refugee pause (Arab American News)
When Gov. Rick Snyder announced a pause in efforts to bring in new Syrian refugees to Michigan after the terrorist attacks in Paris, major Arab, Muslim, immigration advocacy and civil rights organization criticized him. But days after the governor's decision, the Michigan Commission on Middle Eastern American Affairs (CMEAA) published a statement in support of the step.

DEPARTMENTS

AG
Skubick: AG Schuette opens up in 2015 review (WLNS)
Michigan's attorney general has ruled out using oil tankers on the Great Lakes to ship oil that now flows underneath the Straits of Mackinac. That's just one of the topics Bill Schuette touched on in his review of 2015.

DEQ

Harvey Hollins tapped to lead Flint water effort (Detroit Free Press)
Harvey Hollins, a former vice president of Wayne State University, has been tapped by Gov. Rick Snyder to coordinate the state's response to the Flint water crisis.

Gov. Snyder names state point-man for Flint water crisis (Michigan Radio)
One man will lead the state's efforts to deal with Flint's water crisis. Harvey Hollins is the director of the Office of Urban Initiatives. Gov. Snyder has appointed Hollins to oversee the state agencies responding to Flint's water crisis.

Some state officials still in denial or misinformed over Flint River decision (Michigan Radio)
I don't blame the governor's press secretary for not understanding exactly who made the decision to have Flint pump its drinking water from the Flint River. It was a complicated-decision making process with multiple key players that lasted at least a few months.

CWD scary, but not enough to quit hunting (Port Huron Times Herald)
Brewer is an avid and accomplished hunter who says his family of four lives on wild game. With his two children, ages 9 and 11, along on the hunt, he took what looks like a nice 8-point buck on a friend's ranch on Nov. 1. After dressing the animal, he took it to a state check station and then he took it home.

DNR

DNR awards communities $1.3 million in passport grants (ABC 10)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources today announced that 33 communities across the state will share $1,348,700 in Recreation Passport grants. Funding for this program is derived from sales of the Recreation Passport, the $11 annual pass that grants residents vehicle entry at state parks and recreation areas throughout Michigan.

Kivela bill would help protect U.P. deer herd from CWD (Upper Michigan's)
State Representative John Kivela recently introduced legislation to increase the penalties for illegally bringing a deer carcass into Michigan from another state that is known to have deer with Chronic Wasting Disease.

MDNR honors hunter education instructor of the year (Holland Sentinel)
The Michigan Department of Natural Resources recently named Timothy Pifher, of Davidson, its 2015 Hunter Education Volunteer Instructor of the Year.

MDARD

MDARD warns of potential food problem (Alpena News)
Consumers are warned to throw away any of 22 products by Lock Stock & Barrel Ranch of Onaway, according to a food safety advisory from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development. MDARD inspectors conducting a routine food safety inspection discovered a potential problem with the required safety controls in the manufacturing process.

MEDC

Holland-area businesses to invest in employees through state program (Holland Sentinel)
ight businesses in Holland and Zeeland have funds to develop their workforce after receiving grants totalling $385,000 from the Michigan Skilled Trades Training Fund.

Despite politics, strides made in 2015 to break Michigan's status quo (Michigan Radio)
It's that time of year to reflect on what worked and what didn't this past year here in the Great Lakes State, and to give due consideration to potential adjustments to improve our situation.

MDE

Many Detroit area schools lag statewide M-STEP results (Detroit News)
Just half of Michigan third-graders achieved proficiency in English on the state's new M-STEP exam, and newly released data show that more than two-thirds of Metro Detroit districts and charters missed that mark.

Ann Arbor M-STEP results show achievement gap persists (MLive)
New testing data shows the Ann Arbor school district still struggles with an achievement gap between between black and white students and wealthy and poor students.

Michigan releases more detailed breakdown of school tests (AP)
The Michigan Department of Education released a more detailed breakdown of results of the state's new, more rigorous standardized tests, highlighting some of the challenges facing educators in Detroit.

MSP

Michigan State Police raid Dearborn city clerk's office (Press & Guide)
Michigan State Police raided the office of Dearborn City Clerk Kathy Buda on Wednesday morning in connection with an embezzlement investigation.

Michigan State Police: Troopers make warrant, drug arrests (MLive)
Troopers stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation in Springport Township. The driver, identified as a 19-year-old man from Albion, was driving with a suspended license and wanted on a misdemeanor warrant out of Hillsdale County. He posted bond on the misdemeanor warrant and was given a notice to appear for the charge of driving while license suspended.

MPSC

Business group, utilities, clash over rate hikes, electric choice (Capitol Confidential)
A business group is asking the Michigan Court of Appeals to overturn a rate hike it claims would give Consumers Energy the highest profits granted by regulators this year in the U.S. The lawsuit comes while Michigan customers face the highest electricity rates in the region and the state's two largest utilities, Consumers Energy and Detroit Edison, lobby the Legislature to return them to the status of full monopolies.

TREASURY

Adrian's school board approves bond financial paperwork, moves to state (LenConnect)
Adrian Public Schools moved one step closer Wednesday to putting a $29.5 million ballot proposal before voters in May, after the Michigan Department of Treasury approved the district's preliminary bond paperwork.

LEGISLATIVE

Michigan Legislature OKs end of straight-party voting (AP)
A sharply divided Legislature late Wednesday voted to eliminate the straight-party voting option from ballots, a step majority Republicans said would bring Michigan in line with 40 other states and Democrats denounced as a partisan maneuver to help the GOP win elections.

Tax breaks for data storage centers passed by House, Senate (Free Press)
Tax breaks for data centers in Michigan cleared the House and Senate Tuesday , but the sales and use tax exemptions still face significant opposition from some in the business community, local governments and the administration of Gov. Rick Snyder.

Mich. lawmakers need to do more for Detroit's public schools (The Blade)
As the clock ticked down the last days of this year's legislative session, majority Republicans mounted a full-court press to give their party more partisan advantage in coming elections.

DETROIT

Many Detroit area schools lag statewide M-STEP results (Detroit News)
Just half of Michigan third-graders achieved proficiency in English on the state's new M-STEP exam, and newly released data show that more than two-thirds of Metro Detroit districts and charters missed that mark.

M-STEP results: Just 1 EAA 4th-grader passed math (Free Press)
Detailed results from Michigan's tough new standardized exam paint a worrisome picture for many schools in Detroit and will likely boost state efforts to fix what many see as a broken educational system in the city.

Snyder Scales Back Proposed Overhaul of Detroit Schools (WDET)
Governor Rick Snyder says he's slowing down his plans to fix Detroit's schools in order to the process moving. In the face of resistance from Republicans and Democrats in the Legislature, the governor says he wants to break up the work, focusing first on retiring the district's massive debt.

Detroit demolitions likely to get big boost from Congress (Free Press)
A massive federal spending bill expected to be passed this week includes a provision allowing the U.S. Treasury to transfer billions of dollars into a fund which has already sent or promised $130 million to Detroit to tear down thousands of blighted buildings and is expected to provide at least tens of millions more.

Detroit-led blight fight may spur demolitions across U.S. (Free Press)
A Michigan-led effort to get $2 billion more put into a federal neighborhood stabilization fund could touch off one of the biggest initiatives to demolish abandoned, derelict buildings in older urban centers ever seen, with cities across the Midwest — Detroit first and foremost among them — standing to benefit.

Paying water bills in Detroit is a test of good will (Detroit News)
Even Good Samaritans have trouble paying water bills in Detroit. It's not because they don't have the money. It's because the city makes it difficult to pay.

OPINION

Don't punish a breed of dogs for actions of bad owners (Detroit Free Press)
When tragic incidents with pit bulls happen, as they have recently, many are quick to blame the breed, without seeing where the true responsibility lies: the dog's owner. We share in the sadness of these tragedies, and it is understandable that, in the immediate aftermath, some try to find a simple solution to ensure similar incidents never happen again. The problem, however, is much broader and complex than one fix-all solution.

Bankruptcy could be option for ailing DPS (Detroit News)
Each month the Legislature fails to act on Gov. Rick Snyder's proposals for fixing Detroit Public Schools brings the district a step nearer to a Chapter 9 bankruptcy filing, which now even the governor is calling an option.

Editorial: Protect access to medical marijuana (Detroit News)
The Senate failed to pass legislation again this year that would legalize non-smokable forms of marijuana under the state's medical pot program. That means nearly 180,000 medical marijuana patients in Michigan remain in limbo, as do their caregivers and suppliers.

Wolfram: Data center bill consistent with tax policy (Detroit News)
The state Senate recently passed bills that deal with exempting data centers from the sales and use taxes as well as the personal property tax. While most of the discussion has been about the effect on economic activity, in particular whether the tax reductions will advance economic activity in Michigan, it is useful to examine the fundamental theory of the sales taxes and whether the property tax exemption is consistent with current policy.

Susan J. Demas: Anti-vaccination bills will harm Michigan children (MLive)
When it comes to keeping kids healthy in Michigan, it seems we always take one step forward and two steps back.

#####

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Friday, December 18, 2015 2:08 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 18, 2015

NEWS

Michigan State coach Mark Dantonio's name was misspelled on the cover of Sports Illustrated

For The Win

Mark Dantonio's name is Mark Dantonio. His football team, the Michigan State Spartans, had an incredible season. Incredible enough that they won ...

Sports Illustrated goofs with 'Mike' Dantonio on cover featuring Michigan State - MLive.com

Michigan State's Mark Dantonio misidentified on SI special issue cover - Sports Illustrated

SI has Mike Dantonio coaching Michigan State to the playoffs. Who's Mike Dantonio? - Washington Post

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

State Of Emergency Issued In Flint, Michigan Due To High Lead Levels In Water

News One

Officials in Flint, Michigan have declared a state of emergency due to the quality of the city's drinking water. According to NBC News, "Tests have ...

Michigan Mayor Declares State Of Emergency Over Lead Levels - KTOO

Flint, Michigan, Declares State of Emergency after Lead from Flint River Poisons Scores of Children - The Daily Meal

Flint, Michigan Declares State Of Emergency Over Lead In Drinking Water - Waltonian

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

A creator and innovator, Michigan State's Mark Hollis has become the nation's most forward ...

Campus Rush

That man in the red suit and comically large belt, toting a pneumatic T-shirt gun instead of a bag of toys at a recent Michigan State basketball game?

Flag as irrelevant

Connor Cook's personality, like it or not, is reason for Spartans' success

ESPN (blog)

No one likes you when you beat them. Michigan State is learning this year what it's like to go from the scrappy underdog to the power team people root ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State football offers scholarship to Lansing Catholic's Tony Poljan Lansing Catholic Central's Tony Poljan has received a scholarship offer from Michigan State, according to his Twitter account. (Alex McDougall ...

MLive.com

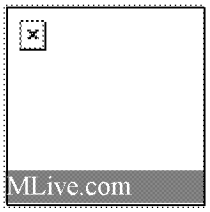
Flag as irrelevant



Michigan State's Bryn Forbes sheds 'soft' label, earns praise from Tom Izzo

MLive.com

Michigan State guard Bryn Forbes (5) looks to pass in the first half of their NCAA basketball game against Florida at the Breslin Center in East Lansing, ...

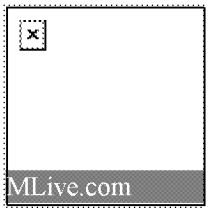
5 Best Places To Eat And Watch Michigan State Basketball - CBS Local Sports

Michigan State Coach Tom Izzo Leads Spartans in Christmas Carols on Accordion - Bleacher Report

Michigan State Coach Tom Izzo Plays Christmas Music On Accordion (Video) - NESN.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant



No. 1 Michigan State pays a visit to historic Matthews Arena

The Boston Globe

In 2001, he came up with the idea for the Michigan State men's hockey team to play its Cold War rivalry game against Michigan in the middle of ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State Police: Troopers make warrant, drug arrests

MLive.com

A sergeant from the Michigan State Police Jackson Post stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation in Hillsdale. During the subsequent investigation a ...

Flag as irrelevant

Cotton Bowl 2015: Updated Odds and Comments for Alabama vs. Michigan State

Bleacher Report

Both Michigan State and Alabama have developed reputations for looking like the great teams of yesteryear. The Spartans and the Crimson Tide can ...

Iowa Commit Offered by Michigan State - Scout

((Free)) Michigan State vs Iowa Live Streaming, TV Channel, Scores, Start Time - Journal Observer (blog)

Full Coverage

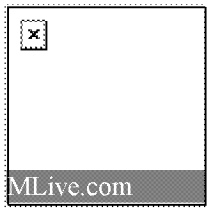
Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State notes: Gavin Schilling has 40 percent chance to play on Saturday

MLive.com

Michigan State forward Gavin Schilling (34) shoots a layup in the first half of their NCAA tournament Sweet 16 game against Oklahoma at the Carrier ...

Flag as irrelevant



See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Saturday, December 19, 2015 2:06 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 19, 2015

NEWS

Michigan State can make history in Boston

The Detroit News

"They have had a weird year," Michigan State coach Tom Izzo said. "They lost to a couple of teams I didn't think they'd lose to, but they beat a Miami ...

College hoops: Michigan State women win at Northeastern - Detroit Free Press

Northeastern trying not to be awed by Michigan State - Boston Herald

No. 24/22 Michigan State Handles Northeastern, 77-51 - Michigan State Athletics

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

MSU players endured finals, grueling bowl practices

Detroit Free Press

EAST LANSING -- To prepare for Alabama, Michigan State is going with the loud-quiet-loud approach. An intense week just finished. Players are off ...

Flag as irrelevant

Tom Izzo says Northeastern a 'major concern' as Michigan State looks to go to 12-0

MLive.com

Michigan State coach Tom Izzo looks on in the second half of their NCAA basketball game against Maryland Eastern Shore at the Breslin Center in ...

Northeastern set for big weekend hosting Michigan State - Boston Herald

Northeastern basketball coach Bill Coen praises Michigan State coach Tom Izzo - The Boston Globe

Marvin Clark, Tom Izzo Set to Defend No. 1-Ranking on the Road - Today's U (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Report: Michigan beats out Ohio State for attendance crown

FOXSports.com

Michigan, which finished 9-3 in its first season under Jim Harbaugh, averaged 110,168 fans per home game, while Ohio State averaged 107,244.

Michigan regains football attendance crown - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

No. 1 Michigan State not overlooking Northeastern

The Boston Globe

Before Michigan State made the trip to Boston, coach Tom Izzo wanted to make sure his team knew what it was getting into. He cued up film from a ...

Top-ranked Michigan State next for Northeastern and Stow's David Walker on Saturday - cleveland.com (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Can Northeastern beat Michigan State? Yes? OK, maybe

The Boston Globe

Michigan State at Northeastern: Incredible that Tom Izzo brings the No. 1 team in the country to Boston to play NU; if the Spartans are paying attention, ...

Flag as irrelevant

Charlevoix resident honored as Wall of Fame inductee at Michigan State University

Petoskey News-Review

Charlevoix native and current resident, Ritchie T. Davis, was inducted into the Michigan State University, School of Criminal Justice, Wall of Fame ...

Flag as irrelevant

Preview: Youngstown State at Michigan

WPTZ The Champlain Valley

Michigan looks to win its fourth straight home game when it welcomes Youngstown State to Ann Arbor on Saturday. The Wolverines are 5-1 at Crisler ...

Michigan Basketball Gameday: Wolverines continue homestand with date vs. Youngstown State - MLive.com

Men's Basketball Visits B1G Foe Michigan Saturday Night - Youngstown State Athletics

Michigan Basketball: What to Watch vs Youngstown State - SportsBlog.com (blog)

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Colton Bowl 2015. Latest Odds, Storylines for Alabama vs. Michigan State

Bleacher Report

Michigan State embarks on arguably the biggest game in program history, and standing between the chance to play for its first outright national title in ...

Flag as irrelevant

Legislative Black Caucus backs Flint's request for State of Emergency

Michigan Radio

Michigan's legislative black caucus is urging Gov. Rick Snyder to issue a State of Emergency to address the continuing health concerns caused by the ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Tuesday, December 22, 2015 2:07 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 22, 2015

NEWS

A look at Michigan State's journey to the College Football Playoff. Khris Haie/Icon Sportswire/AP ...

ESPN

ON A TYPICALLY rain-doused Big Ten evening in Columbus, Ohio, the Michigan State offense gets the ball late in the fourth quarter of a tie game with ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State football: Spirit of Detroit to don Spartan jersey

NCAA.com

EAST LANSING, Mich. -- The "Spirit of Detroit," an iconic monument located in the heart of downtown Detroit at the Coleman A. Young Center on ...

'Spirit of Detroit' statue getting big Michigan State jersey - News & Observer

'Spirit of Detroit' statue gets big Michigan State jersey - Wichita Eagle

Jankoska, No. 24 Michigan State Women Beat Detroit 81-42 - ABC News

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Alabama will have to overcome Michigan State defensive front that's 'hard to block'

AL.com

Michigan State defensive end Shilique Calhoun lines up against Jacksonville State on Aug. 29, 2014. (Photo: Paul Sancya Associated Press) ...

America wants Michigan State to win national title - Detroit Free Press

As Michigan State's coach in the '90s, Nick Saban was not well liked, but he was seen as brilliant ... - Campus Rush

Alabama should ignore Michigan State's pledge of hitting Derrick Henry "harder than we've ever hit ... - SECcountry.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State basketball: Valentine out 2-3 weeks with injury

NCAA.com

EAST LANSING, Mich. — No. 1 Michigan State's top scorer, Denzel Valentine, will be out for two to three weeks with a knee injury. Coach Tom Izzo ...

Michigan State's Valentine out 2-3 weeks with injury - Yahoo Canada Sports

Grinz On Green: Spartans Ready To Adjust Without Valentine - Michigan State Athletics

MSU-Oakland game day: Time, TV, radio info - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State still leads AP poll, but Providence cracks the top 10

ESPN

Michigan State, Kansas and Oklahoma held the top three spots in The Associated Press' college basketball poll for a second straight week. There was ...

Michigan State remains No. 1 in AP hoops poll - The Detroit News

Michigan State, Kansas, Oklahoma stay 1-2-3 in AP Top 25 - U.S. News & World Report

2 Michigan State Still No. 1in AP and Coaches Polls - SLAM Online

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan Ignored 'Conclusive Evidence' Of Flint Lead Poisoning, Researcher Says

Huffington Post

Michigan state officials insisted that the water supply in Flint was safe even though they knew an unusual number of children had suffered lead ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's Jalen Watts-Jackson wouldn't change a thing

ESPN (blog)

Even now, more than two months after his starring role in one of the most incredible endings in college football history, it's difficult for Jalen ...

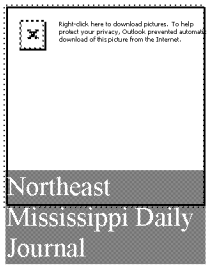
Flag as irrelevant

No. 9 Mississippi State beats Western Michigan 90-68

USA TODAY

Mississippi State: The Bulldogs took 78 shots to just 42 for Western Michigan. ... McGowan has 41 offensive rebounds this year to 33 on the defensive ...

Flag as irrelevant



5 Michigan State players Alabama fans should be familiar with besides Connor Cook

AL.com

Connor Cook is Michigan State's star quarterback, a three-year starter who CBS Sports projects will be a first round pick in next year's NFL draft.

Why does Michigan State's Connor Cook get as much criticism as credit? - USA TODAY

Michigan State ranked No. 1 in AP poll for third straight week - MLive.com

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State Endowment to Be Run by Zecher, an Ex-Fund Manager

Bloomberg

Michigan State University hired Philip Zecher, a former hedge fund manager with a doctorate in nuclear physics, as its first chief investment officer to ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Thursday, December 31, 2015 2:06 PM
To: Leeds, Lauren (DTMB)
Subject: Google Alert - state of Michigan

state of Michigan

Daily update - December 31, 2015

NEWS

College Football Playoff | Pro and cons of Michigan State, Alabama

Columbus Dispatch

So this matchup against mighty Alabama feeds right into Michigan State's state of mind. The Spartans will not be intimidated, and if it's close in the ...

Nick Saban explains Michigan State's unique defensive approach - AL.com

Cases for and problems with Alabama and Michigan State - U.S. News & World Report

National predictions: Michigan State vs. Alabama - The Detroit News

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

3 reasons why Michigan State will beat Alabama

MLive.com

Big Ten Receiver of the Year Aaron Burbridge figures to get plenty of targets from Michigan State quarterback Connor Cook in the College Football ...

Cotton Bowl: Underestimate Michigan State at your own peril - USA TODAY

3 prominent Michigan State coaches have worked under Nick Saban - AL.com

MSU vs. Alabama: Scouting report, prediction - Detroit Free Press

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan governor apologizes for state's handling of Flint's water

Yahoo News

DETROIT (Reuters) - Michigan's governor apologized on Tuesday for the state's mishandling of lead contamination in the city of Flint's water supply ...

Michigan governor apologizes for state's mishandling of Flint's water supply - Raw Story

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's Mark Staten loves coaching, and that's no act

USA TODAY

Staten's energy and creativity are what make the Michigan State offensive line what it is. The group of linemen are quick-witted, exceptionally smart, ...

Flag as irrelevant

Big Ten reset: Michigan State on top, but Purdue surpasses expectations

Sports Illustrated

Michigan State. The Spartans had a regrettable start to their conference schedule, losing to Iowa by 13 on Dec. 29, but don't discount their 13--0 start ...

Iowa sends No. 1 Michigan State to first loss, never trails - abc7news.com

Iowa upends No. 1 Michigan State 83-70 - AOL News

Iowa cruises past No. 1 Michigan State, 83-70 - The State Journal-Register

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State's Mark Dantonio, Alabama's Nick Saban share stage and stories

MLive.com

Michigan State coach Mark Dantonio, left, shakes hands with Alabama coach Nick Saban near the Cotton Bowl trophy during their 2015 Cotton Bowl ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State and Alabama marching bands perform at "Battle of the Bands"

MLive.com

DALLAS – Thousands of Michigan State fans flocked to Klyde Warren Park in downtown Dallas to watch as the Spartan marching band and Alabama ...

Flag as irrelevant

Trevon Pendleton, a fullback, is Michigan State's man of the moment

Campus Rush

He is nowhere but everywhere, an everyman and an exception, a Forrest Gump-like infiltrator of the biggest moments that brought the Michigan State ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan State vs. Alabama: Individual Matchups to Watch in Cotton Bowl 2015

Bleacher Report

Alabama and Michigan State both got to this point thanks to the ability of their key players performing at a high level throughout the year. However ...

Flag as irrelevant

College Playoff Picks Against Spread For Alabama-Michigan State, Clemson-Oklahoma

NESN.com

Michigan State has the longest national title drought of the four playoff teams. The Spartans last won in 1966. Clemson's last championship came in ...

Silverman: Oklahoma, Michigan State Have The Edge In College Football Playoff - CBS Local

Full Coverage

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

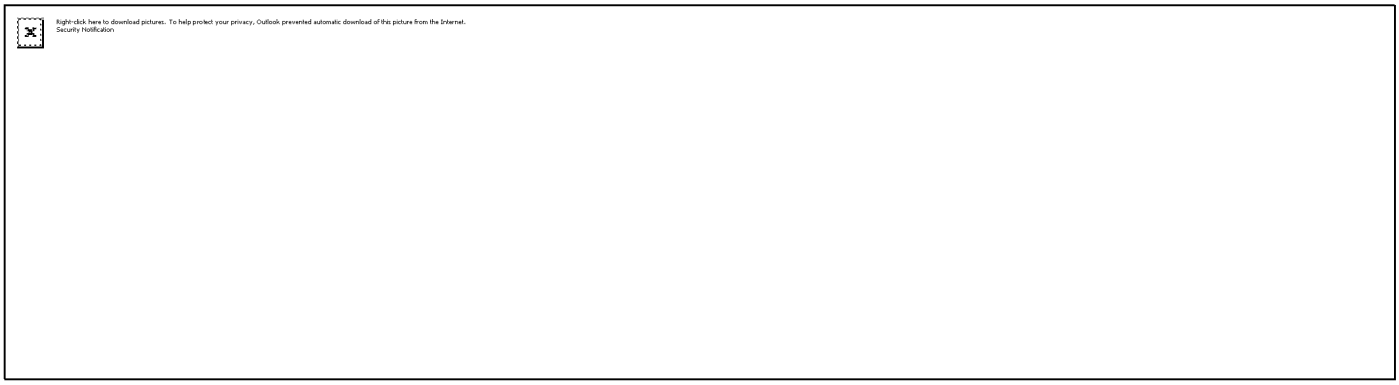
You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: DTMB Facilities <dtmb@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, October 28, 2015 8:17 AM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: Facility Notification: Constitution Hall



Protest Activity

Date/Time:

Wednesday, October 28, 2015 from 12:00pm to 4:00pm

Details:

Please be aware that there is a protest event planned for today, October 28, outside of the Constitution Hall from 12:00pm to 4:00pm. The event is being held in response to the water condition in Flint. Please plan your daily activities with this in mind as a large turnout for this event is anticipated. DTMB and MSP will be working together to monitor the situation.

Contact:

DTMB Customer Service Center, DTMB-Customerservice@michigan.gov or 517-373-6227

This email was sent to lower@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of DTMB · Lewis Cass Building · 320 South Walnut Street Lansing, MI 48933 · 517-373-1004

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, September 11, 2013 11:20 AM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: Gov. Snyder accepts Brown resignation; names Earley successor

Gov. Snyder accepts Brown resignation as Flint emergency manager; names Darnell Earley successor

Appointment to be effective October 1st

Gov. Rick Snyder today accepted the resignation of Mike Brown as the city of Flint's emergency manager, effective Oct. 31, 2013. Gov. Snyder has tapped current Saginaw City Manager Darnell Earley as successor-emergency manager in Flint. His appointment will be effective Oct. 1, 2013. Brown and Earley will work collaboratively during the month-long transition period.

"Mike Brown has worked hard for the city of Flint," Gov. Snyder said. "He offered a calm hand in the face of turbulent times, and was continually willing to push forward in addressing the financial emergency, while keeping the needs of Flint residents as his focus. I thank him for his service."

Darnell Earley, who will become successor-emergency manager Oct. 1, has been city manager in Saginaw for the last eight years, first joining the city as deputy city manager and interim director of fiscal services in August of 2004. Prior to that, Earley served as city administrator in Flint and also did a six-month stint as temporary mayor during a vacancy in 2002.

"Darnell Earley has extensive experience in municipal government and his familiarity with the city of Flint and its finances will be an essential asset as he transitions into the role of emergency manager," Gov. Snyder said. "I am certain he will work together with the mayor, other elected officials, residents, and community leaders to resolve the city's fiscal crisis with the goal of returning Flint to local control as quickly and efficiently as possible."

For more information regarding the city of Flint and other Local Government Fiscal Health issues visit the Local Government Fiscal Health page on Treasury's website.

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.
Michigan Department of Treasury Seal

Michigan Department of Treasury
Lansing, Michigan 48922
(517) 335-2167
or Contact Us Online here

STAY CONNECTED:

SUBSCRIBER SERVICES:
Manage Preferences | Unsubscribe All | Subscription Help

This service is provided to you at no charge by Michigan Department of Treasury.

This email was sent to lower@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Friday, January 09, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: ELB approves Flint EM's fire contract modifications

--- PRESS RELEASE ---

For Immediate Release

January 9, 2015 Contact: Terry Stanton, (517) 335-2167

ELB approves Flint EM's fire contract modifications

Proposal Receives Unanimous Support

The Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board (ELB) today approved a proposal from City of Flint Emergency Manager Darnell Earley, to modify the collective bargaining agreement the City has with International Association of Fire Fighters (IAFF) Local 352. Modifications are expected to generate more than $600,000 in current year savings and reduce future city costs by nearly $6 million.

Under Public Act 436, the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act, before an emergency manager can impose changes to collectively bargained agreements, he/she must submit the proposal to the local unit's governing body for approval. If a proposed action is rejected, the governing body has 7 days to submit to the Emergency Loan Board, an alternative proposal which "would yield substantially the same financial result as the action proposed by the emergency manager."

The Flint City Council disapproved of the EM's proposed CBA modifications in December and submitted an alternative proposal, which the ELB considered today, before making its decision. Under PA 436, the board "shall approve the proposal which best serves the interest of the public in that local government."

"Ensuring strong public safety, including firefighting, is critical to residents and key to the underlying strength of any municipality," said Chief Deputy State Treasurer Tom Saxton, who chaired today's meeting. "However, following an in-depth analysis by Treasury staff and thoughtful consideration of each proposal today, it became clear that the alternative proposal, when compared to the original proposed modifications, did not generate the same level of projected savings."

For more information about the City of Flint or Public Act 436 of 2012, visit the Local Government Fiscal Health page on the Department of Treasury's web site at www.michigan.gov/treasury.

# # #

This service is provided by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

SUBSCRIBER SERVICES:
Manage Preferences | Unsubscribe All | Subscription Help

This email was sent to tower@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, February 03, 2015 4:25 PM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: Gov. Rick Snyder announces grants helping distressed municipalities with water, public safety, appraisal issues

--- PRESS RELEASE ---

For Immediate Release

February 3, 2015 FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contacts: Terry Stanton, Treasury (517) 335-2167

Dave Murray, Governor (517) 335-6397

Gov. Rick Snyder announces grants helping distressed municipalities with water, public safety, appraisal issues

$8 million awarded for projects to improve services, quality of life

Gov. Rick Snyder today awarded $8 million to eleven municipalities to fund various improvement projects, including water system and street lighting enhancements and technology upgrades through the Financially Distressed Cities, Villages, and Townships Grant Program.

Municipalities are eligible for the grants if they are experiencing one or more conditions indicative of "probable financial stress," as defined by Public Act 436 of 2012, the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act.

"Municipalities receiving this special funding are some of the areas hardest hit by the Great Recession," Snyder said. "I am pleased we can offer funding assistance to help expect and deserve."

Under the grant program, funding may be used to pay for specific projects, services, or strategies that move a city, village, or township toward financial stability. There was $8 million appropriated for the program with a $2 million cap, per local unit.

The following communities will receive funding this year, with projects and amounts noted (alphabetical order):

City of Benton Harbor $475,000

Complete a property reappraisal to provide updated and accurate assessing records. Additionally, community enhancement through blight management and sidewalk replacement.

City of Benton Harbor $434,960

Water system enhancement through water main replacements and fire hydrant repairs.

City of Ecorse $350,000

Public safety enhancement through improved street lighting.

City of Flint $1,100,000

Water system enhancement through improved waste management.

City of Flint $900,000

Water system enhancement through leak detection and pipe assessments.

City of Hamtramck $167,860

Complete a property reappraisal to provide updated and accurate assessing records.

City of Hamtramck $50,000

Upgrade City Hall security.

City of Hamtramck $404,600

Public safety enhancement through improved street lighting.

City of Highland Park $2,000,000

Water system enhancement through meter replacement, leak detection, and system repairs.

City of Inkster $73,460

Complete a property reappraisal to provide updated and accurate assessing records.

City of Inkster $150,000

Water system enhancement through fire hydrant repairs.

City of Inkster $30,000

Provide a backup power source for public safety.

City of Inkster $240,000

Public safety enhancement through the creation of a multi-jurisdictional narcotic team.

City of Inkster $41,970

Public safety enhancement through police officer training.

City of Inkster $320,000

Public safety enhancement through the deployment of an additional police officer.

City of Lincoln Park $143,490

Public safety enhancement through updated technology.

City of Melvindale $88,000

Public safety enhancement through fleet replacement of police vehicles and updated technology.

City of Pontiac $125,000

Community enhancement through blight management.

City of River Rouge $591,508

Public safety enhancement through improved street lighting. Additionally, infrastructure replacements to City Hall.

Royal Oak Township $86,559

Public safety enhancement through improved street lighting

Royal Oak Township $217,593

Public safety enhancement of police services.

All appropriated funding has been awarded. No future rounds will occur in FY 2015.

# # #

This service is provided by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

SUBSCRIBER SERVICES:
Manage Preferences | Unsubscribe All | Subscription Help

This email was sent to lower@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, April 28, 2015 1:31 PM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: Media Advisory

--- PRESS RELEASE ---

For Immediate Release

April 28, 2015 Contact: Terry Stanton, (517) 335-2167

Media Advisory

for

Wednesday, April 29, 2015

The Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board (Emergency Loan Board) is scheduled to meet at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 29th in the State Treasurers' Board Room in the Richard H. Austin Building, located at 430 W. Allegan in Lansing.

The Emergency Loan Board will consider an emergency loan application from the City of Flint, pursuant to Public Act 243 of 1980, the Emergency Municipal Loan Act.

Individuals planning to attend the meeting must obtain a visitor's pass from security representatives in the Austin Building lobby. The meeting site is accessible for disabled persons. Individuals who may need assistance should call (517) 373-3223.

All Emergency Loan Board meetings are special or called meetings and are not regularly-scheduled.

# # #

This service is provided by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

SUBSCRIBER SERVICES:

Manage Preferences | Unsubscribe All | Subscription Help

This email was sent to lower@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, April 28, 2015 1:56 PM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: CORRECTED MEDIA ADVISORY

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.
Treasury Communications Banner

April 28, 2015

Contact: Terry Stanton (517) 335-2167

CORRECTED

Media Advisory for Wednesday, April 29, 2015

The Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board (Emergency Loan Board) is scheduled to meet at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 29th in the State Treasurers' Board Room in the Richard H. Austin Building, located at 430 W. Allegan in Lansing.

The Emergency Loan Board will consider an emergency loan application from the City of Flint, pursuant to Public Act 243 of 1980, the Emergency Municipal Loan Act.

Individuals planning to attend the meeting must obtain a visitor's pass from security representatives in the Austin Building lobby. The meeting site is accessible for disabled persons. Individuals who may need assistance should call (517) 373-3223.

All Emergency Loan Board meetings are special or called meetings and are not regularly-scheduled.

Previous advisory erroneously used old template.

If you know of an employee who isn't receiving these emails, they can sign-up here to be added to our lists.

This service is provided to you by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

This email was sent to lower@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, April 29, 2015 11:08 AM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: MEDIA ADVISORY

MEDIA ADVISORY

Contacts: Terry Stanton, Treasury (517) 335-2167

Media Advisory for Wednesday, April 29, 2015

Deputy State Treasurer Wayne Workman, Flint Emergency Manager Jerry Ambrose, and City officials will host a press conference regarding the City of Flint at 1:30 this afternoon, at Flint City Hall, located at 1101 South Saginaw Street.

The press conference will be in the Mayor's Conference Room. Media is asked to check-in at the Mayor's Office.

####

If you know of an employee who isn't receiving these emails, they can sign-up here to be added to our lists.

This service is provided to you by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

This email was sent to lowerr@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Fitzpatrick, John (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 3:37 PM
To: Bankowski, Jeffrey S. (DTMB);Weiler, Bryan (DTMB)
Cc: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Subject: RE: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

Thanks, Jeff. It's in all the papers now.

John

From: Bankowski, Jeffrey S. (DTMB)
Sent: 29 December, 2015 15:32
To: Weiler, Bryan (DTMB) <weilerb@michigan.gov>
Cc: Fitzpatrick, John (DTMB) <FitzpatrickJ@michigan.gov>; Lowe, Richard (DTMB) <lower@michigan.gov>
Subject: Fwd: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

FYI

Sent from my iPhone

Begin forwarded message:

> From: MIRS Delivery <mirsdelivery@mirsnews.com>
> Date: December 29, 2015 at 3:22:24 PM EST
> To: <bankowskij@michigan.gov>
> Subject: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

MIRS BREAKING NEWS: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

http://www.mirsnews.com/alert.php?alert_id=2154

Dan WYANT, the director of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ), is resigning in the wake of criticism about how the state handled elevated lead levels in Flint drinking water.

Gov. Rick SNYDER announced Wyant's resignation in a statement today. Also, in the statement, the Governor said his administration would invite scientists who have been tracking the situation "to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water."

"I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened," Snyder's statement added. "And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure."

On Wyant, Snyder said Wyant offered his resignation, "and I've determined that it's appropriate to accept it."

"I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force," Snyder's statement said.

Those other changes haven't been finalized yet, according to Laura BIEHL, a spokesperson for the Governor.

The news of Wyant's resignation comes as a task force continues to work on a report about the Flint water crisis, which occurred after the city's water source was switched to the Flint River in 2014.

"Although the task force's final report is not yet completed, members have made me aware of some interim findings and corrective steps that I have decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how the state keeps its citizens safe and informed," Snyder said today. He continued, "We'll continue to work with the community members to make sure we hear and respond to their concerns."

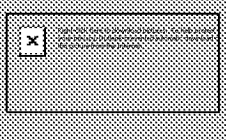
Snyder also noted the he called Flint Mayor Karen WEAVER last week and the two are going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.

Wyant has been MDEQ director since Snyder took office in 2011.

Previously, Wyant was the director of the Department of Agriculture under former Govs. John ENGLER and Jennifer GRANHOLM.

MIRS: Michigan's oldest and most comprehensive newsletter covering the activities of Michigan state government

From the legislature to the governor, from the state bureaucracy to Michigan's courts, MIRS provides our subscribers with more news and insight than any other source.



In order to read the MIRS Newsletter, you must have a username and password.

If you need a password or username to access our reports online at:

http://mirsnews.com. Please call us at (517) 482-2125 or send an email to info@mirsnews.com

© 1996-2015 Michigan Information and Research Service Inc., All Rights Reserved. Unauthorized distribution of this e-mail without permission of the publisher constitutes a violation of applicable federal copyright laws and is punishable by fines of up to $150,000 per incident. This copyright is strictly enforced.

MIRS Inc.
910 W. Ottawa
PO Box 19303
Lansing, MI 48915
Phone 517-482-2125 Fax 517-374-0949
www.mirsnews.com

From: Fitzpatrick, John (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, December 30, 2015 10:50 AM
To: Lowe, Richard (DTMB);Patrick J. McDonnell (pat@themcdonnellcompany.com)
Subject: RE: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

Rick, Pat has no OpEx meetings scheduled at Lansing on Friday, January 8. That day, I believe he is headed to Grand Rapids to work at the MVAA Grand Rapids Veterans Home, but I do not know his meeting schedule.

Pat, please respond to Rick's note below regarding a morning meeting at Lansing on Friday, January 8.

John

From: Lowe, Richard (DTMB)
Sent: 30 December, 2015 10:42
To: Fitzpatrick, John (DTMB) <FitzpatrickJ@michigan.gov>
Subject: RE: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

Hi John – I am trying to coordinate Pat McDonnell for a Friday Jan 8th meeting in the morning… probably about 11am. Do you know if he could be available sometime that day before noon? Thanks much.

Rick

From: Fitzpatrick, John (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 3:37 PM
To: Bankowski, Jeffrey S. (DTMB) <BankowskiJ@michigan.gov>; Weiler, Bryan (DTMB) <weilerb@michigan.gov>
Cc: Lowe, Richard (DTMB) <lower@michigan.gov>
Subject: RE: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

Thanks, Jeff. It's in all the papers now.

John

From: Bankowski, Jeffrey S. (DTMB)
Sent: 29 December, 2015 15:32
To: Weiler, Bryan (DTMB) <weilerb@michigan.gov>
Cc: Fitzpatrick, John (DTMB) <FitzpatrickJ@michigan.gov>; Lowe, Richard (DTMB) <lower@michigan.gov>
Subject: Fwd: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

FYI

Sent from my iPhone

Begin forwarded message:

> From: MIRS Delivery <mirsdelivery@mirsnews.com>
> Date: December 29, 2015 at 3:22:24 PM EST

To: <bankowskij@michigan.gov>
Subject: MIRS Breaking News: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

MIRS BREAKING NEWS: Wyant Resigns As MDEQ Director -- 3:09 PM

http://www.mirsnews.com/alert.php?alert_id=2164

Dan WYANT, the director of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ), is resigning in the wake of criticism about how the state handled elevated lead levels in Flint drinking water.

Gov. Rick SNYDER announced Wyant's resignation in a statement today. Also, in the statement, the Governor said his administration would invite scientists who have been tracking the situation "to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water."

"I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened," Snyder's statement added. "And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure."

On Wyant, Snyder said Wyant offered his resignation, "and I've determined that it's appropriate to accept it."

"I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force," Snyder's statement said.

Those other changes haven't been finalized yet, according to Laura BIEHL, a spokesperson for the Governor.

The news of Wyant's resignation comes as a task force continues to work on a report about the Flint water crisis, which occurred after the city's water source was switched to the Flint River in 2014.

"Although the task force's final report is not yet completed, members have made me aware of some interim findings and corrective steps that I have decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how the state keeps its citizens safe and informed," Snyder said today. He continued, "We'll continue to work with the community members to make sure we hear and respond to their concerns."

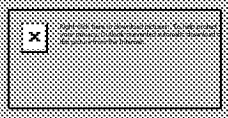
Snyder also noted the he called Flint Mayor Karen WEAVER last week and the two are going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.

Wyant has been MDEQ director since Snyder took office in 2011.

Previously, Wyant was the director of the Department of Agriculture under former Govs. John ENGLER and Jennifer GRANHOLM.

MIRS: Michigan's oldest and most comprehensive newsletter covering the activities of Michigan state government

From the legislature to the governor, from the state bureaucracy to Michigan's courts, MIRS provides our subscribers with more news and insight than any other source.



In order to read the MIRS Newsletter, you must have a username and password.

If you need a password or username to access our reports online at: http://mirsnews.com. Please call us at (517) 482-2125 or send an email to info@mirsnews.com

© 1996-2015 Michigan Information and Research Service Inc., All Rights Reserved. Unauthorized distribution of this e-mail without permission of the publisher constitutes a violation of applicable federal copyright laws and is punishable by fines of up to $150,000 per incident. This copyright is strictly enforced.

MIRS Inc.
910 W. Ottawa
PO Box 19303
Lansing, MI 48915
Phone 517-482-2125 Fax 517-374-0949
www.mirsnews.com

From: MacKenzie, Connie (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 2015 11:35 AM
To: Budd, Virgil (DTMB) (BuddV@michigan.gov)
Subject: FW: MIRS' Statewide Headlines & Press Releases

If you get an opportunity, please congratulate Sara on their hospice award that is discussed in an article below.

From: MIRS Delivery [mailto:mirsdelivery@mirsnews.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 2015 6:40 AM
To: MacKenzie, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: MIRS' Statewide Headlines & Press Releases

You are receiving the following headlines from various news sources and list of recent press releases received at MIRS as part of your paid subscription to MIRSnews.com If you do not wish to receive these e-mails, please go to your MIRSnews.com account preferences.

Michigan Senate approves revised concealed gun bill in first vote of new session

"LANSING, MI -- Michigan's Republican-led Senate on Tuesday, in its first official vote of the 2015-16 session, approved gun legislation that supporters say will streamline the application process for obtaining a concealed pistol permit."

Source: M-Live Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/02/michigan_senate_approves_revis.html#incart_river

Michigan facing deadline to recognize 300 gay marriages or appeal federal ruling

"LANSING, MI -- Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder is reviewing legal options as he considers whether to appeal a recent federal ruling or recognize some 300 same-sex couples married on a single day last year."

Source: M-Live Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/02/michigan_facing_deadline_to_re.html#incart_river

Michigan lawmaker says he was booted from Democratic caucus after committee post dispute

"LANSING, MI -- State Rep. Harvey Santana of Detroit said Tuesday that he has been expelled from the House Democratic caucus after accepting a committee assignment in the midst of a feud between party leaders."

Source: M-Live Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/02/michigan_rep_says_he_was_kicke.html#incart_river

Detroit-area doctor prescribed pills in exchange for sex, money, AG Bill Schuette says

"LANSING, MI -- State Attorney General Bill Schuette on Tuesday levied damning charges against Dr. John Ronald Verbovsky, 67, of Southfield."

Source: M-Live Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/news/detroit/index.ssf/2015/02/detroit-area_doctor_prescribed.html#incart_river

Report: Mich. has 16th-lowest racial income gaps

"LANSING – The median household income for black residents in Michigan is about 45 percent lower than for white residents, and the poverty rate for black Michiganders is 161 percent higher than for whites."

Source: Lansing State Journal Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.lansingstatejournal.com/story/news/local/2015/02/03/report-mich-th-lowest-racial-income-gaps/22791001/

Lansing Capitol likely to remain open to guns

"LANSING – Emotions can flare in politics. In Lansing, that can happen around guns."

Source: Lansing State Journal Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.lansingstatejournal.com/story/news/local/capitol/2015/02/03/lansing-capitol-likely-remain-open-guns/22649773/

Kildee to head effort to re-elect vulnerable House Dems

"The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee said Tuesday that Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint, will head the party's efforts to help re-elect vulnerable Democratic incumbents in 2016."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/kildee-head-effort-re-elect-vulnerable-house-dems/22805493/

Detroit Rep. Santana ousted from Dem caucus

"Lansing – — Detroit Rep. Harvey Santana said Tuesday he has been booted out of the Democratic House caucus for breaking ranks with his party over a key committee assignment in the new legislative session."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/michigan/2015/02/03/detroit-state-house-member-ousted-democratic-caucus/22816213/

Revised gun board bills get Senate OK, move to House

"Lansing — Without debate or discussion Tuesday, the state Senate quickly passed a new version of legislation, vetoed by Gov. Rick Snyder last month, that would do away with county gun boards whose members for 87 years have decided who should be allowed to carry concealed weapons in Michigan."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/michigan-gun-legislation/22794897/

Senators: Homeland Security grants at risk

"Washington — Democratic senators and the head of the Homeland Security Department on Tuesday urged the Republican-led Congress to approve a funding bill for the agency that covers U.S. security agencies."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/senators-homeland-security-grants-risk/22798509/

Snyder soon to decide appeal on 323 gay marriages

"Lansing — Gov. Rick Snyder said Tuesday he will decide within two days whether to appeal a federal judge's ruling that 323 same-sex marriages performed last March were valid."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/gay-marriage-michigan/22808239/

Flint gets $2M grant to improve water system

"Flint — Gov. Rick Snyder on Tuesday awarded the city of Flint $2 million in grants to help improve its water system."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/02/03/flint-gets-grant-improve-water-system/22820077/

U.S. says deal near to build Detroit bridge plaza

"Washington — The Obama administration's top homeland security official and Michigan's senior U.S. senator said Tuesday that a deal is close to fund a $250 million customs plaza needed for a planned $2.1 billion Detroit River bridge crossing."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/us-says-deal-near-build-detroit-bridge-plaza/22795237/

Bush to test 'right to rise' policy in Detroit

"Former Florida Gov. Jeb Bush is scheduled to speak in Detroit Wednesday about "restoring the right to rise in America," the first in a series of speeches that will test potential themes for his possible run for president in 2016."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/bush-test-right-rise-policy-detroit/22836819/

Civil rights leader "always wanted to help people"

"Driven by a deep conviction, Dan Krichbaum spent decades devoting himself to building bridges and championing civil rights."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/obituaries/2015/02/04/civil-rights-leader-always-wanted-help-people/22841169/

Wayne County's deficit is 'a moving target'

"Detroit – — New Wayne County Executive Warren Evans has finished his review of the county's precarious finances and concluded the deficit is even worse than reported."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/local/wayne-county/2015/02/03/wayne-countys-deficit-moving-target/22637357/

Senate approves gun bill without PPO provision

"LANSING – The first bill to get a vote in the state Legislature this year would abolish the county boards that determine whether a person can get a concealed weapons permit."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://www.freep.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/gun-bill-reworked-apprvoed-senate/22796785/

Kildee to head up Democratic effort

"WASHINGTON – U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint Township, will head up the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee's efforts to protect vulnerable House members in the 2016 elections."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/02/03/kildee-leads-effort/22803405/

Rep. Harvey Santana booted out of Democratic caucus

"LANSING – State Rep. Harvey Santana, D-Detroit, has become a lightning rod in the state House of Representatives, for his work and occasional votes with Republicans."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/02/03/santana-kicked-democratic-caucus/22808119/

Fund-raising starts slowly for group opposing tax hike

"LANSING — The first group formed to oppose a hike in the state sales tax to fund road repairs among other things reported having raised no money in the first campaign finance report filed related to a May 5 ballot question."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://www.freep.com/story/news/politics/2015/02/03/tax-hike-opponents-raised-money-december/22813575/

Daniel Krichbaum, Michigan civil rights leader, dies

"Daniel Krichbaum, a longtime civil rights and interfaith leader who was Gov. Jennifer Granholm's chief operating officer and former director of the Michigan Department of Civil Rights, died today of complications from a cerebral hemorhage. He was 72."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/obituary/2015/02/03/civil-rights-leader-daniel-krichbaum-dies/22829463/

Senator: Plaza deal could be finalized soon

"WASHINGTON – U.S. Sen. Debbie Stabenow's office said Tuesday that she has been told a deal is apparently being worked out for the Canadian government to fund a new customs plaza in Detroit, as has been expected for many months."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/2015/02/03/plaza-deal-near/22832137/

Advocacy/Opinion

Tim Skubick: Road funding plan is in a deep pile of snow

"In keeping with the weather story that has dominated the news headlines this week, here's the latest news flash: Gov. Rick Snyder's road funding plan is buried in a deep snow pile."

Source: M-Live Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/02/tim_skubick_8.html#incart_river

Is more money needed to close K-12 achievement gap between low- and middle-income students?

"KALAMAZOO, MI -- Many high-poverty districts such as Kalamazoo Public Schools fared well on a new Bridge magazine ranking that compares school test scores to subsidized lunch participation."

Source: Kalamazoo Gazette Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/news/kalamazoo/index.ssf/2015/02/does_michigans_funding_formula.html#incart_river

Perry: How energy policy hurts Michigan

"For some time now, the Obama administration has been trying to force through a climate change policy aimed at reducing carbon emissions from electricity production, particularly coal-fired power plants. Regulations proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency could force states to shut down hundreds of coal plants and shift to natural gas and renewable energy."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/2015/02/04/mark-perry-coal/22814489/

Labor Voices: When working people win, America wins

"It was the American Dream."

Source: Detroit News Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/2015/02/04/williams-workers-america-need-wages/22814569/

Vaccination crisis leaves no room for pandering pols

"Liberty is the happy outcome achieved when a people strike the right balance between individual choice and communal rules."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/opinion/columnists/brian-dickerson/2015/02/04/vaccination-parental-choice/22835711/

Litigants Ask Supreme Court to Review County Land Bank Cherry-Picking Prime Property

"Some private real estate investors have asked the Michigan Supreme Court to review their case against the Kent County Land Bank, the Kent County treasurer, Kent County and the City of Grand Rapids after the Michigan Appeals Court rejected their claims involving tax-foreclosed property. They had argued they were deprived of the ability to purchase properties at a public auction because the land bank, a government agency, was able to cherry-pick and purchase them first, for the minimum bid."

Source: Capitol Confidential Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://www.michigancapitolconfidential.com/20956

Giving parents the tools to truly compare schools

""We just bought a new house. It's a nice house in a good neighborhood. But the big thing in our mind is the local school is really good.""

Source: Bridge Magazine Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://bridgemi.com/2015/02/giving-parents-the-tools-to-truly-compare-schools/

Michigan's overachieving school districts are State Champs

"Seventy-three Michigan school districts earned top marks from Bridge Magazine as 2014 Academic State Champs."

Source: Bridge Magazine Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://bridgemi.com/2015/02/2014-academic-state-champs-michigans-top-districts/

Press Releases

Grand Rapids Home for Veterans honored for excellence in hospice care

"LANSING, Mich. – The Grand Rapids Home for Veterans (GRHV) was recently recognized for its excellence in hospice and palliative care, receiving the 2014 Award for Excellence from Great Lakes Caring. GRHV was chosen from more than 1,200 private and public facilities, physicians and hospitals across Michigan, Indiana and Ohio."

Source: Michigan Veterans Affairs Agency Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/14230001806_grh.pdf

OAKLAND COUNTY FAMILY-FOCUSED JUVENILE DRUG COURT ART SHOW

"Oakland County, MI (February 3, 2015) – The Oakland County Family-Focused Juvenile Drug Court will once again be presenting "Self-Exploration Through Art" on Tuesday, February 10, 2015, on the second floor of the Sixth Judicial Circuit Court, 1200 North Telegraph, Pontiac, MI. The reception and art viewing will begin at 4:00 with remarks from the Honorable Mary Ellen Brennan at 4:30."

Source: Oakland County Circuit Court Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/14230000892_druu.pdf

Upton Statement on the President's Budget Proposal Including Money for Dredging the St. Joseph Harbo

"WASHINGTON, D.C. – A longtime advocate for Lake Michigan harbors, Congressman Fred Upton, R-St. Joseph, released the following statement on the news that President Obama's Fiscal Year 2016 Budget Proposal will include $45 million for Michigan civil works projects at harbors and rivers, including $1.59 million for the St. Joseph Harbor and an additional $800,000 in emergency dredging for Fiscal Year 2015.

"

Source: Congressman Fred Upton Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/14230000782_upy.pdf

Gov. Rick Snyder awards Flint $2 million in 'distressed municipalities' grants for water system inf

"LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today awarded Flint $2 million in grants for water system infrastructure improvements, part of an overall $8 million plan to help municipalities through the Financially Distressed Cities, Villages, and Townships Grant Program."

Source: Governor Rick Snyder Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1423000731_rsny.pdf

Nominations Open for Major State Bar Awards

"Nominations are now open for major State Bar of Michigan awards that will be presented at the October 2015 Annual Meeting in Novi. The Roberts P. Hudson Award goes to a person whose career has exemplified the highest ideals of the profession. This award is presented periodically to commend one or more lawyers for their unselfish rendering of outstanding and unique service to and on behalf of the State Bar, given generously, ungrudgingly, and in a spirit of self-sacrifice. It is awarded to that member of the State Bar of Michigan who best exemplifies that which brings honor, esteem and respect to the legal profession. The Hudson Award is the highest award conferred by the Bar."

Source: SBM Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1423000644_sbmm.pdf

Peters Statement on Homeland Security Funding Bill

"WASHINGTON, DC –U.S. Senator Gary Peters (MI), a member of the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee, released the following statement on the need for a clean, full-year funding bill for the Department of Homeland Security:"

Source: US Senator Gary Peters Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1423000557_usss.pdf

Risky Business Project Finds Midwest Agriculture and Manufacturing Industries Face Economic Risk fro

"LANSING— The Midwest faces potential disruptions to its agricultural economy and dangerous levels of heat in many of its largest cities if climate change continues unabated, according to a new report released last week by the Risky Business Project. Heat in the Heartland: Climate Change and Economic Risk in the Midwest details how extreme heat could transform the Midwest economy. Left unchecked, a changing climate will negatively impact crop yields and increase the incidence of extreme heat, leading to significant public health and safety risks."

Source: Byrum Fisk Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1423000495_risky.pdf

Schuette Charges Southeast Michigan Doctor with Felony Sex Offenses, Drug Delivery and Fraud

"LANSING – Attorney General Bill Schuette today announced his Health Care Fraud Division has charged Dr. John Ronald Verbovsky, 67, of Southfield, Michigan, with two counts of first degree Criminal Sexual Conduct, one count of Conducting a Criminal Enterprise -Racketeering, one count of Conspiracy to Deliver Controlled Substances less than 50 grams, and nine counts of Medicaid Fraud - False Claim. The charges allege Verbovsky orchestrated an ongoing scheme to prescribe controlled substances in exchange for sexual favors and money. "

Source: Attorney General Bill Schuette Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1423000258_schu.pdf

Santana Says He's Been Expelled From Dem Caucus -- 2:04 p.m.

"Rep. Harvey SANTANA (D-Detroit) announced this afternoon that House Democrats have decided to expel him from their caucus meetings. "

Source: Representative Harvey Santana Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999943_sant.pdf

Rockford City Manager Michael Young to Lead Statewide Municipal Managers Group

*"NOVI, Michigan – Rockford City Manager Michael Young is the new leader of a statewide association representing Michigan's municipal managers.
"*

Source: MLGMA Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999829_novii.pdf

Michigan Local Government Management Association Honors Kathie Grinzinger

"NOVI, Michigan – Former Mt. Pleasant City Manager Kathie Grinzinger received the 2014 Patriarche Colloquium Award for her continued service to Michigan communities spanning more than 30 years."

Source: MLGMA Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999713_mlmgma.pdf

Sparrow Clinton Hospital welcomes new Vice President/Chief Nursing Officer

"St. Johns, Mich. – Sparrow Clinton Hospital has named Beth Ann Daugherty, BSN, RN, MPH, CRRN, as Vice President of Patient Care Services and Chief Nursing Officer."

Source: Sparrow Hospital Date: 02-04-2015 Link:

http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999644_sp.pdf

Gary Peters Applauds Passage of Veterans Suicide Prevention Bill

"WASHINGTON, DC – U.S. Senator Gary Peters (MI) today applauded unanimous passage in the Senate of the Clay Hunt Suicide Prevention For American Veterans Act. Peters cosponsored the Senate version of the bipartisan legislation that would improve mental health care and suicide prevention for veterans. The legislation unanimously passed the House of Representatives earlier this month and now heads to the President's desk to be signed into law."

Source: US Senator Gary Peters Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999411_gp.pdf

Congresswoman Dingell Invites Local Students to Participate in "Valentines for Veterans"

"Washington, DC – Valentine's Day is February 14th, and Congresswoman Debbie Dingell (MI-12) is inviting local students to participate in the "Valentines for Veterans" program by making homemade valentines for local veterans to show them they are loved and appreciated by the community."

Source: Congresswoman Dingell Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999331_hs.pdf

Still Growing: Powerball Jackpot Climbs to $317 Million for Wednesday's Drawing

"LANSING, Mich., Feb. 3, 2015 – Michigan Lottery players looking to turn $2 into $317 million get their chance with Wednesday's Powerball drawing. Wednesday's $317 million jackpot is the second-largest Powerball jackpot in the past 12 months. In February 2014, a California man won a $425.3 million jackpot. The cash option for Wednesday's jackpot is about $221 million. Powerball was a lucrative game for Michigan Lottery players in 2014. Four players won the game's $1 million prize, including three winners in a four-day span last February."

Source: MI Lottery Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999153_mill.pdf

---

Improving our response to a severe flu season could mean saving thousands of lives

"WASHINGTON, D.C. – Congressman Fred Upton, R- St. Joseph, made the following opening statement this morning at The House Energy and Commerce Committee's Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations hearing on "Examining the U.S. Public Health Response to Seasonal Influenza."

"

Source: Congressman Fred Upton Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422999109_fupton.pdf

---

NRA-Backed Gun Bill Passes Senate: Shows GOP Has Wrong Priorities

"LANSING — Today, the Michigan Senate approved a bill that would eliminate county gun boards that approve concealed pistol licenses."

Source: Progress Michigan Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422998974_nra.pdf

GRAND HAVEN'S STEVE LOFTIS RECEIVES AWARD FOR DISTRINGUISHED SERVICE FROM THE MICHIGAN RESTAURANT A

"LANSING, MI – The Michigan Restaurant Association (MRA) is pleased to announce that Steve Loftis of Grand Haven has received the MRA Distinguished Service Award, the highest honor given by the Association. He was bestowed the honor at the MRA's annual Chairman's Dinner, held this year in Kalamazoo on January 25, 2015."

Source: Michigan Restaurant Association Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422978548_ghav.pdf

Peters Recognizes Black History Month

"WASHINGTON, DC – U.S. Senator Gary Peters (MI) released the following statement honoring the celebration of Black History Month:"

Source: United States Senate Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422976264_bhm.pdf

Last Call for McCree Award Nominations: Deadline is Friday

*"This is the last call for submissions and nominations for the State Bar of Michigan's 41st Annual Wade H. McCree Jr. Awards for the Advancement of Justice. The deadline is this Friday, Feb. 6, 2015.

"

Source: State Bar of Michigan Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422976206_sbm.pdf

2015 SBC Nominations

"TRAVERSE CITY, MI – Nominations are being accepted for the Traverse City Area Chamber of Commerce's annual Small Business Celebration."

Source: Traverse City Chambers Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422976129_sbc.pdf

Wayne County Educator Wins Excellence in Education Award from the Michigan Lottery

"LANSING, Mich., Feb. 3, 2015 – A Wayne County educator known for the individual attention she provides each student and her willingness to help them work through problems to succeed inside and outside the classroom has been honored with an Excellence in Education award from the Michigan Lottery.

"

Source: MI Lottery Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422975973_milot.pdf

MI Women Win Selects 2015-16 Leadership Team

"LANSING – State Rep. Marcia Hovey-Wright (D-Muskegon) has been elected to serve as 2015-16 chairwoman of the MI Women Win PAC, an organization dedicated to recruiting, screening, endorsing and supporting progressive women candidates seeking seats in the state Legislature. Other officers elected to serve for the current term include Vice Chairwoman Rep. Leslie Love (D-Detroit), Secretary Rep. Kristy Pagan (D-Canton) and Treasurer Rep.Vanessa Guerra (D-Saginaw)."

Source: Michigan Dems Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422975834_mwom.pdf

Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development Announces Specialty Crop Grant Opp

"

LANSING, Mich. – Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development (MDARD) Director Jamie Clover Adams today announced new opportunities for Michigan businesses thanks to the Specialty Crop Block Grant Program through the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Ag Marketing Services. The program is designed to enhance the competitiveness of Michigan's specialty crops. Grant proposals must be received by MDARD no later than 3 p.m. on March 26, 2015 by submitting them to MDA-grants@Michigan.gov."

Source: Michigan Dept of Agriculture and Rural Development Date: 02-04-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422975714_mdoaard.pdf

MDOT sharing M-123 plans at Feb. 12 meeting in Newberry

"WHAT: The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) will share plans for the upcoming resurfacing project on M-123 in Newberry and discuss a proposed lane configuration change. The project is scheduled to begin in the summer of 2016. Residents, community stakeholders and business owners can review preliminary concept drawings and ask questions of MDOT staff members.

"

Source: MDOT Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422975619_mdot.pdf

Michigander named chief speechwriter to Mitch McConnell, U.S. Senate Majority Leader

"

I wanted to update you on several changes to our leadership communications team, including the hiring of a new staff director of theSenate Republican Communications Center and the promotion of veteran staff members. Antonia Ferrier will take over as staff director for the SRCC, Brian Forest has been promoted to chief speechwriter, and Laura Hendrickson was promoted to communications manager. In addition, two new staffers will be joining the SRCC – Hunter Hawkins who will serve as creative advisor and Scott Sloofman as communications advisor. "

Source: Office of Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell Date: 02-04-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422975516_mitchm.pdf

MIRS: Michigan's oldest and most comprehensive newsletter covering the activities of Michigan state government

From the legislature to the governor, from the state bureaucracy to Michigan's courts, MIRS provides our subscribers with more news and insight than any other source.

GroupWise Users Note: If an underlined link does not work, highlight the entire link, then right-click on it and select "Go to".

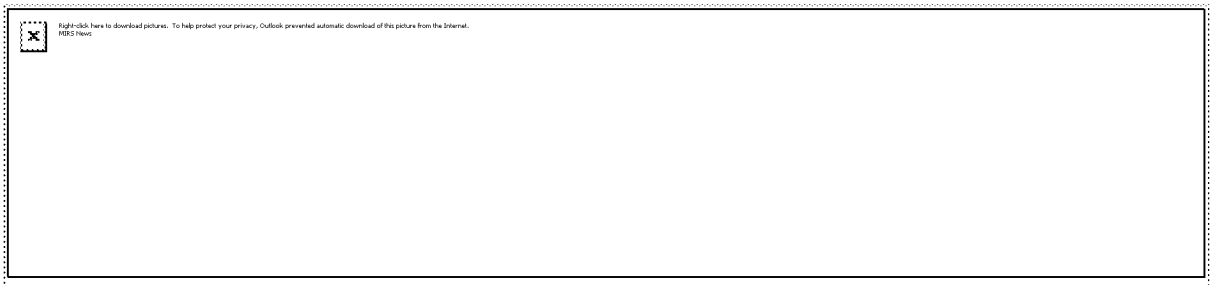
In order to read the MIRS Newsletter, you must have a username and password.

If you need a password or username to access our reports online at:
http://mirsnews.com. Please call us at (517) 482-2125 or send an email to info@mirsnews.com

© 1996-2012 Michigan Information and Research Service Inc., All Rights Reserved. Unauthorized distribution of this e-mail without permission of the publisher constitutes a violation of applicable federal copyright laws and is punishable by a fines of up to $150,000 per incident. This copyright is strictly enforced.

MIRS Inc.
910 W. Ottawa
PO Box 19303
Lansing, MI 48915
Phone 517-482-2125 Fax 517-374-0949
www.mirsnews.com

From: MIRS Delivery <mirsdelivery@mirsnews.com>
Sent: Friday, January 30, 2015 7:00 AM
To: McGroarty, Michael (CEPI)
Subject: MIRS' Statewide Headlines & Press Releases



You are receiving the following headlines from various news sources and list of recent press releases received at MIRS as part of your paid subscription to MIRSnews.com If you do not wish to receive these e-mails, please go to your MIRSnews.com account preferences.

U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee's staff sets twice-monthly 'mobile office hours' in Saginaw, Bay City

"WASHINGTON, D.C. — Staff from the office of U.S. Rep. Dan Kildee, D-Flint Township, will be available to meet with constituents in Bay City, Saginaw, Standish and Tawas City twice each month, starting in February."

Source: Saginaw News Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/news/saginaw/index.ssf/2015/01/us_rep_dan_kildees_staff_sets.html#incart_river

Snyder: Don't 'jump to conclusions' on income tax deductions for vehicle registration fees

"LANSING, MI — Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Thursday downplayed a local economist's assertion that an upcoming road funding ballot proposal will lead to higher federal income tax bills for some residents who itemize deductions."

Source: M-Live Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/01/snyder_people_shouldnt_jump_to.html#incart_river

Poll: Support for Michigan road funding starts at 46 percent, drops with additional details

"LANSING, MI — The more details that Michigan voters learn about the May 5 road funding ballot proposal, the less they like it, according to the results of a new statewide poll."

Source: M-Live Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/01/poll_support_for_michigan_road.html#incart_river

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder encourages community college leaders to 'push the envelope'

"LANSING — Gov. Rick Snyder on Thursday encouraged members of the Michigan Community College Association to push their limits, continuing his own push toward improving the junction between high school and higher education."

Source: M-Live Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/01/gov_rick_snyder_encourages_com.html#incart_river

Monitor of contract between Michigan prisons and Aramark no longer employed by the state

"LANSING — The man hired as the monitor of the contract between the Michigan Department of Corrections and Aramark is no longer employed by the state, an official confirmed Thursday.

"

Source: M-Live Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/01/monitor_of_contract_between_mi.html#incart_river

Counting Michigan's homeless humans draws down cash for services

"LANSING, MI -- I'm not sure what I expected searching for homeless people to sound like, but there's a serenity to it."

Source: M-Live Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/01/counting_michigans_homeless_hu.html#incart_river

Lawmakers combat wolf ruling; opponents offer compromise

"

MARQUETTE - While state and federal lawmakers work to combat relisting of gray wolves to the federal endangered species list in Michigan, several groups opposed to wolf hunting have offered a compromise solution.

"

Source: Mining Journal (Marquette) Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.miningjournal.net/page/content.detail/id/613007/Lawmakers-combat-wolf-ruling--opponents-

offer-compromise.html?nav=5006

State police testing drone to support public safety

"The Michigan State Police is seeking approval to use an unmanned aircraft system — commonly known as a drone — to enhance public safety efforts."

Source: Livingston County Daily Press & Argus Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.livingstondaily.com/story/news/local/community/livingston-county/2015/01/29/state-police-testing-drone-support-public-safety/22564433/

State elevator inspector out golfing charged with fraud

"Lansing — A state elevator inspector who likes to play golf is in the rough."

Source: Associated Press Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/01/29/state-inspector-golfing-charged-fraud/22542945/

Senators push auto whistle-blower bill

"Washington — – A bipartisan group of U.S. senators led by the top Republican and Democrat on the Commerce Committee reintroduced legislation Thursday to give automotive sector employees incentives to sound the alarm on vehicle defects."

Source: Detroit News Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/business/autos/2015/01/29/auto-whistle-blower-bill/22538987/

Michigan prison food monitor mysteriously departs

"Lansing — – Ed Buss, hired less than five months ago to oversee a controversial privatized state prison meal contract, has left his $160,000-a-year job despite improved performance by the food vendor in the final quarter of 2014."

Source: Detroit News Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/01/29/michigan-prison-food-monitor-mysteriously-departs/22547793/

Snyder stresses safety as road campaign kicks off

"Lansing — Gov. Rick Snyder plans to make public safety on Michigan roads the key message in selling a sales tax hike to voters this spring, even as the campaign by supporters gets off to a rocky start."

Source: Detroit News Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/michigan/2015/01/29/snyders-sales-tax-hike-campaign-team-quits/22525911/

Lottery cracking down on retailers with winning tickets

"The Michigan Lottery Bureau is cracking down on lottery retailers and their family members who frequently cash in big prizes on behalf of their customers."

Source: Detroit News Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/business/2015/01/29/lottery-probing-retailers-win-big/22565189/

Poll finds slight edge for Michigan sales tax hike

"LANSING – A plurality of likely Michigan voters would approve a 1-percentage-point increase in the state sales tax that will appear on a May 5 ballot. But the more voters hear about the complex proposal, the less they like it, according to a new poll."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/01/29/poll-michigan-sales-tax-hike/22525391/

Snyder issues directive to improve government purchasing

"LANSING – Gov. Rick Snyder says he wants to improve the state of Michigan's purchasing after identifying "gaps" in how the state currently buys goods and services."

Source: Associated Press Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/politics/2015/01/29/rick-snyder-michigan-government-purchasing/22552249/

Monitor of Michigan prison food contract leaves $160K job

"LANSING – The man Gov. Rick Snyder tapped to oversee the controversial Aramark prison food contract has left the $160,000-a-year job after less than five months, and state officials wouldn't say Thursday whether he quit or was fired."

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/01/29/aramark-prison-food-contract-monitor-leaves-suddenly/22560193/

Bond refinancing will save Ann Arbor schools taxpayers $2 million

"Ann Arbor Public Schools will save $2 to $3 million by refinancing district bonds."

Source: Ann Arbor News Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/news/ann-arbor/index.ssf/2015/01/bond_refinancing_will_save_ann.html#incart_river

Advocacy/Opinion

Tim Skubick: The four untouchable areas of the next state budget

"That collective sigh of relief you just heard was from four special interest groups that are apparently going to escape the budget axe when lawmakers start wielding it in a few weeks."

Source: M-Live Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://www.mlive.com/opinion/index.ssf/2015/01/tim_skubick_the_four_untouchab.html#incart_river

---

Telford: Snyder's school choice plan falls short

"Gov. Rick Snyder certainly didn't create Detroit's problems, but a large part of his legacy will be tied to its recovery. With the city finally emerging from bankruptcy, Snyder has sets his sights on fixing Detroit's massively dysfunctional public schools. Unfortunately during his recent State of the State address, Snyder set narrow goals focused on mending a broken system rather than laying down the groundwork for expanded educational opportunities."

Source: Detroit News Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/2015/01/30/snyder-must-expand-school-choice/22543787/

In right to work era, unions must add more value

"Union membership is declining. In fact, it's at an all-time low nationwide. And numbers dropped significantly in Michigan last year — the first full year the state was right to work. Rather than just fight against these trends, unions should devote themselves to offering their members better services.

"

Source: Detroit News Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/editorials/2015/01/29/unions-must-offer-value/22543809/

'Secret tax' allegation complicates road funding debate

"Combatants on both sides of the road tax debate are beginning to coalesce around the sales strategies they hope will carry the day in the May 5 election that will determine the fate of the $1.8-billion initiative.

"

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/opinion/columnists/brian-dickerson/2015/01/29/road-tax-debate-michigan--egistrastion-fees/22547105/

Federal Government Stymies Energy Production on its Land

"In an April 3, 2013 statement, the White House boasted of how domestic oil production had climbed every year since President Barack Obama took office. Among other claims, the document stated, "U.S. production of oil is rising under Obama.""

Source: Capitol Confidential Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.michigancapitolconfidential.com/20938

Two Cheers for Legislators on Licensing

"An important if usually under-the-radar public policy issue is occupational licensing – state rules that require residents to meet various criteria (and pay for them) before they may earn a living in a particular profession."

Source: Capitol Confidential Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.michigancapitolconfidential.com/20936

Granholm Too Cool For Her Own Cool Initiative?

"Recent research into the archives of former Gov. Jennifer Granholm uncovered one of her speeches on the "Cool Cities" concept. The document, housed at the University of Michigan's Bentley Historical Library, raises several questions that are worth asking, given that the former governor is in Detroit for a speaking engagement.

"

Source: Capitol Confidential Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://www.michigancapitolconfidential.com/20947

Michigan criminal code encroaching on civil liberties

"Phil Powers and I were on the same wavelength last week, frustrated by the proliferation of often absurd crimes in the Great Lakes State ("Crime Crime Everywhere"). I don't need to add to Mr. Power's list, but suffice it to say that the Michigan Penal Code contains about 918 sections, which is eight times the number of the Model Penal Code and, with 3,100 identified criminal offenses, far more than nearby Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin. It seems that those in the Michigan legislature believe if we propose and pass laws often enough, nothing bad will happen."

Source: Bridge Magazine Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://bridgemi.com/2015/01/michigan-criminal-code-encroaching-on-civil-liberties/

MSU Dean: Obama's free college plan is not best path to a degree

"In a Bridge Magazine column this week, Chuck Wilbur voiced support for President Obama's proposal to offer two years of community college free to all students across the country. Wilbur is right that expanding access to higher education is critical to Michigan's continuing economic recovery from the worst recession in generations. But his support of the president's plan is misguided, and will not result in the best use of the state's limited resources."

Source: Bridge Magazine Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://bridgemi.com/2015/01/msu-dean-obamas-free-college-plan-is-not-best-path-to-a-degree/

Cringe over troubled water – Flint's smelly dilemma

"Ineatha Waters pays for water she does not drink."

Source: Bridge Magazine Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://bridgemi.com/2015/01/cringe-over-troubled-water-flints-smelly-dilemma/

Press Releases

Huron and Lapeer counties slated to receive Transportation Economic Development Fund grants

"January 29, 2015 -- The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is awarding state transportation economic development grants that will support 135 new jobs in Huron and Lapeer counties. The Transportation Economic Development Fund (TEDF) Category A grants totaling $974,084 will leverage $5,020,000 in private investment, at a private/public investment ratio of approximately 5-to-1."

Source: MDOT Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422579442_mdot6.pdf

LGBT Youth Deserve To Learn in Environments Free From Harassment and Bullying

"WASHINGTON - Today, the Human Rights Campaign, the nation's largest lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) civil rights organization, praised the bipartisan reintroduction of the Safe Schools Improvement Act (SSIA) by U.S. Senators Bob Casey (D-PA) and Mark Kirk (R-IL). SSIA would amend the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) to require school districts in states that receive ESEA funds to adopt codes of conduct specifically prohibiting bullying and harassment, including on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and religion."

Source: Human Rights Campaign Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422577452_lgbt.pdf

Lathrup Village Citizens Submit Term Limits Petitions

"Citizen activists Robert and Regina Brim of Lathrup Village, Michigan, turned in petitions to their city clerk's office Tuesday, bearing the signatures of 241 registered voters, more than enough to require the measure be placed on the May 2015 ballot."

Source: Robert and Regina Brim Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422577254_lathrup.pdf

Peters Statement Senate Passage of Keystone XL Pipeline Bill

"WASHINGTON, DC –Below is a statement from U.S. Senator Gary Peters (MI) on today's Senate passage of legislation authorizing construction of the Keystone XL Pipeline:"

Source: U.S. Senator Gary Peters Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422577125_peters.pdf

AFP: Stabenow and Peters Placed Special Interests Above Job-Creation

"LANSING - Americans for Prosperity's Michigan State Director, Scott Hagerstrom, issued the following statement in response to Senator Debbie Stabenow and Gary Peters votes today against approving Keystone XL pipeline construction."

Source: Americans for Prosperity Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422577000_afp.pdf

Transportation economic development grant to support 211 jobs in

Brighton

"January 29, 2015 -- The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is awarding a state transportation economic development grant to the City of Brighton, in Livingston County, that will support 211 full-time jobs. The Transportation Economic Development Fund (TEDF) Category A grant totaling $379,876 will leverage $12,943,000 in private investment, at a private/public investment ratio of 34-to-1."

Source: MDOT Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422576381_mdot5.pdf

Upton Announces Tyler Zortman Appointed to West Point

"Congressman Fred Upton, R-St. Joseph, today announced the appointment of Tyler Kenneth Zortman of Augusta to the United States Military Academy at West Point. Upton nominated Zortman to the prestigious academy and personally congratulated him on his appointment."

Source: Congressman Fred Upton Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422576344_upton.pdf

Consumers Energy Issues 'Safety First' Message to Outdoor Enthusiasts Near Open Water at Plant Sites

"JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 29, 2015 – Consumers Energy is advising outdoor enthusiasts to practice extreme caution when taking part in activities on or near open water surrounding its generating and hydroelectric plants. "

Source: Consumers Energy Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422576269_01-29-15 NR Ice Safety.pdf

---

Resignation of Michigan Realtors® CEO Bill Martin

"The Michigan Realtors® announced today the departure of Chief Executive Officer Bill Martin, effective March 20, 2015. The association also announces the promotion of Robert Campau to the position of CEO, effective March 20, 2015. Martin has served the association as CEO since 2002. Campau joined the Michigan Realtors® in 1994 and most recently served as the Chief Operating Officer."

Source: Michigan Realtors Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422576186_Press release for Bill 1-29-15.pdf

---

Lake Orion Woman Wins $75,000 Playing Cashword Online from Michigan Lottery

"LANSING, Mich., Jan. 29, 2015 – Winning $75,000 playing the Michigan Lottery's online Cashword game led to a sleepless night and a big secret for a Lake Orion woman."

Source: Michigan Lottery Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422576082_lottery.pdf

---

Snyder Media Advisory for Friday, Jan. 30

"Lt. Gov. Brian Calley will give remarks at the grand opening of St. Joseph County's new diversion assessment center. The center is one of eight pilot programs across the state working to help divert residents from incarceration and connect them with the help they need. Calley will be joined by Michigan Department of Corrections director Dan Heyns, U.S. Rep. Fred Upton and representatives from the Michigan Department of Community Health and St. Joseph County officials."

Source: Gov. Newsroom Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422576016_gov2.pdf

Showcasing the DNR: Get hooked on fun, camaraderie of ice fishing

"Fishing is a year-round activity and when the thermometer plunges below freezing in Michigan, most anglers have little choice but to hit the hard water. Ice fishing becomes the go-to activity until spring."

Source: Michigan DNR Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422575889_dnr.pdf

Proos, Upton urge approval of the Keystone XL pipeline

"LANSING—Sen. John Proos on Wednesday introduced a resolution calling on the president and the U.S. secretary of state to support North American energy development by approving the newly routed Keystone XL pipeline to safely bring Canadian oil to American refineries—a measure he says would create Michigan jobs as well as promote national defense interests."

Source: Senator John Proos Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570669_proos.pdf

State transportation economic development grants to support nearly 1,500 jobs in southeast Michigan

"January 29, 2015 -- The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is awarding state transportation economic development grants that will support 1,474 new and existing jobs in Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, and Wayne counties. The Transportation Economic Development Fund (TEDF) Category A grants totaling $4,141,911 will help leverage $181,352,380 in private investment, at a private/public investment ratio of nearly 44-to-1."

Source: MDOT Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570811_mdot4.pdf

Transportation economic development grant will support 254 new jobs in Calhoun County

"January 29, 2015 -- The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is awarding a state transportation economic development grant that will support 254 new jobs in Calhoun County. The Transportation Economic Development Fund (TEDF) Category A grant totaling $1,364,991 will leverage $78.4 million in private investment, at a private/public investment ratio of 57-to-1."

Source: MDOT Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570768_mdot3.pdf

Huron and Lapeer counties slated to receive Transportation Economic Development Fund grants

"January 29, 2015 -- The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is awarding state transportation economic development grants that will support 135 new jobs in Huron and Lapeer counties. The Transportation Economic Development Fund (TEDF) Category A grant totaling $873,199 will leverage $5,020,000 in private investment, at a private/public investment ratio of approximately 5-to-1."

Source: MDOT Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570704_mdot2.pdf

MEDIA ADVISORY: Area Leaders to Respond to Bernero's Proposed Board of Water and Light Changes

"Lansing — Elected officials from the Greater Lansing area will be available to respond to Lansing Mayor Virg Bernero's State of the City address today in which he will detail his proposal to make the Lansing Board of Water & Light a city run department."

Source: Robert McCann Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570656_media.pdf

December Jobless Rates Little Changed in Most of Michigan's Regional Labor Markets

"Lansing – Seasonally unadjusted unemployment rates in December were mixed and little changed in the 17 major labor market regions in Michigan, according to the Michigan Department of Technology, Management & Budget. Total employment declined seasonally in most regions over the month while labor force levels were mixed."

Source: Michigan Dept. of Technology, Management & Budget Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570592_dtmb.pdf

MAPSA Condemns Saginaw School Board's Decision to Waste $5.75 Million in Taxpayer Money

"LANSING, Michigan (January 29, 2015) – The Michigan Association of Public School Academies (MAPSA), the state charter school association, is condemning a decision by the Saginaw School Board to demolish a school building so that it can't be sold to a charter school."

Source: Michigan Association of Public School Academies Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570475_PRESS RELEASE - MAPSA STATEMENT ON SAGINAW SCHOOL DEMOLITION.pdf

Dr. Benishek Comments on VA Hearing

"WASHINGTON, D.C.- On Wednesday, Jan. 28, 2015, Congressman Dan Benishek chaired a House Committee on Veterans' Affairs Subcommittee on Health oversight hearing regarding the quality and cost of medical care the Department of Veterans Affairs provides to veteran patients. The hearing examined a recent Congressional Budget Office (CBO) analysis comparing VA health care costs with those of private sector health care systems. The hearing also looked at non-cost factors such as quality of care and patient satisfaction that impact the overall value of the care VA provides. "

Source: U.S. Congressman Dan Benishek Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570383_drdan.pdf

Gov. Rick Snyder issues executive directive streamlining state purchasing procedures

"LANSING, Mich. – As part of continued efforts to improve the efficiency and transparency of state government, Gov. Rick Snyder Tuesday issued an executive directive calling for a formalized process for all purchasing done by the state. "

Source: Gov. Newsroom Date: 01-30-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570336_gov.pdf

REVISION- New location: Public open house to discuss reconstruction of I-96/Cascade Road interchange

"Public open house to discuss the planned 2015-16 reconstruction of the I-96/Cascade Road interchange in Grand Rapids Township. Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) and township officials will be available for questions and comments."

Source: MDOT Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570304_mdot.pdf

U.S. Rep. Brenda L. Lawrence appointed to serve as ranking member of Committee

"Washington, D.C. – U.S. Rep. Brenda L. Lawrence of Michigan's 14th Congressional District has been appointed to serve as ranking member of the Committee on Oversight & Government Reform Interior Subcommittee. "

Source: U.S. Rep. Brenda Lawrence Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570257_lawrence.pdf

---

Schuette Announces Charges Against State Employee for Fraud

"LANSING – Attorney General Bill Schuette today announced that his Public Integrity Unit (PIU) has charged Werner Noll, 63, of Kalamazoo with fraud. Noll has been employed by the State of Michigan's Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (LARA) as an Elevator Inspector since 1998. These charges follow an investigation by Schuette's PIU and LARA into Noll's alleged golfing activity and use of a state vehicle for private use while on the state taxpayers' dime."

Source: Attorney General Bill Schuette Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422570193_ag.pdf

Truscott Rossman Expands Detroit Office With Hire of New Account Executive

"

DETROIT – Truscott Rossman is expanding its Detroit team with the addition of recent Michigan State University graduate Matt Brady as account executive."

Source: Truscott Rossman Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422548984_NEWS RELEASE - Truscott Rossman Expands Detroit Office With Hire of New Account Executive .pdf

---

Boy Scouts of America, Governor Walker to honor class of top achievers

"Grand Rapids, Mich. – Wisconsin Governor Scott Walker will join the President Ford Field Service Council of the Boy Scouts of America in honoring more than 200 new Eagle Scouts and Venturing Silver Award recipients at the Building Character Celebration on February 25, 2015."

Source: President Ford Field Service Council Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422548468_scouts.pdf

---

Study: Michigan Performs Poorly on Women's, Children's Well-Being

"LANSING, Mich. — Michigan performs below average on indicators of women's and children's health and socioeconomic well-being, especially when it comes to mortality rates and the percentage of children living in poverty, according to a new study released today at an event hosted by MI Lead."

Source: Martin Waymire Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422548335_strongw.pdf

---

MDOT construction 01/30/15-02/02/15

"The following weekend construction activities are scheduled, in addition to work already in place. As always, some work may be postponed due to weather or other circumstances. For the latest information, please follow on Twitter @ MDOT_MetroDet and always check MDOT's website before traveling, Michigan.gov/drive, where you can search by route, county, and date.

"
Source: MDOT Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422548231_mdot1.pdf

KALAMAZOO'S KEN MILLER ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF THE MICHIGAN RESTAURANT ASSOCIATION BOARD OF DIRECTORS

"LANSING, MI – Ken Miller was elected Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Michigan Restaurant Association (MRA) at its board meeting on January 26. Miller is the CEO of Millennium Restaurant Group in Kalamazoo, which includes Martell's, Epic Bistro, Central City Tap House, The Union Cabaret and Grille, Fieldstone Grill, The Wine Loft, Panini Express, Centre Street Tap House, Cityscape Events, The Idler Riverboat, and Millennium Catering."

Source: Michigan Restaurant Association Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422548159_km.pdf

Peters Joins Senate Great Lakes Task Force

"WASHINGTON, DC – U.S. Senator Gary Peters today announced he has joined the Senate Great Lakes Task Force, a bipartisan working group made up of Senators representing the states bordering the Great Lakes. Peters will work with Great Lakes Task Force co-chair Senator Debbie Stabenow and his colleagues in the Senate to preserve and protect our Great Lakes, highlight the economic benefits that come from the Great Lakes and the need to combat threats from invasive species, including Asian Carp. As a member of the U.S. House of Representatives, Peters served on the House Great Lakes Task Force."

Source: US Senator Gary Peters Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422548073_usp.pdf

Lucky For Life: First Drawing Takes Place Tonight

"LANSING, Mich., Jan. 29, 2015 – Michigan Lottery players have a chance to be part of history tonight by purchasing a ticket for the first Lucky For Life drawing. Tickets for the Lottery's newest draw game went on sale Tuesday."

Source: MI Lottery Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422548010_mil.pdf

Metzenbaum to discuss innovation in government at UM lecture

"The Citizens Research Council of Michigan and our friends at the University of Michigan invite you to join us for a public lecture about the excitement of working in government and how one person can make a difference using the tools of outcomes-focused goals and measurement to illuminate, motivate, and communicate. Shelley Metzenbaum, President of the Volcker Alliance will give a lecture entitled "Can You Be an Entrepreneur in Government?""

Source: Citizens Research Council of Michigan Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422547963_umh.pdf

Report Released - MSP, Forensic Science Division

"Performance audit of the Forensic Science Division, Michigan Department of State Police"

Source: Office of the Auditor General Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422547832_ooag.pdf

Citizens United and unlimited spending: Is free speech really free?

"GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — According to a national campaign finance reform organization, the average political donation per person in the United States in the 2012 election cycle was less than $10. But according to a New York Times report, in 2016, billionaire brothers Charles and David Koch and their vast political network are expected to spend nearly $900 million, the same amount each of the parties are expected to spend on campaigns."

Source: GVSU Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422547186_gvsu.pdf

Consumers Energy Announces Executive Changes, Building on Customer Focus and Commitment to Michigan

"JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 28, 2015 – Consumers Energy, Michigan's largest utility and the fourth-largest U.S. combination utility, announced today several leadership moves that build on its customer-first focus and commitment to serving Michigan."

Source: Consumers Energy Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422547125_cone.pdf

JUDGE WARREN, BAR ASSOCIATIONS AND PATRIOT WEEK TEACH DETROIT STUDENTS ABOUT MARTIN LUTHER KING JR

"Detroit, MI (January 27, 2015) – Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Michael Warren teamed with several local bar associations and Patriot Week recently to teach Detroit high school students about the legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr. Lawyers and law students from the Wolverine Bar Association, the Straker Bar Association, the Black Women Lawyers Association and the Damon Keith Center joined Judge Warren in programs at the Cornerstone Health + Technology High School and White Academy."

Source: Oakland County Circuit Court Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422547008_oak.pdf

Peters, Stabenow Denounce Republican Opposition to Protecting Michigan's Environment

"WASHINGTON, DC – U.S. Senators Gary Peters and Debbie Stabenow expressed disappointment after their amendment to protect Michigan's environment and enhance oversight over aging pipelines in the Great Lakes, such as those underneath the Straits of Mackinac, was defeated today. The amendment, which was offered during Senate consideration of legislation authorizing construction of the Keystone XL Pipeline, was opposed by a majority of Republicans."

Source: US Senator Gary Peters Date: 01-30-2015 Link:
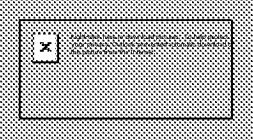
http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1422546791_psiatiocap.pdf

---

MIRS: Michigan's oldest and most comprehensive newsletter covering the activities of Michigan state government

From the legislature to the governor, from the state bureaucracy to Michigan's courts, MIRS provides our subscribers with more news and insight than any other source.



GroupWise Users Note: If an underlined link does not work, highlight the entire link, then right-click on it and select "Go to".

In order to read the MIRS Newsletter, you must have a username and password.

If you need a password or username to access our reports online at:
http://mirsnews.com. Please call us at (517) 482-2125 or send an email to info@mirsnews.com

© 1996-2012 Michigan Information and Research Service Inc., All Rights Reserved. Unauthorized distribution of this e-mail without permission of the publisher constitutes a violation of applicable federal copyright laws and is punishable by a fines of up to $150,000 per incident. This copyright is strictly enforced.

MIRS Inc.
910 W. Ottawa
PO Box 19303
Lansing, MI 48915
Phone 517-482-2125 Fax 517-374-0949
www.mirsnews.com

From: MIRS Delivery <mirsdelivery@mirsnews.com>
Sent: Thursday, May 07, 2015 6:46 AM
To: McGroarty, Michael (CEPI)
Subject: MIRS' Statewide Headlines & Press Releases

You are receiving the following headlines from various news sources and list of recent press releases received at MIRS as part of your paid

Lawmakers look for alternatives to Proposal 1

"After the overwhelming rejection of the Proposal 1, state lawmakers are back to the drawing board."

Source: Port Huron Times Herald Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.thetimesherald.com/story/news/local/2015/05/06/lawmakers-look-alter

About 1 in 4 Michiganders voted in Tuesday's election

"LANSING, MI — About one in every four registered Michiganders came out to vote for Proposal 1, which aimed to raise taxes to pay for roa

Source: M-Live Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/05/about_1_in_4_michiganders_vote.html#incar

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder 'has not made any decisions' on presidential run

"LANSING, MI — Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder "has not made any decisions" about entering the Republican presidential field, a spokeswoma

Source: M-Live Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/lansing-news/index.ssf/2015/05/michigan_gov_rick_snyder_has_n.html#incar

Proposal 1 margin was wide in county

"Final vote totals from Tuesday's election confirmed what most people already knew — Livingston County voters were dead set against Prop

Source: Livingston County Daily Press & Argus Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.livingstondaily.com/story/news/politics/2015/05/06/propo

Gov. Rick Snyder says 'no one to blame' for Prop 1 failure

"HOLLAND, MI – If Gov. Rick Snyder is perturbed voters soundly rejected his road-fixing Proposal 1 on Tuesday, he wasn't showing it on W

Source: Grand Rapids Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/news/grand-rapids/index.ssf/2015/05/gov_snyder_says_no_one

Tea Party calls Proposal 1 thumping a mandate for funding roads with budget cuts

"WEST MICHIGAN – Six months ago, 62 percent of Kent County voters supported Gov. Rick Snyder's re-election."

Source: Grand Rapids Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/news/grand-rapids/index.ssf/2015/05/tea_party_calls_proposal_

EPA sets rules to protect from drinking water toxins

"With harmful algal blooms an increasing problem, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has issued a new set of health advisory rules t

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/05/06/epa-sets-rules-protect-drin

Dingell to become UM guest lecturer and scholar

"John Dingell, the recently retired longest-serving member of Congress, announced Wednesday a partnership with the University of Michiga

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/05/06/dingell-become-um-guest-lecturer

Officials say Prop 1's loss means roads will get worse

"Detroit area road officials said Wednesday Proposal 1's crushing defeat Tuesday doesn't change the dire need for millions of dollars more i

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/05/06/officials-say-prop-loss-means-roa

Prop 1 suffers worst ballot measure defeat in 50 years

"Proposal 1 suffered the worst defeat Tuesday of any Michigan ballot measure since the current Constitution was adopted more than a half-c

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/05/06/prop-suffers-worst-ballot-measure

Snyder resumes national travel to tout 'comeback'

"Gov. Rick Snyder is resuming his national travel schedule Thursday, fresh off a "disappointing" defeat Tuesday by Michigan voters of the Pr

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/05/07/snyder-resumes-national-travel-to

Spokeswoman denies Snyder has made White House decision

"A Snyder administration spokeswoman denied a report Wednesday that the Republican governor has decided against running for president

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/05/06/spokeswoman-denies-snyder-mad

Road map after Prop 1's failure is full of holes

"Lansing — Reeling from a historic voter defeat of a proposed sales tax increase, Gov. Rick Snyder and legislative leaders disagreed Wedne

"

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/05/06/snyder-hopes-legislation-solution-

Tesla acquires Michigan-based auto supplier

"Washington — Tesla Motors Inc. confirmed late Wednesday it has acquired a west Michigan auto supplier as it ramps up production of elec

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/business/autos/2015/05/07/tesla-acquires-michigan-based-

Flags to be lowered in Michigan after SEAL's death

"LANSING – U.S. flags will be lowered Friday in Michigan for a second Navy SEAL who died following a training accident in a swimming poo

Source: Associated Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/05/06/flags-michigan-seal-training-

Time for districts to regroup after school bond failures

"School administrators in districts with failed bond proposals Tuesday were licking their wounds Wednesday and looking ahead to figure out

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/05/06/bond-proposal-millages-rej

Oil and gas pipeline info would become secret under state bill

"It's a matter of national security, says state Rep. Kurt Heise: Keeping information about oil and gas pipelines, high-powered electrical lines a

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/05/07/oil-gas-pipelines-freedom-in

Dead heat: Snyder vs. politics writer too close to call

"It's not clear yet whether Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder intends to run for president or is merely taking advantage of the national media specula

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/2015/05/06/dead-heat-snyder-vs-writer-close-cal

Dingell papers go to University of Michigan

"WASHINGTON — Think of your biggest move ever and how many boxes it took: What, 20? Thirty? More?"

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/2015/05/06/dingell-collection-um/70900390/

Snyder draws flak as he heads to NYC after Prop 1 loss

"LANSING – Gov. Rick Snyder leaves for New York City Thursday for a two-day trip that's expected to renew speculation about his possible

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/05/06/snyder-proposal-aftermath-

House speaker plans road fix bills in days

"LANSING — One thing came through to Gov. Rick Snyder and legislators Tuesday night when voters pummeled a proposal to raise the sal

"

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/news/local/michigan/2015/05/06/house-plan-roads-will-introd

A first in Michigan: Tesla buys Grand Rapids auto supplier

"Tesla Motors is acquiring a Grand Rapids-based auto supplier, giving the Silicon Valley technology company a manufacturing presence in M

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/money/cars/2015/05/06/tesla-motors-acquisition-riviera-tool-

John Dingell donates 6 decades of materials to U-M's Bentley Historical Library

"Earlier this month, John Dingell, the former U.S. Congressman for Michigan's 12th Congressional District, was at the University of Michigan

Source: Ann Arbor News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.mlive.com/news/ann-arbor/index.ssf/2015/05/john_dingell_donates_6_decade

Advocacy/Opinion

On a college campus, it's not easy being conservative

"As a political science student at the University of Michigan I always felt as though I had to tiptoe around class discussions in fear of outing m

"

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/2015/05/07/draplin-conservative-umich/70899414/

Editor's Note: Flint botches mayoral race

"Just a week after the governor announced the end of Flint's financial emergency, the city is experiencing severe pains as it returns to local c

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/columnists/ingrid-jacques/2015/05/07/jacques-flint-

Lapointe: Michigan needs toll roads

"The defeat of Proposition 1, which would've funded a roads fix in Michigan, is why the Great Lakes State needs toll roads."

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/2015/05/07/michigan-needs-toll-roads/70899510/

Finley: Stay home and fight for roads, Gov. Snyder

"Gov. Rick Snyder said he would wait until after this week's special road funding election to decide whether he'll run for president. The overw

"

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/columnists/nolan-finley/2015/05/06/finley-presidenti

Howes: Michigan 'comeback' narrative meets cold reality

"On his morning-after call to discuss the 4-1 defeat of Proposal One, the ill-conceived roads measure, no one asked Gov. Rick Snyder about

"

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/business/columnists/daniel-howes/2015/05/06/howes-michi

Editorial: Finish work on grading teachers

"Michigan continues to lag the nation in the performance of its students. And since teachers play the biggest role in determining how well the

"

Source: Detroit News Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.detroitnews.com/story/opinion/editorials/2015/05/06/editorial-grading-teachers/708

Voters spoke on Prop 1, but what did our leaders hear?

"The day after a ballot proposal to fix our jacked-up roads flopped in spectacular fashion, we know one thing: Our elected officials are ready t

Source: Detroit Free Press Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.freep.com/story/opinion/columnists/nancy-kaffer/2015/05/06/roads-michigan/

Detroit Public Schools Gave 8 of 10 Teachers Highest Rating Despite Being Nation's Worst Urban

"When Gov. Rick Snyder recently proposed creating a new school district organization to serve Detroit schoolchildren, he cited a "lack of edu

Source: Capitol Confidential Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://www.michigancapitolconfidential.com/21275

---

5 ways to improve standardized testing in Michigan schools

"In the Clarkston Community Schools, we have established a clear vision: to cultivate thinkers, learners, and positive contributors to a global engaging in co-curricular activities, and pursuing their passions. When an assessment disrupts learning, puts undue physical and emotional

Source: Bridge Magazine Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://bridgemi.com/2015/05/5-ways-to-improve-standardized-testing-in-michigan-schools

Press Releases

Lane closure clarification - US-10 bridge replacement over I-75 in Bay County

"The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is replacing both the eastbound and westbound US-10 bridges over I-75. The westbou

"

Source: MDOT Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430945394_mdp.pdf

Senate panel approves Jones bill to protect charitable gaming

"LANSING—Legislation sponsored by Sen. Rick Jones to allow charity poker rooms to continue to operate in Michigan was approved Wedn

Source: Senator Rick Jones Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430944182_rj.pdf

---

9 Mile Road bridge replacement over US-10 begins May 15

"The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) will be replacing the 9 Mile Road bridge over US-10 at Exit 134.

"

Source: MDOT Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430942941_md.pdf

Dr. Benishek Reminds Local Farmers of Expanded Crop Insurance

"Washington, D.C- As a result of the 2014 Farm Bill, which Dr. Benishek helped craft as a member of the House Committee on Agriculture, s insurance subsidies. These changes help to ensure that there will be less soil erosion and that wetlands will be protected in agricultural area

Source: US Congressman Dan Benishek Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430941438_beni.pdf

MAC still sees simple, direct election on 1-cent sales tax boost as best way to address roads crisi

"LANSING, MICH. – The Michigan Association of Counties (MAC) reiterated today its longstanding support for a statewide vote to increase

Source: Michigan Association of Counties Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430941373_mac.pdf

Beyond Nuclear decries Canadian radioactive waste dump on Great Lakes shore, as Environmenta

""Beyond Nuclear joins with a growing groundswell of environmental and public interest groups, concerned residents, and governmental bod Ontario."

Source: Beyond Nuclear Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430941332_nuc.pdf

Rep. Pettalia: Back to work on Michigan roads

"An 80-to-20 percent trouncing of the May 5 road funding ballot proposal put an exclamation point on the deep rumblings state Rep. Peter Pe

Source: Rep. Pettalia Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430941296_pettal.pdf

DEQ grants $2.8 million for scrap tire market development

"The DEQ today announced the award of $2.8 million in grants to help develop new markets for scrap tire

Source: Michigan Dept. of Environmental Quality Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430941263_envi.pdf

New Flint AmeriCorps Project Will Provide New Educational Programming for Young Students and

"FLINT, MICH. –The Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS), the federal agency that ac

"

Source: Michigan Community Service Commission Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430941204_edu.pd

Sen. Zorn named Michigan Community Action Legislator of the Year

"LANSING—Sen. Dale Zorn, R-Ida, was named Legislator of the Year by Michigan Community Action during the organization's Community

Source: Senator Zorn Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430941139_zorn.pdf

WLNS 6 anchor to host annual auction fundraiser to prevent child abuse, neglect

"LANSING, Mich., May 6, 2015 – Chivon Kloepfer, "6 News this Morning" and Noon Newscast anchor for WLNS 6 News, will serve as host efforts to prevent child abuse and neglect.

"

Source: Byrum Fisk Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936678_wlns.pdf

Summer 2015 Job Market Forecast For Michigan Teens (Ages 16-19)

"Lansing – The Michigan Department of Technology, Management & Budget has released its summer (June–August) teen employment forec teen labor market is expected to remain competitive during the summer of 2015."

Source: Dept. of Technology, Management & Budget Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936606_teen

Dingell Applauds $38,000 in NEA Funding for Dearborn & Ann Arbor Organizations

"DEARBORN, MI – Congresswoman Debbie Dingell (MI-12) today applauded the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) for awarding three

Source: Congresswoman Dingell Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936545_ding.pdf

May is Skin Cancer Detection and Prevention Month

"LANSING, Mich. – While high school students are not using indoor tanning salons as much as they have in the past, exposure to sunlight a Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) is recognizing May as Skin Cancer Detection and Prevention Month.

"

Source: Michigan Department of Health and Human Services Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/14309365

M-26 resurfacing in Houghton, Ontonagon counties starts May 7

"The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) will resurface 20.8 miles of M-26 from US-45 north to Twin Lakes Road in Ontonagon

"

Source: MDOT Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936471_onton.pdf

M-28 resurfacing in Gogebic, Ontonagon and Houghton counties starts May 11

"The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) will resurface 23.8 miles of M-28 from Tula to Bergland, from Ewen to Bruce Crossing,

"

Source: MDOT Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936434_mdot.pdf

House Dems Work on Road Plan in Absence of GOP Colleagues

"LANSING — Members of the House Democratic Caucus traveled to the state Capitol today to begin work on a new plan to raise money to f

"

Source: Michigan Dems Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936398_dems.pdf

Michigan Lottery Players Club Winners Announced

"LANSING, Mich., May 6, 2015 – Three lucky players have won big prizes playing giveaway contests from the Michigan Lottery's Players Cl

Source: MI Lottery Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936364_lotto.pdf

Peters Has Busy First 4 Months as Michigan's New Senator

"WASHINGTON, D.C. – It's been four months now since U.S. Senator Gary Peters (MI) was sworn in to serve Michigan in the Senate. Durin

Source: Senator Peters Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936318_pete.pdf

MICHAUTO LEADS GROUP OF MICHIGAN-BASED AUTO SUPPLIERS TO MEET WITH LEGISLATO

"LANSING, May 6, 2015 – Today, MICHauto, an initiative of the Detroit Regional Chamber, is taking a dozen Michigan-based automotive su stakeholders and legislative leadership in Lansing.
"

Source: MICHauto Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936279_michauto.pdf

Rep. Lucido introduces bill to fund road repairs without any tax increase

"Legislation introduced by state Rep. Peter J. Lucido would fund much-needed road and infrastructure repairs in Michigan by tapping an alre

Source: Rep. Lucido Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936177_luc.pdf

DNR seeks input on plans for State Game Areas in southwestern Michigan

"State game area managers with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are seeking public input on several draft master plans for s

Source: MDNR Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936129_jor.pdf

DEQ Livestock Factory Permit Change: Important but Small Change in Nutrient Pollution of Lake E

"The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) announced a change to water quality permits for livestock factories, known as co follow the same restrictions as permitted CAFOs regarding application of wastes to fields. "

Source: Michigan Sierra Club Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936088_deq.pdf

Rep. Hughes invites local residents to testify on retroactive sex crimes bill

"State Rep. Holly Hughes, R-Muskegon, recently introduced legislation to eliminate the statute of limitations for First Degree Criminal Sexual

Source: Michigan House Republicans Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936052_mihouserepub.pdf

World's Leading Skeptics of Man-Caused Global Warming Gather in Washington, DC

"

The Tenth International Conference on Climate Change (#ICCC10) will take place on Thursday, June 11 and Friday, June 12, 2015 at the W
"

Source: The Heartland Institute Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430936005_heart.pdf

Statement from Rob Fowler, President and CEO of the Small Business Association of Michigan, o

"Michigan voters on May 5 made two things abundantly clear: Michigan's roads and bridges must be fixed but Proposal 1 was not the solutio

Source: Small Business Association of Michigan Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935950_smbus.pd

Strategic Plans for Bicycling To Be Presented May 13

"A public meeting to discuss how bike-friendly facilities tie into lifting the region's stature as a great place to live, work and play."

Source: MDOT Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935909_bike.pdf

Statement from Citizens for Modernizing East Lansing's Charter on election win

"

EAST LANSING– The following is a statement from Citizens for Modernizing East Lansing's Charter (CMELC) on yesterday's election wi

"

Source: Byrum Fisk Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935867_citi.pdf

Governor Proclaims May as Building Safety Month

"May 6, 2015. Governor Rick Snyder today issued a proclamation declaring May as Building Safety Month to highlight the importance of buil

"

Source: LARA Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935817_lar.pdf

DNR creel clerks to collect angler information

"As this year's open-water fishing season gets under way, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources reminds anglers that fisheries pers

Source: MDNR Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935762_mdn.pdf

US-31 bridge repairs over Washington Avenue in Holland start Monday

"The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) will be repairing the US-31 bridge over Washington Avenue in Holland."

Source: MDOT Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935723_closu.pdf

Peters Cosponsors Bill Supporting Veteran Entrepreneurs, Observes National Small Business We

"WASHINGTON, DC – U.S. Senator Gary Peters (MI), a member of the Senate Small Business and Entrepreneurship Committee, today ann
Administration (SBA)'s Express loans for veterans and would require the SBA to review existing programs that support veterans before and a

Source: Senator Peters Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935512_pet.pdf

SECOND HEARING COVERING MEDICAL MARIJUANA BILLS TO TAKE PLACE IN LANSING PUBL

"LANSING, MI: The House of Representatives Judiciary Committee will be holding an additional hearing May 7th with public testimony with m around the state will also testify. The NPRA's goal is to make safe access to medical marijuana a reality in Michigan. With so many chil
"

Source: Mort Meisner Associates Date: 05-07-2015 Link: http://mirsnews.com/pdfs/Press_Releases/1430935475_mary.pdf

Marriage Freedom Advocate Rev. Neil Carrick to Speak at Libertarian Convention in Kalamazoo

"

Kalamazoo MI – Rev. Neil Carrick will be the featured luncheon speaker at the Libertarian Party of Michigan (LPM) State Convention on Satu

"

Source: Reverend Neil Patrick Carrick Date: 05-07-2015 L

In order to read the MIRS Newsletter, you must have a username and password.

If you need a password or username to access our reports online at:
http://mirsnews.com. Please call us at (517) 482-2125 or send an email to info@mirsnews.com

© 1996-2015 Michigan Information and Research Service Inc., All Rights Reserved. Unauthorized distribution of this e-mail without

MIRS Inc.
910 W. Ottawa
PO Box 19303
Lansing, MI 48915
Phone 517-482-2125 Fax 517-374-0949
www.mirsnews.com

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
1	EntityTypeName	EntityId	EntityOfficialName	OriginalEntityCode	EntityAddressId	EntityId2	AddressTypeId
2	LEA School	10600	Academy West Alternative Education	01915	74425	10600	1
3	LEA School	10600	Academy West Alternative Education	01915	74426	10600	2
4	LEA School	1616	Accelerated Learning Academy	05950	51234	1616	1
5	LEA School	1616	Accelerated Learning Academy	05950	51235	1616	2
6	LEA School	1704	Armstrong Middle School	06282	51651	1704	1
7	LEA School	1704	Armstrong Middle School	06282	51652	1704	2
8	LEA School	1674	Bendle/Carman-Ainsworth Alternative Education	07710	51359	1674	1
9	LEA School	1674	Bendle/Carman-Ainsworth Alternative Education	07710	51360	1674	2
10	LEA School	10601	Brownell STEM Academy	01916	74427	10601	1
11	LEA School	10601	Brownell STEM Academy	01916	74428	10601	2
12	LEA School	11194	Carman Park-Baker Career Academy	02790	75766	11194	1
13	LEA School	11194	Carman Park-Baker Career Academy	02790	75765	11194	2
14	LEA School	1688	Carman-Ainsworth High School	05009	51373	1688	1
15	LEA School	1688	Carman-Ainsworth High School	05009	51374	1688	2
16	LEA School	1684	Carman-Ainsworth Middle School	00031	51303	1684	1
17	LEA School	1684	Carman-Ainsworth Middle School	00031	51304	1684	2
18	LEA School	1743	Colonel Donald McMonagle Elementary School	05928	51616	1743	1
19	LEA School	1743	Colonel Donald McMonagle Elementary School	05928	51617	1743	2
20	LEA School	1630	Doyle/Ryder School	03129	51246	1630	1
21	LEA School	1630	Doyle/Ryder School	03129	51247	1630	2
22	LEA School	1651	Durant Tuuri Mott School	00974	51267	1651	1
23	LEA School	1651	Durant Tuuri Mott School	00974	51268	1651	2
24	LEA School	1682	Dye Elementary School	00980	51369	1682	1
25	LEA School	1682	Dye Elementary School	00980	51370	1682	2
26	LEA School	1648	Eisenhower School	01098	51264	1648	1
27	LEA School	1648	Eisenhower School	01098	51265	1648	2
28	LEA School	1646	Freeman School	01320	51197	1646	1
29	LEA School	1646	Freeman School	01320	51198	1646	2
30	LEA School	10531	Gateway to College-Mott Community College	01795	74278	10531	1
31	LEA School	10531	Gateway to College-Mott Community College	01795	74279	10531	2
32	LEA School	7913	Genesee Early College	09774	65104	7913	1
33	LEA School	7913	Genesee Early College	09774	65061	7913	2
34	LEA School	1742	Hamady Community High School	06235	51469	1742	1
35	LEA School	1742	Hamady Community High School	06235	51470	1742	2
36	LEA School	1741	Hamady Middle School	01543	51467	1741	1
37	LEA School	1741	Hamady Middle School	01543	51468	1741	2
38	LEA School	10602	Holmes STEM Academy	01917	74430	10602	1
39	LEA School	10602	Holmes STEM Academy	01917	74429	10602	2
40	LEA School	1698	Kate Dowdall Elementary School	00949	51387	1698	1
41	LEA School	1698	Kate Dowdall Elementary School	00949	51388	1698	2
42	LEA School	1701	Kearsley High School	01993	51645	1701	1

	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O
1	AddressTypeCode	Street	AddressLine2	City	State	Zip4	EffDate	MapURL
2	Mailing	3223 W CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485041247	5/15/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
3	Physical	3400 N Jennings Rd		Flint	MI	485041757	5/15/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
4	Mailing	G2138 W. Carpenter Road		FLINT	MI	485051977	7/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
5	Physical	G2138 W. Carpenter Road		Flint	MI	485051977	7/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
6	Mailing	G-6161 HOPKINS RD		FLINT	MI	48506	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
7	Physical	6161 HOPKINS RD # G		FLINT	MI	485061657	5/19/2011 11:51:33 AM	No Map Found
8	Mailing	G-3493 BEVERIDGE RD		FLINT	MI	48532	10/1/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
9	Physical	3493 Beveridge Rd # G		Flint	MI	48532	10/1/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
10	Mailing	6302 OXLEY DR		FLINT	MI	485041698	5/15/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
11	Physical	6302 Oxley Dr		Flint	MI	485041698	5/15/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
12	Mailing	3375 Van Campen Rd		Flint	MI	48507	6/25/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
13	Physical	3375 Van Campen Rd		Flint	MI	48507	6/25/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
14	Mailing	1300 NORTH LINDEN RD		FLINT	MI	485322366	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
15	Physical	1300 NORTH LINDEN RD		FLINT	MI	485322341	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM	No Map Found
16	Mailing	1409 WEST MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485075699	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
17	Physical	1409 WEST MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485075613	5/19/2011 11:53:45 AM	No Map Found
18	Mailing	3484 NORTH JENNINGS RD		FLINT	MI	485041757	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
19	Physical	3484 NORTH JENNINGS RD		FLINT	MI	485041757	5/19/2011 11:51:47 AM	No Map Found
20	Mailing	1040 NORTH SAGINAW ST		FLINT	MI	485031736	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
21	Physical	1040 NORTH SAGINAW ST		FLINT	MI	485031736	5/19/2011 11:54:06 AM	No Map Found
22	Mailing	1518 UNIVERSITY AVE		FLINT	MI	485046208	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
23	Physical	1518 UNIVERSITY AVE		FLINT	MI	485046208	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM	No Map Found
24	Mailing	1174 SOUTH GRAHAM RD		FLINT	MI	485323562	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
25	Physical	1174 SOUTH GRAHAM RD		FLINT	MI	485323533	5/19/2011 11:53:18 AM	No Map Found
26	Mailing	1235 PERSHING ST		FLINT	MI	485033533	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
27	Physical	1235 PERSHING ST		FLINT	MI	485033533	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM	No Map Found
28	Mailing	4001 OGEMA AVE		FLINT	MI	485072887	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
29	Physical	4001 OGEMA AVE		FLINT	MI	485072887	5/19/2011 11:54:24 AM	No Map Found
30	Mailing	923 E KEARSLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485031974	2/5/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
31	Physical	1401 E Court St		Flint	MI	485032089	2/5/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
32	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073429	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
33	Physical	2413 W Maple Ave		Flint	MI	48507	5/19/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
34	Mailing	G-3223 W CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	48504	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
35	Physical	3223 WEST CARPENTER RD # G		FLINT	MI	485041247	5/19/2011 11:52:39 AM	No Map Found
36	Mailing	G-3223 W CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	48504	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
37	Physical	3223 WEST CARPENTER RD # G		FLINT	MI	485041247	5/19/2011 11:52:40 AM	No Map Found
38	Mailing	6602 OXLEY DR		FLINT	MI	485041674	5/15/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
39	Physical	6602 Oxley Dr		Flint	MI	485041674	5/15/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
40	Mailing	3333 SHILLELAGH DR		FLINT	MI	48506	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
41	Physical	3333 SHILLELAGH DR		FLINT	MI	485062246	5/19/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
42	Mailing	G-4302 UNDERHILL DR		FLINT	MI	48506	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found

	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X
1	AddressTypeName	XLocation	YLocation	Latitude	Longitude	USCongressionalDistrict	MISenateDistrict	MIHouseDistrict	CGIStatusDate
2	Mailing
3	Physical	682847.8683	280645.7794	43.05429601	-83.75283278	5	27	49	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
4	Mailing
5	Physical	685485.0809	283059.2749	43.07537287	-83.71964447	5	27	34	2/16/2015 12:42:41 PM
6	Mailing
7	Physical	695951.4996	283828.1288	43.07963205	-83.59087384	5	27	48	5/19/2011 11:51:33 AM
8	Mailing
9	Physical	683206.8885	274037.4649	42.99472586	-83.75062424	5	27	49	12/1/2012 12:00:00 AM
10	Mailing
11	Physical	684757.797	282346.7266	43.06913831	-83.72881883	5	27	34	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
12	Mailing
13	Physical	687355.7367	272274.3877	42.97783367	-83.70034397	5	27	49	6/25/2015 2:08:53 PM
14	Mailing
15	Physical	681274.409	277335.634	43.02464487	-83.7730952	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM
16	Mailing
17	Physical	686841.6851	269757.4285	42.95530569	-83.70750238	5	14	50	5/19/2011 11:53:45 AM
18	Mailing
19	Physical	682839	281045.1	43.05516364	-83.75284113	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:51:47 AM
20	Mailing
21	Physical	687789.9	277474.6	43.02552676	-83.6933395	5	27	34	5/19/2011 11:54:06 AM
22	Mailing
23	Physical	686397.4514	276338.7424	43.014655	-83.71072298	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM
24	Mailing
25	Physical	682529.0348	276096.7463	43.01342699	-83.75825441	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:53:18 AM
26	Mailing
27	Physical	686559.0213	275144.9047	43.00386911	-83.70914516	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM
28	Mailing
29	Physical	690548.8	273387.2	42.98741964	-83.66088539	5	27	34	5/19/2011 11:54:24 AM
30	Mailing
31	Physical	689637.4845	276839.188	43.018348	-83.670809	5	27	49	3/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
32	Mailing
33	Physical	685162.28	270103.8	42.958839	-83.727966	5	14	50	6/1/2012 12:00:00 AM
34	Mailing
35	Physical	683677.2	282991.7	43.07525532	-83.74195061	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:52:39 AM
36	Mailing
37	Physical	683657.025	282723.5105	43.07280012	-83.74220722	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:52:40 AM
38	Mailing
39	Physical	684753.6416	282513.0083	43.07063603	-83.72881398	5	27	34	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
40	Mailing
41	Physical	695085.4057	281263.6304	43.05677608	-83.602417	5	27	48	7/26/2011 10:33:59 AM
42	Mailing

	Y	Z	AA	AB	AC	AD	AE	AF	AG
1	CGIStatusId	CGIStatus	BlockGroup	CivilDivision	FIPSCounty	County	DistCode	CGIData	EEMEndTime
2									8:59:42 AM
3	2	Validated by CGI	0105011	55980	049	Genesee	35970		8:59:42 AM
4									8:59:42 AM
5	2	Validated by CGI	0001003	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
6									8:59:42 AM
7	2	Validated by CGI	0120091	31800	049	GENESEE	20070		8:59:42 AM
8									8:59:42 AM
9	2	Validated by CGI	0109101	29020	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
10									8:59:42 AM
11	2	Validated by CGI	0001001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
12									8:59:42 AM
13	2	Validated by CGI	0110103	29020	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
14									8:59:42 AM
15	2	Validated by CGI	0108112	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
16									8:59:42 AM
17	2	Validated by CGI	0129052	56160	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
18									8:59:42 AM
19	2	Validated by CGI	0105011	55980	049	GENESEE	35970		8:59:42 AM
20									8:59:42 AM
21	2	Validated by CGI	0136001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
22									8:59:42 AM
23	2	Validated by CGI	0015003		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
24									8:59:42 AM
25	2	Validated by CGI	0109102	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
26									8:59:42 AM
27	2	Validated by CGI	0037003	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
28									8:59:42 AM
29	2	Validated by CGI	0035003	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
30									8:59:42 AM
31	2	Validated by CGI	0030001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
32									8:59:42 AM
33	2	Validated by CGI	0129041	56160	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
34									8:59:42 AM
35	2	Validated by CGI	0105012	55980	049	GENESEE	35970		8:59:42 AM
36									8:59:42 AM
37	2	Validated by CGI	0105012	55980	049	GENESEE	35970		8:59:42 AM
38									8:59:42 AM
39	2	Validated by CGI	0001001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
40									8:59:42 AM
41	2	Validated by CGI	0120082	31800	049	GENESEE	20070		8:59:42 AM
42									8:59:42 AM

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
43	LEA School	1701	Kearsley High School	01993	51646	1701	2
44	LEA School	1699	Leota Fiedler Elementary School	01230	51389	1699	1
45	LEA School	1699	Leota Fiedler Elementary School	01230	51390	1699	2
46	LEA School	11161	Milton E. Tucker Middle School	02745	75700	11161	1
47	LEA School	11161	Milton E. Tucker Middle School	02745	75699	11161	2
48	LEA School	1611	Mott Middle College High School	07576	51155	1611	1
49	LEA School	1611	Mott Middle College High School	07576	51156	1611	2
50	LEA School	1632	Neithercut Elementary School	02670	51250	1632	1
51	LEA School	1632	Neithercut Elementary School	02670	51251	1632	2
52	LEA School	1628	Northwestern High School	02777	51173	1628	1
53	LEA School	1628	Northwestern High School	02777	51174	1628	2
54	LEA School	1629	Pierce School	03033	51175	1629	1
55	LEA School	1629	Pierce School	03033	51176	1629	2
56	LEA School	1631	Potter School	03108	51248	1631	1
57	LEA School	1631	Potter School	03108	51249	1631	2
58	LEA School	1686	Randels Elementary School	03147	51307	1686	1
59	LEA School	1686	Randels Elementary School	03147	51308	1686	2
60	LEA School	1624	Southwestern Classical Academy	03554	51242	1624	1
61	LEA School	1624	Southwestern Classical Academy	03554	51243	1624	2
62	Other Non-School Recipient	10501	Alpha Montessori School	990002480	74218	10501	1
63	Other Non-School Recipient	10501	Alpha Montessori School	990002480	74219	10501	2
64	Other Non-School Recipient	9639	Alutiiq Professional Services, LLC	990000250	72194	9639	1
65	Other Non-School Recipient	9639	Alutiiq Professional Services, LLC	990000250	72195	9639	2
66	Other Non-School Recipient	8175	BERRY CHILD CARE CENTER	250000041	66053	8175	1
67	Other Non-School Recipient	8175	BERRY CHILD CARE CENTER	250000041	69911	8175	2
68	Other Non-School Recipient	9420	BRIDONS CHILD DEVELOPMENT CENTER I	25SPX0025	71682	9420	1
69	Other Non-School Recipient	9420	BRIDONS CHILD DEVELOPMENT CENTER I	25SPX0025	71616	9420	2
70	Other Non-School Recipient	8233	CASTILLO ENTERPRISE LLC	250000072	66111	8233	1
71	Other Non-School Recipient	8233	CASTILLO ENTERPRISE LLC	250000072	69964	8233	2
72	Other Non-School Recipient	9469	Children First Child Care Center Corp.	990000160	71808	9469	1
73	Other Non-School Recipient	9469	Children First Child Care Center Corp.	990000160	71809	9469	2
74	Other Non-School Recipient	9083	Connexion, Incorporated	990000070	70790	9083	1
75	Other Non-School Recipient	9083	Connexion, Incorporated	990000070	70791	9083	2
76	Other Non-School Recipient	10861	Eagles Nest Academy	990004408	75056	10861	1
77	Other Non-School Recipient	10861	Eagles Nest Academy	990004408	75057	10861	2
78	Other Non-School Recipient	9010	Eagle's Nest Child Care Center	25SPX0022	66888	9010	1
79	Other Non-School Recipient	9010	Eagle's Nest Child Care Center	25SPX0022	70692	9010	2
80	Other Non-School Recipient	10356	Flint Boy's and Girl's Preparatory Academy	990001945	73852	10356	1
81	Other Non-School Recipient	10356	Flint Boy's and Girl's Preparatory Academy	990001945	73853	10356	2
82	Other Non-School Recipient	9511	Flint Institute of Music	250005113	71893	9511	1
83	Other Non-School Recipient	9511	Flint Institute of Music	250005113	71894	9511	2
84	Other Non-School Recipient	8357	FOOD BANK OF EASTERN MICHIGAN INC	250000066	66235	8357	1

	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O
43	Physical	4302 UNDERHILL DR # G		FLINT	MI	485061534	5/19/2011 11:51:35 AM	No Map Found
44	Mailing	6317 NIGHTINGALE DR		FLINT	MI	48506	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
45	Physical	6317 NIGHTINGALE DR		FLINT	MI	485061714	5/19/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
46	Mailing	1020 W COLDWATER RD		FLINT	MI	485054831	5/28/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
47	Physical	G5159 Summit Street		Flint	MI	485051429	5/28/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
48	Mailing	1401 EAST COURT ST		FLINT	MI	485036208	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
49	Physical	1401 EAST COURT ST		FLINT	MI	485036208	5/19/2011 11:54:31 AM	No Map Found
50	Mailing	2010 CRESTBROOK LN		FLINT	MI	48507	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
51	Physical	2010 CRESTBROOK LN		FLINT	MI	48507	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM	No Map Found
52	Mailing	G2138 WEST CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485051977	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
53	Physical	G2138 WEST CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485051977	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM	No Map Found
54	Mailing	1101 WEST VERNON DR		FLINT	MI	485032840	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
55	Physical	1101 WEST VERNON DR		FLINT	MI	485032840	5/19/2011 11:54:28 AM	No Map Found
56	Mailing	2500 NORTH AVERILL AVE		FLINT	MI	485063010	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
57	Physical	2500 NORTH AVERILL AVE		FLINT	MI	485063010	5/19/2011 11:54:05 AM	No Map Found
58	Mailing	6022 BROBECK ST		FLINT	MI	485324006	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
59	Physical	6022 BROBECK ST		FLINT	MI	485324006	5/19/2011 11:53:44 AM	No Map Found
60	Mailing	1420 WEST 12TH ST		FLINT	MI	485071425	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
61	Physical	1420 WEST 12TH ST		FLINT	MI	485071425	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM	No Map Found
62	Mailing	310 E 3RD ST		FLINT	MI	485021711	1/17/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
63	Physical	310 E 3rd St		Flint	MI	485021711	1/17/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
64	Mailing	2400 N SAGINAW ST		FLINT	MI	485054442	9/21/2009 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
65	Physical	2400 N. Saginaw St.		Flint	MI	48505	5/19/2011 10:22:08 AM	No Map Found
66	Mailing	KATHRYN BERRY	617 HEMPHILL RD	FLINT	MI	48507	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
67	Physical	KATHRYN BERRY	617 HEMPHILL RD	FLINT	MI	48507	5/19/2011 10:20:32 AM	No Map Found
68	Mailing	817 EAST KEARSLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485032076	5/27/2009 8:25:38 AM	No Map Found
69	Physical	817 EAST KEARSLEY ST	SUITE 3C	FLINT	MI	485032076	5/19/2011 10:26:05 AM	No Map Found
70	Mailing	BRIGHT BEGINNINGS LEARNING	G3393 CLIO RD	FLINT	MI	48504	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
71	Physical	BRIGHT BEGINNINGS LEARNING	G3393 CLIO RD	FLINT	MI	48504	5/19/2011 10:20:24 AM	No Map Found
72	Mailing	1081 HOURAN ST		FLINT	MI	485323630	6/1/2009 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
73	Physical	1081 HOURAN ST		FLINT	MI	485323630	5/19/2011 10:24:29 AM	No Map Found
74	Mailing	1110 ELDON BAKER DR		FLINT	MI	485071923	5/4/2009 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
75	Physical	1110 ELDON BAKER DR		FLINT	MI	485071923	5/19/2011 10:28:10 AM	No Map Found
76	Mailing	5005 CLOVERLAWN DR		FLINT	MI	485042084	3/5/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
77	Physical	5005 Cloverlawn Dr		Flint	MI	485042084	3/5/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
78	Mailing	6103 EAGLE RIDGE LN		FLINT	MI	485056740	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
79	Physical	6103 Eagle Ridge Ln		Flint	MI	485056740	6/3/2010 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
80	Mailing	1185 E FOSS AVE		FLINT	MI	485052324	8/15/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
81	Physical	1185 E Foss Ave		Flint	MI	485052324	8/15/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
82	Mailing	1025 EAST KEARSLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485031922	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
83	Physical	1025 EAST KEARSLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485031922	5/19/2011 10:23:33 AM	No Map Found
84	Mailing	2312 LAPEER RD		FLINT	MI	485034221	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found

	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X
43	Physical	694434.2697	282794.6681	43.07072504	-83.60986815	5	27	48	5/19/2011 11:51:35 AM
44	Mailing
45	Physical	696471.2827	282691.0537	43.06926211	-83.58489777	5	27	48	7/26/2011 10:35:53 AM
46	Mailing
47	Physical	687140.024	283641.0423	43.08019817	-83.69912691	5	27	49	5/28/2015 11:48:54 AM
48	Mailing
49	Physical	689490.4744	277010.6758	43.01992912	-83.67255326	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:54:31 AM
50	Mailing
51	Physical	687060.552	273155.262	42.98235234	-83.70771607	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM
52	Mailing
53	Physical	685592.729	283061.47	43.07524397	-83.72973579	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM
54	Mailing
55	Physical	690402.6894	276614.9196	43.01613634	-83.66149993	5	27	34	5/19/2011 11:54:28 AM
56	Mailing
57	Physical	691687.2203	279250.26	43.03952969	-83.64482724	5	27	34	5/19/2011 11:54:05 AM
58	Mailing
59	Physical	679573.7	274200.8	42.99703451	-83.79488844	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:53:44 AM
60	Mailing
61	Physical	687519.771	274505.155	42.99665372	-83.69971783	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM
62	Mailing
63	Physical	688389.0765	276453.4879	43.015191	-83.686255	5	27	49	3/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
64	Mailing
65	Physical	687718.9	279023.5	43.0380872	-83.6936355	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:22:08 AM
66	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
67	Physical	685898.2	270770.6	42.9819543	-83.6628483	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:20:32 AM
68	Mailing
69	Physical	688709.8	277146.1	43.02100791	-83.6826803	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:26:05 AM
70	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
71	Physical	683045.9	280981.8	43.05727	-83.75028	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:20:24 AM
72	Mailing
73	Physical	684105.6	276145.8	43.01338639	-83.73902163	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:24:29 AM
74	Mailing
75	Physical	690918.9	274058.5	42.99302258	-83.6569739	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:28:10 AM
76	Mailing
77	Physical	684714.2577	281267.5119	43.05943503	-83.72971581	5	27	34	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
78	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
79	Physical	688306.6	282323.3	43.0678255	-83.6854165	5	27	34	6/14/2010 7:57:25 AM
80	Mailing
81	Physical	688626.2342	282762.6813	43.0719195	-83.68118426	5	27	34	12/1/2012 12:00:00 AM
82	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
83	Physical	689032.4	277364.2	43.02208689	-83.68036121	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:23:33 AM
84	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM

	Y	Z	AA	AB	AC	AD	AE	AF	AG
43	2	Validated by CGI	0120081	31800	049	GENESEE	20070		8:59:42 AM
44									8:59:42 AM
45	2	Validated by CGI	0120091	31800	049	GENESEE	20070		8:59:42 AM
46									8:59:42 AM
47	2	Validated by CGI	0103044	55980	049	Genesee	04500		8:59:42 AM
48									8:59:42 AM
49	2	Validated by CGI	0030001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
50									8:59:42 AM
51	2	Validated by CGI	0135005		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
52									8:59:42 AM
53	2	Validated by CGI	0103043		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
54									8:59:42 AM
55	2	Validated by CGI	0030003	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
56									8:59:42 AM
57	2	Validated by CGI	0027002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
58									8:59:42 AM
59	2	Validated by CGI	0108134	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
60									8:59:42 AM
61	2	Validated by CGI	0135002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
62									8:59:42 AM
63	2	Validated by CGI	0028002	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
64									8:59:42 AM
65	2	Validated by CGI	0136001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
66	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
67	2	Validated by CGI	0035002		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
68									8:59:42 AM
69	2	Validated by CGI	0029001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
70	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
71	2	Validated by CGI							8:59:42 AM
72									8:59:42 AM
73	2	Validated by CGI	0109112	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
74									8:59:42 AM
75	2	Validated by CGI	0033002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
76									8:59:42 AM
77	2	Validated by CGI	0005001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
78	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
79	2	Validated by CGI	0017002		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
80									8:59:42 AM
81	2	Validated by CGI	0017002	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
82	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
83	2	Validated by CGI	0029001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
84	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
85	Other Non-School Recipient	8357	FOOD BANK OF EASTERN MICHIGAN INC	250000066	70086	8357	2
86	Other Non-School Recipient	10918	Genesee Area Focus Fund, Inc.	990004592	75169	10918	1
87	Other Non-School Recipient	10918	Genesee Area Focus Fund, Inc.	990004592	75170	10918	2
88	Other Non-School Recipient	8418	GENESEE CHRISTIAN DAY CARE	250000018	66296	8418	1
89	Other Non-School Recipient	8418	GENESEE CHRISTIAN DAY CARE	250000018	70146	8418	2
90	Other Non-School Recipient	8603	Genesee County Community Action Resource Department	250000016	66481	8603	1
91	Other Non-School Recipient	8603	Genesee County Community Action Resource Department	250000016	70326	8603	2
92	Other Non-School Recipient	11125	Genesee ISD Head Start	990005280	75627	11125	1
93	Other Non-School Recipient	11125	Genesee ISD Head Start	990005280	75628	11125	2
94	Other Non-School Recipient	9120	Genesee Valley Regional Center	250008005	70972	9120	1
95	Other Non-School Recipient	9120	Genesee Valley Regional Center	250008005	70898	9120	2
96	Other Non-School Recipient	8386	GLORIAS LITTLE ANGELS INC	25SPX0011	66264	8386	1
97	Other Non-School Recipient	8386	GLORIAS LITTLE ANGELS INC	25SPX0011	70114	8386	2
98	Other Non-School Recipient	8317	GREAT LAKES FIELD SERVICES-DAUCH SCOUT CENTER	82SC07500	66195	8317	1
99	Other Non-School Recipient	8317	GREAT LAKES FIELD SERVICES-DAUCH SCOUT CENTER	82SC07500	70046	8317	2
100	Other Non-School Recipient	9903	HJ&G LLC, Bright Begnnings	990001001	72846	9903	1
101	Other Non-School Recipient	9903	HJ&G LLC, Bright Begnnings	990001001	72847	9903	2
102	Other Non-School Recipient	9750	Honey Bee Palace Child Care Center, Inc.	990000662	72484	9750	1
103	Other Non-School Recipient	9750	Honey Bee Palace Child Care Center, Inc.	990000662	72485	9750	2
104	Other Non-School Recipient	9190	Jireh Outreach Ministries Int	990000089	70997	9190	1
105	Other Non-School Recipient	9190	Jireh Outreach Ministries Int	990000089	70998	9190	2
106	Other Non-School Recipient	8462	KIDDIE KAT CHILDRENS CENTER LLC	25SPX0006	66340	8462	1
107	Other Non-School Recipient	8462	KIDDIE KAT CHILDRENS CENTER LLC	25SPX0006	70190	8462	2
108	Other Non-School Recipient	11039	KIDDIE TIME CHILDCARE CENTER	990004905	75431	11039	1
109	Other Non-School Recipient	11039	KIDDIE TIME CHILDCARE CENTER	990004905	75432	11039	2
110	Other Non-School Recipient	8503	LAZY LEOPARD-FLINT DAY CARE CENTER	250000001	66381	8503	1
111	Other Non-School Recipient	8503	LAZY LEOPARD-FLINT DAY CARE CENTER	250000001	70229	8503	2
112	Other Non-School Recipient	10559	Lifetime Learning Incorporated	990002690	74337	10559	1
113	Other Non-School Recipient	10559	Lifetime Learning Incorporated	990002690	74338	10559	2
114	Other Non-School Recipient	9739	Living Word Ministry Enrichment	990000653	72458	9739	1
115	Other Non-School Recipient	9739	Living Word Ministry Enrichment	990000653	72459	9739	2
116	Other Non-School Recipient	8542	MARY MCGEE	250000038	66420	8542	1
117	Other Non-School Recipient	8542	MARY MCGEE	250000038	70267	8542	2
118	Other Non-School Recipient	11150	Michigan Crossroads Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America	990005379	75677	11150	1
119	Other Non-School Recipient	11150	Michigan Crossroads Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America	990005379	75678	11150	2
120	Other Non-School Recipient	9547	Michigan Organization on Adolescent Sexual Health	990000208	71960	9547	1
121	Other Non-School Recipient	9547	Michigan Organization on Adolescent Sexual Health	990000208	75347	9547	2
122	Other Non-School Recipient	8596	Michigan School for the Deaf and Blind	253300000	66474	8596	1
123	Other Non-School Recipient	8596	Michigan School for the Deaf and Blind	253300000	70319	8596	2
124	Other Non-School Recipient	8562	MIRIAM D CLEMONS/SAND CASTLES	250000060	66440	8562	1
125	Other Non-School Recipient	8562	MIRIAM D CLEMONS/SAND CASTLES	250000060	70286	8562	2
126	Other Non-School Recipient	9857	Motherly Intercession	990000918	72754	9857	1

	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O
85	Physical	2312 LAPEER RD		FLINT	MI	485034221	5/19/2011 10:34:23 AM	No Map Found
86	Mailing	519 S SAGINAW ST STE 200	Ste 200	FLINT	MI	485021815	5/16/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
87	Physical	519 S Saginaw St		Flint	MI	485021815	5/16/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
88	Mailing	MAIN OFFICE	G-3237 BEECHER ROAD	FLINT	MI	48532	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
89	Physical	MAIN OFFICE	G-3237 BEECHER ROAD	FLINT	MI	48532	5/19/2011 10:19:40 AM	No Map Found
90	Mailing	719 Harrison Street		Flint	MI	485021613	9/26/2008 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
91	Physical	719 HARRISON ST		FLINT	MI	485021613	5/19/2011 10:32:24 AM	No Map Found
92	Mailing	5075 PILGRIM RD		FLINT	MI	485073909	3/3/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
93	Physical	5075 Pilgrim Rd		Flint	MI	485073909	3/3/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
94	Mailing	4287 WEST PASADENA AVE		FLINT	MI	485042342	5/13/2009 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
95	Physical	4287 WEST PASADENA AVE		FLINT	MI	485042342	5/19/2011 10:27:02 AM	No Map Found
96	Mailing	ATTN VENITA HILER	2440 LIPPINCOTT BLVD	FLINT	MI	48507	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
97	Physical	ATTN VENITA HILER	2440 LIPPINCOTT BLVD	FLINT	MI	48507	5/19/2011 10:19:46 AM	No Map Found
98	Mailing	1776 WEST WARREN AVE		DETROIT	MI	482082215	5/13/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
99	Physical	507 W Atherton Rd		Flint	MI	485072404	4/18/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
100	Mailing	G3393 Clio Rd		Flint	MI	48504	11/3/2010 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
101	Physical	G3393 Clio Rd		Flint	MI	485041894	11/3/2010 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
102	Mailing	642 E PIERSON RD		FLINT	MI	485053395	5/7/2010 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
103	Physical	642 E Pierson Rd		Flint	MI	51900	5/19/2011 9:30:47 AM	No Map Found
104	Mailing	925 AVON ST		FLINT	MI	485032701	5/16/2009 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
105	Physical	925 AVON ST		FLINT	MI	485032701	5/19/2011 10:26:50 AM	No Map Found
106	Mailing	5003 EAST CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485064521	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
107	Physical	5003 EAST CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485064521	5/19/2011 10:33:32 AM	No Map Found
108	Mailing	915 S DORT HWY STE H		FLINT	MI	485032800	9/22/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
109	Physical	915 S Dort Hwy		Flint	MI	485032800	9/22/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
110	Mailing	930 EAST MYRTLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485055519	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
111	Physical	930 EAST MYRTLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485055519	5/19/2011 10:33:09 AM	No Map Found
112	Mailing	1726 Laurel Oak		Flint	MI	48507	3/4/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
113	Physical	1726 Laurel Oak		Flint	MI	485072211	3/4/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
114	Mailing	2001 w carpenter rd		flint	MI	48505	4/30/2010 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
115	Physical	2001 W Carpenter Rd		Flint	MI	50479	5/19/2011 9:30:41 AM	No Map Found
116	Mailing	MS MARYS ECCC	G-5248 N SAGINAW	FLINT	MI	48505	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
117	Physical	MS MARYS ECCC	G-5248 N SAGINAW	FLINT	MI	48505	5/19/2011 10:19:12 AM	No Map Found
118	Mailing	507 West Atherton Road		Flint	MI	48507-2404	5/2/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
119	Physical	507 W Atherton Rd		Flint	MI	48507	5/2/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
120	Mailing	PO Box 25023		Lansing	MI	489095023	7/10/2009 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
121	Physical	2015 Gold Ave		Flint	MI	485032133	8/12/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
122	Mailing	1235 WEST COURT ST		FLINT	MI	485035015	2/12/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
123	Physical	1235 W Court St		Flint	MI	485035015	2/12/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
124	Mailing	3129 CLIO RD		FLINT	MI	485047184	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
125	Physical	3129 CLIO RD		FLINT	MI	485047184	5/19/2011 10:32:43 AM	No Map Found
126	Mailing	817 E KEARSLEY ST	Suite #B	FLINT	MI	485032076	9/11/2010 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found

	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X
85	Physical	690348.5	275849	43.00923933	-83.66508447	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:34:23 AM
86	Mailing
87	Physical	688057.0838	276508.8792	43.01577271	-83.69030789	5	27	49	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
88	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
89	Physical	680063.7	275936.1	43.01258	-83.78854	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:19:40 AM
90	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
91	Physical	688297.4	276383.4	43.01454305	-83.68743705	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:32:24 AM
92	Mailing
93	Physical	685653.0333	269833.2597	42.95628262	-83.72204312	5	14	50	3/1/2015 12:00:00 AM
94	Mailing
95	Physical	682279.2	279691.2	43.04588466	-83.76010635	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:27:02 AM
96	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
97	Physical	685898.2	270770.6	43.0036284	-83.6521503	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:19:46 AM
98	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
99	Physical	688927.9349	273530.94	42.98874997	-83.68064597	5	27	34	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
100	Mailing
101	Physical	684503.4622	279790.4107	43.046191	-83.732799	5	27	34	9/1/2010 12:00:00 AM
102	Mailing
103	Physical	687572.5	281497.6	43.06084342	-83.69563539	5	27	34	5/19/2011 9:30:47 AM
104	Mailing
105	Physical	689138.6	276568.4	43.01599595	-83.67705509	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:26:50 AM
106	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
107	Physical	694320	284318.2	43.08434795	-83.61669073	5	27	48	5/19/2011 10:33:32 AM
108	Mailing
109	Physical	690973.0485	276838.8328	43.01800697	-83.65442631	5	27	34	12/1/2014 12:00:00 AM
110	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
111	Physical	688020.9	280466.8	43.05146936	-83.68843922	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:33:09 AM
112	Mailing
113	Physical	686849.1431	272837.0035	42.98302345	-83.70636886	5	27	49	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
114	Mailing
115	Physical	684775.2	282991.3	43.07497851	-83.72841952	5	27	34	5/19/2011 9:30:41 AM
116	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
117	Physical	687671.2	282234.9	43.06741	-83.69308	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:19:12 AM
118	Mailing
119	Physical	688927.9349	273530.94	42.98874997	-83.68064597	5	27	34	6/1/2015 12:00:00 AM
120	Mailing
121	Physical	690182.6395	277503.0049	43.02418556	-83.66389268	5	27	34	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
122	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
123	Physical	687300.4209	275504.2638	43.00691923	-83.69993064	5	27	49	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
124	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
125	Physical	684513.1	279487.4	43.04469901	-83.73275911	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:32:43 AM
126	Mailing

	Y	Z	AA	AB	AC	AD	AE	AF	AG
85	2	Validated by CGI	0032002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
86									8:59:42 AM
87	2	Validated by CGI	0028002	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
88	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
89	2	Validated by CGI							8:59:42 AM
90	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
91	2	Validated by CGI	0028002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
92									8:59:42 AM
93	2	Validated by CGI	0129052	56160	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
94									8:59:42 AM
95	2	Validated by CGI	0108111	29020	049	GENESEE	14550		8:59:42 AM
96	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
97	2	Validated by CGI	0034001		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
98	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
99	2	Validated by CGI	0035001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
100									8:59:42 AM
101	2	Validated by CGI	0009001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
102									8:59:42 AM
103	2	Validated by CGI	0006004	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
104									8:59:42 AM
105	2	Validated by CGI	0029002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
106	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
107	2	Validated by CGI	0120081	31800	049	GENESEE	20070		8:59:42 AM
108									8:59:42 AM
109	2	Validated by CGI	0031002	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
110	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
111	2	Validated by CGI	0020002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
112									8:59:42 AM
113	2	Validated by CGI	0135005	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
114									8:59:42 AM
115	2	Validated by CGI	0001001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
116	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
117	2	Validated by CGI							8:59:42 AM
118									8:59:42 AM
119	2	Validated by CGI	0035001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
120									8:59:42 AM
121	2	Validated by CGI	0030001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
122	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
123	2	Validated by CGI	0037003	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
124	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
125	2	Validated by CGI	0009001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
126									8:59:42 AM

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
127	Other Non-School Recipient	9857	Motherly Intercession	990000918	72755	9857	2
128	Other Non-School Recipient	9986	Mott Community College	990001218	73041	9986	1
129	Other Non-School Recipient	9986	Mott Community College	990001218	73042	9986	2
130	Other Non-School Recipient	9936	Positive Start Child and Development Center	990001106	72937	9936	1
131	Other Non-School Recipient	9936	Positive Start Child and Development Center	990001106	72938	9936	2
132	Other Non-School Recipient	8794	SHELTER OF FLINT INC	25SPX0003	66672	8794	1
133	Other Non-School Recipient	8794	SHELTER OF FLINT INC	25SPX0003	70495	8794	2
134	Other Non-School Recipient	8803	SOUTH FLINT TABERNACLE INC	250000058	66681	8803	1
135	Other Non-School Recipient	8803	SOUTH FLINT TABERNACLE INC	250000058	70503	8803	2
136	Other Non-School Recipient	9538	SUNNY PATCH LEARNING CENTER, LLC	990000204	71943	9538	1
137	Other Non-School Recipient	9538	SUNNY PATCH LEARNING CENTER, LLC	990000204	71944	9538	2
138	Other Non-School Recipient	8845	TALL PINE COUNCIL	25SC04500	66723	8845	1
139	Other Non-School Recipient	8845	TALL PINE COUNCIL	25SC04500	70543	8845	2
140	Other Non-School Recipient	9978	T-Care's Daycare	990001202	73024	9978	1
141	Other Non-School Recipient	9978	T-Care's Daycare	990001202	73025	9978	2
142	Other Non-School Recipient	8882	U OF M EARLY CHILDHOOD DEV. CENTER	810000039	66760	8882	1
143	Other Non-School Recipient	8882	U OF M EARLY CHILDHOOD DEV. CENTER	810000039	70580	8882	2
144	Other Non-School Recipient	11104	uniquely created children's center Llc	990005147	75564	11104	1
145	Other Non-School Recipient	11104	uniquely created children's center Llc	990005147	75565	11104	2
146	Other Non-School Recipient	10151	village childcare Academy	990001417	73411	10151	1
147	Other Non-School Recipient	10151	village childcare Academy	990001417	73412	10151	2
148	Other Non-School Recipient	10352	Wayne L. Rankins Preschool	990001939	73844	10352	1
149	Other Non-School Recipient	10352	Wayne L. Rankins Preschool	990001939	73845	10352	2
150	Other Non-School Recipient	8908	WEE LITTLE QUACKERS CHILD CARE CTR	25SPX0014	66786	8908	1
151	Other Non-School Recipient	8908	WEE LITTLE QUACKERS CHILD CARE CTR	25SPX0014	70606	8908	2
152	Other Non-School Recipient	9176	Whaley Children's Center	250008002	70962	9176	1
153	Other Non-School Recipient	9176	Whaley Children's Center	250008002	70887	9176	2
154	Higher Education College/University	5061	Baker College Center f/Graduate Studies	08272	58755	5061	1
155	Higher Education College/University	5061	Baker College Center f/Graduate Studies	08272	58756	5061	2
156	Higher Education College/University	5060	Baker College Corporate Services	08271	58753	5060	1
157	Higher Education College/University	5060	Baker College Corporate Services	08271	58754	5060	2
158	Higher Education College/University	5029	Baker College of Flint	06551	58721	5029	1
159	Higher Education College/University	5029	Baker College of Flint	06551	58722	5029	2
160	Higher Education College/University	8008	Baker College Online	09862	65426	8008	1
161	Higher Education College/University	8008	Baker College Online	09862	65427	8008	2
162	Higher Education College/University	8007	Baker College System Office	09861	65424	8007	1
163	Higher Education College/University	8007	Baker College System Office	09861	65425	8007	2
164	Higher Education College/University	8017	Davenport University - Flint	09871	65436	8017	1
165	Higher Education College/University	8017	Davenport University - Flint	09871	65437	8017	2
166	Higher Education College/University	4952	Detroit College of Business-Flint	04776	58629	4952	1
167	Higher Education College/University	4952	Detroit College of Business-Flint	04776	58630	4952	2
168	Higher Education College/University	4976	Kettering University	05114	58600	4976	1

	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O
127	Physical	817 E Kearsley St		Flint	MI	485032076	5/19/2011 9:26:46 AM	No Map Found
128	Mailing	1401 E COURT ST		FLINT	MI	485032089	5/11/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
129	Physical	1401 E Court St		Flint	MI	485032089	7/18/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
130	Mailing	3500 W PASADENA AVE		FLINT	MI	485042353	2/15/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
131	Physical	3500 W Pasadena Ave		Flint	MI	485042353	5/19/2011 9:23:22 AM	No Map Found
132	Mailing	924 Cedar Street		Flint	MI	48503	9/4/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
133	Physical	924 Cedar Street		Flint	MI	485033620	9/4/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
134	Mailing	DAYSTAR CHILDCARE CENTER	PO BOX 7008	FLINT	MI	48507	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
135	Physical	DAYSTAR CHILDCARE CENTER	PO BOX 7008	FLINT	MI	485070008	5/19/2011 10:18:37 AM	No Map Found
136	Mailing	1160 DONALDSON BLVD		FLINT	MI	485043217	7/6/2009 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
137	Physical	1160 DONALDSON BLVD		FLINT	MI	485043217	5/19/2011 10:23:15 AM	No Map Found
138	Mailing	BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA	507 W ATHERTON ROAD	FLINT	MI	48507	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
139	Physical	BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA	507 W ATHERTON ROAD	FLINT	MI	48507	5/19/2011 10:18:24 AM	No Map Found
140	Mailing	5711 Fleming Rd		Flint	MI	48504	4/29/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
141	Physical	5711 Fleming Rd		Flint	MI	485045002	7/17/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
142	Mailing	303 EAST KEARSLEY 1313 WSW		FLINT	MI	485020000	9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM	No Map Found
143	Physical	509 Harrison St		Flint	MI	485021715	5/19/2011 9:29:52 AM	No Map Found
144	Mailing	2040 W CARPENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485051908	11/26/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
145	Physical	2040 w carpenter rd		flint	MI	485051908	11/26/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
146	Mailing	G4544 BEECHER RD		FLINT	MI	48532	10/9/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
147	Physical	G4544 BEECHER RD		FLINT	MI	48532	10/9/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
148	Mailing	6436 BRAY RD		FLINT	MI	485051813	8/14/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
149	Physical	6436 Bray Rd		Flint	MI	485051813	8/14/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
150	Mailing	4406 LENNON RD		FLINT	MI	48507	10/18/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
151	Physical	4406 Lennon Rd		Flint	MI	485071029	10/18/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
152	Mailing	1201 NORTH GRAND TRAVERSE ST		FLINT	MI	485031312	5/13/2009 9:11:38 AM	No Map Found
153	Physical	1201 NORTH GRAND TRAVERSE ST		FLINT	MI	485031312	5/19/2011 10:27:10 AM	No Map Found
154	Mailing	1116 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075518	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
155	Physical	1116 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075518	5/19/2011 11:08:01 AM	No Map Found
156	Mailing	1050 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075516	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
157	Physical	1050 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075516	5/19/2011 11:08:01 AM	No Map Found
158	Mailing	1050 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075516	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
159	Physical	1050 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075516	5/19/2011 11:08:15 AM	No Map Found
160	Mailing	1116 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075518	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
161	Physical	1116 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075518	5/19/2011 10:40:57 AM	No Map Found
162	Mailing	1050 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075516	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
163	Physical	1050 WEST BRISTOL RD		FLINT	MI	485075516	5/19/2011 10:40:58 AM	No Map Found
164	Mailing	4318 MILLER RD STE A		FLINT	MI	485071267	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
165	Physical	4318 MILLER RD STE A		FLINT	MI	485071267	5/19/2011 10:40:54 AM	No Map Found
166	Mailing	3488 NORTH JENNINGS RD		FLINT	MI	485041757	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
167	Physical	3488 NORTH JENNINGS RD		FLINT	MI	485041757	5/19/2011 11:08:50 AM	No Map Found
168	Mailing	1700 UNIVERSITY AVE		FLINT	MI	485046214	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found

	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X
127	Physical	688709.8	277146.1	43.021008	-83.68268	5	27	49	5/19/2011 9:26:46 AM
128	Mailing
129	Physical	689637.4845	276839.188	43.01834848	-83.6708089	5	27	49	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
130	Mailing
131	Physical	683591.4	279781.1	43.04628852	-83.74400614	5	27	49	5/19/2011 9:23:22 AM
132	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
133	Physical	687438.9474	275569.8441	43.00747544	-83.69820423	5	27	49	9/4/2014 2:34:33 PM
134	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
135	Physical	685898.2	270770.6	42.96466	-83.71872	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:18:37 AM
136	Mailing
137	Physical	684574.5	277603.4	43.02623129	-83.73295366	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:23:15 AM
138	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
139	Physical	685898.2	270770.6	42.98875	-83.680646	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:18:24 AM
140	Mailing
141	Physical	685166.4677	281884.5932	43.06487788	-83.72395718	5	27	34	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
142	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
143	Physical	688153.5	276594.5	43.01647344	-83.68912579	5	27	49	5/19/2011 9:29:52 AM
144	Mailing
145	Physical	684740.3528	283025.1642	43.07524921	-83.72880504	5	27	49	12/1/2014 12:00:00 AM
146	Mailing
147	Physical	681937.7488	277941.1174	43.03017212	-83.76489796	5	27	49	12/1/2014 12:00:00 AM
148	Mailing
149	Physical	690539.7186	286074.0701	43.10124061	-83.65654448	5	27	48	12/1/2012 12:00:00 AM
150	Mailing								9/26/2008 10:30:31 AM
151	Physical	681822.0186	273192.514	42.987457	-83.767885	5	27	49	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
152	Mailing
153	Physical	686838.1	277483.8	43.02444284	-83.70452604	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:27:10 AM
154	Mailing
155	Physical	687610.6	271629.1	42.97412109	-83.69694496	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:08:01 AM
156	Mailing
157	Physical	687872.8	271637.5	42.97416176	-83.6945084	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:08:01 AM
158	Mailing
159	Physical	687872.8	271637.5	42.97416176	-83.6945084	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:08:15 AM
160	Mailing
161	Physical	687610.6	271629.1	42.97412109	-83.69694496	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:40:57 AM
162	Mailing
163	Physical	687872.8	271637.5	42.97416176	-83.6945084	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:40:58 AM
164	Mailing
165	Physical	682167.1	272284.2	42.97915519	-83.76393644	5	27	49	5/19/2011 10:40:54 AM
166	Mailing
167	Physical	682839.1	281040.2	43.05520496	-83.75284154	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:08:50 AM
168	Mailing

	Y	Z	AA	AB	AC	AD	AE	AF	AG
127	2	Validated by CGI	0029001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
128									8:59:42 AM
129	2	Validated by CGI	0030001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
130									8:59:42 AM
131	2	Validated by CGI	0105011	55980	049	GENESEE	35970		8:59:42 AM
132	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
133	2	Validated by CGI	0037003	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
134	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
135	2	Validated by CGI							8:59:42 AM
136									8:59:42 AM
137	2	Validated by CGI	0013001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
138	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
139	2	Validated by CGI	0035001		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
140									8:59:42 AM
141	2	Validated by CGI	0003001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
142	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
143	2	Validated by CGI	0028002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
144									8:59:42 AM
145	2	Validated by CGI	0103043	55980	049	Genesee	35970		8:59:42 AM
146									8:59:42 AM
147	2	Validated by CGI	0108111	29020	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
148									8:59:42 AM
149	2	Validated by CGI	0121001	31800	049	Genesee	20070		8:59:42 AM
150	1	Not Called							8:59:42 AM
151	2	Validated by CGI	0109101	29020	049	Genesee	33420		8:59:42 AM
152									8:59:42 AM
153	2	Validated by CGI	0015002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
154									8:59:42 AM
155	2	Validated by CGI	0110103	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
156									8:59:42 AM
157	2	Validated by CGI	0110103	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
158									8:59:42 AM
159	2	Validated by CGI	0110103	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
160									8:59:42 AM
161	2	Validated by CGI	0110103	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
162									8:59:42 AM
163	2	Validated by CGI	0110103	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
164									8:59:42 AM
165	2	Validated by CGI	0109121	29020	049	GENESEE	33420		8:59:42 AM
166									8:59:42 AM
167	2	Validated by CGI	0105011	55980	049	GENESEE	35970		8:59:42 AM
168									8:59:42 AM

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
169	Higher Education College/University	4976	Kettering University	05114	58601	4976	2
170	Higher Education College/University	4959	Mott Community College	04863	58578	4959	1
171	Higher Education College/University	4959	Mott Community College	04863	58579	4959	2
172	Higher Education College/University	5023	University of Michigan - Flint	05684	58838	5023	1
173	Higher Education College/University	5023	University of Michigan - Flint	05684	58839	5023	2
174	LEA Unique Education Provider	11162	Beecher Adult Education Center	02746	75702	11162	1
175	LEA Unique Education Provider	11162	Beecher Adult Education Center	02746	75701	11162	2
176	LEA Unique Education Provider	11028	Genesee County Jail	02564	75405	11028	1
177	LEA Unique Education Provider	11028	Genesee County Jail	02564	75406	11028	2
178	LEA Unique Education Provider	11029	Genesee Valley Regional Center	02565	75408	11029	1
179	LEA Unique Education Provider	11029	Genesee Valley Regional Center	02565	75407	11029	2
180	LEA Unique Education Provider	7449	Northwestern Early Childhood Education Center	09347	63960	7449	1
181	LEA Unique Education Provider	7449	Northwestern Early Childhood Education Center	09347	63961	7449	2
182	LEA Unique Education Provider	1690	Stalker Elementary	09054	51379	1690	1
183	LEA Unique Education Provider	1690	Stalker Elementary	09054	51380	1690	2
184	LEA Unique Education Provider	1683	The Learning Community	01220	51371	1683	1
185	LEA Unique Education Provider	1683	The Learning Community	01220	51372	1683	2
186	LEA Unique Education Provider	6561	Thelma Buffey Early Childhood Center	08935	62414	6561	1
187	LEA Unique Education Provider	6561	Thelma Buffey Early Childhood Center	08935	62415	6561	2
188	PSA School	10944	Eagle's Nest Academy	02434	75226	10944	1
189	PSA School	10944	Eagle's Nest Academy	02434	75225	10944	2
190	PSA School	10699	Genesee STEM Academy	02031	74635	10699	1
191	PSA School	10699	Genesee STEM Academy	02031	74634	10699	2
192	PSA School	10573	Greater Heights Academy	01751	74368	10573	1
193	PSA School	10573	Greater Heights Academy	01751	74367	10573	2
194	PSA School	268	International Academy of Flint (K-12)	08732	53646	268	1
195	PSA School	268	International Academy of Flint (K-12)	08732	53647	268	2
196	PSA School	271	Linden Charter Academy	08739	53682	271	1
197	PSA School	271	Linden Charter Academy	08739	53683	271	2
198	PSA School	7561	Madison Academy Elementary/Middle School	09450	64244	7561	1
199	PSA School	7561	Madison Academy Elementary/Middle School	09450	64245	7561	2
200	PSA School	267	Northridge Academy	08721	53510	267	1
201	PSA School	267	Northridge Academy	08721	53511	267	2
202	PSA School	7403	Richfield Public School Academy	09305	64076	7403	1
203	PSA School	7403	Richfield Public School Academy	09305	64077	7403	2
204	PSA School	9580	Richfield Public School Academy K-2	09947	72056	9580	1
205	PSA School	9580	Richfield Public School Academy K-2	09947	72057	9580	2
206	PSA School	10369	The New Standard Academy	01402	73879	10369	1
207	PSA School	10369	The New Standard Academy	01402	73878	10369	2
208	PSA School	10626	WAY Academy - Flint, Flint Campus	01882	74478	10626	1
209	PSA School	10626	WAY Academy - Flint, Flint Campus	01882	74477	10626	2
210	ISD Unique Education Provider	10548	Early On	01804	74312	10548	1

	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O
169	Physical	1700 UNIVERSITY AVE		FLINT	MI	485046214	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM	No Map Found
170	Mailing	1401 EAST COURT ST		FLINT	MI	485036208	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
171	Physical	1401 EAST COURT ST		FLINT	MI	485036208	5/19/2011 11:09:13 AM	No Map Found
172	Mailing	303 EAST KEARSLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485021950	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
173	Physical	303 EAST KEARSLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485021907	5/19/2011 11:07:19 AM	No Map Found
174	Mailing	1020 W. Coldwater Road		Flint	MI	485058505	5/28/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
175	Physical	1020 W. Coldwater Road		Flint	MI	485054831	5/28/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
176	Mailing	1000 E MOUNT MORRIS ST		MOUNT MORRIS	MI	484582074	9/11/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
177	Physical	1002 S. Saginaw		Flint	MI	485021499	9/11/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
178	Mailing	1000 E MOUNT MORRIS ST		MOUNT MORRIS	MI	484582074	9/11/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
179	Physical	4287 W. Pasadena Ave.		Flint	MI	485042342	9/11/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
180	Mailing	G3284 MACKIN RD		FLINT	MI	485043285	7/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
181	Physical	G2138 W Carpenter Rd		Flint	MI	485051977	7/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
182	Mailing	3329 Burnell Ave		Flint	MI	485044303	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
183	Physical	3329 BURNELL AVE		FLINT	MI	485044303	5/19/2011 11:53:15 AM	No Map Found
184	Mailing	1181 WEST SCOTTWOOD AVE		FLINT	MI	485073615	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
185	Physical	1181 WEST SCOTTWOOD AVE		FLINT	MI	485073615	5/19/2011 11:53:17 AM	No Map Found
186	Mailing	4235 Crosby Rd		FLINT	MI	485061530	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
187	Physical	4235 Crosby Rd		FLINT	MI	485061530	5/19/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
188	Mailing	5005 CLOVERLAWN DR		FLINT	MI	485042084	6/23/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
189	Physical	5005 Cloverlawn Dr		Flint	MI	485042084	6/23/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
190	Mailing	310 W OAKLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485033915	7/11/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
191	Physical	310 W Oakley St		Flint	MI	485033915	7/11/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
192	Mailing	3196 W PASADENA AVE		FLINT	MI	485042330	4/2/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
193	Physical	3196 W Pasadena Ave		Flint	MI	485042330	4/2/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
194	Mailing	2820 SOUTH SAGINAW ST		FLINT	MI	485035708	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
195	Physical	2820 SOUTH SAGINAW ST		FLINT	MI	485035708	5/19/2011 11:39:06 AM	No Map Found
196	Mailing	3244 NORTH LINDEN RD		FLINT	MI	485041753	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
197	Physical	3244 NORTH LINDEN RD		FLINT	MI	485041753	5/19/2011 11:38:52 AM	No Map Found
198	Mailing	6170 TORREY RD		FLINT	MI	485075954	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
199	Physical	6170 Torrey Rd		Flint	MI	485075954	5/19/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
200	Mailing	530 W PIERSON RD		FLINT	MI	485053114	8/1/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
201	Physical	530 W Pierson Rd		Flint	MI	485053114	8/1/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
202	Mailing	3807 NORTH CENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485062642	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
203	Physical	3807 NORTH CENTER RD		FLINT	MI	485062642	5/19/2011 10:49:14 AM	No Map Found
204	Mailing	6103 EAGLE RIDGE LN		FLINT	MI	485056740	10/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
205	Physical	4358 Richfield Rd		Flint	MI	485062016	7/1/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
206	Mailing	2040 W. Carpenter		Flint	MI	48505	8/22/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
207	Physical	2040 W. Carpenter		Flint	MI	48505	8/22/2012 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
208	Mailing	817 E Kearsley St		Flint	MI	48503	9/11/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
209	Physical	817 E Kearsley St		Flint	MI	485032076	10/8/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
210	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073429	2/12/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found

	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X
169	Physical	686260.878	276199.831	43.01247634	-83.71490246	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM
170	Mailing
171	Physical	689654.1	276845.3	43.01834844	-83.67080891	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:09:13 AM
172	Mailing
173	Physical	688132.4	276760.9	43.01769618	-83.68989349	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:07:19 AM
174	Mailing
175	Physical	687468.7029	284736.6313	43.08997726	-83.69471741	5	27	49	5/28/2015 1:25:37 PM
176	Mailing
177	Physical	688346.6246	276039.7424	43.01147796	-83.68691146	5	27	49	9/11/2014 12:38:39 PM
178	Mailing
179	Physical	681992.7163	279696.2722	43.04595776	-83.76363806	5	27	49	9/11/2014 12:10:19 PM
180	Mailing
181	Physical	684660.1336	283022.1077	43.07524145	-83.72979101	5	27	49	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
182	Mailing
183	Physical	683713.4	277467.4	43.02549671	-83.74318147	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:53:15 AM
184	Mailing
185	Physical	687568.8	271428.8	42.97021233	-83.69798023	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:53:17 AM
186	Mailing
187	Physical	693813.6	282661.2	43.06968	-83.61753	5	27	48	7/20/2011 3:17:04 PM
188	Mailing
189	Physical	684714.2577	281267.5119	43.05943503	-83.72971581	5	27	34	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
190	Mailing
191	Physical	688891.5758	274464.0866	42.99715832	-83.6807723	5	27	34	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
192	Mailing
193	Physical	683893.084	279786.4296	43.04630546	-83.74029085	5	27	49	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
194	Mailing
195	Physical	689099.5	274448.2	42.99696003	-83.67816847	5	27	34	5/19/2011 11:39:06 AM
196	Mailing
197	Physical	681228.4	280877.2	43.04976933	-83.77253416	5	27	49	5/19/2011 11:38:52 AM
198	Mailing
199	Physical	684914.7643	267914.3537	42.93919194	-83.73173258	5	14	50	12/1/2012 12:00:00 AM
200	Mailing
201	Physical	686273.1374	281493.6301	43.061085	-83.710504	5	27	34	3/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
202	Mailing
203	Physical	692381.9	280269.8	43.04989069	-83.63593213	5	27	34	5/19/2011 10:49:14 AM
204	Mailing
205	Physical	693474.7349	280581.0491	43.051049	-83.622426	5	27	48	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
206	Mailing
207	Physical	685949.737	283092.1695	43.07555389	-83.71392822	5	27	48	8/22/2012 9:56:02 AM
208	Mailing
209	Physical	688662.2166	277107.3733	43.021008	-83.68268	5	27	49	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
210	Mailing

	Y	Z	AA	AB	AC	AD	AE	AF	AG
169	2	Validated by CGI	0016003		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
170									8:59:42 AM
171	2	Validated by CGI	0030001	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
172									8:59:42 AM
173	2	Validated by CGI	0028002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
174									8:59:42 AM
175	2	Validated by CGI	0103041	55980	049	Genesee	04500		8:59:42 AM
176									8:59:42 AM
177	2	Validated by CGI	0028001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
178									8:59:42 AM
179	2	Validated by CGI	0108111	29020	049	Genesee	14550		8:59:42 AM
180									8:59:42 AM
181	2	Validated by CGI	0103043	55980	049	Genesee	35970		8:59:42 AM
182									8:59:42 AM
183	2	Validated by CGI	0108123	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
184									8:59:42 AM
185	2	Validated by CGI	0110103	29020	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
186									8:59:42 AM
187	2	Validated by CGI	0120081	31800	049	GENESEE	20070		8:59:42 AM
188									8:59:42 AM
189	2	Validated by CGI	0005001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
190									8:59:42 AM
191	2	Validated by CGI	0038002	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
192									8:59:42 AM
193	2	Validated by CGI	0105011	55980	049	Genesee	35970		8:59:42 AM
194									8:59:42 AM
195	2	Validated by CGI	0038002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
196									8:59:42 AM
197	2	Validated by CGI	0105022	55980	049	GENESEE	35970		8:59:42 AM
198									8:59:42 AM
199	2	Validated by CGI	0129041	56160	049	Genesee	33420		8:59:42 AM
200									8:59:42 AM
201	2	Validated by CGI	0004001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
202									8:59:42 AM
203	2	Validated by CGI	0024003	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
204									8:59:42 AM
205	2	Validated by CGI	0120062	31800	049	Genesee	20070		8:59:42 AM
206									8:59:42 AM
207	2	Validated by CGI	0103046	55980	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
208									8:59:42 AM
209	2	Validated by CGI	0029001	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
210									8:59:42 AM

	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
211	ISD Unique Education Provider	10548	Early On	01804	74311	10548	2
212	ISD Unique Education Provider	10549	Early On / Special Education	01810	74314	10549	1
213	ISD Unique Education Provider	10549	Early On / Special Education	01810	74313	10549	2
214	ISD Unique Education Provider	10770	Genesee Career Institute	02258	74785	10770	1
215	ISD Unique Education Provider	10770	Genesee Career Institute	02258	74784	10770	2
216	ISD Unique Education Provider	7904	Genesee ISD Transition Center	09765	65094	7904	1
217	ISD Unique Education Provider	7904	Genesee ISD Transition Center	09765	65095	7904	2
218	ISD Unique Education Provider	9582	Health, Safety and Nutrition Services	00055	72318	9582	1
219	ISD Unique Education Provider	9582	Health, Safety and Nutrition Services	00055	72060	9582	2
220	ISD Unique Education Provider	1605	Special Education Services-South	02658	51218	1605	1
221	ISD Unique Education Provider	1605	Special Education Services-South	02658	51219	1605	2
222	ISD School	1607	Elmer A. Knopf Learning Center	06156	51222	1607	1
223	ISD School	1607	Elmer A. Knopf Learning Center	06156	51223	1607	2
224	ISD School	7865	Special Services - North	09725	64849	7865	1
225	ISD School	7865	Special Services - North	09725	64850	7865	2
226	Nonpublic School	5309	Fairhaven SDA School	05098	59672	5309	1
227	Nonpublic School	5309	Fairhaven SDA School	05098	59673	5309	2
228	Nonpublic School	5289	First Flint SDA School	06603	59399	5289	1
229	Nonpublic School	5289	First Flint SDA School	06603	59400	5289	2
230	Nonpublic School	5280	Fr. Luke M. Powers High School	06022	59389	5280	1
231	Nonpublic School	5280	Fr. Luke M. Powers High School	06022	59390	5280	2
232	Nonpublic School	5296	Holy Rosary School	01737	59405	5296	1
233	Nonpublic School	5296	Holy Rosary School	01737	59406	5296	2
234	Nonpublic School	5283	St. John Vianney School	06217	59129	5283	1
235	Nonpublic School	5283	St. John Vianney School	06217	59130	5283	2
236	Nonpublic School	5278	St. Paul Lutheran School	03956	59385	5278	1
237	Nonpublic School	5278	St. Paul Lutheran School	03956	59386	5278	2
238	Nonpublic School	5291	St. Pius X School	03991	59139	5291	1
239	Nonpublic School	5291	St. Pius X School	03991	59140	5291	2
240	State School	6333	Michigan School for the Deaf	02548	61517	6333	1
241	State School	6333	Michigan School for the Deaf	02548	61518	6333	2
242	PSA Unique Education Provider	11209	Richfield Public School Academy Pre-K	02801	75796	11209	1
243	PSA Unique Education Provider	11209	Richfield Public School Academy Pre-K	02801	75795	11209	2

	H	I	J	K	L	M	N	O
211	Physical	5089 Pilgrim Rd		Flint	MI	485073909	2/12/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
212	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073429	2/12/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
213	Physical	5089 Pilgrim Rd		Flint	MI	485073909	2/12/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
214	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073493	7/2/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
215	Physical	5081 Torrey Rd		Flint	MI	485075999	9/12/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
216	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073429	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
217	Physical	3136 SOUTH LINDEN RD		FLINT	MI	485073004	6/7/2010 1:49:01 PM	No Map Found
218	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073429	7/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
219	Physical	5075 Pilgrim Rd		Flint	MI	485073909	7/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
220	Mailing	5089 PILGRIM RD		FLINT	MI	485073909	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
221	Physical	5089 PILGRIM RD		FLINT	MI	485073909	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM	No Map Found
222	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073429	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
223	Physical	1493 WEST MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485075613	5/19/2011 11:54:13 AM	No Map Found
224	Mailing	2413 W MAPLE AVE		FLINT	MI	485073429	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
225	Physical	2413 W Maple Ave		Flint	MI	485073429	7/1/2014 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
226	Mailing	G-1379 WEST LOUIS AVE		FLINT	MI	48505	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
227	Physical	G-1379 WEST LOUIS AVE		FLINT	MI	48505	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM	No Map Found
228	Mailing	G4285 BEECHER RD		FLINT	MI	485322711	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
229	Physical	G4285 BEECHER RD		FLINT	MI	485322711	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM	No Map Found
230	Mailing	1505 W COURT ST		FLINT	MI	485035002	9/26/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
231	Physical	1505 W Court St		Flint	MI	485035002	9/26/2013 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
232	Mailing	5191 RICHFIELD RD		FLINT	MI	485062114	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
233	Physical	5191 RICHFIELD RD		FLINT	MI	485062114	5/19/2011 11:03:57 AM	No Map Found
234	Mailing	2319 BAGLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485044613	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
235	Physical	2319 BAGLEY ST		FLINT	MI	485044613	5/19/2011 11:05:11 AM	No Map Found
236	Mailing	402 SOUTH BALLENGER HWY		FLINT	MI	485323637	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
237	Physical	402 SOUTH BALLENGER HWY		FLINT	MI	485323637	5/19/2011 11:03:59 AM	No Map Found
238	Mailing	G3139 HOGARTH AVE		FLINT	MI	485325132	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
239	Physical	G3139 HOGARTH AVE		FLINT	MI	485325132	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM	No Map Found
240	Mailing	1235 W. COURT ST.		FLINT	MI	485035015	1/1/1900 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
241	Physical	1235 W. COURT ST.		FLINT	MI	485035015	5/19/2011 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
242	Mailing	6103 Eagle Ridge Lane		Flint	MI	48505	7/14/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found
243	Physical	6103 Eagle Ridge Lane		Flint	MI	48505	7/14/2015 12:00:00 AM	No Map Found

	P	Q	R	S	T	U	V	W	X
211	Physical	685648.1307	269800.1861	42.955986	-83.722114	5	14	50	3/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
212	Mailing
213	Physical	685648.1307	269800.1861	42.955986	-83.722114	5	14	50	3/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
214	Mailing
215	Physical	684834.6823	269859.2791	42.956718	-83.732063	5	14	50	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
216	Mailing
217	Physical	681481.242	272760.628	42.98038842	-83.77228837	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:49:01 PM
218	Mailing
219	Physical	685681.3116	269797.8961	42.95595733	-83.72170847	5	14	50	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
220	Mailing
221	Physical	685650.843	269814.859	42.95623558	-83.72199574	5	14	50	6/7/2010 1:48:55 PM
222	Mailing
223	Physical	686790.4	270180.9	42.95917168	-83.70808884	5	14	50	5/19/2011 11:54:13 AM
224	Mailing
225	Physical	685162.2793	270103.7995	42.95883881	-83.72796644	5	14	50	6/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
226	Mailing
227	Physical	686295.051	284570.0024	43.08877	-83.70919	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM
228	Mailing
229	Physical	682521.076	277517.845	43.01448671	-83.73669488	5	27	34	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM
230	Mailing
231	Physical	686971.3099	275468.2773	43.006677	-83.703979	5	27	49	9/1/2013 12:00:00 AM
232	Mailing
233	Physical	694519.1	280713.1	43.05200337	-83.60926666	5	27	48	5/19/2011 11:03:57 AM
234	Mailing
235	Physical	685445	276966.7	43.01987106	-83.71966449	5	27	34	5/19/2011 11:05:11 AM
236	Mailing
237	Physical	684478.2	276449.9	43.01605809	-83.73411109	5	27	34	5/19/2011 11:03:59 AM
238	Mailing
239	Physical	684151.676	274168.634	42.99552682	-83.73913683	5	27	49	6/7/2010 1:48:59 PM
240	Mailing
241	Physical	687286.8876	275516.984	43.00703757	-83.70008714	5	27	49	7/11/2012 1:03:10 PM
242	Mailing
243	Physical	688299.1393	282300.6981	43.06784391	-83.6853531	5	27	34	7/14/2015 11:18:28 AM

	Y	Z	AA	AB	AC	AD	AE	AF	AG
211	2	Validated by CGI	0129052	56160	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
212									8:59:42 AM
213	2	Validated by CGI	0129052	56160	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
214									8:59:42 AM
215	2	Validated by CGI	0129041	56160	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
216									8:59:42 AM
217	2	Validated by CGI	0109121	29020	049	GENESEE	33420		8:59:42 AM
218									8:59:42 AM
219	2	Validated by CGI	0129052	56160	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
220									8:59:42 AM
221	2	Validated by CGI	0129052		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
222									8:59:42 AM
223	2	Validated by CGI	0129052	56160	049	GENESEE	07890		8:59:42 AM
224									8:59:42 AM
225	2	Validated by CGI	0129041	56160	049	Genesee	07890		8:59:42 AM
226									8:59:42 AM
227	2	Validated by CGI							8:59:42 AM
228									8:59:42 AM
229	2	Validated by CGI	0016004		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
230									8:59:42 AM
231	2	Validated by CGI	0037003	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM
232									8:59:42 AM
233	2	Validated by CGI	0120082	31800	049	GENESEE	20070		8:59:42 AM
234									8:59:42 AM
235	2	Validated by CGI	0016002	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
236									8:59:42 AM
237	2	Validated by CGI	0016004	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
238									8:59:42 AM
239	2	Validated by CGI	0109113		049	GENESEE			8:59:42 AM
240									8:59:42 AM
241	2	Validated by CGI	0037003	29000	049	GENESEE	14520		8:59:42 AM
242									8:59:42 AM
243	2	Validated by CGI	0017002	29000	049	Genesee	14520		8:59:42 AM

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, April 28, 2015 1:31 PM
To: McIntire, Ben (DTMB)
Subject: Media Advisory

--- PRESS RELEASE ---

For Immediate Release

April 28, 2015 Contact: Terry Stanton, (517) 335-2167

Media Advisory

for

Wednesday, April 29, 2015

The Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board (Emergency Loan Board) is scheduled to meet at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 29th in the State Treasurers' Board Room in the Richard H. Austin Building, located at 430 W. Allegan in Lansing.

The Emergency Loan Board will consider an emergency loan application from the City of Flint, pursuant to Public Act 243 of 1980, the Emergency Municipal Loan Act.

Individuals planning to attend the meeting must obtain a visitor's pass from security representatives in the Austin Building lobby. The meeting site is accessible for disabled persons. Individuals who may need assistance should call (517) 373-3223.

All Emergency Loan Board meetings are special or called meetings and are not regularly-scheduled.

# # #

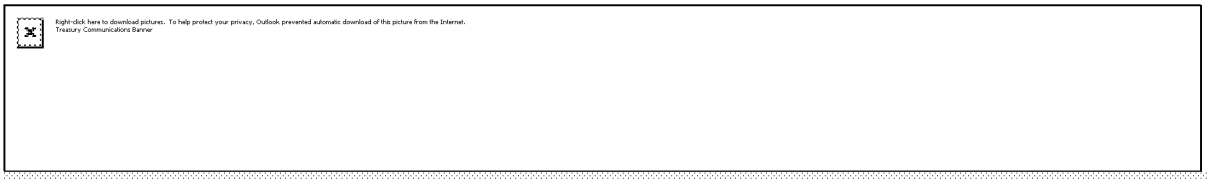
This service is provided by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

SUBSCRIBER SERVICES:

Manage Preferences | Unsubscribe All | Subscription Help

This email was sent to mcintireb@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, April 28, 2015 1:56 PM
To: McIntire, Ben (DTMB)
Subject: CORRECTED MEDIA ADVISORY



April 28, 2015

Contact: Terry Stanton (517) 335-2167

CORRECTED

Media Advisory for Wednesday, April 29, 2015

The Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board (Emergency Loan Board) is scheduled to meet at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 29th in the State Treasurers' Board Room in the Richard H. Austin Building, located at 430 W. Allegan in Lansing.

The Emergency Loan Board will consider an emergency loan application from the City of Flint, pursuant to Public Act 243 of 1980, the Emergency Municipal Loan Act.

Individuals planning to attend the meeting must obtain a visitor's pass from security representatives in the Austin Building lobby. The meeting site is accessible for disabled persons. Individuals who may need assistance should call (517) 373-3223.

All Emergency Loan Board meetings are special or called meetings and are not regularly-scheduled.

Previous advisory erroneously used old template.

If you know of an employee who isn't receiving these emails, they can sign-up here to be added to our lists.

This service is provided to you by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

This email was sent to mcintireb@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: Michigan Department of Treasury <MITreasury@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, April 29, 2015 11:08 AM
To: McIntire, Ben (DTMB)
Subject: MEDIA ADVISORY

MEDIA ADVISORY

Contacts: Terry Stanton, Treasury (517) 335-2167

Media Advisory for Wednesday, April 29, 2015

Deputy State Treasurer Wayne Workman, Flint Emergency Manager Jerry Ambrose, and City officials will host a press conference regarding the City of Flint at 1:30 this afternoon, at Flint City Hall, located at 1101 South Saginaw Street.

The press conference will be in the Mayor's Conference Room. Media is asked to check-in at the Mayor's Office.

####

If you know of an employee who isn't receiving these emails, they can sign-up here to be added to our lists.

This service is provided to you by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

This email was sent to mcintireb@michigan.gov using GovDelivery, on behalf of: Michigan Department of Treasury · Lansing, MI 48922 · 517-373-3200

From: McIntire, Ben (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 10:34 AM
To: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB);Weiss, Kurt (DTMB);Roberts, John (DTMB);Starr, Scott (DTMB)
Cc: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB);Clark, April (DTMB);Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: Legislative Report: Senate Appropriations: General Government - March 3rd, 2016

MEMBERS	Senators Stamas (C), Nofs, Booher, Young
Analysts Attending	April Clark, Tyler Tulloch, Ben McIntire
BUDGETS	Auditor General
MEETING DATE AND TIME	Thursday, March 3, 2016 - 8:30 a.m.
ACTION	Presentation by Auditor General

Auditor General presentation:
Doug Ringler, Auditor General
Laura Hirst, Deputy Auditor General

Doug and Laura made the following points:

- Auditor General is a Constitutional officer and principal executive of the Office of the Auditor General, established in the Legislature.
- Appointed for an 8-year term; most recent appointment effective 6/9/2014.
- Responsibility: conduct financial and performance audits of state operations
- Mission: improve accountability for public funds and improve state government operations

ONGOING INITIATIVES:

Improved Communications

- New audit report summary table
- Notice of audit findings in certain situations

New Report Format

- Call-out of key information

Enhanced Transparency

- Provide 6-month audit plan to legislative leadership and departments
- Email monthly status report to legislators
- List work in process on the OAG website

Question (Nofs): I am concerned about your audit of Grand Rapids Home for Veterans. Do you get back quicker when humans are at risk?
Answer (Ringler): We need to give agencies time to implement their plan.

Question (Nofs): What are your needs?
Answer (Ringler): We are OK, for now, with the Executive Recommendation.

Question (Booher): We have issues with HB 5220 ($28M Flint supplemental). What happens if this work doesn't get done?
Answer (Ringler): We will monitor how the $28m is spent, and we will monitor future expenditures. I don't know what our future needs will be regarding Flint.

Adjourn (10:00)

From: McIntire, Ben (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, March 18, 2015 2:03 PM
To: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB);Weiss, Kurt (DTMB);Roberts, John (DTMB)
Cc: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB);Starr, Scott (DTMB)
Subject: Legislative Report; House Appropriations: General Government - February 24, 2016

MEMBERS	Reps Cox (C), Poleski, Afendoulis, Inman, Durhal III, Singh
Analysts Attending	April Clark; Ben McIntire
BUDGET	Attorney General; PACC; Auditor General
MEETING DATE AND TIME	Wednesday, February 24, 2016 - 10:30 a.m.
ACTION	Presentation on FY 2017 Executive Budget: Attorney General Prosecuting Attorneys Coordinating Council (PACC) Office of Auditor General
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY	Routine presentation regarding Attorney General, PACC, Auditor General executive recommendations

PLEASE NOTE: I talked briefly with Attorney General budget director before the meeting. He will be submitting a supplemental request shortly related to Flint lawsuits for (he anticipates) $5M GFGP. There may be ongoing needs beyond the initial $5M request; there are already 12 lawsuits pending.

Attorney General presentation:
Carol Isaacs, Chief Deputy Attorney General

Carol made the following points:

- Attorney General won $392 million in awards payable to the State in FY 2015.
- 3 Bureaus, 20 divisions, 40,000 cases per year.

Top Attorney General Initiatives:

- Student Safety

  OK2SAY was launched in September, 2014. 1,700 seminars have been conducted. Several potentially violent incidents have already been averted, and mental health assistance is being provided.

- Sexual Assault Enforcement

  $1.7 million in ongoing funding is provided to expand testing of backlogged sexual assault kits across the state, assist local prosecutors with investigations and prosecutions, and provide victim services.

  Question (Cox): Is this ongoing?
  Answer (Isaacs): Yes, for now. It will take 3-5 years to investigate, prosecute based on results of sexual assault kit testing.

- Public Safety

  Public Safety Initiative funds Special Assistant Attorney Generals embedded with county prosecuting attorneys offices. Currently, fifteen Special Assistant Attorney Generals are reducing crime in Wayne County, Saginaw County, Genesee County and Flint.

- Public Integrity

The core mission of the Public Integrity Unit is the reduction in the rate of public corruption in state and local government. AG has prosecuted city, state, and school employees who have violated the public trust.

- Human Trafficking

  On March 18, 2013, Attorney General Schuette and the Legislature convened Michigan's first ever Commission on Human Trafficking. The Human Trafficking Unit has trained local, county, and state law enforcement units in the investigation and prosecution of human trafficking cases.

- Prescription Drug Abuse

  Prescription Drug Abuse Unit established as a result of governor's Prescription Drug and Opioid Abuse Task Force recommendations. Exec Rec provides $700,000 (one-time) funds for this unit.

  Question (Cox): What is timeline for Prescription Drug Abuse?
  Answer (Isaacs): Task force produced report with recommendations – these cases will not be resolved quickly.

- Child Support Enforcement

  The Attorney General's Child Support Division was created in 2003 to combat the problem of unpaid child support. Since 2003, the Child Support Division has collected more than $198 million, directly impacting the lives of 15,074 children.

- Consumer Protection

  - ✓ Enforcement of over 35 state statutes
  - ✓ Consumer recoveries of nearly $4.43 million and State recoveries of $6.48 million in 2015.
  - ✓ Antitrust recoveries of $2.3 million in fiscal year 2015.

- Mortgage Foreclosure Fraud

  Attorney General has convicted 37 individuals and companies with foreclosure fraud, and 13 cases are pending. Exec Rec provides $600,000 to continue mortgage foreclosure fraud activities.

  Question (Cox): Is this short-term or long-term?
  Answer (Isaacs): We probably need 3-4 more years to resolve all cases.

Prosecuting Attorneys Coordinating Council (PACC):

Cheri Bruinsma, Assistant Executive Director

PACC is an autonomous agency in the Department of Attorney General, governed by a 5-person council, including the Attorney General.

Primary Services:

- Information Technology – software package used by 79 out of 83 counties, and the Attorney General, specifically designed for Michigan's legal system.
  - Generates all documents, warrants, subpoenas, court notices
  - Links county prosecutors with state police, corrections, DHS, and DCH
- Continuing Professional Education
- Administration of grant-funded services
- Coordination of statewide prosecution activities

  Question (Poleski): What about your IT issues?
  Answer (Bruinsma): Our case management system doesn't interact with other systems, including MICourt. It is antiquated, and soon will be unsupportable.

Auditor General presentation:

Doug Ringler, Auditor General
Laura Hirst, Deputy Auditor General

Doug and Laura made the following points:

- Auditor General is a Constitutional officer and principal executive of the Office of the Auditor General, established in the Legislature.
- Appointed for an 8-year term; most recent appointment effective 6/9/2014.
- Responsibility: conduct financial and performance audits of state operations
- Mission: improve accountability for public funds and improve state government operations

ONGOING INITIATIVES:

Improved Communications

- New audit report summary table
- Notice of audit findings in certain situations

New Report Format

- Call-out of key information

Enhanced Transparency

- Provide 6-month audit plan to legislative leadership and departments
- Email monthly status report to legislators
- List work in process on the OAG website

Question (Cox): Caseload increase or decrease over last year?
Answer (Ringler): Financials are mandated. Non-mandated audits are done based on risk assessment. If something comes up that is urgent, something else (non-mandated) may be postponed.

Question (Durhal III): What is timeline for Prescription Drug Abuse?
Answer (Isaacs): Task force produced report with recommendations – these cases will not be resolved quickly.

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 2015 11:47 AM
To: mclarenc@gmail.com
Subject: Google Alert - michigan budget state

michigan budget state

As-it-happens update - February 4, 2015

NEWS

Obama's budget snub, Flint water relief and a new adoption bill

Michigan Radio

President Obama rolled out his budget proposal this week. There's a few things missing when it comes to a certain mitten-shaped state. ... his $4 trillion budget proposal this week, but it doesn't look like Michigan will be getting much ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.
Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Thursday, October 01, 2015 7:04 PM
To: mclarenc@gmail.com
Subject: Google Alert - michigan budget state

michigan budget state

As-it-happens update - October 1, 2015

NEWS

Budget bill add-on awaits future state funds for Flint water

MLive.com

FLINT, MI -- A funding mechanism aimed at the state paying for measures to reduce lead levels in Flint's drinking water has been added to a budget ...

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan road trips: fall travel savings

WDIV Detroit

"What I like about Michigan is it is more budget-friendly than some of the ... Finally, you can use a state website to find where the best fall colors are ...

Flag as irrelevant

Purdue-Michigan State Preview Capsule

abc27

Michigan State's offense line vs. Purdue's defensive front. The Spartans came into the season believing their offensive line would be a strength, and ...

Flag as irrelevant

'Looming budgetary pressures' add difficulty to Michigan road funding plan

Greenville Daily News

'Looming budgetary pressures' add difficulty to Michigan road funding plan ... an effective roads funding plan within the means of the state budget.

Flag as irrelevant

Michigan Senate approves $7.7 million for settlement after fatal crash involving state trooper

The Republic

The Senate voted 30-5 Thursday to amend the budget to authorize the ... State police spokeswoman Shanon Banner says while the settlement doesn't ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Tuesday, October 13, 2015 8:08 PM
To: mclarenc@gmail.com
Subject: Google Alert - "Michigan Department of Education" -swespetrodropro

"Michigan Department of Education" -swespetrodropro

As-it-happens update - October 14, 2015

NEWS

Count Day helps state with funding

Livingston Daily

Each district has 30 days to compile official numbers to submit to the Michigan Department of Education. The significance of Count Day stems from ...

Flag as irrelevant

State to launch statewide lead education campaign

Detroit Free Press

The state — in the wake of the Flint water crisis — is launching an education campaign soon to help schools statewide learn how to get their water ...

Flag as irrelevant

Education chief unveils teacher evaluation system ahead of possible state House vote

Michigan Radio

He says the Michigan Department of Education will help schools develop testing schemes that take both into account. "Some tests aren't designed to ...

Flag as irrelevant

Vassar joins Ithaca: Fights state tab, suspends boss

The Morning Sun

... Thomas Palmer on non-disciplinary leave pending an investigation into a Michigan Department of Education audit of an online alternative education ...

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.
Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Google Alerts <googlealerts-noreply@google.com>
Sent: Sunday, November 15, 2015 11:26 AM
To: mclarenc@gmail.com
Subject: Google Alert - "Michigan Department of Education" -swespetrodropro

"Michigan Department of Education" -swespetrodropro

As-it-happens update - November 15, 2015

NEWS

If you want to boost school achievement, tackle the effects of poverty

MLive.com

In fact, the Middle Cities Education Association enthusiastically supports the Michigan Department of Education in its recent efforts to raise proficiency ...

Flag as irrelevant

Fired-up Chestnut Hill students celebrate Blue Ribbon honor

Midland Daily News

Renfro said the school was nominated by the Michigan Department of Education early this year, followed by an application process that took several ...

Flag as irrelevant

State recommends all schools test water for lead ---- but no system exists to do so

HollandSentinel.com

The Michigan Department of Education (MDE) agreed. "Based on serious health concerns with Flint's water and the possibility of a similar problem ...

Flag as irrelevant

When a 4-year-degree isn't always the best option

Lansing State Journal

... of Career and Technical Education at the Michigan Department of Education. And all 28 community colleges in the state have career tech programs.

Flag as irrelevant

See more results | Edit this alert

You have received this email because you have subscribed to Google Alerts.

Unsubscribe | View all your alerts

Receive this alert as RSS feed

Send Feedback

From: Starr, Scott (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, September 30, 2015 3:52 PM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water
Attachments: HB 4102 Flint amdts.pdf

Here's the document with the amendment proposal that Sen. Ananich gave to Sen. Hildenbrand.

2 amendments for the supplemental.

1. $1.5 million to help get water filters in the homes of Flint residents. This amount will help 30,000 Flint residents get filters.

2. $12 million to help expedite the goal of sourcing the public water supply from Lake Huron.

*Switching back to the City of Detroit will cost the City of Flint $1.5 million monthly. This money will be used to switch back to that source and/or expedite the construction of the KWA pipeline.

We are asking for money out of the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund. Bottle Deposit escheats (unclaimed deposits that revert to the state) are deposited into the Clean-up and Redevelopment Fund every year. Statute mandates that 80% of this revenue be deposited into the Cleanup and Redevelopment fund.

Fy 14'	$13.6 million revenue
	$16.1 Spent
	$18.1 Balance
Fy 15'	$13.6 million revenue
	$16.6 Spent
	$15.1 estimated balance

The fund will only continue to bring in more money. The percentage of bottles returned has dropped every year since 2007, meaning more money each year in the fund.

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 7:52 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

Will do what we can. I think 10am is not likely feasible.

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, October 06, 2015 6:43 PM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water - - Possible CDBG Resources

Lisa,

Nancy caught me as I was attempting to leave the building this evening, and noted that John is looking to receive detail on the Flint water issue funding solution by 10 am tomorrow, Wednesday, 7 Oct 2015.

Mind you, my 3 pm phone call to DEQ's budget staff this afternoon has remained unanswered, and Chris Harkins has yet to hear from DCH. Our commitment is $6 million, and I was hoping our CDBG folks could revisit a strategy utilized last year towards a UP freeze, whereby, an obscure rule in the federal CDBG regulations allowed for funding support to assist a municipality in repair of frozen underground piping for their water system, to the tune of > $7 million if I recall correctly.

We are only seeking a million (or more) towards the Flint water reconnect effort, and asking for a Steve Arwood commitment by 10 am is certainly ridiculous. . . Nevertheless, I am indeed asking Madame for any assistance you can provide towards accomplishing such.

John, Harkins, and myself will be attending an 8 a.m. meeting of Dir. Wyant on this matter in Constitution Hall, and I will have my pad with me if we need to dialog. Thanks !

Jacques

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 10:33 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water - LARA Contribution

Not yet.

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 10:29 AM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: RE: Flint Water - LARA Contribution

Thanks. Any word on the TED/MSF; Detroit HUD possibility?

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 10:27 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Duncan, Nancy (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB)
Cc: Kennedy, Brian (DTMB); Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: Flint Water - LARA Contribution

LARA is prepared to send in 5-7 plumbing inspectors to do schools (public and parochial) and health facilities (hospitals, LTC, etc.) in Flint. They believe they can manage this within existing budgetary authorization and state restricted resources; however, they also request an additional budgetary "cushion" be provided of approximately $200.0 through a FY 16 contingency transfer utilizing the construction code fund.

From: Weiss, Kurt (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 10:02 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: FW: FINAL Flint water press release with edits incorporated
Attachments: 151008 Flint water release_FINAL.docx

Looks like Mott ended up at $4 million: "The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million"

Kurt Weiss
State Budget Office
517-335-0050

From: Biehl, Laura (GOV)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 9:18 AM
To: Wurfel, Sara (GOV); Murray, David (GOV); Wurfel, Brad (DEQ); Tommasulo, Karen (DEQ); Lasher, Geralyn (DHHS); Eisner, Jennifer (DHHS); Minicuci, Angela (DHHS); Weiss, Kurt (DTMB); Agen, Jarrod (GOV); Paciorek, Josh (GOV)
Subject: FINAL Flint water press release with edits incorporated

See attached.

Laura Biehl
Communications Manager
Executive Office of Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder
George W. Romney Building
111 S. Capitol Ave.
Lansing, MI 48933
Office: (517) 335-6397
Cell: (517) 388-0293 *new number
BiehlL@Michigan.gov

STATE OF MICHIGAN
EXECUTIVE OFFICE
LANSING

RICK SNYDER
GOVERNOR

BRIAN CALLEY
LT. GOVERNOR

CONTACTS:	FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray Governor's Office: 517-335-6397 Brad Wurfel, 517-284-6713 Department of Environmental Quality Jennifer Eisner, 517-230-9804 Department of Health and Human Services Kathryn Thomas, 810-766-1734 Mott Foundation Jason Lorenz, 810-237-2039 City of Flint	Thursday, Oct. 8, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint

State, city, Mott Foundation, join to fund switch until KWA is ready

FLINT, Mich. – Flint families and children will be better protected by reconnecting with the Great Lakes Water Authority as the source of the city's drinking water until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder said Thursday that he will request the state Legislature to provide half, or $6 million, of the $12 million needed to reconnect with the authority through next summer, when the KWA is expected to be completed. The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

"All Flint residents need clean, safe drinking water," Snyder said. "The technical experts helping the city on its water advisory all agree this move back to the Great Lakes Water Authority provides the best public health protection for children and families. This effort today is the result of people coming together to solve a problem. I appreciate Detroit's willingness to reconnect with Flint, the Mott Foundation's generous commitment, and the dedication of all parties to come together to protect Flint families and children."

Flint city leaders requested the state's help to fund the reconnection and to assist with health and infrastructure issues. Flint's move to the Great Lakes Water Authority is expected to cost about $1.3 million per month until the Karegnondi Water Authority is completed next summer.

"It's heartening to know so many people are working at so many levels to bring safe, clean water back to Flint," Mott Foundation President Ridgway White said. "We believe this transitional solution is the right and necessary thing to do, and we're glad we could help the state and the city make it happen."

The move to Detroit water, which is expected to carry, carries many public health benefits. As large bodies of water, the Great Lakes are naturally prone to fewer problems from large rain events and other runoff issues that can sometimes be present in shallower rivers. Additionally, the Great Lakes Water Authority water already has additional corrosion control, using phosphates to help coat the insides of pipes and limit lead from leaching into the water.

However, reconnecting with the authority will not completely resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control. Additionally, some households in the city could experience lead in their drinking water until all lead pipes and plumbing are replaced.

"Reconnecting to Detroit is the fastest way to deliver clean, safe water to Flint and stabilize the infrastructure system," Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said. "I appreciate the state, the Mott Foundation, Detroit, and the county's participation in a solution for Flint's water problems. The health and safety of Flint's families, children and seniors is my top priority, and reconnecting to Detroit is a major step that the city could not take alone given budget constraints."

To best protect public health, Snyder said state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services today also committed an additional $3.5 million for water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Free filters are available for current MDHHS clients at the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office locations. For residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs, free filters are available at the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation. At the Lippincott location only, extended hours will be offered this weekend, including until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Other good practices for residents concerned about lead include turning on the cold water tap and running the water until it's as cold as it will go. Additionally, only use cold water for cooking, drinking and especially mixing baby formula.

School test results released; more investigation planned

The state today also released the first results from its lead screening program in schools and homes. Of 37 total samples taken at 13 buildings, four samples spread over three buildings exceeded the federal action level of 15 parts per billion.

However, this sampling provides only an initial screen, and the state is committing to further testing water and inspecting plumbing at these schools. Until testing is complete, schools are advised to continue using bottled water and filtration as a precaution to protect children.

In addition, free testing is still available for any other Flint school, including daycares and Head Starts. Free testing is also available for any Flint resident.

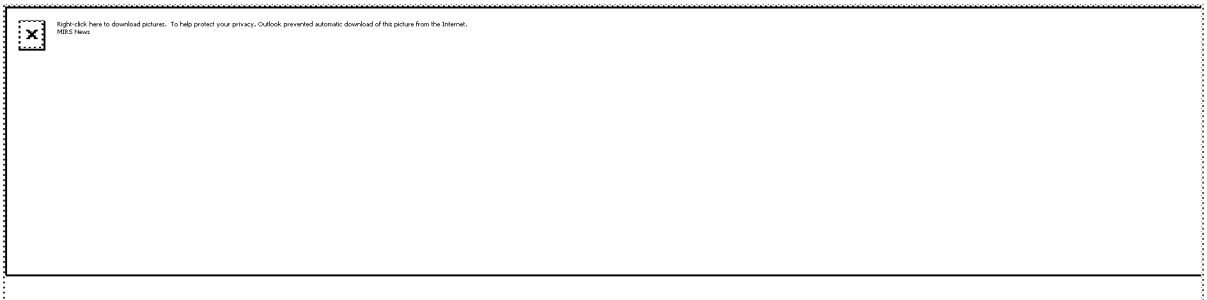
Additional information, including more detailed lead screening results, is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

###

From: Sydnor, Brian (LARA)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 11:29 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Flint To Return To Detroit Water, Gov Asks Lawmakers To Help Cover Costs -- 11:18 a.m.

Great news.

From: MIRS Delivery [mailto:mirsdelivery@mirsnews.com]
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 11:23 AM
To: Sydnor, Brian (LARA)
Subject: Flint To Return To Detroit Water, Gov Asks Lawmakers To Help Cover Costs -- 11:18 a.m.



MIRS BREAKING NEWS: Flint To Return To Detroit Water, Gov Asks Lawmakers To Help Cover Costs -- 11:18 a.m.

http://www.mirsnews.com/alert.php?alert_id=2106

(FLINT) -- The city of Flint will transition back to getting its water from Detroit within weeks, and Gov. Rick SNYDER said today he is in "full support" of the move.

In addition to that, Snyder said he would be asking the Legislature for $6 million to assist with the move, which will make up half of the estimated $12 million it will cost Flint to go back to its old water supply, as estimated through next summer.

The other $6 million will be divided up between Flint itself ($2 million) and from a donation from the Mott Foundation ($4 million).

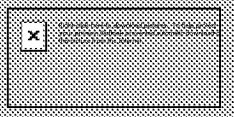
The cost estimate is based on the time it will take to complete the connection to Flint's new permanent water supply, the Karegnondi Water Authority. That's expected to go live in June 2016.

Snyder said the decision to support the move back to Detroit water -- something he said the city is ultimately in charge of deciding -- was based in part by a recommendation made by a meeting of technical experts Wednesday.

Joining Snyder at the press conference today were some of his cabinet officials and Flint leaders, as well as Senate Minority Leader Jim ANANICH (D-Flint), who described today's actions as a step in the right direction, but going forward, he said there must be more transparency and that the state's action plan be implemented fully.

MIRS: Michigan's oldest and most comprehensive newsletter covering the activities of Michigan state government

From the legislature to the governor, from the state bureaucracy to Michigan's courts, MIRS provides our subscribers with more news and insight than any other source.



In order to read the MIRS Newsletter, you must have a username and password.

If you need a password or username to access our reports online at: http://mirsnews.com. Please call us at (517) 482-2125 or send an email to info@mirsnews.com

© 1996-2015 Michigan Information and Research Service Inc., All Rights Reserved. Unauthorized distribution of this e-mail without permission of the publisher constitutes a violation of applicable federal copyright laws and is punishable by a fines of up to $150,000 per incident. This copyright is strictly enforced.

MIRS Inc.
910 W. Ottawa
PO Box 19303
Lansing, MI 48915
Phone 517-482-2125 Fax 517-374-0949
www.mirsnews.com

From: MI-PHA-BULLETIN-BOARD@yahoogroups.com
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 5:47 AM
To: MI-PHA-BULLETIN-BOARD@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [MI-PHA-BULLETIN-BOARD] Digest Number 4725

Michigan Mason & Eastern Star Bulletins Group

5 Messages

Digest #4725

1a

"""Bus to Grand Rapids for OES Fall School of Instruction""" by 2

The Tax Experts- NOW HIRING by greg_glenn79

3

The Tax Experts- NOW HIRING!!!!!!! by greg_glenn79

4

CALL TO PRINCE HALL (URGENT NEED FOR ASSISTANCE IN FLINT MICHIGAN) by "Bernt C Walker" on_the_square2005

5

Passing of family member GAM Sis. Banks by wstan@prodigy.net

Messages

1a

"""Bus to Grand Rapids for OES Fall School of Instruction""""

Thu Oct 8, 2015 9:59 am (PDT) . Posted by:

Greetings,

On Saturday, November 7, 2015 the Fall School of Instruction will be held in Grand Rapids at the Masonic Temple - 233 East Fulton Street at 10 a.m., hosted by Martha Chapter #1. Prince Hall Grand Chapter will be sponsoring a bus. The cost to ride will be $30 per person and we need a minimum of 40 people. We will have pick-up/drop-off sites in Southfield and Ann Arbor

If you are interested in riding on the bus, please submit your payment to the Grand Chapter office. Please make all checks payable to Prince Hall Grand Chapter. Payments are due by Tuesday, October 20 th . If you have any questions, please give me a call at (313) 525-1864.

Fraternally Yours,
Bernice Brenda Brown #50
Grand Lecturer

Reply to sender . Reply to group . Reply via Web Post . All Messages (2) . Top ^

2

The Tax Experts- NOW HIRING

Thu Oct 8, 2015 1:15 pm (PDT) . Posted by:

greg_glenn79

Looking for a new career? To Earn extra money?

Tax professionals at The Tax Experts establish relationships with clients to look at their lives through tax and find ways to help. We offer tax courses to assist you with the skills you need to become a tax professional. If you are an experienced tax professional, there are abundant opportunities for you to further advance your tax knowledge. Tax Experts training is available, it. Scrolls to bottom of page. is recognized as one of the industry's elite tax training program.

Our service tax professional's roles is to assist our tax offices to run smoothly by supporting the daily operations.

. Scrolls to bottom of page.is recognized as the industry's leading tax-training program.
We have a part-time/full-time opening for a Tax Preparer.
Must be able to work various shifts per week and be available weekdays and weekends.
No experience required. Must have a high school diploma or equivalent. Be authorized to work in the United States.

Additional Info

Minimum Age 18+ years old

Tax Training Starts In November. We Open December 26, 2015 (See Attached Flyer).

Reply to sender . Reply to group . Reply via Web Post . All Messages (1) . Top ^

3

The Tax Experts- NOW HIRING!!!!!!!

Thu Oct 8, 2015 1:33 pm (PDT) . Posted by:

greg_glenn79

NOW HIRING!!!!!!
[2900 West Davison]
[15226 East 7 Mile Road]
[15045 Joy Road]
Looking for a new career? To Earn extra money?
Tax professionals at The Tax Experts establish relationships with clients to look at their lives through tax and find ways to help. We offer tax courses to assist you with the skills you need to become a tax professional. If you are an experienced tax professional, there are abundant opportunities for you to further advance your tax knowledge. Tax Experts training is available, it is recognized as one of the industry's elite tax training program.

Our service tax professional's roles is to assist our tax offices to run smoothly by supporting the daily operations.
We have a part-time/full-time opening for a Tax Preparer.
Must be able to work various shifts per week and be available weekdays and weekends. AND WORK IN A FUN ENVIRONMENT
No experience required.
Must have a high school diploma or equivalent.
Be authorized to work in the United States.
Additional Info
Minimum Age
18+ years old
Tax Training Starts In November. We Open December 26, 2015 (See Attached Flyer).

Reply to sender . Reply to group . Reply via Web Post . All Messages (1) . Top ^

4

CALL TO PRINCE HALL (URGENT NEED FOR ASSISTANCE IN FLINT MICHIGAN)

Thu Oct 8, 2015 4:47 pm (PDT) . Posted by:
"Bernt C Walker" on_the_square2005

Brethren & Sisters of the Prince Hall Family,

Greetings, As I am sure most of you have seen or heard on the news the tragic situation with the city of Flint, Michigan's water system. Please let us not forget we have Brothers and Sisters in the city of Flint but more especially our youth. I am looking for volunteers and donations of cases of bottled water or cash donations to purchase cases of water. listed below is further detail of the water situation in Flint, MI. I will be personally working on this initiative all weekend going into next week. I want to personally thank and commend Brother Raymond Carr who has personally taken an early lead on serving this community in a big way. You can contact me direct by voice or text message (313) 350-5317 also you can drop your donations off at 3500 McDougall Detroit, MI 48207

SO WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO

Three Flint elementary schools have water with lead levels more than 15 parts per billion, which is the limit according to U.S. Environmental Protection Agency guidelines. At one school, Freeman Elementary, water tests found lead levels of 101 ppb. Add this to months of data showing elevated lead levels in homes across Flint, and a higher percentage of children with elevated blood-lead levels.

Lead poisoning causes behavioral and developmental problems in children. It is irreversible. Pregnant women and children are most vulnerable. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention say there is no acceptable level of lead exposure.

And in at least three Flint schools, children have been drinking lead-contaminated water for up to 16 months.

WSGD Bernt C. Walker (Ben)
Chairman Masons Assisting People

MWPHGL of Michigan
Jimmie Lunceford Lodge No. 45

Reply to sender . Reply to group . Reply via Web Post . All Messages (1) . Top ^

5

Passing of family member GAM Sis. Banks

Thu Oct 8, 2015 6:52 pm (PDT) . Posted by:
wstan@prodigy.net

Greetings,

To the Prince Hall Family,

It is with great sadness to announce the passing of Cynthia Davis, sister of the Grand Associate Matron, Sister Roslyn Banks. Please keep her and the family in prayer. Arrangements will be posted as soon as received.

Fraternally,
Sis. Willie L. Stanley
Grand Secretary

Reply to sender . Reply to group . Reply via Web Post . All Messages (1) . Top ^

VISIT YOUR GROUP

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

• Privacy • Unsubscribe • Terms of Use

From: MI-PHA-BULLETIN-BOARD@yahoogroups.com
Sent: Saturday, October 17, 2015 5:49 AM
To: MI-PHA-BULLETIN-BOARD@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [MI-PHA-BULLETIN-BOARD] Digest Number 4732

Michigan Mason & Eastern Star Bulletins Group

2 Messages

Digest #4732

1

10/16/15 Detroit Chapter No.1 HRAM PM & MEM Degree by "DeAngelo Hayes" deehayes0628

2a

CALL TO PRINCE HALL (URGENT NEED FOR ASSISTANCE IN FLINT MICHIGAN) by "Personal" on_the_square2005

Messages

1

10/16/15 Detroit Chapter No.1 HRAM PM & MEM Degree

Fri Oct 16, 2015 7:59 am (PDT) . Posted by:
"DeAngelo Hayes" deehayes0628

To all Elected and Appointed Chapter Officers, Past High Priests, and Companions of Detroit Chapter No.1 HRAM:

Greetings Companions,

This notice is a reminder that Detroit Chapter No.1 HRAM will be conferring the Past Master and Most Excellent Master Degrees this evening at 7:00pm at 3500 McDougall. All available Companions with the proper pass are welcomed to attend. Candidates receiving the degrees should arrive no later than 6:45pm. If you have any additional questions or concerns please contact Excellent High Priest Stephen Copher Sr at 313-505-1233.

Yours in the bond of 3 x 3,

Comp.DeAngelo Hayes

Excellent Secretary

Detroit Chapter No.1 HRAM

Cc: Comp.Stephen Copher Sr., Excellent High Priest

Sent from Yahoo Mail on Android

Reply to sender . Reply to group . Reply via Web Post . All Messages (1) . Top ^

CALL TO PRINCE HALL (URGENT NEED FOR ASSISTANCE IN FLINT MICHIGAN)

Fri Oct 16, 2015 2:35 pm (PDT) . Posted by:

"Personal" on_the_square2005

> Brothers & Sisters of the Prince Hall Family, we are still collecting donations for this worthy cause.
>
> Greetings, As I am sure most of you have seen or heard on the news the tragic situation with the city of Flint, Michiganâ€™s water system. Please let us not forget we have Brothers and Sisters in the city of Flint but more especially our youth. I am looking for volunteers and donations of cases of bottled water or cash donations to purchase cases of water. listed below is further detail of the water situation in Flint, MI. I will be personally working on this initiative all weekend going into next week. I want to personally thank and commend Brother Raymond Carr who has personally taken an early lead on serving this community in a big way. You can contact me direct by voice or text message (313) 350-5317 also you can drop your donations off at 3500 McDougall Detroit, MI 48207
>
> SO WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO
>
>
>
> Three Flint elementary schools have water with lead levels more than 15 parts per billion, which is the limit according to U.S. Environmental Protection Agency guidelines. At one school, Freeman Elementary, water tests found lead levels of 101 ppb. Add this to months of data showing elevated lead levels in homes across Flint, and a higher percentage of children with elevated blood-lead levels.
>
> Lead poisoning causes behavioral and developmental problems in children. It is irreversible. Pregnant women and children are most vulnerable. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention say there is no acceptable level of lead exposure.
>
> And in at least three Flint schools, children have been drinking lead-contaminated water for up to 16 months.
>
>
>
>
> WSGD Bernt C. Walker (Ben)
> Chairman Masons Assisting People
>
> MWPHGL of Michigan
> Jimmie Lunceford Lodge No. 45
>
>

Reply to sender . Reply to group . Reply via Web Post . All Messages (3) . Top ^

VISIT YOUR GROUP

Right-click here to download pictures. To help protect your privacy, Outlook prevented automatic download of this picture from the Internet.

• Privacy • Unsubscribe • Terms of Use

From: Hollins, Harvey (GOV)
Sent: Friday, March 06, 2015 9:48 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: Fwd: Tap Filters

Fyi

Best,
Harvey

Begin forwarded message:

From: "Wurfel, Brad (DEQ)" <WurfelB@michigan.gov>
Date: March 5, 2015 at 4:26:25 PM EST
To: "Hollins, Harvey (GOV)" <hollinsh@michigan.gov>, "Wyant, Dan (DEQ)" <WyantD@michigan.gov>, "Agen, Jarrod (GOV)" <AgenJ@michigan.gov>
Cc: "Baird, Richard (GOV)" <bairdr@michigan.gov>, "Wurfel, Sara (GOV)" <WurfelS@michigan.gov>
Subject: FW: Tap Filters

Harvey,
Since group call Tuesday I have been working out how the filter idea might take shape.

To reiterate some key points so we're all clear:

1. DEQ does not inspect individuals' homes in a situation like this. It's the city's system, their operators handle all complaints and maintenance. In fact, our folks alerted me that the city's got union rules in place forbidding any contractor from touching the system.
2. DEQ's role is limited to ensuring the plant is operating to state standards and the water it produces meets potability standards. The aesthetic issues drawing concern from residents -- color, odor, taste -- stem from a variety of things. Age of the system and prolonged lack of upkeep is the leading factor. But in some areas, another contributing factor is changes in water flow -- source used to come from the south, now comes from the north, so some pipes are flowing in reverse, stirring up whatever was settled for a long time. In some sections, large pipes that historically served large communities are now serving a much smaller customer base, contributing to water stagnating in the system. In some areas, household connections are old and worn, so two neighbors may be having dramatically different experiences. My point is, the challenge takes many forms and there's no single solution that will bring sweeping change. The two consultants hired by the city have, as I understand it, both reinforced this idea in their assessments, so that's good.

3. The fix for this will be years in the making, truly. Even if full funding were available, 'big dig' projects can't all happen at once. The city needs to get an assessment of its infrastructure so it can prioritize its needs, and I understand they're working on that. In the near term, maintenance this spring / summer -- things like cleaning the pipes in key sections and flushing the system via the hydrants – could offer some short term results. I know nobody wants to just wait for spring, but that is something important to keep in mind.

4. In the meantime, the group discussed possibly making home water filters available somehow. The National Safety Foundation is a Michigan company, headquartered and founded in Ann Arbor, that develops standards for all kinds of infrastructure. They're a globally recognized source for standard setting. A look at their site reveals there are myriad filtration options on the market and within each type (faucet mounted, whole house line filters, etc) there are filters that focus on different aspects of purification.

   If this idea begins to get legs, I'd suggest testing some different models on the local water at the customer level to see if they work. I'd also suggest the idea be focused on tap-mounted models to promote clean, appealing drinking water. And I'd suggest this program could be funded in whole or in part by the state, but would need to be administered by the city (reinforcing the fact that they own, operate and service the system). I've got some information on filter models below.

   Two more considerations: One, while the state has provided residents in some communities with bottled water in the past, it always has to do with their water being somehow contaminated – as in, some kind of chemical plume that impaired local drinking water sources. This would be the first time the state took steps to deal with what is an aesthetic issue on a system where the water is meeting state drinking water standards.

Water filter info:
ANSI NSF Standard 42 Covers bacteriostasis, taste and odor (associated only with chlorine removal), and other aesthetic conditions
http://standards.nsf.org/apps/group_public/download.php/19895/NSF_42-11%20-%20watermarked.pdf

ANSI NSF Standard 53 Covers health effects removal
http://standards.nsf.org/apps/group_public/download.php/19896/NSF_53-11a%20-%20watermarked.pdf

It is important to note that the filters are not required to meet all aspects of the standard, only the portions they want to make claims for. So product information for each filter must be reviewed to determine its applicability.

Most of these point of use filters are basic activated carbon filters that simply remove taste and odor specifically associated with chlorine, not other things like iron, manganese, hydrogen sulfide, etc. that can also impact taste and odor as well as color.

It is important to recognize that taste and odor is generally an individual preference and such standards have for the most part not been developed because groups of individuals may still consider taste and odor issues to exist even after levels for such a standard have been met.

Other considerations are that the test water for such filters attempting to meet the standard uses hardness levels of 170 mg/L or less. Flint's water at times may be above this level, which could then impact filter performance and longevity.

Most of these filters are designed to be replaced after 100 gallons or less of use, a period of about 3 months for most households. In addition the tests allow for initial pressure drops of up to 15 psi. This may limit use in households that already rely on minimum pressure within their household plumbing.

Regarding the health effects standards, as the Flint water system already meets such requirements, with the exception of the current TTHM locational running annual average, there is little point to the use of these filters for such a purpose.

To the point you'd asked about the other day, while Flint and Detroit are leading examples of unmaintained infrastructure, Flint is not alone by any means.

This recent infrastructure report card
http://www.infrastructurereportcard.org/michigan/michigan-overview/
Lists Michigan with a $13.8 Billion need over the next 20 years.

http://www.infrastructurereportcard.org/a/#p/state-facts/michigan

Here's a link to the 2009 Report Card for Michigan Infrastructure http://www.michiganreportcard.com/

From the report:

"A significant portion of the state's primary distribution system is nearing 100 years old. CWS are facing a significant challenge to maintain the vast network of aging, underground infrastructure. Within the city of Detroit alone, approximately 80% of its distribution piping was installed prior to 1940, which is not unusual for CWS in Michigan."

"The age of the majority of the state's distribution system is the primary contributor to normal decay and failure. In many cases, pipe life has far exceeded useful service life. Much of the older water systems consist of undersized mains constructed of materials such as unlined cast iron pipe. Minor fluctuations in system flows or pressure may cause red water complaints and even result in pipe failure. All CWS should have routine flushing and valve maintenance programs; however many are hesitant due to the time and cost."

"Under the Stage 2 Disinfection Byproducts Rule, all CWS that disinfect are required to provide increased trihalomethane (THHM) and haloacetic acid (HAA5) monitoring due to the potential byproducts of chlorine reactions within the pipe system. Corrosion, scale, solid suspension on the interior sidewall of pipe, in addition to the age and condition of the system will require diligent rehabilitation investment to maintain system integrity."

"While better materials and advanced technology is available to replace the aging distribution system, resources remain scarce when compared with the magnitude of the rehabilitation task at hand. Too often, distribution system replacement costs are underfunded and the first item to be slashed when budget problems arise. Overall, distribution system maintenance is reactionary in much of the older systems. Since the majority of the antiquated system will require removal and replacement beyond the CWS funding resources for systematic upgrade, a reactionary rehabilitation program is inevitable and must be funded accordingly."

Call or email me if you need anything further.
b

Brad Wurfel
Communications Director
Michigan Department of Environmental Quality
517-284-6713
517-230-8006 cell

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, October 06, 2015 4:54 PM
To: Roberts, John (DTMB)
Subject: Karegnondi Water Authority
Attachments: Karegnondi Water Authority.docx

Suggested language for your use as requested.

Beginning in October 2015, the City of Flint shall deposit $145,000 monthly into an escrow account through the month ending June of 2016. These resources will serve as contingency in the event the Karegnondi Water Authority is not available for use by the City of Flint due to construction delay, and the city must extend its contract with Detroit Sewage and Water beyond June 2016. Should the Karegnondi project meet the anticipated timeline for operation of June 2016, the balance of the aforementioned escrow resources will remain intact with the City of Flint.

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 4:11 PM
To: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: RE: City of Flint

Thanks.

From: Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 4:09 PM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB); Harkins, Chris (DTMB); Duncan, Nancy (DTMB)
Cc: Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB)
Subject: FW: City of Flint

Note, the number appears to be $249,900 from MSHDA, and it must be related to housing which they are confident the nexus can be established.

From: Beth Colosimo (MEDC) [mailto:colosimob1@michigan.org]
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 3:56 PM
To: Tulloch, Tyler (DTMB); Shoemaker, Lisa (DTMB)
Subject: FW: City of Flint

Information from MSHDA. Hope this helps.

Beth

From: Sykes, Jeffrey (MSHDA) [mailto:sykesj@michigan.gov]
Sent: Wednesday, October 7, 2015 11:24 AM
To: Janell Thelen (MSHDA); Michele Wildman (MSHDA); Beth Colosimo (MEDC)
Subject: RE: City of Flint

I just spoke with Kevin. MSHDA is in fact making a $249,900 grant available to deal with Flint's water issue. We do have to make sure that the request or uses are related to housing. Given that this water issue will have a direct impact on Flint housing and housing values, it shouldn't be too difficult to make the connection. We don't know yet what the grant will be used for, but are happy to help by looking at Flints request and identify where the MSHDA grant can be used.

Jeffrey J Sykes
Director of Finance
Michigan State Housing Development Authority
735 East Michigan Avenue
Lansing, MI 48909
517/335-4893
sykesj@michigan.gov

From: Thelen, Janell (MSHDA)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 11:00 AM
To: Sykes, Jeffrey (MSHDA) <sykesj@michigan.gov>; Wildman, Michele (MSHDA) <WildmanM@michigan.gov>
Subject: FW: City of Flint

Can either of assist with the question below?

Janell M. Thelen, CPA
Chief Accountant, Finance
Michigan State Housing Development Authority
ph. 517.335.2040 • fx. 517.373 2450

For information about MSHDA and social networking, visit http://www.michigan.gov/mshdasocialnetwork

---

From: Beth Colosimo (MEDC) [mailto:colosimob1@michigan.org]
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 9:49 AM
To: Thelen, Janell (MSHDA)
Subject: City of Flint

Janell:

Can you check to see what kind of support and dollars are being offered by your agency for the Flint water issue? SBO just said something about $250,000 coming from your funds but we don't know what is being used. They are trying to clarify this for the Governor.

Thanks,
Beth

Beth D. Colosimo, CGFM
Budget Director
Michigan Economic Development Corporation/Department of Talent and Economic Development
300 N. Washington Square | Lansing, MI 48913
Office: 517.241.1725 | Mobile: 517.574.8571
colosimob1@michigan.org

This message contains information which may be confidential and privileged. Unless you are the intended recipient (or authorized to receive this message for the intended recipient), you may not use, copy, disseminate or disclose to anyone the message or any information contained in the message. If you have received the message in error, please advise the sender by reply e-mail, and delete the message. Thank you very much.

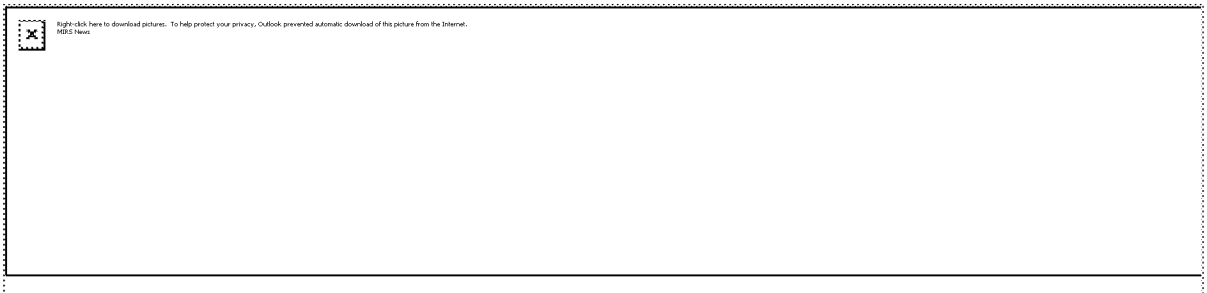
From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 12:54 PM
To: Sydnor, Brian (LARA)
Subject: RE: Flint To Return To Detroit Water, Gov Asks Lawmakers To Help Cover Costs -- 11:18 a.m.

Well, that was the press conference. Now we have to get actually get dollars appropriated which, as you know, is a different story . . .

From: Sydnor, Brian (LARA)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 11:29 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Flint To Return To Detroit Water, Gov Asks Lawmakers To Help Cover Costs -- 11:18 a.m.

Great news.

From: MIRS Delivery [mailto:mirsdelivery@mirsnews.com]
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 11:23 AM
To: Sydnor, Brian (LARA)
Subject: Flint To Return To Detroit Water, Gov Asks Lawmakers To Help Cover Costs -- 11:18 a.m.



MIRS BREAKING NEWS: Flint To Return To Detroit Water, Gov Asks Lawmakers To Help Cover Costs -- 11:18 a.m.

http://www.mirsnews.com/alert.php?alert_id=2106

(FLINT) -- The city of Flint will transition back to getting its water from Detroit within weeks, and Gov. Rick SNYDER said today he is in "full support" of the move.

In addition to that, Snyder said he would be asking the Legislature for $6 million to assist with the move, which will make up half of the estimated $12 million it will cost Flint to go back to its old water supply, as estimated through next summer.

The other $6 million will be divided up between Flint itself ($2 million) and from a donation from the Mott Foundation ($4 million).

The cost estimate is based on the time it will take to complete the connection to Flint's new permanent water supply, the Karegnondi Water Authority. That's expected to go live in June 2016.

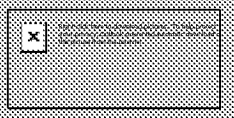
Snyder said the decision to support the move back to Detroit water -- something he said the city is ultimately in charge of deciding -- was based in part by a recommendation made by a meeting of technical experts Wednesday.

Joining Snyder at the press conference today were some of his cabinet officials and Flint leaders, as well as Senate Minority Leader Jim ANANICH (D-Flint), who described today's actions as a step in the right direction, but going forward, he said there must be more transparency and that the state's action plan be implemented fully.

MIRS: Michigan's oldest and most comprehensive newsletter covering the activities of Michigan state government

From the legislature to the governor, from the state bureaucracy to Michigan's courts, MIRS provides our subscribers with more news and insight than any other source.



In order to read the MIRS Newsletter, you must have a username and password.

If you need a password or username to access our reports online at: http://mirsnews.com. Please call us at (517) 482-2125 or send an email to info@mirsnews.com

© 1996-2015 Michigan Information and Research Service Inc., All Rights Reserved. Unauthorized distribution of this e-mail without permission of the publisher constitutes a violation of applicable federal copyright laws and is punishable by a fines of up to $150,000 per incident. This copyright is strictly enforced.

MIRS Inc.
910 W. Ottawa
PO Box 19303
Lansing, MI 48915
Phone 517-482-2125 Fax 517-374-0949
www.mirsnews.com

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 2:14 PM
To: Sygo, Jim (DEQ)
Subject: RE: City of Flint Water Funding Solution

Thank you sir!

-----Original Message-----
From: Sygo, Jim (DEQ)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 6:41 PM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: RE: City of Flint Water Funding Solution

We won't know for sure until the sampling protocol is prepared. Generally drinking water samples are paid for by the public submitting them. In the short term the Governor's plan calls for free analysis by the state. We believe we have the capacity for the sample volume and should be able to scrape up the money for cost of the lab analysis. Your right in that we may need to use money in the Settlement Fund to meet those costs.

If we don't have the capacity, EPA has offered to take some of the overflow, but we should not need them.

-----Original Message-----
From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 2:32 PM
To: Sygo, Jim (DEQ)
Subject: City of Flint Water Funding Solution
Importance: High

Jim,

Following up from this morning's meeting on Flint. Wondering if you can clarify for us here in SBO, the State Lab need for testing faucet samples. Is this an expense the EPA can pick up?

If not, are we able to utilize fund balance within the Environmental Protection Fund to cover? If I'm not mistaken, this fund is comprised of settlement resources and by statute, can essentially be utilized to cover the universe of environmental matters.

Jacques

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 1:50 PM
To: Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB)
Subject: RE: OPPR Flash Report 25 December 2015

Thank you Jenny !

From: Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB)
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 1:42 PM
To: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB); McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Subject: RE: OPPR Flash Report 25 December 2015

See responses in red below.

Also, Amy asked if she could get numbers for you both in case of after-hours emergencies (similar to the Flint water emergency).

From: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB)
Sent: Saturday, January 02, 2016 10:11 AM
To: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Cc: Harrison, Jennifer (DTMB)
Subject: RE: OPPR Flash Report 25 December 2015

Re: FY'16 Flint water supplemental requests:

- Can some/all of the water system $3.9M request be handled as one-time FY17 funding? Yes but only if the locals agree to pay for the 1st half first (locals would pay for July, Aug, & Sept and State would pay for Oct, Nov and Dec). However, DEQ needs to verify that the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline will be completed by December 2016. And, as a point of clarification, is the money needed to keep them on the Detroit system until the new system is ready? Yes, it is to keep them on the Detroit system. Or to hook them up to the new system? Also, we're there some on conditions on the first Flint water supplemental? Yes. Have those conditions been met? Yes, Amy will send copies of the agreement required by boilerplate.

- The $3M ongoing funding request for testing, expertise, etc needs to get on the FY17 investment list.

From: McNeely, Jacques (DTMB)
Sent: Monday, December 28, 2015 9:16 AM
To: Roberts, John (DTMB)
Cc: Duncan, Nancy (DTMB); Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: OPPR Flash Report 25 December 2015

Please see attached - - FYI

From: Grayson, Tanya <tgrayson@nasact.org>
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 10:53 AM
To: Mikula, Lora (DTMB)
Subject: Weekly News

NASACT National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers

WASHINGTON UPDATE & WEEKLY NEWS

There will be no Washington Update this week as Congress is on their Winter Recess.

Thanks and have a wonderful week.

Tanya Grayson
NASACT Washington Office

If you would like to have an article/issue highlighted for the membership, please send it to NASACT Policy Analyst Neal Hutchko at [redacted]. Please include the web link to your article for formatting purposes and for proper source citation.

CALIFORNIA

Treasurer's Office releases green bonds funding report
The Orange County Breeze

State Treasurer John Chiang on Monday released an initial report on the state's spending of nearly $300 million in proceeds for environmental purposes, financed by a first-ever sale of "green bonds." The 2014 general obligation bonds, tax-exempt securities backed by the full faith and credit of the state of California, completely or partially pay for a series of beneficial projects. More analysis, fine-tuning and market research needs to be done before a green bond market can really take off, said Chiang. "Greater use of green bonds could provide a secure and growing funding stream for governments and private industries to meet the challenge of curbing climate pollution," he said…

DELAWARE

Delaware CAFR released
Press Release

The State of Delaware's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2015 has been released. The CAFR includes a report on internal control over financial reporting and compliance, with associated audit findings…

HAWAII

Audit alleges $155M investment in Hawaii Medicaid enrollment system failed to meet goal
Pacific Business News

A state audit released Wednesday alleges a federal and state $155 million investment into Hawaii's Medicaid enrollment system does not meet federal goals of the Affordable Care Act…

IOWA

State audit finds more than $134,000 misspent by Hornick, Iowa, city officials
The Sioux City Journal

City officials in Hornick did not properly account for more than $134,000 they spent between July 1, 2003, and June 30, 2014, according to a report released by the state auditor Tuesday. State Auditor Mary Mosiman said at least two former city clerks, Janet Ronfeldt and Rebecca Chan-Nelson, are connected to the improper and unsupported disbursements, which included payments to former mayors and City Council members…

State investigation of Garwin Ambulance Service checking account
Radio Iowa

The state auditor's office has reviewed the checking account for the ambulance service in a small eastern Iowa town and is raising questions about more than $13,550 worth of spending and undeposited cash…

KENTUCKY

State audit of Morgan Fiscal Court finds 'abuse of power'
WKYT – West Liberty

A state audit has concluded that hundreds of thousands of dollars in federal disaster aid are unaccounted for in Morgan County. Outgoing state Auditor Adam Edelen's report, released Monday, found evidence of "waste, fraud and abuse" in the aftermath of a 2012 tornado that devastated West Liberty. The audit found the possibility of abuse was so high it couldn't rely on the county's financial records…

LOUISIANA

Legislative Auditor claims economic development district overpaid Algiers district by millions
The Advocate

The state Department of Revenue incorrectly applied a formula and as a result overpaid the Algiers Economic Development District by $6.9 million since 2004, according to a report released Monday by Legislative Auditor Daryl Purpera…

Louisiana OMV audit: Two employees allegedly steal $200,000-plus from customers in 3 years
The Advocate

Two employees at the state's Office of Motor Vehicles allegedly stole more than $200,000 over three years in customer payments before being arrested and fired, according to a new audit of the Department of Public Safety and Corrections…

Audit: South Louisiana Community College's inadequate collection procedures leaves $2.9 million debt from students
The Advocate

Students owe South Louisiana Community College $2.9 million as a result of the college's inadequate collection procedures, a recent Louisiana Legislative Auditor's report says…

MASSACHUSETTS

State Treasurer Deb Goldberg announces pilot program for college savings accounts
The Metro West Daily News

State Treasurer Deb Goldberg, alongside legislators, business executives and community leaders, announced her office's new, first-of-its-kind pilot program for college savings accounts. Events were held at the Jacob Hiatt Magnet School and the Worcester Regional Chamber of Commerce on the college savings program named "$eedMA." "Access to an affordable higher education is imperative to strengthening Massachusetts' economy," said Goldberg. "I cannot think of a city more uniquely positioned to take on the leadership role of this college savings pilot program than Worcester. In the upcoming months, we will develop a standard that we hope can be implemented across the state."...

MICHIGAN

Independent report confirms state made mistakes, but not "intentional" ones in Flint water crisis
Michigan Radio

Preliminary findings from Michigan's independent Auditor General give more details about the Flint water crisis. In a letter to State Senator Jim Ananich, Auditor General Doug Ringler answers several key questions about the state's role in the decision to switch to the Flint River and how Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality dealt with those decisions. Ringler's review confirms it was the state appointed emergency manager who made the decision to switch to the Flint River, not city leaders. It also confirmed that Detroit's water system made offers to keep Flint as a water customer, but that a different emergency manager rejected those offers...

MISSOURI

Auditor Galloway releases Joplin municipal court audit, calls for improved data security, case tracking
Press Release

State Auditor Nicole Galloway today released an audit of the Joplin municipal court, highlighting the need for stronger oversight of clerks' actions and increased measures to ensure the security of the court's electronic data. The audit identified 120 users that had improper access to the court's electronic data. Eighty-nine of those users were former employees who no longer worked for the city or the court. The report also found the court fails to comply with state law or Joplin's city code in assessing fees totaling approximately $145,000...

NEW JERSEY

Audit Finds State Failed to Post Unclaimed Assets
NJTV News

A state audit has found New Jersey's Unclaimed Property Administration – or the UPA – failed to put more than a quarter-billion dollars in properties on its site. It's an amount that rivals the current Powerball jackpot. "They're not going to see that in the online system for whatever reason. When it was transferred over in the mid 2000s those items were improperly coded to only be part of the newsprint that was put out and not be part of the constant online system," Stephen Eells, NJ state auditor, said...

DOT Audit released
Press Release

An audit of the Department of Transportation's Maintenance and Operations program has found a potential opportunity for increasing reimbursements involving damage to state property by motor vehicle accidents…

Court Information Technology Funds audited
Press Release

An audit has found that internal controls over the expenditure process could be improved…

OREGON

Oregon Employment Department Audit: Computer Programs for Unemployment Tax Returns and Claims Need Attention
Press Release

The Oregon Employment Department computer programs correctly process most individual unemployment insurance claims and associated employer tax returns, but these outdated computer programs should be replaced. Additional work is also needed to improve security, processes for changing computer code, and disaster recovery capability…

TENNESSEE

Comptroller's Hotline Helps Protect Taxpayers
Press Release

The Tennessee Comptroller's Fraud, Waste and Abuse Hotline is marking a record achievement in its effort to help uncover the misuse of government funds and property.

Confidential tips to the hotline helped to identify a record $1,112,500 in confirmed thefts, shortages and questioned costs for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2015. These tips were reported through telephone calls and online submissions to t

You are receiving this email because of your membership or affiliation with the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers. If you would like to be removed from the distribution list, please email tgrayson@nasact.org

From: MIRS Delivery <info=mirsnews.com@mail74.suw13.rsgsv.net> on behalf of MIRS Delivery <info@mirsnews.com>
Sent: Monday, October 05, 2015 1:51 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: MIRS Monday Podcast, October 5, 2015

View this email in your browser

This week on MIRS Monday

If the same municipal water problems Flint residents are experiencing were happening in West Bloomfield or Birmingham would they have been taken care of long ago? Senate Minority Leader Jim Ananich answers that question and shares his thoughts that he's getting the feeling from the state that, "These are poor folks, well, we'll get to it when we get to it."

MIRS Editor Kyle Melinn shares his takeaways from Friday's Lapeer Tea Party debate of 82nd House District candidates, the Michigan Freedom Fund hits Rep. Alberta Tinsley-Talabi and how is an empty bowl of stew analogous to the state's road funding talks? This and much more in this week's edition.

Click Here To Listen

Copyright © 2015 Michigan Information & Research Service Inc. (MIRS). All rights reserved.
You're getting this e-mail because you'd signed up for e-mails from MIRSnews.com in the past

Our mailing address is:
Michigan Information & Research Service Inc. (MIRS)
910 W Ottawa St. Lansing, MI

Lansing, MI 48915

Add us to your address book

unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

State Budget Office
Legislative Update Meeting
October 8, 2015
9:00 a.m.

AGENDA – Sen. Hildenbrand's Office

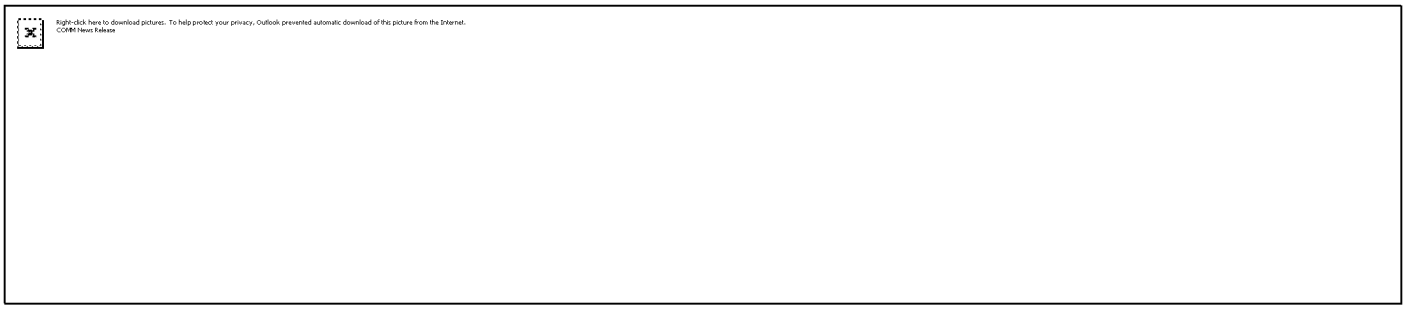
---

1. Supplementals
2. Flint Water
3. Risk List
4. Bills with Revenue Impact
5. Miscellaneous

From: Stoddard, Janine (DTMB)
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 1:20 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: PDF
Attachments: Memorandum - Enrolled House Bill 4102.pdf

Janine Stoddard
Student Assistant
State Budget Office
Romney Building, 6th floor
(517)-373-3057
Stoddardj3@michigan.gov

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Thursday, October 15, 2015 4:55 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill authorizing funding for Flint to move back to Detroit water system

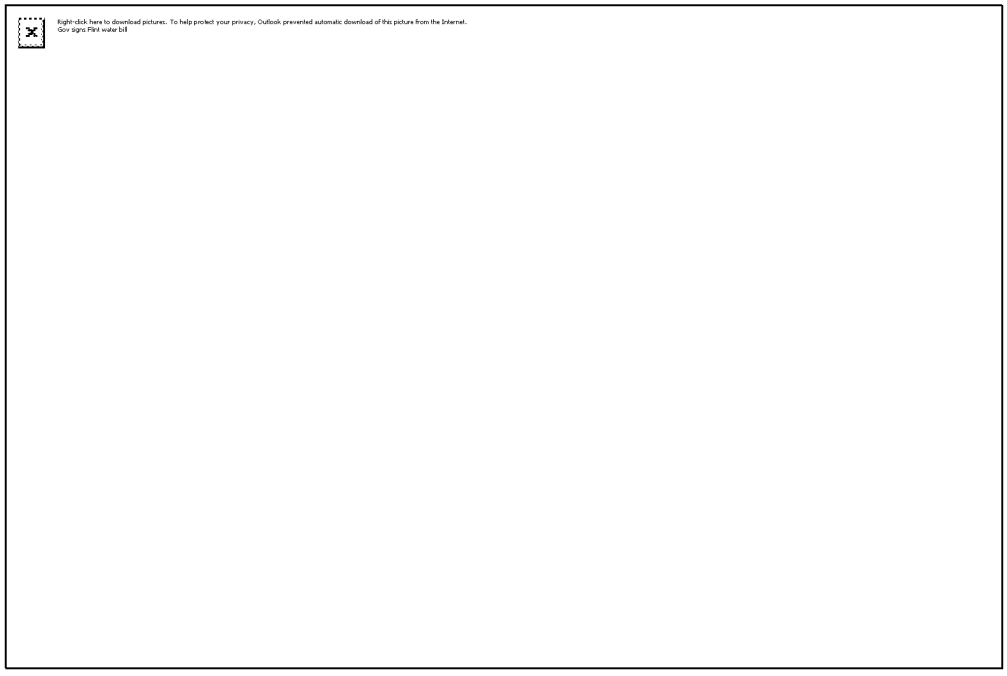


Contacts: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Thursday, Oct. 15, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder signs bill authorizing funding for Flint to move back to Detroit water system

Temporary reconnection provides best protection for public health



LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder has signed bipartisan legislation that will direct funding to the City of Flint's emergency water services to reconnect the city's water supply to the Great Lakes

Water Authority until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed.

"This funding is a coordinated response to a serious problem and I'm pleased so many parties came together to help deliver safe drinking water to the city of Flint," Snyder said. "Reconnecting to the Great Lakes Water Authority is only the first step, as the state will continue testing and inspections to ensure Flint families and children have clean water in their homes and schools."

House Bill 4102, sponsored by state Rep. Al Pscholka, authorizes $6 million to move the city back to Detroit's water system until the new pipeline is finished.

In addition to the $6 million:

- $300,000 goes to the Department of Environmental Quality's drinking water and environmental health services;
- $1 million will provide for DEQ to test drinking water samples;
- $1 million allows the Department of Health and Human Services to purchase and distribute water filters to Flint residents;
- $850,000 will aid in follow-up services for children, including testing, investigations, and case management for those with elevated blood lead levels;
- $200,000 will fund state plumbing inspections for schools and health facilities.
- The City of Flint city government will provide $2 million toward reconnecting the water supply and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

The bill was approved unanimously in both the House and Senate and is now Public Act 143 of 2015.

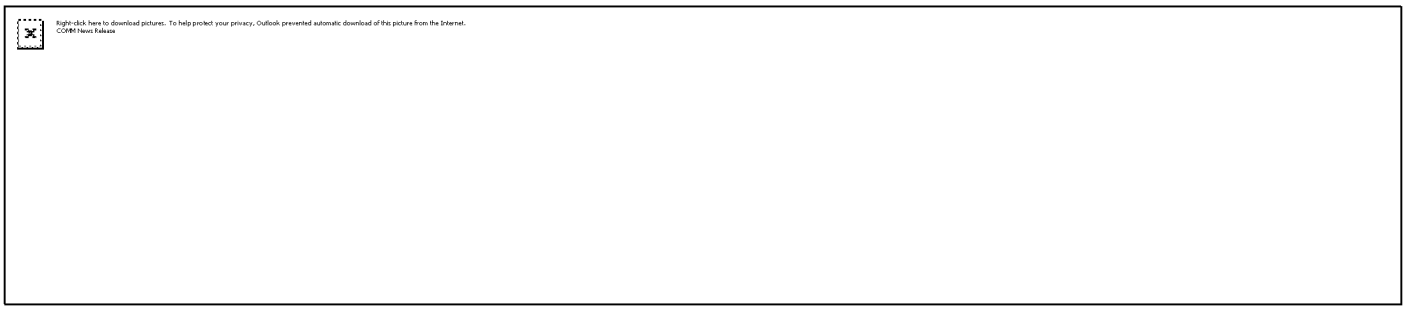
For more information on this and other legislation, please visit www.legislature.mi.gov.

####

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to minixc@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, October 21, 2015 2:07 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder announces Flint Water Task Force to review state, federal and municipal actions, offer recommendations



Contacts: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Wednesday, Oct. 21, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder announces Flint Water Task Force to review state, federal and municipal actions, offer recommendations

Experts in public health, water management, environmental protection to focus on steps to protect residents

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today announced the creation of an independent advisory task force charged with reviewing actions regarding water use and testing in Flint and offer recommendations for future guidelines to protect the health and safety of all state residents.

Task force members include experts in public health and medicine, water management, and environmental protection from both sides of the aisle, and will be co-chaired by Ken Sikkema of Public Sector Consultants and Chris Kolb, of the Michigan Environmental Council. Also serving will be Dr. Matthew Davis of the University of Michigan Health System, Eric Rothstein, of the Galardi Rothstein Group and Dr. Lawrence Reynolds of Mott Children's Health Center in Flint.

"Transitioning back to the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department-Great Lakes Water Authority is a good first step to protecting public health in Flint, but it's not the last step," Snyder said. "Bringing in outside experts to evaluate our actions and help monitor and advise on potential changes to law, procedures and practices will be key to continuing work on the comprehensive action plan and ensuring safe drinking water for all the residents in Flint and all of Michigan."

Snyder said the administration will fully cooperate with task force members, saying he wants an unbiased report focusing on steps taken in the past and recommendations that could improve practices to ensure all residents have access to safe, clean water.

Ken Sikkema is a senior policy fellow at Public Sector Consultants, where he specializes in public finance, environment, and energy policy. Prior to joining the firm, Sikkema served in both the Michigan House and Senate, culminating with four years as Senate majority leader. He has also served as both an adjunct and visiting professor at Grand Valley State University.

Chris Kolb is president of the Michigan Environmental Council, a statewide coalition of 70 environmental, public health and faith-based nonprofit groups. Before joining the MEC, Kolb represented Ann Arbor in the state House for six years and served six years on the Ann Arbor City Council. He has been president of the MEC for six years.

Matthew Davis, M.D., M.A.P.P., is professor of pediatrics and internal medicine at the University of Michigan Health System and professor of public policy at the Gerald R. Ford School at the University of Michigan, having joined the faculty in 2000. Davis also is a professor of health management and policy at the School of Public Health. He previously served as the chief medical executive of the Michigan Department of Community Health/Department of Health and Human Services.

Eric Rothstein is a national water issues consultant and principal at the Galardi Rothstein Group. He served as an independent advisor on the creation of the Great Lakes Water Authority. Rothstein also has served as Jefferson County, Alabama's rate consultant and municipal adviser for litigation related to the county's bankruptcy and issuance of $1.7 billion in sewer warrants and led strategic financial planning for the City of Atlanta's Department of Watershed Management. He has more than 30 years of experience in water, wastewater and stormwater utility finance and rate-making assessments.

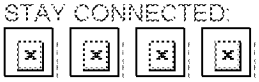
Lawrence Reynolds, M.D., is a pediatrician in Flint who serves as president of the Mott Children's Health Center. He received his medical degree from Howard University College of Medicine and has been in practice for 36 years. He has served as president of the Genesee County Medical Society and the Michigan Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics. He has been honored for his humanitarian and advocacy efforts on behalf of children from the Community Foundation of Greater Flint.

Snyder has said reconnecting with the authority is a critical step to resolving water quality issues and addressing related health concerns. It will not immediately resolve the city's problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control.

To best protect public health, state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services are continuing to provide free water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

####

STAY CONNECTED:



This email was sent to minixo@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: MIRS Delivery <info=mirsnews.com@mail179.suw14.mcdlv.net> on behalf of MIRS Delivery <info@mirsnews.com>
Sent: Monday, December 07, 2015 1:19 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: MIRS Monday Podcast, December 7, 2015

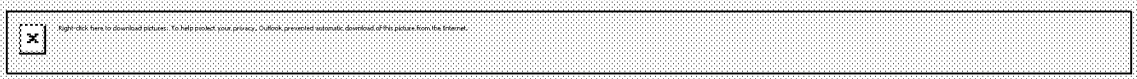
View this email in your browser

This week on MIRS Monday

Rep. Sheldon Neeley (D-Flint) sat on the Flint City Council when the city's future water needs were debated. He shares his reflections on what happened during those discussions and why the former emergency manager is responsible for connecting the city to flawed Flint River water.

Also why has the data center tax break legislation split the Republican and Democratic caucuses? One major legislative issue gets kicked into 2016 as another one gets brought back up again with only two weeks left. This and more in this week's edition.

Click Here To Listen



Copyright © 2015 Michigan Information & Research Service Inc. (MIRS), All rights reserved
You're getting this e-mail because you'd signed up for e-mails from MIRSnews.com in the past.

Our mailing address is:
Michigan Information & Research Service Inc. (MIRS)
810 W Ottawa St, Lansing, MI
Lansing, MI 48915

Add us to your address book

unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

From: Public Sector Consultants Inc. <donna@www-pscinc.ccsend.com> on behalf of Public Sector Consultants Inc. <psc@pscinc.com>
Sent: Wednesday, December 09, 2015 3:05 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: Poll: Split over guns and prison reform, voters unite over water quality

PRESS RELEASE
December 9, 2015

For Immediate Release
Contact: Selma Tucker
Director of Marketing & Communications
(517) 484-4954, stucker@pscinc.com
Public Sector Consultants Inc.

Split over guns and prison reform, voters unite over water quality

LANSING, Mich. -- In the wake of the Flint water crisis, how concerned are voters about the safety of the water in their home? Enough to agree with each other, according to the latest Michigan's Pulse poll, a partnership of Public Sector Consultants and Michigan Radio.

From November 3 to November 5, 2015, Denno Research surveyed 600 likely voters on a range of topics, including water quality, concealed pistols, prison reform and autonomous vehicles. Beyond increased attention to urban water quality, these highly politicized topics yielded little agreement, with stark differences by political affiliation, race and age.

Water Safety

Ninety-one percent of respondents agree that the State of Michigan should examine the water systems in densely populated areas for signs of failing infrastructure. The vast majority (84 percent) also feel that water should be tested in Michigan's K-12 school buildings at least once a year.

About half of respondents (46 percent) are concerned about the safety of their water, but there are clear differences by subgroups:

- African-American voters (71 percent) are more concerned than white voters (40 percent).
- Democrats (52 percent) are more concerned than Republicans (36 percent).
- Wayne County respondents (61 percent) have higher concerns than those in other parts of the state, with 81 percent of voters in Detroit expressing concern about the safety of their water.

Concealed Pistols and Prison Reform

With the recent coverage of high-profile shootings on college and K-12 school campuses, allowing concealed pistols in these places has become a major topic for the upcoming presidential election. Under state law, those licensed to carry concealed pistols still cannot carry their weapons at schools; at day care centers, sports arenas or stadiums; at entertainment facilities that seat 2,500 or more; at bars, churches, hospitals, casinos and dormitories or classrooms of colleges or universities.

About half of voters (46 percent) support lifting the ban in some or all of these places, while (49 percent) oppose that.

- Of the Republicans polled, 65 percent support lifting the ban in some or all of these places, compared to Democrats, at 33 percent.

Less than half of respondents (40 percent) support lifting the ban in day care centers, K-12 schools and college dormitories and classrooms, with a little over half (55 percent) opposed.

- Almost half of all men polled (47 percent) and almost two-thirds of Republicans polled (62 percent) support lifting the ban; while women (34 percent), Democrats (27 percent) and Independents (34 percent) oppose doing so.

Slightly more than half of Michigan voters (53 percent) support presumptive parole, legislation recently passed by the Michigan House that automatically paroles low-risk felons after they serve their minimum sentence.

- African-Americans (74 percent) and Democrats (67 percent) are more supportive than whites (49 percent) and Republicans (40 percent).

Finally, we asked voters if they think offenders who were convicted of violent crimes under the age of 18 should be eligible for parole. The jury is clearly still out on this issue, with opinion split between yes (41 percent) and no (39 percent), with nearly a quarter (20 percent) saying they don't know or are unsure.

Robot Cars

Autonomous vehicles are currently being developed in Michigan, and some (like the Google Self-Driving Car) are already being road tested in other states. We wondered if people were comfortable with the idea of robots driving cars on Michigan's roads, and more to the point, if people thought they would make our roads safer.

- A solid majority (68 percent) are not comfortable with the idea of having driverless cars on Michigan's roads, with half (51 percent) saying they were very uncomfortable.
- A little more than half of voters (56 percent) feel that driverless cars would be more dangerous than the humans currently driving on Michigan's roads.

Despite this opposition, voters accept that this will be how people get around in the near future. Most respondents (57 percent) think that driverless cars will be common in Michigan sometime in the next five to 20 years. That buys humanity at least a few years to figure out how to prevent the cyborg invasion that is sure to follow.

Legislative Reform

In a previous PSC poll after the failure of Proposal 1, road funding was identified as a critical priority, with voters saying the legislature should work over the summer to resolve the issue. While the poll did not specifically address the merits of the $1.2 billion package recently signed by Gov.

Rick Snyder, voters clearly do not approve of the way this issue was handled, with the vast majority rating the legislature as bad (21 percent) or terrible (58 percent).

We followed this question with a couple of options on how to improve the effectiveness of the Michigan Legislature. All of the ideas appear to have similar appeal, which seems to indicate that voters are ready for a change -- even if they don't know exactly what the change should look like:

- Stricter campaign finance and/or ethics laws (25 percent)
- Switch to a part-time legislature (21 percent)
- Do nothing because legislators can always be voted out of office if they are doing a poor job (21 percent)
- Change the length of term limits by allowing members to serve up to 12 years in either chamber (18 percent)
- Don't know/unsure (15 percent)

Goodbye Halloween

On the heels of the Halloween season, we wondered what had scared voters the most so far in 2015. While a quarter (25 percent) were not willing to express their fears out loud, those that did were scared most by the presidential debates (42 percent), followed by the Detroit Lions (22 percent).

About the Survey

Michigan Radio, an NPR News Station and the state's most listened-to public radio service, and Public Sector Consultants (PSC), the state's premier nonpartisan think tank, are partnering on a yearlong initiative studying Michiganders' attitudes toward policy issues affecting their lives in a series called Michigan's Pulse. Michigan's Pulse will release quarterly in weeklong segments on Michigan Radio's Stateside with Cynthia Canty with in-depth analysis by PSC researchers and other thought leaders.

The Michigan Radio/PSC survey of the Michigan electorate was conducted by Lansing-based Denno Research. Six-hundred respondents, 450 by landline and 150 by cell phone, in the state of Michigan were surveyed from November 3 to 5, 2015, with a margin of error of plus/minus 4 percent. A screen was employed to include only those participants who said they would vote, either at the polls or by absentee ballot, in the November 2016 general election.

Full survey results are available here.

Public Sector Consultants is Michigan's most respected, connected, and dedicated research and program management firm, with specialties in governance and regulation, health care, education, energy, and environmental policy. PSC is committed to providing objective research and sound solutions to the public and private sector.

Michigan Radio is an NPR News Station, and the state's most listened-to public radio service, attracting more than 500,000 listeners each week across Michigan. Licensed to the University of Michigan, Michigan Radio broadcasts at 91.7 FM in southeastern Michigan, 91.1 FM in Flint, and 104.1 in western Michigan, and is available online at michiganradio.org.

###

Forward this email

This email was sent to minixc@michigan.gov by psc@pscinc.com ¦
Update Profile/Email Address ¦ Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ ¦ About our service provider.

Public Sector Consultants Inc. ¦ 230 N. Washington Square ¦ Suite 300 ¦ Lansing ¦ MI ¦ 48933

From: Wisniewski, Wendy (GOV) on behalf of Agen, Jarrod (GOV)
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:06 PM
To: Abednego, Jaime (DTMB);Allan, Jon (DEQ);Arbulu, Agustin (MDCR);Arwood, Steve (MEDC);Barnes, Jeff (DMVA);Behen, David (DTMB);Bowen, Scott (MSL);Brader, Valerie (LARA);Brown, Diane (MGCB);Burton, Diane (LARA);Carefoot, Karen (MDE);Clover Adams, Jamie (MDARD);Comai, Stephanie (TIA);Creagh, Keith (DNR);Crockett, Tracy (MSHDA);Deloney, Andrew (LARA);Donnan, Chanda (DTMB);Doyle, Maureen (Treasury);Dungey, Cecilia (TIA);Elsenheimer, Kevin (MSHDA);Etue, Kriste (MSP);Evans, Amiee (MEDC);General Gregory J. Vadnais (gregory.j.vadnais.mil@mail.mil);Grijalva, Nancy (DHHS);Hill, Nancy (DIFS);Isaacs, Carol (AG);Kalm, Rick (MGCB);Khouri, Nick (TREASURY);King, Rebecca (MCSC);Klotz, Josephine (MSP);Lyon, Nick (DHHS);'Mason, Dace (DMVA)';McDermott, Cristina (MSL);McPharlin, Pat (DIFS);Minix, Connie (DTMB);Quackenbush, John (LARA);Roberts, John (DTMB);Sanford, Shawn (MDCR);Sebenick, Pam (MDOT);Sederburg, Kari (DHHS);Senyko, Mike (MDOS);Simon, Sandy C. (MDOC);Smith, Brenda (MDARD);Steudle, Kirk (MDOT);Sworden, Julie (DMVA);Teszlewicz, Barbara (AG);Thelen, Mary Beth (DEQ);Tkaczyk, Judy (DNR);Vaughn, Kari (DEQ);Waalkes, Marie (DTMB);Washington, Heidi E. (MDOC);West, Samantha (LARA);Whiston, Brian (MDE);Winters, Jan (MCSC);Zimmer, Mike (LARA)
Cc: Agen, Jarrod (GOV);Clement, Elizabeth (GOV);Murray, David (GOV);Holland, Meegan (GOV);Wisniewski, Wendy (GOV)
Subject: Changes in Administration

Team,

As you are aware, we have been working closely with the independent task force that has been reviewing state, local and federal actions regarding the serious health issues related to water in Flint.

Although the task force's final report is not yet complete, members have made the Governor aware of some interim findings, and there are interim steps the Governor has decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how we in state government keep residents safe and informed.

As part of this process, Dan Wyant, director of the Department of Environmental Quality, has offered his resignation, and Governor has reluctantly decided to accept it. There are likely to be other personnel changes in MDEQ as well.

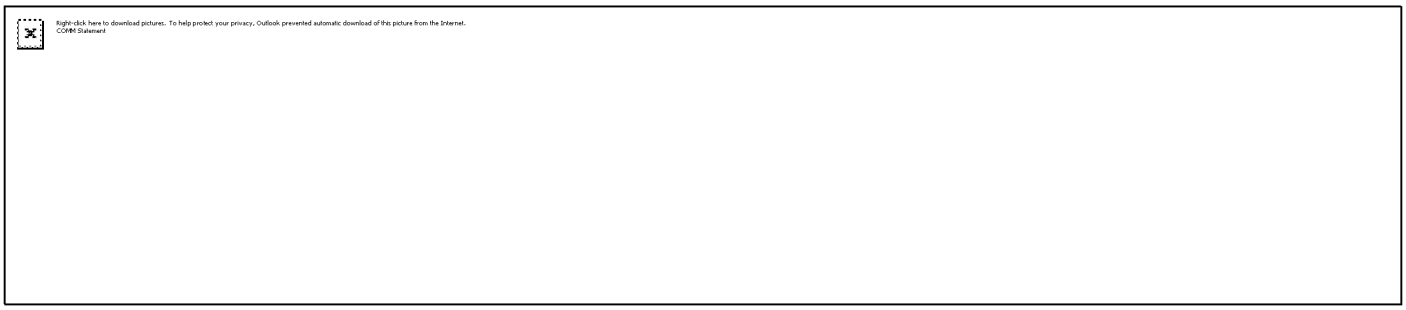
I want to thank Dan for his service. He has been the DEQ director since the start of the administration, and previously headed the Agriculture Department under both Gov. Engler and Gov. Granholm. He is passionate about public service and protecting our state's environment.

The situation in Flint is serious and challenging. We will continue to work closely with the task force and city leaders as we move forward, committed to protecting the health of people living in Flint and around our state.

Sincerely,

Jarrod Agen

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, December 29, 2015 2:45 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder takes action on initial findings from Flint Water Task Force



Contacts: Dave Murray, Anna Heaton or Laura Biehl

517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Tuesday, Dec. 29, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder takes action on initial findings from Flint Water Task Force

Changes to take place at DEQ, meeting planned with Mayor Karen Weaver

In response to initial findings from the Flint Water Task Force, Gov. Rick Snyder today issued the following statement:

"When I became aware that the city of Flint's water showed elevated lead levels and that the state's handling of the situation was being questioned, I requested funding to switch the source back to the Great Lakes Water Authority and appointed an independent task force to identify possible missteps and areas for improvement.

"The task force has done an exceptional job, reviewing stacks of documents and interviewing scores of Flint, Genesee County, state and federal officials. Although the task force's final report is not yet completed, members have made me aware of some interim findings and corrective steps that I have decided to take immediately in order to restore trust in how the state keeps its citizens safe and informed.

"We'll continue to work with the community members to make sure we hear and respond to their concerns.

"In addition, MDEQ Director Dan Wyant has offered his resignation, and I've determined that it's appropriate to accept it. I'm also making other personnel changes at MDEQ to address problems cited by the task force.

"But changes in leadership and staff are not enough. I understand there can be disagreements within the scientific community. That is why I have directed both the departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services to invite every external scientist who has worked on this issue to be our partners in helping us improve Flint water. Let's share research on water and blood lead level testing so we can arrive at accurate and mutually supported conclusions. Together, we should work to affirm that we're using the very best testing protocols to ensure Flint residents have safe drinking water and that we're taking steps to protect their health over the short and long term.

"I want the Flint community to know how very sorry I am that this has happened. And I want all Michigan citizens to know that we will learn from this experience, because Flint is not the only city that has an aging infrastructure.

"I know many Flint citizens are angry and want more than an apology. That's why I'm taking the actions today to ensure a culture of openness and trust. We've already allocated $10 million to test the water, distribute water filters, and help in other ways. Last week, I called Flint Mayor Karen Weaver, and we're going to meet soon to discuss other ways the state can offer assistance.

"These are only initial steps - we fully expect to take more actions following the recommendations of our task force. When it comes to matters of health and quality of life, we're committed to doing everything we can to protect the well-being of our citizens."

###

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to mirizo@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: MIRS Delivery <info=mirsnews.com@mail70.wdc01.mcdlv.net> on behalf of MIRS Delivery <info@mirsnews.com>
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 2:24 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: MIRS Monday Podcast, January 4, 2016

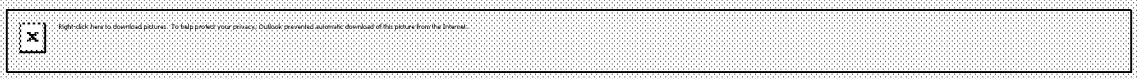
View this email in your browser

This week on MIRS Monday

The recent legislative recall movement isn't stopping with Sen. Wayne Schmidt and Senate Majority Leader Arlan Meekhof, says Kevin Heine, a board member for iCaucus, a conservative organization that is supporting the removal of legislators who voted for the gas tax and driver registration fee increases late last year. How many Senators are being discussed? How many state House members are looking at competitive primaries this fall?

MIRS handicaps its opinion on what Gov. Rick Snyder will do with SB 571, the bill that would restrict schools and local governments from sharing information with voters on millages, bonding proposals and other new money asks. Also, why the departure of former Department of Environment Quality Director Dan Wyant isn't the end of the Flint water story.

Click Here To Listen



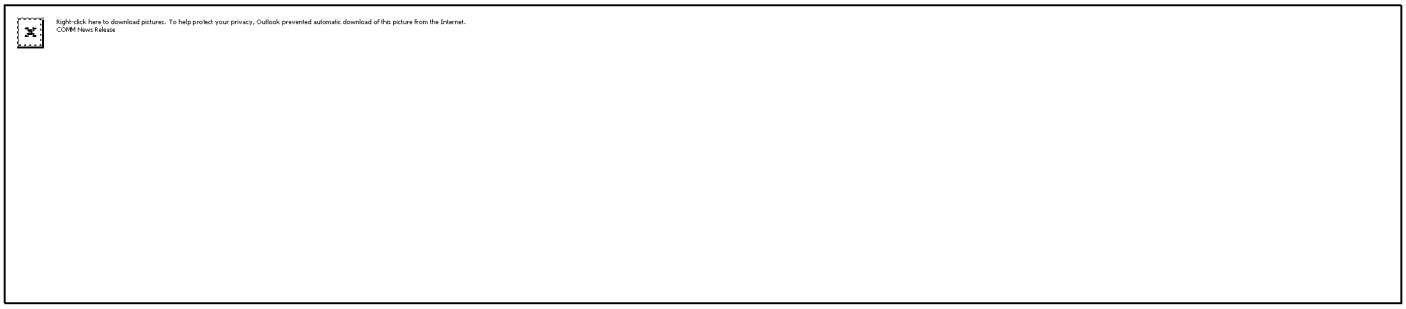
Copyright © 2016 Michigan Information & Research Service Inc. (MIRS). All rights reserved.
You're getting this e-mail because you'd signed up for e-mails from MIRSnews.com in the past.

Our mailing address is:
Michigan Information & Research Service Inc. (MIRS)
910 W Ottawa St. Lansing, MI
Lansing, MI 48915

Add us to your address book

unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, January 05, 2016 4:28 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Snyder declares emergency for Genesee County



Contacts: Dave Murray, Laura Biehl, or Anna Heaton

517-335-6397

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Tuesday, Jan. 5, 2016

Editor's note: A copy of the official declaration is available at the link below.

Gov. Snyder declares emergency for Genesee County

State Emergency Operations Center activated to assist with relief efforts

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today declared a state of emergency for Genesee County due to the ongoing health and safety issues caused by lead in the city of Flint's drinking water.

By declaring a state of emergency, Snyder has made available all state resources in cooperation with local response and recovery operations. The declaration authorizes the Michigan State Police, Emergency Management and Homeland Security Division (MSP/EMHSD) to coordinate state efforts.

"The health and welfare of Flint residents is a top priority and we're committed to a coordinated approach with resources from state agencies to address all aspects of this situation," Snyder said. "Working in full partnership with the Flint Water Advisory Task Force, all levels of government and water quality experts, we will find both short-term and long-term solutions to ensure the health and safety of Flint residents."

In addition to the emergency declaration, Snyder activated the State Emergency

Operations Center to coordinate state response and recovery activities. State agencies will report to the center to coordinate resources, assess the situation and begin providing assets to assist with local relief operations.

“Our staff recognizes the urgency of this situation and is already working closely with local officials,” said Capt. Chris A. Kelenske, Deputy State Director of Emergency Management and Homeland Security and commander of the MSP/EMHSD. “We will continue to collaborate with state, city and county leaders to coordinate relief efforts, streamline communication and use all available resources to help residents.”

On Jan. 4, Genesee County declared a “local state of emergency,” which activated local emergency response and recovery plans. By requesting a governor’s declaration, the county has determined local resources are insufficient to address the situation and state assistance is required to protect public health, safety and property to lessen or avert the threat of a crisis.

The city of Flint has been under a local emergency declaration since Dec. 14, 2015.

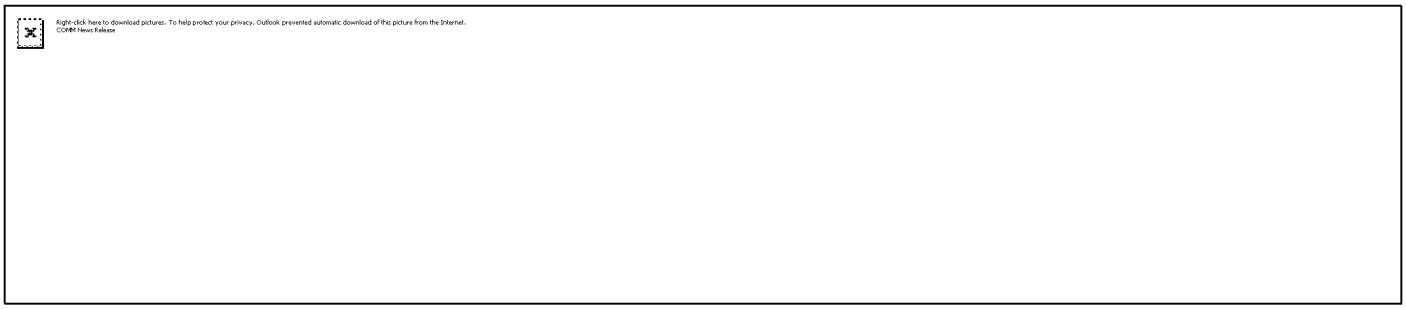
The SEOC is the emergency operations center for the state of Michigan. Located in Lansing, the center is overseen by the MSP/EMHSD and coordinates response and recovery efforts by state agencies and local government. The SEOC is staffed by members of state agencies and other partners for decision making and information coordination during disasters or emergencies in the state of Michigan.

#

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to minixc@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, February 03, 2015 3:54 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder awards Flint $2 million in 'distressed municipalities' grants for water system infrastructure improvements



Contacts:
Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
517-335-6397

Terry Stanton, Department of Treasury
517-335-2167

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Tuesday, Feb. 3, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder awards Flint $2 million in 'distressed municipalities' grants for water system infrastructure improvements

Funding to be used for leak detection, waste incinerator replacement

LANSING, Mich. – Gov. Rick Snyder today awarded Flint $2 million in grants for water system infrastructure improvements, part of an overall $8 million plan to help municipalities through the Financially Distressed Cities, Villages, and Townships Grant Program.

Flint is among eleven municipalities receiving grants through the program. The city will use the funding to detect leaks in its water lines and replace its Water Pollution Control Facility Incinerator.

"There are opportunities for state government to assist Flint city leaders as they address issues related to the city's water system," Snyder said. "These grants will help recovering cities improve public services and infrastructure, improving the quality of life for all residents."

The grants to Flint were announced today at the Haskell Community Center by Harvey Hollins, director of the state's Office of Urban Initiatives, and Wayne Workman, the state's deputy treasurer. They were joined by Dan Wyant, director of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, Flint Emergency Manager Jerry Ambrose, Mayor Dayne Walling and state Rep. Sheldon

Neeley.

Flint was awarded $900,000 to allow the city to hire a contractor to perform a leak detection survey of the city water lines. The city will receive a map of leak locations and an assessment of leak severity, allowing the city to prioritize leak repair. The project also covers the expense of conducting a water pipe line wall thickness condition assessment on a portion of the city's pipes. The assessment will guide the city's water main replacement program.

The city also was awarded $1.1 million to shut down its current Water Pollution Control Facility incinerator and replace it with new facilities which will allow for the disposal of waste in landfills. The existing facilities are not up to federal Environmental Protection Agency standards.

Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said he appreciates the state support.

"This announcement comes at the perfect time for Flint as we continue with repairs and upgrades to our water service infrastructure that are in accordance with our new Capital Improvement Plan," Walling said. "This significant funding opportunity from the State will allow us to move forward with two projects that will mean long term cost savings for the City of Flint."

Municipalities are eligible for the grants if they are experiencing one or more conditions indicative of "probable financial stress," as defined by Public Act 436 of 2012, the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act.

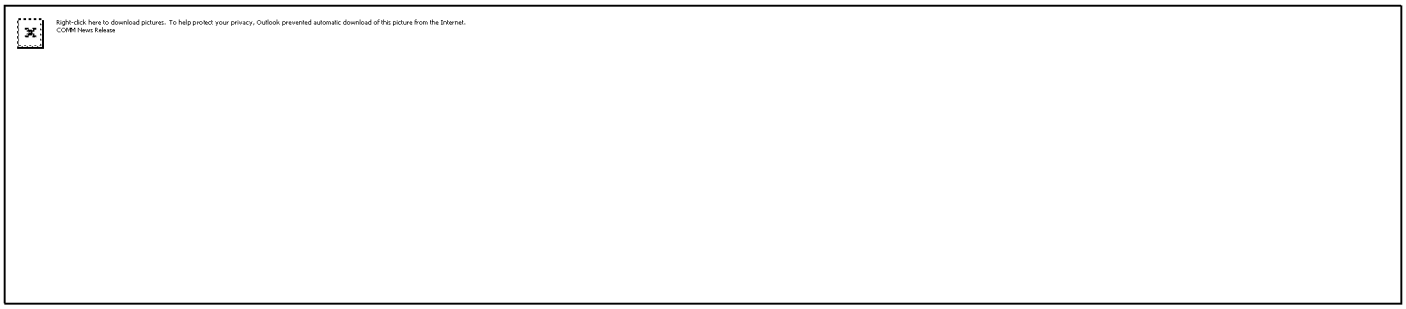
Under the grant program, funding may be used to pay for specific projects, services, or strategies that move a city, village, or township toward financial stability. There was $8 million appropriated for the program with a $2 million cap, per local unit.

###

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to minibo@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Friday, October 02, 2015 1:58 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder: Comprehensive action plan will help Flint residents address water concerns



Contacts: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
517-335-6397

Brad Wurfel, 517-284-6713
Department of Environmental Quality

Jennifer Eisner, 517-230-9804
Department of Health and Human Services

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Friday, October 2, 2015

Editor's Note: Click here for infographic and action plan.

Gov. Rick Snyder: Comprehensive action plan will help Flint residents address water concerns

Collaborative effort with state, federal and city leaders focuses on testing, assistance

FLINT, Mich. – Flint residents need to have access to safe, clean, water now and long into the future, Gov. Rick Snyder said, announcing a comprehensive action plan created with state, federal and city leaders to address concerns about drinking water.

The water leaving Flint's drinking water system is safe to drink, but some families with lead plumbing in their homes or service connections could experience higher levels of lead in the water that comes out of their faucets.

The action plan focuses on increasing water testing, offering additional precautions for families with lead plumbing in their homes, and providing long-term solutions to address the city's water infrastructure challenges. The plan was created at Snyder's direction by the Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Health and Human Services (DHHS), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and the city of Flint.

"We are focused on helping ensure safe, clean, accessible drinking water and addressing and mitigating concerns and protecting public health," Snyder said. "Today's action plan builds upon ongoing work with local, state and federal agencies and our partnership with city and community leaders. Together, we are working to ensure that all Flint residents have accurate information and know that help is available to address potential problems."

The city and the state also are working together to gather more data to ensure the water that leaves the treatment plant as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe for all residents. The plan includes:

- Testing in Flint public schools immediately to ensure that drinking water is safe, with testing also available at no cost to any other school in Flint.
- Offering free water testing to Flint residents to assure their drinking water is safe.
- Providing free water filters to residents.
- Expanding health exposure testing of individual homes.
- Accelerating corrosion controls in the Flint drinking water system.
- Accelerating water system improvements to address replacing lead service lines.
- Expediting the completion of the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline.
- Expanding a Safe Drinking Water Technical Advisory Committee to ensure the best technology, practices and science are being followed by adding an expert from the Environmental Protection Agency's Office of Research and Development to the group.
- Naming Dr. Eden Wells, chief medical executive for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services, as the Flint drinking water public health adviser.
- Boosting a comprehensive lead education program to make sure residents have detailed information about how to protect themselves and their homes.

Residents can have their water tested by calling 810-787-6537 and pressing 1, or emailing flintwater@cityofflint.com. The DEQ is covering the cost of this testing.

State leaders have been working closely with state and federal lawmakers to tap resources at all levels of government to address concerns.

State health experts said there has been an increase in elevated childhood blood lead levels in some specific communities. Initial analysis of MDHHS data found that blood lead levels of children in Flint have followed an expected seasonal trend. While this analysis for Flint as a whole remains true, a comprehensive and detailed review breaking down data by ZIP codes with the city revealed that MDHHS data is consistent with a study presented recently by Hurley Children's Hospital.

"While we cannot conclusively say that the water source change is the sole cause of the increase, this analysis supports our efforts as we take active steps to reduce all potential lead exposures in Flint," MDHHS Director Nick Lyon said. "As part of this, we are working closely with our public and private partners to provide Flint residents on MDHHS assistance programs with free water filters and inform families about the steps they can take to reduce all lead exposures in their home."

As a part of the action plan, National Sanitation Foundation certified water filters will be made available to Flint residents through emergency state funds and coordinated efforts with local community agencies and donors. Information about how to obtain the filters will soon be available.

"This action plan offers concrete steps we will take in a local, state and federal partnership to ensure all Flint residents have safe water to drink," DEQ Director Dan Wyant said. "The DEQ will work closely with the city to gather further data to ensure the water that leaves Flint's system as well as the water that arrives in Flint homes is safe to drink."

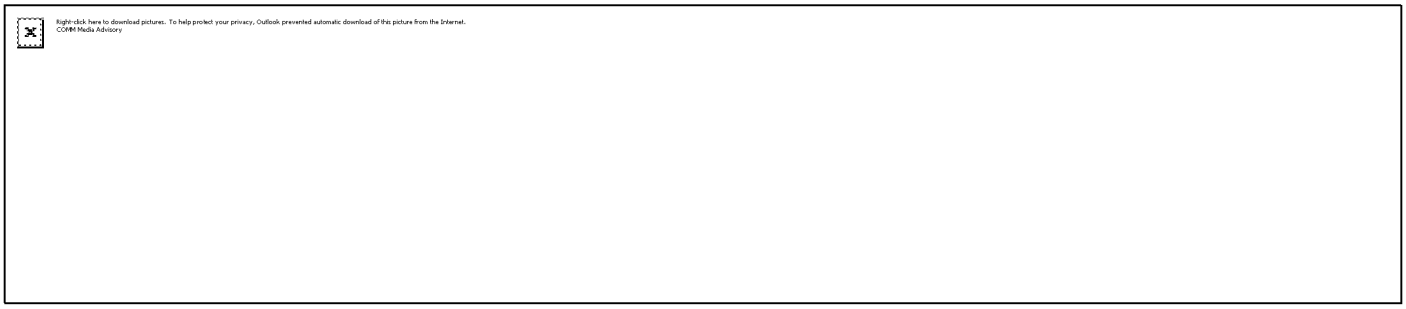
Additional information is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

###

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to minixc@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Wednesday, October 07, 2015 6:13 PM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: Snyder Media Advisory for Thursday, Oct. 8



Wednesday, Oct. 7, 2015
Contact: Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray
Office: 517-335-6397

Editor's Note: This advisory is for media planning purposes only and not for publication.

Thursday, Oct. 8 at 10 a.m.
Gov. Rick Snyder will make an announcement regarding the Flint water system. He will be joined by Flint Mayor Dayne Walling, Director of Environmental Quality, Dan Wyant, Director of the Department of Health and Human Services, Nick Lyon, Dr. Eden Wells, Chief Medical Executive at DHHS, and Ridgway White of the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation.

A livestream option is also available at www.michigan.gov/snyderlive. If you wish to embed the event please visit http://new.livestream.com/snyderlive for more information.

Media must present valid press credentials on site.

Location:
Mott Foundation/Commerce Center Building – Conference Center, Ground Floor
519 S. Saginaw St.
Flint, MI

Thursday, Oct. 8 at 7 p.m.
Snyder will offer remarks at the Celebration of Life Gala supporting Magen David Adom (Israel's national 911 and emergency services).

Media must present valid press credentials on site.

Location:
Adat Shalom Synagogue
29901 Middlebelt Rd.

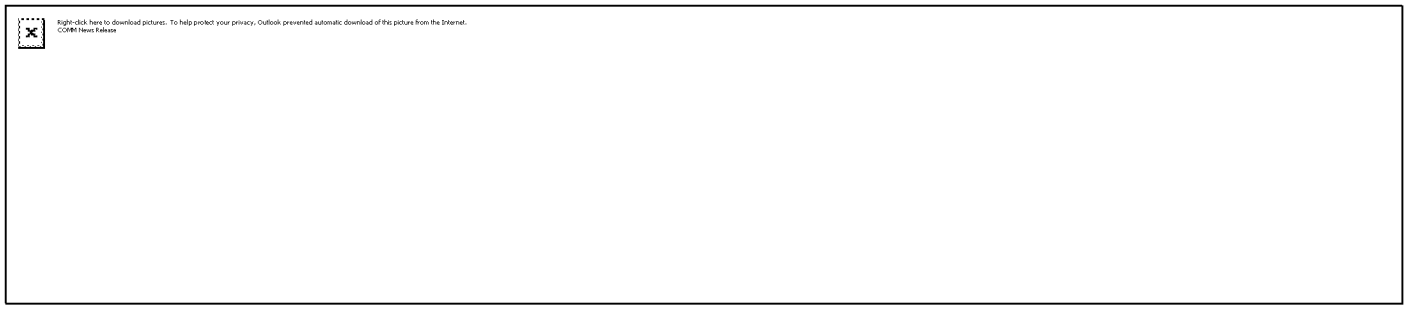
Farmington Hills, MI

#####

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to mirixc@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: GOV Newsroom <govnewsroom@govsubscriptions.michigan.gov>
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 10:23 AM
To: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: NEWS RELEASE: Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint



CONTACTS:
Sara Wurfel or Dave Murray Governor's Office: 517-335-6397 Brad Wurfel, 517-284-6713 Department of Environmental Quality Jennifer Eisner, 517-230-9804 Department of Health and Human Services Kathryn Thomas, 810-766-1734 Mott Foundation Jason Lorenz, 810-237-2039 City of Flint	FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE Thursday, Oct. 8, 2015

Gov. Rick Snyder: Move back to Detroit water provides best protection for public health in Flint

State, city, Mott Foundation, join to fund switch until KWA is ready

FLINT, Mich. – Flint families and children will be better protected by reconnecting with the Great Lakes Water Authority as the source of the city's drinking water until the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline is completed, Gov. Rick Snyder said.

Snyder said Thursday that he will request the state Legislature to provide half, or $6 million, of the $12 million needed to reconnect with the authority through next summer, when the KWA is expected to be completed. The Flint city government will provide $2 million and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation has committed $4 million.

“All Flint residents need clean, safe drinking water,” Snyder said. “The technical experts helping the city on its water advisory all agree this move back to the Great Lakes Water Authority provides the best public health protection for children and families. This effort today is the result of people coming together to solve a problem. I appreciate Detroit’s willingness to reconnect with Flint, the Mott Foundation’s generous commitment, and the dedication of all parties to come together to protect Flint families and children.”

Flint city leaders requested the state’s help to fund the reconnection and to assist with health and infrastructure issues. Flint’s move to the Great Lakes Water Authority is expected to cost about $1.3 million per month until the Karegnondi Water Authority is completed next summer.

“It’s heartening to know so many people are working at so many levels to bring safe, clean water back to Flint,” Mott Foundation President Ridgway White said. “We believe this transitional solution is the right and necessary thing to do, and we’re glad we could help the state and the city make it happen.”

The move to Detroit water, which is expected to carry, carries many public health benefits. As large bodies of water, the Great Lakes are naturally prone to fewer problems from large rain events and other runoff issues that can sometimes be present in shallower rivers. Additionally, the Great Lakes Water Authority water already has additional corrosion control, using phosphates to help coat the insides of pipes and limit lead from leaching into the water.

However, reconnecting with the authority will not completely resolve the city’s problem with lead service lines or aging infrastructure. It will take time for pipes in Flint to become coated with the phosphate corrosion control. Additionally, some households in the city could experience lead in their drinking water until all lead pipes and plumbing are replaced.

"Reconnecting to Detroit is the fastest way to deliver clean, safe water to Flint and stabilize the infrastructure system,” Flint Mayor Dayne Walling said. “I appreciate the state, the Mott Foundation, Detroit, and the county's participation in a solution for Flint's water problems. The health and safety of Flint's families, children and seniors is my top priority, and reconnecting to Detroit is a major step that the city could not take alone given budget constraints."

To best protect public health, Snyder said state and local authorities will continue to carry out steps outlined on Oct. 2 in a comprehensive action plan, including continued testing, the use of faucet filters and providing residents with accurate information about steps to eliminate lead exposure. The Michigan Departments of Environmental Quality and Health and Human Services today also committed an additional $3.5 million for water filters, free lead testing through the state laboratory for Flint water customers, and hiring additional staff to conduct health exposure monitoring for lead in drinking water.

Free filters are available for current MDHHS clients at the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office locations. For residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs, free filters are available at the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation. At the Lippincott location only, extended hours will be offered this weekend, including until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Other good practices for residents concerned about lead include turning on the cold water tap and running the water until it’s as cold as it will go. Additionally, only use cold water for cooking, drinking and especially mixing baby formula.

School test results released; more investigation planned

The state today also released the first results from its lead screening program in schools and homes. Of 37 total samples taken at 13 buildings, four samples spread over three buildings exceeded the federal action level of 15 parts per billion.

However, this sampling provides only an initial screen, and the state is committing to further testing water and inspecting plumbing at these schools. Until testing is complete, schools are advised to continue using bottled water and filtration as a precaution to protect children.

In addition, free testing is still available for any other Flint school, including daycares and Head Starts. Free testing is also available for any Flint resident.

Additional information, including more detailed lead screening results, is available at www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

###

STAY CONNECTED:

This email was sent to minixc@michigan.gov on behalf of: The Executive Office of the Governor · 111 South Capitol Avenue · Lansing, MI 48909 · 517-335-7858

From: Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Sent: Wednesday, September 16, 2015 3:22 PM
To: Roberts, John (DTMB) (RobertsJ9@michigan.gov);Duncan, Nancy (DTMB);McNeely, Jacques (DTMB);Starr, Scott (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Document for Review - Flint Water Plan Support
Attachments: Additional Support for Flint Water Improvement Plan, 9.14.15.pdf

fyi

Connie Minix
Assistant to State Budget Director John S. Roberts
111 S. Capitol Avenue, Romney Building, 6th Floor
Phone: 517.373.4978 | Cell: 517.897.3519
State Budget Office

From: Adamczyk, Lynne (GOV)
Sent: Wednesday, September 16, 2015 3:19 PM
To: Clayton, Stacie (GOV); Kennedy, Jordan (GOV); Rospond, Laurie (GOV); Brown, Eric (GOV); Dempkowski, Angela (Treasury); Pleyte, Beth (Treasury); Wurfel, Brad (DEQ); Pallone, Maggie (DEQ); Grijalva, Nancy (DCH); Thelen, Mary Beth (DEQ); Doyle, Maureen (Treasury); Minix, Connie (DTMB)
Subject: Document for Review - Flint Water Plan Support

Stacie, please have Harvey respond to this letter from Mayor Walling and send me a copy of the response letter.

Thanks,

Lynne

Lynne Adamczyk
Executive Assistant
Office of Governor Rick Snyder
517-373-3400 (o)
517-241-9412 (d)
adamczykl@michigan.gov

CITY OF FLINT

Dayne Walling
Mayor

September 14, 2015

The Honorable Rick Snyder
Governor, State of Michigan
P.O. Box 30013
Lansing, MI 48909

RE: Call for Additional Support for Flint Water Improvement Plan

Dear Governor Snyder:

On behalf of the Flint community, I am writing with a renewed request for additional support to address Flint's water challenges to ensure that water is affordable and secure for everyone in Flint especially our vulnerable populations. I am asking for an additional $30 million in funds for Flint's infrastructure and a new healthy homes initiative.

Significant progress has been made throughout this year to increase water safety and quality and I thank you for the involvement of your office, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, and the Michigan Department of Treasury. A majority of items in the Water Improvement Plan are completed or underway. Most importantly, Flint is now in compliance with the Safe Drinking Water Act due in large part to the installation of the new carbon filter. The infrastructure systems are being made more secure and efficient through the State grants. Now the City is committed to following the recommendation of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to optimize the treatment process, reduce corrosion and further minimize risks from lead.

The need to accelerate the City's capital improvement investments remains and has been further increased by the continued financial stress and legal issues. Previously I requested support for replacement or forgiveness of payment to the Drinking Water Revolving Loan Fund due to Flint's status as a distressed community and the gap in funding in the adopted capital improvement plan. I understand that the existing federal law does not allow the existing Drinking Water Revolving Loans that Flint is carrying to be forgiven in retrospect but the need still exists. Flint owes approximately $20 Million. One solution is for the State to grant a new $20 Million that is designed as forgivable from the start. Another solution is to provide

City of Flint • 1101 S. Saginaw Street • Flint, Michigan 48502
www.cityofflint.com • (810) 766 - 7346 • Fax: (810) 766 - 7218

equivalent funding through an expansion of the grant program to Michigan's Financially Distressed Cities, Villages and Townships with a supplemental budget amendment in cooperation with the State Legislature.

The community's heightened concern about lead leeching into the water from old service lines and home plumbing also needs to be addressed. We know that lead is an environmental contaminant and there have been many programs in place over the years to address sources in paint and pipes. Flint needs a new healthy homes initiative specifically focused on lead in water with $10 Million to start the process of replacing service lines for the most vulnerable households. Regardless of the source and treatment of Flint's water, this long term threat of lead in pipes needs to be removed in the interest of public health.

My approach continues to be to work with you and your appointed officials, State Senator Ananich, State Representatives Phelps and Neeley, Congressman Kildee, community groups, businesses, churches, foundations, the Flint City Council, and all of the City of Flint and State and Federal government personnel. We need every available expert and resource to address Flint's water problems.

Flint's safety is my top priority. Just as the City and State have worked together on public safety, we need additional support for fixing the water problems. We need $30 Million in new funds to repair and update the city-wide infrastructure and to assist households in becoming lead-free. The entire Flint community deserves sustainable, safe, secure and affordable water now and into the future. Thank you for the consideration Governor and I look forward to future discussions.

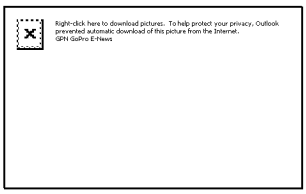
Sincerely,

Dayne Walling
Mayor, City of Flint

CC: Flint City Council President Joshua Freeman; Congressman Dan Kildee; State Senator Jim Ananich; State Representative Sheldon Neeley; State Representative Phil Phelps; EPA Regional Administrator Dr. Susan Hedman; Chief of Staff Dennis Muchmore

From: Government Product News <GovernmentProductNews@gpn.americancityandcounty.com>
Sent: Thursday, December 17, 2015 3:14 PM
To: Moody, Michael (DTMB)
Subject: Are nunchucks making a comeback?

[redacted] | Add to Safe Sender List



Government Weekly

December 17, 2015

California police showing interest in nunchucks as a restraint tool (with related video)

Governments are a key market for janitorial and sanitary supplies and equipment

Video interview: Andy Berke - From Chattanooga to the moon

Flint, Mich., mayor declares lead levels in water supply state of emergency

Top 20 states for speed traps

Cooperative purchasing trends in 2016 - Part 1

More vendors may rely on cooperative purchasing

Protective coating helps shield water treatment and other municipal facilities

For fleet administrators: Guide to telematics

Former NYPD assistant chief presents webinar on indoor wireless coverage

Brought to you by

Morbark

Dogipot,Inc.

Events

Jan 6-8, 2016
NCCAE 2016 January Meeting
Washington, D.C.

Jan. 8-10, 2016
Women in Government 22nd Annual State Directors' Conference
Tampa Bay, Fla.

More Events

Webinars

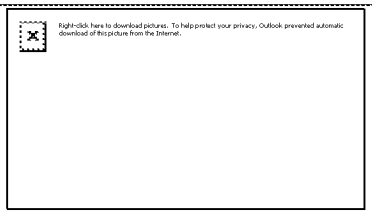
A selection of webinars produced in association with American City and County of interest to city, county and state officials.

More Webinars

News

California police showing interest in nunchucks as a restraint tool (with related video)

By Michael Keating

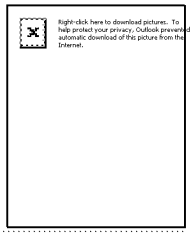


Law enforcement is taking another look at nunchucks, which were in wide use by police in the 1980s. The Anderson Police Department in rural Northern California has added nunchucks, also called nunchucku, to its arsenal of non-lethal weapons.
FULL ARTICLE

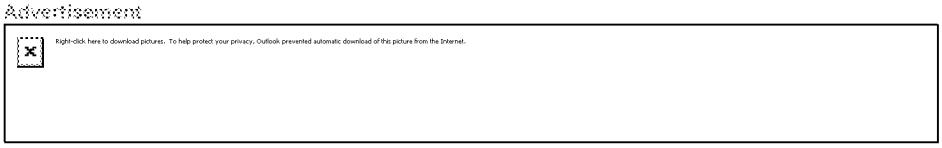
Governments are a key market for janitorial and sanitary supplies and equipment

By Michael Keating

Governments buy a lot of of janitorial, sanitation and cleaning products. Distributor sales of these products to municipal, county, state and federal government agencies totaled about $2.02 billion in the most recent year that data was available.
FULL ARTICLE

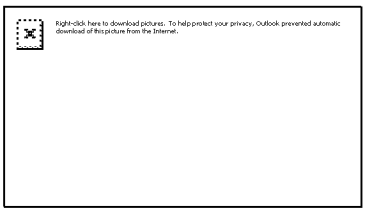


Advertisement



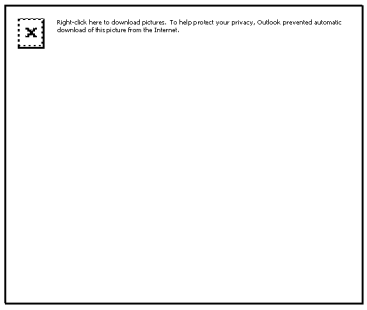
Video interview: Andy Berke - From Chattanooga to the moon

By Derek Prall



For his extraordinary leadership and dedication to innovation, Chattanooga Mayor Andy Berke has been named American City & County's 2015 Municipal Leader of the Year. This article and video sheds light on his accomplishments.
FULL ARTICLE

Advertisement



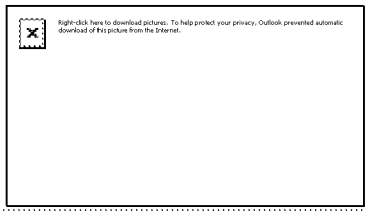
DOGIPOT® Pet Stations provide the perfect tool to encourage dog owners to clean up, leaving less work for maintenance/park staff. The high quality materials ensure long lasting solutions and lower maintenance costs. DOGIPOT® is the best overall solution to your dog pollution issues. www.dogipot.com

Flint, Mich., mayor declares lead levels in water supply state of emergency

By Stephanie Toone

Flint, Mich., Mayor Karen Weaver sought federal support to aid in the city's toxic water issues, which could harm residents - particularly children.

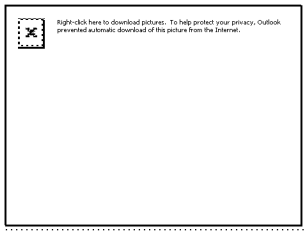
FULL ARTICLE



Gallery

Top 20 states for speed traps

By Stephanie Toone



Just in time for the holiday traveling season, the National Motorists Association (NMA) has released its report warning of 20 states notorious for speed traps.

VIEW GALLERY

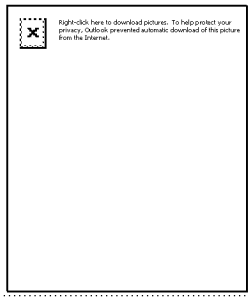
Coop Solutions

Cooperative purchasing trends in 2016 - Part 1

By Michael Keating

Marcheta Gillespie is director of procurement in Tucson, Ariz. She offers her views to GPN on cooperative purchasing trends in the coming year.

FULL ARTICLE



More vendors may rely on cooperative purchasing

By Michael Keating

Onvia predicts continued growth of cooperative purchasing through 2016. The firm has issued a report that highlights a variety of cooperative purchasing trends.

FULL ARTICLE

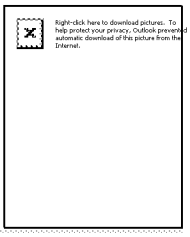
Products

Protective coating helps shield water treatment and other municipal facilities

By Government Product News staff

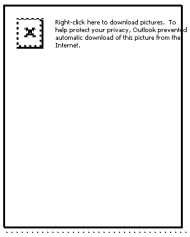
Dura-Plate 6100 is a protective coating product. It shields structures against corrosion in municipal and industrial wastewater treatment facilities.

FULL ARTICLE



For fleet administrators: Guide to telematics

By Government Product News staff



"Telematics for Fleet Managers" will help equipment managers find a telematics starting point and define data sources.

FULL ARTICLE

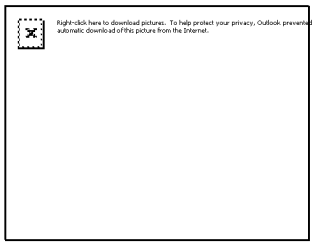
IWCE Expo

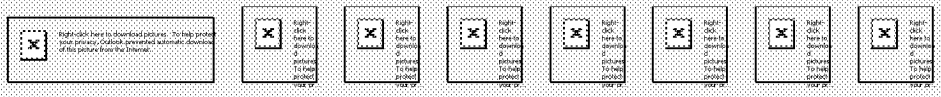
Former NYPD assistant chief presents webinar on indoor wireless coverage

By Stacey Ortick

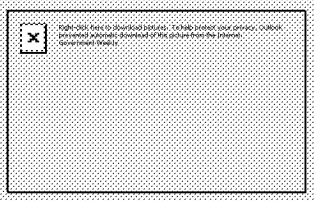
American City & County's sister brand, IWCE's online College of Technology, is offering a webinar on indoor wireless coverage on demand. The webinar features Chuck Dowd, former assistant chief at the New York City Police Department (NYPD) and former FirstNet board member.

FULL ARTICLE





ABOUT THIS NEWSLETTER



This eNewsletter was sent to: moodym1@michigan.gov

For questions concerning delivery of this newsletter, please contact our Customer Service Department at:

Government Product News
A Penton publication
US Toll Free: 866-505-7173
International: 847-763-9504
Email: Customer Service

Penton | 1166 Avenue of the Americas, 10th Floor | New York, NY 10036

Copyright 2015, Penton. All rights reserved. This content is protected by United States copyright and other intellectual property laws and may not be reproduced, rewritten, distributed, re-disseminated, transmitted, displayed, published or broadcast, directly or indirectly, in any medium without the prior written permission of Penton.

From: Grayson, Tanya <tgrayson@nasact.org>
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 11:04 AM
To: Moody, Michael (DTMB)
Subject: Weekly News

NASACT National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers

WASHINGTON UPDATE & WEEKLY NEWS

There will be no Washington Update this week as Congress is on their Winter Recess.

Thanks and have a wonderful week.

Tanya Grayson
NASACT Washington Office

If you would like to have an article/issue highlighted for the membership, please send it to NASACT Policy Analyst Neal Hutchko at [redacted]. Please include the web link to your article for formatting purposes and for proper source citation.

CALIFORNIA

Treasurer's Office releases green bonds funding report
The Orange County Breeze

State Treasurer John Chiang on Monday released an initial report on the state's spending of nearly $300 million in proceeds for environmental purposes, financed by a first-ever sale of "green bonds." The 2014 general obligation bonds, tax-exempt securities backed by the full faith and credit of the state of California, completely or partially pay for a series of beneficial projects. More analysis, fine-tuning and market research needs to be done before a green bond market can really take off, said Chiang. "Greater use of green bonds could provide a secure and growing funding stream for governments and private industries to meet the challenge of curbing climate pollution," he said…

DELAWARE

Delaware CAFR released
Press Release

The State of Delaware's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2015 has been released. The CAFR includes a report on internal control over financial reporting and compliance, with associated audit findings…

HAWAII

Audit alleges $155M investment in Hawaii Medicaid enrollment system failed to meet goal
Pacific Business News

A state audit released Wednesday alleges a federal and state $155 million investment into Hawaii's Medicaid enrollment system does not meet federal goals of the Affordable Care Act…

IOWA

State audit finds more than $134,000 misspent by Hornick, Iowa, city officials
The Sioux City Journal

City officials in Hornick did not properly account for more than $134,000 they spent between July 1, 2003, and June 30, 2014, according to a report released by the state auditor Tuesday. State Auditor Mary Mosiman said at least two former city clerks, Janet Ronfeldt and Rebecca Chan-Nelson, are connected to the improper and unsupported disbursements, which included payments to former mayors and City Council members…

State investigation of Garwin Ambulance Service checking account
Radio Iowa

The state auditor's office has reviewed the checking account for the ambulance service in a small eastern Iowa town and is raising questions about more than $13,550 worth of spending and undeposited cash…

KENTUCKY

State audit of Morgan Fiscal Court finds 'abuse of power'
WKYT – West Liberty

A state audit has concluded that hundreds of thousands of dollars in federal disaster aid are unaccounted for in Morgan County. Outgoing state Auditor Adam Edelen's report, released Monday, found evidence of "waste, fraud and abuse" in the aftermath of a 2012 tornado that devastated West Liberty. The audit found the possibility of abuse was so high it couldn't rely on the county's financial records…

LOUISIANA

Legislative Auditor claims economic development district overpaid Algiers district by millions
The Advocate

The state Department of Revenue incorrectly applied a formula and as a result overpaid the Algiers Economic Development District by $6.9 million since 2004, according to a report released Monday by Legislative Auditor Daryl Purpera…

Louisiana OMV audit: Two employees allegedly steal $200,000-plus from customers in 3 years
The Advocate

Two employees at the state's Office of Motor Vehicles allegedly stole more than $200,000 over three years in customer payments before being arrested and fired, according to a new audit of the Department of Public Safety and Corrections…

Audit: South Louisiana Community College's inadequate collection procedures leaves $2.9 million debt from students
The Advocate

Students owe South Louisiana Community College $2.9 million as a result of the college's inadequate collection procedures, a recent Louisiana Legislative Auditor's report says…

MASSACHUSETTS

State Treasurer Deb Goldberg announces pilot program for college savings accounts
The Metro West Daily News

State Treasurer Deb Goldberg, alongside legislators, business executives and community leaders, announced her office's new, first-of-its-kind pilot program for college savings accounts. Events were held at the Jacob Hiatt Magnet School and the Worcester Regional Chamber of Commerce on the college savings program named "$eedMA." "Access to an affordable higher education is imperative to strengthening Massachusetts' economy," said Goldberg. "I cannot think of a city more uniquely positioned to take on the leadership role of this college savings pilot program than Worcester. In the upcoming months, we will develop a standard that we hope can be implemented across the state."…

MICHIGAN

Independent report confirms state made mistakes, but not "intentional" ones in Flint water crisis
Michigan Radio

Preliminary findings from Michigan's independent Auditor General give more details about the Flint water crisis. In a letter to State Senator Jim Ananich, Auditor General Doug Ringler answers several key questions about the state's role in the decision to switch to the Flint River and how Michigan's Department of Environmental Quality dealt with those decisions. Ringler's review confirms it was the state appointed emergency manager who made the decision to switch to the Flint River, not city leaders. It also confirmed that Detroit's water system made offers to keep Flint as a water customer, but that a different emergency manager rejected those offers…

MISSOURI

Auditor Galloway releases Joplin municipal court audit, calls for improved data security, case tracking
Press Release

State Auditor Nicole Galloway today released an audit of the Joplin municipal court, highlighting the need for stronger oversight of clerks' actions and increased measures to ensure the security of the court's electronic data. The audit identified 120 users that had improper access to the court's electronic data. Eighty-nine of those users were former employees who no longer worked for the city or the court. The report also found the court fails to comply with state law or Joplin's city code in assessing fees totaling approximately $145,000…

NEW JERSEY

Audit Finds State Failed to Post Unclaimed Assets
NJTV News

A state audit has found New Jersey's Unclaimed Property Administration – or the UPA – failed to put more than a quarter-billion dollars in properties on its site. It's an amount that rivals the current Powerball jackpot. "They're not going to see that in the online system for whatever reason. When it was transferred over in the mid 2000s those items were improperly coded to only be part of the newsprint that was put out and not be part of the constant online system," Stephen Eells, NJ state auditor, said…

DOT Audit released
Press Release

An audit of the Department of Transportation's Maintenance and Operations program has found a potential opportunity for increasing reimbursements involving damage to state property by motor vehicle accidents…

Court Information Technology Funds audited
Press Release

An audit has found that internal controls over the expenditure process could be improved…

OREGON

Oregon Employment Department Audit: Computer Programs for Unemployment Tax Returns and Claims Need Attention
Press Release

The Oregon Employment Department computer programs correctly process most individual unemployment insurance claims and associated employer tax returns, but these outdated computer programs should be replaced. Additional work is also needed to improve security, processes for changing computer code, and disaster recovery capability…

TENNESSEE

Comptroller's Hotline Helps Protect Taxpayers
Press Release

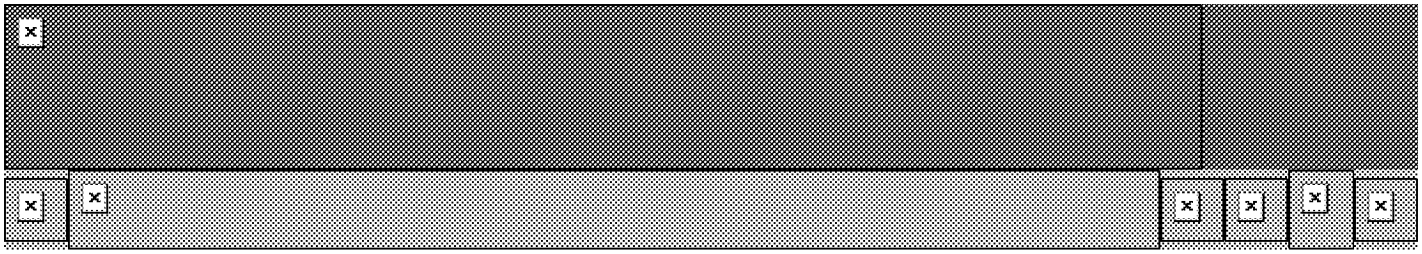
The Tennessee Comptroller's Fraud, Waste and Abuse Hotline is marking a record achievement in its effort to help uncover the misuse of government funds and property.

Confidential tips to the hotline helped to identify a record $1,112,500 in confirmed thefts, shortages and questioned costs for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2015. These tips were reported through telephone calls and online submissions to t

You are receiving this email because of your membership or affiliation with the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers. If you would like to be removed from the distribution list, please email tgrayson@nasact.org

From: Michigan Economic Development Corporation <DoNotReply@info.MichiganBusiness.org>
Sent: Thursday, April 30, 2015 1:12 PM
To: Omo, Meghann (CEPI)
Subject: MEDC Daily: GM to invest $5.4B in U.S., Michigan plants

Having trouble viewing this email? View it as a Web page. |



Growth Opportunities

- GM to invest $5.4B in U.S., Michigan plants — Read Story
  Detroit News – 04/30/2015
- GM to invest $520M at Lansing plant for new vehicles — Read Story
  Lansing State Journal, The – 04/30/2015
- Catch down, value up on commercial fishing in Michigan — Read Story
  Associated Press (AP) – 04/30/2015
- Detroit tea company is steeped in faith, family recipe — Read Story
  Detroit Free Press – 04/30/2015
- Sakthi to transform Southwestern High neighborhood — Read Story
  Detroit Free Press – 04/30/2015
- Super Bowl of conventions to hit Detroit — Read Story
  Detroit Free Press – 04/30/2015
- Dow Chemical selling AgroFresh business for $860M — Read Story
  Associated Press (AP) – 04/30/2015
- 'A heavy burden' lifted from Flint as Gov. Rick Snyder declares end of financial emergency — Read Story
  Flint Journal, The – 04/30/2015
- DSW CEO and Flint native returning to hometown to open new store — Read Story
  Flint Journal, The – 04/30/2015
- Real Seafood Co. at Uptown Bay City opens May 6; here's everything you need to know — Read Story
  Bay City Times – 04/30/2015

Talent

- Lansing Youth Startup Challenge held for student entrepreneurs. — Read Story
  WLNS-TV – 04/30/2015
- OU President Hynd voices commitment to liberal arts degree during inauguration — Read Story
  Crain's Detroit Business - Online – 04/30/2015
- CMU to offer online doctoral degree in educational technology — Read Story
  WNEM-TV – 04/30/2015

MEDC in the News

- State approves grant for Michigan Chronicle headquarters building project — Read Story
  Crain's Detroit Business – 04/30/2015
- St. Clair wins state grant for plaza — Read Story
  Port Huron Times Herald – 04/30/2015

Beyond Michigan

- Michigan-based SpartanNash buying N. Dakota chain — Read Story
  Associated Press (AP) – 04/30/2015
- Applications for unemployment aid plunge to 15-year low — Read Story
  Associated Press – 04/30/2015

Do not respond to this email. To contact MEDC, visit our website at http://www.michigan.org, http://www.MichiganBusiness.org or http://www.MiTalent.org.

This communication was sent to you because you requested email communications from the MEDC. To ensure that you receive future emails, please add DoNotReply@info.michiganbusiness.org to your safe senders list.

To unsubscribe or to update your subscriptions, modify your password or email address at any time visit your Subscriber Preferences Page. You will need to use your email address to log in. If you have questions or problems with the subscription service, please contact subscriberhelp.govdelivery.com.

This service is provided to you at no charge by Michigan Economic Development Corporation. Do not respond to this email.

This email was sent to omom@michigan.gov , on behalf of: Michigan Economic Development Corporation · 300 N. Washington Sq. · Lansing, MI 48913 · 888-522-0103

From: theSkimm <dailyskimm@morning7.theskimm.com>
Sent: Wednesday, December 16, 2015 7:09 AM
To: Pelfery, Shelley (DTMB)
Subject: Daily Skimm: You smell like pine needles

Is this email not displaying correctly? View it in your browser.

Skimm for December 16th

Skimm'd over sushi and politics

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"I find you very screwable" — Barbara Walters beating around the bush with Bradley Cooper. Get it, Babs.

SKIMM THIS DECK THE POLLS

THE STORY

At their fifth debate last night, GOP candidates spread hope and good holiday cheer over talks about terrorism and national security crises.

WHAT DO I NEED TO KNOW?

That this was the first debate since the terror attacks in Paris, and this month's shooting in San Bernardino, CA. And that it kept viewers riveted over things like "metadata." Other table topics included how much the US gov. should be able to spy on American citizens, what to do with Syrian refugees , and how to generally deal with the hot mess that is ISIS.

BREAK IT DOWN.

Gov. John Kasich (OH)…as in the one whose daughter just wants everyone to get along. He wants to know why global leaders just went to Paris to talk about climate change when they should have been figuring out how to take down ISIS.

Carly Fiorina…as in the one who's "been called every B-word in the book." She once stopped a truck full of equipment for the NSA — because why not? — and thinks Silicon Valley would help the US gov. with cyber security if the gov. says "please" and "thank you."

Sen. Marco Rubio (FL)…as in the one who thinks Americans who join ISIS don't need to be read their Miranda rights. He questioned why Cruz once voted to rein in the NSA. But he doesn't want to talk about it too much because…Shhh classified.

Dr. Ben Carson…as in the one who started with a moment of silence. And kept it going all night. After complaining about not getting enough time, he got asked whether he'd be "OK with the deaths of thousands of innocent children and civilians" in the fight against ISIS. It got awkward.

Donald Trump…as in the one who wants to peneirate…the internet. In between telling Bush that his campaign is a massive fail, Trump also had a bone to pick with CNN moderators, who he said were too busy pitting him, Bush, and everyone else against each other.

Sen. Ted Cruz (TX)…as in the one who got put in timeout after talking out of turn. He really likes calling ISIS 'the bad guys,' and says the moderate rebels the US is trying to arm in the Mideast are "purple unicorns." Which apparently don't exist. Dreams, crushed.

Fmr. Gov. Jeb Bush (FL)…as in the one who finally stood up to the Trump in the room. He says Trump can't just insult his way into the White House, and the US needs "serious" leadership.

Gov. Chris Christie (NJ)…as in the one who wants to remind you that the world is real scary right now. And he thinks President Obama is a "feckless weakling" for his strategy against ISIS. He wants a no-fly zone over Syria, and thinks the president should be someone who used to be a federal prosecutor. PS: He used to be a federal prosecutor.

Sen. Rand Paul (KY)…as in the one who thinks Trump's proposal to crush ISIS by killing their family members is a little thing called 'unconstitutional.' He also thinks Christie's proposal for a no-fly zone in Syria would create World War III. Ain't nobody got time for that.

theSKIMM

Welcome to what may be the biggest issue of this election: national security. Last night was the last GOP debate this year, and the one that felt the most like a job interview. Since 'keep me safe' is high up on the list of things everyone cares about.

SKIMM THIS

REPEAT AFTER ME…

WHAT PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT…

LA. Yesterday, public schools there were closed following a "credible threat." Officials later said 'false alarm,' it appeared to be a hoax. With everyone on edge following the Paris attacks last month and the San Bernardino shootings just two weeks ago, LA officials didn't respond kindly to getting a threatening email from someone claiming to be an extremist who planned to target schools with explosives. Cue schools closing. NYC officials said they got a similar email, but decided it was a hoax and kept schools open. There's an investigation looking into where the threat came from.

WHAT TO SAY WHEN EVERYONE'S GETTING SICK AT WORK...

Something in the water? There is in Flint, Michigan. Earlier this week, the mayor there declared a state of emergency to bring attention to the city's water problems. Last year, Flint left the Detroit water system to save some cash. The city started taking water from the Flint River, and said the move would be temporary. But people started saying their water looked and smelled weird. Not good. And then children's blood tests started showing elevated levels of lead. Really not good. Especially because lead can affect brain development and cause behavioral changes. A few months ago, the city said 'our bad,' and switched back to the Detroit water system. But some people are saying 'too late,' the damage is done. The mayor's hoping a state of emergency will mean federal help. Paging Erin Brockovich.

SKIMM THIS

WHAT TO SAY WHEN YOU FINALLY DECIDE ON A PLAN IN THE GROUP TEXT...

That's my #Squad. Yesterday, Saudi Arabia announced it's forming a squad of mostly Muslim countries to fight against terrorism. The coalition includes places like Egypt, Qatar, the UAE, Turkey, Malaysia, and Pakistan. Their goal: An "Islamic military alliance" to hate on terrorists. They'd also really like to make sure everyone knows that all Muslims are not extremists, and that they want ISIS gone just as much as everyone else. Who's not part of Saudi Arabia's #squadgoals? Iran. That's because Saudi Arabia and Iran - top powers in the Mideast - like each other as much as you like getting socks for Christmas. And they have very different ideas for how things like the Syrian Civil War should end up. This new coalition is a big step in getting Arab countries more involved in the US-led fight against terror, especially ISIS. Go team.

SKIMM THIS

WHAT TO SAY TO YOUR NIECE WHO JUST FOUND OUT ABOUT SANTA...

It's OK. The Nazi gold train isn't real either. For decades, legend's had it that at the end of WWII, a Nazi train carrying stolen art and gold disappeared into a tunnel system in Poland. Then, earlier this year, two "hobbyist treasure hunters" said the Nazi train was real and that they knew where it was. After almost four months of some serious investigating, a team of scientists are saying 'yeah, no.' But the hobbyists aren't giving up. They say it's definitely there and you should believe the hype. K.

SKIMM THIS

WHAT TO SAY TO YOUR FRIEND FROM HIGH SCHOOL...

Lily van der Woodsen is having a tough week.

SKIMM THIS

THING TO KNOW

Kristaps Porzingis: The Latvian NBA rookie who's winning over NY Knicks fans, one three-pointer at a time. Nicknames include 'Zingis Khan' and 'the Latviathan.' PS, it's pronounced kri-stops pour-zin-gas. PPS, he's taller than you.

SKIMM THIS

12 DAYS OF SKIMM'NESS

On the twelfth day of Skimm'ness..???.you remembered you need something for your boss.

- ???These blankets will get you a raise. The only question you have to ask is: to monogram, or not to monogram? ???
- Oh by the way, here are gifts for everyone else on your list.
- PS: this is an affiliate partner, which means if you buy it, theSkimm gets some cash money. Thanks.

SKIMM SHARE

Aloha. Last day to win a trip to Hawaii. This is not a drill. The more you share, the better chance you have to win. Details on sharing here. Share using the button below.

SKIMM BIRTHDAY

indicates Skimm'bassador. Get out the party hats.

Claire Oetinger (New York, NY); Christine Hsiao (Chicago, IL); Natalie Snow (Hollywood, FL); Christa Carone (Hingham, MA); Hillary Foss (Santa Barbara, CA); Katrina Miaoulis (Boston, MA); Britt Hegarty (Chicago, IL); Annie Rauscher (New York, NY); Natalie

Lenz (Madison, WI); Christie Eckerline (Lexington, KY); Lindsey Kaufman (Brooklyn, NY); Callie McQuaig (Jackson, MS); Safiya Nanji (Toronto, Canada); * Caroline Meyerson (Austin, TX); Arthi Narayanan (Pittsburgh, PA); Matt Judson (New York, NY); Matt Roberts (Columbus, OH); Julia Greco (Washington, DC); Elisabeth Tone (New York, NY); Alicia Beckett (Seattle, WA); Gardie Ashforth (New York, NY); Aaron Kopolow (Westfield, NJ); Samara Bliss (New York, NY); Natalie Newton (Atlanta, GA); Verónica Weiss (Uruguay); Arianna Shaw (Columbus, OH); Brooke Bagby (Houston, TX); Julia Buckingham (Chicago, IL); Maureen Levy (Chicago, IL); Spencer Kurn (New York, NY); Ben Forman (San Francisco, CA): Rochelle Bent (Washington, DC); Susan Blevins (Portland, OR); Hillary McDaniel (Santa Barbara, CA); Courtney Mullinax (Atlanta, GA; Kerri Aidikoff (New York, NY)

Skimm'd something we missed?

Email SkimmThis@theSkimm.com • Read in browser »

SHARE & FOLLOW US

Copyright © 2015 theSkimm, All rights reserved.

Our mailing address is:

theSkimm Inc.

584 Broadway, Ste. 409

New York, NY, 10012, United States

Update Profile

Unsubscribe

From: Purdy, Laurie (CEPI)
Sent: Thursday, November 19, 2015 8:16 AM
To: Howell, Thomas (CEPI)
Subject: Calley Signs EO To Aide Employment Of Those With Disabilities
Attachments: Nov18.htm; 151118dayplan.htm

EO duly noted. Includes individuals with physical and mental disabilities.

From: Gongwer News Service [mailto:gongwerreports@gongwer.com]
Sent: Wednesday, November 18, 2015 10:07 PM
To: Purdy, Laurie (CEPI) <purdyl@michigan.gov>
Subject: Michigan Report, Wednesday, November 18, 2015

Michigan Report for Wednesday, November 18, 2015

DPS Coalition Hopeful Legislation Can Clear Senate This Year

Clinton Encourages Public Service For Good Of National, International Future

Fracking Opponents Still Way Short Of Ballot Access

AG Loses Appeal On Rate Recovery Factors Involving PSC, Utilities

Gaming Director Seeks Stronger Laws After Embezzlement Charges

Dem Forms Committee To Challenge Bizon

Kildee Pushes More Testing, Disclosure In New Federal Lead/Copper Rule

Calley Signs EO To Aide Employment Of Those With Disabilities

Schuette Calls For Halting Syrian Refugee Process Pending Review

Unemployment Remains At 5% In October

Civil Rights Commission Urges Against Backlash From Terrorist Attacks

Capital Notebook

Campaign Notes

Capital Notebook

Supplemental Event Planner

Calendars

Day Planner

Please send all correspondence to gongwer@gongwer.com This mailbox is not regularly monitored.

Copyright, 2015, Gongwer News Service, Inc. All Rights Reserved. This message and any attachments may not be forwarded or reproduced without express permission from Gongwer News Service.

Volume #54, Report #228 -- Wednesday, November 18, 2015

DPS Coalition Hopeful Legislation Can Clear Senate This Year

Although the conversation and subsequent action has not happened as quickly as those with the Coalition for the Future of Detroit Schoolchildren had originally hoped, leaders of the group are still optimistic bills will be introduced and clear the Senate in the nine days left of session.

On Wednesday, coalition leaders held a press conference in Lansing to preview some findings from a Skillman Foundation-commissioned study looking at what it will take to advance the recommendations put together by the group last March.

Tonya Allen, a coalition co-chair and Skillman Foundation president and CEO, said the study was commissioned about three months ago.

Other coalition leaders at the press conference included John Rakolta Jr., who is also CEO of Walbridge; David Hecker, president of AFT Michigan; Clark Durant, co-founder of Cornerstone Schools; and former Rep. Thomas Stallworth, who is an advisor for the group. All said they were hopeful legislation would be introduced in the Senate on or around December 1, when the Legislature returns for its nine remaining days of session for 2015.

Mr. Stallworth said there are a variety of concerns that have led to the bills not being introduced. He said the coalition is working tirelessly with all involved with a goal to get the introduced legislation as close to the coalition's recommendations as possible.

For example, the coalition recommended Detroit Public Schools to immediately go back to a local elected school board. However, some legislators want a transition period and recommended seven years. { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } made a similar recommendation in his plan for the district.

Mr. Stallworth said that is too long and will not get support from Democratic members. So, looking for an agreeable transitioning period is one point of negotiations. He said it is important to those involved that the package be bipartisan.

Another is the Detroit Education Commission. The coalition would like the Detroit mayor to have the majority of appointees. Legislation that has been drafted grants the governor the majority of the members, in line with his recommendations.

Mr. Stallworth also said the process should not be used as a wedge against collective bargaining rights. He was not specific, but said there were some issues regarding collective bargaining that have been mostly solved.

Mr. Stallworth said he would like to see something through the Legislature by February. He said some are saying March, but that makes him "real nervous."

Mr. Rakolta acknowledged that other topics, like the DEC and transitioning periods, are being negotiated. But said the real problem legislators do not have a clear answer on is the money.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } is calling for $715 million during 10 years.

Mr. Rakolta said the state has a choice: to figure out how to make the money portion work, or allow the schools to collapse, a bankruptcy equivalent. He said the state would be on the hook for much of the debt if that happened.

He also said it's up to legislators to decide where that money comes from, School Aid Fund or otherwise.

"This is what they were elected to solve for us," he said. "They need to put their own election below this decision. They have to come to the debate with what they really believe, in their heart, and what's really right for the state of Michigan, and let the chips fall where they may."

Ms. Allen said she is optimistic legislators will "see the light of day on this." And she said she has been impressed with leadership from both parties.

Ms. Allen also said philanthropy will not be used to pay off the debt that was mismanaged by state and local government. She said it is projected to take $350 million at least during the 10 years after a fix is put in place to get schools where they need to be.

She also said students in Detroit need many wrap around services, and that is where the Skillman Foundation and others will put their money.

Mr. Stallworth said there is some pushback from legislators asking why their districts should have to pay $50 per pupil toward Detroit. Mr. Stallworth said the plan actually is a bailout for the state, which would be on the hook for hundreds of millions in DPS pension obligations if the district were to financially collapse.

"Quite frankly, this is a little like Titanic heading for the iceberg," he said.

Ms. Allen said if nothing is done, the cost will be $300 per student.

While the coalition has waited for action in the Legislature, it has also looked at what it will take to move to a more coherent system of schools. The study commissioned by the Skillman Foundation and done by a Boston based company, Parthenon EY, looks at just that.

The full study is not yet released, but will be in parts to legislators as questions come up. The full study will be released in 2016.

The study showed a need to recruit and develop 10,000 teachers and 350 principals during the next 10 years in both traditional and charter schools.

That will be a challenge because DPS is paying its teachers less than surrounding districts. The average salary for Detroit teachers is $57,800 per year, with new teachers earning about $33,000 per year.

"Ask yourself how a person lives on $33,000 a year. Being a college graduate," Mr. Rakolta said.

The average salary for Oak Park teachers is $60,900 per year, $75,500 in Allen Park and $69,100 in Dearborn Heights, according to data from the coalition.

Ms. Allen said the DPS salaries are not competitive and it is about finding and retaining talent in the district.

On how this relates to the legislation expected to help solve the DPS issue, Mr. Rakolta said the district currently does not have enough money to pay its teachers, let alone hire new teachers. He said if the debt situation is solved, the other problems can be more easily addressed.

The study also found a strong and unbiased emphasis on balancing the number of quality classroom seats in different neighborhoods with the neighborhood's population.

Data provided showed the 7th and 4th Detroit City Council districts had thousands of more children in their population than available seats.

And in the 5th and 6th city council districts, classroom capacity is significantly higher than the population.

The final finding of the study shared was a projection that the implementation of the coalition's "roadmap" would lead to "substantial" academic gains estimated at a 25 percent increase in proficiency during the next 10 years. The coalition said this would "rival the most successful education reforms."

Clinton Encourages Public Service For Good Of National, International Future

EAST LANSING - The reason you should do public service is because we're going to share the world whether we like it or not, and only we can determine the terms on which the sharing proceeds, former President Bill Clinton told a crowd of more than 500 students, faculty and state public servants prior to receiving the first ever Spartan Statesmanship Award for Distinguished Public Service.

The award was given to Mr. Clinton by his good friend and Spartan alumnus, former Michigan Governor Jim Blanchard, who also debuted the first Jim Blanchard Public Service Forum at his alma mater.

Mr. Clinton - who blended his speech with stories from his time in office with the wisdom he gained from every experience - also urged people to consider public service even if they never run for office, saying it is an integral part of being a citizen.

"I would argue that in the world we live in today, we all need to think of some way to do public service, even as private citizens, to advance the public good," he said.

But to do that, Mr. Clinton said, individuals had to conquer four basic principles. The first, he said, was to have "an almost obsessive interest in people." He said every person has a story to tell, and every person wants their story to be heard.

"A lot of the protest groups you see around the world today ... are from people who feel they are not seen, much less heard," he said.

To that end, he reminisced about his experience in parts of central and east Africa, where he learned that people do not respond to the question of how they are doing with "I'm fine," but rather what translates to "I see you," even if they have never met that person before.

"It immediately confers dignity and respect, and makes a statement not just to the person who is hearing it but who is saying it," Mr. Clinton said. "Even the people we know who are the most enlightened and most concerned about people overlook the fact that they're just people."

The second important thing to not when undertaking a career in public service, Mr. Clinton said, was to decide what your purpose is, and to remember that "the larger purpose should be you empower people to live the best story of their lives."

Similarly, the third component is to ensure the policies you adopt are adopted to meet your purpose, but to also be sure you hear out other perspectives in the process.

"Sometimes we think we know what the best thing to do is, but it's not," Mr. Clinton said, going on to quote a book that concluded diverse, big groups always make better decisions than small, homogeneous groups. "If you get into public service and decide what you want to do, you've got to come up with the right policy, and you've got to have continuous feedback."

Finally, the former president urged, is for individuals to care about politics in the broadest sense, because getting too caught up in one section of politics overlooks another side of it.

"If you get the people, purpose, policy and politics right, you can make a huge difference in the world, even if you never get elected to anything," Mr. Clinton said. "There are very few final victories or defeat (in public service, but you have to keep bending the arc of history in the right direction."

He commented briefly on current public affairs - namely the terrorist attacks in Paris. He said he wants ISIS, the terrorist group that claimed responsibility for the attacks, defeated as much as anyone else, but it is also important for public servants of any age to remember the good that his happening too.

"The job of public service, even by a private citizen ... is to pick some space, no matter how small, and do public good," he said. "What works is creative cooperation - constant conflict is a political loser."

And Mr. Blanchard agreed.

"(It's) so polarizing and difficult to run for office, to serve in office, and of course I think term limits make it even harder here because people are always thinking about what office they can run for," Mr. Blanchard said, speaking to reporters after the speech. "But the need for good people in politics has never been greater, so I'm glad and happy and proud Bill Clinton talked about that, because the need for good people in politics, in both parties, of all ideologies, has never been greater."

He said he expects to extend the award to not just those who are serving or who have served in political office, but also to journalists and authors.

"I think oftentimes people who write about politics, government, about public service, can be more instructive than those who are living the life," he said.

Mr. Blanchard said he was impressed by how worldly Mr. Clinton still is, that he's still in public service despite not holding an official title. But more than that, Mr. Blanchard said he hopes the speech energized some of the students that were in the crowd.

"I always found when I heard an interesting speaker of prominence when I was young, it would make me more interested in reading about it, following things, getting involved, and I think that's our goal here is to encourage public service in a number of fashions," he said.

Mr. Clinton concluded his roughly 45-minute speech by quoting the author of the book The Social Conquest of Earth, E.O. Wilson. In short, he said the book was about the history of all life on the planet, and how the most successful species were ants, termites and people, because they are the greatest cooperators. But while people were the greatest cooperators, they were also the greatest risk, he said, because of their consciousness and conscience.

"Wilson, who spent most of his life warning us about species destruction ... says 'On balance, I'm optimistic because of our consciousness and our conscience,'" Mr. Clinton said. "The reason you should do public service is because we're going to share the world whether we like it or not and only we can determine the terms on which the sharing proceeds. "

Fracking Opponents Still Way Short Of Ballot Access

Supporters of a measure to ban hydraulic fracturing to extract oil and natural gas in the state are still hoping to be on the ballot in 2016, but they announced at a Lansing press conference Wednesday that they have again fallen short.

With the first six months passed, and some of their signatures now expiring, the Committee to Ban Fracking in Michigan announced it had collected 150,000 signatures. The group must have signatures from at least 252,523 registered voters for the proposal to go before the Legislature.

"This is more than doubled in size from two years ago, LuAnn Kozma, campaign director, said. But she acknowledged it was still more than 100,000 signatures short of the required minimum and substantially short of the number most petition drives consider necessary to overcome invalid signatures.

The Michigan Oil and Gas Association said the announcement shows the lack of support for a ban.

"It is clear that more Michigan's citizens welcome the benefits of U.S. produced energy, including the natural gas and oil produced right here in Michigan by Michigan companies that are committed to making these energy resources available for use, while also keeping the environment and communities safe," the group said in a statement. "We are pleased that efforts to engage the public around the benefits of hydraulic fracturing have been successful in turning voters away again from signing petitions that would put a hydraulic fracturing ban on the ballot next year."

Ms. Kozma said the key hurdle the group faces is the state's stringent petition requirements. "We have enough signatures to get on the ballot in Colorado," she said.

The group is going to continue to collect signatures with hope of having enough by the June 1 filing deadline for the 2016 ballot, but is also working to attract more volunteers, Ms. Kozma said.

"If a group of 500 people can gather 150,000 signatures on a shoestring, a group of 1,500 with more financial support could get us over the top," she said.

Mr. Kozma said the group had paid for some signatures, but was working more with individual circulators than with a circulation firm.

The group also announced backing from the Michigan Nurses Association, as well as polling that showed opposition to fracking growing in the state. The Public Policy Polling survey conducted November 5-8 showed 49 percent supporting the ban and 36 percent opposed. In a May poll, 44 percent supported the ban and 39 percent opposed.

The polls did not list margins of error, but the November poll had 624 respondents and May had 855.

AG Loses Appeal On Rate Recovery Factors Involving PSC, Utilities

The attorney general failed to show clear and satisfactory evidence that the Public Service Commission, in approving three separate amended rate recovery cases, had unlawfully or unreasonably issued its orders in each case, the Court of Appeals found in a case released Wednesday.

In a published per curiam decision by Judge Michael Gadola, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=108801&locid=1" } and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=109001&locid=1" }, the court determined the PSC did in fact act in a lawful manner when Consumers Energy, Michigan Gas and DTE each applied in for approval of their respective recovery plans for the period ending in March 2015 (COA { HYPERLINK "http://publicdocs.courts.mi.gov:81/OPINIONS/FINAL/COA/20151117_C322031_36_322031.OPN.PDF" \t "blank" }).

In December 2013, each company had applied - in their own case - to the PSC for approval of a base recovery factor at one rate with the authority to adjust the recovery factor on the basis of a contingency mechanism that it later needed when, in March 2014, each company sought a temporary order to approve an increased recovery factor.

Recovery factors, and by extension recovery plans, are sought by a utility when they provided more energy than was originally predicted for a particular season and therefore did not charge ratepayers an adequate amount to provide such energy. In Consumers' case, for instance, it needed a higher recovery factor as a result of increases in the demand for natural gas caused in part by colder-than-normal temperatures in Michigan and other parts of the nation.

But the attorney general and Residential Ratepayers Consortium filed, and were granted, petitions to intervene in each case, arguing the Commission did not have the authority to approve the increased factor on a temporary basis and should not approve requests by each company to roll the projected under-recovery from the period covered by the 2013-2014 plan into the recovery plan for the 2014-2015 plan year.

Still, the PSC went ahead and granted the utilities' requests and issued a temporary order approving the increased recovery factor, stating the record supporting a finding that natural gas prices had risen significantly since, in the Consumers Energy case, the company filed its initial application.

And the court sided with the PSC in the joint case.

"Although the Legislature apparently contemplated that a utility might file a 'revised gas cost recovery plan' after the commission entered a final order in the contested case, it did not require the utility to wait until the commission enters a final order before submitting a revised plan or proposing changes to a plan under review," the court wrote. "In addition, the reference to a revised plan does not require the utility begin anew; a revised plan can be a previously submitted plan with specific proposed revisions.

Therefore, a utility can propose changes or revisions to an application before the commission approves, disapproves, or amends the plan in a final order," the court found.

It also determined the roll-in method used by the PSC was indeed lawful.

Gaming Director Seeks Stronger Laws After Embezzlement Charges

The state needs stricter controls over charity gaming to prevent abuse of those fundraisers, Gaming Board Director Richard Kalm said after announcing embezzlement and gaming charges against a former teacher and coach.

Timothy Phipps of Flint, former Kearsley High School physical education teacher and baseball coach, was arraigned November 13 on charges related to charity gaming events he ran or coordinated between 2009 and 2013.

Mr. Phipps allegedly ran, or paid others to run, 49 charity games on behalf of various schools in the district over that period. Investigators said 22 of those were approved based on forged signatures from school officials. And he allegedly pocketed some $17,000 of the proceeds from those games.

"He was able to get 22 millionaire party licenses by misrepresenting himself and allegedly raised thousands of dollars for his personal use," Mr. Kalm said. "We need stronger laws to make sure this doesn't happen in charity gaming. Criminal and civil penalties are necessary to weed out unscrupulous people and prevent them from tainting the good works and fundraising capabilities of legitimate charities."

Mr. Kalm said none of the school officials are implicated in the scheme, but Mr. Phipps faces up to five years in prison and fines of three times the amount he allegedly took for the embezzlement charge and up to six months in jail and $1,000 in fines for each of two charges of unlawful use of charity gaming proceeds.

Dem Forms Committee To Challenge Bizon

Democrat and Calhoun County Commissioner Jim Haadsma of Battle Creek created a campaign committee to run in the 62nd House District this week, where { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=355401&locid=1" } (R-Battle Creek) is serving his first term.

Mr. Haadsma on Wednesday would not say he is running for the seat just yet and said he will make an official announcement when he decides.

The 62nd District, while competitive, has one of the strongest Democratic bases of a seat now held by a Republican. Democrats are expected to fiercely contest it in 2016.

Mr. Haadsma said he is more connected with the district than Mr. Bizon and he does think the first termer is vulnerable. The Michigan Democratic Party has recently attacked Mr. Bizon on his vote for the Republican road funding plan that dedicates $600 million of General Fund dollars to roads and increases fuel taxes and registration fees.

"I don't think Dr. Bizon, before becoming a representative, was as involved in the community as a representative ought to be," Mr. Haadsma said, pointing out his own experience as a county commissioner. "I think that he perhaps isn't the representative to whom people might go with issues like they would come to me."

Mr. Haadsma joined McCroskey Law, a regional law firm specializing in labor relations and workers' compensation, and has been a partner at McCroskey since 1992. He has served as county commissioner since 2008.

Kildee Pushes More Testing, Disclosure In New Federal Lead/Copper Rule

As the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency updates its Lead and Copper Rule, it has to require communities to conduct more testing and release more testing results, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=306801&locid=1" } said in testimony Wednesday to the National Drinking Water Advisory Council.

Mr. Kildee said both state and federal officials were at fault in the process that resulted in excessive lead levels in Flint drinking water after the city converted to a new water source.

"What happened in Flint is a failure of government," Mr. Kildee (D-Flint) said. "People expected that the government at multiple levels would be able to protect them by making sure that the water that they drink is healthy for them, and the government failed them."

Mr. Kildee said the rule should have required sufficient testing to show that the Flint River water would cause the problems it did, and should have required the city to implement anti-corrosion protocols to make that water safe.

"Something that back home seems unfathomable, to go from a source that is derived from the greatest freshwater source on the planet, surface freshwater source, the Great Lakes, to the Flint River, which, if you live in my hometown at the time seemed almost like the punchline to a joke," he said. "The notion that that wouldn't trigger a much more robust analysis of what that water consisted of, and what that would mean in terms of treatment required, is almost beyond reason."

Residents also should have been told why state officials ignored warnings from water system experts that there were problems.

"This new Lead and Copper Rule must have greater transparency in order to restore public confidence and protect public health and ensure the safety of drinking water," he said. "Residents deserve to know why for months the state of Michigan failed to follow federal safe drinking water laws. At my request, the EPA is conducting a complete audit of Michigan's implementation of the Lead and Copper Rule, so I hope some of the lessons learned during that audit can be included in the latest revisions of this Lead and Copper Rule."

Calley Signs EO To Aide Employment Of Those With Disabilities

State departments and agencies that provide services and support to those with disabilities as well as economic development and employment services will adopt the Employment First model that emphasizes competitive employment in an integrated setting for persons with disabilities under an executive order signed Wednesday by { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151301&locid=1" }.

Mr. Calley signed the executive order because { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } is in Nevada for the Republican Governors Association meeting. Mr. Calley also has championed the cause of persons with disabilities during his time in office.

"Employment First encourages workplace diversity and enhances economic development while further designating Michigan as an equal opportunity state," Mr. Calley said in a statement. "Michiganders with all abilities deserve to live independent, self-determined lives. The ability to work leads to enhanced social interaction, community involvement and economic independence, and a sense of pride that all people desire."

The executive order ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.michigan.gov/documents/snyder/EO_2015-15_506303_7.pdf" \t "blank" }) also requires departments and agencies to share data to track progress on the issue. The State Rehabilitation Council will oversee implementation.

Schuette Calls For Halting Syrian Refugee Process Pending Review

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=77201&locid=1" } said Wednesday that the United States should stop admitting Syrian refugees into the country until the government conducts a review of its processes.

It is a similar message as the one taken by { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" }, who on Saturday said the state would pause its efforts with nonprofit service agencies to bring Syrian refugees until the U.S. Department of Homeland Security completed a review. Mr. Snyder sent a letter to the federal government asking for the review following terrorist attacks in Paris and Lebanon.

"America must have a hopeful immigration policy," Mr. Schuette said in a post on his Facebook page. "At the same time, given the recent attacks of global terrorism, we must halt the Syrian refugee process until a full and complete review of all background protocols and procedures is completed in order to protect the safety and security of our citizenry and our nation, which is the first job of the federal government."

Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson strongly called for Pontiac to cease its efforts to bring Syrian refugees to the city.

"Any program such as the acceptance of refugees from Syria under current conditions constitutes an immediate threat of imminent danger," Mr. Patterson said in a statement. "I am not overreacting to the tragedy that befell Paris. I am pointing out that lax immigration policies contributed to this terror."

Unemployment Remains At 5% In October

Michigan's unemployment rate did not change in October, holding at 5 percent, according to the Department of Technology, Management and Budget.

During the month, employment rose by 9,000 and unemployment rose by 3,000. The labor force increased by 13,000.

At 5 percent, Michigan's unemployment rate was the same as the U.S. unemployment rate for the month.

The monthly survey of employers showed seasonally adjusted Michigan payroll jobs rose in October by 14,000 to 4.277 million. Gains occurred in government (6,000), education and health services (5,000) and professional and business services (2,000). The only notable decline came in manufacturing (-2,000), which DTMB attributed to short-term layoffs in the auto sector.

The unemployment rate for the Detroit-Warren-Livonia market rose by 0.2 percentage point for the month, to 5.7 percent.

Civil Rights Commission Urges Against Backlash From Terrorist Attacks

The Civil Rights Commission issued a statement Wednesday condemning the recent attacks in Paris and Beirut, but urged Michigan residents against taking out anger over those attacks on those of Arab descent living in the state.

"We offer our deepest condolences and support to the families of those lost and to those harmed by these horrific acts," the commission said. "And yet, we now have another task before us. We must rally around our friends and neighbors - regardless of their religion or ethnicity - to protect them from the hateful response that these attacks may trigger."

The commission said it stood by its July resolution supporting the Take on Hate campaign.

"Michigan's hardworking Middle Eastern, Arab American and Muslim families are fearful tonight, for nothing more than identifying with their own culture and practicing their own faith," the commission said. "This fear for their most basic of rights should not happen anywhere, but especially not in the United States of America - a country founded on freedom of religion, and built firmly on the bedrock of individual liberty. We cannot allow misinformation, bias and discriminatory rhetoric to alter what we stand for and who we are."

Capital Notebook

WOLF DELISTING: A group of wolf experts urged U.S. Interior Secretary Sally Jewell to again try removing gray wolves, at least those in the Great Lakes states, from the federal endangered species list.

The group, which included David Mech of the University of Minnesota, author of The Wolves of Isle Royale, said the wolves have recovered in the region.

"We believe that failure to delist wolves in these states is counterproductive to wolf conservation there and elsewhere where suitable habitat may exist," the letter said. "The integrity and effectiveness of the ESA is undercut if delisting does not happen once science-based recovery has been achieved."

Wolves have been delisted several times in recent years, but returned to the list by courts.

POLL: VOTERS FAVOR 50% INCREASE IN CIGARETTE TAX: Sixty percent of voters support increasing the state's cigarette tax from $2 to $3 per pack, according to a poll commissioned by several health groups.

The survey, conducted by EPIC/MRA and commissioned by the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network in partnership with the American Lung Association, American Heart Association and Michigan State Medical Society. The poll was conducted among 600 registered voters from October 25-31 and has an error margin of plus or minus 4 percentage points.

"Michigan's tobacco epidemic is fueled by a tax that hasn't been increased in 11 years," Andrew Schepers, Michigan government relations director for ACS CAN, said in a statement. "Evidence shows that regular and significant tobacco tax increases encourage smokers to quit or cut down their use, and keep kids from ever picking up a cigarette. But an unchanged tax rate lessens that impact, especially as new tobacco products become increasingly popular."

MML SPONSORING LOCAL ELECTED OFFICIAL TRAINING: The Michigan Municipal League is sponsoring training sessions for elected local officials. The trainings are November 18 in Ferrysburg, December 1 in Grayling, December 9 in Lansing, December 10 in Southfield, December 16 in Birch Run and January 20 in Ann Arbor. Details are available at { HYPERLINK "http://www.mml.org/events/calendar.htm" \t "blank" }.

Each session runs from 5:30-9 p.m. and covers the basic functions new and returning elected officials will need to know.

Campaign Notes

DRISKELL ENDORSEMENTS: The United Auto Workers has endorsed { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=318101&locid=1" } (D-Saline) in her challenge to { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=87801&locid=1" } (R-Tipton) in the 7th U.S. House District.

"Service to her community has always been a driving force for Gretchen. Time and again, Gretchen has been a strong advocate for working Americans on countless issues - including the basic rights to safe working conditions, collective bargaining, and higher wages," Rory Gamble, UAW 1A regional director, said in a statement announcing the endorsement. "And just as she has stood with working families in the past, we know she will continue to do so when elected to Congress."

PAVLOV, MITCHELL BOTH 'YOUNG GUNS': Both { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=93801&locid=1" } (R-Saint Clair) and business executive Paul Mitchell have qualified as "On the Radar" for the National Republican Congressional Committee Young Guns program in their runs for the party's nomination in the 10th U.S. House District.

The program, which recognizes campaign activity for challengers or candidates in open seats, provides qualifying candidates with some additional national exposure and some assistance from the national committee.

Capital Notebook

SHIAWASSEE COUNTY CHILD CARE SUSPENSION: The Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs, Bureau of Community and Health Systems, has suspended and issued a notice of intent to revoke the certificate registration of a Shiawassee County family child care home provider, Alysse Crum, upon an investigation into a complaint lodged with the business at 13334 Jennifer Drive in Perry.

The complaint investigation found violations of the Child Care Organizations Act and/or administrative rules regarding caregiver suitability, appropriate care and supervision, and safe sleeping and play equipment.

Effective November 16, 2015, the suspension order prohibits Ms. Crum from operating a family child care home at the aforementioned address or at any other address or location. She also may not accept children for care after that date and must inform all of the parents of children in her care that her certificate of registration has been suspended and that she can no longer provide child care.

Supplemental Event Planner

Wednesday, December 2

House { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=288901&locid=1" } (R) PAC fundraiser, Michigan Health and Hospital Association, 110 West Michigan Avenue, Suite 1200, Lansing, 7:30 a.m.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=322301&locid=1" } (D) fundraiser, Michigan Municipal League, 208 North Capitol Avenue, First Floor, Lansing, 8 a.m.

Rep. Ed Canfield (R) fundraiser, Michigan Restaurant Association, 225 West Washtenaw Street, Lansing, 12 p.m.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=356701&locid=1" } (R) fundraiser, The Exchange, 314 East Michigan Avenue, Lansing, 4:30 p.m.

Rep. Brad Jacobsen (R) PAC fundraiser, Karoub Associates, 121 West Allegan Street, Lansing, 5 p.m.

Thursday, December 3

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=104001&locid=1" } (D) fundraiser, Michigan Municipal League, 208 North Capitol Avenue, First Floor, Lansing, 10:30 a.m.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=318601&locid=1" } (D) fundraiser, Karoub Associates, 121 West Allegan Street, Lansing, 10:30 a.m.

Tuesday, April 19

Deadline for partisan candidates to file for state and federal office, 4 p.m.

Wednesday, May 11

Michigan Soft Drink Association Annual Legislative Reception, Ninth Floor, Capitol View Building, 201 Townsend Street, Lansing, 5 p.m.

Tuesday, May 31

Detroit Regional Chamber Mackinac Policy Conference, Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island

Wednesday, June 1

Detroit Regional Chamber Mackinac Policy Conference, Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island

Deadline to file petition signatures for a voter-initiated act, 5 p.m.

Thursday, June 2

Detroit Regional Chamber Mackinac Policy Conference, Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island

Friday, June 3

Detroit Regional Chamber Mackinac Policy Conference, Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island

Monday, July 11

Deadline to file petition signatures for a constitutional amendment, 5 p.m.

Thursday, July 21

Deadline for candidates without party affiliation to file for the November general election, 4 p.m.

124 West Allegan Street, Suite 1200
Lansing Michigan 48933
Phone: 517−482−3500 | Fax: 517−482−4367 | Email: { HYPERLINK "mailto:gongwer@gongwer.com" }

{ HYPERLINK "mailto:smiller@gongwer.com" }, President | { HYPERLINK "mailto:amiller@gongwer.com" }, Vice President | { HYPERLINK "mailto:jwlindstrom@gongwer.com" }, Publisher | { HYPERLINK "mailto:zgorchow@gongwer.com" }, Editor | { HYPERLINK "mailto:demerson@gongwer.com" }, { HYPERLINK "mailto:kasbena@gongwer.com" }, { HYPERLINK "mailto:cklaver@gongwer.com" }, Staff Writers

Click the ☑ after a bill number to create a saved search and email alert for that bill.

© 2015, Gongwer News Service, Inc. Reproduction of this publication in whole or in part without the express permission of the publisher is in violation of the federal Copyright Law (17 USC 101 et seq.) as is retransmission by facsimile or any other electronic means, including electronic mail.

From: Ryal, Kelley (DTMB)
Sent: Tuesday, September 15, 2015 9:36 AM
To: Speers, Cheryl (DTMB);Rice, Amy (DTMB)
Subject: FW: Gongwer News Service Michigan Media Clips

I love John Oliver – you have to watch the link to his show below about Courser/Gamrat.

From: gongwerreports@gongwer.com [mailto:gongwerreports@gongwer.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 15, 2015 8:35 AM
To: Michigan_State_Employees_clips@gongwer.com
Subject: Gongwer News Service Michigan Media Clips

Michigan News & Opinion For September 15, 2015

News

Flint asks Snyder for $30M to upgrade water system (Associated Press, 9/15/2015)

Schuette touts success of school safety hotline (Associated Press, 9/14/2015)

Orange barrels: Should there be lights? (Detroit Free Press, 9/12/2015)

Jim Storey, Allegan County commissioner, announces candidacy for Gamrat seat (MLive, 9/14/2015)

FCA, UAW negotiate through the night with no new deal (The Detroit News, 9/15/2015)

Fields of candidates grow for seats of Courser, Gamrat (The Detroit News, 9/14/2015)

John Oliver rips Courser, Gamrat scandal on HBO show (The Detroit News, 9/14/2015)

Wage repeal group submits 390,000 petition signatures (The Detroit News, 9/14/2015)

Editorials

Mackinac pipeline helps power Michigan's industrial comeback (MLive, 9/14/2015)

Susan J. Demas: Why did the Courser-Gamrat scandal dominate headlines? (MLive, 9/15/2015)

Editor's Note: Get facts on right to work and pay (The Detroit News, 9/15/2015)

Editorial: Bring them here (The Detroit News, 9/14/2015)

Lund: Unions are Chicken Little on prevailing wage (The Detroit News, 9/14/2015)

Blogs

John Oliver Picks Up Courser, Gamrat Scandal (Gongwer News Service Michigan Blog, 9/14/2015)

Please send all correspondence to gongwer@gongwer.com This mailbox is not regularly monitored.

Copyright, 2015, Gongwer News Service, Inc. All Rights Reserved. This message and any attachments may not be forwarded or reproduced without express permission from Gongwer News Service.

City of Flint Wednesday 9:00 am Phone Conference Agenda
March 5, 2014

1) Public Safety Update – FPD, MSP (FFD if needed)

[redacted]

2) Governor's Office Update – B. Clement and/or Rich Baird, H. Hollins

3) Retiree Lawsuit – Status, Issues

[redacted]

[redacted]

4) Financial Update

[redacted]

b) Treasury when will we get approval of the budget amendment? As we go into KWA financing, we are proceeding as if the amendment is done. That is important because the amendment maintains the $1million in deficit reduction. Nearly 2 weeks and we are still awaiting a response.

[redacted]

d) Need some assistance in getting the Administrative Consent Order through the DEQ so Karegnondi Water Authority can get their bonds issued.

5) City Council Update

[redacted]

6) Blue Ribbon Committee

[redacted]

[redacted]

7) Scrap Metal Bill (HR 4593)

[redacted]

[redacted]

8) Other items

Created on: 03/04/14

[redacted], access code [redacted]

City of Flint Wednesday 9:00 am Phone Conference Agenda
March 19, 2014

1) Public Safety Update – FPD, MSP (FFD if needed)

[redacted]

2) Governor's Office Update –Rich Baird, H. Hollins

3) Retiree Lawsuit – Status, Issues

[redacted]

4) Financial Update

[redacted]

b) Approval of the budget amendment still pending – 4 weeks. Because of Water Treatment Plant update expense and timeline, we are proceeding as we await formal approval of the amendment. That is also important because the amendment maintains the $1million in deficit reduction.

c) Thanks to Treasury for assistance in moving Administrative Consent Order through the DEQ, however the process is still moving slowly. ACO is still not approved.

d) Update on E&Y contract: held a phone conference with Treasury about Hurley, Water and Sewer study and their update of the 5 year financial projections.

5) City Council Update

[redacted]

[redacted]

6) Blue Ribbon Committee

[redacted]

7) Water Issues

The Water Plant held a ceremonial ground-breaking for the update to the water treatment plant in preparation to transition to Flint River use as drinking water source.

We will know by the first of next week the certainty of being on the river in April.

We are currently in negotiations with GCDC on purchase of pipeline. COF is making counter-proposal on sale of pipeline (using $4million appraisal value). Need to know Treasury will approve sale using this appraisal.

8) Scrap Metal Bill (HR 4593)

[redacted]

9) Other items

Created on: 03/17/14

[redacted], access code [redacted]

Attachments:

A. Public Safety Initiatives
B. Proposed FY 15 and 16 Budget Calendar

GENESEE COUNTY CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM ADVISORY COUNCIL

Richard B. Yuille
Chief Judge
Council Chairperson
ryuille@co.genesee.mi.us
(810) 257-3260
(810) 257-3276

Ward Chapman
Special Assistant
Flint City Attorney
Council Coordinator
wchapman@cityofflint.com
(810) 237-2029
(810) 569-0281

March 17, 2014

Darnell Earley
Flint Emergency Manager

RE: Public Safety Initiatives

Dear Mr. Earley:

[redacted]

Attachment A

Sincerely yours,

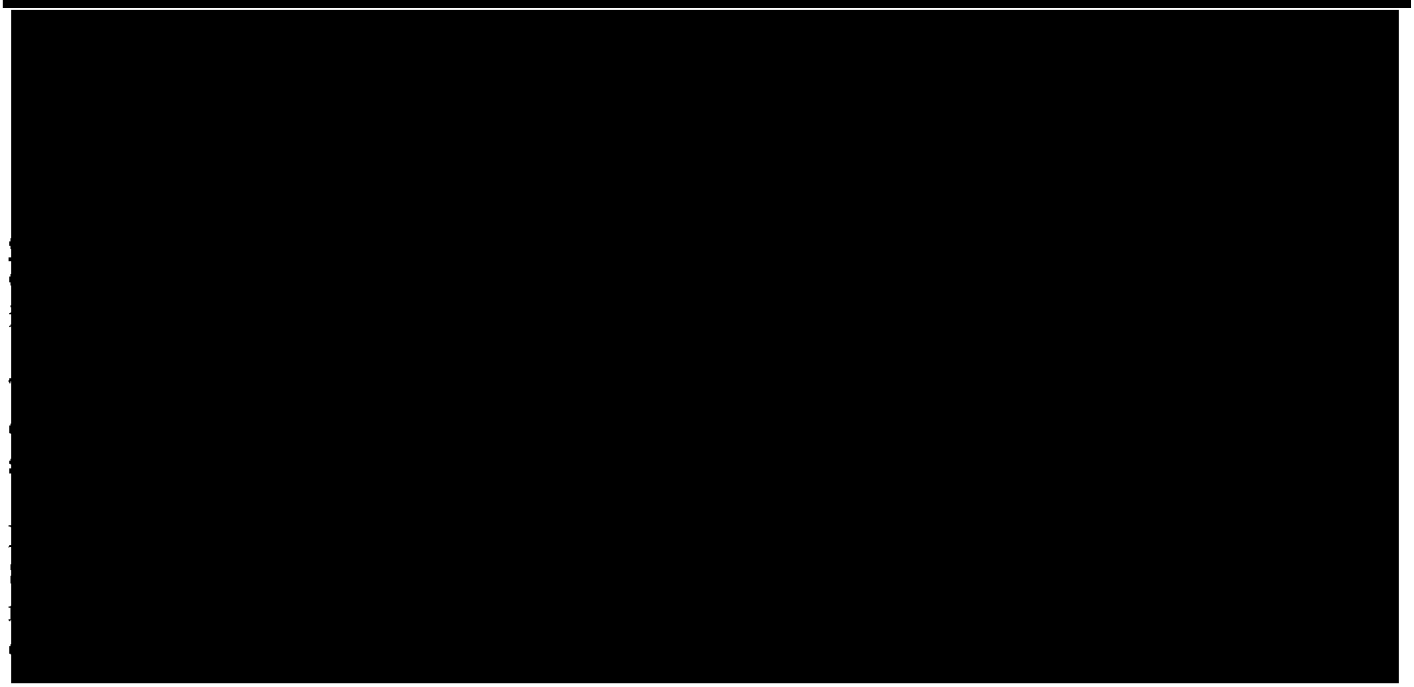
Ward Chapman

Ward Chapman, Coordinator
Genesee County Criminal Justice System Advisory Council

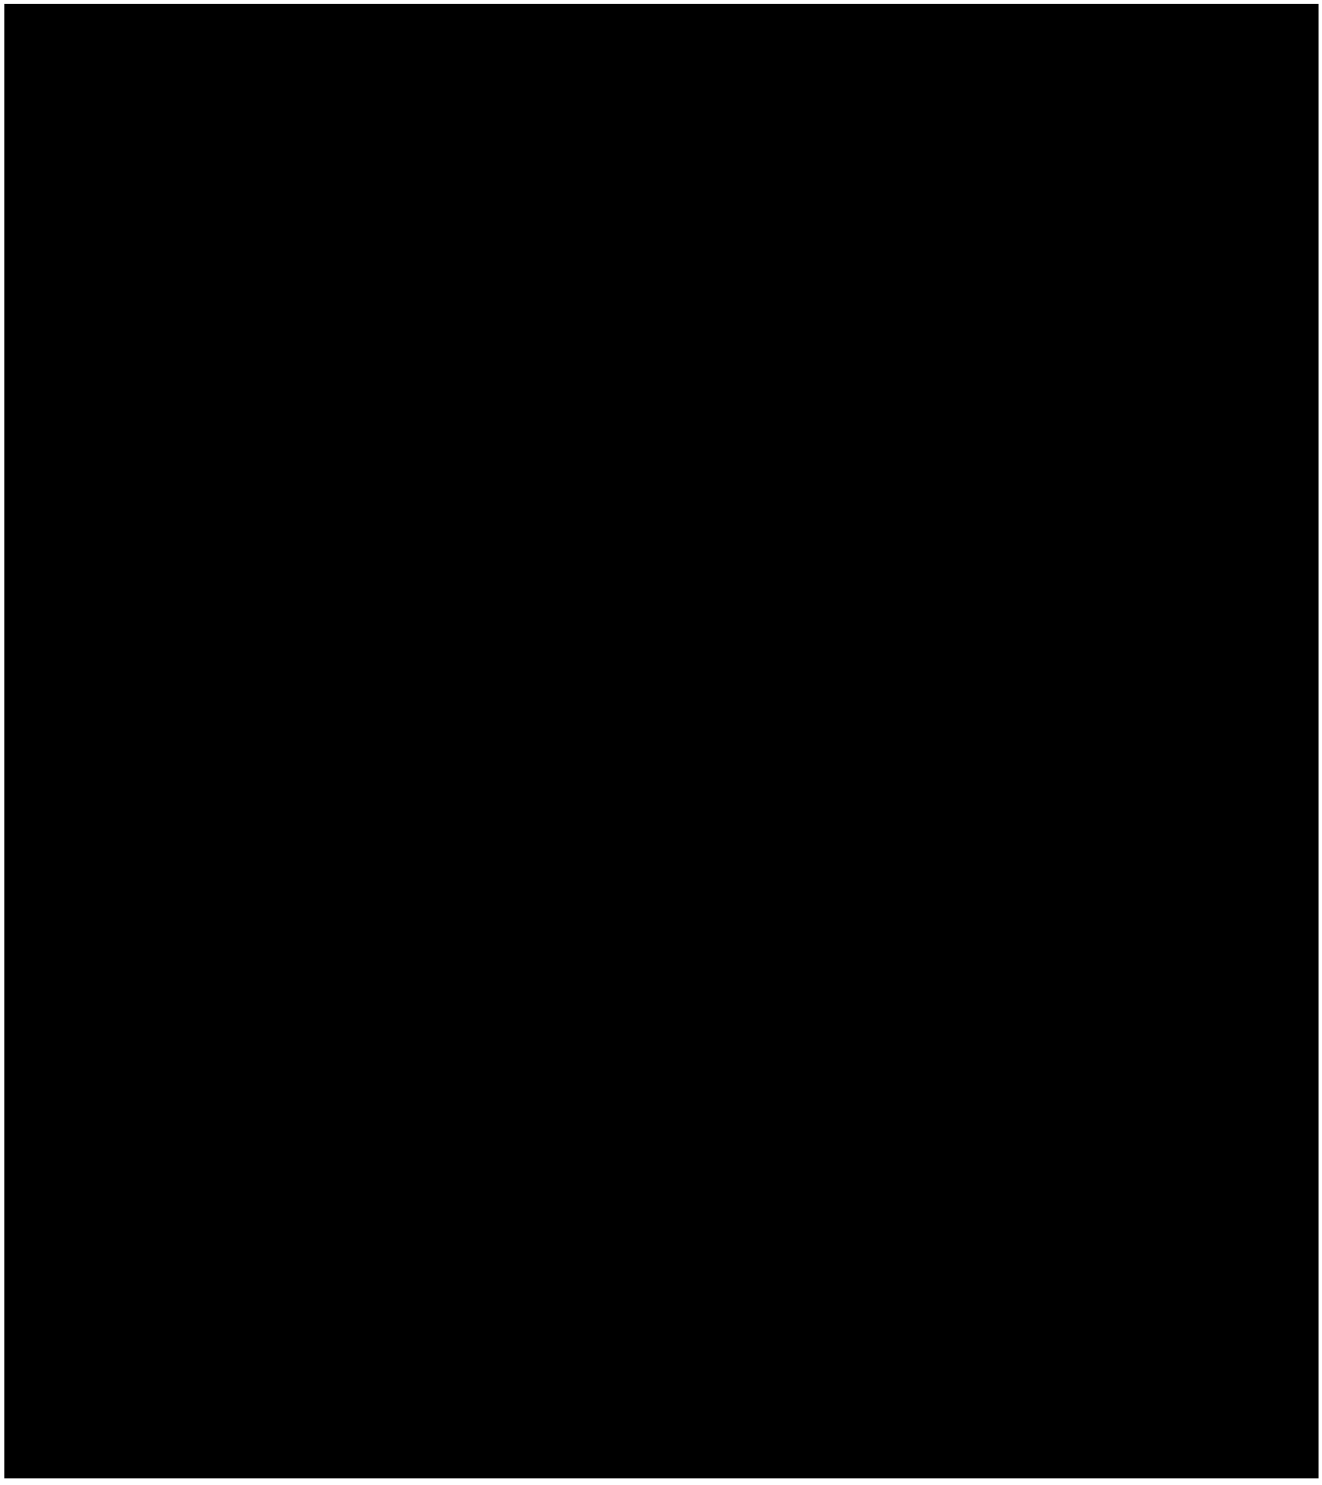
Cc: Chief Judge Richard B. Yuille

S:\CMP\Ward Chapman\Initiatives\memo to DEarley re Initiatives.doc

Operation Fresh Start Regional Operation

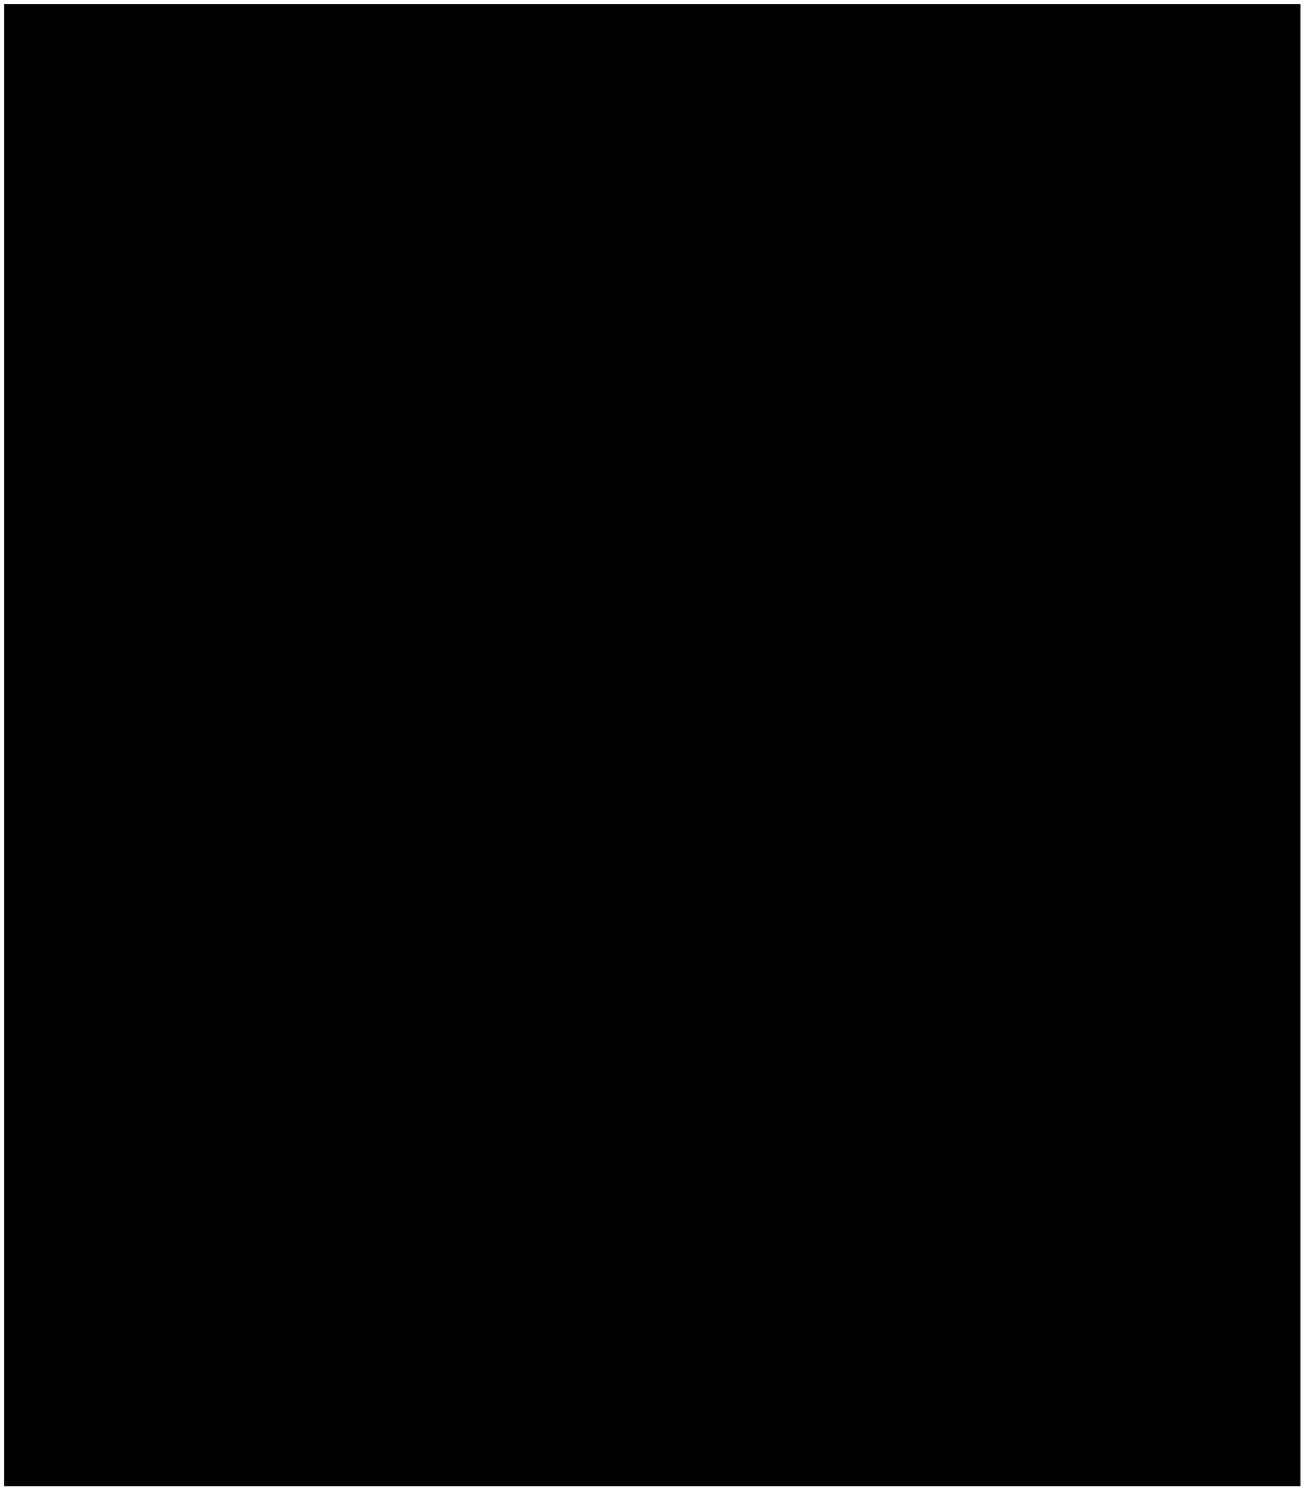


STATEWIDE RECORDS MANAGEMENT SYSTEM (SRMS)

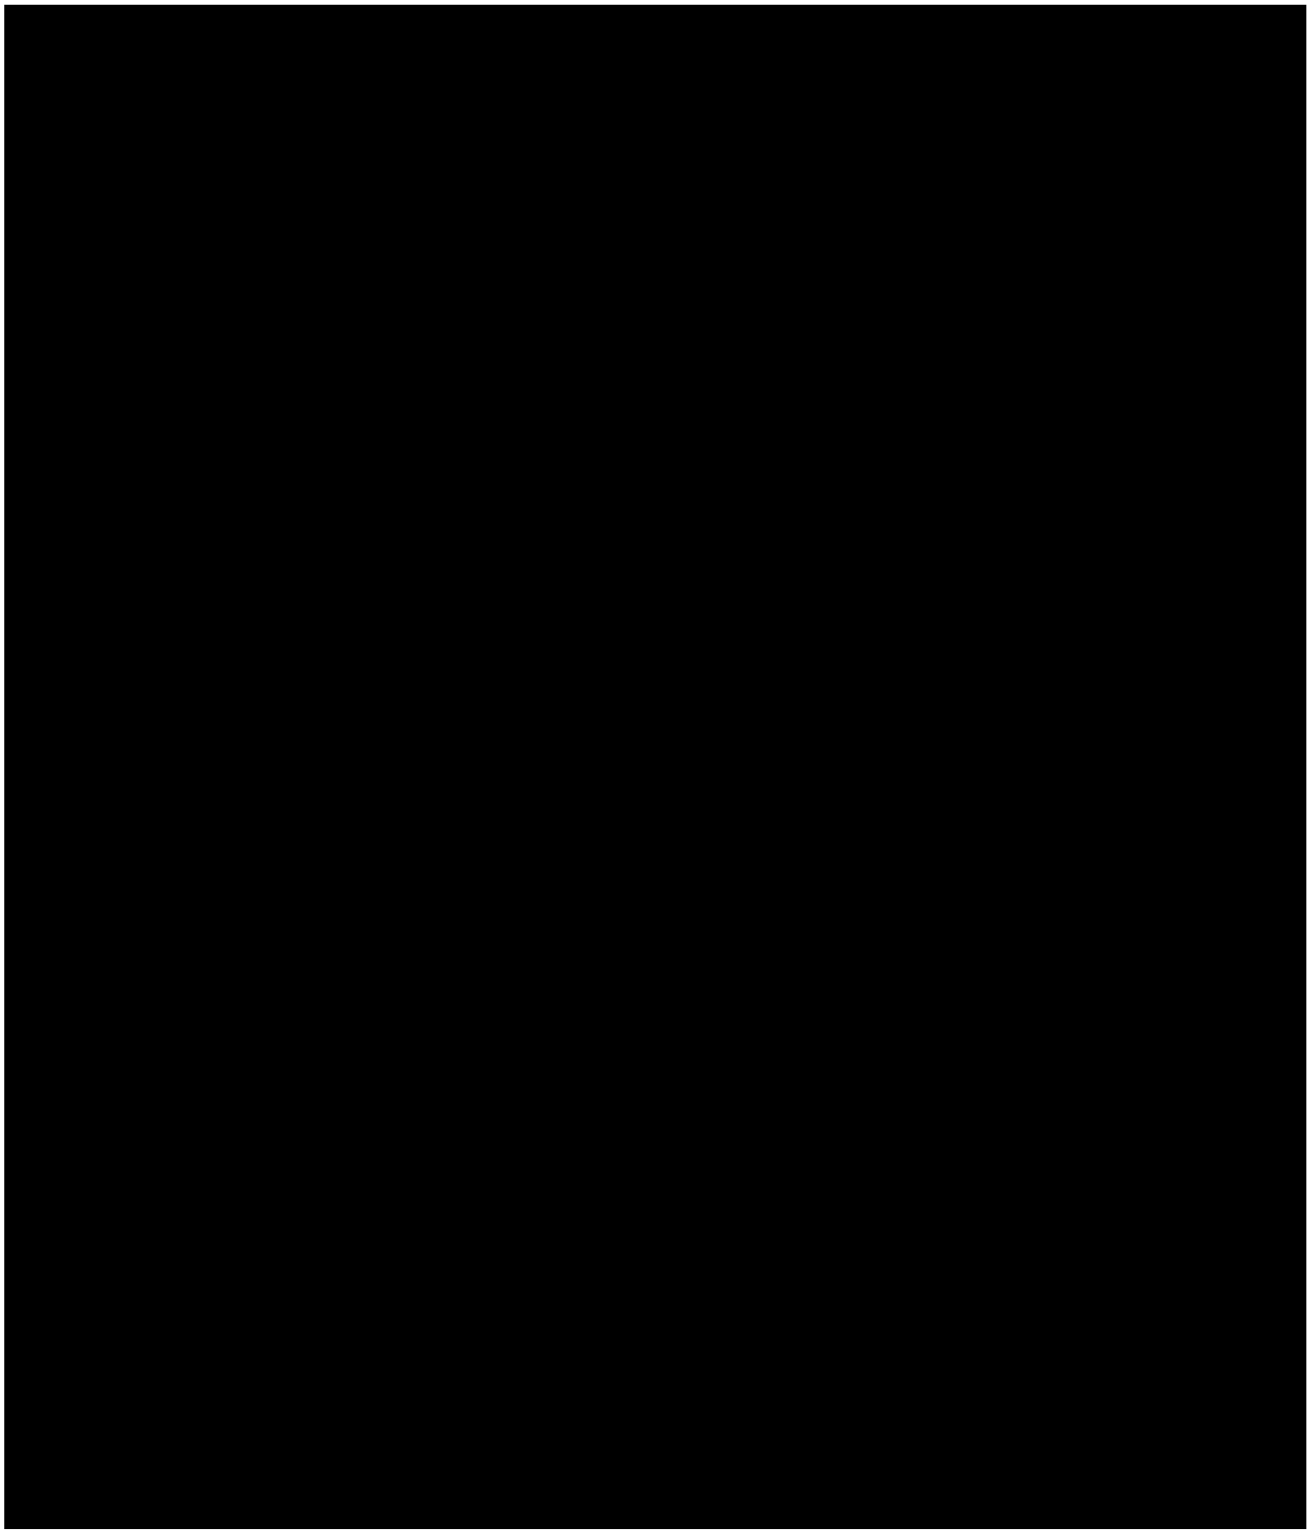


Arson Investigative Team

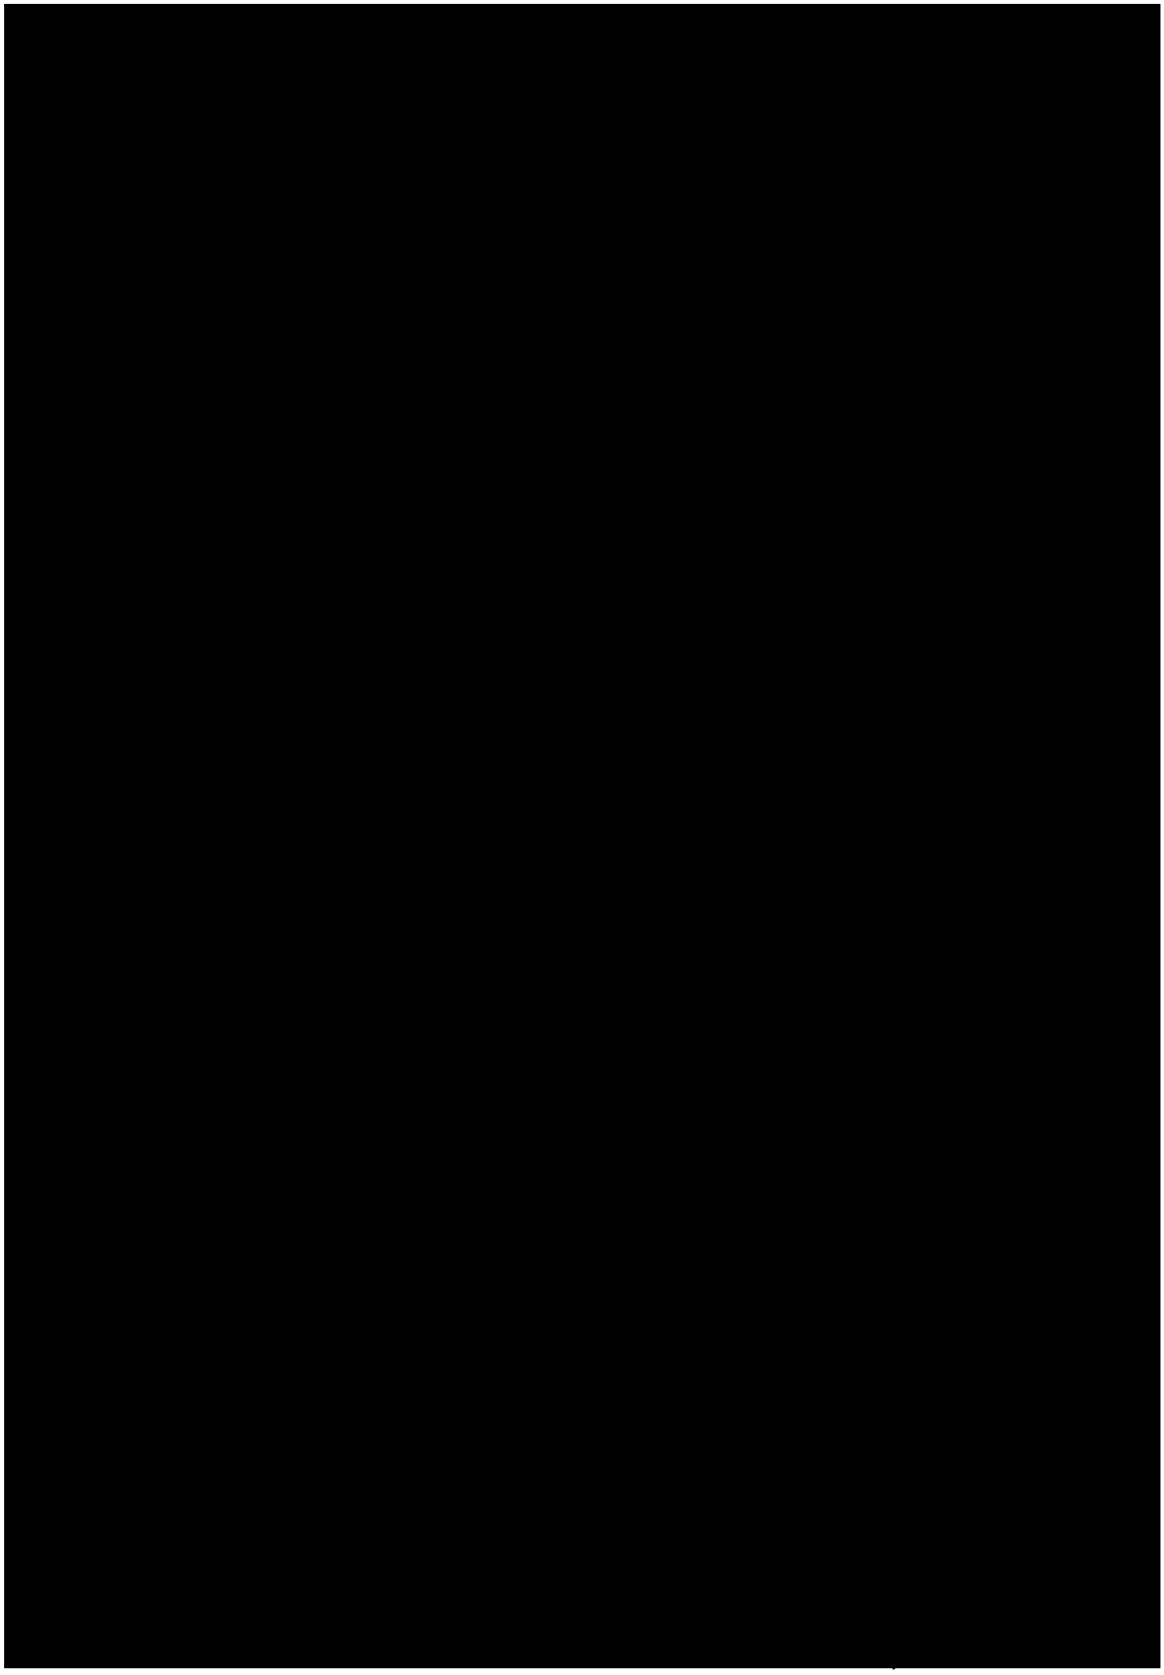
The City of Flint Police Department
Crime Reduction Strategy
Area Crime Team / A. C. T.



Lifeline Regional Crime Intervention Strategy



Proposed FY15 & 16 Budget Calendar



Attachment B

City of Flint Wednesday 9:00 am Phone Conference Agenda
April 2, 2014

1) Public Safety Update – FPD, MSP (FFD if needed)

[redacted]

2) Governor's Office Update –Rich Baird, H. Hollins

3) Retiree Lawsuit – Status, Issues

[redacted]

4) Financial Update

[redacted]

c) Water Treatment Plant – Resolutions authorizing contractors approved by Treasury. Frost conditions and easement issues with Consumers Energy may impact completion date, but are being addressed. DEQ ACO has been approved. Awaiting approval of Construction Permit, discussions with Water and Solid Waste Divisions ongoing. Must be resolved this week or significant delay with project could occur.

d) Update on E&Y contract: Preliminary draft reviewed end of last week. Next draft expected end of this week. Preliminary review expected with EM and Treasury within the next three weeks.

[redacted]

[redacted]

g) DEQ SAW Grant: could there be a policy to allow distressed communities to skip the lottery? The City of Flint applied for a $2 million SAW Grant to develop a GIS based sewer Asset Management Plan (AMP) and work tracking system. The proposal also included an Asset Management Plan for the Wastewater Treatment Plant. The Plant's NPDES permit renewal will require this in the upcoming fiscal year. That AMP is estimated to cost $300,000, which will now have to be funded internally.

4) City Council Update

[redacted]

5) Blue Ribbon Committee

[redacted]

6) Water Issues

a) Water Issues – DEQ permits are expected to be received this week. Consumers Powers easements issues are being addressed. However, termination of water service from DWSD may be delayed. Awaiting confirmation of terms from DWSD by which water will continue to be purchased from DWSD – presumably the terms outlined in their February 12, 2014 letter. Delay could be a matter of weeks, but certainly no later than June 30, 2014.

b) Negotiations with GCDC continue with regards to sale of the pipeline section. COF current proposal is for $3.9 million sale price, the value established in recent valuation. Valuation has been submitted and reviewed by Treasury. Submission to Treasury for approval is anticipated prior to ending relationship with DWSD. Also, COF is negotiating back-up service agreement for GCDC for period between DWSD termination and KWA start-up.

c) Water and Sewer Rate Study – the final draft is due shortly and will be reviewed with the Public Works Committee on April 10.

7) Scrap Metal Bill (HR 4593)

[redacted]

8) Other items

[redacted]

Created on: 03/17/14

[redacted], access code [redacted]

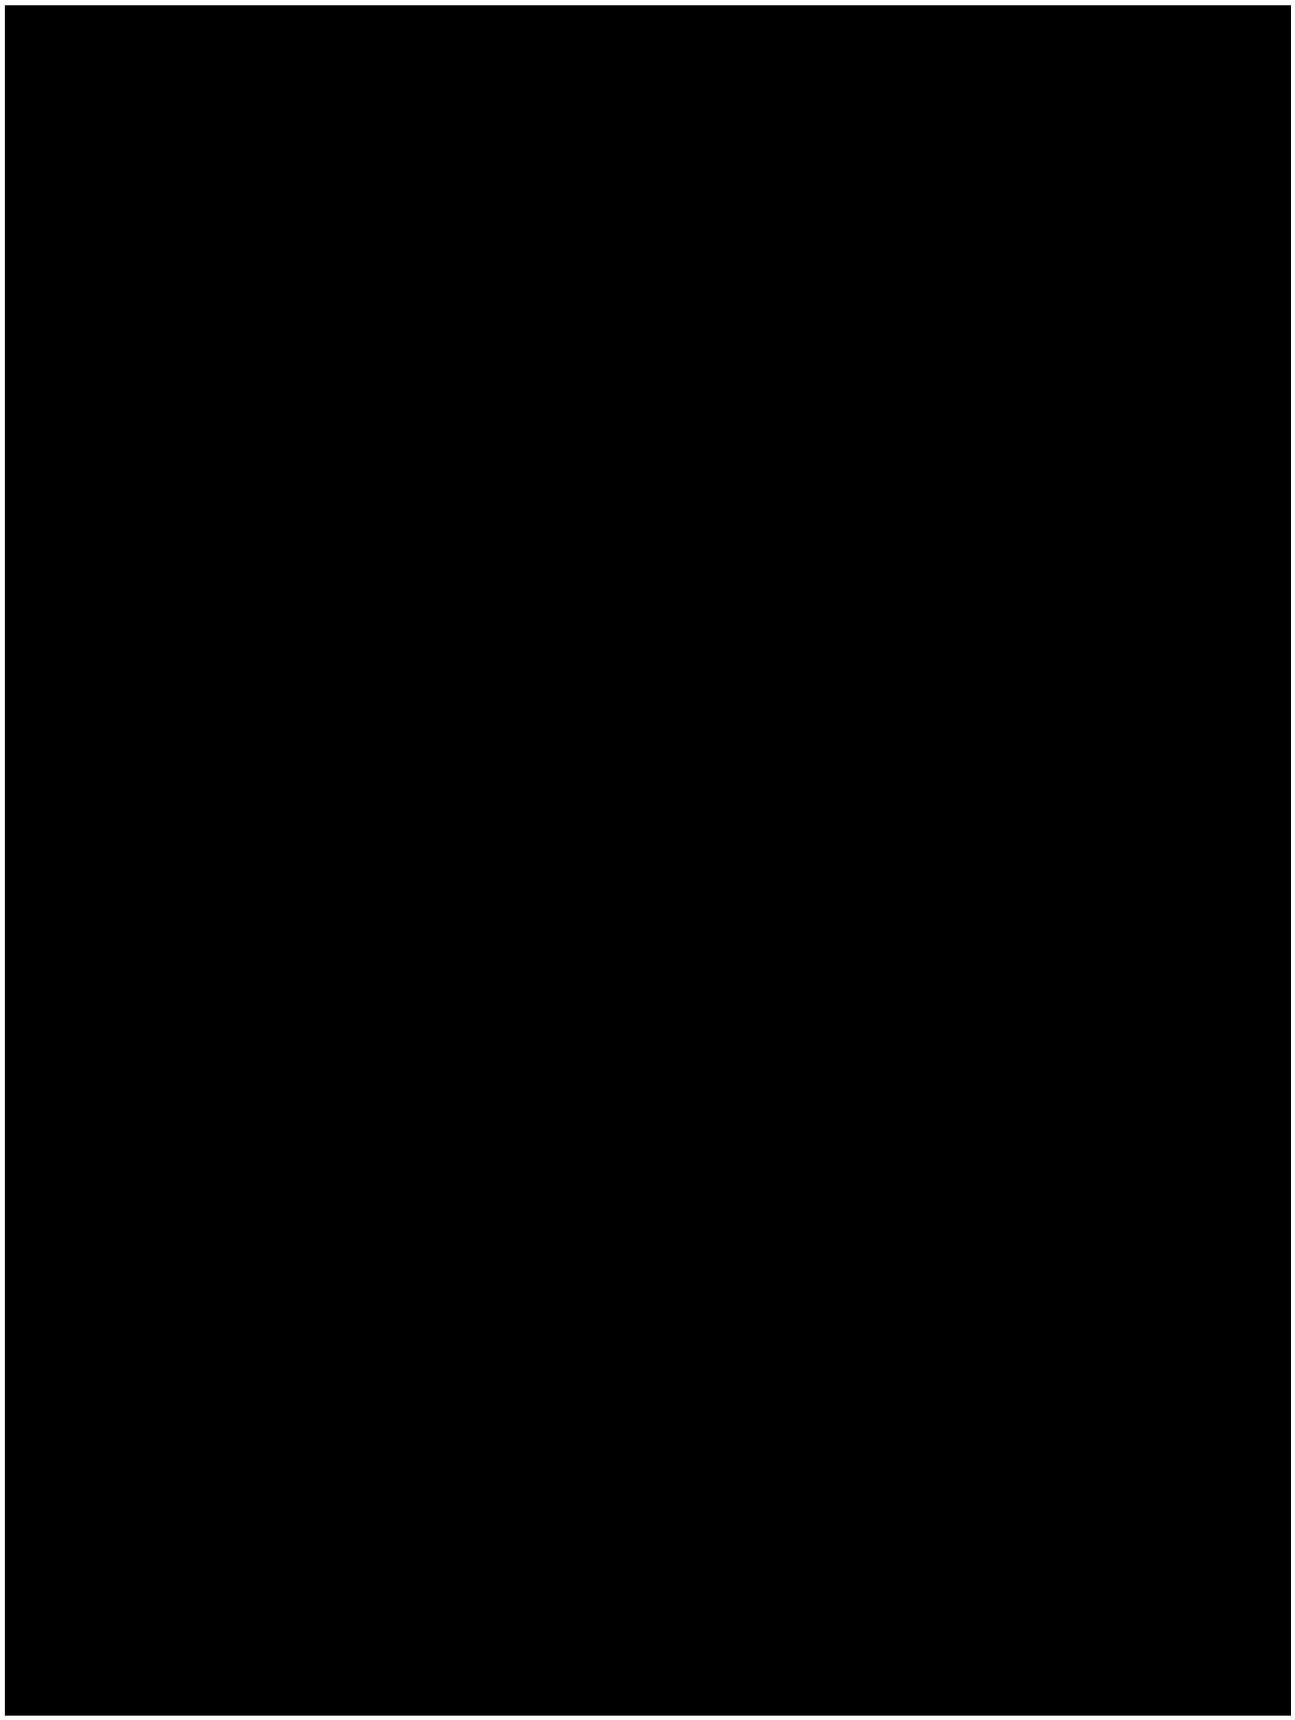
Attachments:

A. Public Safety Initiatives

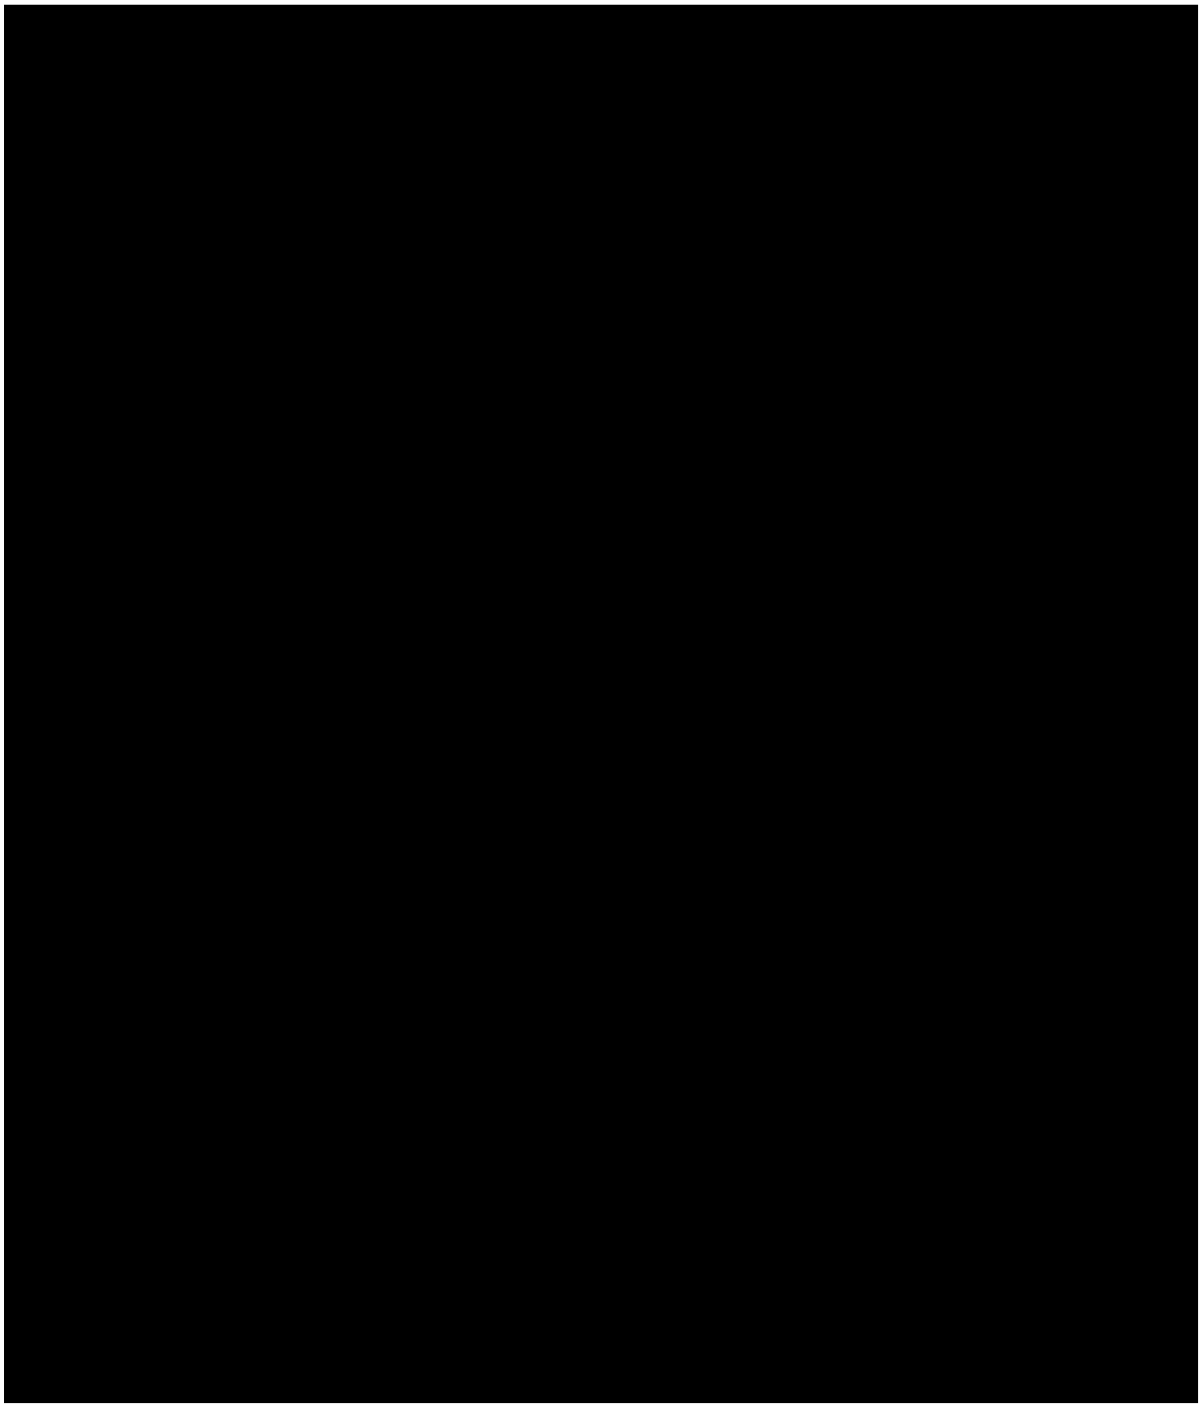
Operation Fresh Start Timeline

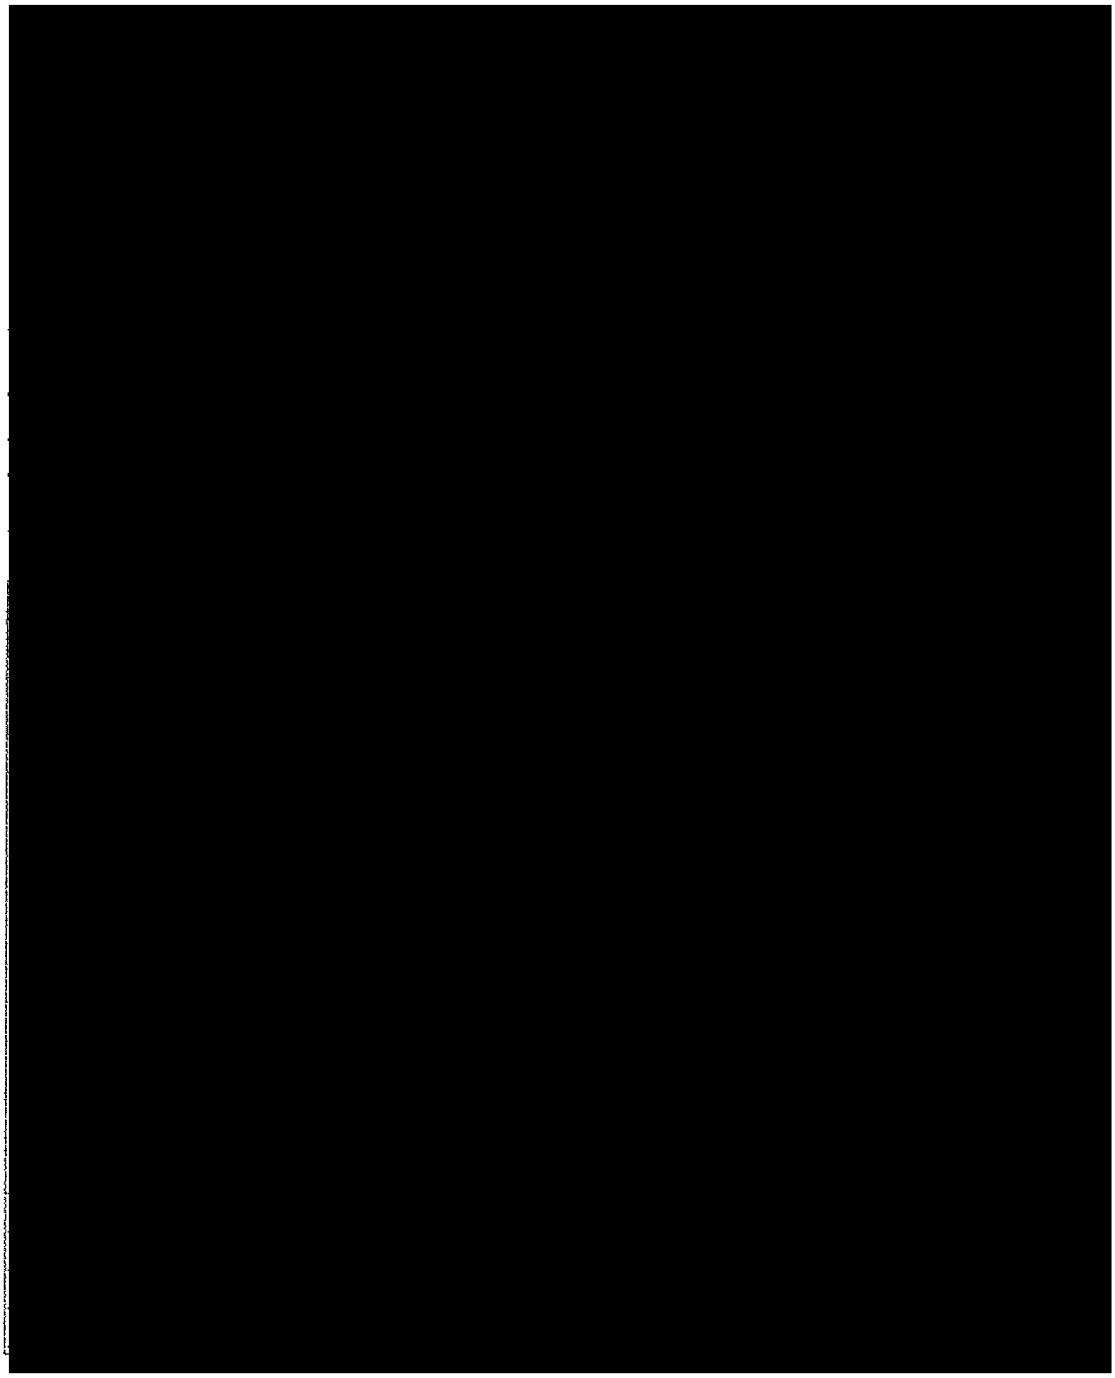
Operation Fresh Start Regional Operation



State Record Management System Time Line

The City of Flint Police Department
Crime Reduction Strategy
Area Crime Team / A. C. T.

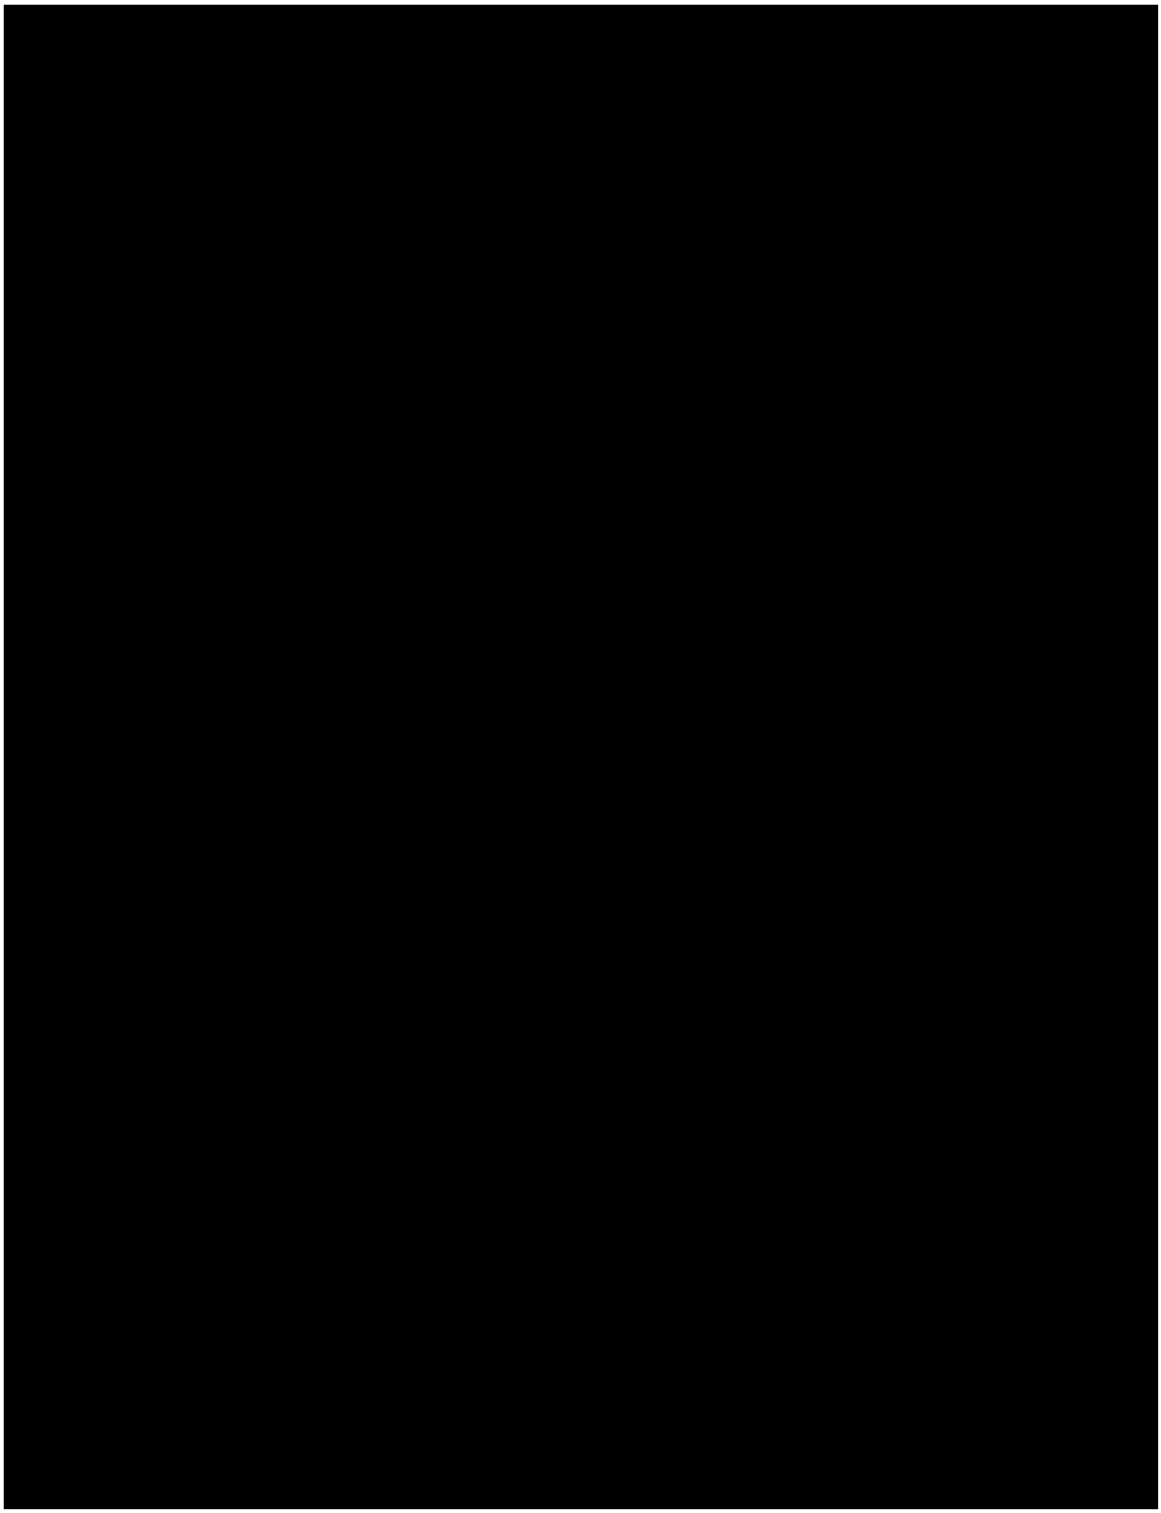


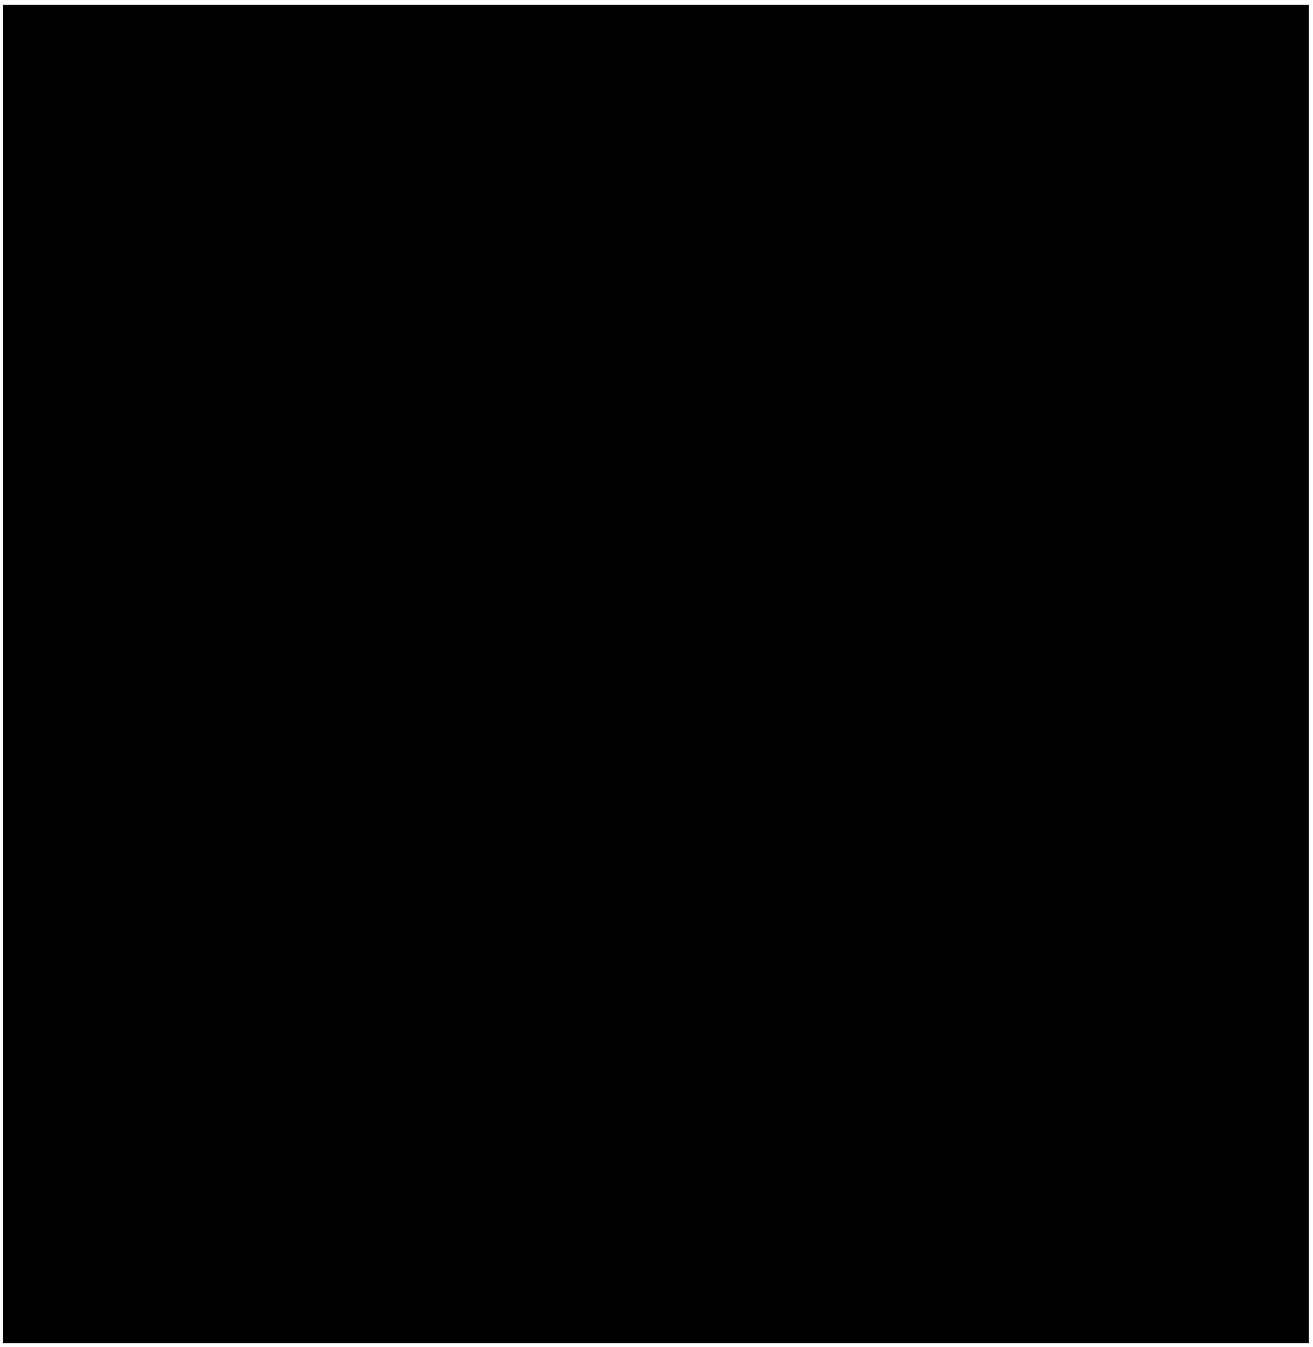


Arson Investigative Team

Lifeline Regional Crime Intervention

Lifeline Regional Crime Intervention Strategy





Arson Investigative Team Timeline

City of Flint Wednesday 9:00 am Phone Conference Agenda
April 16, 2014

1) Public Safety Update – FPD, MSP (FFD if needed)

[redacted]

2) Governor's Office Update –Rich Baird, H. Hollins

3) Retiree Lawsuit – Status, Issues

[redacted]

4) Financial Update

[redacted]

c) Update on E&Y 5 Year projections: Preliminary review expected with EM and Treasury within the next three weeks. Analysis of utility system is still pending.

[redacted]

f) DEQ SAW Grant: could there be a policy to allow distressed communities to skip the lottery? The City of Flint applied for a $2 million SAW Grant to develop a GIS based sewer Asset Management Plan (AMP) and work tracking system.

The proposal also included an Asset Management Plan for the Wastewater Treatment Plant. The Plant's NPDES permit renewal will require this in the upcoming fiscal year. That AMP is estimated to cost $300,000, which will now have to be funded internally.

4) City Council Update

5) Blue Ribbon Committee

6) Water Issues

a) Water Issues – DEQ construction permits were received last week for the Water Treatment Plant and Bray Rd. site. Easement issues with Consumers Energy have been resolved. A series of meetings, media activities and other forms of notification about water change over are being planned. Start date goal: April 17, 2014.

b) Negotiations with GCDC continue with regards to sale of the pipeline section. COF current proposal is for $3.9 million sale price, the value established in recent valuation. Valuation has been submitted and reviewed by Treasury. Submission to Treasury for approval is anticipated prior to ending relationship with DWSD. Also, COF is negotiating back-up service agreement for GCDC for period between DWSD termination and KWA start-up.

7) Other items

Created on: 04/14/14

[redacted], access code [redacted]